PAULHAN IS GIVING SIGNS OF BREAKING

Makes Sensational Flight Over Coast Defenses at San Pedro.

Curtiss Sets New Speed Record of 2:12 Flat for the Course.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 15.—Louis Paulhan is feeling the strain attending his spectacular performances at Aviation field. He appeared somewhat haggard today, and when C. F. Bishop remarked in French that there were five days of flying left he rolled his eyes wearily and answered:

"Ah! But don't I know it?"

Baron De Pennenderff, who with Mme. De Pennenderff, accompanied the Frenchman and his party to Los Angeles, then said he had heard that the aviation committee was considering an extension of the meet. Paulhan immediately gave a realistic imitation of a swooning person.

"Oh, tell them please, that I cannot do this every day for another week!" he pleaded.

Though it was rumored yesterday that a project to extend the meet until Jan. 21 was under consideration, it is said that it was definitely abandoned when Paulhan's plea was made known.

Needs Some Rest.

Paulhan looked hopefully out at the clouds last night and said he would not mind a little storm, for then he could rest. Mile-high flights and the terrific strain resulting from his exploits are telling on him.

An unsuccessful attempt by Charles K. Hamilton, in the Curtiss biplane, to break Paulhan's record for height and a trip by the Frenchman from Aviation field to the sea and return were the leading events of the fifth day of the aviation meet. Engine trouble caused Hamilton's failure.

Paulhan tried to make a speed rec-

WRITE VIEWS ABOUT MORSE

Letters Pleading for Him and Condemning Him Reach Washington.

Washington, Jan. 15.—Numerous letters have been received in Washington from persons interested in Charles W. Morse, the New York financier, now serving a term of imprisonment in the Atlanta penitentiary. Most of them urge that executive clemency be exercised in behalf of Morse, while others, though few in number, take the opposite view and argue that the convicted man got his deserts.

So far as known no petition for pardon has yet reached the White House. Mrs. Morse in her published interviews has indicated that such a step will be taken in due time.

BROTHERS REUNITED

Charles Sterling of St. Paul Finds Relative Lost in War Times.

Mere Accident Leads to Their Meeting in Bowling Green, Ohio.

Bowling Green, Ohio, Jan. 15.—Separated while serving in the Union army during the Civil war, H. W. Sterling of Bowling Green, and C. A. Sterling of St. Paul, Minn., met here yesterday for the first time in forty-seven years. Neither knew of the other's whereabouts until H. W. Sterling recently, by chance, learned that his brother was living in St. Paul.

Well Known in Northwest.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.) — Charles A. Sterling, whose reunion with his brother in Ohio is reported today, has been in this city only a year, during which time he has engaged in the restaurant business. He is well known throughout the Northwest, particularly in the western part of Wisconsin. For several years following the Civil war he lived in La Crosse, Wis., where he conducted a hotel. Later he went West, and returned in 1905 to take charge of the Hotel Law in La Crosse. He remained there until his removal to St. Paul.

It is said that the reunion of the brothers was brought about through C. A. Sterling's answering an advertisement, and that the similarity in the names led the recipient of the answer to call the attention of the Bowling Green man to the presence of such a person in St. Paul. Correspondence followed, and this week Mr. Sterling left here to join his missing brother.

INDICTED IN THE CASE OF THE BIG FOUR FUNDS

EDGAR S. COOKE.

Edgar Streete Cooke, who was cashier of the Big Four road at Cincinnati under Warriner, has been arrested, charged with embezzlement. He disclaims any knowledge of Warriner's shortage and says he never received any stolen money or blackmailed any one. Cooke left the Big Four about ten years ago, and says that he has made money since in speculation. The charge against him is associated with the story that he knew of Warriner's stealings and blackmailed him for some of the money.

TURK READY FOR TROUBLE

Constantinople Has 12,000 Troops Prepared to Go to Crete.

Claim Is Made That Rights in That Territory Have Been Violated.

Berlin, Jan. 15.—A dispatch to the Cologne Gazette from Constantinople says that the Turkish government is holding 12,000 troops in readiness to be sent to Crete.

The Porte recently addressed a note to the powers protesting against an alleged new violation of the sovereign rights of the sultan. The alleged violation was through the Cretan executive committees taking the oath of allegiance to King George and through the adoption of a resolution by the Cretan assembly to instroduce the Hellenic code of laws.

Replies have been received from Great Britain and Russia, both of whom expressed regret at the policy of the Cretans and intimated that measures were under way to prevent any further acts of a similar nature.

CHILD LABOR MEETINGS END

Legislation to Correct Evils Will Be Proposed in Massachusetts.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 15.—The last meetings of the national child labor committee's annual conference were held today, with a discussion of legislation, home industries and street trades and the use of child labor in canneries and the farming industry. Criticism of child labor in New England, which has been a feature of the meetings, continued today, and especially in relation to their work in the canneries. Former Governor Curtis Guild, Jr., presented five bills providing what he considered constructive legislation. He will submit these bills to the legislature.

CAN'T MAKE ENOUGH AS CONGRESSMAN

Representative Dawson Will Not Seek Re-election to the House.

Washington, Jan. 15.—Representative Albert F. Dawson of the Second Iowa district will not be a candidate before the primary next June for renomination. His decision is announced in a letter which he sent today to Former Representative Lane, chairman of the district Republican committee.

In his letter Mr. Dawson says:

"Every man owes it to his family to provide against the day of need, and having devoted six years to the service of the district, I feel that plain duty requires that I return to private life in order that I may have opportunity to make financial provision for those dependent on me."

Mr. Dawson has not been involved to his embarrassment in the contest between regular and insurgent Republicans in the house, and that conflict has no bearing on his decision to retire. He is serving his third term, and each succeeding election has shown an increased Republican majority in an exceedingly close district.

BODY GNAWED BY THE RATS

Woman Who Dreaded Burial Found Dead---Will Gives Away $100,000.

Provides That Doctor Shall Stab Her Thrice Through the Heart.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 15.—"Thrust a dagger through my heart three times to make sure I am dead! Let my body lie ten days, cremate it then, and bury the ashes in Allegheny cemetery," were the written instructions found with the body of Laura White, single, aged 65 years, a supposed pauper, living alone, who was discovered early today dead in a room with five locks upon the door, her badly decomposed body half eaten by rats.

Police found bank books and a will disposing of $100,000 to local charitable institutions, in a trunk in the poorly furnished house. Cancelled checks in the woman's clothing ranged in amount from 17 cents to $1,000. Real estate held by the woman is situated in Indiana, Montana and California.

Feared Burial Alive.

The will found by the police makes special request that "competent medical authorities examine her body for ten days" to ascertain to a certainty that death has occurred. She leaves $50 for this service. The doctor stabbing her heart three times is to receive $20.

Detectives are searching for possible relatives.

STUDY CONDITION OF SHOE TRADE

Wholesalers Meet to Discuss Possibility of Increase in Prices.

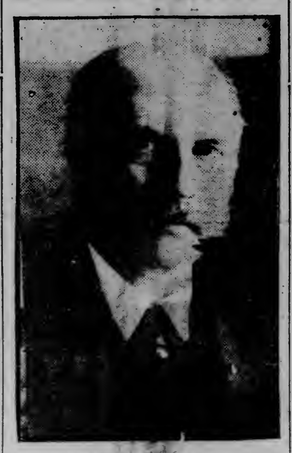

Boston, Jan. 15.—In the interest of the entire shoe and leather trade of the United States more than 200 men, representative of the entire scope of the great industry, gathered here today from all sections of the country. The convention, which was under the auspices of the National Shoe Wholesalers' association, is to consider whether the trade is really confronted with a radical advance in leather and shoe prices and whether the buying public will demand shoes at a fixed price or shoes of an established quality at the market price.

President J. K. Orr of Atlanta, Ga., explained the purposes of the gathering and the regular topics of discussion were taken up.

Archbishop of Vancouver.

Rome, Jan. 15.—The Vatican announced today the promotion of the Right Rev. Neil McNeil, bishop of St. George's, Nfld., to the office of archbishop of Vancouver.

IS CONSPICUOUS IN THE BRITISH ELECTION

LORD BALFOUR OF BURLEIGH.

Lord Balfour of Burleigh is a conspicuous figure in the election now being held in Great Britain. He has not sat in the house of lords from the time he was entitled to inherit, because his title was attainted in 1716 for the rising of 1715, and was not restored to the family until it was reconferred on him in 1869. He has held many important positions under the British government. He was in the cabinet as secretary for Scotland from 1895 to 1903, and he has been lord warden of the stannaries since 1908. He has been lord rector of Edinburgh university, chancellor of St. Andrew's university, lord-in-waiting to the queen and has led a very active public life.

LONSDALE QUITS HIM

Dr. Cook's Private Secretary Has Entered Ranks of the Doubters.

Says His Emyloyer Cleared $50,000 on His Arctic Reputation.

Copenhagen, Jan. 15.—Walter Lonsdale is the most recent of the former associates and employes of Dr. Frederick A. Cook to admit a distrust of the man whose claim to the discovery of the North Pole was rejected by the University of Copenhagen.

Lonsdale was private secretary to United States Minister Egan up to the time of the arrival here of Dr. Cook, with whom Lonsdale then associated himself in a similar confidential capacity. Lonsdale accompanied the explorer to the United States, made the typewritten duplicate of the polar records and brought the data here for the examination by the university com-

CAST VOTES IN ENGLAND

Parliamentary Election Is Begun in Sixty-Six Constituencies.

Waldorf Astor and J. H. Seaverns Running for Parliament.

London, Jan. 15.—The first round in the general elections was fought today in sixty-six constituencies, returning seventy-four members of parliament. In 1906 these constituencies returned 49 Liberal, 17 Unionist and 8 Labor candidates. That today's polling will show a considerable change in the party figures is generally conceded, as the election is being contested with entirely new lists and the fight has been so bitter that a much larger number of votes undoubtedly will be polled.

Everything today favored a heavy balloting. The weather throughout the districts where elections were held was clear, and the party workers made every effort to bring out the voters.

Seven Unionists Unopposed.

Seven more Unionists became members of the new parliament this morning without contests, the Liberals, as usual, offering no opposition to the return of members from the three universities of Oxford, Cambridge and Dublin, and Speaker Lowther, member from Penrith. The Nationalists also scored one uncontested election, Patrick O'Brien being chosen by acclamation for Kilkenny.

In the elections of today interest centers at Manchester and vicinity, a district which heretofore has remained loyal to free trade. Birmingham also voted today, but those seats were secured by the Unionists.

Waldorf Astor, son of William Waldorf Astor, and Sir Henry Mortimer Durand, formerly ambassador to the United States, made an uphill contest

TEDDY WONDERS IF JEFFRIES CAN

Writes Letter to Former Rough Rider and Refers to Prize Ring.

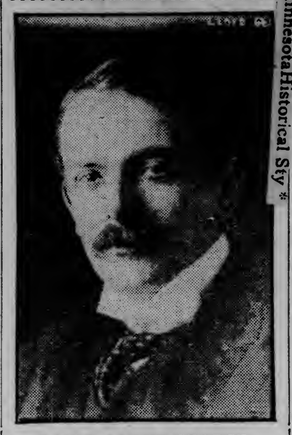

Buffalo, N. Y., Jan. 15.—Theodore Roosevelt's consideration of old friends and his love for a fighter and a good fight have not been changed any by his African trip, as a letter from him received by "Tony" Gavin, former "Rough Rider," testifies.

Gavin frequently corresponded with Col. Roosevelt when the latter was president. Some months ago Gavin wrote to Col. Roosevelt in Africa and today received the following reply:

"Africa, on Safari.

"Here is the flower for Alberta. I wish I could have sent it with many returns on her birthday. It was good to hear from you. That must have been a rattling fight between Ketchel and Johnson. Johnson is unquestionably a first-class fighter. I wonder if Jim Jeffries can get back into form? If he can it will be a tremendous battle when they meet."

STRONGEST OPPONENT OF THE HOUSE OF LORDS

DAVID LLOYD-GEORGE.

The Right Hon. David Lloyd-George is probably the strongest opponent of the house of lords in England. He was born in Manchester in 1863. He has been chancellor of the exchequer in the Asquith cabinet. It is reported he will visit the United States next summer.

FIGHT DUEL IN THE DARK

Night Watchmen Chase Each Other About for Four Hours.

Death of One Man Ends Battle in Broadway Store Building.

New York, Jan. 15.—A duel of four hours' duration between two night watchmen in a store on Broadway, resulted today in the death of one of the participants, killed by a bullet in the head.

After finally running down and shooting his companion, the survivor sat down and wrote a letter to the police, telling them all about it, and then finished up his night's work by cleaning up and putting the store in order.

John Ferris, who has worked for the firm for twenty-five years, is under arrest, charged with the shooting. The victim of the duel was John Woods. There had been bad blood between the two men, and during the night they renewed their quarrel.

Long Chase in the Dark.

Ferris told the police that Woods slapped him in the face and that for hours they chased each other around the store in the darkness, upstairs and down. Several shots were exchanged, but none took effect until Ferris finally caught Woods in the engine room and sent a bullet into his fellow-watchman's head.

DROP CHARGES AGAINST MAE

Perjury and Forgery Cases Fail Because Platt Cannot Take Stand.

New York, Jan. 15.—The charges of forgery and perjury against Miss Mae C. Wood were dismissed in general sessions court here yesterday, and Miss Wood was discharged from custody. She was indicted in 1907 following the trial of her suit against ex-United States Senator Thomas C. Platt, who she alleged was married to her in this city.

Senator Platt's illness has made impossible his appearance in court to testify against Miss Wood.

EXPECT PEACE IN RAILROAD STRIKE

"Some Softening" Is Reported By Both Companies and Switchmen.

Washington, Jan. 15. — Chairman Knapp of the interstate commerce commission, and Dr. Neill, commissioner of labor, the mediators under the Erdman act, held a further conference today with the parties to the Chicago railroad switchmen's controversy. No conclusion was reached. It is now certain that the subject will go over until next week.

Although no statement is authorized by either the mediators or the parties to the difficulty, it is learned that "there is some softening" by both the railroads and the switchmen. The outlook gives promise that an amicable adjustment of the trouble may be reached.

PUTS QUIETUS ON PLAN TO CHANGE THE DATE OF THE INAUGURATIONS.

Washington, Jan. 15. — The house today voted to recommit the resolution providing for a change of date of presidential innugurations. This action practically means the defeat of the resolution.

SECOND DOSE OF BLIZZARD FOR GOTHAM

Storm Rests Over Night and Then Sweeps Down Worse Than Ever.

Cold Causes Suffering and Five Deaths Are Reported There.

Enormous Damage Results From Weather in the Central West.

New York, Jan. 15.—After a brief letup during the night, the storm which struck the city yesterday and buried the streets beneath a foot of snow, resumed with violence in the early hours of today.

With the rise of the storm's force came a fall of temperature and high winds which piled the snow in huge drifts. Transportation lines are near the point of complete paralysis while surface traffic in the city is difficult and uncertain.

Five deaths due to the storm was the record up to this morning, with a long chapter of casualties being written as the reports from suburban points came to hand. There was much suffering among the poorer classes.

Mayor Out in Storm.

Mayor Gaynor was recovering today in Hicksville from the effects of a harsh experience which resulted from his efforts to get to his home in St. James last night, and afterwards to get help for a companion, Charles F. Shepard, an editor of Huntington, who met with a possibly fatal acident in falling from a trestle while walking the tracks with the mayor. The roads on this territory were badly blocked. The mayor froze both his ears during his exposure.

At 7 o'clock last night Mayor Gaynor took a train for St. James. This train

ANTI-LIQUOR MEN WIN GARY SUIT

"Steel City" Will Remain Dry for Four Months Longer as a Result.

Laporte, Ind., Jan. 15.—For four months more "the steel city" of Gary will continue dry, and by the rule of a majority of only seven votes. Judge Tuthill of the superior court today handed down a decision in favor of the Anti-Saloon league in a suit brought by saloonkeepers of Gary to contest the result of an election held twenty months ago.

The "drys" held that they rolled up a majority of sixty votes against the saloons, but Judge Tuthill decided that all but seven votes of the majority were invalid. The result registered by the election was to hold for two years.

CINCH FOR DEMOCRATS

Champ Clark Back in Washington and Full of Predictions.

Talks About Roosevelt's Return, a "Triumph" and---Maybe More Yet.

Washington, Jan. 15.—Champ Clark, the minority leader of the house, returned to the capital today after ten days of speech making in Missouri and the Middle West, and spread cheering predictions of sweeping Democratic victory in the congressional election this fall. He prophesied a Democratic house of representatives.

Mr. Clark said he found a thriving spirit of Democracy in Ohio and Missouri and other places where he visited. In Missouri he predicted the Republicans would be "wiped off the map." He declared that dissatisfaction with Republican rule was never so widespread as now, and that the next house of representatives would be Democratic "as sure as anything in the world."

Mr. Clark brought with him from Kansas City an "interesting story of the departure of a certain gentleman a few days ago for Africa."

Hints at Nomination.

The traveler, representing practically all of the commercial bodies of the West and Middle West, is to invite Col. Roosevelt to land at San Francisco upon his return to the United States and cross the continent from west to east.

"Such a procession across the country would be the greatest show on this earth since the morning stars first sang together," said the Democratic leader in characteristic language.

Mr. Clark recalled that President Grant had done much the same thing, and said that if Grant had landed at San Francisco at a more opportune time no power could have prevented the general's nomination for the presidency for a third time.

BUMPED INTO A POLICEMAN

It Was a Joke, But They Were Arrested Nevertheless.

The dignity of Patrolman Jerry Gleeson was sadly ruffled yesterday afternoon. He was walking his beat on Superior street with magnanimity, peace, charity and happiness beaming from every part of him. They say that a person could tell from his gait, even if they didn't see his face, that he was satisfied with the world.

Bing! Biff! He went up like a flash of powder in a pan. He was over the curb and in the street in a jiffy, without knowing how he got there for a minute. Two gay roisterers happened to be walking beside him. In a spirit of fun the one on the outside shoved his companion against the policeman. He struck him full amidships, sending the copper and his coonskin coat scooting half a dozen feet toward the street car tracks. That was too much for the cop, and he promptly loaded both of them into the Black Maria and sent them to the police station. When arraigned in police court, shortly afterward, they pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct and were each fined $3. But they smiled so broadly and thought it such a good joke that the court suspended sentence. They gave their names as Hakon Hermanson and Fred Anderson.

NOTES OF BOYS' DEPARTMENT

The entertainment at the boys' department last evening, given by the Castle Square entertainers, was one of the most successful concerts ever given at the club.

The company is composed of four artists of exceptional musical ability, and the program contained variety enough to please any kind of an audience. The program consisted of a quartet, costume songs, Irish monologues, etc. Mr. Thornburg in his whistling numbers had to respond to repeated encores. Mr. Hulbert gave numbers on mandolin, banjo, cornet and piano impersonations. Mr. Grant in his Irish monologue was one of the hits of the evening. Mr. Humphrey, the tenor of the company, sang several selections of his own composition. The Castle Square entertainers will give another performance at the Central department, Y. M. C. A., tonight at 8 o'clock.

At the meeting of the Sunday club of the boys' department Sunday afternoon at 1:30 Watson S. Moore will speak. Wellington Cook will be the leader and the soloists will be Miss Wanless and Miss Webb. Lunch will be served at 5:30. The Pirates for the boys under 15 years will meet at 3 o'clock and will be addressed by J. R. Batchelor.

HE FORGOT TO COME BACK

Louis Hale Went After Change But Did Not Return.

Would-Be Soldier May Practice Guard Duty at County Jail.

Louis Hale will not be a gay soldier boy for a while unless Uncle Sam comes to his rescue with $42. Instead he will join the boarders over whose table Sheriff Bates presides, remaining for thirty days. Louis decided yesterday morning that he would like to wear a beautiful blue uniform with brass buttons and own a big overcoat just like the recruiting boys do on the Bowery. So he enlisted before he had dinner. He forgot to eat at noon, but worked up an appetite unloading schooners until late in the afternoon. He went into a cafe to satisfy the inner man. As he entered the door he heard the cashier say that he didn't have enough cash to change a $5 bill. Louis promptly volunteered to change it. He didn't have enough dough in his jeans to make the riffle so he volunteered to raise it. But he forgot to come back. He didn't remember it until he woke up in the police station. In police court this morning he begged for mercy with tears in his eyes, saying he was going away to be a soldier. Judge Cutting was not dampened by the spray from the water works, but he soaked Louis $40 and costs or thirty days.

Cause Near Choking to Death.

A little boy, the son of Chris D. Peterson, a well-known resident of the village of Jacksonville, Iowa, had a sudden and violent attack of croup. Much thick, stringy phlegm came up after giving Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Mr. Peterson says: "I think he would have choked to death had we not given him this remedy." For sale by all druggists.

FORAKER VISITS WHITE HOUSE

Ohio Ex-Senator Makes His First Call There for Several Years.

Washington, Jan. 15.—Former Senator Joseph B. Foraker of Ohio, made his first call at the White House today since the beginning of the present administration.

As a matter of fact, it was the senator's first call there for a number of years, for during the last part of the Roosevelt administration he seldom went near the executive mansion. Mr. Foraker said today that he had merely called to pay his respects to President Taft and to thank him for having reappointed his brother, Creighton Foraker, as marshal of New Mexico.

DENY STORY OF WIRE MERGERS

Postal Telegraph Officials Issue Statement Ridiculing Such an Idea.

New York, Jan. 15.—Vice-President Charles C. Adams of the Postal Telegraph-Cable company today virorously denied that there was any plan on foot to merge the various telegraph interests, and asserted that the keenest competition would still continue between the Postal and Western Union companies. The following official statement was made by the Postal Telegraph cable company:

"The Postal people vigorously deny any truth in the statement that the change of the name of the Postal Telegraph company to Trans-Continental Telegraph company has any connection with any plan for a merger with the Bell Telephone company or the Western Union Telegraph company. They state that the change of name is solely to enable their local company in New York state, known as the New England Telegraph company, to transact its business in New York state in the name of the Postal Telegraph-Cable company, and they ridicule the item which has been sent broadcast over the country that that simple change has anything whatsoever to do with the telephone interests or the Western Union interests.

"The Postal people say that they have nothing to do with the Telephone company or the Western Union, and don't propose to have."

OBITUARY

Edward Payson Galloup, one of the wealthiest men in New Hampshire, died at Lebanon Friday, aged 73. He acquired a fortune in business at Indianapolis. He was born in Lebanon.

Judge William Gaslin, the oldest practicing attorney in Nebraska, and widely known as jurist, died in Alma, Neb., Jan. 14, aged 82 years. He was born in Kennebec county, Me., and graduated from Bowdoin college. After practicing in Augusta, Me., several years he came west and was elected district judge when his district covered half the area of Nebraska. He had to deal with desperadoes and lawbreakers of unusual character who infested the frontier, and often found it necessary to "make the law fit the crime."

John W. Brydenthal, who was former state bank commissioner of Kansas and was chairman of the Fusion party in three campaigns, died today at his home in Kansas City, Kan., aged 53 years.

WANTS $25,000 FOR LOSS OF WIFE'S AFFECTIONS

Charging that Albert H. Polinsky, a jeweler at 413½ West Superior street, was responsible for the breaking up of his home, Joseph E. Fox, a hardware dealer, has brought suit in district court for $25,000 against Polinsky for alienation of Mrs. Fox's affections.

The papers in the case were filed this morning, and when it is brought to trial, probably at the March term of court, some sensational testimony will probably develop. Both Fox and Polinsky are prominent in their own circle, and the large amount of damages demanded adds interest to the action.

In his complaint, Fox alleges that he and Lucile M. Hales were married in Duluth, Dec. 12, 1904, and lived together until June 25, 1909, when they separated. Sept. 2 of this year, Fox was granted a divorce by the district court, but Polinsky was not the man named in the action, Mrs. Fox being charged with misconduct with another man.

Fox charges that April 1, 1906, and at different other times during the time he and his wife were living together, Polinsky and his wife were guilty of misconduct. He charges that after Polinsky's attentions began, his wife gradually changed in her attitude toward him and that her subsequent misconduct and the complete estrangement, which resulted in the divorce, were caused by Polinsky.

Charging that his home was broken up, that he was deprived of his wife and happiness, that he was subjected to anguish and disgrace, Fox fixes his damages at $25,000 and asks that the court give him judgment for that amount against Polinsky.

HOPED TO BE SAVED

Entombed Negaunee Miner Never Doubted That He Would Be Rescued.

Tells Coroner's Jury of His Harrowing Experiences Underground.

Negaunee, Mich., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The inquest into the death of the three men who were killed in the Negaunee mine, Dec. 13, was held in Judge Argall's court yesterday.

Frank Condello, the only survivor of the disaster, related a most harrowing tale of his experiences 600 feet below the earth's surface.

"I was buried in so small a place that I was hardly able to stand upright," said Condelo. "Chewing the bark which I peeled off the timbers, and drinking the dirty water that lay in pools on the ground, I managed to keep up my strength until I heard the rescuing party digging not far away from me. Most of the time I spent in sleeping, but when taken out by the rescuers I could hardly believe that I had been entombed for seven days and nights in that hellhole.

"I had never given up all hope during the time I was buried in my living grave.

Hears Welcome Pick Sounds.

"On what I believe was the sixth day of my entombment I heard the clashing of picks and shovels and now knew that I would be rescued alive.

"Oh, the pains that I suffered during the last several hours that it took to reach us. It was now nearly seven days that I was without food, except the nourishment I derived from chewing bark, and became very weak from hollering to the rescuers through the wall of mud."

But at last they reached him and he was taken to the surface and there stood his poor wife waiting at the cage to meet him.

"I have suffered all the pains of being buried alive and don't want to do it again."

Condello still looks very pale and it will be several weeks before he will be able to work again.

The verdict of the jury was that the three men came to their death accidentally by a fall of sand, boulders and mud.

LLOYD-GEORGE TURNS WARLIKE

Says British Navy Could Sink German Fleet in a Few Hours.

London, Jan. 15.—David Lloyd-George, in closing his campaign with a speech at Grimsby this afternoon, referred to "the invincibility of the British navy," and declared:

"If the German fleet in a moment of madness ever attacked Great Britain it will be at the bottom of the German ocean in a very few hours."

SAID TO BE WORLD'S BEST NAVAL AUTHORITY

ADMIRAL SIR ARTHUR KNYVEST WILSON.

Sir Arthur, who is the new sea lord of the admiralty of Great Britain, is probably the best technically informed naval man in the world. His promotion has been rapid. He served his country in the Crimean war in 1854, in the Chinese war in 1865, in the Egyptian campaign in 1882, in the Soudan in 1884. He served as lord commissioner of the admiralty and comptroller of the navy, 1897-1901, commander of the channel squadron, 1901-3, commander-in-chief of home and channel fleets, 1903 to 1907, and has been admiral of the fleet since 1907. He succeeds Sir John Fisher.

SMALLPOX IN THE CITY

Half Dozen Cases Have Been Picked Up on the Street.

Lumber Camps Are Warned Against Dumping Sufferers on Duluth.

Duluth is again being made a dumping ground for smallpox cases contracted in the logging camps about the city.

It's the same old story in the same old way, only the influx seems to be starting earlier than in other years. Usually these cases do not appear until the camps are breaking up in the spring.

The last two or three days about half a dozen cases of this kind have been picked up in Duluth. Most of them came from one camp, the officials of which were notified this morning by Dr. F. J. Patton, health commissioner. They promised to remedy the evil, saying that they had not known of it before. The smallpox is believed to have been contracted in camps which were infected last winter and not properly cleaned and fumigated.

The men who come into Duluth are foisted upon the city without a cent in their pockets most of the time, and the city and county are compelled to stand the expense. It is impossible to let them remain at large, for the whole city might be down in a short time. They cannot be shipped any place else, as that would be just as bad. So they stay here and the public pays the bill.

The city has no authority to go into these camps and compel them to clean up. The men in charge of the camps will do all in their power to prevent news of such disease in their camp from becoming known, as it would work them great injury and possibly force them to cease operations. The authority to look after these camps is vested in the state, and it is said that the only way the matter can be remedied is to put a state deputy in Northern Minnesota to watch them. Whenever a case was discovered he could isolate it and see that proper measures were taken to prevent any spread of the disease as well as stop the patient from coming to the city.

RAILROADS

GENERAL SUPERINTENDENT TO QUIT GREAT WESTERN.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Otto Cornelisen, general superintendent of the Great Western railroad, has announced his resignation, to take effect Jan. 15. He expects to rest for several weeks and then to resume active railroad work with some other company.

Mr. Cornelisen has been an employe of the Chicago Great Western for about twenty years. He entered the service as a telegraph operator, and gradually worked his way up through the intermediate grades of train dispatcher, trainmaster and division superintendent to that of general superintendent.

STORM DELAYS THE BIG LINERS

St. Louis and Lusitania Among Those That Feel Atlantic Weather.

New York, Jan. 15.—The American line steamship St. Louis, which had been anchored off Sandy Hook in the storm since Thursday night, came up the harbor today, reaching her dock after much difficulty. She was closely followed by the Cunarder Lusitania, which arrived off the hook last night.

Special interest attached to the arrival of the St. Louis because Whitelaw Reid, American ambassador to Great Britain, was a passenger, who had rushed across the ocean in the hope of attending yesterday morning the funeral of D. Ogden Mills, his father-in-law. The St. Louis was due to sail again today with trans-Atlantic mails, but will not get away until tomorrow morning.

The Lusitania was due yesterday, but was kept back by terrific storms at sea. In one tempest last Tuesday, the mountainous waves smashed a part of the bridge, and while she has made more than 600 knots a day on that day she logged only 319.

The first indication of clearing weather, which came before noon, caused a revival of activity in the harbor.

THIRTY-SIX HOURS LATE

Omaha Train Has Been Dug Out of Snow Bank.

It Is Expected to Arrive in Duluth Before Sunday.

Through the fierce storm that swept the western territory the day before yesterday, has abated, traffic conditions are in such bad shape that not a Chicago train reached Duluth today. The first train since Thursday will reach Duluth some time tonight, if the reports received at the local office of the Omaha are correct.

This morning the Omaha train was dug out of the snow drift at Janesville, Wis., where it has been stalled since Thursday. According to the report received at the local office, the drift at this point was eighteen feet deep.

It is expected that the train that was due here yesterday morning at 8:40, will arrive here at 9:30 tonight. It will immediately start on the return trip to Chicago.

A train will leave Duluth at 3:30 this afternoon for Eau Claire. It will be a local and will carry no sleeper.

According to the information given out at the Omaha office, the road between Duluth and Chicago is open at the present time, and from the time the train arrives this evening, no further trouble is anticipated.

HURT IN CALIFORNIA.

Former Negaunee People Injured in Street Car Wreck.

Negaunee, Mich., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Shea and his sons, Russel, Clement and Leslie, formerly of this city, were injured in a street car wreck at Los Angeles, Cal., on New Year's day, when the car in which they were riding was struck by a passenger train. Eleven of the people in the car in which the members of the Shea family were riding were seriously injured and some twenty or more were slightly hurt.

Mr. Shea was more seriously hurt than either of his sons. He had one rib fractured and he received a bad scalp wound, also both his hands and arms were lacerated. The boys were cut and bruised.

Burns' Anniversary.

Throughout the length and breadth of the land, and in every country where sons of Scotia may be found, the night of Jan. 25 will be given to the celebration of the anniversary of the immortal Scottish bard — Robert Burns.

For the evening of Tuesday, Jan. 25, a program has been arranged, under the auspices of Clan Stewart, No. 50, O. S. C. Songs will be sung, dances in costume will be given and to the guests the sweetest of all music—that of auld Scotland—will be played. During the course of the program the Hon. Henry F. Greene will deliver an address on the "Life of Burns."

Immediately following the musical program a grand ball, in which Scottish dances, intermingled with those of America, will be given.

Following is the program:

DOING EUROPE.

London Post: Once when the present writer was journeying in Naples on one of the electric trams which skirt the rim of the bay he heard the voice of an American lady pronouncing what he took to be a glowing eulogy of that inspiring sight. "I've traveled nearly all over," said the voice, "but I've never seen anywhere (a pause) any electric cars to compare with ours in Seattle!" It was not quite the expected climax, but Seattle is certainly a surprising place.

SECRETARY OF THE CONSERVATION LEAGUE

THOMAS W. SHIPP.

The National Conservation association, of which Thomas W. Shipp is the secretary, will hold its next meeting in Washington on Jan. 18, 19 and 20. The conference will be devoted largely to the discussion of uniform laws, in which President Taft is largely interested. The association will probably hold some joint sessions with the National Civic federation, which meets in Washington on the 17th, 18th and 19th of January.

Was Most Popular Method of Committing Suicide in Duluth.

Twelve Took Their Own Lives Last Year---Fifty Accidents.

The gun route was the favorite method of committing suicide in Duluth last year, according to figures contained in the annual report of the health department, now in course of preparation.

Carbolic acid and drowning come next with an equal number, and other causes trail along with one each.

In 1909, four persons ended their lives by shooting themselves; two drank carbolic acid; two drowned themselves; one passed to the beyond by jumping off a bridge, while another shuffled off by the gas route.

The only unusual suicide was one who left this earth through the medium of opium. One committed suicide by cutting his throat. Altogether twelve persons took their own lives in Duluth last year, and four people were murdered, according to statistics.

During the year, fifty deaths were due to accidents to persons living here, while fourteen people hurt outside the city died in Duluth. Alcohol caused five deaths; asphyxiation, five; Bright's disease, thirty; cancer, thirty-six; convulsions, fifteen; cholera infantum, twenty-four; delirium tremens, one; hemorrhages, thirteen; measles, two; appendicitis, two; and apoplexy, twenty. The total number of residents who died was 842, while 148 whose homes are in other places died in Duluth.

HAD ONLY ONE SHAFT.

Fritz Stenen's rig waltzed into Duluth this morning. He came in from his farm, near Eagle lake, with a sleigh having but one shaft, forcing his small horse to do fancy steps in order to make progress. Whenever a down grade was reached, the single shaft shot high above the animal's head like a bandmaster's baton, keeping time to the equine's waltzing legs. Fearing that the dancing animal would collapse, Patrolman David Olson brought "Old Fritz," as he is commonly called, to the station. But he was allowed to go on his way. The last seen of him the horse was waltzing over the line of the hill on East Superior street with "Old Fritz" sitting complacently behind, smoking his pipe.

THE GRAIN STATISTICS

Total Shipments From This Port in 1909 Were 78,413,404 Bus.

Statistics prepared in the secretary's office of the board of trade indicate that the total shipments of grain from this port last year were 78,413,404 bushels, of which 71,941,360 bushels were consigned to American ports and 6,472,000 bushels to foreign ports.

Wheat shipments aggregated 63,938,131 bushels to the following ports: Buffalo, 38,287,323; Chicago, 54,551,453; Cleveland, 786,500; Milwaukee, 354,130; Ogdensburg, 358,000; Detroit, 805,596; Toledo, 794,000; Sandusky, 557,844; Oswego, 50,000; Fairport, 83,000; Erie, 215,000; foreign: Montreal, 2,470,316; Midland, 1,423,000; Tiffin, 1,000,000; Depot Harbor, 1,124,999; Kingston, 63,000; Georgian Bay, 110,000.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

THE SENATE "PRINCE CHARMING."

One day a fluffy little thing asked the usual question of her male escort, according to a writer in Success Magazine.

"Where is Beveridge?" he repeated, scanning the pit where the statesmen were tariffing. And then he located the Indianian for her. At this inopportune moment Mr. Beveridge arose and waved an emphasizing hand at the vice president. He turned a terrifying scowl on the standpatters. He struck an Ajax pose as he faced the gallery. Incidentally, one might have observed that Mr. Beveridge was not at all dissatisfied with himself.

"Oh," gasped the fluffy little thing in the gallery, "he doesn't look a bit like that in his pictures."

"Naw," replied her escort, "this is his fighting face."

Which suggests the thought that Jim Jeffries and Jack Johnson and other distinguished masters of the uppercut are not, as a class, alone in their possession of "the fighting face."

GUARANTEE TO CURE

What physician in Duluth, or elsewhere for that matter, will, upon accepting your case, give a LEGAL GUARANTEE to cure you? That's what the PROGRESSIVE MEDICAL ASSOCIATION of Duluth does in every case.

The fact that you may have been given up by other physicians is no obstacle to them, for their twenty-five years of special practice and study of ailments and diseases common to man, has fitted the scientists of this truly progressive association to effect cures where many other physicians fail ignominiously. The equipment and operating rooms of the Progressive Medical Association are the most modern in the Northwest, and their new dissolving process for the treatment of diseases, invented and improved by themselves, is far ahead of any other method in existence today. No longer is it necessary to go to Hot Springs or to journey to the East for consultation with specialists. You can be cured here—right in Duluth—without the knowledge of your friends or family even—cured thoroughly and completely.

A personal consultation and examination is desirable, but not absolutely necessary in all cases. Consultation is free. Don't delay. If you cannot call, write today for symptom blank.

WEST DULUTH NOW HAS SITE FOR PUBLIC MARKET

The Property Was Purchased Years Ago for This Purpose.

Market Could Be Established at Very Little Expense.

A matter, which was brought to light last evening at a meeting of the West Duluth Commercial club, may assist materially in securing for West Duluth, the long-agitated public market place, where the farmers in the vicinity of Duluth may sell their produce direct to the consumer.

When West Duluth was a village, a bond issue of $20,000 was voted, and afterwards sold for the purpose of securing property to be used for a public market, the project being practically the same as the one for which the people of Duluth are now working.

Although this election at which the bonds were voted, took place nearly seventeen years ago, the public market never materialized. A fraction of a block was purchased with the money, but when the village was incorporated into the City of Duluth, the property was not used as was originally intended.

The City of Duluth still holds the property and at the present time it is being used as a storage place for lumber and tools for the board of public works, and a small office of the water and light department is also on the ground.

The lots are located at the rear of Wade's store, Central avenue and Ramsey street, in the first division of West Duluth, block 10, fractional lots 1 to 6, inclusive. Two of the lots are of full twenty-five foot lots, but the other four are fractional, having a frontage on the Northern Pacific right-of-way of about 100 feet.

The announcement of the original intention of the village of West Duluth, when the property was acquired, caused considerable surprise on the part of the members of the club who are interested in the project of a public market for West Duluth.

A committee was appointed to look into the matter more closely and see, what steps, if any, can be taken with the city officials or common council to have this used for the proposed market place. In this way, it is said, there would be no expense involved in the project as far as securing a site is concerned.

On the committee appointed last evening were placed F. W. Jolitz, chairman, C. M. Brooks, A. H. Merriman, George Crulkshank and A. M. Swingle. Whether the committee would favor this as a location, is not known, but from the general trend of the talk on the proposition last evening, it is supposed that it will be recommended by the committee.

An Ideal Site.

The place is said by some to be an ideal one for a public market. It is located in the central part of the residential district of West Duluth and easily accessible to the railroad, having a large frontage on the right-of-way of the Northern Pacific. It is also a handy place for the farmer to come to.

The general idea of the project is to build and maintain sheds and stands for the farmers so that when they come to the city with their produce, they may dispose of it. If the new Proctor road is built during the coming year, it will tap a good farming district back of the hills at West Duluth and make it comparatively easy matter for the farmers to get in with their produce If the market attains the success that is expected, a spur track would probably be put in.

If the open market proposition goes through, a new creamery has been promised for West Duluth.

It is understood that an uptown concern contemplates building either at West Duluth or at Adolph, Minn., and that if West Duluth gets the new Proctor road and offers an inducement for the farmers to come to Duluth, it will get the creamery in preference to Adolph.

The committee has been instructed to carefully look into the matter and report at a meeting in the near future.

At an open meeting of the Commercial club, which will be held next Friday evening, a general discussion of the proposed charter amendments will be entered into. It is planned to have a number of speakers for the occasion as this will be taken up as a special order of business.

At the meeting last evening President I. A. Barnes was authorized to appoint a committee of nine members, who will have charge of the arrangements for the annual banquet of the club, which will probably be held during the latter part of the winter or early in the spring. President Barnes will announce the personnel of the committee at the next meeting of the club.

The membership committee consisting of Judge J. B. Flack, George W. Smith, A. J. Meldahl, E. Moore and Daniel Keefe will make a campaign to interest outsiders in the work of the club with the view of boosting the present membership.

A committee comprising Thomas Olafson, J. J. Frey and W. B. Gotchell was appointed to have charge of the hall during the coming yea[r].

ENDEAVOR UNION RALLY.

Society Holds Quarterly Meeting at Westminster Church.

The Duluth Christian Endeavor union held its quarterly rally last evening at the Westminster Presbyterian church, Fifty-eighth avenue west and Ramsey street. There was a large representation from each of the eleven unions represented.

A very interesting session was held after which refreshments were served. The banner for the best attendance was won by the newly organized society, the Union Church Disciples, which had an attendance of twenty out of twenty-two. The church was prettily decorated for the occasion.

The next rally will be held in March.

CANDIDATES WILL TALK OVER CHARTER CHANGES.

A meeting of the West Duluth Republican club will be held this evening, at which Mayor R. D. Haven and the aldermanic candidates from the Seventh and Eighth wards will be speakers.

One of the matters to be taken up for consideration will be the proposed amendments to the city charter and the members of the club, as well as the candidates, will be asked to talk on this subject.

Royal League Meeting.

West Duluth Council No. 225, Royal league, will hold its monthly social session Tuesday evening at the Commercial club rooms. A dance will follow the ceremonies of the evening. A class of members will be initiated.

The Royal league will meet every two weeks in the future, and is planning on holding dancing parties once a month. The one which will be given next Tuesday evening will be the first of the series this winter.

Special Song Service.

A special song service will be held tomorrow evening at the Elim Swedish Lutheran church, Fifty-sixth avenue west and Elinor street. Vocal solos will be given by a number of local singers, and A. F. Lundholm will give several selections on the pipe organ. Rev. J. A. Krantz will give a short address during the evening.

Gophers vs. Bryants.

The Gopher and the Bryant hockey teams will clash tomorrow afternoon at the Gophers' rink at the foot of Ramsey street. Manager Briggs of the West Duluth aggregation is looking for games.

West Duluth Briefs.

The annual meeting and supper of the congregation of the Plymouth Congregational church, Fifty-fourth avenue west and Bristol street, will be held next Thursday evening.

Funeral services were held this morning for Raymon, the 3-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Super of 302 South Sixty-second avenue west, who died yesterday. The services were conducted from the Polish Catholic church with burial at the Polish cemetery.

Mrs. C. Jensen of 531 South Sixty-fourth avenue west, who has been visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. M. A. Tangen, of Taylor Falls, Minn., for a couple of weeks, has returned to her home at West Duluth.

Miss Sarah Clark gave a dinner party for a number of her friends at her home last evening. The evening was spent in games and music. The guests were Misses Neda Murphy, Blossie McCormick, Mollie Dunleavy, Catherine McCormick, Delia Crosby, Nina Smeryage and Katherine Dunleavy.

The West Duluth firemen were called out twice unnecessarily last evening, the first alarm coming in at 10 o'clock and the second an hour later. The reflection from fire in stoves used to dry plastering in a new building was the cause. The building is at 5920 Raleigh street.

Hurst. Watch repairing, W. Duluth.

Fraternity lodge, No. 580, Modern Brotherhood of America, will install officers at a meeting held next Wednesday evening. A large class of candidates will be initiated, and after the ceremonies there will be a social session and smoker.

Dave Shodeen of Proctor was taken to St. Mary's hospital yesterday afternoon, suffering from injuries he received while working on a building at New Duluth. He fractured two ribs in the fall.

Mrs. A. Dunleavy of 117 North Fifty-eighth avenue west has gone to Hibbing for a short visit with relatives.

Dr. S. S. Shannon of Barnum, Minn., formerly of West Duluth, is in the city this afternoon renewing acquaintances.

HAD MEAT CONCEALED

Alleged Shop Lifter Proved to Be Walking Butcher Shop.

Duluth Woman Has One Method of Reducing Cost of Living.

Francisca Capone, an Italian woman about 45 years of age, suspected by the police of being a shoplifter, was carrying a huge chunk of sausage and a large porterhouse steak when searched at the police station this morning, upon being arrested on suspicion of having stolen two electric light globes from the Northern Electric company.

The meat, which was unwrapped, came from a big bag which she had suspended from her waist under her skirt. The woman created a bit of excitement on First street before she was arrested. One of the employes of the electric company claims that he saw her put the globes in the bag and accused her of it. She immediately darted from the store with the clerk after her. Sergeant John Roberg was standing in the middle of the block and took up the chase, overtaking her at Third avenue west. The globes were later found on the sidewalk near the Wolvin building, where she had evidently succeeded in dropping them without being seen by either the policeman or the crowd which began to gather.

HIS REWARD.

Senator Dolliver, discussing certain tariff propositions with a Washington correspondent last month, said:

"Those propositions would pay, eh? Yes, they would pay as the Denver man's advertising campaign did.

"'Advertising always pays,' said a friend of this man. 'Take the case of Smith. Smith recently conducted a most extensive advertising campaign throughout the country, and was thereby discovered by his wife, whom he had deserted some ten years before.'"

MARKET IS STEADIER

Improved Tone Following Heavy Liquidation at the Opening.

Trading on the Local Exchange Light During Short Session.

The copper market was slightly steadier today, although there was much liquidation after the opening. Toward the close some support was offered and the shorts covered. Weak accounts appear to have been generally closed out and the undertone was stronger than for several days. The technical position of the market has been greatly improved.

The public, however, is in a passive attitude, except when it becomes impatient and sells. The recent action of the stock market has increased the disappointment and quickened the anxiety of those traders who have been carrying stocks in expectation of a January bulge. Little has happened lately to cheer their drooping spirits or reward their patience, although they got a faint glimmer of hope today. There were a few fresh commitments and a smaller number of customers got out of the market.

Copper producers look for improvement in the metal situation and a further shrinkage in stocks. The average cost of producing copper in this country is probably between 9 and 10 cents a pound. This represents the expense of getting the metal out of the ground and selling it to the consumer, exclusive of depreciation or profits. A 15-cent price for copper would help the industry mightily, as well as revive a drooping market.

Somebody had a little fun with Rawhide Royal today and hammered the price down to 6 cents from 9. The stock advanced to 7 from the low point shortly before the close. Only 15,800 shares changed hands. The entire session on the local board comprised 15,275 shares, so that outside of Rawhide Royal there was not much doing. This stock is tipped for an advance in two or three weeks and it may have been that somebody wanted a supply on hand at the lowest possible prices. Anyway, the transactions helped to inject a little interest into an otherwise lifeless session.

Copper Queen sold at 85c, Black Mountain at 85c, Butte & Superior at $2.57½, Calumet & Montana at $2.12½, Chief at $2.50, Elenita at $9.43¾; Rawhide at 9c, 8c, 7c, 8c and then at 7c. There was no interest in the higher priced issues.

The following dispatch concerning the developments on the 1,400 level at the Butte-Alex Scott was received from Butte today: "Drifting north and south from the shaft on the 1,400 level of the Butte-Alex Scott mine continues with undiminished energy. The management expects to cut two veins in the south vein in a few days which will show up richer and larger than the 18½-foot vein encountered in the north drift. The latest penetration of mineral ground in the south drift was the opening up of a vein three feet wide. This vein was found following the discovery of a vein five feet wide in the same drift.

ORDERS ARE AFFIRMED

Supreme Court Rules in Two Important St. Louis County Cases.

Owners of Dock Recover From Owners of Steamer S. C. Reynolds.

The supreme court yesterday affirmed orders denying motions for judgment notwithstanding the verdicts or new trials in two cases of interest from the St. Louis county court.

In the case of Charles Swanson vs. Duluth Street Railway company, the court held that the question of Swanson's contributary negligence was one of fact and that it was sufficient to sustain the verdict in his favor. Justice Jaggard dissented.

Swanson was injured Nov. 14, 1908, at Thirtieth avenue west and Third street. He stepped from a westbound car and crossed over on the other track, where he was struck by an eastbound car. He sued for $7,200 damages and was awarded $50 by the jury.

In the case of R. C. Vincent and Lillian Kelly against the Lake Erie Transportation company, the court held that where under stress of weather, a master, for the purpose of preserving his vessel, maintains her moorings to a dock after the full discharge of the vessel's cargo, and the dock is damaged by the striking and pounding of the vessel, the dock owner may recover from the shipowner for the injury sustained, although prudent seamanship required the master to follow the course pursued." Justices Lewis and Jaggard dissented.

The plaintiffs were owners of a dock here and the defendant steamship company was the owner of the vessel S. C. Reynolds. During the big storm of Nov. 27, 1905, when the Mataafa and several other boats were wrecked just outside of the harbor, the Reynolds was lying at the dock. Though the cargo was discharged, the boat owners claimed that they could not move the boat during the storm, without great damage. The dock was damaged and the owners sued for $1,200, being awarded $500 by the jury.

SUPERIOR HIS PLUMES WERE BORROWED

When Joe Godaski borrowed various articles of clothes from several of his friends' rooms at the same boarding house, during their absence, for the purpose of making a "swell showing" when he called on a young woman at Billing's Park, Thursday night, he little realized that he would have to answer to a charge of grand larceny in municipal court.

Joe is a dock laborer and quit work Thursday afternoon to get ready to see his lady-love, who resides at Billings Park. According to the story in court, a certain Tom Malszjetski is a rival and Joe thought that if he were to appear in the race for the affections of the young woman he would have to dress as well as Tom. Godaski attributed his failure to keep up the pace, the tournament lacking a book of more presentable clothes. It then occurred to him to make a selection from his neighbors' wardrobes and to array himself in the latest styles.

When the guests at the Banks avenue boarding house returned to find their property gone, the trouble for Joe began. The landlord had a warrant sworn out for Joe, who was brought into court.

Late yesterday afternoon the landlord appeared in court to withdraw the charge. He had been won over to the theory that Godaski had merely borrowed the articles with the intention of returning them.

NORMAL SCHOOL TEAM DEFEATS CUMBERLAND.

The Superior Normal school basket ball team defeated the Cumberland high school five on the latter's floor last evening by the score of 44 to 25. The score at the end of the first half was Cumberland this morning. Although lighter than their opponents the Cumberland outfit showed up in good form and made things interesting for the Superiorites at all stages of the contest.

The following schedule has been arranged for the Normal team this season:

Duluth Central high school at Superior, Jan. 22.

Northland academy at Ashland, Feb. 11.

Cumberland high schol at Superior, Feb. 18.

River Falls Normal at River Falls, Feb. 25.

River Falls Normal at Superior, March 4 and 5.

In Municipal Court.

John Hickey was given a 30-day sentence on the rock pile yesterday in the municipal court, where he was up on a charge of attempting to rob a lumberjack.

David Tremblay, a fisherman, pleaded guilty to a charge of illegal net fishing when arraigned in municipal court yesterday paid a fine of $25.

Tony Zackaitts and Paul Bodega, accused of beating John Miller until his eyes were black and blue, were arraigned in municipal court where Tony was fined a small amount and Bodega was set free.

Martin Hansgard, 45 years of age, charged with drunkeness was sent to the jail for ten days without the alternative of a fine.

Oratorical Contest.

L. J. Johnson won the fourteenth annual preliminary oratorical contest, which was held last evening at the Superior Normal school. He gave an oration on "The South." Miss Agnes Akin carried away second honors with her oration on "The Little Twentieth Century Slave." Mr. Johnson will represent the Superior Normal school at the inter-normal contest which will be held at Oshkosh, March 18.

Riders Are Named.

President Flagstad of the Superior Ski club yesterday announced that the local organization had selected its list of riders to take part in the Duluth tournament tomorrow. Ole and August Nordby will jump in the professional class, while Ed. Bergstedtnan, Martin Boe, William Ostlund, James Halverson and Herman Larson will compete in the amateur class.

Big Deal in Acreage.

An acreage deal was closed this morning, whereby the Barnett-Ormsby company became the owners of an eighty-acre tract of land in close proximity to the Harding purchase near the site of the steel plant on the Wisconsin side for a consideration of $12,000. E. F. McCausland was the former owner.

The sale of the tract shows a consistent advance in the prices of realty in the vicinity of the Steel corporation holdings and $150 a acre is considered to be a fair price for the property. The syndicate, comprises two local men and other Eastern parties.

It is understood that the Barnett-Ormsby concern has purchased the property for speculative purposes rather than with the idea of improving it.

Married While Drunk.

Charles E. Kirkwood, formerly of Superior, is suing his wife for the second time for divorce, according to advices received here today from Chicago, where he now resides. He claims that when he remarried his divorced wife, he was intoxicated.

DOG CLIMBED MONT BLANC ALONE.

"There is a dog living at Ies Praz, near Chamonix," says a writer in the Strand, "who, in the summer of 1908, distinguished himself by climbing Mont Blanc. His master, a workman, was employed on repairs to the observatory on the summit, and one morning, after having been seen by his owner's wife at 8 o'clock, the dog disappeared. He must have rapidly tracked his master by scent, for he arrived at the summit at 2:30 in the afternoon, having accomplished in six and a half hours what usually is estimated to require thirteen hours for a man. The presence of some tourists at the top insured this fact being properly attested, and Mont Blanc, as the dog is now called, is quite a hero in his village.

UNCLE SAM DROPS BACK

Yields Lead in World Wheat Production to Russia This Year.

Exceptional Crop Beaten By 26,000,000 Bushels---Report on Minnesota.

Washington, Jan. 15. — The United States has lost its place as the greatest wheat producing country in the world, and Russia has won that distinction.

Even though last year the total yield of wheat in the United States was next to the largest in the history of American agriculture, the crop of 1901 being the only one that exceeded it, Russia last year produced the remarkable harvest of 783,000,000 bushels, which constitutes the largest crop ever harvested by any country, and 26,000,000 bushels greater than that of the United States.

The great yield of Russia for 1909, as shown by the revised official returns received by the United States department of agriculture, exceeds by more than 100,000 bushels the previous record of Russia. Only twice has the wheat production of Russia surpassed that of the United States, the first time in 1904, when the crop here was a partial failure.

Minnesota Crop Good.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—According to F. W. Eva of the grain department of the state railroad and warehouse commission, the grain crop of 1909 can be counted among the best and largest ever produced in this state. Only once before, he says in his annual report, submitted to the commission today, has the total wheat crop in one year been greater than that of 1909.

With a well assured estimate of 94,000,000 bushels and a price at or above a dollar in the local markets, this crop will bring more money to Minnesota wheat raisers than any wheat crop heretofore raised.

Oats has been another great crop, and best estimates obtainable put the total at 89,000,000 bu. The quality is far superior to that of last year.

Barley did not meet expectations, either in quality or quantity, nor was the yield of flax so large as in 1908.

Inspected 198,337 Cars.

For the crop year of 1909 the department inspected on arrival a total of 198,337 cars, divided as follows:

Wheat, 127,546; corn, 6,346; oats, 4,088; rye, 3,018; barley, 27,352; flax, 19,987.

This is against a total of 188,556 cars for the crop year of 1908.

During the year the department issued a total of 1,613 warehouse licenses and twelve purifying licenses. The total of local warehouses in operation was 1,615, a falling off of 108 licenses as compared with the previous year and a falling off of 148 houses as compared with the high number of houses during the big crop years of 1905 and 1906.

FARIBAULT MAN CAN LEAVE PRISON

Bert Ronk, Convicted of Manslaughter, Gets Sentence Commuted.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a special meeting of the pardon board today the sentence of Bert Ronk, convicted of manslaughter in Faribault county and sentenced to twenty years' imprisonment, was commuted to ten years. This commutation, with time for good behavior, will allow Ronk to leave prison at once, and by next October he will be able to leave the state.

Ronk's mother, an aged woman, lives in Port Blakely, Wash., and he wants to go to her.

His sister, Minnie Elfson, and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Bertha Ronk, have been working with the pardon board for two or three days to secure the commutation.

ROYAL BIRTHS RARE IN SCOTLAND.

Ladies' Pictorial: Among all their palaces and castles it is Balmoral that the royal family have always looked upon as their home. Around it cluster the most pleasing recollections of their childhood and early manhood and womanhood. It was there that the present queen of Spain and her brother Maurice were born. It is an interesting fact to remember that until the queen of Spain was born there had not been a royal birth in Scotland for nearly 300 years—not, in fact, since Charles I. was born at Dunfermline in 1600.

GOOD LIST OF ENTRIES

First Ski Tournament of Season Should Be Big Success.

Many New Riders Will Be Seen for First Time on Hill.

Every preparation for the ski tournament tomorrow afternoon has been completed by the officials of the Duluth Ski club. Riders from ten of the leading clubs of the Northwest will compete tomorrow. In addition to the riders that will be present from other clubs, some of the new members of the local club are expected to make a great showing.

O. L. I. Sween, formerly of Seattle, is considered a great jumper, and some big things are expected of him. Olaf Thomason is from Alaska, where he earned the reputation of being one of the greatest jumpers in the frozen north. His work here has been of a high order, and he is looked upon as one of the "dark horses" in the meet of tomorrow.

Caspar Ander is a Norwegian, and comes from Europe with a great reputation as a daring and skillful jumper. In practice it is reported that he has broken some of the best records made by local riders. He is one of the new members of the club who is expected to make a great showing, not only in the tournament tomorrow but also in the national meet at Coleraine.

Magnus Erickson, the first national amateur American champion, since winning the American championship has been in Norway, where he has won a number of big events. He will compete in the amateur events tomorrow.

Complimentary season tickets have been given to the Children's home, which will entitle children to the privilieges of the grounds.

The road leading to the main gate, near the bridge, has been widened so that there will be no danger of congestion. The events will start at 2:30.

The entrants follow:

Professional — Tollef Remmestvedt, Eau Claire; Jacob Gjestead, Stoughton; Karl Solberg, Stoughton; Erling Landvick, Stoughton; Ole Steenberg, Coleraine; Bernhart Sween, Hudson; Haloden Sween, Hudson; Aasmund Zalgaard, Hibbing; Christ Bjornson, Colfax; August Nordby, Superior; Ole Nordby, Superior; John Evanson, Duluth; Ole Fehring, Duluth; John Mangseth, Duluth; O. L. I. Sween, Duluth; Olaf Thomason, Duluth; Eling Diesem, Duluth.

CONSERVATIVES GAIN STRENGTH

Chicago, Jan. 15.—The conservatives in Western golf circles appear to be gaining in strength with every new arrival, and it begins to appear as if the expansion movement may be sidetracked at the annual meeting of the Western Golf association here tonight. It became known today that a number of the leading golfers of the West have been carrying on a correspondence with President Jaques and other officials of the United States Golf association.

If the plans of the conservatives are carried out, the Western Golf association will adopt a resolution calling upon the United States Golf association to make the reforms which many players of both sections deem necessary.

Even if the peace party triumphs in the expansion, there is almost certain to be a lively struggle between the representatives of the Minikahada club of Minneapolis and the Detroit Golf club for the amateur championship of 1910. Both delegations are now here, and engaged in lively campaigning. The Minikahda group is headed by Wendal Hertig. President Holt is leading the Detroit cause.

Among the prominent golfers already here are President-elect Horace F. Smith of Nashville; President J. C. Fennell of the Trans-Mississippi Golf association, and President F. L. Woodward of the Denver Golf club.

HAD KICK ON TRAIN SERVICE

Accomodations Between Duluth and Fargo Claimed to Be Very Poor.

Ex-Governor E. Y. Sarles of North Dakota, who came down from Fargo this morning over the Northern Pacific, had a healthy kick against the train service that is given passengers from Fargo to Duluth.

Mr. Sarles and his friends took the train last night at Fargo, which, by the way, was late. They traveled on a local from Fargo to Staples, and at Staples the party was forced to change cars. From Staples to Duluth the ex-governor and his friends traveled in a train which afforded very poor accommodations.

Mr. Sarles stated today that there was little reason to wonder that people from the Dakotas thought twice before coming to Duluth. He stated that St. Paul and Minneapolis got the trade of the most of the people from North Dakota, who went to a city to shop, for the reason that the train service from the North Dakota towns to Duluth was so poor that mew cared to brave the inconvenience of a journey to Duluth.

The members of the Sarles party were disgusted with the accomodations offered them, and say that it is the old story of giving Duluth the worst of the train service.

Albert Hoogs, business manager of the "Soul Kiss" company, compared notes with Mr. Sarles, and agreed that passenger accommodations from Dakota points to Duluth were the worst he had ever encountered in his long experience.

ON THE IRON RANGES

GENOA OPEN PIT WORK PROGRESSING

Long Narrow Pit Opened and Much Over Burden Is Being Removed.

Gilbert, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Operations at the Genoa open pit mine are progressing rapidly. The excellent weather is conducive to the rapid stripping of the mine. Steam shovels have opened up a long narrow pit from the Missabe depot at Sparta to the west side of the steel stafft of the Genoa mine, and the overburden is being hauled by trains to the shore of Ely lake, where most of the rock and earth from stripping operations is being dumped. An additional roadbed is being constructed adjacent to and parallel with the tracks of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern on the main line to Gilbert. The Duluth & Iron Range tracks between Sparta, Gilbert and McKinley have been abandoned by permission of the state railway commission and part of the rails removed.

The Duluth & Iron Range trains now pass over the Duluth, Missabe & Northern tracks from the Genoa mine to Gilbert. A fine new double track roadbed has been completed between the former site of Sparta and McKinley and rails laid from McKinley to Gilbert. The new line will be used when the shipping season opens in the spring. The opening up of the pit at the Genoa mine and the extension of the Gilbert mine pit southward has made these changes necessary.

DEDICATE NEW CHURCH SUNDAY

Duluth Minister to Preach Dedicatory Sermon in Gilbert Edifice.

Gilbert, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The First Presbyterian church will be dedicated next Sunday at the evening service.

A special program has been prepared, consisting of devotional services, special music by local and outside talent and addresses by local and visiting pastors. Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Bailey of Virginia will render several vocal numbers. The dedicatory sermon will be preached by Rev. J. C. Fairies of Duluth. Rev. S. A. Jamison of Duluth, to whom a great amount of credit should be given for the acquisition and reconstruction of the church, will be present and assist in the dedicatory services. Rev. George S. Turner, who has recently moved here from Tower, will be installed as first pastor of the new church. The program of exercises has been arranged as follows:

Organ voluntary; doxology, congregation; invocation; anthem, choir; Scripture reading, Rev. S. A. Jamieson; hymn, "How Firm a Foundation," congregation; prayer, pastor; solo, The Song the Angels Sang," Mrs. G. R. Forbes; sermon; duet, "Rock of Ages," Miss Ida Jones and C. L. STUDENTS DISCUSS CURRENT SUBJECTS Present Day Events Considered By Eveleth High School Pupils.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—A new branch of teaching is being experienced with by the high school faculty in the teaching of English and history.

The new branch is the current event subject, which requires the pupils to keep informed on all the important current topics. In some classes the pupils are required to report on their assigned topic once a week, while in other classes the current event period occurs twice a week. In the history classes the pupils keep informed on the subjects of today by clipping all the important items from the newspapers and other periodicals. These clippings are posted every day on the bulletin board, and are read with interest by all members of the high school. Essays on subjects of the day are read in the various classes and show the result of much interest of the pupils in the current topics.

The national subjects of much interest such as the congressional activities, the Ballinger-Pinchot affair, European court affairs, the president's message, and others come in for daily discussion. Some subjects are debated upon with much preparation by the pupils and are listened to very attentively by the others present.

This new branch of work is meeting with the approval of all the teachers and pupils, and is proving beneficial to all concerned. Judging from the success the new branch of instruction is receiving the same will become a regular part of the school work.

JOSEPH BACKUS IS BEING MENTIONED

One of Virginia's Pioneer Citizens Being Discussed for Mayor.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Numerous talked of candidates are springing up daily for the different municipal offices to be voted for the election, Feb. 8.

The friends of Joseph Backus are urging him to become a candidate for the mayoralty contest against Mayor Andrew Hawkinson. When seen, Mr. Backus stated that he had not fully decided in the matter, but might conclude to announce his candidacy later. Mr. Backus is one of Virginia's pioneer residents and owns valuable property in the city. Sven A. Nelson has filed as a candidate for alderman in the Fifth ward, opposing William Tritchler. John R. Krogdahl, who conducts an employment bureau here, may also decide to enter the race for alderman in that ward, but has not as yet declared his intention by filing papers.

LEGAL PAPERS FILED.

Additional Proceedings Instituted in Virginia District Court.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The following papers in pending cases were filed yesterday in district court with Clerk M. G. Holloway:

Dan Larson vs. Carl Triel. This is a case for $15,000 damages for alienation of the plaintiff's wife's affections. The case was once tried in Hibbing, when the jury disagreed. The case came up for trial at the October term of court, but was continued pending an appeal for a change of venue. By order of Judge Cant the case is ordered for trial here at the coming term of court. The parties in the action are residents of Hibbing, and the case has caused considerable interest on the range on account of the prominence of the defendant.

Kayors Bros. vs. The Virginia Brewing Company. The plaintiffs sue for possession of a business building at Chisholm held under lease by the defendant company. The case had been previously tried and the plaintiffs make a motion to set aside the verdict of the jury, which resulted in favor of the brewing company.

Doctors Wright and Benson vs. Samuel Lippman. Doctors Wright and Benson performed a surgical operation on a son of Lippman, and seek to recover the sum of $50 for medical services.

Ada Poole seeks a divorce from Sidney M. Poole and custody of child. The parties to this action are residents of Hibbing.

Henry Romekamp vs. David F. Foley. The action is brought to recover certain real estate now in possession of Mr. Foley.

FOR GILBERT ELECTION.

Officers Selected to Look After Voting at Special Election.

Gilbert, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The village council, in adjourned special session Wednesday evening, listened to a report from City Attorney Boyle on the legal aspects of the question of bonding the village in the sum of $15,000 for public improvements in the water and lighting systems, and on the proper methods of conducting the special election voted by the council at a previous meeting, to be held on Monday, Feb. 7.

The following officers of election were named by the council: Judge C. O. Welch, Supt. C. L. Newberry, John Jutin and Karl Fredrickson.

The judges will appoint clerks and arrange for voting places, etc. Much interest is being manifested by the citizens in the election even to the extent of overshadowing the approaching village election in March, but it is expected that the proposition will receive a large majority of the votes cast, as it is realized that the city is sorely in need of such improvements and that the plans of the council will result in the entire village being supplied with water, light and sewer systems.

ROGERS' FUNERAL SUNDAY.

Well-Known Evelethian Will Be Buried From M. E. Church.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of William Rogers, aged 73, known to his host of friends aas "Uncle William," who died at his home here Wednesday, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 o'clock from the M. E. church, Rev. Mr. Johnson officiating.

The cause of Mr. Rogers' death was cancer of the bowels. Everything that medical science could do to save his life was resorted to without avail by the More hospital staff. He died about noon, Wednesday, surrounded by his wife and other members of his family, who had been diligently watching for the end for the past week.

"Uncle William" Rogers was 73 years old, and came to Eveleth eight years ago from Greenland, Mich. He was born in Cornwall, Eng. He leaves a wife and the following children: John Rogers, Painesdale, Mich.; Mrs. Jasper Williams of Gilbert, Minn. and Matt Rogers of Eveleth.

The body will be laid to rest in the Virginia cemetery, following the services at the church Sunday.

WANT HER RESIGNATION.

Virginia Librarian Said to Have Been Asked to Resign.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—There is more or less adverse comment around town over the reported action of Secretary Pickering of the Carnegie library board in asking Miss Mattie Dunnigan, the librarian, to hand in her resignation March 1 because the library board believed a graduated librarian should be appointed on account of the growth of the library. As Miss Dunnigan has a host of friends who desire she be retained, the affair is expected to stir up considerable friction.

INDEPENDENT BASEBALL TEAM BEING ORGANIZED.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—An indoor baseball team is being formed at the high school, and will play its first game of the season next week with the militia, on the Vail hall floor. Strong players are attending school and should be able to organize a very strong team.

The high school baseball league is being circulated and it is very probable an organization including all the indoor organizations in this city will be formed.

HIBBING LODGE ELECTS.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Knights of Pythias have elected the following officers for the ensuing year: C. C., A. L. Egge; V. C., E. B. Abbott; prelate, C. M. Bates; M. of W., C. H. Webster; M. of A., C. W. Randall; M. of F., W. H. Day; M. of E., W. R. Spensely; K. of R. S., L. W. Browne; I. G., A. G. Schmidt; O. G., Charles Cristen; trustee, G. Schmidt, trustee for three years.

The Oliver club held a meeting Thursday evening and organized its basket ball team, which will enter the City Basket ball league. Ben Greenfield was elected captain of the team, and C. M. Pearce, manager.

An examination for clerks and carriers for the Hibbing postoffice will be held at the city hall, Feb. 2. The examination will be in charge of Secretary Oscar Lilliedale of the local civil service board.

BRIEFS FROM GILBERT.

Gilbert, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Specail to The Herald.)—W. T. Newton, Miss Marian Ricker, Gertrude McConville and Esther Siebert were unable to attend to school duties this week, as the result of sickness.

Several rooms of the high school indulged in sleigh rides this week, the weather being exactly suitable for this pastime.

MINE VICTIM BURIED.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Steve Pohak, who was killed by the cavin at the Spruce No. 4 Thursday, was buried this afternoon from the Holy Family church. Services were read over the body by Father Bilban. Many friends and relatives of the deceased attended the funeral and followed the remains to their final resting place in the Virginia cemetery.

The deceased was 28 years of age.

Takes Virginia Position.

Negaunee, Mich., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald)—Albert Rough, oldest son of Marshal John Rough, has accepted a position on the engineering staff of the New York State Mining company, operating on the Mesaba range. He will make his headquarters at Virginia.

$3.50 Recipe Cures Weak Kidneys, Free

Relieves Urinary and Kidney Troubles, Backache, Straining, Swelling, Etc.

Stops Pain in the Bladder, Kidneys and Back.

Wouldn't it be nice within a week or so to begin to say good-bye forever to the scalding, dribbling, straining or too frequent passage of urine; the forehead and the back-of-the-head aches; the stitches and pains in the back; the growing muscle weakness; spots before the eyes; yellow skin; sluggish bowels; swollen eyelids or ankles; leg cramps; unnatural short breath; sleeplessness and the despondency?

I have a recipe for these troubles that you can depend one, and if you want to make a quick recovery, you ought to write and get a copy of it. Many a doctor would charge you $3.50 just for writing this prescription, but I have it and will be glad to send it to you entirely free. Just drop me a line like this: Dr. A. E. Robinson, K 94 Luck Building, Detroit, Mich., and I will send it by return mail in a plain envelope. As you will see when you get it, this recipe contains only pure, harmless remedies, but it has great healing and pain-conquering power.

It will quickly show its power once you use it, so I think you had better see what it is without delay. I will send you a copy free—you can use it and cure yourself at home.

ROYAL LEAGUERS ON SLEIGHRIDE

Ely Members, Their Families and Invited Guests Go to Winton.

Ely, Minn., (Special to The Herald.—The Royal League members, their wives, and a few invited guests were treated to a sleighride to Winton on Thursday evening. Deceased Was Old Resident and Mother of Seven Children.

Two Harbors, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. John Falk, an old resident of this city, died last evening at 7 o'clock from an operation performed Sunday, which was not thought would be serious.

Besides her husband she leaves four sons and three daughters, one son, Francis, being an engineer on the Duluth & Iron Range, and a son, Charles, being owner of the Red Cross drug store here, and a prominent business man. A daughter, Mrs. C. W. Kelsey, resides at Cleveland, Ohio.

ARM BLOWN OFF.

Workman at Knife River Lumber Camp Seriously Injured.

Two Harbors, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mike Norwick, a workman employed at Alger-Smith Camp No. 8, near Knife River, has been received at the Budd hospital with an arm shattered by an explosion of dynamite. He will lose the limb, as amputation will be necessary to save his life. Norwick is aged 45, and single.

John Rudeberg of Embarrass, who tried to board a moving Iron Range train here yesterday, fell and struck his head against a journal box, inflicting serious injury. He is at the Budd hospital in a serious condition.

PROCTOR SKATERS ARE PROVIDED FOR

Reservoir on West Side Being Fitted Up for Ice Skating.

Proctor, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The reservoir on the west side o town is being put in condition for a skating rink for the use of all who delight in the sport.

The Duluth, Missabe & Northern railway has had two arc lights placed where they shed a good light over the rink. A collection taken up in the shops netted a neat sum and this money will be used to defray the expense of keeping the ice clean. A warming house is also being planned. Proctor will have a first-class rink.

The ladies of St. Rose church will give a card party Tuesday evening next. All are cordially invited to attend.

Proctor lodge No. 615, International Association of Machinists, will give their fourth annual ball at the hall Friday evening, Jan. 21. They are planning one of the best dances of the season and are sparing no expense to make it a success.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stevens have returned from an extended visit in the West. While away they attended the exposition at Seattle.

The Ladies of the Modern Maccabees enjoyed a sleigh ride Wednesday evening. Upon their return at 9:30 o'clock, an oyster supper, served by Grandpa Smith, was enjoyed by all. There were twenty-four in the party.

T. J. Collins left Thursday evening on a business trip. He expects to visit Chicago and possibly New York. He will also visit at Muskegon, Mich., where Mrs. Collins has spent the winter with relatives. Mr. Collins will return in about ten days, accompanied by Mrs. Collins.

Mrs. James Brayden of West Duluth is visiting relatives here for a few days.

Homer Reneaud started to work Tuesday morning in the machine shop.

J. F. Whalen was quite ill all last week.

Perry, financial secretary and treasurer; William E. Towne, reading clerk; Thomas O'Meara, sergeant-at-arms, Miss Katherine Dempsey, James Walsh and Joseph Miller, trustees; P. G. Phillips and Thomas O'Meara, delegates to Superior.

The members voted to support the amendment to the city charter providing for free music in the parks. No other business of importance was transacted.

Scrofula

The wonderful curative powers of Hood's Sarsaparilla are clearly shown by the following condensed testimonial:

"We had our daughter vaccinated. Before her arm healed she began to have sore eyes. Soon she was blind in one eye and could see very little with the other. Five doctors said she would be totally blind. She could not stand the light. We then gave her Hood's Sarsaparilla. When she had taken eight bottles she could stand the light and now she can do the finest needle work." MRS. JENNIE BEARDSLEY, Elmira, N. Y.

DENVER GETS NO MORNING PAPER

Trouble With Pressmen Ends in Temporary Suspension By Publishers.

Denver, Colo., Jan. 15.—Probably for the first time in its history Denver breakfasted today without its usual morning paper. The cause was difficulty between the publishers and the local organization of the international pressmen's union, which reached a climax yesterday. Although yesterday's conference was continued until long after midnight no basis for agreement could be reached and publishers of the two morning papers decided not to make any attempt to publish this morning.

The demand of the local union originally was for a seven-hour day instead of an eight-hour day, and an increase of $1 a day, the changes to date from March 1 last. These conditions were agreed to, but before the final adjustment could be made the pressmen demanded time and a half for the extra hour they had worked under the new scale from last March. The publishers balked and the lockout followed.

The increase of $1 a day and time and a half for the extra hour since last March will aggregate between $15,000 and $20,000 for the four local dailies.

Small Snow Sculptor Dead.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—Enthusiasm over a snow man she was building on the roof of her home here, cost the life of Elizabeth Patrick, aged 7. She fell three stories, through a skylight, when she missed her footing on its edge.

was stalled in a snowdrift and Mr. Gaynor left the train and managed to walk to the nearest village, which is Hicksville. There he took an eastbound train for Brooklyn, convinced that he could not hope to reach St. James.

Trains Got Stalled.

This train went about three miles when it, too, was stalled in a drift. The mayor got out and started to walk back to Hicksville again. He and Mr. Shepard followed the railroad tracks until they came to what they thought was a bridge over a stream. It turned out to be a trestle over a hollow. Mr. Shepard was blown off by a fierce gust of wind and Mayor Gaynor climbed down one of the uprights to help him. He found Mr. Shepard helpless, and would have been forced to abandon him if it had not been for the fortunate arrival of a track patrol.

Leaving Mr. Shepard with the patrol, the mayor fought his way on through the storm to Hicksville. He was lost again, but finally reached the village, badly exhausted.

Worst Since 1888.

Utica, N. Y., Jan. 15.—Central New York has experienced its heaviest snowfall of the winter during the last twenty-four hours, and the wind has drifted it badly. Conditions in the Adirondacks and Catskills point to a tie-up. All traffic is seriously hampered throughout the Catskill mountain region. Not since the famous blizzard of 1888 have the residents about Middletown experienced so severe a storm. The snow has drifted twenty feet high in many places.

Fifty-one Trains Annulled.

Philadelphia, Jan. 15.—Snow in Eastern Pennsylvania and New Jersey has attained a depth of sixteen inches or more in parts of these states. Many country roads are impassible. At Bethlehem all trolley lines were stalled, and the steam roads were operated with difficulty.

Shamokin reported that the storm there is the worst in years. Collieries were forced to close down, and thousands of workmen are idle.

In this city the Pennsylvania railroad annulled fifty-one local trains to permit the better handling of through trains which were late in arriving from the West.

Wind at Seventy Miles.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 15.—Whipped by a wind which at Nantucket reached a velocity of seventy miles an hour, a heavy snowfall drifted over New England yesterday and last night. Although the gale raised unusually high seas off the coast, no serious mishap to shipping was reported. The Nantucket shoals lightship was set adrift by the parting of its moorings, but it was reported by wireless that she was not in need of assistance. Two schooners went aground and were floated during the day.

Enormous Damage Suffered.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—With the greater force of the storm of the last three days spent and moving to the east, dispatches from points in the Mississippi and Ohio river valleys tell of enormous damage wrought by the cold and heavy snow. Even with a thaw in sight, great apprehension is felt in many cities along the river banks.

In Michigan and Wisconsin traffic conditions are almost demoralized, many passenger trains being stalled for hours, while freight trains are far behind in making any kind of connections.

In Chicago and other cities of Illinois, where there has been a great scarcity of fuel, the situation is not promising, although the railroad managers believe that by tonight relief will be possible. Milk shipments to Chicago are tied up and many of the dealers announced that they would deliver only to homes where there are babies.

Severe In Wisconsin.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 15.—Some trains still are stalled in snowdrifts created by yesterday's blizzard in various parts of the state. Beloit reports that a Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul passenger train and five engines have been stalled between Janesville and Beloit many hours.

A Milwaukee-Oconomowoc electric car containing a number of passengers is stuck in a drift near Waukesha beach.

Trains are snowbound on the Madison-Freeport division of the Illinois Central and the Mineral Point division of the St. Paul road.

Steamer's Decks Swept.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 15.—The storm that has been prevailing along the Pacific coast for several days has caused a number of coasting steamers to take refuge in this harbor. Steamers which have arrived report that portions of their decksloads had been swept away by a terrific storm.

"Depression" In Northwest.

Washington, Jan. 15.—A strip of cold wave that marks up zero in Northern New York and 10 below at Greenville, Me., in the extreme northern tier of New England, scores today's lowest record in the country. The snowstorm that swept over this section a couple of days ago is passing to sea on the New England coast and in its wake, all along from the Ohio and Mississippi valleys to New England, the weather is clear or clearing with warmer days in sight.

What the weather sharps call a "depression," a disturbance that has meandered over from the Pacific coast, is marking time in the Northwest today and causing speculation as to whether it will develop into a storm and travel eastward. Except for this, the weather is clear today throughout most of the interior of the country, according to Forecaster Garriott.

CASH VOTES IN ENGLAND

at Plymouth, where they were faced with the necessity of overcoming a former Liberal majority of 2,367.

Another former American, J. H. Seaverns of Boston, fought again for his seat which he won in the last election at Lambeth, Brixton division. His prospects were not so bright today, as he had a strong opponent in the Unionist candidate, D. Dalziel.

Early Reports Made.

At 2 o'clock this afternoon the state of the parties in the general elections for members of the new parliament, was as follows:

Ministerialists: Irish Nationals, 5; Radicals, 1; opposition: Unionists, 11.

All the candidates thus far chosen were unopposed. The Unionist member chosen today was G. W. Wolff, for the east division of Belfast. The Nationalists' additions were Timothy Harrington, for Dublin Harbor division; W. Field for Dubin, St. Patrick's division; John J. Clancy, for Dublin, County North division, and Stephen Gwynn for Galway City. The Radical chosen was John Wilson from Durham county, Mid-division.

The voting will continue on every week day up to and including Jan. 27, unless changes from the program decided upon are made later.

Stronghold of Free Trade.

There is special interest today in the balloting at Manchester and vicinity, the stronghold of free trade. The result there can hardly fail to indicate strongly what progress if any has been made by the protection campaign of the opposition.

When parliament was dissolved on last Monday it was consituted as follows:

Ministerialists: Liberals, 365; Labor, 53, Nationalists, 81; Socialists, 1, total, 500.

Unionists, 168; ministerial majority, 332.

Today's results when known may be compared with those in the same constituencies at the last general elections in 1906. The returns at that time were: Liberals, 48; Unionists, 17; Labor candidates, 82.

ord of the course for one lap. Not only did he fail to equal Curtiss' time, but in descending his machine tilted and struck the ground, breaking one of the lower plane tips.

Lieut. Paul Beck, U. S. A., signal corps, attempted to drop a line of ammunition into a measured space from a Curtiss biplane, 250 feet in the air. The idea was to find out whether it would be possible for an airship to drop bombs into gun pits, but the effort was a partial failure because of engine trouble.

Curtiss Breaks Record.

After three attempts Curtiss succeeded in setting the speed record for the course at one lap at 2:12 flat. Knabenshue in his dirigible covered the course in 5:10 2-5.

The judges paid no attention to Paulhan's performance, as the aviator had not announced that he intended to do anything.

In spite of his nervous exhaustion, Paulhan is preparing for a flight from the aviation field to Echo Mountain and back to Pasadena, when the weather permits. This would necessitate a flight of approximately thirty miles over Los Angeles, and would somewhat pale his performance of yesterday, when he flew out to the harbor at San Pedro and received the greetings of the revenue cutter Perry and the other crafts sheltered there.

The harbor people are as excited today over this latest exploit of Paulhan as they were yesterday when, unannounced, he appeared suddenly over their heads and went almost to the headland jutting out into the Pacific, on which San Pedro light is located.

Could Wreck Defenses.

Paulhan, at a height of 900 feet, passed directly over the site in the Palos Verde hills where the big guns for the harbor defense will be masked. And when it was realized that he could have thrown 200 or 400 pounds of explosives down among them, a hint of future fears mingled with the pleasure of the spectators.

"Of course, a fleet of aeroplanes could attack harbor defenses," said Paulhan, "and they could destroy them, too. What I did was nothing more than a hint of what might be done. I made no preparation.

"You saw me carry two passengers yesterday. Suppose I took up the equivalent of two average men's weight in dynamite or some other high explosive and let it fall upon the fortifications. That would be about 375 pounds. What would be left of the guns or armor in the vicinity of where it struck?

"Aeroplanes are Perfected."

"Of course, I was comparatively close to the ground. My motor is only fifty horsepower, and with the aeroplane weighted down by three or four hundred pounds extra, possibly I could not fly much higher. But I could put in 100 horsepower more and rise to an altitude of 3,000 meters (about 9,750 feet). What gunner could hit such a small speck in the sky as my machine would appear then?

"Ha! Will aeroplanes be perfected in war? They are now."

mittee. Lonsdale has remained loyal until now, but says he is beginning to doubt.

Says He Cleared $50,000.

Lonsdale says that he received a letter from Cook under date of Dec. 24, and mailed from a city in Southern Spain. According to this letter, Cook was on the sea from Dec. 14 to Dec. 24, and accordingly was not acquainted with the decision of the examining committee when the letter was written. Since the receipt of this letter Lonsdale says he has heard nothing from Cook. Lonsdale has addressed several telegrams to Cook at a point where Lonsdale thought the explorer could be reached.

Lonsdale estimates that $50,000 was cleared by Cook from the exploitation of the latter's Arctic reputation.

Worst Time For Colds

What to Do to Prevent or Break Up Any Cough or Cold Quickly.

A cold—chronic cold—cough—catarrh—bronchitis — consumption — Death. This is the history of thousands of victims who "take cold" this time of year.

And yet many of us go on our happy-go-lucky way, catching cold, letting it run itself out, laughing at danger. Every time we let a cold run itself out we are running strength out of our body. We are making it easy for disease to catch hold of us.

At the best a cold or cough is disagreeable, and it's mighty foolish to suffer its discomforts when it is not necessary. It's much easier to prevent colds and coughs than cure them, but the safe, antiseptic home remedy, Salubrin, will do both.

Those who have tried Salubrin attest the positive, the wonderful cures it has wrought not only in coughs and colds, but in all lung and bronchial troubles, and catarrh of the throat and nose.

The 50-cent bottles of Salubrin now for sale at all druggists are intended for professional as well as home use. Don't be careless. Avoid danger by taking Salubrin for coughs and colds. It's the greatest and safest home remedy known.

ONE KILLED AND DOZEN INJURED

Two More May Die as Result of Iowa Coasting Accidents.

Burlington, Iowa, Jan. 15.—Earl Emerson was killed, twelve other young men and women were severely injured and several others were hurt last night in two coasting accidents. Emerson's side was caved in by a bob sled in the second of the collisions, and he died soon afterwards.

Miss Ruth Rogers' hip was dislocated, Harold Kelly's leg was broken, Miss Wells suffered both legs broken, John Nelson was internally injured and four other persons sustained severe cuts or broken bones.

Cured of a Severe Attack of Bronchitis By Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

"On Oct. 18 last my little 3-year-old daughter contracted a severe cold, which resulted in a bad case of bronchitis," says Mrs. W. A. Gibson, Lexington, Ky. "She lost the power of speech completely and was a very sick child. Fortunately we had a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house and gave it to her according to the printed directions. On the second day she was a great deal better, and on the fifth day, Oct. 24, she was entirely well of her cold and bronchitis, which I attribute to this splendid medicine. I recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy unreservedly, as I have found it the surest, safest and quickest cure for colds, both for children and adults, of any I have ever used." For sale by all druggists.

GENERAL WHO KILLED EDITOR IS ACQUITTED.

Panama, Jan. 15.—Gen. Herbert O. Jeffries, who last August struck William Nichols Chandler, editor of the Panama Press on the head with a large revolver from the effects of which Chandler died, was tried today and acquitted of the charge of murder.

The killing was the result of an article printed in the newspaper reflecting upon one of Gen. Jeffries' women relatives.

Gen Jeffries is a graduate of West Point and has been prominent in nearly every revolution for many years past in Central America. Chandler hailed from Winsboro, S. C.

HEAVY SALES OF IRON ORE

Lake Shipments Next Season Should Be Nearly 5,000-000,000 Tons.

Record of Banner Year of 1909 Will Be Broken.

"Buying of iron ore for this year has been nearly completed," said a man heavily interested in Mesaba range properties, today. "The aggregate tonnage under contract is the largest in the history of the lake iron ore trade. It is said that shipments down the lakes during the coming summer will be fully 50,000,000 tons, a gain of 7,000,000 tons in round figures over similar shipments in 1907 and 1909 which were the banner years in the trade.

"The heavy sales have completely cleaned up the supply of Bessemer ores so far as the shippers are willing to make commitments and have taken a large percentage of the non-Bessemer grades. Most of the Bessemer grade had been previously covered by reservations, but the sales have now been closed at the advance of 50 cents per ton on both grades. No change is to be made in the iron content of the ore this year and it will remain at 55 per cent in Bessemer and 5½ in non-Bessemer.

"The plans of the consumers—the blast furnace owners—evidently contemplate full operation for the period of consumption covered by the movement of the coming ore season which will run from May 1, 1911, so that the present buying is looking ahead about sixteen months.

"This coming increase in the production of Lake Superior does not represent the entire increase of the country in the production of ore. Material gains will be made in both the South and West. Iron ore imports last year were 1,640,000 tons, a gain of 400,000 tons over the imports of 1907, the best previous year. It is predicted that the imports during the present year will amount to at least 3,000,000 tons from Newfoundland, Cuba and Sweden.

"The total iron ore production of 1907 in the United States was 51,729,000 tons, the best record up to the present year, but it is expected that 1910 will show a production of at least 63,000,000 tons. This should take care of the iron ore industry even if all of the blast furnaces are operated to the limit of their capacity, 32,000,000 tons yearly. New furnaces in the course of construction will probably increase this to 33,000,000 tons by the end of the year. Assuming that the average content is about 52½ per cent, the industry should not suffer a shortage of ore. This does not take into account the fact that there are always a number of furnaces out of blast for relining and rebuilding."

NEW OFFICERS OF McEWEN CAMP

Spanish American War Veterans Hold Installation Exercises in New Hall.

John G. McEwen camp of the United Spanish War Veterans installed officers last evening at the new Memorial hall in the courthouse. Hugo V. Koch of St. Paul, state commander, and A. J. Rick of Winona, state inspector general, inducted the following: L. S. Larson, camp commander; W. R. Butchard, senior vice commander; W. J. Works, junior vice commander; W. L. Pierce, chaplain; A. E. Broadbridge, officer of the day; C. E. French, surgeon; W. S. McCormick, officer of the guard; T. T. Simon, Martin Rude and J. O. Olson, trustees. The ladies' auxiliary of the camp will hold an open installation next Friday. Mrs. J. B. Gibson, retiring president, will act as installing officer.

WILL HELP PLAN COUNTY FAIR

Agricultural Experts Are Interested in Hibbing Exhibit By President Ansley.

Frank Ansley of Hibbing, president of the St. Louis County Fair association, will have the assistance of several well known agricultural experts in planning the next fair.

The association has a plant on the outskirts of Hibbing where several fairs have been given with varying degrees of success. The fair this year will not be carried on along stereotyped lines as in the past. Mr. Ansley is said to favor a fair that will be distinctive and characteristic of Northern Minnesota. His associates agree with him. So, when Mr. Ansley was in St. Paul this week, a delegate from St. Louis county to the State Agricultural society, he met several instructors at the state agricultural school. He interested them in the Hibbing fair, and they promised him that they would assist in preparing plans for the fair and that they would willingly give any advice desired. It is probable that some of the instructors will actively assist in planning and arranging the Hibbing exhibit.

This is another indication that Northeastern Minnesota is getting on the agricultural map. The instructors at the state agricultural school frequently lecture in Duluth and St. Louis county and their advice and assistance has always been greatly appreciated by the farmers who have listened to them and who have carried out their suggestions. Mr. Ansley desires to make the Hibbing fair this year the biggest and best that was ever held in Minnesota, except the state fair. He will have the active co-operation of the Duluth Commercial club, Duluth business men and other commercial interests of St. Louis county as well as the farmers.

MALE GIRAFFE BORN IN AMERICAN CIRCUS.

Bridgeport, Conn., Jan. 15.—A male giraffe, said to be the first ever born in captivity, was given birth at the circus winter quarters here yesterday. It has been named Napoleon.

VOLUME OF TRADE IS HEAVY

New York, Jan. 15.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of trade today says:

Notwithstanding the seasonable lull in business, general conditions are fully normal, and the volume of trade as measured by bank exchanges and railroad earnings is very heavy. There is a wide diversity of reports from the different trades and trade centers, but even the least satisfaction indicates no fundamental weakness, while a majority of the reports, particularly those from cities farthest removed from the influence of the unsettled conditions in the financial markets, show a healthy condition of affairs. The distinguishing feature of the whole business situation is the sharp contrast between the hesitation prevailing in the securities markets and the confidence and activity prevailing in productive enterprises.

An increased demand for pig iron is indicated, with buyers displaying more interest than for several weeks past, and prices show a hardening tendency in some districts. Inquiry is broadening quite generally, with sales of from 40,000 to 50,000 tons of various grades noted at the West, while business in some parts of the East shows an appreciable expansion, mostly in malleable iron. Steel making iron, however, continues inactive and in some markets basic is still available at $17. Considerable irregularity has developed in finished lines, but some dullness in this division is not surprising, after the phenomenally heavy specifying before the year closed. This has resulted in the accumulation of large stocks in jobbers' hands, yet buyers, in every instance, still appear willing to make contracts for distant periods.

Trading in cotton goods was restricted to some extent by unsettled conditions in the raw material market, although there were large sales of print cloths at the advanced price of 4¼ cents for delivery during the first six months of the year.

There was a shortening of discounts on print goods of a staple character, foreshadowing to some buyers an advance from the base price of 5½ cents.

Considerably more activity is noted in hides, some large tanners entering the market. Prices were lower than have previously ruled, but the declines were not great, considering the fact that most of the packers who sold were enabled to clean out their stocks of branded varieties, up to the first of the year. Leather continues dull, and few sales of any size are made.

FLAG RAISED ON NEW BUILDING

The Highest Building in the State Rapidly Nearing Completion.

The flag was raised on the Alworth building yesterday afternoon. M. H. Alworth, his sons, and Mr. Hart, his secretary, J. L. Washburn and his secretary, Miss Feetham, climbed the stairs and ladders to the top. The superintendents and workmen gathered around. Mr. Washburn ran up the flag, and when it was made fast and unfolded in the breeze, a yell went up from the workmen, which was but faintly heard in the street below.

Mr. Washburn made a few remarks, suggesting that the building was the highest business building in the state, built by one of the tallest men in the state, designed by the best of architects, and constructed by the best of builders and workmen, and that as a monument to the owner's industry, this building should be handed down to his children and children's children. The flag was saluted and cigars passed to all the workmen.

NORMAL NOTES

During the week a few of the girls from the various classes, under the supervision of Miss Long and Miss Van Stone, have been busily engaged in hemming curtains for the windows, and tablecloths for the tables in the two lunchrooms, which now present a very attractive appearance. Small gas ranges were installed last year to give those of the students who cared to have hot lunches, the opportunity of having them in the school building, the dining room at Washburn hall not being large enough to accommodate all of the students wishing to get their meals there.

Work on the new dormitory is progressing favorably and the building is rapidly nearing completion. It will be ready for occupancy about the time of the opening of the summer session.

The seniors held a short meeting on Monday. A committee was appointed, of which Miss Ruth Raleigh was elected chairman.

The sophomore class met on Wednesday and again on Friday.

The freshmen class is planning a party in the near future, and held a meeting on Friday to discuss plans for it.

The kindergarten club or the Duluth-Superior branch of the International Kindergarten union held a meeting at the Madison school on Wednesday. The juniors and seniors of the kindergarten department of the Normal attended the meeting and sang a group of winter songs there. Plans were discussed for the lecture on "Games and Nature Study," which is to be given by Miss Stella Wood of Minneapolis, on Feb. 18 or 19.

Miss Van Stone outlined the story of the opera "Tannhauser," by Wagner, during chorus period on Friday, in connection with the study by the students of the "Pilgrims' Chorus," taken from that opera.

The students are working on one of the commencement songs, entitled the "Spinning Chorus," taken from the opera, the "Flying Dutchman," by the same author.

The program committee of the Thalian Literary society held a meeting the week and agreed on a program for the meeting, which is to take place next Friday. Miss Ruth McEnery Stuart will be the author whose work is taken up. The program follows:

Piano solo .....
Elsie Overman.
"Episodes From Her Life" .....
May Langford.
Selection .....
Miss Long.
Vocal solo .....
Maud Matteson.
Selection .....
Ruth Hamblin.
Piano solo .....
Helen Coburn.

The members of the Glee club and their friends, accompanied by Miss Van Stone, Miss Post and Miss Carey, gave a skating party at the rink on Twenty-fifth avenue east, on Friday afternoon.

The members of the manual training classes are busily engaged in making picture frames, decorated with fancy chip-carving designs.

Tena McMillan of Washburn hall spent the week-end at her home in Cloquet.

Laura Elberson spent the latter part of the week in Proctor.

Miss Fannie Lumm and Miss Audle Foote have returned to take up their school work.

The girls residing at Washburn hall are planning a sleighride for Friday evening.

Miss Irene Anderson of Buhl spent the week-end with friends at Washburn hall.

WHITE RHINOCEROS FALLS PREY TO TEDDY.

Butiaba, on the Eastern Shore of Lake Albert, Uganda, Jan. 15.—News from the Smithsonian African scientific expedition brought here by means of a native runner and a canoe service up the Bar-el-Jebel river, is that all of the party are well with the exception of three hunters recruited in Africa, who have suffered from dysentery. Col. Roosevelt shot a white rhinoceros cow and a young rhinoceros on the first night that the party was at Camp Rhino, its present stopping place, on the Congo side of the Bar-el-Jebel river.

BIG NIGHT FOR DULUTH FORESTERS.

Four Duluth courts of the United Order of Foresters have made preparations to hold a joint installation of officers next Tuesday evening, at 8 o'clock, at Foresters' hall, corner of Fourth avenue west and First street. The Fourth ward will see a lively tilt between Thomas Trevillion, Republican, and now in council, and H. P. Curran, a laundryman, campaigning on the Democratic ticket, with Trevillion having somewhat the best of it. John Hogan, Democratic alderman from the Fifth ward, is a strong candidate for re-election, with good chances of success. His Republican opponent is B. F. Neff, a grocer.

The Sixth ward as yet has not put up any one to run against Sands Van Wagner, Republican, who defeated Alderman Peter Olson at the primaries, but there is much talk of an independent candidate, the street railway plans being a live local issue.

In the Seventh ward, Fred Erickson, Republican, appears to have things his own way against William Bernard, Democratic nominee. The ward is strongly Republican. In the primaries Erickson received 248 votes, as compared with 88 for Bernard.

The Eighth ward will probably see a close fight between P. H. Martin, Democrat, and L. A. Barnes, Republican. Mr. Martin has a wide acquaintance in this section, and the prediction is that he will poll a heavier vote than any Democrat that has made the race in the Eighth ward. He is getting considerable support that is normally Republican.

MORGAN HELPING TO REVISE THE BIBLE.

Rome, Jan. 15.—Abbot Gasquet, who was entrusted by the pope with the revision of the Vulgate, yesterday delivered a lecture on the progress of the work. He paid tribute to American generosity, saying that of the $9,200 so far contributed to defray the expenses involved, a great part has been received from the United States. Much more money is needed.

The abbot estimates that the work of revision, which was begun in 1907, will occupy eight years. Abbot Gasquet expressed his appreciation of the assistance of J. Pierpont Morgan, who has permitted photographs to be made of fifteen leaves from a sixth century edition of the gospel owned by the American financier.

WOMAN AND FOUR CHILDREN BURN.

Saskatoon, Sask., Jan. 15.—A house occupied by a homesteader named Henderson, his wife and two children, and a Mr. Reid and two children, burned yesterday. Mrs. Henderson and her two children, and the two Reid children were burned to death. Mr. Reid was so badly burned trying to rescue them that he will die.

COHEN TO FACE CHARGE OF BEING KIDNAPER.

Philadelphia, Jan. 15.—After a brief hearing before a magistrate yesterday afternoon, Frederick Cohen, who ran away with Miss Roberta De Janon, was committed to the county jail without bail, for further hearing two weeks from today, on a charge of kidnaping.

"CAMPAIGN OF WHISPERS"

No Brass Bands in Evidence in Present Political Fight.

Close Race in Progress in Several of the Wards.

"The Whispering Campaign" might be a good title to apply to the one now in progress in Duluth.

Diligent inquiry revealed the fact that there is a municipal campaign on in Duluth, and that an election will occur next month, but the average citizen has heard little or nothing about it. Some quiet work is being done, but it consists almost entirely of buttonholing voters. Mayor Haven and Dr. M. R. Cullum, the Democratic candidate, have both made a few speeches before ward gatherings and political clubs, but neither has opened a political headquarters as yet, and neither has appointed a campaign manager or planned a mass meeting.

In such a quiet campaign it is very difficult to predict the outcome. The vote will undoubtedly be light. The registration at the primaries was small and there is nothing to indicate that the next two registration days, Jan. 18 and Jan. 22, will bring out any large percentage of voters. The total registration for the election will probably not exceed 8,500 or 9,000 votes, with a probable total of 7,500 or 8,000. The normal vote in the city should be close to 12,000.

The Ward Campaigns.

The situation in the wards is interesting, but even in the smaller battles the thunder is dimmed. The candidates are getting out daily and working hard, but it's quiet work. There are no mass meetings, practically no neighborhood gatherings, and no brass bands to herald the voters to the public square or the hall. It appears to be a house-to-house and man-to-man canvass that is being conducted, and in some parts of the city it is being done pretty thoroughly.

The First ward is the scene of perhaps as hard a fight as any ward in Duluth. With a normal Republican majority of about 200 votes to overcome, Frank Cox, the Democratic nominee, is gaining ground rapidly. He is well known in the ward, has a strong following, and indications are that he will surprise the Republican candidate, James A. Wharton. John A. Keyes is the Public Ownership candidate in this ward, and will probably poll quite a large vote.

Both candidates in the Second ward are new men, Frank Makowski, Democrat, bucking Henry Berbig, Republican.

In the Third those who are in touch with the situation have no hesitancy in stating that Frank Jordan, Democratic president of the city council, will be re-elected by a substantial majority. He is being opposed by Frank Miller.

The Fourth ward will see a lively tilt between Thomas Trevillion, Republican, and now in council, and H. P. Curran, a laundryman, campaigning on the Democratic ticket, with Trevillion having somewhat the best of it. John Hogan, Democratic alderman from the Fifth ward, is a strong candidate for re-election, with good chances of success. His Republican opponent is B. F. Neff, a grocer.

The Sixth ward as yet has not put up any one to run against Sands Van Wagner, Republican, who defeated Alderman Peter Olson at the primaries, but there is much talk of an independent candidate, the street railway plans being a live local issue.

In the Seventh ward, Fred Erickson, Republican, appears to have things his own way against William Bernard, Democratic nominee. The ward is strongly Republican. In the primaries Erickson received 248 votes, as compared with 88 for Bernard.

The Eighth ward will probably see a close fight between P. H. Martin, Democrat, and L. A. Barnes, Republican. Mr. Martin has a wide acquaintance in this section, and the prediction is that he will poll a heavier vote than any Democrat that has made the race in the Eighth ward. He is getting considerable support that is normally Republican.

WEST END WINTER SPORTS

Many Sleighride Parties Are Being Given This Winter.

Sleigh riding is becoming popular with the young people of the West end and within the next few days many rides out into the country and around the city have been planned by the various church societies and other social organizations.

Last evening one of the first rides to be given this winter was under the auspices of the Kabibinaki club, an organization of young men of the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church.

The young men took the sleighs for New Duluth, returning early this morning. There were about twenty young people in the party, which was chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wright of Park Point.

Last evening the boys' class of the Grace M. E. church Sunday school entertained at a sleigh ride party which was atetnded by thirty people. The drive was to Proctor and return. After the ride they were treated to an oyster supper at the home of Rev. and Mrs. M. O. Stockland of 310 North Twenty-second avenue west.

The Amo club of the West end will give a sleigh ride party this evening to New Duluth. The young people will meet at the home of Bert Smith of Twenty-first avenue west and Third street and return there after the ride for lunch. About fifteen couples have been invited to attend.

WILL NOT REMAIN.

Rev. J. P. Davis Will Not Be Pastor in West End Church.

Through a failure to come to an agreement with the church officials over certain matters, Rev. J. P. Davis of Jamestown, N. D., who received the first call to the Second Presbyterian church to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Rev. J. L. McBride, will not be the new pastor of the West end church.

Mr. Davis who has been in the city for the past three weeks conferring with the church officials on the matter will leave soon for Jamestown. He occupied the pulpit of the local church for the past two Sundays.

An effort is being made, it is said, to secure a Wheaton man for the local pastorate and it is understood that he has been invited to Duluth to confer with the trustees and to speak at the local church. Word is expected from him today in regard to the matter.

SKI CLUBS PLAN TO CONSOLIDATE

Old Norsk Sport May Be Revived at West End.

A movement is on foot at the West end to consolidate the Zenith Ski club, an amateur organization of about fifty members with the Adams Athletic association. The ski club is a defunct organization and the ski enthusiasts of the Adams association intend to put new life in the sport at the West end.

Neither of the clubs has made any effort to erect a slide yet this winter, although the weather has been fairly good for the sport, if the negotiations which are pending between the Adams association and the old Zenith Ski club go through, it is expected that the slide will be put up at once.

The slide will be on Miller's creek above Lincoln park, where it will be unnecessary to build an artificial one. The promoters of the old Norsk sport at the West end will endeavor to interest the younger element in the activities and it is probable that a series of amateur tournaments will be held during the season.

NEW CONTAGIOUS HOSPITAL READY

Institution Will Be Opened for Patients in Near Future.

The new contagious hospital at Fourteenth avenue west and Third street, which has been under course of construction for the past few months, has been finished.

The interior furnishings have been ordered and will arrive within a few days. The health authorities expect to open the institution for patients in about three weeks.

The new hospital is divided into two sections, separated by solid walls, the entrance to each section being from the outside only. One section will be for scarlet fever and the other will be used for diptheria cases.

ELECT OFFICERS AND ARRANGE FOR BANQUET.

Arrangements were made last evening at a meeting of the West End Commercial club for the first formal banquet of the club to be held some time next month. The details of the affair have been left in the hands of a committee which will report to the club, Jan. 28.

At the annual election of officers, S. W. Hill was named as president, C. L. Hood, vice president, George M. Jensen, secretary; John Sundeen, treasurer; J. J. Moe, Edward N. Nelson, Dr. O. A. Oredson, Emil Olson and Fred W. Erickson, directors.

The "white way" committee asked for an extension of time on its report.

Will Circulate Petition.

If the proposed water bonds are authorized by the voters of the city election next month, it is the intention of the West End Hillside Improvement club to make a strenuous fight for the desired improvement of an extension of water mains.

The club met last evening, and besides re-electing all of the old officers for the ensuing year, appointed a committee to take up the matter of circulating a petition requesting the improvement.

West End Funeral.

The funeral of Maurice Hedberg, the fireman who was killed Tuesday night in collision at Shortline Park, was held this afternoon from the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street, with Rev. C. G. Olson officiating. Interment was at Park Hill cemetery.

Wilmar Wilton of 2606 West Huron street, who has been seriously ill with typhoid pneumonia at his home, has sufficiently recovered to be able to be out again.

Mrs. Eliza Horton of 2127 West Fourth street, who has been ill at her home for the past few weeks, is reported to be much improved today.

The young people of the Central Baptist church gave a social at the church parlors last evening at Twentieth avenue west and First street.

Funeral services for Esther Gustafson, 9 months old, of 1922 West Michigan street, were held this afternoon from the family residence with interment at Lutheran cemetery.

Alexander Kennedy, former Sixth ward alderman, is reported to be recovering from a serious illness at his home in the West end.

Rev. C. G. Olson, pastor of the Swedish Bethany Lutheran church, met with his confirmation class this morning at the church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street.

George Shepard is reported today to be seriously ill at his home on North Twenty-eighth avenue west.

FIRST LECTURE ON AGRICULTURE

State Entomologist Gives Interesting Address on Damage Done By Insects.

F. L. Washburn, state entomologist, opened the series of eight agricultural lectures at the Y. M. C. A. building last evening with an instructive and entertaining address on bugs and the damage which they do in the United States.

His talk was illustrated with stereopticon views. He estimated that the damage done by the pests in this country alone amounts to $800,000,000 annually. He explained that all kinds of bugs and insects are not harmful, but that some species help destroy the pests by feeding on them. He recommended tilling the soil as a preventive, stating that the eggs can be killed by turning them under the ground with a plow. He stated that it did not bother many bugs to be frozen, saying that they may become as solid as a piece of ice in winter and be hopping about the first few warm days of spring.

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKER HERE

George W. Andrick of Minneapolis, general missionary for the Sunday School Union, is in Duluth today visiting friends of the association, which is interdenominational and which builds up Sunday schools throughout the state, especially in the sparsely settled regions where the social life is confined chiefly to school and church.

Mr. Andrick, or associates, visit Duluth twice a year. The union, it is said, receives liberal support here. L. W. Bates of Virginia is the representative of the union in Northeastern Minnesota. W. A. McConagle of Duluth is vice president for St. Louis, Carlton, Lake and Cook counties. A slogan of the union is "One hundred dollars spent for training children accomplishes more than $10,000 spent for reforming men."

WAIT FOR MINNESOTA.

Grand Forks County Has Three Cases Belonging to This State.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Grand Forks county authorities are beginning to wonder when the Minnesota board of control of asylums for the insane will take action on several local cases. At present three insane persons supposed to be subjects for the Minnesota asylums are being cared for by Grand Forks county. Two of the insane persons are in the state asylum at Jamestown, while the other is being held in the county jail in this city.

CHAIN OF NORTH DAKOTA BANKS BEING PLANNED.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—A financial change of great importance to Grand Forks and North Dakota is reported here, whereby the stock of the Union National bank is to be taken over by North Dakota and Minnesota capitalists, and the bank is to be made the depository of about 100 hundred smaller banks controlled by these capitalists. Among new stockholders who, it is rumored, are interested are: D. N. Tallman, Willmar, Minn.; L. M. Goodman, Hillsboro, N. D.; F. H. Wellcome and George E. Towle, Minneapolis; S. J. Ladue, Minot, and M. F. Murphy, Grand Forks.

MOUNTRAIL COUNTY HOLDING FIRST COURT.

Stanley, N. D., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first term of the district court of Mountrail county has been in progress this week, and the first three cases tried were condemnation actions started by the Great Northern railroad to secure right-of-way property for the Stanley-Powers Lake extension. This line will run from Stanley into Williams county through a district which has only been slightly explored so far. In addition to the condemnation cases tried this week, several more are pending. Active work on the construction of the extension will be commenced next spring.

RECTOR CENSURED FOR LETTING BAPTIST SPEAK.

Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 15.—Following his censure by Bishop William A. Leonard for admitting Rev. Albert Ehrgott, a Baptist minister, to the pulpit of St. Mark's Episcopal church, Rev. Dr. C. S. Davidson of that parish has resigned his charge. Bishop Leonard says he refused permission to his priest when the latter asked leave for Rev. Mr. Ehrgott to speak.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

TIMBER MAN IS ACCUSED

Is Held Responsible for Man He Employed Freezing to Death.

Manitoba Government Would Prosecute Accused on Manslaughter Charge.

Spooner, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—J. C. Cornelius of Graceton, Minn., one of the well-known timber men of this northern country, is facing a charge of manslaughter in Manitoba because a man employed by him froze to death while going to his camp.

Cornelius has been released on $4,000 bail.

According to the reports current here, Cornelius, who owns a lumber camp eight miles from Darwin, Man., being short of men engaged about forty at Darwin. Instead of providing teams he let the men walk eight miles to work. The men are said to have been considerably the worse for liquor and instead of going to camp returned to Darwin. Mr. Cornelius then took the lead and lead them to the camp. The men straggled along into camp. One was missing and on searching for him he was found frozen to death. Claiming Cornelius should have provided conveyances to haul the man the Manitoba government had him arrested.

Friends of Cornelius do not expect he will be convicted. It is claimed that during the trip one of the men broke through the ice getting his feet wet and Mr. Cornelius taking off his own shoes put them on the man with the wet feet.

DOUBLE-HEADER IN A COLLISION

Two Northwestern Freights Crash Together, Two Men Being Killed.

Ironwood, Mich., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—A disastrous head-on collision between two Northwestern freight trains, one a double-header, occurred early yesterday morning, between Bolton and Flandeau, Wis., about forty miles south of here, in which two firemen were killed and two engineers badly injured.

The dead:

FIREMAN NOLTON, married, Antigo, Wis.

FIREMAN HERSCHER, single, Antigo, Wis.

Engineers Mahard and Schmidt were injured, the former having one leg badly bruised and receiving other bruises, and the latter being caught under his engine and badly bruised.

Both of the firemen killed lived in Antigo, Wis. Their bodies were brought here and then taken to their homes.

The wreck is said to have been caused by non-observance of orders by the crew of the northbound train, which was ordered to stop at Bolton until the southbound freight passed through. Instead of doing this, the northbound train continued and the collision occurred about ten minutes before the southbound train was due at Bolton.

A wrecking train was sent out from Ashland shortly after noon and it is expected that the wreckage will be cleared away early today. The front engine of the southbound train and the engine of the other train were badly broken up by the collision.

MANY SECTIONS WILL BE DRAINED

Thief River Drainage System Will Furnish Land for Thousands.

Thief River Falls, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The committee appointed by Judge Grindeland to determine the benefits and the damages for judicial ditch No. 11 in the section in Eastern Marshall county and Western Beltrami have just completed their tour of the territory. The men comprising the committee are: G. O. Cross of Warren, John Simonson of Excel and Chris Hagen of Beltrami.

The system includes some 400 miles of ditch, draining some 500 sections of lands or 2,000 quarter sections, and is known as the Thief River drainage system. The lands benefited by the proposed ditches lie between Town 156 north, range 30 west, and Town 155 west, and range 43, which covers a tract some forty miles wide on an air line.

There will be three organized towns in Beltrami county and the towns of Benville, Spruce Grove, Minnie, Lee Hamre and Steenerson in Marshall county, benefited by this ditching. The towns further west which will also receive great relief from surplus water will be Thief Lake, Rollis, Veldt, Eckbold, East Valley, Adger and Esplee. All the ditches must be at least sixteen feet wide and from three to four feet deep. The mains will be forty to sixty feet wide and twelve deep, and all the dirt removed from the ditches must be laid on one side of same and leveled down into a first-class graded highway.

The committee must make their final report as to assessments and benefits to Judge Grindeland before Feb. 10, so that work can begin in the spring. It is expected that as soon as the contracts are assigned that within two years all the main ditches and the laterals will be completed. It is learned that a large amount of government land, unentered as yet, will become available for settlement when these drainage projects become operative, but persons entering them will be liable for assessments before they prove up, and the lands can be liened against for the benefits, just as can private lands.

BAYFIELD COUNTY FAIR PROSPEROUS

Annual Meeting of Association Makes Very Good Showing.

Iron River, Wis., Jan. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The annual meeting of the Bayfield County Fair association has just been held at the office of the town clerk. The annual reports of the secretary and treasurer were made and plans considered for the next fair considered. The reports showed that the fair of 1909 was bigger than all previous fairs held in the county both as to the number and variety of exhibits and the attendance. The reports also disclosed that considerable money was expended in making permanent improvements on the fair grounds, which not only filled a long felt want and were badly needed, but incidentally added greatly to the attractiveness of the grounds.

Secretary Richard Resigns.

George A. Richard, who was secretary of the fair last season, was not in a position to longer serve, and his place was filled by the election of H. H. Butts as his successor. W. B. Clubine, president of the association, was unanimously re-elected, as was also Byron Ripley, the treasurer.

A resolution was passed requesting the president of the association to call the attention of the county board of supervisors to the necessity of providing a suitable exhibit building for livestock to meet the growing needs of the fair, and to make further repairs on the grandstand and speed barn which the ravages of time and the elements have made imperative.

The dates of the fair will be fixed at a meeting of the officers of the racing circuit embracing Northern Wisconsin, Michigan and Minnesota tracks which will be held soon, and the premium list will be issued early in the season.

COLLEGE GETS GIFT.

Jamestown Institution Has Received Some Valuable Real Estate.

Jamestown, N. D., Jan. 15.—It is a matter of much gratification to the friends of Jamestown college to learn that a resident of Courtenay, Stutsman county, C. A. Sanford, has given to the trustees, through President Kroeze, a gift of real estate which is valued at from $12,000 to $13,000. A deed has been received by the trustees and duly recorded. The value of the land is unquestionably equal to the above amount. It is located in this county, and the proceeds of this splendid bequest will be applied toward the erection of a new girls' dormitory and music hall, the first new building which will be erected on the Jamestown college grounds.

This gift of Prof. Sanford is unconditioned, it is an absolute gift to the college, and it comes at a time when it is greatly needed and highly appreciated by the faculty and trustees. This gift will be applied to the erection, as above stated, of the new dormitory building, to complete which will require an outlay of $25,000.

KILLED IN THE QUINCY.

Young Hancock Miner Falls Down Stope to His Death.

Hancock, Mich., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Attillo Laverino, a well-known young Hancock man who had been employed at the Quincy for several years, was instantly killed by falling thirty feet down a stope in the Mesnard shaft of the Quincy Wednesday afternoon. No bones were broken, and the body was little bruised, death evidently resulting from concussion.

The deceased was 18 years old, and resided with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Laverino, at 1032 Ingot street. He is survived by several sisters besides his father and mother. Funeral arrangements have not been made. It is probable that services will be held Sunday, either at St. Joseph's in Hancock or at Calumet.

FAMILY HAS TROUBLES.

Part of Them in Jail and Warrants Out for Balance.

Minot, N. D., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The troubles of the Lucksinger family are becoming complicated very rapidly. In addition to the one son previously arrested, another son and the mother are now in jail, while a bench warrant is also out for the father, who claimed to be ill and unable to attend court.

In addition to the contempt of court charge, one of the sons will probably have to face a perjury charge. The trouble has all grown out of the trial of a minor civil action, in which E. Myers attempted to secure from Dora Lucksinger the reconveyance of certain property.

GRAFTON'S FIRST BORN

Who Saw Light of Day Twenty-Nine Years Ago Dies.

Grafton, N. D., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Word reached Grafton this week that Grafton Cairncross, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Cairncross of this city, had died Sunday at Terminal Island, a suburb of Los Angeles, where he has been with his parents for some time. Nothing has been learned as to arrangements for the funeral or whether the body will be brought here for interment.

Grafton Cairncross was the first child born in this city. He was born in September, 1881. He gained his education in the city schools and resided here until he reached young manhood. Then he went to Montana, but six years or more ago was attacked with heart disease and since then has been an invalid.

Grand Forks Institute.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The dates for the farmers' institute to be held in Grand Forks have just been announced, Feb. 22 and 23 being named. The Grand Forks Commercial club has taken charge of the work of making preliminary arrangements for the event, which promises to be one of the biggest farm gatherings in this section of the state.

IRON RIVER TAX CASE

Argued Before Judge Parish of Ashland This Week.

Ashland, Wis., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Iron River tax case was argued here Wednesday before Judge Parish. The argument was made on behalf of Town Clerk Daniels of Iron River by John M. Olin of Madison, and on behalf of the complainant, Mark Hessey, by John Walsh of Washburn.

Issue was joined on the question as to the constitutionality of the law under which the Wisconsin tax commission acted when it received the complaint of Supervisor of Assessment Landraint and subsequently heard evidence as to the equitableness or inequitableness of the assessment of the town of Iron River for 1909 made by the regular taxing officers, and then caused a new assessment to be made.

It was late in the afternoon when the argument was concluded and, of course, no decision will be announced until the court takes sufficient time to carefully consider the weighty questions involved.

MAKES GOOD RECORD.

Municipally Managed Marquette Plant Has Very Few Rivals.

Marquette, Mich., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—There are probably few cities boasting a municipality-managed enterprise that can make a showing in any way comparable to that of the Marquette lighting and power plant in the years that have elapsed since its management has been in the hands of a board organized under a special act of the legislature.

The plant is today Marquette's most valuable asset of a public nature, and its value is yearly being enhanced. During the present week arrangements have been made for taking up $18,500 of bonds, the largest amount that has been retired at any one time, and $1,500 more are to be retired as soon as they can be located.

The payments made on bonds out of earnings have aggregated $61,500, and there is left outstanding but $81,500 of these securities, which the commission expects to retire within a year. Improvements made out of earnings the past dozen years amount to over $100,000.

STAPLES BROTHERHOOD

Of Railway Trainmen Have Installed Their New Officers.

Staples, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local lodge of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen have installed officers as follows: E. H. Clary, past president; E. Kelley, president; W. J. Alden, vice president; C. A. Bush, secretary; W. L. Morton, treasurer, Ed. Gates, conductor; R. W. Robinson, chaplin; L. E. Spencer, journal agent; G. P. Rice, inner watchman; F. J. Hoemberg, outer watchman; E. Kelley, chairman of grievance committee.

Regular meetings will be held second and fourth Sunday afternoon of each month.

COLE IS CANDIDATE.

Fergus Falls Man Would Like to Be Lieutenant Governor.

Fergus Falls, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dr. Cole and F. E. Hodgson arrived home from Colorado Tuesday evening, where the doctor has been visiting his old preceptor, and Mr. Hodgson has been buying land.

Dr. Cole also expected to take a trip south, but changed his plans and did not go. They returned by way of St. Paul.

Dr. Cole was asked if the report published that he had decided to become a candidate for lieutenant governor was correct and replied that he expects to be a candidate, but does not propose to go into any vigorous fight for the nomination. He feels that if the gubernatorial nomination goes to the southern part of the state that it will be but fair to nominate the lieutenant governor from the more northly part.

HAZEL GREAT HUNTER.

Baraga County Man Makes Many Wolves Bite the Dust.

Negaunee, Mich., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Thomas Hazel of Baraga county has for many years held all records for the killing of wolves, wildcats and lynx, but during the past year he has met with exceptionally good luck. He stopped at the Portage lake with the pelts of one wolf and fifty-seven lynx, which latter he sold for $5 each. During the past twelve months he has brought down fifty wolves with his trusty rifle.

THROUGH THE BAD LANDS.

Northern Pacific Has Decided Upon Route for Its Cutoff.

Marmath, N. D., Jan. 15.—The Northern Pacific has finished its preliminary survey work in this section and has decided on a route through the bad lands for the new Coast cutoff. After running fifty preliminary lines through the bad lands between this point and a point twenty-five miles north of here, eight of which touched Marmarth, a decision was reached a few weeks ago which will take them through here parallel to the Milwaukee.

From 100 to 140 men have worked in this vicinity on these surveys for months, with the engineer's office located here. Their survey calls for a line through the bad lands, with a .3 per cent grade, and in order to maintain this grade some of the heaviest railroad work ever done in this country will be necessary.

BABY'S FALL FATAL.

Pipestone, Minn., Jan. 15—A daughter of Henry J. Kahl allowed her baby sister to fall from her arms, striking on its head on the floor. The accident resulted in contusion of the brain and the little one died a few hours later.

FARGO FAIR DATES.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The executive committee of the state fair association has decided to hold the next fair in this city on July 25 to 30 inclusive. C. O. Smith, president of the association, and W. H. Doyle of the speed committee returned from Grand Forks, where they were conferring with the northern circuit arranging a schedule of purses and classes for the racing meeting here during the fair.

GETS LONG SENTENCE.

Indian Who Killed Another Redskin Given Twenty-Five Years.

Minnewaukan, N. D., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Isadore Mazahomni, the Indian charged with murdering Peter Adams, another Indian, was found guilty in the district court of Benson county, and yesterday received a sentence of twenty-five years in the state penitentiary. Adams was murdered in a fight on the Fort Totten reservation shortly before Christmas, the several participants in the row being intoxicated.

KENNEDY HEADS FACULTY

Of Summer School of Several North Dakota Counties.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The committee composed of the superintendents of schools of Cavalier, Pembina, Ramsey, Walsh and Grand Forks county, yesterday afternoon selected a faculty for the university summer school, naming Prof. Joseph Kennedy as conductor.

This year two new counties have been added to the summer school work, President McVey succeeding in interesting Cavalier and Ramsey counties. Those two counties have about 375 teachers, and their participation in the summer school work will mean a large addition to the number of students at the summer school.

FARMERS PROFITED.

Institute at Sandstone Last Saturday Was Very Well Attended.

Sandstone, Minn., Jan. 15.—The special farmers' institute held here last Saturday was well attended and much valuable information was gained by the farmers from the experienced speakers. A. B. Hostetter of the Duluth Commercial club, and the agricultural department, was here also to discuss the dairy cow, creamery market gardening, etc. Another farmers' meeting is being held today to decide on a creamery.

UNIONS OPPOSE COMMISSION.

St. Cloud Workers Against Proposed Change in City Management.

St. Cloud, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local trades and labor council is opposed to the proposed commission plan of government, which is being advocated by many people here, adopting resolutions declaring the effect of its adoption would be:

"1.—To increase the financial burden of the city at the rate of $4,500.

"2.—To concentrate too much power in the hands of the three individuals who would comprise the commission.

"3.—To take away from the voters the right recently acquired under the new charter to elect the various city officials by popular vote.

"4.—To make possible the creation of a political machine which would entirely dominate city affairs and control appointments.

"5.—To abolish a city charter which has been in operation a comparatively short time, which was submitted and printed at considerable cost and of whose value we have had no opportunity to judge."

WOUND AROUND SHAFTING, BARELY ESCAPES DEATH.

New Richmond, Wis., Jan. 15.—William O'Brien, a single man, 36 years old, whose home is at Mitchell, S. D., had a close call from death in the Soo line pumphouse near Arcola, Minn. He was pumping water with a gasoline engine, when his coat caught and he was wound around a shaft. Section Foreman John Day stopped the engine and rescued the injured man.

SUNDAY POOL PLAYING IS ALSO PROHIBITED.

East Grand Forks, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The latest step in East Grand Forks' closing-up campaign was taken when orders were issued to close up all pool and billiard halls on Sunday. The notices were served by Assistant Chief Quigley on all the local business places of that nature, and tomorrow they will all be closed up for the first time in many months.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

New Richmond—At a meeting to protest against the proposed raise in rates for local telephone service by the Wisconsin Telephone company, at which over two-thirds of all the telephone subscribers within the city limits were represented, it was voted unanimously to proceed immediately with the organization of a company to put in a local exchange to be owned and operated by local capital.

FAIRMONTS ARE SHUT OUT

Northern Juniors Win City League Hockey Game By Score of 5 to 0.

Showing better team work and completely outplaying their opponents at every angle of the game, the Northern Juniors furnished a surprise to the followers of hockey by last night defeating the Fairmont seven in the third game of the City Amateur Hockey league, by the decisive score of 5 to 0.

The play was fast and clean throughout. All of the scores but one came as the result of clever team play on the part of the winners. Taylor, S. Macrae and McFadzean scored goals in the first period of play, and McFadzean and Caulkins scored in the second half.

Caulkins' goal was the prettiest piece of individual work of the evening. The player secured the puck near his own goal, and by some dashing play carried the rubber the length of the rink and shot a clean goal.

On the strength of the showing last evening, the Northern Juniors should compare very favorably with the Big Duluths and Adams', the winners of the two previous games in the league. Both the Big Duluths and the Adams have strong organizations, but the good showing of the Northern Juniors was unlooked for and the team may also surprise the other teams of the league. The lineup:

CLOQUET EASILY DEFEATS AITKIN

Cloquet, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local high school basket ball team won an easy victory over the Aitkin high school five last evening, by a score of 43 to 16.

The first half was closely contested, and it was only Cloquet's weakness in defensive play that held the score down to 13 to 8. In the second half, Aitkin appeared to weaken, and Cloquet worked its offensive plays at will. The teams were evenly matched as to weight, but the locals had a shade the better over their opponents as to team work and general knowledge of the game.

McKenna of Cloquet, and Peterburg of Aitkin played exceptionally well. The following is the lineup:

Cloquet.	Positions.	Aitkin.
Rogentine	right forward	Lee
Patterson	center	Hirouch
McKenna	right guard	Zesse

SKATING ASSOCIATION GROWS

St. Louis and Ohio State Admitted to Western Membership.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—The St. Louis Skating association and the Ohio State Skating association were admitted to membership in the Western Skating association last night at a meeting of the board of control of the Western association.

John McDonald of Cuyahoga rink was suspended for sixty days for alleged interference in a race, and Charles Smith was reinstated as an amateur, after he had been suspended for alleged participation in a race with a professional at Milwaukee.

The Western outdoor championship races will be run on the Garfield Park rink, Chicago, on Sunday, Jan. 23.

"FARMER" BURNS, GRAND OLD MAN OF THE WRESTLING GAME, GIVES LIE TO OSLER THEORY

Past Half Century Mark, He Is Still Meeting the Best of Them—The Minny League and Success.

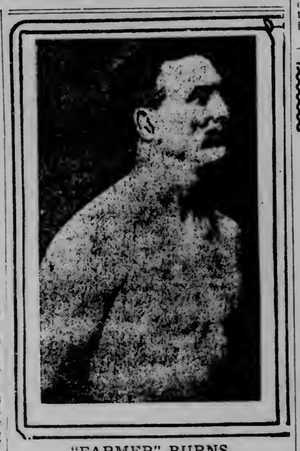

(BY BRUCE)

Like Tennyson's little brook, Farmer Burns seems destined to go on for ever. Wrestling in the halcyon days of Muldoon and the peerless Whistler, and continuing his mat efforts down through the days of the present wonderful and brilliant Frank Gotch, this wonderful old man of the canvas presents a study in defiance of the laws of physical decay.

Farmer Burns has confessed to the age of 50 years. When an athlete confesses to his true age, when he gets beyond the age of 27, Carrie Nation will have become a member of the whisky trust. The very fact that the Farmer has confessed to the age of one-half century, is very good indication that the grand old man of the mat game is beyond that mark.

Bob Fitzsimmons confesses to the 48-year mark. Those who are in the knowledge circle swear Bob is well over the half century mark. But you know that Fitz is down and out. Farmer Burns is wrestling today and there are a lot of men in this country whom he can beat, old as he is.

When the Jeffries-Gotch combination showed in Minneapolis, ancient Farmer Burns was one of the star attractions on the program. He went on and gave one of the best exhibitions of the evening. When you consider that this man has been actively connected with the mat game for something like thirty years, you wonder why he is able today to go out and meet men who are classed with the good wrestlers of the country.

"FARMER" BURNS.

One of the answers to the Farmer's defiance of the physical laws that have swept other athletes off the stage of activity long before they reached their fortieth year is that he knows more of the real science of the mat game than any other living man, not excepting the present champion of them all, Frank A. Gotch.

Farmer Burns has such wonderful control of his muscles that when one set of muscles is working, the others are in complete repose. He has never worked more than he had to when in a struggle with an opponent. His movements seem slow and clumsy, yet when Burns wrestled Fred Beell, one of the fastest men in the world, the Farmer was just ahead of Fred all the time. He is a marvel of deceiving speed.

Burns has been dubbed the Fitzsimmons of the mat game; yet he has out-Fitzsimmonsed Fitzsimmons. Here he is wrestling hard matches and winning them, when poor, old lanky Bob is a sad memory of the past, decrepit, broken down, and but a shadow of his former self.

He is one of the athletic marvels of the age. One wonders just how long the Farmer is going to continue in the mat game. We now have old man Weston astonishing the world by his strenuous feats at the age of 70 years, and we have marveled all these years at the feats of Fitzsimmons; but here we have a wrestler who has passed through three generations of the mat artists, going along serenely, throwing most of the men he wrestles with, and showing but little of the effects of age.

Chris Person knows the Farmer well, and he says today there are but two men at the most who can beat the old man of Omaha. The Farmer goes along wrestling two or three matches some weeks, picking up money as regularly as a corporation employe. You hear little of him, for the reason that he is wrestling in out-of-the-way places. Burns was always one to seek the quietude of the rural communities, where he is at home with the homely folk. He has figured in few big matches, yet he has a home in Omaha, has educated his children and has something stored up for a rainy day.

Farmer Burns is a wonderful athlete and a quaint character. He knows more about the laws of the human body than many of the students of anatomy in the colleges of the country. He has followed closely the laws of nature. He has lived as the Creator intended man to live; the result is, that the half century mark, when many men are cultivating a shuffling walk and a stoop in the back, this indomitable middle-aged man is going merrily on, wrestling all who care to come.

Some day the genius of the old Burns party will be more widely recognized. Some one will write a book about him, and if the true facts are related, it will be very interesting. He is a freak, an iron man, all that has been applied to tough men in the world of athletics; but he is more than all this, for he possesses a genius that few of the athletes of the age have possessed, and has followed closely along the athletic trail of another wonderful, old man, William Muldoon, who nestling in a bigger and stronger light of publicity, has attracted the attention of newspapers, physicians and men generally interested in the study of the human body.

Nothing succeeds like cheerful old success. That remark is not intended to be all original. It is only meant to apply to the Minnesota-Wisconsin league. An instance of the popularity of the new league, is the application for admission of Red Wing, Minn., and Merrill, Wis.

It is not for any of us, at this early date, to say what towns will be eventually admitted to the royal circle of the new league. But, taking a little flyer on what the Canadian cousins are hooked to do at the meeting that is scheduled for next week at Winnipeg today, it looks like Winnipeg as one of the new members for the coming season.

Just what Virginia thinks of the proposition of coming into the new organization is not known at this time. The attitude of the range town will be known after the meeting of the Minny league magnates at St. Paul. Whether Virginia feels that it can support class D baseball, is a question that is being decided at the present time by the men interested in baseball on the range.

With the first season of its career such a successful one, there is every reason to believe that the coming season will be even more successful. The presence of Winnipeg will help the league. Winnipeg and Duluth will be the best stands in the league. With Duke O'Dea at the helm in Superior, that city should also be one of the best towns in the league.

In Duluth it is hoped that Virginia will enter the league. With Virginia and Winnipeg in the league, there would be an even balance of power, with four clubs in the southern territory and four in the northern half of the circuit. Virginia would also serve to break the long jump across the border.

It is a safe wager that President Elliott has gone carefully into the selection of his umpire. The incompetent umpires were a thorn in the side of the organization last season. With competent indicator handlers the coming season, and the high class grade of baseball that was played by most of the teams last season, there is every reason to believe the present year will be a most successful one for every member of the Minnesota-Wisconsin league.

It must just naturally throw Lil' Artha is a fit of peeve so deep that he is in exceeding danger of sinking into the depths of wrath, furious and spluttering, when the black brother reads of the golden guinea harvest the retired champion is reaping.

It must make the new citizen of Chicago wonder what is the use of being the champion if the man who is not generally considered the champion can come out of his shell of rural seclusion and cop the money in chunks of regular Standard Oil size.

Jeff is making hay while the sun shineth, benign and smiling in a heaven of peace and happiness. There may come the day of chilling rains. Full well does Mister Jeffries realize this. He may make an awful blotch on his athletic record by mingling with the smoke, but his Bradstreet's rating will look nice and enticing as a pretty maid scheduled to appear in Winnipeg today. It looks like Winnipeg as one of the new members for the coming season.

THE SUPREME COURT OF BASEBALL

THE NATIONAL COMMISSION—J. E. BRUCE, BAN JOHNSON, A. HERRMANN, T. J. LYNCH, J. E. HEYDLER.

The national baseball commission has just held its first session in Cincinnati. This picture was made by the Times-Star photographer. It shows John E. Bruce, secretary; Ban B. Johnson, president of the American league; August Herrmann, chairman; T. J. Lynch, president of the National league; J. E. Heydler, secretary-treasurer.

GREAT YEAR FOR THE RING

Interest in Fight Game Is at Fever Heat All Over the World.

Johnson Won Clear Title---Dispute as to Other Championships.

Pugilism during the year just ended attracted more attention and excited more interest in the civilized world than ever before. This is shown by the fact that the Jeffries-Johnson fight scheduled for next Fourth of July has drawn a record-breaking purse of $101,000. The Johnson-Burns contest in December, 1908, worked up Australians to a high pitch of excitement so that large crowds saw inferior contests in the Antipodes last year, the climax being reached when 12,000 persons saw Lang knock out poor old Fitzsimmons at Sydney a couple of weeks ago. In England there was the same old interest in Ustiana, which received new impetus when Jem Driscoll and Freddie Welch earned new laurels. In France the boxing game continued to be a rage with enthusiastic crowds paying fancy prices to see contests between American and English-second-raters.

In this country there were many glove contests, though comparatively few of them were of more than ordinary importance. In many of the leading cities, including New York, the ild was lifted so that fight fans received an excellent run for their money. Jack Johnson maintained his supremacy in the heavyweight class by practically outpointing Al Kaufman in a 10-round bout at Colma, though no decision was rendered, and by knocking out Stanley Ketchel in twelve rounds at the same place Johnson incidentally removed all doubt as to his real prowess as a pugilist and convinced the sporting world that he is a worthy antagonist for Jeffries who began "training" nearly a year ago, but studiously avoided actual contests in the ring.

Ketchel's downfall was probably due in a measure to mismanagement, though merely a boy he was matched with Johnson when it would have been wiser to keep him in the middleweight class for another year. Prior to his defeat at the hands of the negro Champion Ketchel was regarded as a phenomenal pugilist. He knocked all the fight out of Philadelphia Jack O'Brien on two occasions, and though his poor physical condition he had no trouble in beating his old enemy Bill Papke in a 22-round bout in which he broke his hands and was therefore unable to score a knockout.

Some across regard Ketchel even now as the middleweight champion of the world, but as a matter of fact the title is in dispute inasmuch as Ketchel has failed to meet Sam Langford, who can make 158 pounds, ringside, and is one of the most dangerous fighters in the ring. Langford was avoided by Johnson when they were matched to fight in London last May, but Sam took on the British heavyweight champion of the world by the National Sporting club and received a belt emblematic of the title, but he says he intends to win those laurels in the ring, by default.

The welterweight championship of America is also in dispute. Four good men have laid claim to the title, Jimmy Gardner, Mike (Twin) Sullivan, Willie Lewis and Harry Lewis. Not one of these men, however, compares with the former welterweight champions, Joe Walcott and Mysterious Billy Smith. Willie Lewis has gained fame by whipping numerous counterfeits in Paris, France, but he is not regarded as a champion by competent ring judges.

Nelson Sidestepping.

Battling Nelson is still the lightweight champion, partially for the reason that he has refused to accept challenges from first-class opponents such as Freddie Welch, the English champion, and Owen Moran, another clever Briton. Nelson in the last year took part in only four contests, all of them comparatively easy. He knocked out a third-rater named Pete Shaughnessy in three rounds at Fort Worth, Tex., last February. In May he stopped Dick Hyland in twenty-three rounds at Colma and in June he put another soft mark to sleep in the person of Jack Clifford, who was stopped in five rounds at Oklahoma City. In July Nelson was actually outpointed by Ad. Wolgast of Milwaukee in a 10-round no decision bout at Los Angeles and is now asking for a $13,000 guarantee, win, lose or draw to meet Wolgast in a 45-round round bout in California.

Wolgast, a coming lightweight, climbed the ladder rapidly in 1909. He took part in sixteen battles without suffering a defeat. In addition to his 10-round bout with Nelson, Wolgast easily defeated Lew Powell, California's best boy in this class, earning the referee's decision by a wide margin at the end of twenty rounds.

Abe Attell, the American featherweight champion, was also extremely busy, with sixteen fights. He won five of them by knockouts, three on decisions and held his own in the others, which carried no verdicts. But in a no decision 10-round bout, Attell was outpointed by Jem Driscoll of England, who is generally recognized as the champion featherweight of the world.

Johnny Conlon, the American bantamweight champion, went three the year without a defeat in ten battles. But there are many good boys in his class, including Monte Attell, Dan Webster, Joe Wagner, Phil McGovern, Joe Coster, Charlie Goldman and others, who are anxious to meet the little pugilist.

Freddie Welch, the recognized English lightweight champion, who recently won this title in a 20-round bout with Johnny Summers in London, took part in nine contests in the last year, and did not suffer a defeat. In fact, Welsh has only lost one bout since the beginning of his ring career, and is conceded to be one of the cleverest men of his weight and inches in the profession.

Joe Jeannette, the colored heavyweight, of this city indulged in thirteen fights. He was twice beaten on points by Sam McVey and Sandy Ferguson, both of whom he later knocked out. He is ready, so he says, to meet Kaufman or Langford on the other side at any time.

Langford had eleven fights, all with easy marks, but it must be considered that he was unable to secure matches with Johnson, Kaufman and Papke, while his proposed bout with Ketchel at the Fairmont Athletic club was called off at the last moment.

Joe Gans, former world's lightweight champion, went into permanent retirement after a weak showing in a 10-round bout with the decrepit Jabez White of England. Bill Papke practically wound up the career of Hugo Kelly when he knocked the latter out in a round. Al Kaufman's reputation was partially spoiled by his showing with Johnson and his failure to stop the lumbering Tony Ross in ten rounds. These were the only contests in which the big Californian engaged in twelve months.

Packy McFarland, still masquerading as a lightweight, though totally unable to make the 133-pound limit, had only six bouts. He failed to score a knockout, and Ray Bronson, a promising boy, stayed twenty rounds to a draw with him at New Orleans. Bronson took part in ten contests and suffered but one defeat, when Freddie Welch knocked him out in thirteen rounds at New Orleans last March.

Other notable ring affairs in 1909 were Owen Moran's three contests with Harlem Tommy Murphy, Jack Johnson's no-decision bout of six rounds with Jack O'Brien, Monte Attell's victory over Frankie Neil by the knockout route in the eighteenth round and the defeat of Leach Cross by Dick Hyland in forty-one rounds at Colma.

BASEBALL NOTES

Baseball records show that Tom Lynch, the National league's new president, once pitched a no-hit game. Lynch was with the Nationals then, and the game was with the Baltimores. It was played May 24, 1880. Lynch followed the playing end of the game several years.

Bradley and Stovall were the only members of the Cleveland team to hand in the charmed sacrifice-hit circle. They were tied for twenty-third place with twenty intentional outs.

Cleveland has eleven outfielders on the reserve list. They are: Hinchman, Flick, Birmingham, Lord, Sullivan, Spears, Rafferty, Krueger, Reilley, Smith and Shaughnessy. Miller, another Nap recruit, has been chased to Toledo. Birmingham is the only one seemingly sure of a job.

Clark Griffith puts a big value on Second Baseman Miller Huggins, although the little infielder fell down on his job last season. Griff says he has received nothing but piker bids for the player so far.

He says he can now sell the players for $50,000.

DULUTH MEN DOING WELL

Local Curlers in at Finish in All Bonspiel Events.

Whyte Has the Best Chance for the Grand Aggregate.

The Duluth curlers are doing very well, thank you.

That 13-head battle between E. N Whyte of Duluth and Joseph Gates of Superior last night was some game, and liable to go down as the most exciting game played at the Northwestern bonspiel at Duluth in 1910.

All the other contests had been won or lost last night and the Whyte-Gates game in the Minneapolis club event was still on. The curlers and spectators gathered around to see the finish, which was favorable to the Duluthman by a score of 10 to 5.

Whyte was five down at the end of the fourth head and it looked for a time as though the unbeaten Zenith City rink was doomed to defeat. At the end of the fifth head Whyte made three and the score stood: Whyte, 3; Gates, 5. On the sixth head Whyte scored 2 and then 1 in the seventh and 1 in the eighth. The score stood: Whyte, 7; Gates, 5. The Superior man took a brace at this point, inspired his "laddies" with some of his enthusiasm, and scored 1 each head for the next three. Whyte then scored 1 in the twelfth, which tied the score. A thirteenth head was necessary, and it was Whyte's, for he scored 2 points. It was the most exciting contest of the present bonspiel, and White is still unbeaten.

Because of his great showing all through, Whyte has been picked to play one of the American rinks to play this afternoon in the International or St. Louis hotel event which takes place this afternoon. There will be five Canadian rinks pitted against five American fours. Whyte will play Neil of Winnipeg. W. D. Stewart of St. Paul will play W. V. Chapman of Rainy River; A. K. Smith of Superior will oppose Donald Morrison of Winnipeg; Tucker of Pardeeville and Wilson of Reston will clash and Reedal of Phillips will meet Atkinson of Rainy River.

The prizes in this event are four solid gold watch fobs and the second prizes are the same design, but made of silver. If the Canadians win they will play down for the prizes and should the Americans win they will play down.

Four Duluth rinks are left in the Minneapolis event and seven in the St. Paul Jubilees. This makes it almost certain that some of the trophies are destined to stay a year in the Zenith City.

Five rinks are still left in the Duluth event.

Consolation Event.

Three contests were yesterday afternoon played in the Canadian Soo event. Dunlop of Duluth defeated Atkinson of Rainy River, 16 to 11. Macrae of Duluth defeated Wilson of Reston and Stephenson of Superior defeated Hewitt of West Duluth, 10 to 6.

Yesterday morning Fullerton got an 11 to 0 beating. Last night he turned around and scored a smashing victory over Holland's West Duluth "Kids." The score was 25 to 4.

There are games today in every event. Play for the Ordway trophy will be started. This trophy is to be played for by the rinks in Minnesota, and its object is to stimulate interest in the game at the smaller surrounding towns. St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth rinks are not eligible for play. The trophy was donated by L. P. Ordway of St. Paul. As there are but a few rinks eligible for play in the event, and the others are well along in their way, the end of the bonspiel is now in sight. Certain it is that by Wednesday noon of next week all the events will be out of the way, if the weather does not interfere.

E. N. Whyte of Duluth stands a good chance of winning the championship prize or the grand aggregate, as it is called. These prizes are four silver loving cups and are presented by the Northwestern Curling association. The award is based on the actual number of games won in the open events. The Ordway event is the last of the series and play began this morning. Tonight the curlers assemble at the Duluth Commercial club for their annual banquet and Sunday they visit the ski grounds where the Ski club is pulling off its first tournament of the year.

The scores of yesterday afternoon and evening follow:

FACULTY EXPELS MILLER.

Football Captain Forced to Leave Michigan—Whereabouts of Player Unknown.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Jan. 15.—The faculty of the University of Michigan late yesterday afternoon expelled James Joy Miller of Detroit from the university. Miller was elected captain of the 1910 Michigan football team, but was later declared ineligible.

James J. Miller of Detroit, the young man's father, is said to have investigated a rumor last night that a man resembling the football player was seen late yesterday wandering about in a dazed condition near Dundee, Mich.

Mr. Miller said: "The man thought to be my son at Dundee proved to be a stranger. I have no idea where the boy is. Joy has always been open and frank with me and I feel sure that if he was where he could communicate with me, and was in his right mind, he would not keep me in this terrible suspense."

FRISCO GETS BIG BATTLE

Assurance Given Jack Gleason That Permit Will Be Granted By Supervisors.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 15.—Official assurance was given to Jack Gleason yesterday that he can hold the Jeffries-Johnson fight in this city on July 4.

Supervisor John L. Hergel, formerly "Young Mitchell," a boxer, who is chairman of the police committee of the board of supervisors, before which the applications for fight permits are heard, said he believed Gleason to be sincere in his attitude of independence toward Tex Rickard, and that he would give the local promoter his support.

This virtually means that Gleason will be given the desired 45-round permit.

James W. Coffroth, a fight promoter, again will be allowed to conduct prize fights in this city, after being denied that privilege for the last three years by the reform administration.

The police committee of the board of supervisors yesterday granted the Shasta club, of which Coffroth is the controlling spirit, a permit to hold a limited round fight in this city in January.

Rickard Jollies Mormons.

Ogden, Utah, Jan. 15.—Tex Rickard stopped in Ogden for several hours last night and met a local committee that has been working since the announcement that Salt Lake City was not to get the Jeffries-Johnson fight, to bring the contest here.

It is understood that the mayor, who attended last night's meeting, will offer no opposition to the match if it is called a "boxing contest."

While Rickard refused to commit himself, he said that San Francisco will not get the fight if enough inducement is offered to take it elsewhere.

Bunn Beats Bezenah.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 15. — Jimmy Bunn of Newcastle, Pa., won by a knockout in the second round of a 10-round fight last night over Andy Bezenah, a local champion.

SPEED RULES SUGGESTED

Famous Auto Racers Give Ideas on Regulation of Motor Evils.

Robertson, De Palma and Lescault Offer Solution of Grave Problem.

How to regulate automobile traffic with a view of determining what form would best protect the public from incompetent and reckless chauffeurs and at the same time be fair to careful motorists is the theme that is now stirring automobile circles. The opinions of many of the most noted racing drivers identified with the industry may be taken to show what qualifications are essential in a man running a car on the streets of Chicago.

No pretense is made to cover all the phases of automobile legislation, simply one of the most important points. What precaution could be taken to safeguard life endangered by the reckless driving of motor cars and what would be the best method of gaining this end? The consensus of opinion is that the most effective system of regulation would be the examination and licensing of all persons who drive motor vehicles, irrespective of their social status.

The present system of issuing chauffeurs' licenses is condemned unanimously; it is regarded by autoists in general as a farce, an encouragement to the ignorant and incapable "to drive an automobile when there was nothing else to do."

The men whose opinions are obtained are Ralph De Palma, Frank Lescault and George Robertson. Following are the replies, beginning with that of George Robertson.

Robertson Wants Commission.

"The one effective way of checking the wholesale maiming and killing of people in the streets by reckless and inefficient auto drivers is the creation of a state commission or board to take complete charge of the licensing of chauffeurs, and by the term chauffeurs I mean all persons who operate motor-driven vehicles. There should be no discrimination between owner and hired driver.

"Such a board could have branches in all the cities in the state where prospective chauffeurs could be examined as to their fitness. And this examination should be rigid, patterned after the civil service. The law should be amended so as to compel every candidate to go through a rigid test not only as to his knowledge of automobiles generally, but as to his skill in guiding a car under all conditions.

"While no one expects a chauffeur to qualify as a mechanical engineer before a license is issued to him, he should be compelled to show an elementary knowledge of gasoline engines, at least their principle, which is the same in all, and a knowledge of the brake and clutch system on his car.

"Following this, there should be a severe road test, such as obtains under the French law, an obstacle race in other words. This test should be made under various conditions, through heavy traffic and in the country. Under such circumstances he could prove his ability to control his car. Members of the local board would, of course, accompany him. This would be driven should have to prove his cleverness in stopping suddenly at high speed, his ability to avoid obstacles suddenly thrown in his path, his cool-headedness and judgment of distance.

Character Is Important.

"The man's character also should receive the gravest consideration. Even if he should satisfy his judges as to his mechanical knowledge and skill, if his character is not good, the certificate should not be issued. There are a good many drunks among chauffeurs, and an intoxicated chauffeur, no matter how competent he may be, is a worse menace than the sober, though ignorant, one.

"To get back to the license after it is issued: The certificate should bear the chauffeur's photograph, a duplicate of which should be filed in the bureau of licenses. Every time the man was arrested a brief record of the case and its disposition should be made on the back. For the first offense the license should be suspended for six weeks, two months for the second, and the third time the man is arrested, and if it is proved that he was to blame for the offense committed, the license should be revoked. Such measures would make a man more careful."

The next reply is from Ralph De Palma, who says:

Should Qualify in Mechanics.

"I can see only one solution, and that is a comprehensive examination of the applicant for a chauffeur's license. The state should establish a bureau with branches in all the big cities having authority over a group of the surrounding towns. Every person operating a motor-driven vehicle should be made to qualify, as to his knowledge of simple mechanics—that is, he should know a spark plug from a magneto, and lots of chauffeurs don't; second, and the most important, probably, of all requirements, he should have to demonstrate his ability as a driver in the streets. A great per cent of automobile driving is done within the city limits, and that is where the most severe test should be made.

"The road test is, of course, about the most important requirement. A chauffeur should have to prove that he has judgment of speed and distance; that he will stop when he ought to and not take a chance, and that he is fully informed as to the operation of his brakes, and he should not be highly nervous. Also he should show that he has consideration for pedestrians. I would favor a two-day road test, one in the rain and one on a fair day.

"Then, before the certificate of competence is issued, the applicant's character and habits should be inquired into. A license should not be issued to an excessive drinker, for how can he be depended on, no matter what his other virtues may be? A great many accidents are due to intoxication, or partial intoxication, on the part of the chauffeurs. Also the driver's photograph should be placed on the license, with a copy in the files of the state.

See Face But Not Number.

"Minor accidents frequently happen where, though witnesses get a good look at the chauffeur, they fail to see the number of the machine. In such a case all that would be necessary would be to go to the chauffeur's gallery and pick out the man. He could easily be traced then. And this would tend to have a restraining influence on reckless operators and speeders."

Next comes Frank Lescault, whose opinions are thus expressed:

"While a knowledge of mechanics is desirable in a chauffeur, I do not think it is quite as essential as skill. I believe in a thorough examination of a man's cleverness in driving a machine on the city streets. This test should be made on the streets under the supervision of a committee appointed by the state and composed of responsible men, not just three or four politicians who wouldn't know a brake from an accelerator.

"Everybody operating a car, whether owner or hired driver, should be made to take out a license from the state, as under the French system, and if that system would be adopted here many of our automobile troubles would be done away with. And under the law there should be the power of revocation, which would bar from the public highways all violators of the law.

Careless Drivers Rule.

"There are more incompetent, reckless men following the caling of chauffeurs in this town today than in any other business I know of. And they are better paid for their ability, or the lack of it, than any other business. As an outline for a chauffeur's examination I would suggest these points: First, an elementary knowledge of gasoline engines; second, good, fair average judgment, and, thirdly, good character. If the first were lacking and the other two requirements, which are absolutely essential, were fulfilled I would be inclined to grant a license. Such an examination instead of imposing a hardship would benefit the calling."

COLLEGE MEN IN BASEBALL

Players From Smaller Schools Have Developed Into Professional Stars.

(BY W. A. PHELON.)

In the minds of many baseball fans there still lingers a fixed and ineradicable belief that the college ball player added to a professional club is an oddity and a conspicuous proposition. If they read of a college man signing with a big league team, they expect to see a wild-eyed youth with long, floating hair, a little cap set upon the extreme back of his dome and a bunch of educated language bristling with phrases too abstrusely complicated for any one outside of college to understand.

This was correct, perhaps, long ago. Not nowadays. Nix. Play that one with a copper. The collegian who joins a big league ball club in the present generation isn't that kind of a darling.

It is said that Fred Tenney was the first collegian who made both the professional players and the fans comprehend what an up-to-date varsity man was really like. He did it with a vengeance, too, and the inimitable Dad Clarke was the goat.

Tenney and Clarke.

Tenney had just joined the Boston team, and Clarke was about to pitch a game against Selee's performers. Dad had heard of Tenney's signing, and decided that he would scare the tender mamma's boy right off the lot. He hunted for Tenney, approached him during practice, and remarked, with a terrible growl and savage glare: "Say, you college lobster, you cheap imitation, you four-flushing rah-rah, you Willie-boy from the dogy class, what business have you got around here mixing up with men?"

Tenney turned a fierce-eyed figure with black straggling hair waving over a pair of vicious eyes. Sizing Clarke up for a minute, he began squirting a torrent of tobacco juice all over Dad's shoes. Then turned loose a flood of explosives that curled Clarke up, leaving him in a dazed and helpless mass. When Dad came to he cried to Fred Knowles: "Say, that guy never went to college. That tough gazabo never even went to night school."

The collegian who breaks into the big leagues is usually from the smaller colleges, the jerkwater places where the students mix manual labor with their trigonometry. Men who can afford the pace of Yale, Princeton or Harvard, as a rule, are too well off to need a baseball contract, and, on graduating, step right into business at their fathers' offices. There have been some eminent Yale and Harvard men in the big leagues, but not many.

The students from the little colleges —rugged young fellows of tremendous physique—take as naturally to a ball player's life as ducks to water. In a year or two they become amalgamated with the great mass of players. In five years it is impossible to distinguish the collegian by any sign of speech or manner, and the only way many of them are ever identified as varsity men is when some old classmate chances to encounter them. The big leagues contain many collegians whose very schools are forgotten by all save the men themselves, and no list of big league college men ever printed has been correct for this strange reason.

Many Good Ones.

Roy Thomas of Boston went to the University of Pennsylvania; Coffey attended Fordham; Beaumont is from Beloit college; Shean is from a college now apparently forgotten, and some of the other Beans are probably university men. Of the Brooklyns, McMillan went to some Southern college, Marshall to a medical school, McElveen to some university in the South, Scanlon to a medical college and Wilhelm, almost twenty years ago, was the crack pitcher of an Ohio school.

Overall of the Cubs was a football star at a California university; Reulbach pitched for Vermont and Notre Dame. Chance went to some California college, and Hofman, Kane and Stanley got pretty well along in the educational line.

Huggins of the Reds went to law school, Duboc to Notre Dame, and perhaps some more of Griffith's men are from the little colleges.

Tenney of the Giants came from Brown, Murray from Notre Dame, and McCormick studied engineering at Pennsylvania; Devlin studied at Georgetown; Bridwell went to a jerkwater college in Ohio; Shafer was in a southern school when he got baseball fever; the great Mathewson is from Bucknell; Meyers, the big Injun, went to Dartmouth. Big college bunch with the Giants, and if any of them are less tough and hardy than the non-collegians, where was it ever demonstrated?

Grant of the Quakers is from Harvard, Doolin was at Pennsyvania, Martell is from a Catholic college, Sparks is from a school in Alabama.

The champion Pirates, on the face of the returns, seem shy of college men, but it is quite probable that some of them were rah-rahs and have forgotten to announce the fact.

Storke of the Cardinals is from Brown, Bachman is a pitcher from Case Tech (right name Barton), Beebe is from the University of Illinois.

Heitmuller of such Athletics is from a California school, Collins went to either Holy Cross or Fordham—maybe it was Coumbia—somewhere, anyway; Davis is from Girard college, Philadelphia; Barry is a Holy Cross man, Plank hails from Gettysburg college, Coombs from one of the Eastern schools, Bender, the Indian, from Carlisle.

American Leaguers.

Stahl of the Boston Red Sox is from Illinois university; Hooper got a civil engineering degree upon the coast.

Hahn of the White Sox went to some tiny school in Ohio or Tennessee. Reilly is a Yale man; White is from Georgetown.

Falkenberg of Cleveland is from the University of Illinois. That school had quite a ball nine once. It turned into the big leagues, all in a bunch, Jake Stahl, Fred Falkenberg, Carl Lundgren and Jimmy Cook. Cook didn't last, but is still a good minor leaguer. Lundgren quit only last summer, while Stahl and Falkenberg are still effective.

Nothing is known of the educational attainments of the Tigers, but it is likely that several of them went to inland colleges. Oh, yes, Davy Jones is from the little college at Dixon, Ill. Little is also known as to where the Highlanders went to school.

Stephens of the Browns is from a small Texas college, and Harry Howell is supposed to have been a collegian long, long ago.

Harry Gessler of the Washingtons is a graduated doctor, and a few more of the Senators may be concealing their collegiate attainments even as they do their baseball abilities.

MEETING MAY CAUSE WAR

Chicago, Jan. 15.—The Western Golf association will gather here today in what promises to be the most important meeting in the history of the organization. If the plans of the more radical element are carried out this will be the last time the old Western Golf association will ever meet and out of this meeting will emerge the new and invigorated "American Golf Association."

The following amendments to the constitution are to be voted on:

This association shall be called the American Golf association.

Any properly organized club on the continent of North America and the continent of South America and the islands pertaining thereto maintaining or controlling a golf course, shall be eligible to membership in this association.

If these amends are carried, the leaders of the Western association see a break with the United States Golfing association. By the expansion the westerners cannot help but establish their organization as a rival to the eastern body.

A party looking toward peace has sprung up here in the last few days and suggests that the amendments be adopted with a two-weeks' provisional clause dependent upon the action taken at the annual meeting of the United States golf association next week.

The Minnekahda club of Minneapolis and the Detroit golf club are the strongest bidders for th amateur championship of 1910.

HIGH SCHOOL SCHEDULE.

Basket Ball Team Will Meet Superior Schools—Tourney Tuesday.

The schedule of the high school basket ball team, partially completed, includes the following games:

Jan. 22, Superior Normal at Superior; Jan. 28, Nelson-Dewey at Superior; Feb. 5, Blaine at Duluth.

Other games will be scheduled later, but as yet the schedule has not been completed. Probably two games will be played with each of the superior high schools.

The game with Two Harbors that was scheduled for today has been cancelled. A practice game will be played today with one of the class teams of the Y. M. C. A.

John Nashlund has been elected captain of the senior class basket ball team of the Central high. The interclass schedule will begin Tuesday with a game between the Freshmen and Juniors.

WEEDING OUT PROCESS.

President Lynch Announces Releases of National League Teams.

New York, Jan. 15.—The following releases were announced today by President Lynch of the American league.

By Boston, unconditionally, Roy A. Thomas; by Brooklyn, to Rochester, Eastern league, Charles A. Alperman, E. Holly, J. E. Holmes, Julius Kustus and H. F. Patttee; to Indianapolis, American association, Phil Leads; to Jersey City, Eastern league, Wallace O. Clement.

By Cincinnati, to Quincy Central association, Charles R. Yeys; to Denver, Western league, Alvin Dolin; to Kansas City, American association, Roy Ellam.

By Pittsburg, to St. Louis, American league, William Abstein.

News of the Theater

AT THE LYCEUM

THE HENRY SAVAGE "MERRY WIDOW" COMPANY COMING FOR THREE NIGHTS — "THE LILY AND THE PRINCE" AND "THE SOUL KISS" FILL OUT THE WEEK.

Henry W. Savage's production of "The Merry Widow" will return to the Lyceum on next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, with matinee Wednesday, with a cast that differs very little from the original company seen here last year.

"The Merry Widow" has swept the music-loving world like wildfire in more than 300 cities of the New and Old Worlds; it is the reigning operatic sensation; its wondrous alluring melody, delightful humor, intense dramatic strength and joyous stage pictures winning for it such welcome as has not been accorded another comic opera within memory.

While the daintiness and delicate charm of the story and the magnificence of the settings have had much to do with the success of "The Merry Widow," the haunting melodies with which Franz Lehar has studded it have been more responsible than aught else for its world-wide popularity. He has caught the very spirit of the story, and his every number glows with an intimate understanding of the poetry of real romance. Gone are the biff-bangy, slap-dashy, noisy "catchy tunes" of so-called musical comedy, and in their place are songs which have a meaning.

Though the famous waltz is more talked of, perhaps, than any other single feature of "The Merry Widow," it is by no means the most important or the most delightful of the many musical numbers—this with all due appreciation of its pervading charm.

Te beautiful "Villia," the rollicking "Cavalier" duo, the appealing "Dutiful Wife," the uproariously funny septet "Women"—there are, like many more, to be ranked musically, as well as popularly, fully the equal of the much discussed terpsichorean sensation.

In addition to the rare musical merit of "The Merry Widow," there are some other features, such as its interesting story—for once there is a real plot—ensembles, the gorgeous stage pictures and the notable sartorial display. Any one of these factors would easily suffice in itself to establish a light opera firmly in the affections of a discriminating public — while "The Merry Widow" has them all.

The present company is headed by Mabel Wilber, one of the beauties of the stage, who combines the qualities of a rare singer and a consummate actress. Miss Wilber has a soprano voice of exquisite purity. She brings to her interpretation of the part an abundance of high spirits and an excess of vivacity which combine to make her performance unusually fascinating.

George Damarel is still the Prince Danilo. He is the possessor of a baritone voice of rare charm. His interpretation of the hot-headed prince is infused with an infectious fascination that is said to be quite irresistible. His singularly graceful dancing is one of the most important features of the production. Oscar Figman will be seen in the role of Anaha-sador Popoff, and others in the large company include Harold Blake, Arthur Wooley, Charles Edward Wright, William V. Strunz, Loulda Hilliard, Winifred Marshall and Sophie Barnard.

With the organization comes Mr. Savage's famous English grand opera orchestra under the personal direction of Frank Mandeville, the well-known conductor.

"THE SOUL KISS."

New York Musical Success Will Be Heard in Duluth.

"The Soul Kiss," the musical success that has been the vogue of New York and the East for months, will be presented in this city for the first time on next Friday and Saturday, Jan. 21 and 22, at the Lyceum. It is a hodge-podge of dancing and music that lays no claim to aught but entertainment for the time being—music, dancing, beauty, color and life. These are the qualities that go to make "The Soul Kiss" the success it is. Mlle. Pertina is the bright particular star. She has caused a furore in both Germany and France by her exhibition of both the classic and modern form of dancing. Harry B. Smith has provided a witty book and the story is well told, while Maurice Levi's music is of the tuneful Levi variety. There are several songs that are in their little way gems of harmony, melody and humor. A number in the "Bal Tabarin" scene in the first act entitled "At the Masquerade," is full of life and spirit. The orchestrations of the finales are thoroughly descriptive, and are written in Composer Levi's best vein. There are many other catchy numbers throughout the piece, such as "When the Swallows Return in the Spring," "That Wasn't All," "Affinity," "The Human Night-Key," "Let's Pretend," "My Diabolo Beau," "Very Well Then," and "Any Old Place in the World With You." A cast of seventy-five will be found in support of Mlle. Pertina. Julian Mitchell has staged the production, which, owing to the nature of the story, offers exceptional opportunities for lavish stage effects.

"THE LILY AND THE PRINCE."

Romantic Drama Will Be Presented at the Lyceum Next Week.

"The Lily and the Prince," companion play to "When Knighthood Was in Flower," Frank Holland's greatest success, is the offering at the Lyceum next Sunday and Monday, with matinee Sunday afternoon.

In this season of difficulty in making selections of the plays the theater-going public desires to witness, a word about "The Lily and the Prince" may suffice to satisfy the unknowing. It is a love story, a little different than the rest. It is handsomely staged. The costumes are pleasing to the eye and the various members of the company are chosen with one object in view, of pleasing the audience.

The first act represents an Italian garden scene, which is not a mere set. It is the result of painstaking research, and every piece in the beautiful set—an Italian palace setting—is not mere chance. It forms a striking contrast to the grim hideousness of the following scene, the council chamber of the inquisitors—again revealing the rare evidence of the painstaking and consummate artist. Miss Lucy Blake, in the role of Angela di Savelli calls for the most exacting demands of histrionic effort. Miss Blake, with a mastery of voice, facial expression and consummate skill, as an actress, reveals this power, and her interpretation is singularly pleasing and successful.

The story is based on an attempted overthrow of the papal states, and being laid in Italy, the locality affords a rare chance for the suitable setting of scenery and costumes. These are provided lavishly and the result is a succession of stage pictures which charm the eye, while the action and dialogue sustain the interest until the curtain drops upon a happy ending.

SCENE FROM "THE SOUL KISS," At the Lyceum Next Week.

Fritzi Scheff Coming.

The incomparable Fritzi Scheff will be seen at the Lyceum on Jan. 24 and 25 in her new comic opera success, "The Prima Donna," in which she has had a long and highly successful run at the Knickerbocker theater, New York city.

"The Prima Donna" was written for Madame Scheff by Henry Blossom and Victor Herbert, who were also responsible for her delightful "Mlle. Modiste," and for "The Red Mill." Mr. Blossom is said to have furnished a book that is as witty as anything he has ever written, while Victor Herbert is said to have outdone himself with the music. The piece is more dramatic than is usual with musical plays and has a real plot. Madame Scheff enacts the role of Mlle. Athenee, reigning prima donna at the Opera Comique in Paris. While on an automobile trip she meets with an accident and is forced to rest at a little cafe chantant on the outskirts of Paris. There she hears the musical conductor berating a sick singer, who is unable to appear and she impulsively offers to take the unfortunate's place. A young lieutenant from the neighboring barracks gets her to sing one of his songs and he falls violently in love with her. She is insulted by his captain, and it is in the development of the love story that Mr. Blossom has worked out his plot. Madame Scheff is furnished with several songs of great charm, one of them being a waltz theme, especially dainty, while another, an aria, enables her to show her marvelous vocal powers. The company is one of the largest that has ever been assembled for a comic opera in this country and there are some noteworthy names in the cast. Prominent in the cast are: John E. Hazzard, Vernon Davidson, William K. Harcourt, Donald Hall, Martin Haydon, Phil Ryason, Armand Cortes, Anna Pelham, Maxine Verande, Tillie Salinger, Grace Delmar, La Noveta, Katherine Stewart and many others. The production is of the usual lavish Dillingham type, and the orchestra will be largely augmented for the engagement here.

Lyceum Notes.

Those who look at show people as so many puppets jerked by a string, and who can see but folly and frivolity in the life of an actor or circus rider, will have an awakening at the Lyceum on Jan. 26 to 29.

"Polly of the Circus" has to do with a circus girl who has been brought up in the sawdust ring. She falls, is hurt and is taken to the house of a minister. There she slowly recovers, and the minister falls in love with her. Of course, the deacons of his congregation are shocked, and Polly runs away and goes back to the circus, so that she will not hurt the minister. When the circus comes back to the little town where the minister lives he finds Polly, and she goes with him.

As Polly, the circus rider, dainty little Ida St. Leon has made a pronounced success, and the company associated with her is one of particular strength and general excellence, and the scenic equipment is elaborate.

"The Great Divide" will be presented here again under the direction of Henry Miller at the Lyceum.

A cast of talented players has been provided and the entire production will be given here as during the phenomenal run of over 600 nights in New York. The striking originality and unquestioned dramatic appeal of "The Great Divide" easily explain the unprecedented furore which William Vaughn Moody's masterful play has caused wherever the English language is understood.

William A. Brady and Joseph R. Grismer, who bring George Broadhurst's immense success, "The Man of the Hour," to the Lyceum very soon, are among the few producing managers who do not employ a professional play reader. Both have been actors. Each is a skilful stage manager and every production they make bears the stamp of their individuality.

Perhaps this independence of judgment has much to do with their picking so many winners—plays that attract and endure. In fact, they have never had a failure. Messrs. Brady and Grismer's special cast which will be seen here includes Arthur Maitland, Felix Haney, John Moore, Paul Byron, T. S. Guise, M. J. MacQuarrie, William Lloyd, William Cullington, E. E. Warner, George A. Cameron, H. J. Hewitt, Edward Dewey, Madeline Winthrop, Anna Reader and Florence Mack.

Blanche Bates, David Belasco's talented woman star, tells of a dear old lady who bought seats for "The Music Master" with great difficulty, during its long New York run, and who was very much disappointed in the performance. "The play was all right," said the patron of the drama, "but Mr. Warfield never played a single violin solo. It was very disappointing after one saw him carry his instrument with him so much. I should think he would play at least a few times. "The Music Master" will be seen at the Lyceum soon.

The last performance of "The Third Degree" will be given at the Lyceum this evening.

MABEL WILBER AND GEORGE DAMEREL, In "The Merry Widow" at the Lyceum Next Week.

AT THE BIJOU

A PICKED BILL OF FEATURE VAUDEVILLE WILL BE SEEN IN DULUTH ALL NEXT WEEK.

The bill of vaudeville that will be offered at the Bijou commencing Monday afternoon and continuing all week will lean toward comedy. One of the features for the week will be Foster and Foster, musical artists of more than ordinary ability. From an artistic standpoint, Foster and Foster have an excellent reputation in the field of music. They present an entertaining oddity entitled "The Volunteer Pianist." Some beautiful vocal selections will also be introduced by Edward Foster, who is the possessor of a rich baritone voice.

Noodles Fagan, the great American newsboy traveler, and a picturesque figure in the newspaper profession, will be at the Bijou this week, and before the week is over it is safe to predict Noodles will have the acquaintance of every "newsy" in town. Fagan is a product of the streets of New York, where, through his remarkable ability to sell newspapers and his ambition to be a leader, came to be known as the "King of Newsboys." The time that he could spare from his business he devoted to securing an education. Within the last few years he has toured the world and has returned to this country with the distinction of being the only "newsy" who has been entertained by the royalty of Europe. He is now making a tour in vaudeville, giving a brief but pleasing entertainment on the various vaudeville stages, but devoting the greater part of his time to talking to newsboys, showing them how to sell papers, and above all, impressing on them the advantage of an education. In nearly every city he has been invited to address the public school students, and his talks have invariably contained plenty of good advice and interesting facts gleaned during his many years of actual experience on the streets of New York. Noodles is no longer a boy, but has grown into a young man of pleasing personality. He is a charming conversationalist and correct in habits and dress. There is enough of the boy still left, however, to make him the idol of the youngsters who take care of themselves and sometimes large families by the sale of the daily papers.

A clever comedian is always a welcome feature on a vaudeville program, and on this program will be one of the best in Miss Georgia Nelson. She has always played emotional parts. She soon discovered she had greater talents in bringing forth laughter from her audience, so withdrew from the legitimate to enter musical comedies and vaudeville, in which she has been a big success. Miss Nelson was one of the hits in "Havana" during its long run in New York, and in vaudeville has made good from her first performance.

A feature that always pleases the women and children as well as the men is Louise Stickney and her dog and pony circus. They present a whole circus in miniature. Her troupe of trained dogs and ponies perform nearly every trick that can be taught these animals, and is considered one of the best in vaudeville.

As an added feature for the week and one that is considered to be the funniest act in vaudeville the management presents Mazuz and Mazette, as "The Lady and The Tramp." This act has been a feature attraction in vaudeville for a good many years. It has toured Europe many times. It is one of the most ludicrous acrobatic acts that has ever entered vaudeville. The actors present a clever exhibition of acrobatics, interspersed with the funniest situations imaginable. The Brooklyn Eagle says: "As a rule, comedy acrobatic acts either have good acrobatic feats and poor comedy, or good comedy and poor acrobatics. In Mazuz and Mazette, who are appearing at the Colonial, both perform excellent gymnastic feats and the comedy offered keeps the audience in roars of laughter."

Earl Morse will sing a beautiful ballad, illustrated, entitled "I'm Sending a Message to Mamma."

The moving pictures will conclude the performance. The pictures will be up to the good standard shown at the Bijou and will be all new and exclusive subjects.

Matinees are given daily at 2:45 and night performances at 8 and 9:30. Seats may be reserved by either telephone. Performances are given Sunday afternoon and night. A special school children's matinee will be given Saturday. All scholars under 14 years will be admitted for 5 cents.

GOSSIP OF THE RIALTO

Otis Skinner Favorably Received In "His Humble Servant"—"The Fires of Fate," a Corking Melodrama—Capital Comedy at the New Theater.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—At first flush it looks as if Otis Skinner had repeated his success of last season, and that "His Humble Servant" would add to his fame as an impersonator of chevaliers d'industry. Already he has shown us what he can do in that line of characters in "The Harvester" and "The Honor of the Family."

I say it looks so. If his reception at the Garrick is any criterion, he is due for a stay. The critics are, as usual when they speak of Skinner, divided in their opinions. Some are enraptured by his cock-a-whoop performance of the poor road actor; others balk at his florid style and lament the absence of the commonplace in his method. But a word on the majority by the spontaneous bounce and bluster with which he typifies the optimistic Lafayette Towers. One critic fancies a resemblance to Col. Sellers, but the atmosphere and some of the situations are more apt to suggest Tom Taylor's "The Crushed Tragedian," in which E. H. Sothern was inimitable a good many years ago. Fitzallamont had a ward, too, a young girl brought up behind the scenes, whom he protected and finally established in public favor with chivalrous disregard of himself, just as Lafayette Towers does in the case of Margaret Druce. The old tragedian in Taylor's play did not marry his ward. Towers marries Margaret in the Tarkington-Wilson play, and it is the final scene in the dressing room of the young actress after her triumph on the stage that the authors have made the most sympathetic and effective of the four acts.

Izetta Jewell, a young actress new to Broadway, insinuated herself into the affections of the audience by her sincere and sympathetic work in the role of Margaret. Some said she had lots of experience in stock companies, and her mature method and good judgment indicated as much. She is to be credited with scoring a gratifying success. Another substantial hit was made by Edward Fielding, whose ludicrously dignified "jag" was sustained with gentlemanly deportment that was universally recognized as masterly.

At the Liberty "The Fires of Fate," by Conan Doyle, is impressing audiences with the beauty of the production and the excellent acting of Hamilton Revelle as Col. Cyril Egerton and William Hawtrey as the choleric but generous Rev. Samuel Roden, the two most prominent roles in the play.

As you have doubtless heard, the play deals with the peculiar case of spinal trouble afflicting the young Colonel. Told by his physician that the disease is incurable, the officer is about to fling away his life, when he is persuaded by the physician and the latter's brother, the aforesaid Rev. Samuel Roden, to accompany them on a trip up the Nile. On the way Egerton falls in love with an American girl, Sadie Adams, but holds aloof from her because of his limited lease of life. The party is attacked by a band of howling dervishes, under the Mahdi on the great Abousir Rock in the desert. Egerton is struck over the head and left for dead on the plateau, while the surviving members of the party of excursionists are carried away into captivity, until saved by the British lancers. Egerton, recovering from the blow, has signalled their distress to the distant army post, and at the same time has stripped off the symtoms of his disease and is now free to declare his love to Sadie.

It is pure melodrama, as you might expect from the author of "Sherlock Holmes," but it is rational and clean, and it is so handsomely staged by Charles Frohman, and so admirably played, that it is likely to hold its own for some time in the present active competition of rather interesting plays. The three out-door scenes are unsurpassed for scenic interest, the first showing a Nile boat moored to the bank, with a night view of Egyptian sky for a background; the second, a realistic view of the plateau of the Abousir Rock overlooking the desert, and the last, the Oasis of Abouseir, where the marauders are camped with their captives, and where the audience beholds the faint flash of the heliograph above the skyline of the fateful hollow, announcing the coming of the lancers.

The new theater offered a double bill the other night, in "Liz, the Mother," by Frederick Fenn and Richard Pryce, a one-act drama of London slumlife, and "Don," a comedy by the new English playwright, Rudolph Besier, who has another play going in America besides this.

LUCY BLAKE,
In "The Lily and the Prince" at the Lyceum Sunday and Monday.

The one-act piece is one of the most dismally inconsequential and abortive melodramas ever seen in an American playhouse, but "Don" made a decidedly favorable impression, and, though quiet and unsensational in its situations, is bold in subject and clever in treatment.

"Liz the Mother" deals with two girls who have been betrayed by the same man. Each is the mother of a child, and the man having died, the one comes to the wretched garret home of the other with her dead baby in her arms and an offer to exchange it for the living child. The second victim is half inclined to part with her offspring in order to insure it a better future, when the first inadvertently betrays the fact that the man, now dead, really loved the second, whereupon No 2 turns against No. 1, hugs her living child to her bosom and feigns herself hysterically happy in the consciousness of her triumph.

Annie Russell played No. 2 excellently, and Thais Lawton was interesting as No. 1. Oswald York gave a characteristic impersonation of a London coster and showed himself to be a capital character actor.

Honors in "Don" were divided between Mrs. Otis Dellenbaugh, as the doting mother of the hero, and William McVay, as a fire-eating old martinet, Gen. Sinclair, who is subdued by a glance from his quietly determined wife. The leading part, that of the quixotic young visionary, who brings another man's wife into the quiet rectory home of the Canon of Oldwick and startles the paternal household by his unconventional disregard of social prejudices, was engagingly played by the young English actor, Matheson Lang. Louis Calvert made a strong impression as Albert Thompsett, the street preacher, although he appears only in the last act. This is the only genuinely thrilling act in the three-act piece. It is here that the fanatical Thompsett draws a revolver and demands that Don return his wife.

The truth is the young upholder of justice has been moved solely by sympathy for the former companion of his mother, the frail and trembling Mrs. Thompsett, from taking her from her emotional husband and giving her a refuge in his father's home, and much of the charm of the comedy is due to the paradox of his chivalrous honesty, set off against the contrary impression created by his abduction. Involved in the complication is Don's love for Ann Sinclair, who alone, with his doting mother, believes in the purity of her motives. The old Canon himself is quietly dubious, and the grizzled old general, the father of Ann, is openly outraged by his prospective son-in-law's escapade and held in check only by his wife. In his mother's eyes he can do no wrong, and here the author struck one of the most humorous notes in his characterizations.

The comedy has numerous touches that betray a keen sense of humor, a fine knowledge of character and the skill to handle a novel topic.

"The Fourth Estate" has been succeeded at Wallack's by "A Little Brother of the Rich," by the same authors, Joseph Patterson Medill and Harriet Ford, and following in general outlines the events of Mr. Medill's novel, which created something of a stir a year or so ago as a reflection of American society. In the dramatic version the solution has been shaped to a happy ending. Vincent Serrano appears as Paul Potter, the young man who is compelled to marry Muriel Evers, the siren, after her divorce. But Muriel is not long content with her second husband, and conveniently runs away with Lassiter Ellis and is killed with her paramour in an automobile accident, leaving Paul free to marry his boyhood sweetheart, Sylvia Castle. Hilda Spong is winning golden praise as the seductive Muriel, and Ida Conquest is giving a capital performance as Sylvia.

At the Comedy the bill has been changed from "The Melting Pot" to "The Affinity," by Eugene Brieux, in which we recognized "The Incubus," presented at two special matinees last season by Lawrence Irving and his wife, Mabel Hackney. The two English players are again seen in the leading parts, and the comedy again created the same favorable impression as last year, when it was seen at the Hackett. The engagement is only for two weeks.

The piece is worth seeing. It is played with a charm that is irresistible, especially by Mabel Hackney as the millstone around the neck of Pierre, the good-natured, spineless professor of ornithology, who is living with Charlotte in a companionship not countenanced in good American society. The piece is rather better played than on its trial, and the audience was kept in capital good humor throughout the three rapid acts describing the bickerings and trials, sad and comical, of the ill-assorted pair. Lawrence Irving made a curtain speech on Monday evening, in which he read a letter from the author, describing "Les Hannetons" (the French title of the comedy) as one of the saddest plays he has ever written, its basis being the misery following when a couple has nothing in common but infatuation.

As soon as Hedwig Reicher read the critical comments on "The Next of Kin," the morning after the premier, she wrote a letter to her manager, offering to retire from the cast and make room for an actress who might be physically better suited to express the shrinking, helpless nature of the heroine than herself. Grace Elliston is to be put in the part, but I am greatly mistaken if that will save the play. Playing opposite to Wallace Eddinger, who is an inch shorter than Miss Reicher, there was some justification for the attitude taken by the critics, who treated her very kindly, but almost unanimously commented on the physical disparity observal between the heroine and the hero.

Now Miss Reicher is a tall but a very slender and very graceful young woman, and she can act rings around Miss Elliston, as they say on the Rialto. Almost any other woman would have paid no attention to the comments and gone on till the end. But Miss Hedwig is too much of an artist to obtrude herself, and retired with graceful tribute to the honesty of her critics. "I realize that the gentlemen of the press, seated as they are out in front," she said in her letter, "are in a position to judge as to what should be the physical attributes of the actress who is called upon to play this part, and I bow in acknowledgement of the wisdom of their opinion. Therefore, I beg of you, Mr. Harris, to grant my request."

Much gratification has been expressed at the determination of the New Theater management to give Annie Russell an opportunity to appear as Lady Teazle. Miss Russell has given her friends more pleasure by her acting since she became identified with the New Theater than at almost any other stage of her career. For the first time she has had a chance to demonstrate the full range of her delightful art in roles not written especially for her, and my word, she is a much better general actress than I supposed, greatly as I admired her before. Her emotional work in "The Nigger" is rarely equalled for intensity, artlessness and power. She can take a big hysterical scene without being theatrical or sensational and small as she is, she displays a sustaining power that few give her credit for. Her Lady Teazle ought to afford the lovers of standard plays a genuine treat, for she is always effective in comedy.

It is reported on the Rialto that Gertrude Atherton is writing the play in which Mrs. Fiske will make her appearance next season.

Also, we hear, that the Countess Cassini, once the chum of Alice Roosevelt in Washington during the countess's uncle, Count Cassini's, ambassadorship as the representative of the czar, is soon to make her debut in Paris as a professional singer under her grandmother's maiden name, Marguerite Caroni, and may later come to one of the New York opera houses for an engagement in grand opera.

George Arliss did not go back to London as was reported, but has gone on tour in Harrison Grey Fiske's production of "Septimus."

Marie Doro, who is to play "The Climax" in London, is actively studying the music under Victor Morell and will appear in the Boston production of the comedy, with a view to acquainting herself with the musical and dramatic demands of the role prior to her London engagement.

• • •

Mrs. Fiske's tour in "Salvation Nell" will continue until early in February. She will then devote three weeks to rehearsals of a new role in a production Mr. Fiske has now in preparation. This will be presented first in Chicago. It is said to be a modern play which is being written by Gertrude Atherton.

It is said that the founders of the New theater are dissatisfied with the interior arrangements of the house and that it is to be remodeled at the close of the present season. Architects are now preparing plans whereby the balconies and boxes will be brought forward so that the audience will be on more intimate terms with the players. The cost of the reconstruction is estimated at $250,000.

Before Marie Doro goes to London, where she is to play the role of Adelina in "The Climax," she will appear in that part in this country. Charles Frohman and Joseph M. Weber have arranged things so that Miss Doro will play in the role when "The Climax" goes into Boston a little later in the season.

Strauss' "Salome" has been forbidden a production in London by the English censor.

It is said that 2,000 manuscripts have already been examined by the literary directorate of the New theater in New York, and of these only three found available for production. Evidently it is not so easy to write a good play.

During the early part of the season it was announced that Miss Mary Manning would likely be seen in a revival of "As You Like It." Her success in "A Man's World" will, it now seems, preclude such an arrangement. However, Miss Mannering declares that she will play "Rosalind" in England probably next summer. Some years ago she appeared in London under the name of Florence Friend. Since coming to America, where she has been playing as Mary Mannering, this popular actress has never appeared in England.

John Mason's new play is to be known as "The Man Who Had Been Blind." The Shuberts will bring his tour in "The Witching Hour" to a close early in January, and Mr. Mason will immediately begin rehearsals of the new piece. "The Man Who Had Been Blind" is by Ernest Poole.

Frederick Paulding, who is prominent in the support of Miss Blanche Ring in "The Yankee Girl," is as well known as a playwright as an actor. He is the author of Jessie Bonstelle's play, "The Great Question," Charles Cherry's former vehicle; "Cousin Louisa," Adelaide Thurston's; "The Woman's Hour" and "Trooper Billy." Tim Murphy's "Two Men and a Girl" and a number of other comedies, some of which have attained very substantial success.

On Monday night of last week at the Belasco theater, in Washington, Mr. Sothern and Miss Marlowe inaugurated the fifth year of their combined stellar association. Their present tour includes a trip to the Middle West, the opening of the new Shubert theater in Boston next month and a season in New York. Their tour will continue until June, and only the large cities of the country will be visited for a few performances. Their repertoire consists entirely of the Shakesperean drama, including "Romeo and Juliet," "The Taming of the Shrew," "Hamlet" and "The Merchant of Venice." They will shortly be seen for the first time in "Macbeth," for which they have arranged an elaborate presentation, and will appear with it in New York later in the season.

Clayton White, of vaudeville fame, will probably be presented in Winchell Smith's dramatization of Randolph Chester's story, "Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford."

Lionel Barrymore, sculptor, painter and actor, has now turned librettist, and is enthusiastically engaged in the writing of a musical comedy, dealing with life in the Paris Latin quarter, which he hopes to finish and deliver to Charles Frohman before many weeks.

Julian Mitchell returned to the stage in "Miss Innocence," after an absence of fifteen years.

Ezra Kendall, in "The Vinegar Buyer," closed New Year's night.

Theodore Mitchell, business manager of Lillian Russell's tour, arranged with Curly Brown, manager of the racetrack at Jacksonville, Fla., to run a Lillian Russell handicap on Jan. 11, the day that Miss Russell appeared in that city.

Katherine Kaelred has retired from the cast of "A Fool There Was," Robert Hilliard's success, in which she played the vampire.

Arnold Daly's production of Hervieu's drama, "Know Thyself," has not proved very successful and will be withdrawn after a brief season.

Julian Eltinge, who is accompanying Harry Lauder on the Pacific coast tour will not be allowed to appear at the Mormon tabernacle, in Salt Lake City when the Scotch comedianaan appears there. The reason given is that Eltinge's performance is looked upon as vaudeville, while Lauder's is regarded as a concert.

"The Prince of Bohemia," a musical comedy in two acts by J. Hartley Manners, made its appearance under the management of Lew Fields before a large and appreciative audience at Wilkesbarre recently. Andrew Mack played the leading role. The music is by J. Baldwin Sloane, with several numbers by Mack himself.

C. B. Dillingham announces that his next production will be "The Echo," a musical comedy by William Le Baron and Deems Taylor, two students of the University of New York.

Grand opera will probably take another Nielson from the light opera stage in Christine Nielsen, the prima donna of "The Belle of Brittany," who is studying with that view in mind.

Through the offer of Henry B. Harris to donate $25,000 to Harvard university for a dramatic chair, that institution is soon to be favored with that acquisition. Six of the other nine pledges of $25,000 necessary have been received, and Mr. Harris is ready to hand over the money as soon as the other three are forthcoming.

Violet Dole has resigned from "The Flirting Princess." Her place is to be taken by Vera Michelena.

"Madame X" will receive its first New York performance on Feb. 2.

Carrie De Mar has but twelve more weeks of vaudeville, after which she will be starred in a musical comedy under Joe Hart's management.

Bertie Herron, "the original minstrel miss," has just returned from a flying trip abroad to arrange foreign bookings for next summer for her little vaudeville company.

"I found the most appreciative audience at the base of Vesuvius," said she, "with which I was ever blessed. I am something of an acrobat and I love kids.

"There was something wrong with the funicolari, which is the inclined railroad running up the side of the volcano.

"My little party embarked in carriages and they broke down. We went into a little inn—a sort of "half way house"—and had a glass of wine. As we came out we found that we had been proovided with stunted ponies—something like our Western bronchos—but there were not enough of them, and we were loaded on the little beasts, two or three to a mount. Finally, these broke down and we were told we would have to finish the climb on foot—an impossible feat to us—or on the backs of the villainous looking brigands who swarmed about us.

"I refused, as I had a large number of valuable diamonds with me, and I was afraid they were bent on robbery or ransom.

"I mounted one of the Vesuvian ponies, who refused to go up the steep path, but was quite willing to go down, and at the base of the historic 'spitfire' mountain I was surrounded by a dozen of the most picturesque and the dirtiest children it has ever been my mingled pleasure and distress to see. They followed me three or four miles in the broiling sun, kissing their hands to me and begging for coins.

"It was my weak spot they had struck when they began to turn cartwheels, and the first thing I knew I was scattering centimes among them like a nashman casting his dust to the four winds of heaven.

"So infectious was their delight and so fascinating were their shrill cries of "Multo bene!" that I could not resist the temptation, and I leaped from my saddle and beat them all at the game they had started.

"Whether it was the gratitude they felt for my shower of centimes or their genuine delight at my skill, I do not know, but they kept up their "bravos" till I was so tired I sunk to the ground and swapped stories with them in my miserable Italian until I was rejoined by my friends, who, by the way, had been plundered by the brigandish-looking guides."

Marie Booth Russell, leading woman to Robert Mantell, has a friend who is a rampant suffragist. To emphasize her equality with man, this lady wears tailor-made clothes of the most masculine cut and heavy-soled, common-sense shoes. Whenever she sees a man in a restaurant light a cigarette she follows suit, refusing to extinguish her "coffin nail" so long as the masculine smoker continues to puff at his.

Recently Miss Russell noticed that her unique friend had a deep border of black around her cigarettes, and inquired the cause.

"Oh, you remember my husband, Willie," she remarked. "Well, he died the other day, and as I was already wearing black from preference, I thought I'd add a mourning band to my cigarettes out of respect to his memory."

Alice John is a member of Mrs. Fiske's company in "Salvation Nell" this season. She is an Indiana girl of Welsh descent. Some years ago she went to Chicago to become the private secretary of the publisher of the News of that city. She took up the study of the stage, and appeared in several parts in the company of Donald Robertson. She was engaged by Harrison Grey Fiske to play the part of the Italian woman, Mrs. Baxter, in Mr. Sheldon's drama. She acquitted herself so well that when an opportunity offered she was promoted to the role of Lieut. O'Sullivan ("Hallelujah Maggie") and in that breezy character she is meeting with success.

Klaw & Erlanger's production of "The Circus Man," with Maclyn Arbuckle in the title role, has ended its run at the Boston theater and is playing the New England cities prior to going into Philadelphia in February. For a Christmas present Imogene, the only elephant soubrette in captivity, received a set of boots. Each had to be fitted to a foot. The four cost $160. They were made by a Boston harness maker, of sole leather, copper rivited, lined with sheep's wool and about two feet in height. They are worn not to protect Imogene's "toesies," from the rough street pavings, but as a preventative of colds. "The Circus Man" made a hit in Boston.

Klaw & Erlanger have engaged Miss Maude Raymond, William Edmunds, John Dunsmure and Harry Cowan to support Max Rogers in Aaron Hoffman's play, "The Young Turk," which will be presented in New York city in February. The company will number more than 100.

• • •

Edith Taliaferro has been selected by Klaw & Erlanger and Joseph Brooks for the role of Rebecca in the play, "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," opening in Boston at the Tremont theater. Miss Taliaferro has been playing the role of Polly in "Polly of the Circus." She has been on the stage since childhood, appearing in "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," and with Ezra Kendall and other stars. The "Rebecca" play is one of the sensational successes of the season. It is a dramatization of the "Rebecca" books by their author, Kate Douglas Wiggin, and Charlotte Thompson. "Rebecca" has been played only in New England cities, but week stands have been made out of cities in which big attractions usually appear for one night only. The play itself is an unusual one. As Rebecca says, "it's just good to be alive." This is the keynote of the whole production. Optimism and sunshine pervade the whole play. Mrs. Wiggins has made some wonderful character studies of the Maine state folk.

ROSTAND'S "ANIMAL PLAY" HAS PARIS "BY THE EARS"

E. ROSTAND.

The date of the dress rehearsal of Edmond Rostand's "Chanticleer" is set and all the literary world is striving for cards of admission. Between Rostand and his feathered actresses and actors have been as much dissensions as among the families in a barnyard. The first of the four acts will represent a poultry yard, with Lucien Guitry in the role of the cock. Guitry, who ranks with Antoine as the best actor in France, receives $40,000 for playing the title role in "Chanticleer." Mme. Simone Lebargy plays the part of a pheasant and receives a salary equal with that of her co-star, Guitry. Mme. Lebargy objects to the fact that she is expected to lay an egg in full view of the audience, Rostand is one of the first poets of the day. His contracts are such that he cannot lose money even if the play fails, which is unlikely. Paris is deeply interested over this play and wants it to be a roaring success. So financial failure seems impossible.

AMERICAN OPERA STARS BEING GIVEN RECOGNITION

JANE NORIA.

The number of successful American singers on the operatic stage today is a refutation of the old slander that the Americans have no musical taste or talent. Their recognition is of itself gratifying to those who are interested in the esthetic and artistic progress of this nation. The Boston Opera company has a number of Americans on its list of singers and by arrangement with the Metropolitan opera house these singers are heard in New York. Among them are Jane Noria and Alice Nelsen. Miss Noria was known as Jane Ludwig. She sang in grand opera in minor companies for a number of years before she gained recognition.

ONE OF THE MOST BEAUTIFUL WOMEN OF THE AMERICAN STAGE

JOSEPHINE LOVETT.

Josephine Lovett is one of the beautiful women of the American stage. She comes of an old Scotch family which settled in America after the battle of Culloden in 1747. She is leading woman this season for Robert Edeson in "A Man's a Man"—a good Scotch title for a very interesting play.

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge that so many forms of illness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact that it is the only remedy which promotes internal cleanliness, without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is, therefore, all-important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to purchase and note that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only.

It is pleasant and refreshing to the taste, and acts gently yet promptly on the kidneys, liver and bowels, cleanses the system effectually, dispels colds, headaches and fevers and assists in overcoming habitual constipation permanently, also biliousness and the many ills resulting therefrom. The great trouble with all other purgatives and aperients is not that they fail to act when a single dose is taken, but that they act too violently and invariably tend to produce a habit of body requiring constantly augmented doses. Children enjoy the pleasant taste and gentle action of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, the ladies find it delightful and beneficial whenever a laxative remedy is needed, and business men pronounce it invaluable, as it may be taken without interfering with business and does not gripe nor nauseate. When buying note the name, California Fig Syrup Co. printed on the front of every package. Price, 50 cents a bottle.

AUTHOR OF PLAY WITH NEW THEME

A. S. VAN WESTRUM.

An Hungarian author has found a new and rather sensational theme for a play which was produced for the first time in Berlin this week. It had already made a sensational success in Budapest. It is a drama of the yellow peril and is called "The Typhoon." The chief character is a Japanese diplomatist on a secret mission to a foreign country. The play has been purchased for the United States by Alexander Konta, who was one of the adapters of "The Devil," and it has been adapted and the scene translated to Washington by A. Schade Van Westrum.

FROM THE MINES AND THE SMELTERS

THE GIROUX CONSOLIDATED

Will Sink to 1,200-Foot Level Where Pumps Will Be Installed---Grading for Extensive Trackage System Has Been Completed.

Ely, Nev., Jan. 15.—Commenting on the completion of the five-compartment shaft of the Giroux Consolidated to the surface, the Expositor says: This shaft, which will be one of the largest and most perfect in the entire district was commenced at a point about 700 feet west of the old Alpha shaft, early in July of last year.

Because of the economical manner in which the work could be done the entire shaft was conducted on the upraise plan, the refuse being carried out through the Alpha shaft workings.

In advance preparation for the completion of the work, the shafthouse has already been constructed and the machinery has been installed for hoisting the rock from the 1,000-foot level and the lower levels as the hole is driven still further toward the great ore bodies lying between the 1,000-foot level and the 1,200-foot level.

The hoist is already in place and the crews will be started on sinking operations immediately.

It is planned to sink to the 1,200-foot level, when the pumps will be installed. These will be of the plunger pattern and will have a capacity of 1,200 gallons of water a minute, titting that great volume 1,200 feet to the surface.

A large station will be cut at the 1,200-foot level for a pumping and working station, and as soon as this is completed the shaft will be dewatered by the pumps.

The company will then be in a position to produce at a minute's notice, great tonnages of excellent copper ores, running from 8 to 15 per cent in the red metal.

The company, prior to the disaster which caused the closing of the Alpha shaft, developed a great body of especially rich copper ore, much of which was impregnated with quantities of the finest native copper, and the general average running into exceptional percentages.

The general average of the ore resembles the Bisbee, Ariz., ores, being direct smelting and free from refractory elements. In September, 1908, the company shipped a trial shipment of 200 tons to the Garfield smelter at Salt Lake City which averaged between 12 and 13 per cent copper, and which gave a net return of $4,405.

Announcement was made by Supt. Mills of the Giroux that the grading for the company's extensive trackage system, connecting each of the various parts of the property for a standard guage railroad, has been completed, but that steel will not be laid until spring because of the depth of snow covering the grade. He said that there will be no immediate use for the track, aside from the 1,096 feet that has already been laid and put into commission until spring and that the snow would give considerable trouble to the tracklaying gangs. This added trouble and expense will not be necessary, and for this reason the coming of spring will be awaited before the tracks are laid.

AT THE SUPERIOR & BOSTON

Connection of Shaft Will Soon be Made—Property Nearing Stage of Producing Ore for Shipment to the Smelter.

Globe, Ariz., Jan. 15.—The development work at the Superior & Boston mine, which is one of the largest mining properties in the Globe district, is rapidly nearing the stage at which it will be producing ore for shipment to the smelter. The McGaw and the Great Eastern, the principal shafts of this property, are being connected by means of crosscuts, driven from both ends, which are expected to meet about the twentieth of this month. About 120 feet of driving will complete this connection of 520 feet, and in the future the McGaw shaft will be used for the hoisting of ore to the surface. This large ore bins now under construction will be completed by the latter part of the month, and will then be in readiness to receive the ore as it is hoisted from the double-compartment shaft. The bin is being built beside the head frame of the shaft, where the ore can be automatically dumped as it reaches the right elevation. The railroad bed has practically been completed to this shaft and with the laying of the ales and rails, everything will be in readiness for the transportation of ore from the McGaw, when the mine begins production. Former shipments of ore from this mine were made from the Great Eastern shaft located southeast of the McGaw.

The pumping system is being added to at the sixth level, and in a week or two this addition will be permanent part of the mine equipment. This addition consists of a 1,000 gallon capacity, Prescott, duplex, triple expansion pump. The excavating for two new 250-horse power Babcock & Wilcox boilers has been done and these will be installed before many weeks have passed. These additions to the already serviceable plant will make the Superior & Boston one of the best equipped properties of the district.

As soon as the necessary preparations have been made, sinking will be resumed in the McGaw shaft, and probably this work will be started before the first of the month.

HAS A SILVER-BEARING VEIN

Arizona-Michigan Explores Silver Formation—Vein in Diorite Rock and Walls Well-Defined—Superior & Globe Crosscutting in Shaft.

Globe, Ariz., Jan. 15.—The development of the 500-foot level of the Arizona-Michigan continues in hard diorite south of the shaft and in conglomerate in the north crosscut. The drift started 120 feet north of the shaft a few weeks ago has been exploring a silver-bearing quartz vein, which during the past two weeks, has been found to be highly mineralized with iron and manganese in the form of oxides, and as greater lengths are attained by the drift, the general appearance of the vein improves both in character and in size. This vein dips as though it joined the Dewelt ledge, which outcrops farther north. The rock in which the vein occurs in diorite and the walls are well defined. After driving the north crosscut 175 feet farther from where it cut this vein, a quartz conglomerate was entered and the crosscut has continued in this formation from the 505-foot north drift face 350 feet from the Telfair shaft. Supt. N. A. Nelson is employing about twenty-five men in the underground and surface work.

Crosscutting north and south from the Superior & Globe shaft in the Copper Hill district is under way and now that the final timbering is being done in the station and sump the crosscuts can be rapidly driven north. The crosscutting is being done at the 650-foot level and is the first level work that has been done at this property. The work southward from the shaft will probably be in the ledge matter of the Yuma vein within the next six weeks, as the location of the outcrop of this ledge indicates a northerly dip which will bring its lower portion much closer to the shaft at the depth of the level work than it is on the surface. It is likely that less than 250 feet of work from the shaft will carry the work in to the center of this large ledge and, as is hoped, into the ore which should be there, according to the past developments on adjoining claims formerly worked by the Old Dominion Copper Mining & Smelting company as well as by various leasers of this property.

The surface plant of the Superior & Globe property is also being enlarged. The concrete of the foundation for the sixty horsepower hoisting engine is all set in place, and as soon as the condition of the wagon roads will permit of heavy hauling, the machinery will be hauled to the plant and installed.

THE COEUR D' ALENES MINES

Dividends Paid Last Year Amounted to $2,300,000, With Federal Mining and Smelting Company Leading---See Prosperous Year Ahead.

Spokane, Wash., Jan. 15.—Two million three hundred thousand dollars is given out to be a conservative estimate of the amount paid in dividends by the mines in the Coeur d'Alene district. The list is headed by the Federal Mining & Smelting company, which paid $930,000, followed by the Bunker Hill & Sullivan company, which disbursed $615,000, mostly at the rate of $45,000 a month. The Hercules company is given third place with $250,000, though this means a reduction, as against the amounts paid during former years. It is accounted for by the destruction of the smelter last September, since which time the company has sent only shipping ore to the smelters. Snowstorm mine, the only copper producer in the district, did not pay dividends every month during 1909, but the total amount is given as $225,000. The dividends paid by the Hecla were not made public during the early part of 1909, but it is stated on presumably good authority that the total paid was $200,000ce and that several monthly disbursements exceeded the regular payment of $10,000.

Miners and prospectors operating in the Coeur d'Alene district are looking forward to the most prosperous year in its history in 1910, and indications are that several properties will be added to the shipping list. Those who were developing new prospects have planned their work, patented claims and worked on them and brought their properties up to a stage where they can begin working them for profit under improved and improving conditions. This applies to the whole district, in every section of which there has been much prospecting and many claims located. Inquiries among the brokers and promotors show that money is coming into the district in large sums for investment in new properties. It is said that much of this is from localities where it was impossible a year ago, or even less, to interest any one in properties of proved merit. The number of men working in prospects and new properties is double the number a year ago. Contracts for development work are being awarded almost every day, while the recording of new claims takes the time of one clerk.

Carney Copper company's property at Mullan, Idaho, has reached such a state of development that the shareholders may look to the opening of big ore bodies in the No. 2 tunnel in the near future. Five hundred and thirty feet of tunneling, drifting and crosscutting was completed in 1909. Two hundred and ten feet was done on No. 1 level, where it has opened up one of the most remarkable showings of copper calcoprite and carbonate ore in Northern Idaho. This ore shoot has been developed 200 feet in length and more than 40 feet in width and the ore lying on the left of the tunnel continues into the mountain. Fine specimens of ore float have been found farther up the mountain, and this fact bears out the theory that the farther this body of ore to the left of the tunnel is followed, the better it will be. Three hundred and twenty feet of tunneling and crosscutting has been finished on No. 2 level following a stringer of ore for more than 200 feet. The entire length of No. 2 tunnel is now 1,090 feet, giving a vertical depth of 550 feet. At this point a crosscut was started north and at this time is running through ledge formation, carrying copper. A heavy flow of water has been encountered in the main tunnel and the crosscut.

AT THE LAKE COPPER MINES

Houghton Copper Company Formed to Develop Tract North of Superior Mine—Lode at Sixth Level of Lake Expected to Be as Rich as on Level Above.

Houghton, Mich., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The latest among the Lake Superior copper mining companies is the Houghton Copper company, a close corporation, backed by the St. Mary's Mineral Land company and several local interests, to develop a mine tract of 165 acres lying next north of the Superior mine. The capitalization of the new company is $2,500,000, divided into 100,000 shares, $25 par value. Payment for the lands taken over by the company is entirely in stock, the St. Mary's company receiving 25,000 shares and the private interests receiving 20,000 shares for their several holdings. An additional 22,000 shares will be offered to the original land owners at $6, and the remaining 33,000 shares will be placed in the treasury of the new company, which will begin its career with a treasury of about $100,000. There will be no public offerings of stock. The property, though small, will, it is estimated, yield 9,000,000 tons of milling rock, a tonnage sufficient to keep the company actively engaged for a period of approximately thirty years, if mined at the rate of 1,000 tons daily. The prospects of the company are unusually bright.

Lake.

Recent developments in the Lake mine indicate that the lode at the eighth level will be found no less rich than where exposed at the level above, a drill core taken from the lode at that depth revealing vein matter of a character identical with that existing elsewhere in the mine. The drill was put into commission at this level to determine the distance yet remaining between the head of the crosscut and the lode, and this is shown to be approximately sixty feet, making the total distance from shaft to lode around 120 feet. Crosscutting, which was temporarily ceased during the time the drill was in commission, is again under way and should result in the disclosure of the lode within another month. The situation elsewhere in the mine is not materially changed though further improvement is noted in the several north drifts, particularly at the third level, where much the best ground yet opened in this mine is in evidence. The new lode found directly in the bottom of the shaft continues to show good values as the drift reaches out. The shaft rockhouse has been completed and regular shipments from the mine to the mill will be made daily with the beginning of next week.

Oneco.

Oneco has succeeded in taking a core of very rich copper rock from what may prove to be the Tomahawk lode, a cupriferous famous chiefly through its having been discovered and lost within a single day by Hulbert, the discoverer of the Calumet conglomerate. The Tomahawk lode has been the object of considerable searching in the past forty years, and was and is yet generally considered a myth. Whatever the new lode encountered by Oneco may prove to be its value so far as may be judged from a single boring is rather good and in it the company has apparently the makings of a mine.

Arcadian.

The Arcadian Copper company has reached the ledge in the No. 3 drill hole and drilling at that point in rock is now in progress. The new site is one and a half miles south of the New Baltic-Arcadian boundary in the presumed horizon of the so-called New Baltic lode, recently disclosed by drilling on the neighboring property. The officials of the company have been approached by parties claiming to have discovered an outcropping of the Baltic lode on the company's lands, but negotiations between the parties in which the discoverers offered to reveal the outcropping for a consideration have proven fruitless, and the company will seek the lode with the aid of diamond drills. Present operations are being conducted in a strip of territory approximately 1,500 feet wide and several miles long, heretofore untouched and very probably carrying either or both the Baltic and the Superior lodes.

Hancock.

Hancock has temporarily ceased drifting at the twenty-seventh level, where the big vertical shaft intersects the so-called No. 3 lode, until the shaft has been dropped sufficiently below that level to permit the installation of underground storage bins and station timbers without fear of damage by flying rock, incidental to shaft sinking. The lode at this depth has been opened for a distance of eighty feet without encountering the rich copper shute opened in the several upper levels, which at this depth is calculated to make to the southward between 300 and 400 feet from the shaft. The situation at the several levels from the thirteenth to seventeenth inclusive is very encouraging, and at the thirteenth and fourteenth levels long stretches of first-class copper rock have been opened up. The upraise from the thirteenth level and also the winze sinking from that point both continue in good average ground. The structural steel for the permanent hoisting plant is rapidly going into place and with the completion of this work the erection of the new steel shaft rockhouse will begin. Barring accidents and unavoidable delays, both the shafthouse and hoisting plant will be available for regular service by July.

HEAVY DECREASE IN OUTPUT

Production of Copper by Butte Mines in December Nearly Half That of Previous Month—Ex-Senator Clark Now Favors Merger--Butte-Ballaklava Three-Compartment Shaft Completed.

Butte, Mont., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The December copper production by the Butte companies fell even below the prolminary estimates, the total being but 14,340,480 pounds, against 27,889,140 in November. The heavy decrease was due to the strike of railroad switchmen, which continued through the whole month and prevented the transportation of ore from many mines and shut off the supply of coal. The total output of ore and production of copper, in pounds, were as follows:

Companies—	Tons of Ore.	Pounds of Copper.
Anaconda	98,300	5,978,000
Washoe	5,660	336,000
Parrott	3,360	191,000
Trenton	8,400	512,400
North Butte	33,600	2,049,600
Butte Coalition	39,200	2,548,000
Original	18,800	1,198,880
East Butte (Pittsmont)	8,100	520,800
Miscellaneous	16,800	1,092,000
Totals	230,160	14,340,480

In the miscellaneous item is included a fragmentary production by the Boston & Montana, Butte & Boston, and the output of Butte-Ballaklava.

Clark and the Merger.

The attitude of ex-Senator W. A. Clark toward the proposed copper merger appears to have undergone some change. On his recent return from Europe he was not strongly in favor of it, and emphasized the fact that he always worked alone and did not believe in large combinations. It was surmised at the time that his apparent opposition was induced by the existence of a mining controversy with the Amalgamated Copper company. If that was true, then by the same token there must have been some adjustment of the controversy between the Amalgamated and Mr. Clark, as has been rumored for some time, for he is now much impressed with the feasibility and necessity of a combination of producers. He says the proposed merger is not a merger in the popular sense of a trust, and does not contemplate discrimination. He also says it will not effect the mines of Arizona, where his famous United Verde is situated, nor the mines of Northern Michigan. It simply means, says the ex-senator, that three or four of the larger copper interests will get together on a basis where they can handle their product better, and to unite in such action. "There is a world-wide over-production of copper that will have to be worked off," says Mr. Clark, "but new uses to which the metal is being put are increasing. It is impossible to mine copper with a fair profit under 15 cents. The price should not, however, go above that."

The statement of Senator Clark that there is no reasonable profit in copper under 15 cents is significant, as he is the largest individual producer of copper in the world. In Butte it is well known that the Clark copper costs by several cents per pound more than any other copper that is produced in the district. Mr. Clark has not kept pace with improvements in production, and many of his methods are antiquated and wasteful. At the time of the big slump in 1907, Senator Clark made the statement that copper would never again be allowed to go above 16 cents per pound, and it was assumed at the time that he spoke by the card, and that there was afoot a plan among the large producers to combine for the purpose of regulating and maintaining a staple price for the metal and shut cut the small producers.

Butte-Ballaklava.

The shaft of the Butte-Ballaklava Copper company has been completed to the surface, and now is a standard three-compartment shaft down to the 1,400-foot level. Down to the 500-foot level the shaft was only two-compartment, but another compartment has been raised to the surface. The foundation for the new hoisting engine has been completed and the new machinery will be installed shortly. In the meantime the company is mining and doing extensive development work. Several hundred tons of ore are being shipped daily, and when the new hoist is installed the output will be increased to at least 500 tons per day. The Butte-Ballaklava has opened four large veins and has an immense lot of very high-grade ore blocked out. Recent shipments have returned better than 6 per cent copper and more than nine ounces of silver.

Butte & Superior.

The Butte & Superior Copper company has begun shipments of zinc ore to the concentrator of the Basin Reduction company, but the shipments are small and made by team from the mine to the railroad. As soon as a sufficient quantity is stored at the concentrator, operations on a section of the plant will be started. A railroad spur is also being built to the mine, and when completed the shipments will be increased. However, at present the mine is not in as good shape for a large production as it ought to be, the ore body being opened imperfectly. The ore yields only zinc and silver, and so far as copper content is concerned, results have so far been disappointing. However, the Butte & Superior has acquired control of the Butte-Milwaukee and Butte-New York companies, owners of the Col. Sellers group of claims, and has excellent prospects of adding a copper producer

LAKE SUPERIOR IRON MINES

Important Discoveries of Past Few Years on Marquette Range--Many Diamond Drills at Work in Country West of Ishpeming--Big Mines Will Be Opened Eventually.

The oldest of all the iron fields of the Lake Superior region, in that it was the first one opened and for three decades was the only producer, the Marquette range, is still a youngster in point of development. More than 90,000,000 tons of ore have been shipped from its mines since the first discovery of iron in 1844, yet the district is still to reach the zenith of its career. The discoveries of the past few years have been of vast importance. Very large bodies have been added to the reserves of merchantable ore, and there is not the slightest question that much more than 90,000,000 tons can be shipped without exhausting these deposits.

Even now, in fact, the limits of the range are still to be determined. The discoveries of the new beds in the Negaunee and Swanzey districts have been followed by fully as important finds in the territory to the west of Ishpeming, until it has become to be believed that there is an almost unbroken stretch of ore to a point beyond Lake Michigamme. The Cleveland-Cliffs company, the Hanna people, George J. Mans of Negaunee and associates, the Steel corporation and other interests are engaged in exploratory work in the country west of Ishpeming. Many diamond drills are at work. It will be years before these operations are completed, but there is already assurance that a number of big mines will eventually be opened.

It was in the vicinity of the American mine, in this district west of Ishpeming, that the deepest diamond drill hole ever bored in North America was put down the past year by George J. Maas. The work was done by Cole & McDonald. The hole was bottomed at 3,265 feet. It required six months to sink to that depth. Just what was encountered in this particular hole is not known, other than that the bore was started in the Michigamme slate, sixty feet beneath the surface, and passed from that into the Goodrich or Ishpeming quartzite at about 1,600 feet. The drills have shown that the ore in the region west of Ishpeming lies very deep. The cost of development will be heavy. The deposits are extensive, however, and the ore is of excellent quality.

North Lake Property.

The first of the prospective string of mines in the new district is now being opened by the Cleveland-Cliffs company. This is the North Lake property, on the shores of the body of water of that name. Development work was started a year ago. Two shafts are going down. One of these, whose location was a swamp, is of concrete for the first seventy feet, the depth of the overburden. The second opening is a quarter of a mile distant. In time the shafts will be connected by drifts, as the ore body extends through the territory between them. The deposit is 600 feet beneath the surface. The mine will be a big one and the company is providing it with an extensive surface equipment. The building program is a large and costly one. The ore extends beneath the lake, and in the interest of economy and safety it is not unlikely that in time the basin will be drained of its water, as was done at Lake Angeline, at Ishpeming, some years ago.

The air for the operation of the power drills at the North Lake mine is compressed at the Cliffs shafts engine house at Ishpeming. It is delivered through a six-inch iron pipe laid in a trench extending in an absolutely straight line for the entire distance of 18,000 feet. This power will be used for two or three years, or while development work is being carried on, but in time the North Lake will be provided with its own plant. The compressor at the Cliffs shafts is of sufficient capacity to supply fifty drills, ten of which are available for use at the newer property. It will not be long before the machinery at most of the Marquette range mines of the Cleveland-Cliffs company will be operated by electricity. Ultimately a big hydraulic plant will be constructed on the Carp river, but for the time being steam will be used. Two central electrical stations are going into commission, one at the Maas mine, at Negaunee, and the other in the Swanzey district, some twenty miles south of there. Each plant is equipped with a 1,500-kilowatt turbine and generator.

New Concrete-Lined Shaft.

Another interesting work undertaken by the Cleveland Cliffs Iron company on the Marquette range is the construction of a concrete-lined shaft in the Negaunee field, between the Negaunee and Maas mines. This shaft is circular and seventeen feet in diameter. The concrete is eighteen inches in thickness. This lining is now going in, it being installed in sections from surface, but it will be the better part of the year before the shaft is ready for use. The shaft will have four compartments, will be equipped with steel and will be surmounted by a steel shafthouse. In the construction of this shaft the first work undertaken was the extension of a "raise" from the bottom of the mine to the bottom of a test pit, which had been sunk

GOOD ORE FOUND IN CORDOVA

All Assays of the Schist in the Sullivan Shaft Run Two Per Cent Copper—Churn Drill Will Soon Begin Operations.

Globe, Ariz., Jan. 15.—A new Star churn drill has arrived at the Cordova Copper company's property in Miami district, and within a few days, when the road to the initial position will be completed, this drill will begin operations, in the vicinity of the Jennie shaft on which sinking has been temporarily discontinued.

The work in the Jennie shaft has opened ground of very nearly average commercial grade. The last assays made of the porphyry near the bottom of this shaft gave returns of 2 per cent, and when the schist which underlies the granite porphyry is eventually opened the assays will probably show a good commercial grade of ore. Evidence in suppoft of this belief is found in the crosscut east from the 470-foot level of the Sullivan shaft of the Eureka claim of this property. This shaft is located several hundred feet east of the Jennie shaft, and the crosscut already driven 375 feet eastward has been in sulphide ore running 2 per cent copper for about half of its length. The schist in which the work on that part of the property has been done was first entered by the shaft at a depth of about 355 feet, and continues to the bottom 140 feet lower. More quartzose schist was entered by the crosscut eastward, where the chalcocite is the principal copper mineral. All assays taken of this schist have shown it to be of a good grade, assaying about 2 per cent.

One of the Star churn drills recently secured by the Warrior Development company is located on the Long View claim, in readiness to begin operations. The drill is now being prepared for work, and will probably begin putting down the first hole today or tomorrow. Another drill has been ordered for use on the Warrior property, and will be set at work as soon as it arrives on the ground. Throughout the Globe district considerable interest is being manifested in the beginning of churn drill work on the Warrior mineral land, as the development of chalcocite at depth on this property would hold forth great possibilities for the future of the Warrior mine, which, up to the present time, has developed principally high grade ore in comparatively shallow workings.

Shipments from the Warrior mine are continuing at the usual rate of seventy-five tons of 10 per cent chrysocolla ore daily. This ore is being shipped to the El Paso smelter.

Practically all of the advance work underground in the Warrior mine is being attended by results extremely favorable to the future of the property.

CORBIN MINES ARE ACTIVE

Electric Hoist Being Installed at the Boston & Corbin—Montana-Corbin Rapidly Sinking Shaft and Preparing for Electric Power.

Butte, Mont., Jan. 15.—At the Boston & Corbin property, at Corbin, good progress is being made toward converting the motive power from steam to electricity. The new electric hoist with capacity for sinking to a depth of 2,000 feet is now being installed, and the motors for running the hoist and the new compressor are being placed in position. The pole line has been completed and the wires are ready to be connected with the new machinery.

All that remains to be done, to place the equipment in position for active work, is the building of a new gallows frame and it is expected that the new steel gallows frame, which was ordered some time ago, will be on the ground during the next week or two. It is probable that sinking will be resumed early in February, and possibly before that date, everything depending on the ability of the railroad to bring in the new gallows frame and other supplies.

The new surface equipment is of sufficient capacity to pursue a broad policy of development, and according to the plans that have been outlined the shaft will be sunk to 1,500 feet before any extensive underground work will be done. Stations will be cut at frequent intervals, however, and crosscuts may be run to locate the veins, but it will be the purpose of the company to determine not only the extent of the ore bodies at depth, but to run extensive drifts in order to establish a working basis of values.

Plans are already under consideration for the construction of a 200-ton concentrator early in the spring.

At the Montana-Corbin properties

COPPER VALUES IN LIVE OAK

Metal in Form of Chalcocite Disseminated Through Entire Body—Policy of Blocking Out Greater Tonnages of Ore Being Pursued.

Globe, Ariz., Jan. 15.—The management of the Live Oak Development company is continuing to follow the policy of exploring the property and blocking out greater tonnages of ore. The new lateral workings on the 500-foot level are in the same character of ore as that opened by the drifts previously driven. Below the 200-foot level of the mine the formation is chiefly schist in which the copper mineralization is in the form of chalcocite, disseminated throughout the entire body, and in most of the ground opened is present in amount sufficient to be easily seen, even by the eye of an inexperienced observer. Very little pyrite has been found in the mine, and only in one of the east drifts of the lower level do any oxidized minerals occur. The raising from this level has also opened ground of the same uniform character. All of the most highly mineralized portions of the schist are composed, to a great extent, of quartz stringers in which the chalcocite occurrence, as the principal mineral, is present in small globular form, giving to the mass a spotted appearance. The two Star churn drills which are expected to be in position for drilling the initial holes about Feb. 1 will put down a number of holes to determine the extent of the commercial ore body, and also to give to those in charge of the underground work a better idea of the best location for the advance workings.

The Live Oak mine now has six working faces on the 300-foot level. Five drifts are being driven and one raise is being put up. A new drift has just been started each from Drift No. 306, which runs north from the vertical shaft. The assay average of the material taken out during the advance work of the past week is between 2 6-10 and 2 4-5 per cent copper.

The development work in the Live Oak mine during the past few months has, beyond question, placed the property among the proven mines of the Globe district.

The Williams shaft at Copper Hill, which has been sunk to a depth of over 460 feet by the National Mining Exploration company, is still in the limemagnesia formation. This depth makes the known vertical extent of this formation, up to date, nearly 100 feet, as the lime was first entered at a depth of 384 feet. The general character of the limestone remains the same throughout, except that it is slightly more silicious at the bottom of the shaft than at higher points. This occurrence is rather interesting when the earlier developments of the adjoining mines are considered. Within a few hundred feet eastward the Eureka shaft of the Arizona Commercial Copper company went through a similar formation at nearly the same depth, and below it ore was developed. Still farther eastward, at the McGaw shaft of the Superior & Boston Copper company, limestone is being extracted in the course of the station work on the 600-foot level.

WILL EXPLORE FOR IRON ORE

Duluth Interests Have Option on Land in Marquette County, Mich.---Located in a Territory That Is Regarded as Promising.

Marquette, Mich., Jan. 15. — Within thirty days Duluth parties will start to explore a considerable acreage of land owned by the Peter White Land company and Ball & Ball, near the Dead River hoist, with the hope of finding a remarkable body of iron ore. The acreage is in excess of 1,200, and comprises several forties in each of sections, 7, 8, 17 and 18, in township 48, range 26. The optioning interests each owns approximately one-half of the land.

The option, which runs for a period of two years, provides for a sliding scale of royalties to be paid the owners of the land in case mines are discovered, and the Duluth parties agree to explore either with test pits, churn or diamond drills. It is the purpose to begin work on the Ball & Ball lands, and it is expected that those owned by the Peter White Land company will be entered on next summer.

Camps formerly used by Reichel brothers have been secured for the men who will be employed on the exploratory work, and will shortly be made ready for use. The nature of the operations that will be carried on is not known, but it is surmised that sinking will be started on an outcropping of ore said to have been discovered by Korten of this city. If drills are used they will be put in commission at some later time.

The options run to Peter L. De Voist of Duluth. Other Duluth men are said to be interested with him, also Korten, who called the possibilities of the land to their attention, but it is said that the work is being undertaken wholly on their individual initiative, and not for any mining company. The optioning parties believe that the chance of finding merchantable ore is worth the expenditure that will be required for an inspection of the lands, in view of the rich rewards that would follow success.

It is stated that the acreage under option, and other lands in that vicinity, are located in a territory that can and may bear ore. East and west of them the formation is granite, but there is an intrusion from the iron-bearing formation up into this granite which covers a large acreage, including the lands near the hoist. Lean veins of ore have been found there, it is asserted, and float ore has also been encountered. The nearest mines are some five or six miles away, in the Teal lake basin. Some desultory exploring has failed to yield results in the territory entered by the Duluth men, but that they have decided to lay out some of their good money in an attempt to find merchantable ore would indicate that the territory is not wholly devoid of possibilities, as the prospective explorers are men possessed of knowledge of mining, it is said.

DULUTH RINK SUSTAINS DEFEAT FOR FIRST TIME

Crack Whyte Four Loses Close Contest to Reedal of Phillips.

The Big International Event Is Scheduled for Afternoon Play.

With renewed energy the curlers assembled at the rink of the Duluth Curling club this morning and bent to their brooms with a will.

The ice was in good shape, and while the games were for the most part won by large scores, they were more interesting than the scores would indicate.

E. N. Whyte took his first defeat since the bonspiel opened, and Reedal was the skip who administered it. The final score was 12 to 11, and the contest was not over until the last stone had been played. Whyte started well by getting one each in the first three heads. On the fourth head, Reedal laid three, tieing the score. Whyte came back with two in the fifth, and Reedal tied him in the sixth. In the seventh the Phillips man laid three, and also one in the eighth. Whyte woke up in the ninth and laid three, and again one in the tenth. In the eleventh Reedal made three, and it looked for a time during the twelfth lead as though Whyte would either tie or better it. Two was the best he could do, however, and the contest was over. The game was in the Duluth event. The contest aroused a great deal of enthusiasm, and toward the end a large delegation of Scots watched the contest with much interest.

Hall of Duluth won from Schuler of Minneapolis, by a score of 13 to 8.

Lenont of Virginia lost to Morrison of Winnipeg in the Minneapolis event, by a score of 12 to 5. The range man has a strong rink, but they seem unable to strike their gait.

Duncan of Duluth defeated McLeod, also of this city, in the Duluth event, by a score of 10 to 7. Brewer won over Dunlop in the St. Paul event, by a score of 10 to 7. Heimbaugh of Superior forfeited to Holland of West Duluth in the Canadian Soo event. Gates of Superior won over Atkinson of Rainy River in the Duluth event. The score was 14 to 5. Hurdon is still winning. This morning in the Minneapolis event, he defeated Iltis of Superior, 11 to 4.

Ralph Bradley lost to Zauft of West Duluth in the Minneapolis event by a score of 12 to 4. Gridley forfeited to S. W. Richardson in the Canadian Soo event.

The International.

This afternoon the big International event is being played off. A. K. Smith of Superior, who was selected to play on the American side, is unable to play, and Zauft of West Duluth will take his place.

Several additional Minnesota towns are to be represented in the Ordway event. In this event, Duluth, St. Paul, and Minneapolis rinks are not eligible. The B. O. Green rink and the F. A. Pratt rink, both of Eveleth, Minn., arrived this morning to take part in this event.

The end of the 'spiel is now in sight. All the events are well along, and if the weather remains favorable, the seventeenth annual will probably be at an end Tuesday or Wednesday of next week.

There are additional curlers in the city today from St. Paul, Minneapolis and the several range towns. They are here to witness the big International event this afternoon, which is the climax of the bonspiel, and to attend the banquet to be given this evening at the Duluth Commercial club. There will be no curling at the rink this evening.

Monday morning play will be resumed, and the events will then be rushed through until they are completed. Many of the Duluth rinks were still in the running up until noon today. It looks quite probable that quite a pile of the silverware will remain in the Zenith City.

The detailed account of the scores made this morning and the events in which they counted, follows:

SPIRIT, GRABBED, DROPS ITS TEETH

Detective Puts Sudden End to Seance By Seizing "His Grandfather."

Chicago, Jan. 15.—While conversing with the "spirit" of his great-grandfather in a darkened room on the South side last night, Detective Philip Fitzsimmons reached out and seized the spirit of his ancestor with such force that is screamed and dropped a set of false teeth. When light was secured the detective arrested the "spirit" in the person of Mrs. C. B. Green, a medium. The woman, her husband and four women attending the seance were taken to the police station, charged with conducting fraudulent spiritualist meetings.

Fairbanks in Turkey.

Constantinople, Jan. 15.—A reception was held in the American embassy here yesterday afternoon in honor of Former Vice President Fairbanks and Mrs. Fairbanks. The function was largely attended by American residents of Constantinople. Mr. and Mrs. Fairbanks will leave for Athens next Tuesday.

MUSICAL COMEDY BY LOCAL TALENT.

The school girls of Duluth Heights are rehearsing a two-act musical comedy written by Henry Williams, entitled "Peggie's Surprise Party, or the Sweet Girl Graduate," and the play will be given at the fire hall, the latter part of this month. The following songs will be given during the play: "School Days Are Over," "Lowell School March," "Peggie, My Turtle Dove," "When We Were Just Schoolmates," "Beautiful Night in June," "I Tried to Cross a Barbed Wire Fence," and "March of the Midgets."

The following will take part: Athelia Dolson, Ethel Percell, Tressa Edmonson, Maccola and Lucillia Williams, Jessie Edmonson, Alice Reamer, Marion Robinson, May Johnson, Collins sisters, Maggie O'Connor, Bernice Sewrey, Evelyn Davis, Manuel Donoldson, Harold Emerson, Milton Mahan, Frank Percell, Max Clements, Gilbert Fawcett, Walter Hauck, Charles Whiteside, Norman Spindler, George MacAskill, Frank Spendler, Miss Minnie Fritz, Stella Segal, Mrs. Jessie Williams and Stewart Wilson.

UNITE IN ATTACK ON THE CORPORATION TAX.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—Congress was requested to abolish the publicity feature of the new corporation tax law in a resolution adopted by 250 delegates representing sixty of the important commercial and industrial organizations of the country here yesterday. The meeting was held under the auspices of the Illinois Manufacturers' association. It was recommended that a committee of eleven be appointed to devise ways and means with full power to carry out the spirit of the resolution and test the constitutionality of the law, if deemed advisable. The sense of the meeting was also that the whole law should eventually be repealed.

POLICEMAN'S VICTIM AN INNOCENT MAN.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—Policeman Frank Madden killed an innocent man in mistake for a robber when he shot Bernard Sickowski Thursday, according to testimony given at the inquest. Joseph Kurpeski testified that the trouble, which brought Madden to the scene, was an assault upon himself by Joseph Kierstein, the man Madden thought was being robbed. The jury returned a verdict that Madden was "misled by circumstances" and exonerated him.

NEW LABOR LAW IS CAUSE OF TROUBLE.

Fall River, Mass., Jan. 15.—Operatives in several mills here went on strike yesterday because of dissatisfaction with wages unuer the new 56-hour law. The operatives lose two hours' earnings per week under the new schedule. Unless the differences are speedily adjusted, some mills will be forced to suspend operations. Committees were appointed by the strikers to confer with the management of the several mills. The law went into effect on Jan. 1, and has caused minor troubles at other Massachusetts points. Strikes have occured this week at Fitchburg, North Adams and elsewhere.

PARTY PEACE IS EXPECTED

Republican Factions in the House Have Made an Agreement.

Land Office Investigation Caucus May Pass Off Smoothly.

Washington, Jan. 15.—Peace is fairly in sight for the warring Republican factions of the house. A truce has been arranged and a more or less permanent peace in the Republican ranks is said to be assured.

The insurgents, gathered in the room of Representative Gardner of Massachusetts yesterday, issued a statement saying that "an understanding had been reached." A statement was given out by Representative Hayes as follows:

"It is true that an understanding has been reached that we shall attend the caucus about to be held for the choice of the Republican members of the investigating committee. The question of future conferences, however, is one on which there has been no agreement. In fact, I had no authority from my associates to enter into that question. Of course, this agreement in no way affects the issue as to the present system of control of the house of representatives."

Mr. Hayes was asked if the word "we" used in his statement meant all the insurgents in the house. He replied that it did, and that all of the insurgents concurred in the statement.

Democrats Plan Caucus.

The Democrats of the house announced that they would hold a caucus Saturday night to name the minority members of the committee to investigate the Ballinger-Pinchot affair. Representatives Ollie James of Kentucky, Slayden of Texas and Palmer of Pennsylvania were mentioned as possible nominees. The Democrats insist upon their right to name the minority members of the committee, and if the majority declines to allow it, there is a prospect of a Democratic-Republican insurgent alliance upon the question. The insurgents say they are contending merely for a fair committee.

A statement of Representative Dwight, the Republican whip of the house, concerning the reported understanding between the regulars and insurgents, included the following:

"Last Friday there was a vote in this house which caused a Republican division."

Refers to Norris Vote.

Mr. Dwight here referred to the vote on the Norris amendment, taking the appointment of the Ballinger-Pinchot investigation from the hands of Speaker Cannon and placing it with the house itself.

"That was a matter of no consequence and a small subject in which the people could have but little interest. But it showed a division in the party. The next day I saw President Taft and laid the matter before him.

"I told the president that the so-called insurgents were represented as being the friends and supporters of the administration and ready to help enact his recommendations into law. I assured the president that the regular Republicans of the house were ready to do likewise. We were prepared, also, to go into caucus upon any proposition and abide by the result. Were the insurgents ready to do the same?

"For the last two days conferences have been in progress, and those who differed from us last Friday are now ready to enter the caucus and abide by the decision reached there."

No Discrimination.

Mr. Dwight was asked if the insurgents had been given any definite assurance as to the treatment they would receive in caucus.

"No," replied he, "except that they have been assured of fair treatment. They will not be discriminated against."

LINK IN CHAIN OF WIRES IS REVEALED

Centralized Control of Telegraph Business Indicated in Action in New York.

New York, Jan. 15.—An unassuming petition of Vice President Charles C. Adams of the Postal Telegraph & Cable company for permission from the supreme court of this state to change the name of his company to the Trans-continental Telegraph company, has revealed facts which point directly toward a centralized control of the entire telegraph business of the country.

"Some years ago," said Mr. Adams in his affidavit, "the Postal company disposed of its telegraph business to the New England Telegraph company, which has continued the business in the name of the Postal."

Under One Control.

The New England company is controlled by the American Telephone & Telegraph company, which owns a majority of its stock as well as a majority of the stock of the Western Union Telegraph company, which it acquired recently by purchase from the Gould estate.

At the time of this sale, Clarence H. Mackay, president of the Postal Telegraph company, came out with a statement, in which he insisted that competition between the various telegraph companies was still a very real actuality. It is admitted, however, that the Mackay companies, which own the Postal system, is also the largest single holder of the stock of the American Telephone & Telegraph company.

These holdings amount to $10,000,000, and under the conditions of modern corporate management, are understood to constitute an effective working control.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 15.—The Postal Telegraph & Cable company today certified to the secretary of state that it intends to change its name to the Trans-continental Telegraph company.

WILL BE REWARDED FOR SNOW-BALLING TRAIN.

Trenton, Mo., Jan. 15.—More than 100 people, who snowballed a Burlington passenger coach during the wreck on the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific near here, Dec. 31, in an effort to save the company property, are to be rewarded. While one of the coaches was burning, Col. W. F. Carpenter, president of the Missouri Auction school, suggested the snowballing plan. Col. Carpenter has received a letter from Supt. Pasley assuring him that all who took part in the work would be rewarded.

ARE DOING GOOD WORK

Efforts of Commercial Clubs of State Are Getting Results.

Conservation the Principal Theme at Recent State Convention.

Maj. H. V. Eva returned today from the third annual convention of the Minnesota Federation of Commercial clubs, held in the reception room of the mayor's office in the Minneapolis courthouse, Thursday and Friday.

"The meeting showed clearly the good work that is being done throughout the state by the federated clubs," said Maj. Eva. "Particularly is the work in the rural communities bearing fruit. One delegate reported that in his county the corn yield has been increased from an average of thirty-four bushels to the acre to an average yield of over eighty bushels, directly through the agricultural work that has been carried on through the federation of clubs.

"Conservation of the resources of the state was the principal matter discussed at the meeting, and the reports of the delegates showed that a splendid work is being done along this line.

"Governor A. O. Eberhart made a splendid address and showed plainly that he is in hearty sympathy with the work. Experts in the work that is being done by the several branches of the federation addressed the meetings and gave valuable information."

Maj. Eva stated that the good work of the Duluth Commercial club in the northern part of the state was recognized at the meeting. He also stated that the meeting was an inspiration for renewed effort in the work that is being carried on by the federation.

Following are the officers of the federation, and the executive committee, representing the nine congressional districts of the state: D. M. Neil, president; F. E. Wade, first vice president; Andrew Davis, second vice president; W. L. Brooks, third vice president; F. J. Meyst, treasurer; C. L. Mosher, secretary.

Executive committee—Dr. Brown, Stillwater, First district; S. B. Nelson, Luverne, Second district; W. A. Silvright, Hutchinson, Third district; J. H. Mitchell, St. Paul, Fourth district; W. G. Nye, Minneapolis, Fifth district; R. R. Wise, Brainerd, Sixth district; F. W. Murphy, Wheaton, Seventh district; H. V. Eva, Duluth, Eighth district; Thomas J. Brown, Bemidji, Ninth district.

IN THE DAY'S WORK AT WASHINGTON

Express Companies Get It.

Arraigning the express companies for making enormous profits on an infringement of the government's right to monopoly of transporting mail, and criticising the postoffice department for surrendering that right, Representative Murdock of Kansas introduced a long resolution calling on the pastmaster-general for information.

"For many years," says Mr. Murdock, "the postoffice department has been surrendering its monopoly on the transportation of packet mail matter under authority of a regulation footnote apparently based on an unpublished letter to Postmaster-General James from Attorney-General MacVeagh in 1881, declaring that 'packets' meant packages of letters."

The resolution says that while the postoffice department last year had a deficit of $17,000,000, the Wells-Fargo Express company distributed nearly $25,000,000 in dividends, and that the government's failure to exercise monopoly in transporting mail is enriching the express companies.

Saves Inauguration Scheme.

An unexpected early adjournment of the house probably saved from defeat the Henry resolution, proposing an amendment to the Constitution, changing the date of presidential inauguration. Led by Representative Perkins of New York, the opponents of the resolution showed evidences of unsuspected strength. The resolution was vigorously defended by Representativ : Parker of New Jersey, Henry of Texas, and Goebel of Ohio. On the other hand, Representatives Stafford of Wisconsin, Campbell of Kansas, Harrison of New York, Driscoll of New York, Craig of Alabama, Lindbergh of Minnesota, and Sissons of Mississippi, spoke strongly against it.

Taft Strong for Pensions.

President Taft gave his formal indorsement to the movement for civil service pension system in an address at the executive offices of the White House to members of the Civil Service Retirement association, who appeared before him in formidable numbers. In addition to expressing his sympathy with the movement, the president said that while he had done all he could in that direction by his recommendations to congress, he would still retain an interest in the matter and, in so far as he possibly could, take measures to influence the legislative body in favor of some suitable system for caring for those who retire from the government's service.

REPORTS ON CARS.

Railway Association Issues Fortnightly Bulletin on Situation.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—The general railroad situation indicates a lessened demand for cars, according to the fortnightly bulletin of the American Railway association. The grand totals show a decrease in the surplus of 6,045 and in the shortage of 10,161. This apparent contradiction is due to the fact that the showing made by the totals hardly indicates the true condition, as two roads in the Northwest failed to get reports in early enough for the bulletin. The Canadian group is the only one that shows a decrease in the surplus.

The most notable change is in the North Atlantic group where a surplus of 1,482 and a shortage of 8,680 in the last bulletin is changed to a surplus of 7,131 and a shortage of 1,476. This is due, apparently, to a general slackening of business of the tidewater coal roads.

Give Cherry $35,000 More.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—At a meeting of a group of prominent business men, called by John G. Shedd, $35,000 was pledged to be added to the fund now in the treasury of the Red Cross society for the relief of the Cherry mine disaster sufferers.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY.

Religious contention is the devil's harvest.
—La Fontaine.

THE FOLLY OF VIOLENCE.

Speaking at a dinner given in his honor by the American minister in Havana the other day, Mr. Bryan said:

> Resort to violence is always deplorable and will, I think, become less frequent as civilization advances. As man rises in intelligence and morals reason will more and more be substituted for force and violence in the settlement of difficulties. The day will come when the world will see the folly of the doctrine that you can justly settle a difference of opinion by shooting a man who may differ with you. There is a growing acceptance of representative government, and a fundamental doctrine of representative government is acquiescence in the will of the majority. That was the doctrine taught by Jefferson, the greatest exponent of representative government who ever lived, and it is necessary to the existence of all republics.

Mr. Bryan then justly claimed the right to talk that way by virtue of his peaceful acquiescence in the defeats inflicted upon him by the American people in his several candidacies for the presidency.

The Springfield Republican says of his speech: "It was the best Mr. Bryan ever delivered. It was the best because it was the truest and at the same time the most needed by his audience. No other American could have said the same thing with equal force, because no other American could have embodied in his own person so pointed an illustration of the truth which the speech conveyed."

It was a good speech, and it was made in the right place. Mr. Bryan was on his way to South America, and there he will find more good places to make that same speech. If Mr. Bryan and his followers had treated representative government in the way it is treated by defeated parties in the Spanish-American republics, they would have organized a revolution in 1896, after the vote had been canvassed, would have spilled some precious American blood, and would have been properly whipped and disciplined. That is the way it is done in South America, and that is the way it has been done in Cuba.

But the speech is valuable not alone to fiery South American politicians who resort to violence and revolution to further their political ambitions. "The day will come," he said, "when the world will see the folly of the doctrine that you can justly settle a difference of opinion by shooting a man who may differ with you." The world already has, pretty generally, come to that conclusion so far as private disputes are concerned. It is no longer considered respectable to resort to knives or revolvers, or even fists, to settle a dispute between individuals. In such cases the law steps in and calls a halt.

The next step will be to apply that same reasonable view to disputes between nations and between employers and employes. When two men disagree and one shoots the other, it doesn't settle anything except whether the victim is to live any longer or not, and that had nothing whatever to do with the dispute. One was right and the other was wrong,—or maybe both were right or both were wrong,—but whatever the truth, it is still the truth in spite of the murder. When nations disagree and go to war, the strongest and the one with most endurance wins. Millions of money and thousands of lives are wasted; but it doesn't affect the rights of the controversy in the slightest degree. When employer and employes disagree about working conditions and resort to strike or lockout, the side that is strongest and best equipped wins, regardless of justice. In the meantime employers lose profits, employes lose wages, and the public suffers more injury than both put together.

Some day, as Mr. Bryan says, reason and not violence will settle the differences in human opinions, which, being human, always will differ.

DISHONEST ARGUMENT.

The protective tariff is on the defensive in this country for the first time in its history; but that fact does not seem to have made its advocates any more reasonable or honest. In fact it has, if anything, made them more unreasonable and more dishonest.

For instance, a Western newspaper, as fixed in its standpatism as Aldrich, quotes some figures on the agricultural wages paid in England, and adds: "It is worthy of note that these wages are for current times, and in England. In periods when business was not so good as at the present time wages were lower than now. If we cross the channel to the continent we will find all these schedules lower in France and Germany and still lower in Belgium, Italy and Austria. Let any intelligent American compare these rates with those prevailing in our own country, and ask whether we can afford to lower the tariff barriers against goods produced on such wage scales as we have given above. Can it be done without lowering the wage scales in this country to about a level with those quoted?"

In this day, the use of such arguments as that argues a belief on the part of their user that the public intelligence is very low, and that the public almost wholly lacks information. It is, indeed, nothing short of an insult to put forth such an argument for the beguilement of such a public as that of the United States.

It sounds like argument to say that laborers in England get $87 to $121 a year, while laborers in this country get nearly twice as much; but it isn't argument. What really counts is the purchasing power of wages, and as Zach McGhee showed in his illuminating correspondence to The Herald from Great Britain last summer, the worker has a greater balance left at the end of the year in free trade England than he has in high tariff America.

Wages in England may be not much more than half those in the United States; but the dishonesty of using that alone as an argument is made clear by the fact that bread in England, made from American wheat and even from American flour, costs only one-third as much as it does in Duluth.

It will be noted that wages are lower still in Germany, France and Belgium than they are in England; yet this standpat newspaper of course neglects to state that not one of these countries or one of the others it names, is a free trade country. All have customs duties, and several of them use the tariff as a measure of protection; but not one of them abuses it as grossly as it is abused in this country. Wages in England are low, and they are lower in France, Germany and Belgium; yet the average comfort and prosperity of the masses in these latter three countries is vastly greater than it is in the United States. Belgium, where the wages are the lowest of all, has a greater distribution of prosperity than any other country in Europe. Its people are thrifty, contented, and with large savings bank accounts. Why is this when wages are so low? Because the purchasing price of a day's wages in these countries, small though the wages seem compared with ours, is vastly greater than the purchasing price of a day's wages in this country; thanks to a protective tariff which grinds the poor for the profit of the rich.

WICKED PARENTAL KINDNESS.

A young man died the other day in most disgraceful circumstances, and he died shamefully because he never had had a fair chance to make anything of himself.

A child of the poor, you say, who was hampered by poverty? No; there was no such luck for him. He was a child of the rich, and he was hampered not by poverty, but by wealth, and by the mistaken kindness of a father who let him have all the money he wanted to spend.

This young man died at 26, of heart disease superinduced by intoxication, and his deathbed was in a brothel. Apparently he had been a lad of good parts and fair promise. He was intelligent, had been well educated, and he should have made a good deal of himself. Why didn't he?

Well, when he was 21 years of age, five years ago, his proud father gave him a check for $100,000. He proceeded to spend it, because he had nothing else to do and as his father was very rich he knew he would never need to work. He spent this fortune very rapidly, and all he got out of it was a reputation as a "spender." When it was gone he got more. His father had made money easily and quickly, and as he had had a hard struggle when he was young, he proposed that his son should have it easier. He did have it easier, that son. The path to destruction and the grave was smoothed for him by a liberal father, and he lost no time in getting there.

In 1907 this young man invited a few friends in for a dinner that cost $20,000. Gold and diamond sleeve buttons were given to his guests. At the dinner that celebrated his twenty-first birthday he gave away pearl necklaces costing several hundred dollars each to his guests. Apparently his father beamed with approval over this liberality, for no check seems to have been put upon the lad, and when his money was gone he got more.

What could you expect of a boy so handicapped in life? If he had been born poor, and had remained poor until he won his fortune, he would have had a fair show. As it was he never had a show at all, and while he can by no means be relieved of all personal blame for his career, it is an open question whether his too kind father was not more to blame than he.

If we may be pardoned for quoting ourselves, the other day The Herald said, speaking of the beneficiaries of special privilege: "By their abuse of the rich profits of their legalized privateering they have established a scale of living that has corrupted and brutalized themselves and their sons." Here is a case in point.

Many a too kind parent is terribly cruel to his child by strewing his pathway in life with roses. It is kindly meant, but it is a wicked kindness. Few boys come to good who are not taught the value of money and compelled to make their lives worth living by useful effort. Self-development must be in the forge of adversity and hard work. When loving parents remove all need of hard work and all danger of adversity they condemn their children, in a great majority of cases, to deadlier perils than those of poverty. The boy who is not taught the worth of money and the value of hard work is a boy put out in life with a heavy handicap; and it is no wonder that such a handicap drags many such boys down to dismal ends like that related above.

GOVERNOR HUGHES TO THE RESCUE.

If almost anybody but Governor Hughes of New York had raised the issue that he did against the income tax amendment, it would have been forgotten in a day. But Governor Hughes has given the opponents of the income tax just what they had been looking for most anxiously—a colorable excuse for opposition from a respectable source. So in the campaigns in the various states for and against the income tax amendment nobody will be permitted to forget that in his message to the New York legislature Governor Hughes opposed the adoption of the amendment on the ground that because it authorizes congress to impose a tax on incomes "from whatever source derived," congress may tax the income from state bonds.

With all due respect to Governor Hughes—and we have a great deal of respect for him—this reasoning is far-fetched and greatly strained. His opinion that the amendment in its present form authorizes congress to tax the income from state bonds is merely his personal opinion, and though he is a good lawyer other lawyers, just as good, disagree with him. Even granting that he is right, however, the mere conferring upon congress of the right to tax such incomes does not mean that congress will tax them. Indeed, the probability is the other way. Senators and representatives in congress represent the states and the people of the states, and they are very unlikely to authorize the Federal government to tax the income from state bonds.

Yet even though all that Governor Hughes has said were true, and even though congress, under the amendment in its present form, were compelled to tax the income from state bonds, it would be better to have it so than to have no income tax.

The attitude of Governor Hughes is not important because of its reason or its process of reasoning. It is important solely because a man of his character has opposed the adoption of the income tax. His opposition will be used industriously in all the states by those who oppose the income tax because their own incomes are threatened.

The greatest vigilance on the part of these who believe in fair taxation will be necessary to prevent this incident from clouding the issue. The issue is not whether the amendment authorizes congress to tax the income from state bonds; it is not whether, if it is so authorized, congress will do it; it is not whether the supreme court would uphold its action if it did, though there is small question that it would not: the issue is whether the burden of taxation shall remain upon those who now pay according to their needs and not according to their ability to pay, or be transferred to those best able to bear the burden. The tarriff tax rests heavily upon the masses of the people, and nine-tenths of it goes not to the government, but to Special Privilege. The income tax will shift the burden upon those who are able to bear it, and it will tax them according to their ability to pay and according to the benefits they derive from a government framed to protect them in their enjoyment of property rights.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

As the president says himself, his message upon conservation is practically an epitome of the recommendations of Secretary Ballinger, already made public; and the phrase evidently is brought in conspicuously to show the president's confidence in a member of his cabinet who sadly needs indorsement because he lacks public confidence almost entirely. Like other public statements from the president, this message is almost what the situation calls for, but greatly weakened by qualification, indirections and surplus verbiage. Associated as he is with forces that are certain to oppose anything that really threatens Special Privilege and promises to preserve the people's rights, and being in a fair way to alienate the forces in his party upon which progressive legislation depends, the merit of the president's recommendations is greatly weakened by the maladroit tactics he has been led into adopting.

A POOR BIRD IN THE HAND.

The teacher had just replied to a greeting from a bright looking young man who was driving a delivery wagon. As he walked on, he said: "It puzzles me why parents so often let their boys make the mistake that young fellow has made, and which so many others like him are making. In school that lad was one of the brightest. I looked for something from him, and here he is, five years after, driving a team for probably $12 a week. The trouble is that too many boys, and too many parents, too, look too much at the immediate earning capacity, and too little into the future. That particular boy had a choice between going into a business where he could have learned something and got ahead, but where the pay offered was only $3 a week, and driving a team for $9 a week with nothing ahead; and he took the $9 rather than the $3."

There is something in that for boys and parents of boys to think about. Nine dollars looks bigger than $3, and sometimes it is; in this case it isn't. A bird in the hand is sometimes worth two in the bush, but not in this case.

To illustrate the point, take two imaginary lads, each 15 years old. They had just left the grammar schools because their parents were not able to keep them going through high school. They must go to work, not only to help pay their way, but to begin their careers.

Both lads had two offers. There was a place open in an establishment where a trade is to be learned, but only $3 a week is paid to beginners. There was also open a job paying $9 a week, but with little or no chance for advancement.

Now $3 a week will hardly pay for even a boy's keep, and $9 a week will. It might be that the pressure of poverty is such in many cases as to eliminate freedom of choice. That is a pitiful state of affairs, but it was not the situation in the cases under discussion. The families of both boys were poor, but both were able, by squeezing a bit, to start the boys learning a trade.

One boy, after conferring with his parents, decided to take the $9 a week. That was a lot of money to him, and it helped out the family receipts very noticeably. It was a lot of money to the other boy, too, and it would have helped his family meet the problem of living. But his parents wished him to learn a trade or business, so they decided that he should take the $3 job.

Ten years later, the boy that took the $9 job is still in the same place. He is good at it, for he had natural ability, and his wages have been raised. He is now getting $12 a week. But there is nothing whatever ahead of him unless he changes his occupation, and the other boy has ten years the start of him.

The boy that started in at $3 a week ten years ago learned a trade and learned it well. He wasn't an apprentice very long. In a few years he became a journeyman. Then he was put in charge of his department of the work. Now, at 25, he is in a fair way to become superintendent, and his wages are three times what the other boy is getting. His prospects are good if he stays where he is, and he has a knowledge of his trade that qualifies him for setting up for himself, which he is thinking of doing.

A bird in the hand isn't always the best choice; sometimes the two in the bush are worth going after.

THE OPEN COURT.

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about live topics of general interest. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

FAIR PLAY FOR DULUTH ARCHITECTS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

The position of Duluth architects as treated by Duluth business men, taxpayers and citizens has become manifest in most of our Duluth structures. Duluth architecture in general is conglomerated to a great extent, and most of our buildings, so called, are mere ideas of the "just as good" and "will serve the purpose for the least money" type. Lack of system in proper competitions in our first-class buildings, under first-class supervision, by a competent adviser, is responsible for most of our antiquated conceptions of buildings erected along severe and "unsuited to the site" lines. Duluth is very short in quantity and quality of first-class fireproof, well planned, lighted and ventilated buildings designed on modern lines. Prospective owners should well consider the advantages of competition in all lines, the responsibility of those competing from the executive standpoint, with the view of making the investment conservative and getting the best for the money expended.

Duluth architects as a body have not been given the best of the city work by any means, but, contrary to this motive, owners have preferred to pay more in most cases and take the same chances that they would have to take at home, but the owners building these buildings expect to rent to Duluth people and get returns on their investment from Duluth citizens, and most of them have been known to have made their money in this locality.

I will ask the reader what would happen to these selfsame owners of buildings and property if the tables were turned. Who would have a kick coming if this condition existed?

Duluth contractors have a few kicks to make on the methods which have been adopted on some of Duluth's best jobs, and still they are an organization peacefully inclined. It has been demonstrated that when they have been given half a show on making bids for the best class of work that they could build from 15 to 20 per cent less than outside talent on the same class of construction. It seems to the writer that owners should have considerable patience with local talent if this amount is saved.

As nearly as the writer can estimate, approximately $100,000 has left the city in architects' fees and $1,500,000 in building contracts. These items are astonishing in their facts, and this estimate is the minimum amount only for the last two years.

Competition for plans for large structures should be encouraged by owners in Duluth the same as existing conditions in Chicago and all cities of any size. These competitions are regulated by the owners selecting a competent adviser, should a large building be contemplated, and extending invitations to those whom he wishes to compete, local men being given a preference, and stating what will be paid for plans.

There are two methods operated successfully. One is to have a program having a plat attached setting forth the limits under the architects to work out, submitting an estimate of cost and time of erection, and this is submitted under a nom-de-plume, the architects not being known. The owner reserves the right to reject all plans and designs. However, he must pay prizes for first, second and third should he abandon the work. If he should be pleased with the work submitted, he can award the work to the first prize firm and use any ideas which the second and third prize might have under the terms of the competition. The other method is more desirable. Plans are submitted by the competitor and he has so many minutes to explain his desirable points, and the architects are known; then the plans are left to the owner to consider, and he is left in confusion as to which to select, as the explanation gets tiresome and he then must consider the plans the same as the first method. However, these methods bring forth the best of ability in arrangement of plan and the best of design.

Your local architects would feel as though they were given an opportunity on the projects. At least the writer believes that more satisfaction would exist in the building lines and to all concerned.

The question with prospective owners should be: Who can prepare the most complete and practical plans, giving the best of attention to the work, for the architect's standard price of 5 per cent of the total cost, and not give consideration to poorly gotten up plans and specifications gotten up on the basis of "well, it was cheap"? as this economy proves to be expensive, as everyone connected with the building is at sea as to how the building should be put together to make a perfect building. You cannot get much for little or nothing, and this seems to be the principle of a great many prospective owners.

The writer wishes to thank our newspapers for the space given to good architecture and in getting the people educated in what real good architecture is.

AN ARCHITECT, CITIZEN AND TAXPAYER.

Duluth, Jan. 14.

DR. WALLING'S ATTITUDE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In your issue of Jan. 13 your correspondent reports that I had on hand twenty gallons of liquors which the Indian agents destroyed. The correct amount is about seven gallons.

He also said I was one of the leaders in the Prohibition movement here. While I have always been a temperance and even Prohibition man, I have in no way been connected with the temperance movement here. My only desire is that the vicious use of spirits might cease, and in the meantime I am willing to stand on a square footing. Very truly yours,

P. A. WALLING.

THE WEATHER.

The drop in temperature last night was just enough to save the weather man from the wrath of the curlers, and conditions today are perfect for the sport. It is just cold enough to make keen ice, and not too cold to be uncomfortable. The weather man looks for cloudy weather tonight, with slightly milder temperatures.

A year ago today it was 8 deg. below zero.

The sun rose this morning at 7:49, and will set at 4:46, making eight hours and fifty-six minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"The Ohio valley storm has advanced to the North Atlantic coast. During the past twenty-four hours it caused light to heavy snow or rain along the Atlantic seaboard and over the southern lake region and Upper Ohio valley. Somewhat colder weather has set in from the Mississippi valley eastward to the Atlantic coast, as a result of a high pressure area that has moved its center from Nebraska to Lake Huron. Zero temperature prevails in Northern Michigan and South Central and Northeastern Wisconsin. Disturbances centered over Saskatchewan and off the Oregon coast are causing warmer weather in the Middle West and Rocky mountains, but colder weather has developed in Saskatchewan and Alberta attending rising pressures in those provinces.

"A little milder temperature may be expected at the Head of the Lakes tonight."

Following were the maximum temperatures for the last twenty-four hours and the minimum for the last twelve ending at 7 a. m.:

The Error of Apology.

Good Mrs. Brown a dinner party gave one night for them.
And she'd arranged a splendid dinner, too;
But the moment all were seated she looked sadly at the men
And murmured, "Oh, I don't know what to do;
Somehow, things have turned out badly;
there are things I've overlooked;
There are dishes burned, I'm fearful, and some dishes undercooked."
And she kept apologizing till the guests at last declared
That a really splendid dinner had been wofully prepared.

Now Arthur Green was called on for a speech not long ago.
A chance that Arthur Green was glad to get,
For he had an honest message, something men would like to know.
'Twas a speech that, hearing, no one would regret.
But Arthur started out this way: "I cannot make a speech;
I'm really not an orator, the art's beyond my reach.
I'm afraid that I shall bore you, I'm afraid I'll weary you."
Though his speech was really clever, all were glad when he got through.
Now, in this world of ours there are a legion Mrs. Browns,
And Arthur Greens on every hand we know.
They spoil their own productions by the largeness of their frowns,
And flaws that never would be seen they show.
They begin apologizing for the work they're going to do,
And they make us all distrustful and before they're really through
We've decided they are failures, for we only see their flaws
That they pointed out to start with—thus they miss the world's applause.

Young man, if you are going to do a deed that's worth you while,
Step up before the world and do your best.
Don't pave the way for failure or give men a chance to smile
By regretting you are not equal to the test,
Don't apologize for efforts that may feeble be or lame,
Don't say that there are others who could better do the same;
Display a bit of confidence in what you're going to do
And the world will very quickly put some confidence in you.

In the Firelight.

The fire upon the hearth is low,
And there is stillness everywhere,
While, like winged spirits, here and there
The firelight shadows flutter go,
And as the shadows 'round me creep,
A childish treble breaks the gloom,
And softly from a further room
Comes, "Now I lay me down to sleep."

And somehow, with that little prayer
And that sweet treble in my ears,
My thoughts go back to distant years
And linger with a loved one there.
And as I hear the child's Amen,
My mother's faith comes back to me;
Crouched at her side I seem to be,
And mother holds my hand again.

O, for an hour in that dear place!
O, for the peace of that dear time!
O, for that childish trust sublime!
O, for a glimpse of mother's face!
Yet, as the shadows 'round me creep
I do not seem to be alone—
Sweet magic of that treble tone
And "Now I lay me down to sleep."
—Eugene Field.

SATURDAY NIGHT TALK

Worth Reading.

We get no good
By being ungenerous men to a book
And calculating profits—so much help
By such reading. It is rather when
We gloriously forget ourselves and plunge
Soul forward, headlong in a book profound,
Impassioned for its beauty and salt of truth.
'Tis then we get the right good from a book. —Mrs. Browning.

Before the year gets any older I want to put in a plea for more attention to the vital books. We are nearly swamped with periodical literature. Much of the material in the pages of a good magazine is interesting, stimulating, profitable. Moreover editors and publishers are becoming past masters in the art of presenting their goods in a style that arrests the eye and pleases the artistic sense. Yet we may easily waste good time in simply skimming lightly over the latest monthlies or indeed in reading with avidity their fascinating features. What we need in this as in all other matter affecting our best life is the sense of proportion plus the courage that will lead us to choose the better and the best instead of the good.

And with a view to encouraging some persons to take up a book on some of the occasions when they would instinctively turn to a newspaper or magazine, I venture to name a few volumes out of the multitude recently issued. What in this last season's tremendous output of books is really worth while; I cannot give an adequate or exhaustive reply to this question but out of personal knowledge I can recommend confidently at least half a dozen.

At the head of the list I would put Henry M. Stanley's noble autobiography. I happen to know that the staff of a leading New York literary syndicate has recently concurred in the judgment that this book is not only the greatest book of the year but the greatest book ever published. That may be too high praise but if you once dip into this thrilling story of a masterly life you will lay it down with reluctance for it depicts a career and a character that have seldom been approximated in the annals of the race. Read it to see what a workhouse boy can make of himself by sheer pluck and persistence, to see how when manhood he felt the wonderful leadings of God.

Another book of the reminiscent order is that of Dr. Washington Gladden, in which he tells simply, but forcibly, the story of his long and fruitful life as author, preacher and reformer. The account is also an epitome of the stirring events of the last fifty years in this country, and shows how a genuinely religious man conceives of his responsibilities and his opportunities as a citizen. Read the book and catch the contagion of its cheery optimism.

Still another unveiling of a large personality is the volume by Rev. Dr. William Newton Clarke, one of the leading teachers of theology in America, entitled "Sixty Years With the Bible." If you have thrown away the theory of verbal inspiration and with it any regular reading of the Bible; if for any other reason you are ignorant of the value and the helpfulness of the Bible when approached in the full light of modern scholarship, read this book of Dr. Clarke to find out what a divine book it is. He has greatly modified his childhood view of the Scripture, and he is a believer in reverent higher criticism, but he has gone on from decade to decade to find in the Bible deeper treasures under the new conception than under the old.

Dr. Grenfell's "A Man's Faith" is entirely different, but it is a fit companion to these other three books. In it the intrepid Laborador missionary tells what he believes and why. A masculine note pervades the little book, which can be read in an hour, and which has already made over more than one of its many readers in this country and England. Read it to feel the salt and spray of the Atlantic, and to realize how rational and beautiful and dynamic a simple faith in Christ is.

Four of the season's books. Any one of them, if we heed Mrs. Browning's words and are sufficiently "generous" to it, will brace us morally and spiritually. The four together make a valuable library of religion.

THE PARSON.

A MOMENT WITH THE WITS.

Chicago News: Sire—What becomes of all the money you get from me?
Son—I give it up, dad.

Philadelphia Record "I understand you have a new president down in your republic," said the Philadelphian.
"Not at all," retorted the Central American; "we have had the same president for six weeks."

Buffalo Express: "What is the motto of our nation?" asked the newcomer.
"'Step lively, please,'" answered his American friend.

New York Sun: Stella—Know anything about the English budget?
Bella—Yes; papa says he won't buy me a lord till he knows where they are at.

Houston Post: "I just can't sleep."
"Why don't you try reading the president's message?"
"I don't need sleep that badly."

Judge: America's Cup (meeting Sir Thomas Lipton on the street)—Give us a lift, guvnor, will yer?
Sir Thomas—Sorry, old chap, but my elevator isn't running yet.

Philadelphia Record: Blobbs—No, I shall never marry.
Slobbs—But you don't seem like a woman hater. In fact, you seem very fond of the fair sex.
Blobbs—Yes, and I talk in my sleep.

Washington Star: "Do you ever find it desirable to oppose your wife?"
"Yes," answered Mr. Meekton. "I always feel less likely to annoy Henrietta if I can avoid being her partner in a bridge game."

Washington Herald: "I have a good position to offer a worthy college graduate. I presume you have some fine young man in your senior class?"
"Sure," said the professor. "What are your requirements? Would a football player suit you, or do you prefer a mandolin expert?"

Brooklyn Life: Miss Rogers—How did you imagine anything so beautiful as the angel in your picture?
Artist—Got an engeged man to describe his fiancee to me.

Chicago Tribune: "You don't know what that's a picture of, Johnny?" said Mrs. Lapsling, in a tone of reproof. "You ought to read your ancient history more. That is the temple of Dinah at Emphasis."

Philadelphia Record: A stranger in Milwaukee, seeing an Irishman at work in the street, asked him what was the population of the town. "Oh, about 40,000," was the reply.
"Forty thousand. It must certainly have more than that," said the visitor.
"Well," said the Irishman, "it wud be about 275,000 if ye were to count the Dutch."

Reflections of a Bachelor.

New York Press: Freckles are worse to a woman than knock knees, because they show.

A man's idea of patriotism is getting speechless with rage over a public question.

Even a man who can get along with his own sister sometimes can't do it with his wife.

A generous act makes a man so proud of himself he is then fit to do most any mean thing.

The dickens about marriage is it teaches you so many things you ought to have known before, so you wouldn't have done it.

The president has sent to the senate the nomination of Charles F. Johnson to be collector of customs for the district of Duluth, succeeding H. B. Moore, who resigned recently.

Representative Comstock has been requested to make recommendations for the land office at Duluth. The commissioner wants a change, and he personally recommends Sheldon L. Frazier of the firm of Osborne & Frazier, Duluth, who will probably be named for one of the places.

Many residents at Rice's Point are endeavoring to have August Rubolz announce himself as a candidate for the mayoralty.

The Duluth Globe, Charles B. King's Democratic paper, will make its appearance Sunday morning.

The Rtd Wing, Duluth & Sioux City Construction company has elected officers. One of the directors is R. S. Munger of Duluth.

Theodore Bruno has repurchased an interest in the steamer Bruno, that ferries between Rice's Point and West Superior. He and Mr. Green, his partner, have purchased the steamer Mayflower, a Detroit boat, for $8,000, and will run both boats.

The Jean Du Lhut Land company has held its annual meeting and elected the following officers: D. G. Cash, William Craig, W. W. Sanford, James C. Howard, Charles P. Craig, directors; D. G. Cash, president; C. P. Craig, vice president; James B. Howard, secretary; F. W. Paine, treasurer.

Henry Musolf and John Dalinska of Rice's Lake, bondsmen of the suicided treasurer, John Mylnarzek, have confessed judgment in favor of the school district in the sum of $1,000, the amount of Mylnarzek's shortage.

ABOUT THIRD TERMS

By SAVOYARD.

William H. Taft is a jurist, born and bred, the son of a great lawyer, and in the formative period of his public career, he was at the bar and on the bench. He was an honest lawyer, and as a judge he held the balance "right adjusted." A great big boy of a man, his fund of good humor and his store of broad Catholic charity are ever over flowing and ever inexhaustible. He is a Republican all right—no doubt of that—and the best of the lot, from my standpoint, who has held the office of president. Not so great a man as Lincoln, not so illustrious a man as Grant, perhaps not so able a man as Ben Harrison, he is yet what never was before—a Republican who is president of the South as well as of the North. And that is a great and a grand thing.

Mr. Taft has said that he intends to carry out the "Roosevelt policies," but they who have correctly observed the man know that when the Roosevelt policies and the law conflict, and that is not infrequent, if I know anything about it, this administration will uphold the law and let the Roosevelt policies slide. For example, President Taft is not going to suspend the law and grant indulgence to a monopoly like the steel trust, to absorb its chief rival and practically only rival, like the Tennessee Coal & Iron company. Mr. Taft will not hurl the lie in the face of a man like Alton B. Parker, when the ink is not yet dry on a letter beginning, "My Dear Harriman." In the first place, our new president is not given to epithet. In the second place, he would not write the Harriman letter at all.

And it is the difference in the training and the characters of William H. Taft and Theodore Roosevelt that is the occasion of this talk or suggestion that if Taft stands by Ballinger and ignores Pinchot, they will dent Taft renomination in 1912 and set up Roosevelt again. Now these fellows can go on with their conspiracy, for this administration is going to be bound by the law, something that the last administration held in positive contempt when it conflicted with the vanity or interest of Theodore Roosevelt, which it constantly did.

It is remarked that during the winter of 1911-12, the political scenes of 1879-80 will be measurably repeated in this town, when C. S. Grant was on the last lap of his swing around the circle, and both parties in congress were busy hunting a man to be president. It was my first winter in Washington, and there was more president-making here than I have seen during all the winters I have spent here since—more in two parties.

But the situation then was far different from what it will be in 1912. R. B. Hayes was installed as president of the United States; but there was not a single voter of the Republican party—not even he himself—who hoped or desired that he be renominated, for such a thing would have made an electoral college in 1880 unanimously Democrat, whether we had discovered the wisdom to renominate the old ticket of Tilden and Hendricks or not.

John Sherman was the choice of the broad and latter brigade, and the Republican south professed to be solidly for him. He was secretary of the treasury and the virtual president. James G. Blaine as Stephen A. Douglas before him, was the candidate of Young America, and some of the "interests," and it is certain that he would have received the Republican nomination in 1876, if the "Mulligan letters" had not been exploited, and he had not had sunstroke. New England, or some of it, professed to be a little mugwumpish, and was for Ben Bristow of Kentucky, who had prosecuted to the penitentiary some of the minor culprits of the whisky ring. Other New Englanders were for Senator Edmunds, and Maine was solidly for Blaine. Then there was Windom, who had his lightning rod up and was really in some danger of being struck.

But the real Republican circus was the Grant third-term crowd. Conkling, who looked, and almost acted, Julius Cæsar, was the soul of it, and the "Old Guard" was his army. Don Cameron was then the boss of Pennsylvania, and John A. Logan was almost supreme in Illinois. Grant must have been a very great man to have inspired the loyalty to his fortunes he did in 1880, when he had not a single particle of present patronage to dispense, and I am sorry that the Democratic party cannot boast a band like the "306," the Tenth Legion of our politics.

Unfortunately, Matt. Carpenter was then in his last sickness, and died the following February. He, too, was a Grant man, and might have turned the scale at Chicago in favor of him had he been the vigorous man that he was when he pleaded for Tilden in the election contest of 1876-77. But Grant would have been nominated anyhow had not the opposition organized the convention, with Senator Hoar in the chair, and abolished the unit rule. When New York was called, during one of the thirty-six ballots, Conkling, the chairman of the delegation, though in his seat, failed to respond. Again and again and repeatedly the clerk called "New York." Finally Conkling rose.

Just to the north of the house of representatives in those days was a news stand, presided over by a very handsome Englishman. I had gone there to buy a magazine that day, and by my side were Page of California and Hazleton of Wisconsin, who subsequently elected Keifer, speaker of the house over Frank Hiscock and Tom Reed. This dialogue occurred between them: "By George, Page, who is going to put up the campaign fund for Garfield?"

"De Gollin, by God!" was the blunt and somewhat profane reply of Page, who had bet $1,000 an hour or two before that Grant would be nominated. De Gollin was the paving man; but let's not reopen that.

Things are different now. Taft is not Hayes, and Roosevelt is not Grant. Taft will have his party, or a big majority, behind him for renomination, and even if Roosevelt should contest it with him, Taft will beat him.

Nor is that all. Even if Roosevelt were nominated, not even the Democratic party could do enough fool things to elect him; for when this country once allows a third term, thereafter, all terms will be life terms.

If somebody that was fit for it should tell the true story and all of it about the Grant third term movement of 1880, it would be an interesting chapter.

CONSERVING THE PUBLIC HEALTH

A Scientific Movement to Make Life Longer Has Evolved Into A National Health Committee That Is Accomplishing Things.

By LEWIS E. PALMER

(Exclusive Service the Survey Press Bureau.)

While professor of economics at Yale, Dr. J. Pease Norton made a address that resulted in something more than its reprint in a tiresome convention volume. Dr. Norton was speaking on the advisability of a national health department and stated that while the department of agriculture spends $7,000,000 a year on plant health and animal health, congress does not appropriate directly with the exception of the work done by Doctors Wiley, Atwater and Benedict, a single cent for promoting the well being of babies.

"Thousands have been expended in stamping out cholera among swine. Not one dollar was ever devoted for eradicating pneumonia among human beings. Hundreds of thousands are consumed in saving the lives of elm trees from the attacks of beetles—in warning farmers against the blights affecting potato plants and in importing Sicilian bugs to fertilize fig blossoms in California."

Dr. Pease stated that 1,500,000 persons must die in the United States during the next twelve months—that equivalent to 4,200,000 persons will be constantly sick and that 5,000,000 homes consistin of 25,000,000 persons will be made more or less wretched by death and sickness.

In a great measure as a result of this speech, a committee on national health was organized. It really originated in the medical profession some twenty years ago but its recent reported success has been largely due to the reinforcement received from laymen. The tuberculosis crusade has now become largely a lay movement and to its success is doubtless due in part the growth and strength of the work for a national health bureau and this growth and strength is nowhere more forcibly indicated than in President Taft's message where he calls attention to the fact that "for a considerable period a movement has been gathering strength especially among the members of the medical profession in favor of a concentration of the instruments of the national government which have to do with the promotion of public health."

This public health organization, known as the Committee of One Hundred, consists of the leading health men in the United States outside of the medical profession, although a few physicians are also included, representing medical hygienic organizations.

It has expended nearly $50,000 in a campaign of education, and has distributed (forty-two) different publications. The total number of pieces of mail matter sent out is nearly 1,000,000. Newspaper clippings in the office of the committee in New Haven, nearly fill two enormous scrap books of 500 pages each. An equally important branch of publicity is that through the magazines, several of which give regular space to questions of health; and as a New York paper recently had it, one of the chief joys of the circulation manager's heart lies in the subscription possibilities of articles on tuberculosis, hook-worm, pellagra, cancer and other grim maladies.

It was largely through the work of the Committee of One Hundred that President Roosevelt added public health to his conservation program and invited the president of the committee to become a member of the conservation commission and to write a report on this aspect of conservation. His commission on country life also included public health questions in its report. It was undoubtedly partly as a consequence of this last report that Mr. Rockefeller was spurred to make his famous gift of 1,000,000 to eliminate the hook-worm disease on the Southern farms.

Recently the committee proposed to the Association of Life Insurance Presidents that it was just as essential to their interests to decrease death rates and lengthen life, as it was for fire insurance or boiler explosion insurance people to prevent fires and explosions. It was shown that over 40 per cent of the deaths which now occur could be postponed, at an enormous saving to life insurance companies. The life insurance presidents, as a result of the suggestion, have appointed a committee on "Human Life Extension." In the meantime the Metropolitan, the Provident Savings Life Assurance company and the New York Life Insurance company have made special efforts to preserve the health of their policy holders.

Of all the results thus far accomplished, the setting in motion of this great commercial interest on the side of health and longevity, is most important.

But the chief aim of the committee of 100 has been aside from direct education of the public or enlisting the cooperation of life insurance companies. It has aimed still higher—at the national government itself. Just as the department of agriculture has revolutionized the science of farming, so a bureau of health may revolutionize the science of human life.

There are still people who do not seem to realize that one of the chief effects of a strong federal health office will be not to decrease, but to increase the activity of the state and municipal boards of health. In fact, one of the purposes of a bill before congress is to enable the public health and marine hospital service to found a school of hygiene for the training of state and federal health officers. The ground work for public health legislation has already been laid through the formal indorsement of the movement by President Taft's predecessor, numerous congressmen, the governors of states, state legislatures, labor organizations, the National Grange, insurance and benefit organizations, such as the Associated Fraternities of America, medical and sanitary associations, such as the American Medical association, American Public Health association and a score of other patriotic societies, such as the National Municipal league and some chapters of the Daughters of the American Revolution. The entire membership of the associations which have passed resolutions favoring the objects of the committee of 100, is upward of 2,000,000.

Still more important is the political indorsement which has been received. The Ohio state legislature passed a special resolution favoring the establishment of a national bureau of health. The party platforms of some states—Ohio, Delaware and Connecticut—contained planks favoring such legislation, and to crown all, the national platforms of the Republican, Democratic and Independence league parties contained health planks, as recommended by the committee and its allies.

President Roosevelt advocated public health legislation in two of his messages to congress. President Taft has not alone indorsed the work of the committee, but he has also afforded in his last message to congress the strongest public health recommendation in the history of the country, and he has intimated that he would later send a special message to congress on the same subject. When this is done, it will be "up to congress."

The officers of the committee are: President, Prof. Irving Fisher, New Haven, Conn.; secretary, Edward T. Devine, New York; treasurer, Title Guarantee & Trust company, New York.

IN THE LITERARY WORLD

A CENTRAL BANK. By Robert Emmett Ireton, associate editor of the Wall Street Summary. New York: Anthony Stumpf Publishing company. $1.50 net.

From a viewpoint ardently favorable to the central bank plan, this is a very intelligent and informing treatise. First, there is a survey of the currency problem, with a statement of the defects of the present system; the heterogeneous character of the circulating medium and its inelasticity, the mild yearly panic caused by the demands of crop marketing, the fact that national bank notes, being based on government bonds, fluctuate in quantity according to the bond market, and not according to the demands of trade. Next is a description of a central bank as a great note-issuing institution, supplying an elastic currency carrying according to the needs of the country; maintaining an adequate gold supply through its regulation of foreign commerce; controlling the money market by regulation of the discount rate; and serving as a sanctuary for the banks in periods of alarm. The author believes that its central authority and responsibility, in place of the mob of thousands of banks subject to mob emotions, would insure peace and security.

Mr. Ireton describes interestingly the Bank of France, the Bank of England, the Imperial Bank of Germany and Canada's excellent system. Early banks of issue in this country are discussed, with a view to showing that their failure is no argument against the central bank plan now proposed. Both sides of the central bank controversy are presented, with all their arguments, weak and strong alike. The author scouts the fear that the bank would go under the control of the "interests"; the people wouldn't let it, he thinks. Yet the people let their government, in the matter of the tariff itself, get into the control of selfish greed. Would they do better with a central bank created by those same powers?

The volume concludes with a large selection of newspaper comments on Aldrich's central bank plan, in which suspicion of Aldrich and doubt of the benefit to the masses of anything he may propose are very conspicuous indeed.

THE PRIDE OF THE RANCHO. By Henry E. Smith. New York: J. S. Ogilvie Publishing company. $1.

This is a readable novel, based on the author's play of the same name. The scene is laid in the West, where two college men have gone in search of health, and have found it. The author, himself personally familiar with Indian character, tries to show the world that it is in error when he looks upon the American Indian only as a savage. He declares that most of the Indians, if fairly treated, have good, honest hearts. A pleasant romance is interwoven, and the narrative is plentifully supplied with dramatic incidents, though it is none too well written.

Of Books and Writers.

John Spargo has put the finishing touches on his Karl Marx: "His Life and Work," the labor of twelve years. B. W. Huebsch will publish the book in the spring. The author has had the aid of those of Marx's friends who survive, and the most active co-operation of Mme. Lafargue, the great Socialist's daughter, who lives in France. The book will be fully illustrated. Strangely enough, this will be the first important life of Marx, but perhaps this is the "psychological moment" for its publication.

It is a dangerous thing to give symbolical titles to novels. Miss E. B. Dewing, whose novel, "Other People's Houses" (Macmillan), has been so favorably received this fall, selected the title of the book as expressing very adequately the mental attitude of her heroine, who was compelled to derive the greater part of her enjoyment in life from her sympathy for others. Instead of her own cramped existence. It is not an over subtle idea; to most of those, indeed, who have read the book with thought and attention, it seems quite simple. Yet it seems to have puzzled more than one reviewer. One critic, indeed, frankly refused to look for any significance in the title at all, except the most material meaning possible. "The title is well-chosen," he says, "since the principal characters either have no homes of their own or seldom live in them; and in 'Other People's Houses' are at liberty to display those irresponsible eccentricities which form the chief features of the book." It is quite true that a large part of the action of the novel takes place in a large hotel, but Miss Dewing will probably be very much surprised to learn of this reason for the title.

The appearance of Miss Jane Addams' new book, "The Spirit of Youth and the City Streets" (Macmillan), has aroused very thoughtful discussion on the part of clergymen throughout the country. A week or so ago, at the Church of the Ascension on Fifth avenue, the Rev. Percy Grant took it as his text, and Dr. Parkhurst is equally convinced of the book's importance to all who are working for better social conditions. In their own fields, there are probably no more progressive workers among the clergy than Dr. Parkhurst and Mr. Grant. Of the book Dr. Parkhurst writes:

"It is enough to say that I read nearly the entire book at one sitting, and found it full of just such wise counsels and practical suggestions as one would expect would come from the mind and experience of Miss Addams. It has greatly strengthened the conviction which I already had that we are most of us slurring over quite too carelessly the need there is of satisfying more generously the play-impulse of the younger classes of our people."

Prof. Albert Bushnell Hart, the eminent historian and editor of "The American Nation," which was brought out in twenty-seven volumes by Harper & Brothers, is president of the American Historical association. Dr. Hart, speaking before the convention on the lapses from truth on the part of historians, which he termed "imagination in history," declared inaccuracy to be a grave evil of the day. "Even historical scholars are not without their failings, their prejudices, and their falsehoods," said the speaker, adding: "Is there no penal code for those who undertake to write history out of something other than the records? It is the duty of a sober and studious body like the American Historical society to dwell upon the strictly scientific character of history, to emphasize the fixed principles of research, and to warn the world against the consequences of unsound study and writing of history." Dr. Hart cited as some of the fallacious fancies of American history the sinless Pilgrim Fathers, who were out human beings, after all, the bloodthirsty piracy of John Paul Jones, and the Southern "cavalier."

Marcel Prevost, the distinguished French fictionist and man of letters, declares of the American woman, in the current Harper's Bazar, that curiosity is her chief intellectual characteristic. "When I sit down at the table beside an American woman of Paris she immediately asks me: 'Have you seen such and such a play? Have you been to such and such an exhibition? What do you think of this novel or of that philosophical or historical book recently published?' • • • And I am forced to admit that I have not seen the latest play, that for more than ten years I have not set my foot inside the annual 'salons'; that I read slowly and carefully and am therefore forced to read but few books. And I know my American neighbor feels great disdain for my inculture. • • • Still, I have infinite sympathy for her charming and universal intellectual curiosity; only long experience has taught me that a man's head cannot contain too many ideas at once. There is, consequently, an abyss between the way most American women I have met conceive intellectual culture and my own way. Far from me to pretend that I am right. And I give thanks to heaven which sends us, in the American women of Paris, the most wonderful public for books or theaters or lectures."

"Tower of Ivory," the title of Mrs. Atherton's forthcoming novel, which will be published by the Macmillans, is a phrase that goes far back into the past of literature. It goes so far back into the past of literature that its origin is unknown. It is quite true that Solomon used it in his songs, but there it had no relation to the meaning that it has since acquired—the inner temple of man, the soul in which he dwells alone. In this sense it is said that Plato used it, and in modern literature the phrase has been in continual use among the poets and more poetical of the prose writers. However that may be, it is a very different kind of title than the ones which Mrs. Atherton has chosen for her other works.

William Dean Howells remarks, in his final chapter in "Seven English Cities," his latest book of travel, that if one has moved in good English society one has no need ever to ask how a word is pronounced—"one pronounces it as one has always heard it pronounced." The sense of this, says Mr. Howells, gives the American a sort of despair, as of one who perceives that he never will be able to speak English. "The American has, for example, always said 'financier,' with the accent on the last syllable; and if he has consulted his Webster, he has found that there was no choice for him. Then when he hears it proonunced at Oxford by the head of a college with the accent on the second syllable and learns, on asking, that it is never otherwise accented in England, his head whirls a little, and he has a sick moment in which he thinks he had better let the verb 'to be' govern the accusative as the English do and be done with it, or cise telegraph for his passage home at once. Or stop!" Mr. Howells interrupts himself. "He must not 'telegraph,' he must 'wire.'"

Katherine Cecil Thurston, author of the memorable "The Masquerader," has completed a new novel called "Max." "Max" is running, as "The Masquerader" ran, as a serial in Harper's Bazar, and the author's devotees are therefore free to learn whether the new story will offer them anything of the thrill of that other about a man who looked so like another man that he was able to play husband to the other's wife without her knowing it. Certainly the situation in "Max," without in the least suggesting "The Masquerader," suggests a masquerade. Only this time the masquerading one is not a man.

Among the Magazines.

The young folks who delighted in Bradley Gilman's story of "A Son of the Desert" will welcome in the February St. Nicholas the first chapters of the author's new serial, "The Wizard of Morocco," which plunge Ted and his gallant Bedouin "Brother" into the heart of exciting and entirely new scenes and adventures promising plenty of fun and thrills. The February number has, seemingly, more than the usual amount of merry verse —mirth-provoking rhymes and mirth-provoking pictures on the Brownies in a hospital, "Queer Cargoes," "Little Dumpling Street," "The Dancing Kiwi," "The Happy Land of Yon," "The Lion Tamer's Little Boy," and others; and young and old will enjoy the Valentine page showing "The Postman's Trials in Animal Land."

A young duke wakes up one morning in London to find that he has no right to his title, his fortune nor his name. He makes a deal with the lawful holder, secures the use of the title for another year and sets out for America to win an heiress. With a year's time and ample money, he expects to turn the trick easily. This is the situation presented in Wegner Jay Mill's novelette, "Her Passionate Pilgrimage," published in the February Smart Set. The action is rapid and the various phases of New York society life to which the bogus young lord is presented are pictured with great interest and vigor of description. Of course the pretender comes a cropper, but the way in which it happens is somewhat unexpected. "Her Passionate Pilgrimage" is a good piece of fiction and shows great familiarity with social conditions on both sides of the Atlantic. One of the most delicious bits of satirical writing the Smart Set has had in several years is a short essay on the ever important subject of clothes, by Harry Cowell, in this number.

The anonymous author of "The Inner Shrine" has written a new novel for Harper's Magazine. The first installment appears in the February number, under the title "The Wild Olive." The story opens in the Adirondacks and plunges almost at once into a highly dramatic situation. There are seven short stories in this number, by Mary E. Wilkins Freeman, Thomas A. Janvier, Grace MacGowan Cooke and Caroline Morrison, Keene Abbott, Johnson Morton, Minna Stanwood and Harriet Prescott Spofford. An interesting contribution is that of W. W. Lord, Jr., who writes of his family's experience as refugees from Vicksburg after its fall in 1863. Prof. John B. Watson of Johns Hopkins university writes entertainingly of "The New Science of Animal Behavior," describing his own experiments in animal psychology. A delightful chapter of reminiscence of the pre-Raphaelites is contributed by Ford Madox Hueffer, whose grandfather was Ford Maddox Brown, the painter, and intimate friend of Rosetti, William Morris and the rest of this aesthetic group. Lawrence Gilman, the music critic of Harper's Weekly, writes on "Landscape in Music," and treats of the work of the new school of musical composers, which comprises such men as d'Indy and Debussy. Louise Closser Hale describes a gay Italian journey, and Walter Hale illustrates it with his exquisite etchings and drawings.

In the January Survey Lillian D. Wald and Frances A. Kellor, members of the New York state immigration commission for 1908, report on an automobile trip through the construction camps of the barge canal and the New York city aqueduct. It is not a muckraking article, but the investigators disclose certain intolerable conditions in the camps visited, particularly in those maintained by the state. Gino C. Sperranza, a lawyer of New York city, in an article entitled "Handicaps in America," outlines some of the hardships that newly arrived citizens have in this country and Louis Marshall, who was chairman of the recent New York state commission, points out remedies for the present evil conditions. There is an article entitled "Over Work," in which the scientific reasons for the harmful effects of overwork are gone into in detail. The article is based on the brief recently issued by Louis D. Brandeis with the assistance of Miss Josephine Goldmark in defense of the Illinois ten-hour law for working women. Edward T. Devine writes on "Some Things to Do in 1910," and Prof. Graham Taylor in his Industrial Survey tells of legislation that is following the Cherry disaster and the relation between labor and industrial education. He also reviews the switchmen's strike. Bishop Bashford of the Methodist Episcopal church writes on Chinese guilds.

If, during the past year, the world had progressed in every phase in the same degree that it did scientifically and mechanically, it would be difficult to convince the masses that the millennium was not at hand. Some who have kept closely in touch with this development may be inclined to think that it is only the careful record embodied in the pages of Popular Mechanics that make it seem so remarkable, but a summary of the actual achievements during 1909, appearing in the February number, effectually removes this doubt. Moreover, the February number, which contains 269 articles and 250 illustrations, constitutes a gratifying foretaste of what the present year may have in store. Many of these articles describe new inventions and discoveries; others instruct by comparison and still others present familiar things in new lights calculated to arouse interest and engender thought.

A., entitled "Insurance Against War;" one by Frank Marshall White, describing the movement to investigate the conditions of child labor in this country; an appreciation of the late Frederic Remington, by Charles de Kay, and two amusing pieces of fiction, together with the usual editorial pages and other features.

AUTHOR OF A SERIES OF ARTICLES ON WASHINGTON SOCIETY

MRS. CHARLOTTE M. CONGER.

Washington is full of literary women and women who write for the newspapers. A comparative newcomer in this field is Mrs. Charlotte M. Conger, who has just begun a series of authoritative articles on Washington society which is being widely published. Mrs. Conger has been herself a conspicuous figure in Washington society and she knows it thoroughly. Daughter of the late S. P. Brown, navy agent in the administration of Lincoln and daughter-in-law of Senator Conger of Michigan, she has an intimate acquaintance with both the social and political forces in Washington. She was for a long time a semi-invalid and during that period she tok up writing and in recent years she has made it a profession.

Invitations were received in the city the first of the week from Mr. and Mrs. Benton Hanchett of Saginaw, Mich., for the wedding of their daughter, Miss Elise Benton Hanchett, to Richard Frank Grant, formerly of this city. The wedding, which is of much local interest, will take place Friday evening, Feb. 4, at St. John's church at Saginaw. Miss Hanchett is well known in Duluth society, and until a few weeks ago Mr. Grant was a resident of this city. He will have as ushers at his wedding James Ireland, C. J. McBride, W. H. Telford, Herbert Spencer and D. G. Cutler, Jr., of this city. His groomsman will be his brother, James Grant. The ceremony will take place at 7:30 o'clock and will be followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents. Other Duluth guests will go to Saginaw for the wedding.

The largest affair of the week was the reception last evening at which Rev. and Mrs. Alexander Milne were hosts at the new manse at 1131 East First street. The reception was the first affair to be given at the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Milne, and during the receiving hours a large number of their friends, both in the congregation of their church and throughout the city, called to greet them. The entire house was thrown open, and the decorations chosen were most effective. In the reception room and living room and library pink roses were placed most attractively. The dining room was a bower of green, and in the canopy over the dining table and the centerpiece the note of color was introduced in the brilliant leaves of poinsettias. Gleaming candles were the illumination for the room. The door between the dining room and hall was a screen of green. Assisting the hosts in receiving were Mr. and Mrs. Ward Ames. The hostesses who presided in the dining room during the evening were Mrs. Oscar Mitchell, Mrs. Albert Baldwin, Mrs. A. W. Frick, Mrs. W. A. McMillan and Mrs. William Arper. During the receiving hours, from 8 to 10 o'clock, more than 300 guests called.

January Weddings.

At a simple wedding service last Sunday evening at the First Unitarian church, Miss Elizabeth Morton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Morton, became the bride of Louis Dworschak of this city. The service was read at 8:30 o'clock by Rev. George R. Gebauer, and only the parents of the bride were in attendance. The service was followed by a wedding supper at the home of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Dworschak left on the late train for a Southern trip, and they will be at home after their return in this city.

Both Mr. Dworschak and his bride are well known in musical circles.

THE EVENING STORY

RED CLARK AND THE INSTITUTE

By Knox Caldwell.

(Copyrighted. All rights reserved.)

"What'll you have, old man? It's on me," I said to "Red" Clarke as we leaned up against the $2,000 bar in "Little Jakes's."

"Milk," said "Red," without even a grin to show that he was joking. "A big glass of milk, and, say, Johnny, put a chunk of ice in it, will you?"

"Milk!" I yelled, when I'd recovered my breath. "Say, what do you think this is? A dairy or a kindergarten?"

"Naw, on the dead, Billy, that order goes. Milk or nothin' for mine."

"You remember the night Jim Hicks was elected alderman of the Seventh by a clean thousand?" he went on. "Well, I was Jim's manager, and when it was all over I had a roll big enough to choke a cow with. That night I started out to discolor the town, and I guess I succeeded in putting on a little paint, for I lost track of the roll, myself and everything else.

"When I finally came to it was early in the morning and I was sitting on a cold curb stone, way out in the suburbs somewhere or other. When I tried to think, my skull creaked like an old rusty windmill and the effort gave me a headache from the back of my neck to the root of my nose.

"I discovered that my total assets consisted of two lone coppers in my pants pocket and a lemon yellow taste in my mouth, as if I'd been drinking ochre paint. I wasn't exactly sure that I hadn't been, either.

"My gray matter was just beginning to get busy when I caught sight of a 'cop,' away down the street, coming my way, and I knew if I didn't make a quick sneak it would be '$10 or ten days' all right enough.

"Naturally I didn't take to that idea, but what could I do? My head was buzzing like a 39-cent alarm clock and my legs wouldn't locomote, so, after trying to stand on them a couple of times, I just gave a groan and fell back on the curb. 'Hot proposition, wasn't it? No money, no brains, no nothing but nerve, and that was leaking fast. I shut my eyes and saw a picture of little Willie all togged up in the stars and stripes, without any stars, doing the lockstep. Just then I heard the rattle of horses' hoofs on the pavement, and I opened my weary eyes to see a swell-looking carriage coming my way, and coming fast.

"Now, say, I don't know what crazy idea popped into my head—anything to get out of that cop's grasp, I suppose—but I made up my mind to get into that rig if I got hung for it afterward. By grabbing onto a lamp post I finally got braced up on those wobbly 'pins' of mine and ready for business. The carriage came tearing along on my side of the street and, when she got a little nearer, I saw that the door was open and that helped some, considering the condition I was in. Well, as she went by, not three feet from the curbstone, I gathered myself together and made a dive head first for the door, like we used to do down at the old pond when we were kids. Of course I landed pretty much of a heap amongst the cushions, but I got right up, and Jack-on-the-box never heard a thing, he was so busy making time.

"Well, when I got myself sorted out of the mass, my head up where it belonged and my feet down on the floor, I discovered that I had the whole thing to my lonesome, and not a soul in sight to cut a roar at me getting in so unceremoniously.

"'Easy money, all right,' says I to myself, 'and now for the last touches.'

"With that I starts to look over the outfit that had kidnaped me. The first thing that caught my eye was a big sign on the glass—a picture of a cage with a lot of a fowl, with a lot of foreign language underneath it. Then my optic lights on a gent's hat and coat lying on the opposite seat, and I leaned over and picked them up. My eye! but they were the real thing. The hat was one of those shiny black stovepipes, and the coat—holy smoke!—lined with fur and clear down to your knees.

"'No use being a cheap sport,' says I, so I puts on the lid first and then I wraps myself up in the chinchilla. Say, it felt good that morning. As I was slipping it on, something heavy in the pocket hit me a slap in the ribs, and I put my hand in to see what was doing. Say, talk about your gold mines. First I dragged out a big fat pocketbook and then a silver mounted pocket flask.

"Now money is money and it's good any old time, but liquor is apt to spoil if it's left too long, so I just unscrewed the top and—well, I was awfully dry that morning, and I guess I pretty near emptied it. I stopped for breath. After that, I just had sense enough to see that the fat pocketbook was lined with double X's and to read the name of 'Percy De Crassweller' printed in gilt letters on the outside.

"The next time I came to life, I was lying on a soft bed in a big swell room and a tall bloke, with a red nose and a mustache that looked like a pair of sausages, was sitting in a chair looking at me.

"As soon as he saw my lamps were lighted, he grabbed me by the mitt and began to pump it up and down. Then he says in a purry kind of a voice: 'Mr. De Crassweller, I believe?' 'Sure thing,' says I, trying to save what's left of my arm. 'That's me, but what's it to you?' With that I tried to sit up, but my head was still full of bees and I went to the sofa for the full count.

"The guy didn't wait, but began shooting it right at me. 'Well—er—it is rather important inasmuch as we have been expecting a gentleman of your name. Your mother—ah—having made all the necessary arrangements for your—aw—brief retirement, it only remains for me to extend to you, Mr. De Crassweller, the greetings of the institution and to trust—ah—that our acquaintance will be mutualy profitable.' Before I could open my mouth to holler for help, he went out and shut the door behind him.

"Say, Billy, I felt kind of funny. Little chills chased up and down my backbone and played tag all over my anatomy. Holy sufferin' snakes! What kind of a joint had I got dumped into anyhow? Who was this yap with the red nose and the lofty language? In about five seconds I decided that I didn't care who or what he was. All I wanted was to get out and to get out quick. I had enough all right, all right and some left over. No more 'Percy' business in mine. I was perfectly willing to take what was coming to me, but I didn't have any desire to shoulder this De Crassweller's troubles, whatever they were.

"I sat up and reached for my hat and coat. They had disappeared. Likewise the roll of X's and several other necessary articles of my attire along with the rest. I was up against a skin game all right, and the process of skinning had begun before I woke up.

"I crept back to the sofa feeling discouraged. I was wound up all right and the only way out, that I could see, was to tell his nibs the truth and do the injured innocence act or else stay right where I was. Anything was better than anything I'd found so far, so I lay me down on the floor and went to sleep.

"I hadn't been asleep more than five minutes before a guy opened the door, stuck his head in and yelled: 'Say, do you want a drink?' I rolled over, punched myself to see if I was awake, then sat up. Did I want a drink? 'Sure!' I yelled, and he handed me in a big pint cup. I was so thirsty that I never discovered what I was drinking until it was all down. Then I began to taste it. Red pepper, salt, all kinds of dope in hot water. Gee, but I wanted a drink of whisky bad to drown that mess.

In about half an hour one of the husky porters opened the door. 'Say, pardner,' I says to him, 'is there any place around here a dying man can get a drink?' 'Sure thing,' says he. 'I'll bring you one myself.' 'You'll be the whole thing with me if you do,' I answered, and at that he trotted off downstairs and came back with a pitcher. This time I took a look before I took a drink. Nothing but the same old dish water.

"'I don't believe I'm thirsty,' said I, looking at the pitcher. I wasn't a bit.'

"'Oh, yes you are!' said the lad, and I'll be switched if he didn't make me drink the whole mess.

"After that I laid down and tried to go to sleep. Sleep? Do you think they'd let me sleep? Not on your picture. Woke me up every hour. First a pill as big as a baseball, then another pitcher of dish water, then another pill till, on the level, I felt like a rain barrel full of marbles.

"Then these two husky porters got an idea in their heads that I needed hot baths. Every time one or the other thought of it, they'd lead me down to the bathroom and—splash—it was me to the tub.

"Well, after a week of starvation and hot baths and pills and sea water, I found that I wasn't pining for a drink any more. All I wanted was a square meal, and I wanted that awful bad. So, one morning after I'd gone all over the floor on my hands and knees looking for a crust of bread, the red-nosed boss came in. I gave him a heart to heart talk about being half starved, and he finally promised to send me up something to eat that night.

"Say, I couldn't keep still, I was so tickled. I just sat around and held on to my stomach all afternoon for joy. Six o'clock came, but no supper. Seven o'clock—still hungry. Finally, when I was getting desperate, in came one of the porters with a big bowl of milk. Well, what I didn't do to that milk isn't worth mentioning.

"Well, after that they kind of let up on the hot baths and other pleasantries, and inside of a week I was sitting up to the table consuming victuals like a prairie fire. Want a drink? Well, I should say not. All I wanted was something to eat. When the red-nosed gazabo saw that, he put my name on the roll of honor and they let me do about as I pleased.

"For a couple of weeks I lounged around smoking good cigars and eating four good meals a day at Mrs. De Calderol's expense and shaking hands with Percy, in my mind, of course, for the good thing he'd put me next to.

"One day I was sitting contentedly on the porch with my feet on the rail, puffing away at a fat Regalia, when I heard a carriage drive up to the front door and stop. There was a rustle of silk skirts and a scraping of feet, and then, through the window, I heard a squeaky female voice asking to see Percy De Crassweller. I saw my finish there if I didn't fade away. So I just hooked on to a hat and coat that was lying there on the porch, jumped over the railing, and in ten minutes was in a street car bound for town. That's how the water wagon happened to stop at my house," concluded Red as he raised the glass of milk on high, "and here's how. But I'm dog-goned if I wouldn't like to be present when Mrs. De Nabob and the Honorable Percy hold their family reunion. I can't say, however, that I have any especial longing to be in Percy's boots then or thereafter."

Lives there a woman with a soul so dead, Who does not want nice hair on her head?

Certainly not! Every woman admires beautiful hair and wants it. Every woman can have nice hair. Not the kind that may be purchased at the store, but real live hair growing on her own head. There is nothing quite as handsome as a nice head of natural, fluffy hair.

NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE MAKES THAT KIND OF HAIR

It is no trouble to have nice hair. If not interfered with the hair will grow long and luxuriantly. The most destructive and most prevalent form of hair trouble is dandruff.

Herpicide kills the germ which causes this annoying accumulation, keeps the scalp clean and prevents the hair from falling out. This allows the follicles not already atrophied to spring into life, shooting forth from the tiny bulb new healthy hair.

The effect of Newbro's Herpicide is truly marvelous. The terrible itching which characterizes dandruff stops almost with the first application. The hair takes on a shine and lustre, beautiful to look at and indicative of a clean healthy scalp.

This preparation is now recognized as the standard and original remedy which kills the dandruff germ and makes all hair beautiful.

Send 10c in postage to The Herpicide Co., Dept. 2B, Detroit, Mich., for a nice sample and booklet telling how everyone may have good hair.

Herpicide is sold and guaranteed by all druggists. Applications obtained at good barber shops and hair dressing parlors.

The Scarlet Thread.

EVER since the day of Nelson, a pecular custom has been observed in the British navy. A scarlet thread is woven into every one of the thousands of ropes used in the British naval service. This includes all ropes, from the smallest heaving line to the largest hawser. Several romantic suggestions have been advanced as to why the thread is woven into the ropes, but the real reason is a simple and practical one.

It simply means a sure way of identifying royal property, and if any rope with the red thread is found in unauthorized hands the presumption is that it was improperly taken. It is forbidden that any rope manufactured for private use contained the red thread, in just the same way that in the United States the manufacture of paper for private use containing bits of silk is forbidden. This paper in the United States is used for currency purposes only.

WHEN THE BOYS WERE SNOWED UNDER.

BY WILLIAM WALLACE, JR.

JOHN and Fred Davis and Martin Brown were passing part of the winter trapping wild animals. They had a small camp on a mountain side, a desolate, timbered place where man was seldom seen. A few brother trappers were camped 10 miles up the river, but John, Fred and Martin had pushed their way to the very verge of Nowhere, as they called the country to the north of them. Indeed, there was not a habitation—save the trappers' camp up the river—within 15 miles of their camp, which was a little log cabin chinked with mud to keep out the weather.

The boys were having some success in their business; if one could judge from the many skins hung out on board stretchers to dry or to "season," as the boys put it. There were no large animals in that part of the world, but small ones abounded in great numbers. So the boys hoped for a prosperous season.

One day, after securing several fine pelts, the boys returned to camp quite worn out from their long, hard tramp up and down the mountain, for the coldest days had come and the temperature had not risen above zero for a week. So the boys were very glad to get back into the cabin, where a fine wood fire blazed in the rude stone fireplace. As Fred and Martin washed and stretched the pelts on wooden frames John prepared the supper. As he mixed buckwheat "flapjacks" and sliced bacon he whistled a gay tune, to which his fellow-workers sang in time. A merry, busy trio were the three boy trappers, the oldest one being just 18.

"Come, boys," said John, after half an hour's work over frying pan and griddle, "come, set to; the grub pile is on. And if you are as hungry as I am I'll have to fry 40 or 50 more flapjacks. I feel as though I could stow away half a hundred."

"And I can keep pace with you and let you have the handicap of, say, 10," laughed Fred, pouring some bacon gravy over a stack of steaming "flapjacks."

Martin had poured the coffee into three tin cans, which served as cups. The dishes on the table corresponded with the cans, for they consisted of tin plate and an old yellow earthenware bowl for gravy. The forks were old wooden-handled affairs, and the knives used at the work of skinning animals were good enough—after washing well—to cut bread and meat.

But had the mothers of the boys entered the cabin at the minute of their sitting down to supper they could have made no objection to the table manners of their respective sons. Each boy had washed his face and hands till they looked wholesome and clean, and each had combed his hair very carefully, standing before the bit of broken mirror that was held against the log wall by several tacks. Even in the wilds of an uncivilized world the boys did not forget their careful home training. And it would have done their parents good could they have seen them seated about the course meal, spread on a bare deal table, their faces beaming with health and cleanliness and their hands as carefully kept as though they were at home in the bosom of their respective families. And they ate their food slowly and with as much grace as their table accessories would permit of. In fact, camping and trapping in the wilds had not made ruffians of these three well-reared, naturally refined boys. It merely made them resourceful and independent.

After supper they washed up the dishes, put them away in a wooden box which served for a cupboard, and replenished the fire, around which they sat talking over the day's experiences. Then, before turning into their bunks for the night, John—the eldest of the trio—read a few chapters from a well-worn book, a thrilling tale of the frontiersmen of a century ago. The boys had read and re-read the book many times, but there were favorite chapters, dealing with Indian fights and privation, that they found ever new and interesting. Also, their camp library contained a Bible, a book on the care of pelts and a book of jokes and conundrums. Each of these had their special reading. The Bible was always read before breakfast on Sunday, then put away carefully till the next holy day should come round. The joke and conundrum book was referred to whenever the boys found it necessary to "borrow laughter," as they put it. Usually, they found enough to keep them merry and happy-hearted while about their camp work, but on occasions when their spirits seemed a bit low the joke and conundrum book acted as a laugh tonic.

After the reading had been completed for the evening, the boys tumbled into their bunks to sleep sweetly and deeply. When they awoke the next morning their view of the outside world, which was to be got through two little windows, was curtained. The glass panes of the windows were white and opaque. John was the first to leap out of bed. He ran to the window, saying to Fred and Martin: "Gee whiz, boys, I do believe it snowed heavily last night. Just look at the windows!"

Fred and Martin were out of bed instantly, trying to clean spots on the window by blowing their warm breath against the glass. But to obtain a clear place through which they could look out was impossible. "Yep, it's snow, piled up against the windows. Gee! It must have come down by the ton last night while we slept." So said Fred. "Let's get into our duds and go out and see what we have to wade through," said Martin, drawing on his clothes as fast as he could. Fred and John followed his example, and as soon as John was dressed he opened the cabin door. The sight which met his eyes made him ejaculate: "Holy-gee! look at that, boys! We're snowed under, as sure as we're alive!"

"Come, boys," said John, "come, set to, the grub pile is on."

Fred and Martin stood open-eyed and open-mouthed. In front of them, pressed hard in the shape of the door, was a white wall of snow. A snowstorm had raged during the night and the wind had carried the snow round the cabin, piling it against the door and two windows till all were buried. How much of the back and sides of the cabin was covered by the snow the boys did not know, but Fred wisely struck upon a plan. "Let's knock out some of the mud chinking at the back of the hut," he suggested. So, with sharp sticks, they worked away at the chinking between two logs and after a few minutes had opened a crack several inches long and about two inches wide through which the sunlight poured. "Ah, ha!" said Fred. "It's only a big drift round the front of the cabin. I had feared it might be worse—maybe a gentle avalanche which had buried us 50 feet deep. But it's nothing serious. We can let the fire burn down and then we'll go out through the chimney."

"I'm mighty glad it's only a drift," said John, a smile of thankfulness on his face. "It might have been worse, you know."

"Say, it's a good thing we have a shovel," declared Fred. "While you fellers are preparing our breakfast I'll begin tunneling through the snow at the door. It's better to go out through a tunnel than to climb up the chimney."

"But the tunnel will have to be made from outside," explained John. "Otherwise we'd fill the cabin up with the snow dug from the tunnel. See?"

"Ah, you're right," Martin said. "Well, we can get enough fresh air from that crack in the back of the cabin to keep us going for awhile. So I move that we have breakfast before letting the fire go out. I'm all-fired hungry, and the thought of cutting through a 30 or 40 foot snowdrift has encouraged a good appetite."

"Second the motion," said Fred. Then the three boys hurried with the breakfast after which they put out the fire by throwing snow, taken from the open door, upon it. When the chimney had cooled, they climbed through it to the roof. From there they looked upon a new world—white, white snow many feet deep over the level, while here and there on the southern side of rocks or clumps of trees drifts 20 to 50 feet in depth lay. And from the roof of their own cabin, leading over the door and windows, stretched a drift fully a hundred feet in length and about 10 feet deep at the doorway. It took the three boys nearly all the forenoon to dig a tunnel from the outside into the house, and when the sun marked the hour of noon they entered their doorway, a hungry and a happy trio.

"Well, boys, I say it's a jolly experience," laughed John, piling some wood in the fireplace and starting a fine blaze. "And now one of us must write an account of our being snowed under and send it to the old folks at home."

"Yes, but first let's have dinner," said Martin. "Being snowed under may have it's exciting points, but it doesn't rob a chap of his liking for grub—when the grub time comes round."

And John and Fred agreed that Martin was right and the three set about to get the best dinner they had eaten since Christmas Day.

PARIS' STRONG MEN.

THE strong men of Paris wear the largest hats in the world. They are from the markets and are famous for their feats of strength. They wear, as a sort of badge, large felt sombreros, each being a yard in diameter. The custom is a very ancient one and the men think they are the only ones entitled to wear the hats. The hats are considered a protection to the head, as the greater portion of the heavy loads are carried there. The strong market men compete for prizes every three years and some of their feats of strength are wonderful.

ZIGZAG PUZZLE.

This zigzag contains seven words of four letters each. If the words are rightly guessed and written one below another in correct order, their zigzag letters, beginning with the upper left-hand letter and ending with the lower left-hand letter, will spell the name of a barnyard fowl. The cross-words are: 1. To be wealthy. 2. A stupid silly person. 3. To stand still. 4. That which a person suffers when he has been robbed. 5 Structures built by savages. 6. A common food all over the world. 7. A garden implement.

BEHEADINGS.

1. Triply behead to be happy and leave that used by soldiers when in camp. 2. Behead the name of a spring month and leave a form of early architecture. 3. Triply behead a song and leave a young boy.

CURTAILINGS.

1. Curtail that which is pleasant in temperature and leave a fierce conflict between men. 2. Doubly curtail an angle in a room and leave a kind of grain. 3. Doubly curtail the name of a parent and leave a destroying insect.

PRIMAL ACROSTIC.

If the words pictured above are rightly guessed, and written one below another, their initial letters will spell something that all children like.

Biographical Sketch of Andrew Johnson.

AMONG the many instances of poor men rising to the highest ranks of life in this country may be cited the case of one of our presidents, Andrew Johnson. And it may not be generally known that he bore the distinction of being the poorest president of the United States. With the exception of John Adams and his son, John Quincy Adams (second and sixth presidents of the United States); John Tyler, who succeeded to the presidency on the death of William Henry Harrison, and Andrew Johnson, who succeeded to office on the death of Abraham Lincoln, all the presidents have been either men of wealth or fairly well to do on entering the White House. But Andrew Johnson was as poor on the day when by accident he became the chief magistrate of the nation as when he was a member of the legislature of Tennessee.

When Andrew Johnson was yet a very young child his father died, leaving a large family in the very depths of poverty. Soon afterwards the Widow Johnson married again. But that did not furnish Andrew with a home, for when the lad was 14 years of age his mother bound him out as an apprentice to a tailor. The following is a copy of the document which indentured him:

"State of North Carolina, Wake County.

"At a Court of Pleas and Quarter Sessions begun and held for the County of Wake at the Court House in Raleigh, on the third Monday of February A. D. 1822, being the 46th year of American Independence, and the 18th day of February.

"Present, The Worshipful
"CHARLES L. HINTON,
"NATHANIEL G. RAND,
"MERRITT DILLARD.

"It is ordered that Andrew Johnson, an orphan, the son of Jacob Johnson, dec'd, 14 years of age, be bound to James I. Selby until of lawful age, to learn the trade of tailor."

Just why Andrew Johnson should have been designated as an orphan is not explained, for his mother and stepfather were living at the time and in good health and strength.

When Johnson was 18 years of age his term of apprenticeship was ended, and with his mother and stepfather he left Raleigh, N. C. (his birthplace), and went to Greenville, Tenn. The following year he was married to Miss Eliza McCardle.

The home of the young couple was a log cabin of two rooms, one room serving as tailor shop and the other as living apartment—kitchen, dining-room and parlor in one. And there the two brave young people worked and studied, for after his marriage Johnson learned to read and write, his wife being his teacher.

Soon after locating in Greenville Johnson took great interest in the affairs of the city, and was twice elected to the office of alderman. Later he was elected to the Tennessee legislature. Then came a term in Congress, at which time he sold his business to another tailor, but kept the big shop, which was never occupied by anyone after the Johnson family left it for a better house.

But Andrew Johnson was always a poor man, and it took the greatest tact to manage his financial affairs when he was governor of Tennessee. A Mrs. Patterson was engaged as housekeeper—and one might truthfully say the pursekeeper also, for she it was who made the contents of a very slim purse go a very long way. And after Johnson became president of the United States Mrs. Patterson was installed in the White House as housekeeper, where, with the assistance of Johnson's eldest daughter, she took entire management of the expense account of the executive mansion. The president had no personal fortune nor income, and the salary paid to the chief executive was scarcely sufficient to meet the demands made on him unless the strictest account of every dollar was kept. But his family were plain, unpretentious people, and the strictest simplicity in living was observed by them. During the first part of his term as president his family—with the exception of his eldest daughter—remained in their home in Greenville. Later they took up their residence in the White House.

People who knew Andrew Johnson throughout his young manhood and during his public career said of him that he had never borrowed a dollar in his life nor spent one that he had not himself earned. He was a man of fine integrity and had an intense hatred of debt. To make an honest living, to put honor and industry above the sordid things of life, to learn something daily was the example set by Andrew Johnson.

LITTLE RUTH'S FAIRY.

RUTH and Bob were sitting on the floor reading from one of the picture books which Santa had given them on Christmas. "I say there aren't fairies," declared Bob, nine years old. "They are only in books; I'm sure of it."

"Oh-o-o!" exclaimed Ruth, looking really shocked at what her brother had said. "Oh-o-o, aren't you ashamed Bob, to say there aren't any fairies—'cept in books?" "Why, I'm very sure there are fairies, I am."

"Well, when you get as old as I am, you'll know better," declared Bob. "You see, you're but seven, and I'm two years smarter than you. One can learn about lots of things in two years, you know."

Ruth didn't know, but she tried to look as though she did. But she resented Bob's saying there weren't any fairies. In fact, as the two children sat turning the leaves, Ruth kept wishing with all her might that something might happen to prove to Bob that fairies really did exist. After a little while she said: "S'posen something should drop beside you all of a sudden—some candy or an apple—or something very, very good to eat. Wouldn't you then believe in fairies?"

"Oh," replied Bob, in a very wise way, pursing up his lips and assuming a skeptical air, "if a ginger cake should drop beside me—here on the floor—I might believe in fairies. But it'd take a ginger cake, and nothing else, to make me believe."

"Well, maybe if you wish hard enough for a fairy to come and drop a ginger cake beside you, she'll probably do so. But you have to wish very, very hard, with your eyes shut and nobody around," said Ruth.

"Well, I'll try it," consented Bob, his mouth watering for ginger cake, his favorite sweetmeat. "But, if I keep on wishing for a long time, and the ginger cake doesn't come—why, I'll know there isn't such a thing as a fairy. And I'll tell every kid I know, too." Bob spoke the last sentence in a very threatening voice, and if any fairies happened to be listening at the time, they must have felt it a very trying moment, for as we all know, fairies are not bakers or cooks. But Bob—the skeptical—thought a fairy could bring him whatever he wanted and at any time—if they really existed.

But little Ruth knew otherwise. She knew that fairies only come to children in distress, and she also knew that Bob was not in need of any kind of cake—especially ginger cake; so she was a bit worried over what Bob said. She loved him very dearly, and it would make her so much happier in her own belief in fairies if Bob believed in them, too. So, hoping for some sort of miracle—by which Bob might be made to believe in fairies—she had urged him to wish, and to wish very, very hard, with his eyes shut, for the ginger cake.

"All right, I'll put down the book and wish very hard for some ginger cake," said Bob. "But you'll have to keep perfectly quiet, and maybe you'd better wish, too."

"I'll tell you what we'll do," said Ruth. "You stay in this room and wish and I'll go into the library and wish. But—if you don't get ginger cake just for wishing, you mustn't think there aren't any fairies. Maybe they'll be out of ginger cake. Maybe they'll be out of all sorts of cake. You know people often get out of things to eat; so why shouldn't fairies get out of cake, too?" Ruth had clinched the argument, and Bob could not reply to her. So he said, "All right, I'll wish for ginger cake first; and then I'll wish for ordinary cake; and then I'll wish for something good to eat. But if I open my eyes and find nothing beside me—why, I'll know there aren't any fairies."

Then Ruth ran into the library, where she curled herself up in a big chair beside the warm steam radiator. There she fell asleep after a few minutes. Bob, remaining in the playroom, stretched himself out on a huge fur rug, lying on his face, his arm under his head and his eyes shut. There he remained very quiet, wishing and wishing in a low tone: "Good fairy, bring me some ginger cake. Good fairy, bring me some ginger cake. G-o-o-d f-a-i-r-y, b-r-i-n-g m-e—m-e—s-o-m-e c-a-k-e—c-a-k-e—f-a-i-r-y——"

And then Bob fell asleep to the sound of his own voice. And while he lay there he dreamed that a fairy came into the room and placed a little box beside him, and in that box he found some candy and nuts, but no ginger cake. And when he asked the fairy why she did not bring ginger cake she replied: "The cook has gone on a strike, young man, and we are out of cake. But we have candy—real old-fashioned taffy—which you will find very toothsome. And some nuts in the box are freshly gathered from the trees that grow in California and they are very delicious."

Thus, while Ruth slept, dreamless, in the library, and Bob slept, dreaming, in the playroom, their mother came in from shopping in the city. She carried two large paper bags—one for Bob and one for Ruth. On peeping into the playroom and seeing Bob fast asleep on the rug, she walked softly in, so as not to wake him, and placed one of the bags close beside him on the floor. Then she went in quest of Ruth, whom she found curled up in the chair. Gently she placed the other bag in the little sleeper's lap. Then she withdrew to her own room. Half an hour later Bob awoke, and the first thing he saw was the bulging paper bag beside him. Then he recalled the circumstances under which he had lain down on the rug and gone to sleep. Ah, the fairies! He had been wishing for proof of their existence when he shut his eyes. And here, a paper bag lay beside him! He reached out his hand and opened the bag. Candy—old-fashioned taffy—was there! And under the candy was a huge popcorn ball all sweet with molasses! Now, he had not dreamed of popcorn, but he had dreamed of nuts along with the candy. And, of course, the fairy had brought the popcorn instead of the nuts. Maybe they were out of nuts as they were out of ginger cake.

"Oh, the fairies really and truly came," she cried.

Bob sat up and smiled and filled his mouth with popcorn. Then he remembered Ruth and ran to call her. She was still sleeping in the big chair; but he roused her by exclaiming: "Why, the fairies have brought you a bag just like mine, and, of course it holds candy and popcorn!"

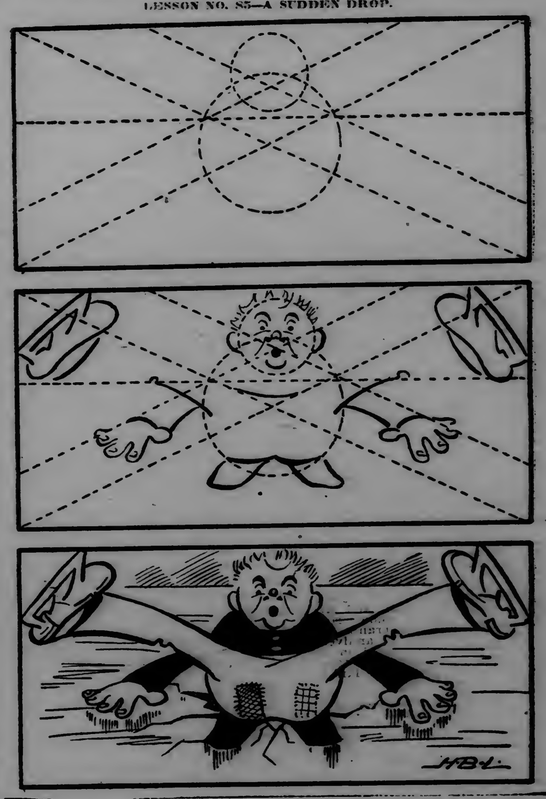

Then Ruth awoke and looked a bit surprised at what Bob was saying. During sleep she had forgotten the conversation between herself and Bob relative to the existence of fairies. But it took only a few words from Bob to bring the whole thing fresh to her mind again, and then she jumped up and down with joy. "Oh, the fairies really and truly came," she cried. "They didn't bring ginger cake, for they know ginger cake isn't good for little children. But they brought us good old-fashioned taffy and popcorn, which are better than cake."

"Yes, I'd rather have popcorn like this—and taffy, too—than all the ginger cake ever baked," declared Bob. "But, come, let's see if mamma has returned yet. We must tell her that the fairies came to us and brought us some candy and popcorn, to prove to me that there are fairies. Aren't they good fairies to go to so much trouble for me?"

"Yes, they are always good, fairies are," declared Ruth, feelingly. "But you mustn't wish too much for them, for they don't like selfish little children, and if you should ever really need them they wouldn't come if you had wished them here when you really did not need them. Fairies are made to help children in distress, and not to feed them on cake and candy."

LESSON NO. 85—A SUDDEN DROP.

CHRIST LEAVING TOMB

DESCENT FROM THE CROSS

CHRIST (ANTON LANG)

CHRIST AND THE MAGDALEN

THIS IS THE YEAR of the Passion Play, and already reports come from Obergammergau, the quaint place in Bavaria, where it is produced, that sleeping accommodations of the simplest character have been engaged in advance to the capacity of the houses.

Oberammergau has no place on the map except when, once in ten years, the Passion Play is given there. It has a population of only 1,400. Of these 685 take part in the Passion Play, which is a religious rite, given in the devotional spirit, and with no suggestion of commercialism. Of course, it is impossible to eliminate all sign of modern business methods. The cost of the production has to be met in some way, and the theater in which the production is given, which is of no use during the intervals between the productions of the play, must be paid for and maintained. Tickets are sold at prices ranging from 50 cents to $2.50, but the actors receive no pay, and no professional players are admitted to their ranks.

The history of the Passion Play is not set down with absolute certainty, but there is a tradition that the monks of Ettal wrote the play as the result of a vow made when the town was attacked by the plague. The men and women who take part in the production are humble workers in the village.

Anton Lang, who took the part of Christ in 1900 and who will take it again in 1910, is a stove repairer and potter and was only 25 years old when he first took the part. His predecessor was Joseph Meyer.

Anna Pflunger, who played the part of Mary, is one of the most beautiful women in the Ammer valley. She was 18 years old when the play was given ten years ago. Her father was the village postman. Her family had taken part in the play for many generations, her grandfather having been the Christ of early productions.

The performances of the Passion Play begin at 8 o'clock in the morning. They are preceded by a mass at 6 o'clock. No one is permitted to enter the theater after 8 o'clock until the midday intermission. The theater in which the play is given was built in 1899 and cost $80,000. It was paid for from the profits of the play. It seats 4,200 and all the seats are reserved. In forty-seven performances given in 1900 the receipts were $247,000 and the net profits $57,000. The orginal schedule called for twenty-seven performances, to be given on Sundays and religious holidays, but the number of tourists attending was so great that twenty extra performances were given.

IMAGINE A COMMUNITY of humble, everyday people, in which every man, woman and child has but one ambition—and that a worthy one of such compelling power that it influences every thought, act and word—and you will have a mental picture of the inhabitants of Oberammergau. For the one overpowering desire of each of them from the time they begin to appreciate the possibility of their participating in such a thing, is to take some part, even though it be but the humble one of "carrying a spear," in the Passion Play. Indeed the carrying of a spear signifies much more in this production than in those we see on the American stage, for the spear-carriers have some real action in many of the scenes. The most humble part, instead, is that of tending the sheep on the hillsides surrounding the mimic Jerusalem in which the action takes place.

But the ambition is there; it is perhaps the only universal and all-compelling ambition known to any community of men and these facts, coupled with the rigidly enforced condition that none can take part in the piece unless his life is above reproach, make the people of Oberammergau the most peaceful, the most wholesomely likeable and unquestionably the most thoroughly clean and trustworthy in every way, of any community in the world.

SOME DETAILS CONCERNING Oberammergau, the Passion Play and the people who take part in it are told by Augustine Murphy of Duluth, who was present at one of the performances given in 1900, the year in which the play was last produced. Mr. Murphy was visiting in Ireland in June, when he decided to see the performance at Oberammergau, and through a travel agency in the city of Cork he secured a seat for a performance to take place in August. Little that savors of commerclalism in even its mildest forms is to be found at Oberammergau itself, and the reservation of seats for the Passion Play is carried on largely through an agency which has branches scattered throughout the principal cities of Europe.

The approach of the date for which he was booked found Mr. Murphy in Munich, making arrangements for the four-hour ride to Oberammergau. There is choice of two ways to reach the valley—either by the express train which is run from Munich every day of a performance of the play, or by a trolley line which was installed between the two places in 1906. Before that year it was necessary to make a good part of the trip in what passed for stage-coaches, as there waas nothing in the nature of modern transportation facilities going to the village.

If one wishes to see only the play, the train now is the better means of travel, for it reaches Oberammergau shortly before 8 o'clock in the morning, the hour at which the performance begins, and leaves in the evening. But if one wishes to see something of the place itself and the beauties of the Ammer valley, it would be better to go by trolley. This lands him in the village some time during the afternoon, and he has an opportunity to look around.

As the travelers step from the cars they are met by a committee of villagers who call the names of those who have been booked ahead for arrival at that time. When your name is called, you step forward and are taken in charge by some one of the inhabitants who informs you that he is to be your host during your stay. He takes whatever luggage you may have and leads the way to his home, for there are no hotels, the idea of a public inn being out of accord with the traditions of the village.

Arrived at the house, which is in no essential respect different from the hundreds or thousands that you have seen in the smaller villages of Germany, you find that your host has been literally turned out of house and home. Not involuntarily, but because it is the practice for the townspeople to give up their houses for the accommodations of visitors, betaking themselves to a temporary camp on the hillside.

It is not altogether an act of charity on the part of your host, for he expects you to pay him something—possibly as much as 3 marks—for your twenty-four-hour use of his domicile. You are not the only occupant, however, for every room in the house has been vacated for transients, who, like yourself, have been assigned to this family's hospitality.

You wonder, being accustomed to the unconventionality of the conventional way in America, what kind of a roommate you are to have, but you find that you are to have none at all, unless you had made early arrangements to share your quarters with some companion of your own choice.

After your traveling outfit has been put in place and you have familiarized yourself with your surroundings, your host comes and hands you your ticket for the performance. He has looked after that along with other little incidental affairs, such as your place in the big pavilion where meals are to be served. The same committee which assigned you to his house has told him what price ticket you are entitled to, and he has obtained it for you.

From then until bedtime you are free to wander where you will, watching the people, looking at the beautiful scenery of the valley or visiting among other pilgrims—anywhere you wish, except inside the big building where the performance is to be given on the next day. The place is vacant, for the Passion Play is too exacting on the nervous and muscular energies of the players, particularly of the man who takes the part of Christ, to admit of daily performances. Instead they are given twice a week, the performers having the intervening days to rest or attend to the duties of everyday life.

One thing, however, you find you cannot do, and that is to find a place where liquor of any kind is being sold. If you care for a glass of beer, you have only to ask your host or some member of his family—and one or more of them is always on hand to look after any wants you may have—and it will be procured for you. Any reasonable quantity of it, indeed, will be supplied to you within the house where you are staying, and your host perhaps will drink with you—a fact which may make little or no impression on you, unless you happen to recognize him in the play next day as one of the apostles.

In all your looking around you find the people the same—quiet, courteous, devout in their manner and in their conversation, though not obtrusive in their attention to their religion. To some extent they will talk with you about the Passion Play—will tell something of its history and the legends connected with it. They will tell you, perhaps, that it originated from a sacred oath taken by one family—a family which was the only one left by the great plague which visited that valley in the year 1625—and that it has been performed every ten years since then except for two or three occasions when its performance was made impossible by warfare. They will tell you, perhaps, that there is little or no recompense given the players. For instance, that Anton Lang, who played the part of Christ in 1900, received but $300 for his services, though obliged to play from May 1 to Nov. 1, besides spending some five years in rehearsing for it, and that the other participants receive correspondingly small recompense, the amounts being determined by the importance of their parts in the play.

But when you ask them to point out the people who are cast for the various characters they either ignore the question or politely ask to be excused, for the Passion Play to them is a part of their religion. Those who participate in it regard such participation as a religious privilege and duty rather than an opportunity for personal glory. And their feeling in this regard is respected by their fellows. It is this attitude, too, that makes them contented with the small financial recompense that attends their efforts, and indeed they would be satisfied if they received nothing at all.

Finally it gets to be bedtime and you go to your room, taking with you the lamp which your host has lighted for you—for the trolley car and the train that comes from Munich twice a week are the only outward evidences of modern life in Oberammergau, though the advantages of electric lighting are employed in portions of the play itself. There are no sidewalks in the town, the buildings are of the olden type, and the streets at night are as dark as the weather and the constellations choose to leave them.

BUT "THE PLAY'S THE THING." Under such conditions as those just described you perforce keep good hours, and long before 8 o'clock, the time set for the opening of the day's performance, you are up and ready for a day that, whether you are Christian or atheist or agnostic, will remain in your memory and to some extent influence you as long as you live.

By 7:45 you are in your seat in the great building. That is, you are there if you are gong to be sure of seeing the finest half of the production at all. For the next quarter of an hour you are expected to spend your time in silence in sympathy with the religious spirit in which the Passion Play is given. At 8 o'clock the doors are closed finally, and no matter who might desire admittance after that time and before the regular intermission, it would be refused.

As you sit there you have plenty of time to study the setting—the mimic Jerusalem. Though your seat is under cover, the setting is all open to the sky and the air, and you see the houses and streets, the hills beyond, with the shepherds and their flocks, and you try to pick out the buildings which you know will figure in the action of the play.

"Up center," as they would say in American stage parlance, is an inclosed stage. The curtain is down, and this, of all the setting, is not open to the sky. It is here that the various court scenes before Caiphas and Pilate take place and the last supper and some of the smaller scenes are enacted, and it is here that the tableaux are to be placed, and where the electrical effects are employed.

Promptly at 8 o'clock the action begins, and it begins with a scene that would breed envy in the heart of the stage manager whose work is limited to productions of less magnitude. The scene is preceded by a chorus thirty-five strong, which sings the prologue. As their voices die away another song begins—a great, swelling song of welcome and of joy, for Christ is making His triumphal way into Jerusalem, and all the people are receiving Him as the king who is to deliver them from the hand of oppression.

This is where the story of the life of Christ begins in the Passion Play. Every event known from then until the ascension is reproduced. And what a reproduction! The cast includes no less than 685 persons; the background of the scenery was painted by the Almighty in the construction and development of the world; the actors have been chosen because of their natural likeness to the parts which they represent; the rehearsals which were to make them perfect in their parts have been in progress for not less than five years, and the actors themselves enter into their parts as one goes to a task which he loves, and which holds for him not only present happiness, but his hopes for the hereafter.

Besides the active scenes of the play there are tableaux—twenty-seven of them—in some of which more than 400 people are grouped in statue-like poses and stillness. The singing is wonderful, and the reality which the players give to the scenes has been declared far beyond anything ever seen on less pretentious stages, where the setting is all artificial and the theme less—immeasurably less— than the grandest and most inspiring that can be conceived by men.

For four hours the play continues and yet you sit in absolute silence, drinking in not only the wonder of it all, but something of the lesson of love and patience that it teaches. At times you feel almost that you must applaud when you remember that this is all mere human acting, but you have been carefully and repeatedly warned against this. An outburst of handclapping would be as much out of place here as it would if it followed a particularly impressive sentence uttered by someone who was praying aloud in your own church.

At noon the action halts and you go to the pavilion for lunch. Forty-five minutes later you are back in your place, and promptly at 1 o'clock the play is resumed and continues until the ascension of Christ, the afternoon action taking up about four and a half hours and that of the entire play eight and a half.

What can be said of the thoughts that come after seeing the Passion Play given by the peasants of the Ammer valley? Many have told of the peculiarly strong religious influence exerted by the productions in this country of the old morality play, "Everyman." What then of the truthful presentation of the story of life of Christ—that story the mere reading of which has wrought almost unbelievable changes in so many millions of lives?

"It is something that the whole world ought to see," is the declaration one most frequently hears among those who have had the privilege of witnessing it. But the whole world, if it ever does see it, must go to Oberammergau, for no one man ever sees the entire written copy of the play; not one of the people who have access to any of the parts would risk his soul by allowing an outsider to look at even the outer cover of it; and most of all, no people but these, who are trained from the cradle to regard the Passion Play as the greatest and holiest thing in the world, could give such a production of it as they give.

And perhaps they are right. Certainly the world gives nothing else so intense in its hold on those who witness it, so wonderful or powerful in its teachings, and so marvelous in its theme, as this pictured story of the life of Him who suffered and died "that whosoever believeth in Him shall not perish, but have everlasting life."

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The last week has been a rather quiet one around school, as all the pupils are preparing for the final examinations, which may be held any time between now and the end of the semester.

The system of holding examination has been changed by Mr. Buck and this year they will be held during the regular recitation periods.

Mr. Sprague has kept his senior English pupils on the go this week taking tests. He has given three tests this week and expects to give several more next week. Mr. Sprague says, however, that those who receive satisfactory marks in the present tests will not worry about the final examination, as they will be exempt and this gives him a good opportunity of finding out those who have satisfactorily completed the semester's work.

The Zenith board is working hard on its class publication. Lloyd Burg, business manager, and Charles Kelly assistant business manager, are the two most busy pupils in school. The other classes are also beginning to work on the part of the book assigned to them. The sophomore class held a special meeting and offered the following inducements to its members: $5 for the best story, $3 for the best frontispiece, $2 for the best poem and $2 for the best tailpiece. All work must be handed in on or before Feb. 15.

The seniors were well pleased when Mr. Custance made the announcement that "Esmeralda" would be presented by the class of 1910. The class has been anxiously awaiting the announcement and there are a large number who wish to take part, affording Mr. Custance much material from which to choose.

Mr. Custance said that every one will be given an equal chance, no favorites being played.

The junior hop will be held next Friday night. Mr. Buck announced in chapel Friday morning that all the other classes are invited to the dance, with the understanding that no programs will be filled beforehand. It has been the custom for the pupils to fill their programs a week or two before the dance, and an attempt will be made to do away with it, as outsiders who wish to attend do not receive an equal chance to enjoy the event.

Elenor Aske and Asher Taylor are the committee for the hop.

The football team had its picture taken this morning, and the members are patiently waiting to get the last remembrance of the 1909 season. A number of the team had individual pictures taken also.

The Interclass Basket Ball league opens Tuesday with a game between the freshmen and seniors. John Nashlund, captain of the seniors, and Mat Brown, the freshman leader, are both confident of victory.

From the present indications the seniors have the best material in school, the juniors losing four of their last year's regular team on account of graduation. The freshmen will be added to the first team, and the freshman class will miss James Kelly, who belongs to the first team squad.

Much interest is being taken in the mock trial which will be held by the Forum next Monday afternoon. Gilbert Bates is the prosecuting attorney, with Lloyd Greene as his assistant, and Charles Evans, assisted by Ludwig Melander, will take care of the defense. Robert Lurch will act as judge. A jury has been selected from among the pupils and faculty, and the proceedings will be carried out exactly as in the city courts.

Francis Burris of the class of '09 was a visitor at school yesterday.

Last night the chemical laboratory was crowded with the chemistry students. The chemistry note books, with the semester's work completed, were due, and many of the students had to get busy to comply with Mr. Wheeler's orders.

This is Mr. Wheeler's first year here, and he has proved very popular with his classes. He is not only doing much for them in the study of chemistry, but is doing everything possible to fix the laboratory for their convenience. A new ventilating system will be put in before the end of this semester, a plan which is Mr. Wheeler's suggestion.

Simple Remedy for LaGrippe.

LaGrippe coughs are dangerous, as they frequently develop into pneumonia. Foley's Honey and Tar not only stops the cough, but heals and strengthens the lungs so that no serious results need be feared. The genuine Foley's Honey and Tar contains no harmful drugs and is in a yellow package. Sold by all druggists.

Will Increase Its Capital.

New York, Jan. 15.—The capitalization of the Pittsburg & Lake Erie railroad will be increased by a stock issue of $6,000,000. The stock will be issued in $50 shares to stockholders at par.

TELL TALES OF CHRISTY'S LIFE

Witnesses in Artist's Wife's Suit Testify to the Gay Times He Had.

Zanesville, Ohio, Jan. 15.—There was considerable diversion in the life of Howard Chandler Christy, the artist, according to testimony given by Charles F. Hall, a former Christy model. The testimony was given in the habeas corpus proceedings started by Mrs. Christy to obtain possession of her 12-year-old daughter, Natalie. Mrs. Hall also testified. She told of the home life of Mr. and Mrs. Christy in New York.

The conduct of Mr. Christy in the presence of Natalie, the daughter, Mrs. Hall testified, was at times most unbecoming fo a father. That the artist struck his wife, knocking her down causing her nose to bleed, and "sitting upon her," was told by Mrs. Hall.

Life in the Studio.

Mr. Hall, who is related to Mrs. Christy and who acted as a model for the artist in the drawing "Hearts is Trumps," told of incidents in the studio, in which various models played a conspicuous role. Hall mentioned the names of a few women models with whom Christy was upon familiar terms.

Hall said prospective models were compelled to disrobe immediately that he might judge of their figures for artistic purposes. There was much freedom between Christy and the girls, he said, and hugging and kissing was a common pastime. At other times, Hall said, Christy would hold and caress a model and call her "baby doll."

Christy's trip to a liquor cure was related.

A Sprained Ankle.

As a rule a man will feel well satisfied if he can hobble around on crutches in two or three weeks after spraining his ankle, and it is often two or three months before he is fully recovered. This is an unnecessary loss of time, as by applying Chamberlain's Liniment, as directed, a cure may as a rule be effected in less than one week's time, and in many cases within three days. Sold by all druggists.

MONDELL WILL NOT FATHER TAFT'S BILL.

Washington, Jan. 15.—Representative Mondell of Wyoming, chairman of the house committee on public lands, has declined to stand sponsor for President Taft's bills designed to carry out the president's program for conservation of natural resources. Mr. Mondell offered to introduce the measure "by request," but the proffer was declined.

CHRISTIAN SOCIALISM

BY RAYMOND CALKINS.

"Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." This is Christian socialism. And this is all that Christian socialism is. It is not really socialism at all. It is simply Christianity. It is not a plan or a theory, or a system. It is simply the spirit of brotherhood, the ideal of justice, the life of love. Whatever makes for brotherhood, justice, love it commends; whatever disrupts brotherly relations violates justice, desecrates love, it condemns. The Christian socialist, in a word, is one who believes that the simple principles of the gospel, the elementary teachings of Jesus, if consistently and courageously and conscientiously applied to existing social conditions, will correct abuses, remedy wrongs and create a just social order.

The Christian socialist believes that the time has come to demonstrate the power of the gospel to save, not only the individual, but the state. He believes that the time has come to deliver organized Christianity from the reproach, just or unjust, that it has failed to uphold and to inculcate those principles upon which alone a just social order must surely depends. He believes that the time has come to free Christian discipleship from the complaint, just or unjust, that its profession is no guarantee that the ideals of righteousness, justice and brotherhood will be recognized, much less followed, at any personal cost in the ordering of one's practical business and financial affairs. He believes that until this is done contemporary Christianity can neither win the respect nor claim the personal allegiance of men who are ethically and morally in earnest.

The Christian socialist does not believe that any economic scheme can take the place or do the work of the spirit of brotherhood or the law of love in the relation of man to man. He does not believe that any theory of property or plan for public ownership of the necessities of life, or scheme for the more equal distribution of wealth would do the work which needs to be done even if they were all desirable and practicable. But he does believe that if the primary principles of the gospel were honestly believed and fearlessly applied, we should be delivered from the organized greed and irresponsible selfishness that degrade and disgrace our present social order, and become a people who do justly, love mercy and walk humbly with their God, he believes that under the actual acceptance and practical application of the law of neighborliness, the gross contradictions, the intolerable contrasts, the glaring injustices in the social order, would gradually disappear.

The Christian socialist, for example, maintains that there is something inherently wrong in the present wage system. He feels that there is something very inconsequent and illogical in underpaying labor until it is reduced to the conditions of poverty, and then seeking to relieve those conditions by philanthropic effort. He feels that we need a new definition of philanthropy; that a real love of man would begin sooner and accomplish more. He feels that every willing workman should be guaranteed a living wage which should keep him forever independent of public relief. The Christian socialist is unable to understand why certain trades are permitted to pay their workmen hundreds of dollars less than the sheer necessities of life inexorably demand; why well-known and well-recognized poverty-breeding conditions are tolerated for a day among humane and supposedly Christian people. He admits that here are delicate and difficult questions; that the amount of wages which can be paid in a given industry is an economic question which must be settled not "by a quoting of texts or a showing of hands," but rather in the light of economic facts and forces; and that the allied questions of the number of hours that men should labor in a given industry, or the degree in which they should share in the direction of that industry, must be similarly determined. But he insists that these questions can be rightly and permanently answered in an atmosphere created by the high resolve of patriotic and conscientious men of affairs who shall hold before them the law of brotherliness and shall be controlled by it in the ordering of their industries and in their relations to their fellow-men. The Christian socialist utterly condemns the so-called charity of large employers of labor, who while living underpay their employes and make large bequests in their wills to public philanthropics. The Christian socialist utterly repudiates the idea that any man has the moral right to buy the labor of any other man, irrespective of the relation of that wage to the wage-earner's physical and moral well-being. He insists that so long as employers, consulting only their own interests, will pay the lowest wages that men and women can be induced to take; so long as they will discharge men with families if they can find girls and boys to do the work; so long as they will attract to their industrial centers great numbers of cheap laborers in order to force down the level of wages; so long as child labor is permitted and encouraged under the plea of industrial necessity, when it is really but the expression of an inhuman greed; so long, in a word, as an immoral self-interest governs the direction of industry and commerce, no advance can be made into that kingdom of peace and of brotherhood in which men love their neighbors as themselves.

This, then, is Christian socialism. It is simply the reintroduction of the spirit of justice and of brotherhood into the complicated industrial and economic life of our day. It is the setting of the will to love above the will to live. It is the assertion that "in the long run this is a very just old world in which we live; that just as sure as sunrise and sunset, if we continue to sow injustice and unrighteousness, we shall reap hatred and violence; that the only way to reap peace and stability is to sow justice and brotherhood." To consume rationally, distribute justly, acquire honestly, enjoy moderately, to love our neighbors by making their houses sanitary, their labor wholesome, their wages adequate; to regulate dangerous trades, stamp out preventable diseases, prohibit the labor of children; to institute centers of education and recreation to replace their loss in home or shop; to cause industry to pay the necessary and legitimate cost of providing and maintaining efficient laborers, and for compensating labor for enforced seasons of idleness, sickness, accident, old age and death, to forbid inhuman greed and to insist on human justice, this is the program of Christian socialism; this is the expression in our present world of the law of Christ. "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself."

SOCIALISM AND OBJECTIONS

I have of late read many of the so-called scientific criticisms of Socialism by men claiming to thoroughly understand its philosophy. These opponents believe that the weak and the narrow minded refutation set up by them is very scientific and up-to-date annihilation of what we believe to be social practicability. The views drawn by these men of what they purport to be Socialism, is not Socialism at all, but an antiquated form of communism that came into being, long before the plan of Socialism was thought of. Such views have with a promptitude, an absolute certainty that all their premises in the premises are correct and indisputable, and yet they are not correct. The fundamental and basic principles upon which Socialism is founded. This has been the policy of the schemer for many ages past, to distort or misconstrue is the one thing the sneer and low mind that is devoid of enough intelligence to understand what constitutes progress from a modern viewpoint.

Then another fact that Socialism stands for a system of "free love," and that the truth of their contention is the exemplification of the lives of certain men who are known as believers in Socialism. If such logic as the foregoing was the only kind upon which we could base our ideas for advancement, then indeed ours would be a sorry plight. Robert Ingersoll, the noted infidel, was a member of the Republican party. Would this be reason to say that the Republican party was one of infidels? The charge has been made that some of the governmental officials at Washington are not leading the most moral lives. Would this be indictment enough to assail all and make the claim they were immoral, because the few had trasgressed the moral law? We at all times welcome the most rigid cross-examination, and when we are met with a protest that carries with it a shadow of sincerity, we lend our ears to such protest. By such action we gain knowledge and are forewarned that our opponents are working from another direction.

Those who have opposed us so strenuously will not admit, nor dare they do so, that the contentions we raise are issues that are vital importance to the welfare of all. We contend for the absolute ownership of the tools of production. They offset this by the counter claim that the governmental control of the railroads (whatever this may mean) will rebound to the best interests of all. This is as far as any of them will go into discussion of the fundamental principles. From this point they allow their wonderous minds to ebb into the great sea of what they call fallacies and from here they sail contentedly, not knowing, and seemingly caring less whither they are drifting.

Why and for what reason is it they will not enter into a discussion of the main point at issue, to furnish employment to all who seek it? This question cannot be answered by juggling with words, nor by holding in contempt those who ask it. Nor is it only a question of vital importance to the individual, but is one upon which hings the welfare of our national life. We believe that no man has a right to expect profits while there are men who are unable to obtain work so they may gain a living. We also feel that these men who oppose progress, are but little better than Judases, they knowing full well that there are little children crying for bread. All the while they are using every means possible to strengthen the conditions that are to make the bread all the more scarce. They say they pity them, but their pity for the children is the same kind of pity they hold for us while we are working in the shop, nothing more than cogs in the wheels that grind out profits that they may enjoy the good things of life.

How little respect must those persons ages have for those who have professed belief in the Socialist principle; how little they must think that the average working man has intelligence to think out what Socialism means, they must believe that the workingman is incompetent to state what he believes to be the proper method of conducting industry. They must also believe that the mind of the average worker is so chained by tradition to the fetishes of the past, that were he loosed from those restraints he would become disrespectful to all existing forms of civilization. If any one of these persons believe that the great majority of Socialists would sanction the thought of living a life of free love, the right of any other man to love the wife upon equal terms with the husband, and no power or restraint to punish him for his acts, then some one is to be pitied. It must be that we do not know what we are seeking to accomplish, or that those who are attacking Socialism are ignorant of its aims.

The charges hurled at Socialism are but the echoes of the death cry of the upholders of the present regime that has outlived its usefulness, a system that has become obsolete in so far as it cannot meet the demand of a modern state of affairs. Those who stand in the path of progress, are but the blind leaders of the blind and are unconscious of what they are doing. But may the hand of fate be stayed that it may not strike at them through the blind and uncontrolled conscience of an enraged and suffering people, who will sooner or later demand that the injustices that are so prevalent today be righted. we hope by peaceful methods.

Who can say what the morrow may hold in store for the human race, and who can lay down a fixed and firm rule to be followed by all? But the mind of man is learning every day more of that which in the yesterday was the unknowable. So as time glides by, the mind continues to do battle with the great law of life, the struggle for existence. How cruel and inhuman does this law force in all of its stern realities the untold miseries, suffering and want, upon those who are the least able to bear them, and the least able to understand why they should be compelled to kneel at a throne built by men the same as they.

May the time be near at hand, when there will be found a philosopher's stone that will have the power of spreading the light in the dark recesses of ignorance, planting sunshine where darkness reigns supreme today. The world could well afford to give the past accomplishments of the ages, for an assurance that the meek and lowly, the poor and unfortunate, would no longer have to carry upon their frail shoulders the burdens of the world.

MINING IN THE BLACK HILLS

Main Ledge Encountered By Minnesota Mines Company After Months of Effort---Gold Dollar Company Secures One Hundred Acres More.

Deadwood, S. D., Jan. 15.—The main ledge has been encountered by the Minnesota Mines company, operating in the Maitland district, after months of effort. The ore body was found in the east crosscut on the 200-foot level. The work was carried on under difficulties, but since a compressor has been installed progress will be easier. On the 100-foot level three distinct ore ledges were opened up, varying in width from thirty-five to forty feet and of good milling grade. All the present indebtedness of the company has been arranged for.

Dr. R. A. Vallier of this city, developing a tract of 500 acres in the Polo creek district near by, has run a tunnel into the formation. The result shows that this is similar to the Bald mountain country, where the Golden Reward, Mogul and other companies are producing large quantities of profitable ore.

A meeting of the Gold Dollar Mining company was held recently in this city at which all the directors were present, including the officers from Chicago. It was announced that the company had secured possession of 100 acres of additional ground, seventy from the Squaw Creek company and thirty from P. N. Hanson, and that all outstanding indebtedness had been liquidated. The old Eleventh Hour mill which is being moved from Iron creek to the company's property below Crown hill will be in shape for operation in the early spring. It is probable that stamps will be substituted for the old rolls for crushing.

Extensions of time have been granted by all the stockholders and owners of property taken over on option by the Black Hills Financial & Development corporation, of which Robert Bunce of London is the head. It is expected that it will require several weeks more in which to close up the deal.

The Bismarck Mining company, a new concern with headquarters in Chicago, has purchased the property of the Globe Gold Mining company, situated west of Lead. It has paid off all the old Globe debts and is prepared to start work. The Globe sunk a shaft 500 feet and then ran over 700 feet of drifts in an effort to reach the phonolite ledge which showed on the surface. The ledge was tapped twice, but in each instance the influx of water made further work impossible. Some samples taken from the ledge at that depth showed better than $15 in gold. The new company is capitalized at $200,000. Larger pumps will be installed.

Extensive sampling has been in progress on the Finlander group in the Custer Peak district since the Black Hills Development & Financial corporation secured an option on the property. The ground has an 80-foot shaft sunk on the main ledge, which has been crosscut and found to be thirty feet wide. Assay returns of from $3 to $13 were secured. Two other ledges showed values of from $4 to $5. Test runs of a few tons gave a satisfactory recovery.

A large body of porphyry ore has been opened up by Angelo Borresetti on his ground in the Galena district east of here. Assays indicate that the main ore body will average $8 a ton.

The Anaconda Mining company has completed financial arrangements and is now in a position to go ahead developing its ground on Elk creek, a short distance above the old Clover Leaf ground. All back indebtedness has been cleared up and there is money in the treasury.

the work of sinking the shaft on the Hidden Treasure claim is going on at record breaking speed. It has attained a depth of nearly 350 feet and the rock that is being taken out shows a better and stronger mineralization than on the upper levels. The stringers that are being cut show marked improvement. At a depth of 400 feet a crosscut will be run to the vein which was opened at a depth of 235 feet and which at that point gave evidence of great value and permanency.

Both at the Montana-Corbin and at the Boston & Corbin properties the formation is identical with that of the great mines of Butte, and every characteristic of the big Butte producers is discernible. All that appears to be necessary at both properties is development at depth, when it is believed that great copper producers will result.

The Montana-Corbin company has entered into a contract with the United Missouri River Power company for the use of electricity as a motive power, and within the next two or three months, or as soon as the power line can be extended, a new electric compressor will be installed, as well as an electric pump in the station on the 400-foot level, and compressed air will be used instead of steam in the operation of the hoist.

to its list of properties. It is now officially announced that the deal has been completed and that A. B. Wolvin and Theodore Hollister of Duluth are Butte & Superior representatives on the Butte-Milwaukee board. The Butte & Superior has already started work extending the crosscut from the 1,600-foot level of the Blackrock mine to connect with the Col. Sellers shaft at a depth of 1,700 feet on the latter property. The Col. Sellers shaft is 650 feet deep, and connection by raise will be made from the Blackrock crosscut. All this work will be done by the Butte & Superior without cost to the Butte-Milwaukee. The deal for the control of the property was made through the Butte-New York company, a stock-holding concern, and the Butte-Milwaukee stock is to be exchanged for that of the Butte-New York, any shareholder having the right of exchange on a basis, it is understood, of two and a half shares of Butte-Milwaukee for one share of Butte-New York.

Davis-Daly.

The Davis-Daly Copper company is not mining or shipping any ore at present, confining its work to development in the Colorado mine. As soon as the company can get a franchise from the city of Butte to build an electric tramway from the mine to the Great Northern railway, preparations will be made to resume mining and shipping ore to the Basin contractor. The shaft of the Colorado is now down 1,850 feet and no more sinking will be done for the present. The 1,800 level is being opened, but the main vein has not yet been reached. However, a new vein has been discovered and drifting is being done on it. So far as opened it is thirty to forty inches wide and the ore in it assays 3 to 4.6 per cent copper, with good silver value. Development work is also going on on the 1,500 level and is resulting satisfactorily.

Keating.

The Keating Gold Mining company, in a statement filed with the county clerk at Butte, shows that of its capital stock of $2,000,000, there has been issued $1,847,995 and that the company has an indebtedness of $64,968. A large quantity of the stock of the company was offered for sale from Butte recently on the buying spurt in Duluth, and there is a large amount of it still in the hands of brokers.

through seventy feet of sand to the ledge. The distance between the two points was 733 feet. The work was started Jan. 1, 1909, and was completed July 19. The outside dimensions of the "raise" were about eight feet square. Three men on a shift, all who could be used to advantage, were employed, and the work was continuous in three shifts of eight hours each. The excellent time made is shown by the fact that the progress averaged 113 feet per month. Raises which go beyond a few hundred feet are uncommon enough to cause comment in mining circles, but one which is put through to a height of upwards of 700 feet is admittedly a record undertaking. In novel methods employed, in accuracy of engineering calculation, in rapidity of the prosecution of the work and in the safeguarding of the men employed, this Negaunee feat has no equal in the Lake Superior region.

As the outside dimensions of the cribbed compartment are only about eight feet square, and as the permanent shaft is to be seventeen feet in diameter, it is necessary to stope down many thousands of tons of rock to make room for the concrete frames. This work is being done as the concrete is laid down the surface. The new shaft is 3,000 feet distant from the present hoisting shaft at the Negaunee mine, and it will replace both of the old shafts. Its equipment will be modern in every detail and it will easily and economically handle the entire output of the mine. The Negaunee has already sent out 3,500,000 tons of ore during the two decades of its existence, and it will send out a great deal more than that in the future, its deposits being very large and deep-rooted. Adjoining the Negaunee, and connected with it, is the Cleveland Cliffs company's Mass mine, still in course of development, although a shipper for several years, and the possessor of one of the biggest bodies of high-grade ore ever discovered on any of the old ranges of the Lake Superior region. Diamond drills found the Maas deposits, and they found those of the Jones & Laughlin Steel company's nearby Rolling Mill mine, which also is a valuable proposition. In each property the ore lies hundreds of feet below the surface.

Lucy Mine Active Again.

The Cleveland-Cliffs company is resuming operations at its Lucy mine at Negaunee, which had been idle six or seven years, and the Breitung interests are resuming work at the old Milwaukee and Davis mines, in the same locality. The Breitung Hematite, adjoining the same company's Mary Charlotte mine, has been restored to the active list after having been closed four years, and is being developed vigorously in the expectation of making heavy shipments the coming season. The Mary Charlotte also is being operated vigilously, with upwards of 400 men employed. A new hoisting plant has been installed at the No. 2 shaft. At Humboldt, at the western end of the range, the Breitung people are developing the Baron mine, first opened during the days of the Civil war.

The country to the south of Negaunee is receiving considerable attention. A great amount of development work is in progress in the Swanzey district, and much work is being done in the Cascade district. This latter field has been somewhat neglected in the past. The only producers the past year were the Hanna company's Richmond mine and Oglebay, Morton & Co.'s Empire mine. Thomas F. Cole of Duluth and associates, who a year and a half ago purchased the extensive holdings of the Volunteer company, formerly controlled by the late Gen. Alger of Detroit, have been exploring lands in the Cascade field, as a result of which a shaft is now being sunk near Palmer lake. There are unlimited deposits of silicious non-Bessemer ore in the district, but it is believed that the Cole people have found something much better. Diamond drilling continues.

The Cleveland-Cliffs company is spending a great amount of money in developing work in the Swanzey country, new mines being opened there are the Kidder, Smith and Northwestern. Other properties, and which are already on the shipping list, are the two Princetons and the Austin, Stephenson, and Stegmiller, the latter a possession of the Steel corporation. The ore deposits of the Swanzey district are very extensive, and eventually a much larger number of mines will be opened. It is in that territory that the Cleveland-Cliffs company has established the model town of Gwinn, already a thriving little city with numerous places of business and a great many dwellings. The municipality covers an area of 118 acres. Good, broad streets have been graded and paved and there are water, sewerage, telephone and electric lighting systems. Among the more important buildings are a $40,000 high school, a modern hotel, a hospital and churches. It will not be many years before the town has a population of 10,000 people. Most of the ore in the Swanzey district is soft, and the slicing and caving system of mining are the principal methods employed.

Little Ore in Stock.

This year has started in with very little ore in stock at Negaunee or Ishpeming, where the principal mines of the Marquette range are located. The companies have operated their properties briskly and have employed even larger forces than ever before. The operators are the Steel corporation, Cleveland-Cliffs company, Jones & Laughlin, the Breitung interests and Republic Iron & Steel company. The latter is sinking a new shaft midway between its Cambria and Lillie mines. Ten miles west of Ishpeming is M. A. Hanna & Co.'s American mine. The property is employing 250 men, a force which will be considerably increased the coming season. The first work there was done in the early '80s. The property was in bad condition when the present operators took hold of it, and they have had to erect buildings, install new machinery, deepen the shaft and extend new levels, tedious and expensive business. On surface the American mine vein was five to six feet thick. At 400 feet it was from twelve to fifteen feet in places, and now, at a depth of 700 feet, it is as much as twenty feet in width. The ore is very hard, is low in moisture and much of it is low in phosphorus. It commands the highest price in the market and is much sought after. The Hanna company is also operating the Boston mine, adjoining the American on the east.

In the country to the west of the American, the Steel corporation is operating the Champion mine, the Cambria Steel company the Republic, the Cleveland-Cliffs company the Imperial, and the Buffalo & Susquehanna people the Portland and Ohio. The Portland has been operated as an open pit proposition the past year, and the mining has been done by steam shovel. The old Stewart mine and adjoining lands, in the vicinity of the Portland, have been taken over by the Catherine Mining company, a newly organized concern, and exploratory work is in progress. The region is a most promising one and is still in its infancy, notwithstanding that some of the mines have been producing for many years.

CHRISTIAN SOCIALISM

BY RAYMOND CALKINS.

breeding conditions are tolerated for it dis among humane and supposedly Christian people. He admits that here are evils and many objections. But the amount of wages which can be paid in a given industry is an economic question which must be settled by a carefully conducted test or a showing of fact—be neither is the right or wrong of the matter. The question must be answered in the light of the gospel of love and it is that these questions can be settled and permanently answered in an atmosphere created by the high motive of patriotism and not selfishness men of affairs can shall be called upon the law of brotherliness, and all controlled by it in the ordinary of their industries and in their relations to their fellow-men. The Christian socialist utterly condemns all so-called charity of large employers of labor, who while living underpay their employees and make large bequests in their wills to public philanthropies. The Christian Socialist utterly repudiates the idea that any man has the moral right to buy the labor of any other man, irrespective of the relation of that man to the wage-earner's physical and moral well-being. He insists that so long as employers, consulting only their own interests, will pay the lowest wages that men and women can be induced to take, so long as they will discharge men with families if they can find girls and boys to do the work, so long as they will attract to their industrial centers great numbers of cheap laborers in order to force down the level of wages, so long as child labor is permitted and encouraged under the plea of industrial necessity, when it is really but the expression of an inhuman greed, so long, in a word, as unbridled self-interest governs the direction of industry and commerce, no advance can be made into that kingdom of peace and of brotherhood in which men love their neighbors as themselves.

This then, is Christian socialism. It is simply the reintroduction of the spirit of justice and of brotherhood into our unjust industrial and commercial life of to-day. It is the setting of the will to love above the will to live. It is the assertion that "in the long run this is a very best of all worlds in which we live, just as much as sunrise and sunset, if we continue to sow injustice and unrighteousness we shall reap hatred and violence, but if we only way to reap peace and brotherhood is to sow love and righteousness. To consume rationally distribute justly, acquire honestly, enjoy modestly, to love our neighbors by helping to make sanitary, their labor adequately, their wages adequate to negotiate dangerous trades, stamp out preventable diseases, provide for the education of children to institute parks or educational and recreation to replace dives, as in home or shop, to cause industry to pay the necessary and legitimate cost of providing and maintaining efficient laborers, and for compensating labor for enforced seasons of idleness, sickness accident, old age or death, to rebuke inhuman greed and to insist on human justice, this is the program of Christian socialism this is the expression in our present world of the law of Christ. Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.

We believe that no man has a right to expect profits while there are men who are unable to obtain work so they may gain a living. We also feel that nothing can oppose progress any more little children crying for bread. All the while they are using every means possible to strengthen the conditions that are to make bread all the more scarce. They are not content with getting low pay for the children at the same kind of pity they hold for those we are looking in the shop, clothing more than cows in the winter. Socialists would not like to see any one think that the average working man has no ambition to rise or what he can. This conception of the worker is incompetent to state what he believes to be the proper method of conducting the affairs of state. We must also believe that the mind of the average worker is so stunted by tradition to the fetishes of the past, that were he loosed from these restraints he would become dependent upon the existing form of monarchy. If any one of these persons believe that the great majority of Socialists would sanction the thought of taking away another's right to love each other, to love the wife upon equal terms with the husband, and no power is restrained to punish him for his acts, then some one is to be pitied, it must be that we do not know what we are seeking to accomplish, or that those who are attacking Socialism are ignorant of its aims.

The charge leveled at Socialism are not the echos of the death cry of the defenders of the present regime that has outlived its usefulness—a system that has failed to satisfy the needs of the common man—the demand of a modern state of affairs. Those who stand in the path of progress are but the blind leaders of the blind and are unconscious of what they are doing. But may the hand of fate be stayed that it may not strike at them through the blind and unconscious obedience of an organized and suffering people, who will sooner or later demand that the injustices that are so prevalent today be righted. we hope by peaceful methods.

We can say what the morrow may call it may be for the human race, and we can look down a dyed and thro [illegible] followed by all but the mind of man is learning every day more of that which in the yesterday was the unknowable. So is time giving to the most contempt to do battle with the great law of life, the struggle for existence. How cruel and unjust the law is for those to all of the stern realities the untold miseries, and the want upon those who are the least able to bear them, and we best able to understand why they should be compelled to kneel at a throne built by men the same as they. By the time he near at hand, when there will be found a philosopher's stone that will have the power of spreading the light in the dark recesses of ignorance, planting sunshine where darkness reigns supreme today. The world could well afford to give the past accomplishments of the ages, for an assurance that the meek and lowly, the poor and unfortunate, would no longer have to carry upon their frail shoulders the burdens of the world.

MINING IN THE BLACK HILLS

Main Ledge Encountered By Minnesota Mines Company After Months of Effort---Gold Dollar Company Secures One Hundred Acres More.

Deadwood, S. D., Jan. 15.—The main ledge has been encountered by the Minnesota Mines company, operating in the Maitland district, after months of effort. The ore body was found in the east crosscut on the 200-foot level. The work was carried on under electricities, but since a compressor has been installed progress will be easier. On the 100-foot level three distinct ore ledges were opened up, varying in width from thirty-five to forty feet and of good milling grade. All the present indebtedness of the company has been arranged for.

Dr. R. A. Valker of this city, developing a tract of 500 acres in the Polo creek district near by, has run a tunnel into the formation. The result shows that this is similar to the Bald mountain country, where the Golden Reward, Mogul and other companies are producing large quantities of profitable ore.

A meeting of the Gold Dollar Mining company was held recently in this city at which all the directors were present, including the officers from Chicago. It was announced that the company had secured possession of 100 acres of additional ground, seventy from the Squaw Creek company and thirty from P. X. Hanson, and that all outstanding indebtedness had been liquidated. The old Eleventh Hour mill which is being moved from Iron creek to the company's property below Crown Hill will be in shape for operation in the early spring. It is probable that stamps will be substituted for the old rolls for crushing.

Extensions of time have been granted by all the stockholders and owners of property taken over on option by the Black Hills Financial & Development corporation, of which Robert Bonee of London is the head. It is expected that it will require several weeks more in which to close up the deal.

The Bismarck Mining company, a new concern with headquarters in Chicago, has purchased the property of the Globe Gold Mining company, situated west of Lead. It has paid off all the old Globe debts and is prepared to start work. The Globe sunk a shaft 500 feet and then ran over 700 feet of drifts in an effort to reach the phonolite ledge which showed on the surface. The ledge was tapped twice, but in each instance the influx of water made further work impossible. Some samples taken from the ledge at that depth showed better than $15 in gold. The new company is capitalized at $200,000. Larger pumps will be installed.

Extensive sampling has been in progress on the Finlander group in the Custer Peak district since the Black Hills Development & Financial corporation secured an option on the property. The ground has an 80-foot shaft sunk on the main ledge, which has been crossent and found to be thirty feet wide. Assay returns of from $7 to $17 were secured. Two other ledges showed values of from $1 to $5. Test runs of a few tons gave a satisfactory recovery.

A large body of porphyry ore has been opened up by Angelo Barrosetti on his ground in the Galena district east of here. Assays indicate that the main ore body will average $8 a ton.

The Anaconda Mining company has completed financial arrangements and is now in a position to go ahead developing its ground on Elk creek, a short distance above the old Clover Leaf ground. All back indebtedness has been cleared up and there is money in the treasury.

the work of sinking the shaft on the Hidden Treasure claim is going on at a rapid and breaking speed. It has attained a depth of nearly 250 feet and the rock that is now being taken out shows a better and stronger mineralization than on the upper levels. The stringers that are being cut show marked improvement to a depth of 400 feet a crosscut will be run to the vein which was opened at a depth of 225 feet and which at that point gave evidence of great value and permanency.

Both at the Montana-Corbin and at the Boston & Corbin properties the formation is identical with that of the great mines of Butte, and even characteristic of the Big Butte prodmeers is discernible. All that appears to is necessary at both properties is development at depth, when it is believed that great copper producers will results.

The Montana-Corbin company has entered into a contract with the United Missouri River Power company for the use of electricity as a motive power, and within the next two or three months, or as soon as the power line can be extended, a new electric compressor will be installed, as well as an electric pump in the station on the 700-foot level, and compressed air will be used instead of steam in the operation of the hoist.

to its list of properties. It is now officially announced that the deal has been completed and that A. B. Wolvin and Theodore Hollister of Duluth are Butte & Superior representatives on the Butte-Milwaukee board. The Butte & Superior has already started work extending the crossent from the 1,600-foot level of the Blackrock mine to connect with the Col. Sellers shaft on a depth of 1,750 feet on the latter property. The Col. Sellers shaft is 400 feet deep, and connection by raise will be made from the Blackrock crossent. All this work will be done by the Butte & Superior without cost to the Butte-Milwaukee. The deal for the control of the property was made through the Butte-New York company, a stock-holding concern and the Butte-Milwaukee stock is to be exchanged for part of the Butte-New York, any shareholder having the right of exchange on a basis, it is understood, of two and a half shares of Butte-Milwaukee for one share of Butte-New York.

Davis-Daly.

The Davis-Daly Copper company is not mining or shipping any ore at present, confining its work to development in the Colorado mine. As soon as the company can get a franchise from the city of Butte to build an electric tramway from the mine to the Great Northern railway preparations will be made to resume mining and shipping ore to the Rasin contractor. The shaft of the Colorado is now down 1,450 feet and no more sinking will be done for the present. The 1,500 level is being opened, but the main vein has not yet been reached. However a new vein has been discovered and drifting is being done on it. So far as the Davis-Daly shaft is sunk it is thirty to forty inches wide and the ore in it assays 3 to 4.6 per cent copper with good silver value. Development work is also going on on the 1,300 level and is resulting satisfactorily.

Keating.

The Keating Gold Mining company, in a statement filed with the county clerk at Butte, shows that of its capital stock of $2,000,000, there has been issued $1,857,995 and that the company has an indebtedness of $34,998. A large quantity of the stock of the company was off red for sale from forty resents on the boxing spar in Butte, and there is a large amount of it still in the hands of brokers.

through seventy feet of sand to the ledge. The distance between the two points was 733 feet. The work was started Jan. 1, 1909, and was completed July 19. The outside dimensions of the "raise" were about eight feet square. Three men on a shift, all who could be used to advantage, were employed, and the work was continuous in three shifts of eight hours each. The excellent time made is shown by the fact that the progress averaged 112 feet per month. Raises which go beyond a few hundred feet are uncommon enough to cause comment in mining circles, but one which is put through to a height of upwards of 700 feet is admittedly a record undertaking. In novel methods employed, in accuracy of engineering calculation, in rapidity of the prosecution of the work and in the safeguarding of the men employed, this Negaunee feat has to equal in the Lake Superior region.

As the outside dimensions of the cribbed compartment are only about eight feet square, and as the permanent shaft is to be seventeen feet in diameter, it is necessary to stope down many thousands of tons of rock to make room for the concrete frames. This work is being done as the concrete is laid down the surface. The new shaft is 2,000 feet distant from the present hoisting shaft at the Negaunee mine, and it will replace both of the old shafts. Its equipment will be modern in every detail and it will easily and economically handle the entire output of the mine. The Negaunee has already sent out 2,500,000 tons of ore during the two decades of its existence, and it will send out a great deal more than that in the future, its deposits being very large and deep-rooted. Adjoining the Negaunee, and connected with it, is the Cleveland Cliffs company's Maas mine, still in course of development, although a shipper for several years, and the possessor of one of the biggest bodies of iron ore ever discovered on any of the old ranges of the Lake Superior region. Diamond drills found the Maas deposits, and they found those of the Jones & Laughlin Steel company's nearby Boiling Mill mine, which also is a valuable proposition. In each property the ore lies hundreds of feet below the surface.

The Cleveland-Cliffs company is resuming operations at its Lucy mine at Negaunee, which had been idle six or seven years, and the Breitung interests are resuming work at the old Milwaukee and Davis mines, in the same locality. MOTHER'S FRIEND

A LINIMENT FOR EXTERNAL USE.

One of the most valuable qualities of Mother's Friend is that it safe-guards the future health of the mother. It is a liniment to be applied externally to the body, the use of which lubricates the muscles and tendons, softens the glands and ducts, prevents lumps forming in the breasts, and relieves the pain, nervousness, nausea, and other troubles from which so many expectant mothers suffer. When Mother's Friend is used regularly it fits and prepares the system for an easy and natural consummation of the term. Women who massage with this great liniment are always saved much suffering when baby comes, and recover more quickly, and without ill effects. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Write for our free book for expectant mothers.

For the Man Who Works

In these days of strenuous commercial activity, the man who succeeds, who keeps abreast of the struggling procession, must above all have good health and mental as well as physical vim. There is no food which better keeps the system in working trim than good beer It nourishes, refreshes, aids digestion and is an ideal tonic.

There is a difference however, in the finer qualities of beer. A trial of

Fitger's Beer

(the best by 25 year's test) will convince you of its superior flavor. It is brewed, aged and bottled to suit the most exacting taste.

Order a case for your home.

ON A MINNEAPOLIS CORNER

Duluth is demonstrating its right to a place in the ranks of the first cities of the country, by the system of street lighting which has been laid out by the Commercial club committee, and which will likely be in operation inside of a year.

Some of the larger cities of the United States have had their principal streets and avenues lighted for the last few years, but scarcely any in the same class as Duluth have shown the same progressiveness.

"Great White Ways" are not only beautiful, but they have proved themselves to be a paying proposition in those places which have adopted them. They have become a business investment, and where they were tried as an experiment in one or two streets, they have been extended to all parts of the cities which made the venture. The largest merchants were the first to take the step ahead. They found that with their windows brilliantly illumined and the appearance of their places of business improved 100 per cent, their sales increased proportionately.

Some of the downtown houses in Duluth already have installed the lights which are now being urged by the Commercial club, and two blocks on Third avenue west are already lighted with them. The next thoroughfare which will be lighted will likely be East Superior street, from First avenue east eastward. Most of the property owners have been signed up, and only a few remain to be secured. The latter are in a small proportion, and it is not probable that their refusal will prevent the lights from being in operation in a short time. The cost of installation will be about $1.55 per front foot, and it is estimated that the cost of maintenance will average 69 cents per light per year. H. J. Mullin has been most active in securing these signers, and he says that all who have come into the fold have advanced 80 cents per front foot already to insure rapid completion of the work. The contract is wide open, and if the work costs more, the necessary funds will be forthcoming.

Mr. Mullin is also a member of the Commercial club committee. He has had considerable correspondence with companies manufacturing posts. From fifteen concerns he has secured prices ranging from $120 to $30 per post. Including the price of the posts, which has not been determined, the club committee figures that it will cost not to exceed $105 per light to get them where the current may be turned on. About 250 posts will be used in Duluth when the system is completed.

The additional lights on Superior street will probably extend from First avenue east, the beginning of the first set, to Sixth avenue west, and those on First street will likely run from Lake avenue to Fifth avenue west. Emphasis is laid on the fact that Fifth avenue west, from the depot to the new courthouse, should be well lighted. It is stated that the gateway of the city is poor enough at best, and that at night it will be greatly improved by a series of lights.

The first town in Northern Minnesota to go in for this class of lighting is said to be Coleraine, on the range. The citizens made their own posts of concrete at home, with five lights—four on the sides and one above. The same number of lights will be used in Duluth, as provided by an ordinance recently passed by the city council. The distance that the posts shall be placed has also been fixed by the council. In both instances the suggestions of the committee which has the matter in charge were followed.

The committee consists of J. A. Stephenson, C. F. MacDonald, H. J. Mullin and H. V. Eva.

PREPARING FOR ACTIVE SPRING REALTY MARKET

Midwinter Lull Does Not Affect General Feeling of Optimism.

New Additions in East End and Woodland Will Be Platted.

Seasonable quiet pervades the realty market. Being just in the turn of the year, people are not paying a great deal of attention to the realty market. Those deals in which negotiations have been begun since the first of the year have not advanced far enough to be made public, so there is very little of interest coming out.

Most of the work being done in the offices consists of arranging and revising listings for the year. Owners of listed property are being consulted on prices and terms; agents are familiarizing themselves with new conditions attached to the listings that they may know what they have and talk intelligently on it, and the forces are being organized for the heavy season that is expected to open soon.

There is no discordant note in the symphony of optimism. All along the line dealers are full of expectancy. The year 1910 will be a record breaker in Duluth's realty market, and deals in the air now will give the season a good start.

Many of the large real estate firms are increasing their forces in anticipation of the increased business and are lining up new listings to care for the demand they expect.

It is expected that some new additions will be platted in the East end and Woodland districts during the coming season. Several purchases of twenty-acre and forty-acre tracts were made during the past year or two for platting, and the time is about ripe for putting them on the market. Desirable sites for fine residences are becoming scarce since the heavy movement in that class of property during the past two years developed, and those holding the unplatted land have been awaiting just such a condition before giving the public an opportunity to get in on new additions. Residence sites in the East end are becoming more valuable every year, for almost every piece purchased is taken out of the market and used by the purchaser as a foundation for his own home.

The building of homes on easy payments will have great vogue during the coming season. The Walton agency of Minneapolis has entered the Duluth field and signed a number of contracts. The Lakeside Land company expects to build more houses during the coming year than ever before. A number of other Duluth firms are beginning to realize the opportunity given them to own their own homes and be independent of rent. The plan is much more general in other cities than in Duluth, but it is coming into its own here and is getting results.

A number of modern apartment houses are planned for the coming season, and the large number of those buildings erected in the past few years have caused a great increase in the value of what were formerly residence lots lying near the business district. Lots that were worth about $2,000 a few years ago have increased four or five times in value on account of their favorable location for apartment house sites. The modern apartment house may be a benefit or an evil in American cities, but it is certainly growing in Duluth and is spreading all over the city, from Lakeside to West Duluth.

There are very few desirable acreage tracts on the market, and would-be buyers of that class of property are finding trouble filling their wants. Acreage in the vicinity of the steel plant is especially scarce, and enormous paper profits have been made by owners of land in that district, judging from the prices that are offered now for desirable tracts.

The following sales were made through the office of the Harris Realty company: Lot 8, block 66, Portland division of Duluth, which is twenty-five feet on the south side of Third street,

We Have For Sale a Few High Class Residence Sites That Have No Equal.

There are scores of people who expect to buy a fine site some day and are putting it off, thinking they can do it later. They will wake up some day to find the most desirable ones already appropriated and not in the market at any prices. We are now offering a 200-foot corner of the highest quality for $12,000. Another for $15,000 Another for $8,500. We can suit you with 100-foot corners and 50-foot lots at proportionate prices. Come in and let us explain some of the advantages of buying in a restricted district. Fourth, Fifth, Sixth and Seventh streets in the Normal school district have the restrictions that will make values there advance more rapidly than anywhere in the city.

Seventh street will be improved next year in a style equal to Sixth street. Property on the East End ridge is in a class by itself, and will be kept so.

FIREPROOF HOME WHICH WOULD COST $8,500 TO BUILD IN DULUTH

FIRST FLOOR PLAN — SECOND FLOOR PLAN

Here is a design for a dwelling of fireproof construction. The interior arrangement is most practical for this construction and the exterior, though fireproof, presents a most attractive and homelike appearance. The walls, floors and partitions are of hollow tile. Stucco is used for finishing of outside walls, and asbestos shingles suggested for the roof, though slate or copper could be used. They would cost more. The bearing partitions of both stories coming in the same line make construction comparatively simple and inexpensive. No steel, except for reinforcing concrete beams, would be required, and there being no extremely long spans, this would be light and the floor slabs not over six inches thick.

The plans have several unusual features in their arrangement. One of these, the enclosed staircase, so arranged as to be effectively shut off from the various stories and rooms, is exceptionally good. It eliminates all drafts so prevalent around stairway openings and is, therefore, a most effective safeguard against fire. The staircase, closed off as it is, also gives greater seclusion to the various rooms of the house and effectively checks the travel of sound from floor to floor. In this plan a separate rear staircase for the servant would be superfluous, her room being directly accessible from the main staircase, which also connects directly with the service portion of the house. The kitchen entry serving as cellarway and passage from the main rooms of the house is another feature of economy and practicability. The library, arranged as it is, would serve admirably as a den and can be effectively closed off from the balance of the house; yet it is conveniently accessible from two sides. The service portion of the house is most practical and complete.

In the second story the arrangement is ideal. It contains the owner's sleeping apartment, guest room, bath room and servant's room. The attic is large and could be arranged for two or three additional rooms and bath. Ample closet space is provided, and most generously in the owner's apartment. The boudoir, accessible only from the owner's sleeping room, forms a quiet and restful retreat for the housewife. It contains a small fireplace and space for necessary furniture.

Taken as a whole, these plans suggest an ideal arrangement for a home of its dimensions, and the exterior, with a proper setting, would be most attractive.

The estimated cost of a home as above illustrated and described, built complete, including heating and plumbing, is $8,500.

FINE WEATHER PREVAILS FOR WINTER BUILDING

Plans Will Be Out Soon for the Fidelity Building.

New Theater Will Probably Be Erected on First Street.

Contractors are congratulating themselves on the weather conditions which have allowed them to continue work almost uninterruptedly during the winter thus far. Fine progress has been made on all buildings under construction and with the exception of the new Orpheum theater and the Sherwood building, the structures are enclosed and interior work has begun. Few announcements of building work have been made during the past week, though the architects say they have been called upon for a number of sketches.

Bray & Nystrom will have plans out soon for the Fidelity building, which is to be erected on the south side of Superior street between Lake avenue and First avenue west. The preparation of plans was begun in the early fall and one of the buildings on the side was razed, but the failure of the owners to agree with the other tenant on the lease caused a postponement of the work until spring.

The building will front fifty feet on Superior street, will be seven stories high and will be built of reinforced concrete. It is to be constructed by the Zenith Investment company, of which John A. Stephenson is manager.

It is said that the new theater, plans for which were filed in mysterious fashion with the building inspector some time ago, will be erected on the southeast corner of Lake avenue and First street. The mystery surrounding the project has not been entirely dispelled. The plans call for a pretentious structure costing about $150,000, but the owners are unknown, though it is said that Twin City parties are behind it. It is believed locally that the building will be leased to the Shuberts.

Bray & Nystrom are preparing plans for a modern residence for G. G. Barnum on Third street, between Twenty-second and Twenty-third avenues east. It will be a brick residence of modern construction. The same firm this week let the contract for the heating and plumbing in the new Sherwood building to D. R. Black & Co., and the electrical work to the Duluth Electric company.

Radcliffe & Price are preparing plans for a horse hospital to be erected for the city of Duluth, near the headquarters of the fire department on First street, between Sixth and Seventh avenues west.

J. J. Wangenstein is preparing plans for a modern residence for Newell F. Russell, on the southwest corner of London road and Forty-fifth avenue east. It will be a modern brick residence, with a garage on the same lot. Work will be started early in the spring, and the building will be completed next fall. The cost will be in the neighborhood of $20,000.

The following permits covering work costing $1,000 or more were issued during the week by Building Inspector S. M. Kielley:

P. George Hanson, frame dwelling on the north side of Fifth street, between Piedmont avenue and Twenty-first avenue west.

J. M. Smith, frame dwelling on the north side of Third street, between Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth avenues west, $2,500.

F. I. Salter & Co., agts., brick store building on the north side of Superior street, between Seventh and Eighth avenues west, $2,000.

John D. Kenna, frame dwelling on the north side of Fifth street, between Lake avenue and First avenue west, $3,000.

SUICIDE MAY BE DRAMATIC CRITIC

Body Is Identified as That of Barrett Eastman of Chicago.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—Identification of the body of a man found dead in the Breslow hotel at Biloxi, Miss., Tuesday, was made here today by Col. F. A. Eastman, city statistician, as that of his son, Barrett Eastman, for years known to Chicagoans as a dramatic critic.

A photograph of the body was sent here by the police of the Mississippi city and was declared by Col. Eastman to be his son's likeness. All the indications in the Biloxi hotel were that the man had ended his life with poison and had sought to prevent identification by destroying papers which he carried.

Had Been Despondent.

According to Col. F. A. Eastman, father of Barrett Eastman, the young man who, with his wife, had been living at a hotel here, had suffered for two years from a blood clot over the temple. Col. Eastman declared that the fact preyed on the man's mind and had caused him despondency.

Barrett Eastman was well known in newspaper and literary circles, and in addition to extensive work for Chicago newspapers, was a contributor of prose and verse to magazines. As a special writer he attracted attention and as a dramatic critic occupied a prominent position in the newspaper world.

Well-Known Writer.

He was born in Chicago, Jan. 25, 1869. His journalistic career began in 1889, as a reporter for the Chicago Herald. Later as editorial writer on the Chicago Evening Post, Chicago Tribune, New York American and Journal, the Los Angeles Tribune and the Chicago Journal, he attracted attention. For a time he was Sunday editor of the Chicago Tribune and attained most of his prominence as dramatic critic for the Chicago Tribune and the Chicago Journal. With Wallace Rice, he was the author of a volume of poetry.

Several years ago he married Sophonista Harrison, a sister of Carter H. Harrison II, former mayor of Chicago. Eastman's married life was not a success and he separated from his wife. Subsequently he married a wealthy woman and made his home in California, retiring from the West he again took up newspaper work in Chicago.

USE FISTS IN RELIGIOUS FIGHT

Catholic and Republican Students in Pitched Battle at Sorbonne.

Paris, Jan. 15.—A long series of disorders at the school of the Sorbonne, fomented by Loyalist Catholic students, culminated today in a pitched battle between political partisans. The fighting was with fists. The Republican students drove their adversaries out of the building.

GETS DAMAGES ANYWAY.

Man Who Settled With Railroad for $5 Secures Big Verdict.

Crookston, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The fact that Thomas Strand, who was injured five years ago while working on the Great Northern section by being struck by an engine as he was trying to get a handcar off the track, settled with a claim agent for $5, did not prevent his suing the company and recovering big damages.

It developed that he was crippled as a result of the accident worse than expected and, suing the company, has just secured judgment for $3,500. Being unable to work on the section at Benoit, he made his home for several years with his brother, Ole Strande, in this city. He was assisted in his suit and in other ways by the Sons of Norway, of which he was a member, and an aged mother in Norway will be one of the beneficiaries of the substantial verdict recovered.

For the past few years the plaintiff has had one leg practically useless, being drawn up several inches from the ground.

TWO PETITIONS ARE FILED FOR RECOUNT IN BOSTON.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 15.—The petitions asking recounts of the votes cast in Tuesday's election, by which Former Mayor John Fitzgerald was apparently elected mayor for four years by a plurality of 1,415 over James J. Storrow, his nearest opponent, were filed with the election commissioners yesterday. The recount probably will be held next week.

ROCKEFELLER WILL BUILD DISPENSARY.

Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 15.—Cleveland women physicians have accepted an offer from John D. Rockefeller to build them a women's and children's medical and surgical dispensary. The women doctors have been running a babies' dispensary themselves for thirty years, without soliciting outside aid. A condition of the Rockefeller gift is that the doctors raise a $25,000 endowment fund as a "starter."

ICE JAM 65 MILES LONG

Watch Fires Are Kept Burning Near the Ohio River at Night.

Gorge Has Piled Up Twenty-Five Feet in the Kansas.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 15.—Wolf Creek in the Ohio still holds, the sixty-five mile ice jam apparently growing stronger with a drop in temperature. Watch fires are kept burning at night along the river. Everywhere people are ready with their telephones to give warning of the first signs of a break.

The river today reached a flood stage in Louisville for the first time this winter. Ten barges of the Monongahela Coal and Coke company were torn from their moorings at Towhead Island, five miles above Louisville, today, but were caught before going over the falls.

Mississippi Is Falling.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 15.—The guage of the Mississippi river at St. Louis stood at nineteen feet this morning. This represents a fall of more than twelve feet in thirty hours. Little ice is running.

The steam and wharf boats, which were left on the levee by the rapid decline, are being moved back in the water by the tug boats.

Jam Twenty-five Feet High.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 15.—Interest in the condition of the Kansas river, as a result of ice gorges, centered today on a great jam near Edwardsville, Kas., twelve miles upstream from here. Ice is piled twenty-five feet high there from bank to bank. That heavy damage to bridges and other property will result when the gorge breaks is feared by river men.

HOOSIER SAYS HE HAS THREE WIVES

Harry E. Epperly Admits Charge When Taken Into Court.

Terre Haute, Ind., Jan. 15.—Harry E. Epperly, who was arested here today at the request of the police at Anderson, Ind., admits he has three wives—Carry Kennedy Epperly at Anderson, Ind.; Emma Decker Epperly, at Monmouth, Ill., and Bessy Dunbar Epperly, with whom he is living in Terre Haute. Epperly is 35 years old and has been a resident here for six months. He will be taken to Anderson.

ROBERTSON'S FUNERAL.

Head of Crookston School of Agriculture Is Buried.

Crookston, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Prof. William Robertson, late head of the Crookston School of Agriculture, who died on a sleeper while en route to St. Paul Wednesday night, was held here at 2:15 this afternoon from the M. E. church.

The body arrived in the city Friday morning and was taken to the experimental farm, being escorted from there to the church at 1:15 this afternoon. The church was crowded during the services.

William Robertson was 52 years of age. He was born in Wisconsin and graduated in the class of 1885 at Carlton college, being valedictorian of his class. After graduation he became principal of the high school at Willmar, Minn. Later he taught for some eighteen years in the School of Agriculture of the University of Minnesota. About five years ago Mr. Robertson was appointed head of the Crookston institution.

The deceased leaves a wife and one son, Lynn, aged 19 years. There are also three brothers and one sister. The brothers are President E. P. Robertson of Wesley college, Grand Forks; Dr. J. B. Robertson, Cottonwood, Minn.; David Robertson, Conde, S. D., a prominent business man of that city. The sister is Mrs. McConnell of Brush, Colo.

SPOONER MODERN BROTHERHOOD INSTALLS.

Spooner, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Modern Brotherhood of America held the installation of officers at the I. O. G. T. hall last Thursday. The following officers were installed for the ensuing year: President, Charles B. Mumick; vice president, Mae Corrigan; treasurer, T. Helden; secretary, M. A. Robertson; chaplain, W. H. Hill; physician, Dr. J. E. Corrigan; constable, Whalen; W., Ole Boe; sentry, Adam Donaldson; trustee, A. Randelin.

ROOSEVELT HEAD OF HARVARD ALUMNI.

Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 15.—The election of Theodore Roosevelt, Harvard '80, ex-president of the United States, as president of the Harvard Alumni association, succeeding Charles W. Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard university, was announced last night by the executive board of the association. If Mr. Roosevelt is in this country at the time it will be his duty to preside over the annual meeting of the association here in June.

Mammoth Mine Deal.

City of Mexico, Jan. 15.—The largest mining transaction ever made in Mexico was said to have been practically completed yesterday in the sale of the Santa Gertrudis mine at Pachuca, in the state of Hidalgo, to the Camp Bird company of London, for approximately 9,000,000 pesos.

WHEAT AND FLAX WEAK

May Flax Option Declines 6 Cents in the Local Pit.

Wheat Also Declines in the Face of Active Trading.

Duluth Board of Trade, Jan. 15—Wheat was weak today and flax also declined, both markets being active. May wheat opened at a sale at $1.12, and declined to $1.11⅞, rallied to $1.11⅞, lost ⅜c and rallied again to $1.11⅞, closing at that price bid. May flax opened at $2.24, lost 1c and then declined sharply to $2.18, rallying to $2.19¾ and closing $2.19½ asked.

The domestic situation is the leading factor in the market. Large primary receipts and a prospect of a continued liberal movement, combined with considerable liquidation, sent wheat downward from the opening, although intermittent support caused slight rallies. These upturns were feeble and held little strength.

Sentiment was bearish and many traders accepted profits, rather than stay short over Sunday. This contributed to the slight rally toward the close.

The dominating factor, however, was the situation at home, the foreign markets following the trend of American markets. In the three leading Northwestern markets 475 cars of wheat were received, compared with 271 a year ago. The primary receipts of wheat today were 626,000 against 434,000 bu a year ago. Duluth got 62 cars against 42 last year. Receipts are increasing and the demand does not keep pace with the increase. A bear discussing the situation today said: "What will be the size of the receipts when the weather becomes favorable for marketing the crop?" Time will tell. In the meantime many think the decision will take the form of a marked increase in arrivals.

The farmers appear to have some wheat on the scale down which they did not do to any extent in December. The bullish interests maintain that the increase in receipts is only temporary and that the farmers will not feed out their supplies in the coming weeks. The bulls also believe that the foreign demand for American and Canadian wheat will be large and that the East is about cleaned up. They look for the demand to more than keep pace with the receipts. On the other hand the bears cannot lose sight of the fact that the world's yield for the season was 400,000,000 bu greater than in the previous year and that Australian and Argentine shipments are larger than had been expected. These bearishly inclined are in a mood to discount the reports that the grade of Argentina wheat is such as to demand an unusually increased supply of American and Canadian grain for mixing purposes.

The milling demand in general is excellent. Yet it must be considered that the mills have been bullish for a long time and that they have been in the market for large supplies of spot and have been heavy purchasers of futures. Flour brokers all over the country, according to a leading elevator concern, are carrying larger stocks than ever before in the history of the trade. Many mills still find it difficult to get shipping directions, and in some cases storage is being paid to mills for carrying flour already purchased. As a market opinion, it was said that unless the foreign markets regain the recent losses and continue to advance and the export demand for Canadian wheat improves materially it is well to be cautious on the buying side unless the general public comes in as a more pronounced buyer of futures.

Relative to the export demand, the Winnipeg market was the only one on this side which closed higher today, May being ¼c up at the close over yesterday's last quotation. Kansas City was unchanged. The rest were fractionally off, the decline being the sharpest in New York May, which lost ⅜c. Advices from Winnipeg were to the effect that the market was tight, with few offerings, and that exporters bought wheat liberally. The local export trade was said to be good. This was the only bullish factor in evidence today, and it affected seriously only one market. American offers aided in steadying the foreign market.

The foreign situation was weaker. It was predicted that the world's shipments to the United Kingdom will increase. Offerings were light, but the undertone was steady. Firmer American offers and reports of damage to the Argentine crop by locusts caused a slight recovery toward the close. Argentine rumors are not regarded with so much seriousness now on this side. The domestic situation was predominant, however, and little or no attenuation was paid here to the Argentine reports. The latest estimate on the exportable surplus from Argentine is 87,000,000 bu, which is higher than most of the previous guesses.

The cash situation is about unchanged, spot selling at 1c over May here. The situation in Chicago is weaker and a softer undertone pervades the cash market in Minneapolis. In the presence of increasing supplies and a slackening in the demand, lower prices were inevitable. The higher cash prices, which have ruled at Minneapolis, have tended to divert shipments to that market, and it was natural that the first break in the position should be at that point.

The decline in the flax market today was attributed to the activity of the crushers. The American Linseed company probably was the largest buyer in the local market. There were scattered acquisitions also, most of them being speculative. The crushers, it seemed, held that prices ruled too high and when the values had been forced down purchases were made. The buying movement and covering by shorts caused a rally of 1¾c toward the close. The sales were mostly from the country. Flax supplies at the Head of the Lakes continue to decrease, the shrinkage for the last six days amounting to 28,000 bu. Supplies aggregate 207,000 bu, practically all of which has been sold for shipment. The advanced prices on oil and cake which became effective in the latter part of last week are unchanged. Cash durum at the close was unchanged. Oats, rye and barley closed unchanged from Friday and cash wheat closed 1c over December.

Wheat stocks increased 312,000 bu at the Head of the Lakes in the last six days. Local flax stocks decreased 28,000 bu.

Car receipts at Duluth were 62 against 42 last year; at Minneapolis 302 against 175 last year; at Winnipeg 111 against 54 last year, a total of 475 for the Northwest compared with 271 against last year. Chicago received 36 cars against 12 last year. Kansas City received 105 cars compared with 54 last year. St. Louis received 53,000 bu against 54,000 bu last year, and shipped 49,000 bu compared with 47,000 bu last year.

Primary receipts of wheat were 626,000 bu, last year 434,000 bu; shipments, 193,000 bu; last year, 225,000 bu; clearances of wheat, 145,000 bu; oats, 1,000 bu; flour, 13,000 bbl; wheat and flour, 204,000 bu.

Primary receipts of corn were 704,000 bu; last year, 429,000 bu; shipments, 220,000 bu; last year, 295,000 bu; clearances, 242,000 bu.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Wheat at the start was nervous on break in America, and at the opening values were ½@⅝d lower. Predictions of large world's shipments to the United States added to the pressure. During the session the market was dull, but undertone steady and offerings light, prompted by firmness of La Plata. At the close market was quiet but steady, and values unchanged from opening ½@⅝d lower from yesterday. Corn was steady at the opening and values ¼d lower. Later prices advanced ⅛d on the fewer and firmer American offers and continued reports of damage to the Argentine crop from locusts."

Bartlett-Patten wired from Chicago: "In partial response to our decline yesterday Liverpool comes ⅝d lower on wheat and ¼d lower on corn. Local traders have largely changed their position on wheat and were free sellers yesterday. There is nothing in the present situation to encourage bull speculation. Receipts are increasing and demand is disappointing. Corn and oats seem to have entered into a period of liquidation, and country holders were free sellers yesterday, but both seem to be largely over-bought and liquidation promises to continue. Unless we have unfavorable weather we look for larger receipts for coarse grains and believe they are a sale on all rallies."

Finley, Barrell & Co. said: "Bullish sentiment in the past few days in wheat has received a severe jolt on account of the continued liberal movement to primary points, and, unless the movement shows a material decrease, lower prices for futures are inevitable. Advise selling wheat on all hard spots. From a supply and demand standpoint the situation is healthy, which means that a further readjustment sooner or later is to be anticipated. We believe it advisable to await some further depression in corn before replacing long holdings, as the country was showing more disposition to sell yesterday than for some time past, and improved climatic conditions are expected to bring about a material increase in movement. We think oats a sale on all sympathetic and sentimental upturns."

Liverpool close—Wheat, ½@⅝d lower; corn, ¼@½d lower. Berlin wheat closed ½c lower. Buda Pest is unchanged. Antwerp is ⅝c lower. Paris close—Wheat, unchanged to ¼c lower; flour, unchanged.

ADVANCES IN STOCKS

Market Opened Lower But Rose Briskly on Heavy Buying Orders.

Close Was Active and Strong at About Day's Highest Prices.

New York, Jan. 15.—The most noteworthy feature of the opening of the stock market today was the sale of 7,000 shares of United States Steel at 84⅝ as against yesterday's closing price of 85. Business was on a fairly large volume and further extensive declines were registered, especially in American Smelting, which sold off 1⅝. Central Leather, Westinghouse Electric and United States Rubber 1 and International Harvester 2. The rest of the list, with a few unimportant exceptions, moved in sympathy with the active issues.

Opening prices were the lowest made in the important stocks, the market thereafter going up briskly on heavy buying for both accounts. Many of the standard stocks made overnight gains of a point, and the price list in general ruled fractionally above yesterday's closing. Reading, Southern Pacific, Northern Pacific, Pennsylvania, Delaware & Hudson, Atchison and Wabash preferred improved 1. Westinghouse Electric broke 4¼, but recovered half of it.

The market closed active and strong. Active selling was resumed, which was particularly effective in Union Pacific and United States Steel, the latter breaking to 84⅛. When prices had been driven down to about the low figures current at the opening, supporting orders were distributed, and the decline was checked. Prices then started upward with a rush to the top level of the day. St. Paul, Southern Pacific, Amalgamated Copper and Reading sold two points over yesterday's close, and the majority of other stocks a point or more.

OFFICE OF CONSOLIDATED ELEVATOR COMPANY.
Duluth, Minn., Jan. 8th, 1910.
To the Stockholders of the Consolidated Elevator Company:
Notice is hereby given that the stockholders of the Consolidated Elevator company at the annual meeting held in the city of New York on the 21st day of December, 1909, more than one-tenth of the capital stock of the corporation being represented, as provided by the by-laws, did call a special meeting of the stockholders of the Consolidated Elevator company and authorized the secretary to give notice of the same, to be held at the office of Morton S. Paton, No. 1 Broadway, New York city, on Tuesday, the 8th of February, 1910, at 11 o'clock a. m., for the purpose of voting upon a proposition to amend the by-laws of the said Consolidated Elevator company, as follows, to-wit:
Amend Clause 1 of Article 5 of the by-laws of the corporation, by striking out the word "nine" and inserting the word "eleven," so that the said Article 5 shall read as follows:
"The board of directors of this corporation shall consist of eleven persons, and the qualifications thereof shall be as follows:
"They shall be stockholders in said corporation, but need not reside in the state of West Virginia. The said directors shall be elected at the annual meeting of the stockholders, each year or soon thereafter as practicable, and shall hold their offices until their successors are elected and qualified. The stockholders in general meeting may remove any director and fill the vacancy, but any vacancy not existing by such removal may be filled by the board, and a majority of the board shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of all business. If the board of directors be reduced at any time so as to impair the proper and efficacious management of the business of the corporation, a general meeting of the stockholders may be called to elect new directors, or to take such other order in the premises as they may deem proper."
To amend the said by-laws by adding thereto the following by-law as Article 9:
The board of directors shall elect from their number at the annual meeting in each year, or as soon after as practicable an executive committee of the board consisting of five members, of whom the president shall be one, and of whom three members shall constitute a quorum. The said executive committee shall during the interim between the board meetings have and exercise the powers of the board of directors for the transaction of the current business of the corporation. Meetings of the executive committee shall be held subject to the call of the president or any two members of said committee, upon previous notice of three days by letter or telegram; said meetings to be held in the city of Duluth or at such other place as may be designated in the call. Said executive committee shall keep a record of their proceedings which shall be read at the regular meetings of the board of directors.
G. H. SPENCER,
Secretary.

ALIMONY IS AWARDED

Martin Lavell Is Ordered to Pay Wife $7.50 a Week.

Says Woman Has Neglected and Abused Children and Himself.

In affidavits presented to the court this morning in opposition to a motion for temporary alimony, attorney's fees and suit money, Martin M. Lavell charged his wife, Mary Lavell, with neglecting and abusing the two children of the couple. Mrs. Lavell, who is suing for a divorce on the ground of cruelty, was awarded $7.50 a week alimony during the pendency of the suit and $75 attorney's fees and suit money. She applied for $50 a month alimony, $150 attorney's fees and $150 suit money.

In her petition, Mrs. Lavell alleged that her husband, who is a logger and homesteader in the town of Lavell, is worth about $50,000 in real and personal property. Lavell denied the allegation, stating that he is not worth more than $2,500 above all debts and liabilities. He said he has lost money during the past two seasons, principally because the men working for him could not get along with his wife.

He said Mrs. Lavell failed to properly clothe and feed the children, that she often slapped and abused them, that she has an uncovernable temper and often struck and abused him and his employes. He said in his affidavit that she once locked the door of the tool house and left for two or three days and on other occasions locked the doors in the house. He asked that the custody of the two children be given him during the pendency of the action.

Mr. Lavell now has charge of the older child, a girl about two years old, and the woman has the younger child. Judge Dibell decided to leave the children where they are until the case is tried and he awarded the woman a sum he thought sufficient for the support of herself and her child temporarily.

FRANCHISE DUE TO COME UP AGAIN

The city council Monday night will again take up the matter of granting a franchise to the Canadian Northern for a right-of-way which has been surveyed through West Duluth. Attorneys for both sides have appeared before the city fathers to present their views, and have left some of them in a decidedly unsettled state of mind. But the general impression seems to be that the railroad will get the franch

HELP WANTED—MALE.

FULTON TOLD NAPOLEON HE COULD build a steamboat. Napoleon didn't believe it. By refusing to investigate, Bonaparte failed to realize the greatest ambition of his life, the invasion of England. To every young man who can qualify, the United States navy offers a chance; a chance to see some of the United States, maybe foreign countries; a chance to become strong, erect, athletic; a chance to save money, as most of his expenses are paid; a chance for promotion to rank of officer; perhaps a chance to learn a trade, but a sure chance to learn by travel, study and high-class associates; and, should he wish to leave the navy, he will be in fine training for life's fight. By refusing to believe it, by refusing to investigate, you, like Bonaparte, may fail to realize your greatest ambition, the ambition to win success. The navy department doesn't urge any young man to become a bluejacket. It only urges him to investigate navy opportunities. Will you refuse to investigate, or will you talk it over with a recruiting officer today? You will find him obliging and glad to tell you everything. Ask him all the questions you wish. That's what he is there for. Should you decide not to enlist, you will have done no harm. If you can't call, write the recruiting office for an interesting free book which tells all about pay, play, work in the navy. Call or write Navy Recruiting Station, room 16, Postoffice building, Duluth, Minn.

INSURGENTS ARE IN TANGLE OVER SLATE FOR THE PRIMARIES

Many Would Be the Next Congressmen From North Dakota.

Effort to Induce Burdick to Run for Lieutenant Governor.

Walt Taylor in the Field for Commissioner of Insurance.

Valley City, N. D., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The unraveling of the congressional tangle that exists in the insurgent faction of the Republican party in North Dakota is the task that will be set before the "conciliation committee" of twenty-one members authorized at the insurgent conference in this city last week. The job is no small one, as there are insurgent candidates for congressional honor in every section of the state, and a peaceable settlement of the difficulty that will mean the least possible friction at the primaries will mean no end of trouble for the members of the committee.

Just what action will be taken by the committee is not definitely known. It will be composed of two members from each judicial district with one member at large. In the formulation of a slate of candidates no difficulty has been experienced for any other places except the two on the congressional ticket, but that problem is a hard one.

May Switch Burdick.

One step that may be taken, and which has been quite generally discussed, is that of prevailing upon U. L. Burdick to withdraw from the congressional race and enter the campaign for the position of lieutenant governor, for which there is as yet no insurgent candidate. Burdick's candi-

GOODS STOLEN BY MURDERER FOUND

Silver Discovered in Chimney at Home of Alleged Slayer.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Jan. 17.—The silverware stolen from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Barnes Compton at Millbrook, the night Sarah Breymer, their governess was strangled to death, has been found in a chimney flue in the bedroom in the home of Coachman Frank Schermerhorn, who is charged with the murder, and who attempted to commit suicide by cutting his throat when the officials began their investigation of the case.

There were 161 pieces of the silver, also a gold enameled watch and some jewelry, all of which was scorched and blackened. In the wood stove, in Schermerhorn's sitting room, there were traces of fresh fire, and out of the ashes were picked fragments of silk stockings, silk and lace waists, buttons from dresses, parts of which were found in the chimney, and other things stolen from the Compton house the night of the murder. Schermerhorn denied that he knew anything about the silverware and clothing.

KELLOGG'S CANDIDACY

For the United States Senatorship May Be Announced Soon.

Taft Is Great Admirer of Kellogg and May Aid Him.

Washington, Jan. 17.—A good deal of interest has been excited in the Minnesota colony in the presence here of State Senator Ed Smith of Minneapolis. He came here early last week, and the assumption is that he is in Washington on a political mission. Since his arrival Mr. Smith has had a number of conferences with Frank B. Kellogg, who, it is believed, will soon announce that he is a candidate for the United States senate to succeed Moses E. Clapp. Mr. Smith has also called on members of the Minnesota delegation.

The senatorial situation in Minnesota has been given some consideration by the administration. It is said the administration fears that Senator Clapp may soon assume an attitude of open hostility to it. On the other hand, it is known that Senator Clapp does not entirely approve of the administration.

President Taft may use his good offices at any time they may be invoked to harmonize factional differences in the party in any state, which he is now doing in the case of South Dakota, but he will keep hands off in

FARGO PLANS GREAT WEEK

Tri-State Stock Growers' Convention Will Begin Tuesday Morning.

Several Other Organizations Will Meet During Balance of Week.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Tri-State Grain and Stock Growers convention begins a four days' meet here at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. The program includes some of the best speakers of the department of agriculture at Washington, United States Senator McCumber, and prominent agriculturalists in Minnesota and the Dakotas. It is varied and will interest all classes of visitors.

The organization of a terminal elevator association to provide houses in Minneapolis and Duluth is another feature of the week. The society of regents will also participate in the Tri-State program, furnishing the speakers for one session.

The big show by the North Dakota Corn association will attract an unusual amount of attention. The exhibit this year is high class as last year was an exceptionally good growing season and the corn crop matured to the highest perfection.

The North Dakota veterinarians will

SAYS HUSBAND DUMPED HER IN

Bride of Three Days Is Rescued From Well in Connecticut.

Fairfield, Conn., Jan. 17.—Knocked on the head, thrown into a well by her husband and a male companion and left for dead, was the fate that met Annie Brooks, a bride of three days, who was married in Hartford, Conn., on Tuesday. According to Mrs. Brooks, the three went to the Ferris farm, where the men attacked her.

On striking the water, the woman regained consciousness and drew herself out of the water by means of an iron pipe. This she clung to until Sunday morning, when she was found. Her feet were frozen and will have to be amputated.

The men checked a trunk belonging to the woman, which she said contained $700 to Springfield.

RUSSIA WILL NOT CONSENT

Council Decides Against Knox's Plan As to Manchuria.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 17.—The council of ministers has decided that the United States proposal for the neutralization of the Manchurian railways is not acceptable to the Russian government at present. Russia's reply to Secretary Knox's note will be delivered to United States Ambassador Rockhill in a few days.

RUSH VOTERS TO THE POLLS

English Election Managers Are Doing Some Strenuous Work.

Unionists Have Gained Only Half the Seats They Expected.

London, Jan. 17.—Clear weather and a host of workers on either side, using thousands of motor cars and carriages to convey delayed voters to the stations, gave promise of a record poll being recorded at today's elections for members of parliament. In doubtful districts, the party organizers were reinforced by an army of canvassers, and few voters escaped.

In all, 104 seats were contested today. Of these, thirty-one were London constituencies and seventy-three provincial boroughs. Last year the Unionists held thirty-six of the 104, the Liberals fifty-two and the Laborites sixteen. The proportion for London alone was: Unionists, seventeen; Liberals, twelve, and Laborites two.

The city of London itself is quite safe for the Unionists, and A. J. Balfour

MARATHON IN THE AIR

Curtiss, Paulhan and Hamilton Defy Elements in Their Aeroplanes.

Crowd at Los Angeles Is Given Sensational Spectacle By Flyers.

Aviation Camp, Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 17.—The wind and rain conspired yesterday to test the airships flying on Aviation field. The result was a victory for Glenn H. Curtiss and Louis Paulhan.

In almost a gale of wind Curtiss rose to a height of more than 100 feet and described circles in a daring fashion, lifting and dipping and rising again and winding up by flying a figure eight. Paulhan strove to outdo this, going up 512 feet and circling about like a hawk.

Another remarkable picture was painted. Curtiss, Paulhan and Charles K. Hamilton, each driving his own machine, swung around in an aerial marathon. At times they raced together headlong against the wind and then flew under an over and around each other.

Paulhan made one trip for speed. In

AGRICULTURAL EXPORTS SELL HIGH

Preliminary Report Is Made By the Bureau of Statistics.

Washington, Jan. 17.—Seventy cents a bushel for corn, $1.04 a bushel for wheat, and practically 12 cents a pound for cotton is the 1909 record of the exports of three of the principal articles of agricultural production.

The preliminary statement of exports of breadstuffs, meat and dairy products, cotton, and mineral oil for the calendar year 1909, just issued by the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor, shows that 34,704,000 bushels of corn exported were valued at $24,299,000, or an average of 70 cents per bushel; 46,902,000 bushels of wheat, value at $48,978,000, or an average of $1.043 per bushel; and 3,891,000,000 pounds of cotton, valued at $461,377,000, or an average of 11.86 cents per pound.

While these figures are stated by the bureau of statistics as preliminary and only including the exports through the principal ports of the country, they are sufficiently complete to give a picture of the exportation of the important articles of agriculture during the year. The exports of mineral oil, also shown by the above statement, show lower values than last year, though increased quantities, the total quantity of mineral oil exported during the year being stated as 1,495,000,000 gallons, valued at $99,749,000, against 1,475,000,000 gallons, valued at $105,282,000 in the preceding year.

STEEL TRUST 'POOR MODEL'

Judge Parker Says Such Management Would Not Do for Nation.

He Delares That Less Efficiency With Fewer Evils Is Preferable.

Washington, Jan. 17.—That a national government modeled after the management of the United States Steel corporation, perfect as that is, would not be desirable, but that, in fact, "less efficiency" and "fewer evils" is to be preferred, was the declaration here today of Judge Alton B. Parker, before the conference on uniform state laws.

It were unwise to think of absolute uniformity of legislation throughout the United States, in the opinion of Judge Parker. "We do not aim at absolute uniformity of law, but a wise and conservative uniformity," he said. "There is danger in pressing uniformity to extreme lengths. There are diversities of climate, of production, of tradition, of heredity, of population, of pursuits among the people of our several commonwealths which should be generally respected.

4,000 ACRES FOR THE UNEMPLOYED

Arkansas Man Says He Will Give Property Worth $100 an Acre.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 17.—George M. Jackson of Piggott, Ark., announces that he will give 4,000 acres of rich bottom lands near Piggot, valued at $100 an acre, to the unemployed. The announcement was made at a meeting of the Brotherhood Welfare association, of which James Eads How, millionaire, is president.

The offer was taken under advisement by the brotherhood officials and probably will be accepted. The plan suggested by Jackson is that 400 unemployed men may be given ten acres each.

Jackson is 75 years old and eccentric. He says he intends to seek gifts of additional lands for disposal among the unemployed from wealthy men.

No conditions are to be imposed upon the persons accepting his 4,000 acres. Jackson's offer was heard by 200 men commonly called hobees, who divided their time between listening to the speaker and consuming large quantities of coffee and sandwiches furnished by How. Jackson says he has nine heirs, grandchildren, but that he will not leave them his property, "as they have not earned it."

ACCUSES BALLINGER OF USING U. S. MONEY FOR NEPHEW'S FARE

Representative Hitchcock Files Charge With the House Committee.

Senator Nelson Makes Conference Report on the Investigation.

Officials and Ex-Officials Can Be Represented There By Counsel.

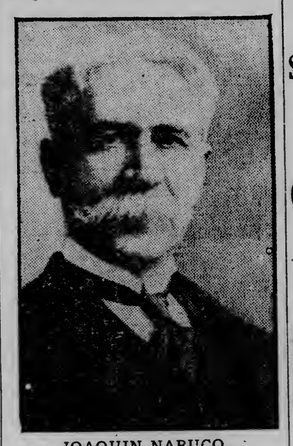

Washington, Jan. 17.—Charges against Secretary of Interior Ballinger and other officials, alleging improper use of public funds to pay private traveling expenses of a nephew of the secretary were made in an affidavit filed today by Representative Hitchcock, Democrat of Nebraska, with the house committee on expenditures in the interior department.

Nelson Makes Report.

Senator Nelson today reported to the senate the conference report on the resolution providing for the investigation of the Ballinger-Pinchot controversy. The conference report would permit "any official or ex-official" concerned to appear personally or by counsel, and the time limits provided would make it possible to extend the investigation beyond this session of congress.

The conference report as presented was unanimously adopted by the sen-

DIES IN SERVICE OF BRAZILIAN NATION

JOAQUIN NABUCO.

Washington, Jan. 17.—Joaquin Nabuco, ambassador of the Republic of Brazil to the United States, died at his home in Lafayette place shortly before noon today. He had represented his government here since May, 1905.

Immediately upon learning of the ambassador's death, President Taft called at the late diplomat's home and left his card.

TURNS DOWN WALSH PLEA

Supreme Court of the United States Denies Petition of Banker.

Writ of Certiorari Is Refused to the Convicted Financier.

Washington, Jan. 17.—The petition for a writ of certiorari in the case of John R. Walsh, former president of the Chicago National Bank of Chicago, under sentence of five years' imprisonment in the federal prison at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., on the charge of misapplying the funds of the bank,

STEINBRENNER OFF IN 20 DAYS

Wrecker Thinks He Can Have the Vessel Raised By That Time.

Sault Ste Marie, Mich., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is the expectation of Wrecker Reid to have the steamer Henry Steinbrenner raised in twenty days, from its resting place near Round Island, where it sank last fall in collision with the Harry A. Berwind. Tugs left Detour Friday and battled through the ice until Saturday evening before reaching the wreck.

Ice sixteen inches thick had to be cut away from the vessel to work to advantage. Divers are patching the hole. Pumps are aboard the tugs, and will be started as soon as the plugging is completed. With thirty consecutive hours' good weather, it is said the Wisconsin could be released from outer Duck Island. A little wind from any direction makes work necessary to remove lighter.

PLAN SEND-OFF FOR A. F. WOODS

Nebraskans at Washington Will Fete New Dean of Gopher School.

Washington, Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Nebraska association will hold a reception at the Normandie hotel Tuesday evening, in honor of A. F. Woods, at present assistant chief of the bureau of plant industry, agricultural department, who has accepted the position of dean of the school of agriculture of the University of Minnesota.

Mr. Woods is a graduate of the University of Nebraska, class of '90, and has been in Washington for several years connected with the agricultural department. His many Nebraska friends will assemble Tuesday night to congratulate him upon his well-deserved promotion to the deanship in the university and to wish him all the good things that the Gopher state can hand out.

BISHOP ROASTS BOSTON SCHOOLS

He Says Dancing Has Made Them Into Dens of Iniquity.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 17.—"Dancing in the public schools in Boston is responsible for conditions of immorality that are almost as bad as the white slave traffic," declared Bishop Mallalieu of the Methodist church in Tremont temple, Sunday, at the memorial service for the late Charles M. Crittenden, founder of the Florence Crittenden missions.

"There ought to be a state law against dancing in any public school," he declared. It is a vice and destroyer of morals, and the nude statues and pictures all are corrupting the morals of the young and lowering the standard of morality among the older people to an extent which is almost as bad as the white slave traffic.

FIGHT IN THE ST. PAUL JAIL

Sheriff and Deputies Succeed in Spoiling Plot of Three Men.

Attempt Is Tipped Off in Advance and Officers Are Ready.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—A desperate and dramatic attempt to overpower the jailers, rob the safe and break out of the county jail was made early Sunday morning by Charles D. Hall, Frank L. Good and Hermann Reineke, three prisoners awaiting trial on charges of felony.

That the attempt was not successful was due to the carefully laid plans of Sheriff William A. Gerber, who had received intimation that the attempt would be made and had several armed deputies "planted" in the corridors and in a room adjoining the office where the safe is located.

The three men occupied adjoining cells on the main floor of the jail, all opening into the same corridor. According to information which came to Sheriff Gerber about three weeks ago, yesterday morning at the change of watch was the time set for the jail break. Close watch has been kept on the three prisoners since that time, in a manner not calculated to arouse their suspicions.

The plan was for Good to beat him into insensibility, take the keys, one of which opened the office safe, containing yesterday about $800, open the outside rear door and have everything cleared for the hasty escape of himself and his two accomplices when the latter had secured Jailer Silverstein.

When the cell doors were opened Good rushed through the main corridor and into the office. Night Jailer H. A. Kirtley, Lew Gerren, Hermann Heuenfeldt and August Beeyers were in the room with Fortmeyer. The instant Good entered the room all five attacked him. He made a desperate but ineffectual attempt to hold his own

A CLEVER DOG.

"On one occasion," says the English actor, Lewis Waller, in the Strand, "we arrived in Southport too late at night to secure rooms, and accordingly my fox terrier and I bled ourselves to the nearest hotel. At this particular establishment, however, dogs were not admitted, and it was only after the exercise of not a little persuasion that I obtained a rather grudging permission for my four-footed friend to spend the night in a room in the basement which was used, for the most part, for cleaning boots.

"Having seen the dog securely tied up by a lead I retired for the night. My room, I remember, was on the third floor, and was situated in a long corridor passage, both sides of which were lined with bedrooms. In the middle of the night, however, I was awakened by the sound of vigorous scratching on the panels of my door, and on jumping out of bed to see who the would-be intruder was, I found my fox terrier seated on the mat outside. I was too tired to go down and see how my faithful companion had managed to "burst his bonds," but, in any case, although it was, perhaps, not a difficult matter for him to free himself, his task in finding my room in a strange hotel containing several hundred bedrooms cannot have been an easy one, though, as a matter of fact, I suppose the little chap must have sniffed at the boots placed outside each door until he succeeded in finding mine."

THE POLICE COURT GRIST

Cruiser Arrested for Cashing a Number of Bad Checks.

"William Jennings Bryan" Pleads Guilty to Being Drunk.

John C. O'Hara, a cruiser, was arrested this morning on three different warrants charging him with obtaining money under false pretenses by means of checks in a manner similar to that of which W. H. Reynolds was convicted.

E. J. Kenny, assistant city attorney, stated to the court that he also has other complaints pending against him in his office, and that he understands the bank has received more checks since the first complaints were filed. It appears that O'Hara has been doing a wholesale business, drawing checks on the City National bank without funds in the institution.

The warrants were sworn out by H. Witt, who alleges that O'Hara mulcted him of $10; Frank Mucelill, who claims he is out $4.90, and W. N. Hart, who says he lost $8.50. In each case O'Hara is alleged to have made the check payable to "Cash" and to have made a small purchase when he passed them.

The first complaints were made several weeks ago, but he was out of the city and was not apprehended by the police until today, although they have kept a sharp lookout for him.

O'Hara claims that he gave the checks in good faith, believing he had money to his credit in the bank. He says he recently closed a deal with a prominent Duluth man, who promised to deposit $500 to his credit in the bank. He pleaded not guilty to the three charges. His trial was set for Friday. Bail was fixed at $100 in each case.

Olaf Olson is out $12.50 because he was not in court at 9:30 o'clock, but straggled in half an hour later. He and Gunner Ellingson were arrested in the West end Saturday charged with gambling, it being alleged that the two fleeced a third man out of $8 in a card game in a saloon. Ellingson pleaded guilty and was fined $7.50, and had Olson been in court he would have received the same punishment. He was out on $20 bail, which was declared forfeited.

William Jennings Bryan—not the three times candidate for president—pleaded guilty to being drunk and disorderly. The police say he came over here from Superior and offered to show how strong he was in a Bowery saloon. They say he claimed that he could topple over the Ailworth building by standing on his head and blowing real hard. The court blew a fine of $10 and costs or ten days at him, which he was unable to pay. The man with whom he was fighting, Charles Hanson, got off with the minimum, $5 or three days on pleading guilty to being drunk.

Dan Hanson and Mary Bekker were arrested last night by Sergeant Barber in the West end on a statutory charge. The woman forfeited $10 bail and Hanson entered a plea of not guilty. His trial was set for this afternoon.

Theodore Frederick frightened some children on Lake avenue Saturday afternoon, when drunk, and he got $20 or twenty days when he admitted that he had been toying with the flowing bowl.

Harry Rappaport, a clerk employed by Leo Solomon, will probably be tried this afternoon on the charge of stealing $4 from Solomon. He was arrested Saturday afternoon.

The trial of Peter Johnson, the foreman arrested Saturday for non-support is also set for this afternoon. His wife claims that he has neglected her and their son for many weeks, although capable of earning $4 or $5 a day.

MEETING OF COUNTY CLUB

Fully 150 Delegates Are Expected to Attend Convention Here.

A rousing meeting of farmers will be held at the Commercial club tomorrow when the second annual meeting of the St. Louis County club, an organization that includes representatives from every commercial club and every farmers' club in St. Louis county, will be called to order.

Prof. James H. Gray of the University of Minnesota will be the principal speaker. Prof. Gray has made economics and organization of agricultural movements his special study. The open market will be the principal subject under discussion.

It is expected there will be 150 delegates at the meeting. There is a convention in the city tomorrow of the chairmen of the country school boards. These men will be appointed representatives of the commercial and farmers' clubs, so that their presence in the city will insure a large attendance at the county club meeting.

In addition to the delegates who will be in attendance from the various organizations of this county there will be a number of delegates from Carlton, Pine and other counties.

FATALLY STRUCK; NO BONES BROKEN

Peculiar Result of John Hill Being Run Over By Cars.

Pine River, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald)—John Makl, aged 23, better known as John Hill, a Finlander, residing seven miles west of town, was run over by an extra freight, Engineer Moody and Conductor Cole, three-quarters of a mile south of town about 7:30 Saturday night, dying three hours later. Hill had been in town during the day, drinking freely. He had started home on skis about 5:30, the village marshal leaving him just out of the village limits, apparently in full possession of his faculties. After the marshal had left him Hill evidently changed his mind and started back to town. He left the skis and on his way back lost his direction, coming out on the railroad track and turning south, crossing the bridge over Norway brook, continuing a quarter of a mile south to the curve where the accident happened. Engineer Moody says he thought at first the obstruction on the track was a pile of cinders and did not see it was a human being until too late.

Discovered Too Late.

He applied the airbrakes but the engine and three cars passed over Hill. He was picked up and brought to town by the train crew, and just before dying recovered consciousness. As far as known not a bone in the man's body was broken, notwithstanding that he was dragged, rolled and pusned fully 100 feet under the train between the rails. The snow and sand was gouged clear to the ties, but torn clothing and bad bruises were the only result apparent from outside appearances. Internally, the man must have been crushed to a pulp.

Hill, a couple of years ago married the widow of John Wilson, who fell from a bridge in Brainerd and died from his injuries about a year later. The affair is made doubly sad by the illness of Mrs. Hill, who is now very ill, having given birth to a child only a few days ago.

HAZEN TRIAL IS NEARING END

Criminal Cases in District Court to Be Disposed of This Week.

It is expected that the trial of Fred Hazen, which is in progress before Judge Hughes in district court, will be concluded this afternoon. The man is being prosecuted under a new statute making is a crime for a person to secure his support or any part of it from the earnings of an immoral woman. The case was opened for the introduction of more evidence by the state this morning, and the trial, which was expected to conclude early this morning, was prolonged.

Before Judge Dibell the case of Carl Johan Lind vs. Christ Wallin is on trial. Lind is sued for $3,500 damages for injuries he claims to have sustained in an assault he says Wallin committed on him at the home of a neighbor at Midway.

Judge Hughes will continue to sit on the trial of criminal cases during the remainder of the week, and it is expected that all pending criminal matters will be disposed of this week. Tuesday of next week Judge Hughes will open the January term of court for the range at Virginia.

MAN WHO WEIGHED 595 TO HAVE TEN BEARERS.

Chicago, Jan. 17.—Peter Klees, a police magistrate at Aurora, Ill., said to have been one of the heaviest men in the world, died Sunday. Mr. Klees weighed 595 pounds and was six feet, three inches tall. Ten of the strongest men in Aurora have been selected to act as pall bearers.

ARRESTED FOR STEALING FARGO MAN'S DIAMOND STUD

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—J. R. Dougherty is under arrest here for the theft of a $165 diamond stud from S. R. Williams of Fargo.

The police chased Dougherty through the streets of the city at midnight last night before finally capturing him and finding the stolen jewel in his possession. Dougherty claims the affair was only a joke, but Williams says the joke was carried too far.

$100,000 ST. PAUL FIRE CAUSES PANIC

Dozen Frightened Women Employes Are Carried Out By the Firemen.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fire in the building at 22 East Seventh street, occupied by the American House Furnishing company, started a panic among 100 employes this afternoon, and damage estimated at $100,000 to the building and contents resulted.

Twelve women employes were carried down fire escapes and ladders by firemen. None was injured.

YOUNG AMERICA.

Delineator: Little Harold, aged 6, felt very proud when he donned his first pair of trousers. Taking his 3-year-old brother behind the door, he was overheard to say: "Willie, Willie, do you remember me?"

A little boy of 3 was begging to go to see a little neighbor. His mother had repeatedly refused. Finally she said: Drury, do not ask me if you can go to see Joe again." Then the child in his slow way asked: Well, Mamma, if I could go, how long could I stay?"

A little fellow was taken to a barber shop for the first time, to have his hair cut, and as the barber was in a distant part of the shop for a few moments, the small customer said, in lowered tones to his father:

"Papa, you must tell the man that I am not to be shaved."

When Robert was only 3, he found a discarded calendar, and on it the bust picture of a woman with only a drapery thrown across her shoulders. He was looking at it very intently, and then said: keep your towel around you, go!! Yur mamma will come pretty soon with your clothes."

Two small children hearing older persons refer to the cat's tail as his ebenezer, came home from church one day very much chagrined, saying: "The choir sang a dreadful song, but we did not take any part." On being questioned, it was found they had sung that good old hymn, "Here I'll raise mine Ebenezer."

Little Elsie, aged 3, who was walking in the garden with her nurse one evening, caught sight of the thin crescent of the new moon, hanging low in the west, and exclaimed in great excitement:

"Oh, look, look, nursie! The moon's all gone away, and there isn't anything left but just its skin!"

While out walking with her papa and mamma one day, Florence, aged 4, ran some little distance ahead. As she got near a mule hitched to a farmer's wagon, the animal began to bray. She wheeled instantly, and running to her mother as fast as she could go, said in wild-eyed astonishment: "Oh, mamma, sumfin said sumfin."

During the daily bath of two young sons, ages 2 and 3½, the mother was suddenly called to the telephone. On her return, she found them both out of the tub, thoroughly excited. Thereupon the older exclaimed:

"Harold was about to go down in the hole, but I got him out. Muvver, I got him out."

A mother was talking to her little girl of the love of God to us. She repeated the beautiful verse, "For God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten son that whosoever believeth in him shall not perish, but have ever lasting life," and said: Isn't it wonderful dear, that God should love us so much as that?" To her surprise the child replied: "No, Mamma, I don't think it wonderful." The mother said: "Why, daughter, don't you know that God's love is wonderful?" "I think it would be wonderful if it were anyone else," said the child, but it's just like God."

THE ANGLING PARSON.

London Globe: Glancing over the various fishing reports I have been impressed of late with the large number of clergymen who are followers of St. Peter and St. Izaak—real enthusiasts many of them, skilled users of fly rod and roach tackle, and ranging from the highest dignitaries of the church to the humblest of curates.

My lord bishop here and there wields the salmon rod, Canon So and So is out after sea trout, and the village parson is endeavoring to outwit the wily chub. This season some of our clerical friends have caught heavy baskets of trout in Scotland, and I also hear of their successes in salt water.

Our fishing parsons are not only numerous by the waterside, but are frequently associated with the social side of the sport—here one presides at an angling dinner, there another is elected to the honored post of president of a club, and now and then we hear of clergymen lecturing on their favorite sport and recreation.

Certain kinds of tackle now in use have been suggested and first designed by reverend gentlemen, and everybody who is a fly fisherman is acquainted with the fact that that deadly fly "Greenwell's Glory" is the invention of the veteran Canon Greenwell of Durham cathedral. Other flies must have been dedicated to parsons, for the other day I heard of a salmon angler trying a "Scarlet Cardinal," and another feathered lure sometimes to be found in the angler's flybrook is known as the "The Priest."

WHAT PEOPLE WANT TO KNOW.

Mr. Norris of Nebraska, long a student of the Panama Canal problem, had prepared a lecture on the canal, says J. C. Welliver in "Success Magazine." He had a splendid collection of slides and a big lantern, he had studied the canal during a long stay in the zone, and he went home full of the purpose of telling the people of his district about it.

He received invitations all over his state to address meetings, and the lecture course opened auspiciously. But at the second meeting all plans were wrecked. A large audience listened for two hours to the canal address, and when it was about to be dismissed, somebody called out:

"Before you go Mr. Norris, tell us about this Cannon fight; that's what we want to know about." And Mr. Norris unprepared for a speech, talked an hour, and got the first real, uproarious enthusiasm of the evening!

From that time until his impromtu course closed, he had to give the Cannon lecture most of the time, because the people insisted on it. They didn't want Panama and pictures; they wanted the facts about the struggle for the control of the house. "And there was but one opinion on the matter," concluded Mr. Norris, in telling about his experiences, "they are all insurgents."

MERRY WAR TO KEEP UP

Insurgents Are Expected to Keep Center of Stage at the Capital.

Attitude of Congress Toward Taft's Pet Schemes Is Awaited.

Washington, Jan. 17.—No matter how satisfactory an arrangement is made for the selection of the joint committee to investigate the Ballinger-Pinchot controversy, the insurgent tight promises to occupy a prominent place in the congressional situation during the coming week.

Dissensions between the insurgents and regulars in the house have occupied the center of the stage for a fortnight, although several important measures have been passed. The bickerings have even spread to the senate wing of the capitol and legislation there has been at a standstill.

That there will be a lull in hostilities in the house as soon as the Ballinger-Pinchot committee is appointed, is conceded, but those who are anxious that legislation may proceed without delay are not oversanguine in their efforts to keep the insurgent row in check. They look for renewed outbreak whenever any question affecting the Cannon rules is interjected into the proceedings.

Watch Taft Measures.

Second in interest to the discussion of the battle between the Republican organization and the insurgents in the house, is the gossip in both branches of congress as to what will be the fate of the several administration bills to put into force what are now known as Taft policies, as differentiated from Roosevelt policies. These embrace the program for the amendment of the interstate commerce laws, the Sherman anti-trust law, and carrying into effect measures for the conservation of natural resources.

Little opposition has been heard to the administration measure for the strengthening of the interstate commerce act. On all sides it seems to be conceded that some such measure as is proposed by Mr. Taft will be enacted.

The insurgents of the senate expect to hold a conference at an early day to consider what is to be their attitude on the administration bills. In the meantime the senate committee on interstate commerce will take up the subject of amending the interstate commerce act at a meeting to be held Friday, while the Taft measure will have to run the gauntlet of opposition in the house committee on interstate and foreign commerce.

That Incorporation Plan.

Comments upon the federal incorporation bill have not been altogether favorable. Many lawyers have taken the position that it interferes with the rights of the states to tax the property of corporations, while there are others whose views are dictated to some extent by the belief that if the decision of the Standard Oil case is affirmed by the court, that company would be the first to take advantage of a voluntary federal incorporation act. Opposition to the Standard Oil company as a monopoly, compels these members of congress to be against the measure designed to give relief to any of the alleged trusts.

Saved at Death's Door.

The door of death seemed ready to open for Murray W. Ayers of Transit Bridge, N. Y., when his life was wonderfully saved. "I was in a dreadful condition," he writes. "My skin was almost yellow; eyes sunken; tongue coated; emaciated from losing forty pounds; growing weaker daily. Virulent liver trouble pulling me down to death, in spite of doctors. Then that matchless medicine, Electric Bitters, cured me. I regained the forty pounds lost and now am well and strong." For all stomach, liver and kidney troubles they're supreme. 50c at all druggists.

MONTANA BASKET BALL TEAM INVADES MINNESOTA.

Bemidji, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Billings Booster basket ball team of Billings, Mont., arrived in Bemidji, Sunday noon, on their invasion of the East, which so far has been a veritable march of victory.

The team is headed by Joseph Markham an old Bemidji boy who is captain and forward of the five that is recognized as the champions of Montana, and Joe avers that his team is in splendid condition, flushed with late victories over strong opponents, and prepared to play the "Big Bemidji" team off its feet.

The team has been on a tour since Jan. 10, playing several teams in North Dakota. The first game was played at Dickinson, against the local military company, the Montanans winning by a score of 55 to 18. Bismarck was the next victim, the score being 53 to 22. Valley City fell by the wayside, score, Billings, 43, Valley City, 27.

The Montana boys were billed to play against the Fargo Business College quintet at Fargo, Saturday evening, but the Fargo boys failed to live up to their contract and that game was cancelled, the Montana players going to Grand Forks, where they spent Saturday night, and they came to Bemidji, Sunday noon.

They will play against "Big Bemdji" Monday and Tuesday nights, and from here they go to St. Cloud, where they play Wednesday, playing at Minneapolis, Thursday; at Red Wing, (the old home of their manager, E. P. Neill), Friday; Portage, Wis., Saturday, and they return westward playing the following week through the Dakotas and concluding that week with a game at Bozeman, Mont., Agricultural college, for the championship of Montana.

HARD SLEDDING FOR TAMMANY

Only Two Followers of the Tiger Land Jobs Under Gaynor.

New York, Jan. 17.—Like other domestic animals, the Tammany tiger must be fed, but since William J. Gaynor was elected mayor of Greater New York, the tiger's diet has been almost exclusively kind words. Charles F. Murphy, the leader of Tammany has paid three visits to the Gaynor house in Brooklyn and three to the city hall, but he has brought away hardly more than a cheerful smile. Nevertheless, every Tammany office seeker continues to be told "you must see Murphy first."

The sages of the organization have worked out an explanation for this anomaly which is both ingenious and instructive.

The mayor is reported to have said to Murphy: "I am grateful to you for your support in the campaign. Any names you submit shall have preference. But they must be good names."

Two Large Jobs.

Under this agreement, which thus far worked with automatic precision, Murphy submits the names—and the mayor rejects them. Out of thirty-five Tammany districts leaders, just one has got a job. Out of the long list of new commissioners appointed, at salaries ranging from $5,000 to $7,500, just one is a Tammany man—Rhinelander Waldo, the new fire commissioner. And the first thing Waldo did was to abolish the private stable the city had been maintaining for the commissioner.

So elsewhere, Comptroller Prendergast announced on his first day of office that the subway was good enough for him. The mayor walks. If the city automobiles do not demonstrate their usefulness they and their chauffeurs and the chaufeurs' "joy rides" are all to go.

No Rural Machine.

Park Commissioner Higgins of the Bronx, laid off 150 men in the first week. Water Commissioner Thompson has done away with overtime and Sunday pay. It looks very lean for the small fry.

One bright spot, however, the Tammany men still see. There is no sign that the mayor will attempt to build up a rival political machine. Thus far he has not played politics.

WANTS TO WIELD GAVEL IN HOUSE

Diekema of Michigan Is Candidate for Uncle Joe's Position.

Washington, Jan. 17.—Representative G. J. Diekema of Michigan has formally announced his candidacy for speaker of the house of representatives, to succeed "Uncle Joe" Cannon, at the end of the present session.

Speaker Cannon has made it clear that he has no intention of resigning before the end of the present term. His position is, that any man has the right to be a candidate for the speakership, and what the next congress would do could not be foretold at this time. He has already announced, he would be a candidate for re-election to congress, but never has declared that he would again be a candidate for the speakership.

Besides Mr. Diekema, a number of names of possible speakership candidates have been mentioned, including Walter I. Smith of Iowa, a member of the rules committee; Martin E. Olmstead of Pennsylvania, and James R. Mann of Illinois, chairman of the committee on interstate and foreign commerce.

Is a Regular.

Mr. Diekema does not believe that Mr. Cannon will again be a candidate for the speakership.

"I am a regular; not an insurgent," said Mr. Diekema. "No man could ever give me better treatment than Mr. Cannon has given, and I think he is the fairest presiding officer I ever saw in a chair.

"I believe that the next speakership will go to the Middle West and not to any man who has had a long service in congress and has had close affiliation with the men who have dominated congress. It does not seem possible, on the other hand, that the speakership will go to any of the present insurgents."

URGES YOUNG MEN TO VOTE "RIGHT" AT ELECTION

Red Light District No Better Than Burglars' Preserve.

Stirring Talk By Col. J. A. Gearhart at Men's Meeting.

After Col. J. A. Gearhart, a lecturer of New York city, had deplored the social evil in his speech at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon, the Rev. J. A. McGaughey arose and asked the men present to vote at the coming city election so as to put to route the forces of evil. Mr. McGaughey did not say which party or which candidate is a cohort of the evil forces.

Mr. McGaughey said the people might just as well establish a preserve where burglars could roam as to maintain a place where sin can be committed under the law's sanction. The local red light district is supposed to be closed.

Col. Gearhart expressed regret that more good citizens do not regard the saloon as a thing to be despised and expelled from the social system. Corrupt city government, he declared, was the result of the apathetic attitude of the righteous.

Keeping Sunday holy makes a nation strong morally, said Mr. Gearhart, and consequently powerful physically. He pointed a damning finger at France, which, he said, played with two empires and two republics while the United States was observing the Sabbath for 134 years.

Bad government, said the speaker, produces lawlessness. He pointed out as an example some citizens in a western state who asked the governor to permit the grog shops to keep open so taxes of Big Business wouldn't be increased. Business men, said the colonel, signed it. Business men put that petition to the governor on a virtuous and righteous basis, in their own estimation.

The dollar is at the root of all evil, said the colonel, only he put it differently. Business men, he elucidated, say what is what and who is who, in the business community. Business men worship the almighty dollar and never shall it be said that business let a dollar get away from it, even if a few lives have to be ruined by the saloon and other evils which business wants to exist, are protected. So long as this continual bowing to Mammon continues there is going to be no God but Mammon, he thought.

Christianity breeds good citizens, said the lecturer. The best crown a man can get is spiritualism. Men are responsible for the government, the women being mostly voteless yet, so it's up to the men to make good. The speaker intimated that generally they hadn't. If a prayer meeting is held on the night of the primaries, cut the prayer meeting and go to the primaries, urged the speaker. A man can pray any time, but the primaries come only periodically. One accomplishes good and helps in the general plan for the uplift by voting for better government.

The Castle Square quartet entertained the audience before the lecture.

Rev. Mr. McGaughey said today that he did not have in mind any party or any candidate when he urged his auditors to vote "right" at the next election.

"It is too early to make a statement on the merits of the candidates and the parties which will be concerned in the city election," said Mr. McGaughey. "I think that as the campaign progresses the candidates will come out into the open and will tell the people where they stand. Of course, I am aware of the many political rumors that are going the rounds, but I have not enough information upon which to base a statement. I think that all of the civic organizations and churches will support those candidates who represent the best ideals."

Dr. Lyman Beecher Sperry will give a series of lectures here next week. Dr. Sperry lives at Oberlin, Ohio, and for several years has devoted most of his time to giving confidential talks to men. No one under 16 years of age will be admitted to the lectures. Next Sunday afternoon he will speak on "Male and Female, or Significance of Sex;" Monday, at 9 p. m., "Seven Big Devils to be Cast Out;" Tuesday, "Mental Healing;" Wednesday, "Quacks and Quackery;" Thursday, "Four Fourths of a Man;" Friday, a travel lecture, probably about Vesuvius and Mount Aetna. He will also make one or two speeches at the boys' department.

REORGANIZE COMPANY.

J. W. Wells Flooring Company of Menominee Has New Officers.

Menominee, Mich., Jan. 17.—(Special to The erald.)—The J. W. Wells Lumber company of this city has been reorganized, and has been renamed the J. W. Wells Flooring company.

George B Elsman, who has been associated with the J. W. Wells in his various lumbering enterprises, has sold his stock in the Wells company to Charles H. Law, a son-in-law of Mr. Wells, and retires from the company of which he has been secretary since its organization in 1903. Mr. Elsman is now making a tour of the lumbering states of the West, with a view of locating there.

The officers of the newly organized J. W. Wells Flooring company are: J. W. Wells, president; A. C. Wells, vice president and Charles H. Law, secretary and treasurer.

The new factory which is under construction in Menominee will be the largest hardwood flooring plant in the world, and is assured of an unlimited supply of raw material from the mills controlled by John W. Wells, the Bird & Wells sawmill at Watsaukee and the Girard Lumber company mill at Dunbar. The factory will be 175 feet square and will be constructed of brick and steel throughout, and will be entirely fire proof. The power house will be seventy feet square and the plant will be operated by electric power from the new dam at Grand Rapids.

Big North Dakota Meteor.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 17.—Residents of Foster county, who had occasion to be up at 2 o'clock in the morning, were treated to a spectacular exhibition they will not soon forget. A monster meteor, sixty-five inches in diameter and weighing many tons burled itself in the earth to a depth of six feet, about seven miles northwest of Carrington.

BALLINGER AND PINCHOT BOTH COMING TO ST. PAUL.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Richard Achilles Ballinger, secretary of the interior, at present very much in the limelight, and ex-Chief Forester Gifford Pinchot, his rival in the spotlight, will both attend the Minnesota conservation congress here in March. Governor Eberhart announces that both have accepted invitations to speak, but they will not speak the same day, so may not meet. Secretary Ballinger will speak on the first day of the congress, March 16, and Mr. Pinchot on the last day, March 19.

Four Killed in Wreck.

Leadville, Colo., Jan. 17.—In a freight wreck Sunday morning on the Colorado Midland, near here, four were killed and three others injured. Edward Davenport of Van Mich., is among the dead, and Bert Harter of Grand Rapids, Mich., was slightly injured. Harter and Davenport were riding in a boxcar.

WRECK FATAL TO TWO.

Passenger Trains Collide Near Cedar Rapids, Ia.

Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Jan. 17.—One passenger was killed, a brakeman was fatally injured and nine other persons were seriously hurt in a head-on collision Sunday between two passenger trains on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway at Keystone, twenty-five miles west of here. Both engines were reduced to scrap and the mail, baggage and chair car of the limited were wrecked. The engineer escaped by jumping.

The dead passenger is:

MRS. LOUIS ZEE, Cleveland, Tex.

The fatally injured man is Ralph Morrow, brakeman, Marion, Iowa, legs broken and internally injured.

CROSBY'S NEW HOTEL.

Finest Building in Crow Wing County Being Built By Duluthian.

Deerwood, Minn., Jan. 17.—Special to The Herald.)—The work on the new hotel at Crosby is progressing rapidly. The work on the brick walls will be completed by tomorrow and the carpenters are right on the heels of the masons.

It is one of the best hotel buildings in Crow Wing county, being 60 by 60 feet, three stories in height. The two sides facing the front are dark red pressed brick, with the rear walls of white pressed brick. There is a full basement under the building, which will contain an office, dining room, bar, etc., on the first floor and twenty-eight sleeping rooms on the first floor and twenty-eight on the second and third floors. The building will be wired for electric light and it is said piped for gas. It is expected that the building, which will be finished in hardwood throughout, will be ready for occupancy some time in the coming March.

CHEAT ELLIS ISLAND.

Rejected Immigrants Return as Sailors and Desert.

Antwerp, Jan. 17.—The Belgian authorities have been advised of systematic frauds which are being practiced against the American immigration laws at Antwerp, Rotterdam, Marseilles and other ports.

It is alleged that certain Americans and other undesirables, who have been deported from Ellis Island have reshipped as sailors and firemen by bribery of the ship's officers, arriving at American ports as seamen. They then desert the ships and thus evade the immigration authorities.

MAKES CLEAN SWEEP.

Kills Divorced Wife, Fatally Wounds Daughter, Then Kills Himself.

Green Bay, Wis., Jan. 17.—August Maves, a farmer living near Greenleaf, Brown county, shot and killed his wife, wounded his daughter, Mrs. Martha Knorr, of Appleton, and then committed suicide. Maves and his wife had lived apart for some time and a divorce was granted Mrs. Maves two weeks ago.

The shooting took place when Mrs. Maves and her daughter called at Maves' house to get some clothing. Three shots were fired at the daughter while making her escape, one bullet striking a corset steel near the heart, and the others on the arm and head. The daughter's wounds, it is said, probably will prove fatal.

WARM WEATHER FAILS TO STOP THE BONSPIEL

All Open Events Now Down to the Semi-Finals.

Heavy Ice Makes Play Difficult---Colder Weather Hoped For.

When the temperature began to drop, slightly after noon today, the curlers were greatly pleased. It looked for a time as though the afternoon games would have to be postponed, but when the rink was opened to the cold the ice soon began to harden.

In spite of the poor condition of the ice this morning, the last leg of the bonspiel was begun. The ice was soft and sticky and made curling conditions anything but ideal. It took about all a strong man's strength to send the stones to the other end, and very few were wasted because of overspeed. It was impossible to play the game as it should be played under normal conditions, and each contest was anybody's game until the last stone had been played.

Many of the contests were close, notwithstanding the conditions, and some 12-head games kept the spectators on edge. McDonald won from Bradley in thirteen heads. The score was 11 to 10. Evered of West Duluth, and Chapman of Rainy River had a close and exciting 13-head game, Evered finally winning by an 11 to 10 score.

Reedal of Phillips, Wis., won from Miller of West Duluth by a 17 to 7 score. Lenont of Virginia forfeited to Helmbaugh of Superior. Both these games were in the Western Curling club event.

The Bradley-McDonald and Evered-Chapman contests were in the Canadian Soo event. Neil of Winnipeg is sticking to his winning streak found Friday of last week. Holland took his second defeat from Walter Hall, in the Canadian Soo event, the score being 11 to 7. Macrae in the same event defeated Smith of Duluth 10 to 6.

In the Minneapolis event Smith of Superior was beaten by Tucker of Pardeeville 13 to 4. Whyte bested West 14 to 3. Hurdon defeated Duncan 9 to 8 in one of the closest games played.

Shuler of Minneapolis and Stewart of St. Paul have gone home. A number of the other outside rinks are planning to leave tonight. All the St. Paul and Minneapolis rinks are now out of all the events except the play down for the International trophy in which all the American rinks compete.

Morrison of Winnipeg is down to the semi-finals in the Minneapolis. The Winnipeg man will be pitted against Tucker of Pardeeville, and the winner of the contest will play the winner of the Whyte-Hurdon match.

In the Duluth event Gates of Superior and Zauft of West Duluth are scheduled to play off in the semi-finals and the winner will meet the winner of the Reedal-Duncan game in the finals.

In the St. Paul Jobbers' event, Whyte of Duluth meets Hurdon, also of Duluth, and the winner meets the winner of the Zauft-Brewer contest. There are now no outside rinks in this St. Paul event. In the Duluth event there is but one outside rink and in the Minneapolis event there are two.

This afternoon there will be contests in the International event as well as in the other events.

The games being played this afternoon follow:

Minneapolis Event.

Morrison, Winnipeg, vs. Tucker, Pardeeville.

Canadian Soo.

Miller, West Duluth, vs. Dunlop, Duluth.

Stephenson, Superior, vs. McDonald, Virginia.

Fullerton, St. Paul, vs. Evered, West Duluth.

Richardson, Duluth, vs. Neil, Winnipeg.

Western Event.

Schuler, Minneapolis, vs. Whyte, Duluth.

McCauley, West Duluth, vs. Reedal, Phillips.

Bradley, Duluth, vs. Zauft, West Duluth.

was denied today by the supreme court of the United States.

Walsh Will Not Talk.

Chicago, Jan. 17.—John R. Walsh received the news of the supreme court's decision at his offices in the Grand Central depot and refused to make any comment or statement. His secretary said Mr. Walsh had received no official notice of the decision and would not give up hope until notified of it. The secretary said that under no circumstances would Mr. Walsh give out a statement.

United States District Attorney Edward W. Sims will go before the United States circuit court of appeals and ask the court to issue a mandate in the Walsh case to the United States district court.

The denial of John R. Walsh's appeal for a writ of certiorari by the supreme court of the United States closes the last chapter in the history of his long fight for freedom. The convicted banker is now powerless to proceed further in his efforts to escape the prison bars which have loomed up before him ever since his indictment, three years ago, and which he has so successfully evaded through the different channels of legal procedure.

Cannot Escape Now.

The one-time bank president and railroad financier, who is now 72 years old, will, within a few days, be a convict in the federal prison at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., where he will begin the sentence of five years imposed upon him by United States Judge Anderson on March 3, 1908.

After the United States circuit court of appeals had refused Mr. Walsh a rehearing and denied his petition for a stay of judgment, bail was withdrawn, and at the request of his counsel the court placed the aged banker in the "special custody" of a United States marshal pending the outcome of his appeal to the supreme court of the United States. This leniency was granted the former banker that he might arrange his personal affairs preparatory to his possible imprisonment at Fort Leavenworth.

Convicted in 1908.

On Jan. 10, 1909, Mr. Walsh was found guilty of misapplying the funds of the Chicago National bank of which he was president, and on March 3 of the same year motion for a new trial was overruled and the aged defendant was sentenced to five years' imprisonment at Fort Leavenworth. On the same day he was released on supersedeas and immediately appealed his case, but the United States circuit court of appeals, after a lapse of about fifteen months, affirmed the sentence of the lower court. On Dec. 3 last the same court denied Mr. Walsh's petition for a hearing and the case was finally referred to the supreme court, which has refused a review.

Pioneer St. Cloud Man.

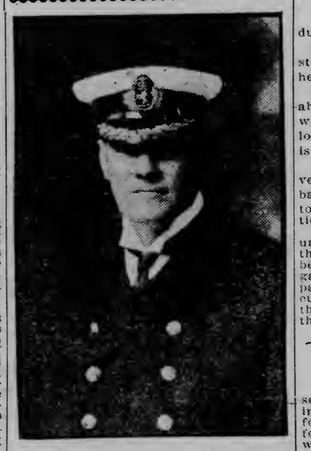

St. Cloud, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—This city is mourning the death, Saturday afternoon, of Harry J. Rosenberger, one of the pioneer residents, who died of cancer of the throat, aged 65. He had been suffering from a cancer of the throat for a long time, and his death had been expected hourly for the past week. He was formerly engaged in the hardware business, but retired some years ago, and has since been acting as agent for various insurance companies. He leaves nine children, his wife having died about seven years ago.

GOING TO MEXICO.

Party of Copper Country Men to Examine Mines.

Calumet, Mich., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—A party consisting of Peter J. McClelland and his son, Leslie, Frank J. Kohlhaas and William M. Harris will leave this evening for Mexico, where they will visit the property of the Santa Rosalia gold mines. They will join Vice President Harry Hill of that company, who is now in Mexico, and expect to spend some time in that district. Messrs. McClelland, Kohlhaas and Harris are directors of the Santa Rosalia.

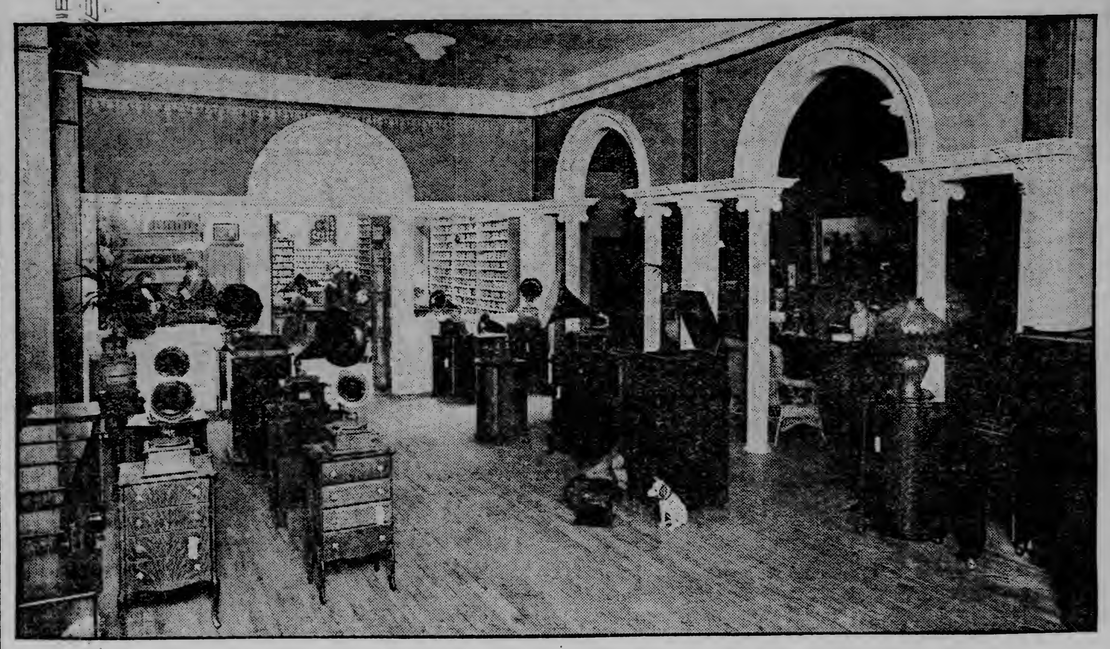

NEW CAPTAIN OF THE STEAMSHIP LUSITANIA

CAPT J. T. W. CHARLES.

In pursuance of a policy to put younger men to the front, the Cunard line has named Capt. J. T. W. Charles as commander of the big turbine ship Lusitania. The position would naturally have gone to Capt. Warr of the Umbria, who as the oldest captain has become commodore of the fleet. But Commodore Warr has been put in command of the Campania and will fly the commodore's burgee from that ship. Hereafter the big ships of the line will be under the command of the younger men. The reason for this policy is a desire to avoid frequent changes. Commodore Warr is near the age of retirement.

We are glad to arrange Easy Terms of payment on any outfit that you may select. Only a few dollars a month and you soon own the greatest entertainer in the world.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT MAY QUARANTINE THE CAMPS

Lumber camps are continuing to dump smallpox cases into Duluth.

Two more were picked up on the streets of the city yesterday by the health department deputies.

How many more may be wandering about the streets and avenues, mixing with the citizens or contaminating the lodging houses with the dread disease, is unknown.

The next will probably be the proverbial straw that breaks the camel's back. Stringent measures will be taken to put a stop to the disgraceful practice.

Dr. Patton declared this morning that unless there is an immediate cessation the camps from which these men have been coming will be quarantined, regardless of consequences to the companies operating them. They will be cut off from all communication with the outside world, and it is probable that armed guards will be stationed to patrol the limits of the camp, to see that no one enters or leaves them without proper authority. The health commissioner is more than angry. He's mad, and then some. He says that patience can hold out no longer, and that he will use every power in his reach to see that these camps are regulated.

The pesthouse now has nine cases of smallpox. Eight of these are men who came from the woods into Duluth in less than a week. The public is running the risk and paying the bills. Scarcely one of the men coming into Duluth from the lumber camps with smallpox has a cent in his pockets, or if he has, the authorities say he is told to conceal it, as the city will have to foot the bills anyway.

The danger to the community is apparent to any one. The mention of the word "smallpox" will send a crowd scurrying. In late years the disease appears to have become milder in this community, but those who are taken down with it often bear the evidence upon their faces until the end of their days.

A Miniature Resort.

The palm decked Gidding store presents a beautiful sight today. Trailing vines, palms and flowers are used for decoration, and dainty white wear for women and children is everywhere. It is a most effective mid-winter display of summer wear: White dresses, white waists, white gloves, white hose, white undermuslins, white children's wear, and in fact, everything in white, together with the white tile floor, and the bounteous verdant decorations transforms the store into a bower of beauty.

Advance styles for Southern-bound tourists are on display, and the showing of undermuslins is beautiful. The undermuslin department is temporarily moved to the main floor, where the displays are extensive, and well worth a special trip down town. The infants' department will occupy half of the third floor during the week, and attractive reductions are offered in this, as well as other departments.

GARFIELD FARMERS' INSURANCE PROSPERS.

Fertile, Minn., Jan. 17.—The Garfield Farmers' Mutual Fire insurance company has just held its annual meeting, and the annual report shows 634 policies in force, with a value of $831,940. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

Directors, D. D. Bodahl, Jorgen O. Rud, Nels Clementson, M. G. Peters, Ole Oefstedal, Asle J. Sanden, T. H. Nesseth; president, Nels Clementson; secretary, T. H. Nesseth, and treasurer, M. G. Peterson.

Negaunee Beats Ishpeming.

Negaunee, Mich., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—An immense crowd of indoor baseball enthusiasts witnessed the defeat of the Ishpeming aggregation at the Adelphi rink by a score of 10 to 11.

The features of the game were Dunlavey's catching and "Froggy" Messier's base sliding and all-around good playing.

Negaunee's first baseman, Mitchell, was credited with two errors in the first inning and allowed Ishpeming to bring in three men.

Transportation Company Elects.

Thief River Falls, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the annual meeting of the Red Lake River Transportation company at High Landing the following directors were elected for the current year: Walter McAndress, W. G. Hunt, Ole Howard, A. Ellingson, D. A. Kalstrand, P. C. Wold and A. D. Brown. It is understood that immediate action will be taken to settle the claim which is held against the large steamboat which this company own, and that they will control the business of the upper river next season.

LEADING THE NEW YORK CITY HALL CLEANSING

—Copyrighted by George Grantham Bain.

CHARLES S. WHITMAN.

The new Gaynor administration of New York city is making great strides in its work of clearing out the grafters from the city hall. One of its most active members is the new district attorney, C. S. Whitman. Mr. Whitman says he will live up to all his election promises and will not show any favoritism towards the rich, as his predecessor, Mr. Jerome, was charged with doing.

COMMITS SUICIDE WITH DYNAMITE.

New London, Conn., Jan. 17.—Placing three sticks of dynamite in the front of his shirt, William A. Bennet lighted the fuse and was blown to death at his home here Sunday. Bennet, on returning from work Friday, handed his wife a bouquet of flowers, with the remark, "You will know what to do with them between now and Monday."

Sunday he kissed his father and mother and, entering his wife's room, said: "Don't you want to die with me?" He then crossed to another room and set off the dynamite.

Pre-Inventory Sale

Our Great Annual White Sale of the past two weeks has made history as well as many new customers for this house. It ended Saturday with nearly as much enthusiasm as was manifested on the day it opened. To make way for a sale far more reaching because it embraces every department in our store where there are any odds and ends, soiled or mussed merchandise, and it began Monday.

This Grand Annual Odd and End Sale or Pre-Invetnory Sale is no mere subterfuge. It's a sale of merit in every sense of the word. It's our House Cleaning period and every odd and end and all undesirable merchandise must be sold. We are using a good broom and a sharp knife. Be here Tuesday and every day this week. In some instances only small quantities are left, and they will go fast. Enough said.

RAISES HOB WITH WIRES

Freezing of Rain and Sleet Puts Service to the Bad for Hours.

Worst of Climatic Conditions for Telegraph and Telephone Companies.

Early today the telegraph companies in the Northwest felt the arteries of their service—the wires—and found them unresponsive. A condition of almost complete tie-up had resulted during the night from the sleet and rain congealing on the wires, which were "grounded" down the wet poles, or had been snapped by the weight of the ice.

"Our wires seem to be all right, but we cannot raise anyone!" was the statement of one wire chief.

Later, however, Duluth and St. Paul were brought together by telegraph, only to hear from the Saintly City that Chicago had, telegraphically, been "lost."

Chicago Cut Off.

Minneapolis made almost frantic efforts to locate the Windy City, but it was not until late in the forenoon that a wire of very shaky stability was rigged up and the Associated Press dispatches began to creep slowly across the intervening 500 miles from Chicago to St. Paul. This line held but a short time, however, and attempts were made to transmit messages by telephone. A long distance wire was connected between Chicago and St. Paul, but it gave but little relief.

As late as 1 p. m. the Associated Press still struggled along with one erratic circuit to the Northwest.

Worst of Conditions.

It was the most dreaded of all climatic conditions that swooped down upon the wires of the Postal and Western Union companies last night and today. Rain can be "worked through;" wind can be overcome, and heavy fog can be combatted, but the wire chiefs of the big telegraph companies generally lose hope when their long copper strands become incased in ice, which freezes over the top-of-pole insulation and makes an easy road to the ground. With the current entering the ground at any short distance from the main offices, the wire is "workable" only as far as that ground connection. Thus it can easily be understood why "the wires seem all right, but we cannot raise anyone."

SHEPHERD & CHANDLER,

REGISTER ON TUESDAY

Voters Who Missed the Primaries Have Two More Chances.

Mayor Haven Selects Campaign Manager---Civic League to Meet.

Tomorrow is the second day of registration. The primary election was the first, and the last will be next Saturday.

Your name must be on the poll books if you wish to vote at the general election Feb. 1, at which time a mayor and an alderman from each ward will be chosen.

The general feeling is that the registration will be comparatively light, as there is no issue. The candidates and their workers have been doing considerable work the last two or three days, but they have been making little noise. The candidates feel that upon their success in getting out the vote will depend their chances of landing the office.

Daniel Morgan, a brother of the assistant city attorney, E. M. Morgan, has been selected as campaign manager for Mayor Haven, and he has been particularly active. He declares that there is no doubt but that the present mayor will succeed himself. The Cullum cohorts are expressing equal confidence in the outcome.

The Civic league has been keeping in the background during the preliminaries. But the officers of the league have called a meeting for Wednesday, when the situation will be canvassed thoroughly. Asked why the meeting was not called before tomorrow, the second day of registration, an officer of the league stated this morning that it was not considered necessary. He was confident that if it was deemed necessary after the Wednesday meeting to get into the game, that their vote could be brought out on the remaining day of registration. He estimated that the league has between 400 and 500 men pledged to vote as the league advises. Since little has been done by that organization it is not anticipated that it will make any sweeping recommendations at this late day.

NEW REPORTER IS APPOINTED

Robert S. Taylor Will Succeed Brother in Local Court.

Judge W. A. Cant of the district court has appointed Robert S. Taylor of Chicago, official reporter to succeed Walter S. Taylor, who resigned his position as reporter for Judge Cant a year ago last fall, and who died in Chicago last fall.

Robert S. Taylor is a brother of Walter S. Taylor, and is known as one of the best reporters in the United States. During the trial of the cases of the government against the Standard Oil company, he was engaged as a reporter, and he is now working on the Union Pacific case in New York. As soon as that is finished, he will report for work here. Until that time, his place will be filled by Frank M. Harker of Chicago, who arrived in Duluth today. Since Walter Taylor resigned, the position of reporter to Judge Cant it has been temporarily filled by Cameron Hewitt.

A Bit of California in Duluth.

The Gidding store, with its beautiful palm and floral decorations and effective displays of summer wear, seems like a small spot snatched from some Southern resort. Advance styles in lingerie dresses and waists are on display, and lovers of dainty lingerie gathered in crowds throughout the day and valuable price reductions lend zest to the selling.

ASK MORE PAY FOR RURAL CARRIERS

Steenerson Is One of Those to Wait on House Postoffice Committee.

Washington, Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Representatives Steenerson, Hinshaw, Austin and Ashbrook have been appointed a committee by the congressmen interested in increased compensation for rural delivery carriers to wait upon the house committee on postoffices and post roads to present the case.

There have been at least twenty bills introduced at this session seeking increased pay for rural carriers. The average length of these rural routes is twenty-four miles, but many, in fact it is said a majority, are of greater length, and it is thought to obtain increased pay on the routes exceeding twenty-four miles. This special committee will wait upon the postoffice committee tomorrow and submit its views.

Spalding Changes Hands.

The final details of the transfer of the lease of the Spalding hotel from W. B. Silvey to Messrs. Peary and Rigby, were closed late Saturday and today the new managers of the hotel property are in complete charge of the hotel.

O. F. Peary will have charge of the Spalding, while Mr. Rigby will have charge of other hotel property owned by the two men. The company is known as the Peary-Rigby company.

LYCEUM—"The Lily and the Prince."
BIJOU—New vaudeville bill.

"The Lily and the Prince."

"The Lily and the Prince," played at the Lyceum yesterday to two large audiences. The production has adequate scenery and the costumes are effective. The play is mounted in accordance with the period in which it is cast.

Miss Lucy Blake as Angela displays considerable versatility. She has a winsome manner and won her way into the hearts of her auditors. Claude E. Kimball as the prince was sufficiently dasaing to please the most exacting matinee girl. Miss Della Waters as the villainous Lucrezia Borgia, handled a difficult part well. The others in the cast were satisfactory.

"The Lily and the Prince" will be at the Lyceum tonight. It is a romantic drama, and playing at popular prices, is well worth seeing.

"The Merry Widow."

"Better, even, than ever," seems to be the critical and popular verdict upon this season's production of "The Merry Widow," by Henry Savage. Wherever this queen of operettas has appeared, there has followed this declaration and with it an enthusiastic statement that the Lehar masterpiece itself is no whit less delightful and inspiring than the day it first saw the glare of the footlights. One thing is certain, the delicious melodies, intoxicating rhythms and brilliant gayety of "The Merry Widow" do not lose by repetition. Indeed, it is not until the third or fourth hearing that one begins to realize the manifold charms of the operetta.

During the year's engagement at the New Amsterdam theater, New York, many music lovers attended not merely a dozen performances but literally scores. The high record, so far as is definitely known, is held by a well-known lawyer, who, with his wife and occasionally a party of friends, saw her widowship forty-eighth times. They saw and heard the role of Sonia presented by every one of the eleven interpreters engaged from time to time. Many others attended more than twenty performances, and the number that saw the operetta over a dozen times must run into the hundreds. Precisely similar was the experience during the runs of the Chicago and Boston companies. Unless this had been the case, it would have been impossible to play to such tremendous receipts as $1,000,000 in New York, $400,000 in Chicago and $250,000 in Boston. There are not enough different playgoers in any of these cities to make such returns possible; there must be "repeats."

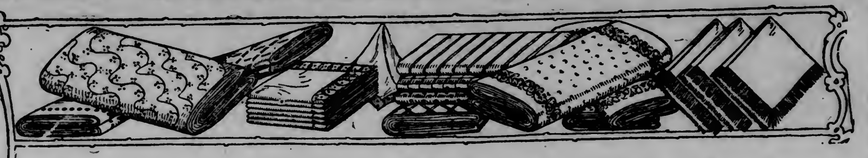

"The Merry Widow" will open at the Lyceum, tomorrow night.

THE DUKE OF WEST VIRGINIA

Elkins, by the way. Is one of the senate characters. His face and his fortune are both worth while, says Sloane Gordon in an article entitled "Fighting Faces of Our Senators," in Success Magazine. Some people insist that he owns West Virginia. That is not literally true, but, politically, it is frozen fact. He owns coal lands and railroads and has Henry Gassoway Davis for a father-in-law. If United States senators were chosen by popular vote, Mr. Elkins might not represent West Virginia in the upper house. He might not even live in West Virginia, but under the present system he is likely to remain until long after the kine have wandered o'er the lea, homeward bound.

In addition to his other distinctions, Mr. Elkins is the father of the handsome young lady who affixed the Indian sign to the Duke of the Abruzzi. That ought to be honor enough for any man, but not for Mr. Elkins. He has been making a collection of honors for a number of years. Once he was a member of congress from New Mexico—also attorney-general there. Then he moved to West Virginia and made such a noise that they sent him to Washington. He promptly anchored himself to the senate end of the capitol, and can not now be pried loose. In appearance Mr. Elkins is like a preacher. In speaking he assumes a prayerful attitude, hands clasped and eyes a-roll, but in politics he is strongly suspected of eschewing piety. In the senate, when his big, bushy eyebrows work up and down and the color comes to his cheeks it is a sign that he is about to again announce his everlasting fealty to the protective system, and his unshaken conviction that the interests he represents aren't getting theirs in the cut-up.

INSANE MAN SENT BACK

California Authorities Found That John Graham Lived in Duluth.

Had Been in Asylum on the Coast for Over a Year.

After having been confined in the California state insane asylum at Napa, Cal., for about fourteen months, John Graham happened to mention the fact that his legal residence was in Duluth and the California authorities immediately took steps to send him back here to be cared for by the state of Minnesota. Graham will be examined in probate court this afternoon and if found insane, as he probably will be, he will be committed to the Fergus Falls asylum again.

About four years ago, Graham walked into the county jail here and gave himself up. He was laboring under the delusion that a lot of people were after him to do him harm. He said that he could not work anywhere because after he was on a job for a few days his fellow workers began plotting against him. He was committed to the asylum at Fergus Falls and remained there for some time.

He was finally paroled as cured and he went to California. There he gave himself up again, but he refused to say where his home was. He was sent to the Napa asylum and was cared for there until a chance word disclosed the fact that he lived in Minnesota. He was immediately sent back in charge of a guard and was delivered to the county jail here last Friday.

Graham has the same old delusion. He imagines that people are about to do him harm and he will probably be sent to live again at Fergus Falls. He is 38 years old, single, and has lived around Duluth for about eighteen years.

Gidding Store a Bower of Beauty.

The midwinter sale and display of summer wear at the Gidding store this week is the prettiest merchandise show the city has seen for some time. Advance styles in white waists and dresses and spring undermuslins are on display and liberal reductions in most lines of white wear mark the event, both interesting and profitable to lovers of fine lingerie. The children's department also takes an active part, as a 10 per cent reduction is allowed on spring arrivals in girls' wash goods.

DISEASES OF FEAR.

If you are afflicted with an unreasonable fear of anything, do not waste time being ashamed of yourself; hurry at once to a doctor, advises a writer in Success Magazine. A writer in the Dietetic and Hygienic Gazette has compiled a list of fear diseases from which it appears that everything, from screaming advice to being afraid to go home in the dark, is a well recognized mental ailment.

The tramp is in reality a sufferer from ergophobia, or fear of work, often complicated with aquaphobia and sapophobia, which makes him shun the bathtub. Siderophobia and astrophobia cause timid ladies to go into the closet when it thunders and lightens. Any number of people have cat and dog phobias. Phantophobia is what you would have if you were afraid of your shadow, while an all-around, unqualified coward might be called a phantophobiac. The list is long and includes almost every human weakness except the actress's horror of publicity.

WHAT SHE WAS.

Success: Flossie and Mabel, touring the country on one of the famous see-it-if-you-can excursions, were tramping the streets of New Orleans. A comely brunette of delicate complexion and stately carriage swung graciously by them.

Flossy, excitedly nodding toward her, whispered loudly, "Oh, look, Mabel! There goes one of them beautiful octagons."

"Huh!" exclaimed Mabel, "what a goosie you are. Flossie, dear. That isn't what they call them at all. She is pronounced nectarine."

WEST END NEWS

RESCUED BY FIREMEN

Several Thrilling Escapes From Burning Building in West End.

Occupants Flee From Building Clad Only in Night Clothing.

When the Osborne block, Nineteenth avenue west and Superior street, caught fire in the basement about 3:30 o'clock yesterday morning, entailing a loss of over $14,000, the firemen from Fire Hall No. 2 distinguished themselves by rescuing twenty-two people from the burning building.

Among those saved by the firemen were three men, one baby and eighteen fainting women. The block is a three-story structure and housed fourteen families on the two upper stories. Among the firemen who were particularly active in the rescuing work were E. J. Gagne, W. A. Webb, George Shaw, Harry Lepke and C. H. Pearson.

The fire, which was of unknown origin, started in the basement. Beside the owner of the block, F. M. Osborne of Cleveland, those who suffered the greatest losses were the Minnesota Tea company and the real estate firm of P. G. Hanson & Sons.

There are five stores on the ground floor, the two center stores being badly gutted with fire, which crept up as far as the landing on the second story before the firemen got control of the flames.

The families in the building were: Charles J. Walden, flat 1; Noramn Lackle, flat 2; John Crew, flat 3; Mrs. Dowd, flat 4; Ed Kriis, flat 5; Mrs. Mary Nelson, flat 7; L. H. Ebmer, flat 8; Mrs. T. J. Schafer, flat 9; G. T. Watson, flat 10; J. E. Nacey, flat 11; F. R. Standish, flat 12; Mrs A. C. Boyd, flat 14; J. W. Allen, flat 15, and the janitor, Charles Olson, room 16.

The other occupants and their losses follow: W. W. Porter, meat market, loss, $300, damage from smoke; Rustad Johnson, loss $3,000, damage from smoke and water in the basement; P. George Hanson & Sons, loss $1,500, all office furniture destroyed; Minnesota Tea company, owned by Peterson Bros., loss $8,000; William Bird, barber shop, damage slight. The damage to the block is estimated at $4,000.

Covered by Insurance.

It is understood that most of the losses were covered by insurance. All of the tenement apartments were damaged more or less from smoke but the loss is only slight.

The fire was first noticed by John Dowd of Flat 4, who was awakened when the smoke entered his sleeping apartments. He dressed hurriedly and telephoned to fire headquarters. By this time most of the other occupants had been awakened by the smoke.

There were many thrilling rescues by the firemen, who saw that everyone escaped from the burning building. Most of the people, who were in the building after the firemen arrived had to be taken out through the windows of the second and the third stories, because the flames had penetrated the first floor cutting off the main entrance.

A thrilling incident in conection with the early morning fire occurred when Miss Josephine Tweed dropped from the fire escape on the second story to the ground, sustaining a sprained ankle and a sprained back. She had been hanging to the fire escape by her finger tips.

When Miss Tweed climbed out through the windows of her apartments in the second story, she grasped the fire escape with both hands, preparatory to slide down to the iron rod, the same as her brother had done, a minute or so before.

The firemen saw her clinging to the cold iron round and called to her to hang on for another minute and they would have another ladder up to her, but the young woman lost her grip and dropped about twenty-five feet to the ground.

She struck on her feet, but fell over on her back. She was taken to a neighbor's apartments, where she is in the care of a physician today.

Most of the occupants of the building made their escape in their night clothing, having no time to grab a few articles of clothing. Most of them took refuge in a restaurant across the street.

The building is managed by W. W. Allen, who resides in the Osborne terrace.

Officers Installed.

The Scandinavian Sisters of America, West end lodge, has installed the following officers: Mrs. Lena Anderson, president; Mrs. Nettie Olson, vice president; Mrs. Clara Lundberg, financial secretary; Mrs. Lena Grenner, instructor; Mrs. Lucy Erickson, treasurer; Mrs. Ella Johnson, marshal; Mrs. Martha Lundwall, inside watch; Mrs. Annie Peterson, outside watch, and Mrs. Bertha Trunsdal, trustee.

GREAT DREAMS OF GOOD ROADS

Bills Introduced in Congress Promise Great Things, If They Pass.

Washington, Jan. 17.—Highway construction in the United States will be boomed beyond the dreams of the most optimistic, if all the sentiment incorporated in recent bills introduced in congress should crystalize into legislative enactment. The latest contribution to this proposed legislation is a bill by Representative Garner of Texas, appropriating $10,000,000 among the states and territories pro rata, according to mileage of the traveled public roads in those respective jurisdictions.

The fund, according to Mr. Garner's ideas, should be apportioned by the secretary of agriculture, after certification of the governors as to the amount needed, etc., and the amount allowed each state is not to exceed the state's own appropriation for road maintenance.

Source of Funds.

Within the last week Mr. Sulzer introduced a postal savings bank bill designed to produce, according to his scheme of figuring, $50,000,000,000 of deposits from the people in the postal banks, $100,000,000 of the amount to be spent on road construction. Mr. Sulzer figured that this plan would bring into circulation millions of dollars of hoarded gold and restore to work "tens and tens of thousands of idle workmen."

VOTE BETTER THAN PRAYER

West End Pastor Preaches on the Duty of Citizens.

Good Moral Conditions Are Preferable to Business Prosperity.

"If election were held on Sunday, I would rather see any member of my congregation go to the ballot box and cast an honest ballot, knowing that they are voting for a better and more moral Duluth, than to come to church and spend an hour in prayer."

This is what Rev. M. O. Stockland, pastor of the Grace M. E. church, said last evening when he gave his congregation a sermon on the duty of citizens. He touched on political questions but little, confining his remarks to the subject of indifference on the part of the average so-called Christian voter. He said, in part:

"I am sure it is our duty to make this city as good as it can be made, and it is common sense to do so. We must look after the physical conditions, and I take it that the modern city is the most healthful place in the world, and as a rule a drink from the city faucet is cleaner than the cool drink from the old 'moss covered bucket which hung in the well.'

"If we are wise, we will look after the sewage system, thus providing for cleanliness and protection against plague.

"And it follows that we will, as soon as possible, clean out the slums, and all vile tenements and provide better enviornments for the poor.

"We do well to look after our educational system, providing the best equipment and the highest standard of instruction.

"But now, a city may have all these things and not be a good city, for these are not the foundations of a good government. A great deal is said about public opinion and that public opinion must rule, but let me say that unless back of public opinion there is a great conviction, we can hope for no advancement.

"Of course, we covet for our city great business prosperity, but not at the expense of human happiness. I want to see us rich, but I also want to see us righteous; I want to see us growing and developing into a larger Duluth, but I also want to see us working for a condition that will make vice difficult and virtue easy.

"Now we are approaching another city election, and while it is not very apparent on the surface, yet there are certain definite principles involved—not political principles, but civic principles. The fact that we have two party tickets in the field has no significance whatever in local elections—the main thing is, what do these factions stand for.

"I believe that for the last two years we have had a fairly good moral condition. To be sure it has not been ideal. To be sure there is a great deal to be done yet, but always is it true that great reforms move slowly, mainly because the reform forces become tired and feel the need of a rest, while the lawless element represented by the brewers and saloon men with the corrupt politicians, are ever on the alert.

"And the real danger confronting us now is the inactivity of the better element in our body politic. You scarcely hear the subject mentioned save in the small circle made up of candidates for office and their particular friends.

"Some things ought to be remembered by us all; first, that institutions are made for men and not men for institutions. The first duty of the govment is to its citizens. The highest function of any government is to ennoble, protect and glorify man. A city is supposed to grow in what? Not in population, industry, trade and wealth alone, but in patriotism and virtue."

Ernest Thygesen Dies.

Ernest Thygesen, 25 years old, single, died late Saturday at the home of his brother, John Thygesen of 107 North Twenty-sixth avenue west, after a six days' illness with pneumonia. No funeral arrangements have been made.

Besides his brother, the young man is survived by two sisters, who reside in Duluth. His parents are both living, but they reside in Norway.

The young man had been employed for some time at the grocery store of Thomas Jensen at 604 Garfield avenue.

Bjorklund-Lundeen.

The marriage of Miss Hilma Bjorklund and William Lundeen was solemnized Saturday night at the home of the bridegroom, 2004 West Second street, by Rev. Edward Stromberg, pastor of the Swedish M. E. church. The bride came from Sweden about three months ago. The young man is well known to many West end people.

West End Shortrails.

Miss Bessie Young of Twenty-eighth avenue west and Second street is spending a few days at Eau Claire, Wis., as the guest of friends and relatives.

The Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church will meet this evening at the church parlors. There will be a mite-box opening.

Mrs. G. W. Ellert of Twenty-eighth avenue west and First street has returned from Minneapolis, where she has been on a visit with friends during the past week.

A special song service will be given by the choir of the Swedish Mission church tomorrow evening in connection with the special revival services which are being conducted at the church.

The Tabitha Society of the Swedish Bethany Lutheran church will meet Thursday evening at the home of Rev. and Mrs. C. G. Olson at 2205 West Third street.

Special prayer services will be held Wednesday evening at the Swedish Mission church. Twenty-first avenue west and Second street. Rev. J. J. Daniels will conduct the meeting.

The Men's Society of the Swedish Bethany Lutheran church will hold a business meeting Thursday evening in the church basement, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street.

At the revival services which will be continued every evening except Saturday this week at the First Swedish Baptist church, Rev. Bennett Erickson of the Bethel Baptist church will be a special speaker.

Mrs. Charles Ouse of 2716 West Second street has as her guests, Mr. and Mrs. George Running of Chicago.

Miss Ella Trevilranus is reported to be ill at her home 2721 West Second street.

Mrs. Fred Irvin has returned to Spooner, Wis., after a visit at the home of Mrs. O. Kohlstad of West First street.

Frank Anderson of Minneapolis has moved his family to the West end. They will reside at 2031 West Third street.

"WHITTIER" SNOWBOUND

Forty Passengers Spent Fifty-One Hours on Chicago Train.

Snow Shovelers Complicated the Situation By Going on Strike.

Forty passengers on Northwestern Passenger Train No. 94 arrived in Duluth Saturday evening at 9:15, after fifty-one hours on the road between Chicago and Duluth. For thirty-four hours the train was stalled in the drifted snow between Janesville and Chopiere, Wis., and the passengers who finally alighted from the train at the Northwestern station were a weary lot.

The train left Chicago at 6:25 Thursday evening and at 10 o'clock the blockading drifts were reached. Four trains were stalled at Janesville, two locals, No. 94 and a Minneapolis train. An army of 600 shovelers worked day and night clearing the tracks, but it was not until 7 o'clock Saturday morning that No. 94 was released and allowed to continue on its way to Duluth.

There was no dining car on the train and none had to be rushed from Chicago after the train struck the blockade. It arrived shortly before midnight Thursday night, but it did not have a full stock of provisions. Friday morning, however, it was ready to serve the passengers a square meal. The water supply dwindled to a dangerous point before the snow blockade was broken, but the supply held out.

The railroad company did everything possible for the passengers, although some of those on the train criticised the action of the company in sending the train out of Chicago when three trains were in the drift at Janesville and the blockade was known to exist.

Two hundred of the snow shovelers complicated the situation by striking for higher pay, mittens and whisky. The strike didn't last long, for all demands were met immediately. There were several minor accidents. A snow plow, in forcing a way through a drift, threw snow back with such force that the windows in the day coach were broken and several passengers were slightly injured by flying glass. In forcing through a drift another time, the plow pulled a drawhead. While waiting for another plow, two engines attempted to buck the drifts, but they became so firmly imbedded in the snow that it took two hours' work to release them.

A peculiar coincidence was the fact that one of the snowbound Pullmans was named "Whittier."

WILL SET DATE FOR HANGING

Governor Will Not Act in Rossi Case Unless Board Does.

Though any member of the pardon board may grant a reprieve to a man sentenced to be executed in Minnesota, Governor Eberhart will probably not interfere in the Rossi case. He is expected to set the date soon for the convicted man's death, and if the full pardon board does not meet and take up the case before the date set, Rossi will hang. The full pardon board has power to commute the sentence.

Governor Eberhart, personally, does not believe in capital punishment and believes that it should be abolished in Minnesota, but while the law is on the statute books he intends to do his duty as governor in the administration of that as well as the other laws. He is said to have told a friend that if the pardon board does not take up the Rossi case, he will do nothing to delay the execution or hamper the movement of the law.

Rossi is breaking under the strain of the noose hanging over him. He prays almost constantly and vaccilates between hope and fear. He says that a friend has gone to Italy to try and raise money with which to take his case to the supreme court, and he is confident that if an appeal is taken he will secure a new trial.

THREE SMOTHER IN TUNNEL WORK

Heavy Blasts Reverse Air Currents in the Gunnison Excavation.

Montrose, Colo., Jan. 17.—Three men were suffocated by powder smoke and nitro glycerine in the Gunnison tunnel Sunday and thirty others barely escaped with their lives. Air currents of the tunnel were reversed by the concussions of heavy blasts, and the smoke and gases were blown back upon the miners before they could reach the portal.

The men were working two miles from the river portal, and all prepared to fire their holes at the same time. The air currents were from north to south and the mines had retired 200 feet north of the blast when it was fired. The air currents reversed immediately and the three men were overcome. A number of those who escaped are said to be in a precarious condition.

The Gunnison tunnel is the government reclamation project opened last year by President Taft on his Western trip. It will provide water to irrigate 15,000 acres of the Uncompagre valley.

GEORGE SCULLY PASSES AWAY

Death Comes But a Few Weeks After His Wedding.

The death yesterday morning of George H. Scully at his residence, 119 East Third street, is a sad shock to hundreds of friends and acquaintances in the city. He died yesterday morning at 7 o'clock, after about a week's illness of erysipelas of the nose and throat. Mr. Scully was one of the best-known and most popular young men in Duluth. He was employed in the office of the county auditor and until last January, when he resigned, he was lieutenant commander of the Minnesota naval militia, and executive officer of the U. S. S. Gopher.

Mr. Scully was married only a few weeks ago to Miss Jane Everington. His unexpected death is a heavy blow to her and she is receiving much sympathy in her bereavement.

Mr. Scully served throughout the Spanish-American war in the Massachusetts naval militia and distinguished himself for bravery under fire, for which he received a medal from the war department. He also had numerous other medals. It is said that he had more medals for honorary service than any other man in Duluth.

He was 33 years of age and was born in Boston, Mass., where he has a brother living. He has lived in Duluth the last eight years.

The funeral will take place Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Masonic temple, under the auspices of the Masonic fraternity. Interment will be at Forest Hill cemetery.

CLOQUET YOUTH'S LEG IS BROKEN

Is Badly Hurt When His Toboggan Crashes Into Another.

Cloquet, Minn., Jan. 17—(Special to The Herald.)—Bert Dowling had his right leg fractured while tobogganing at the slide in Pinehurst Park Saturday evening. Dowling with a number of his compaions, had come to the slide, and upon their arrival at the driveway that skirts the lake, they turned their toboggan around and rode down the little incline back toward the slide. It was while they were on their way down this slope that the accident occurred. They crashed into another toboggan which had just left the chute. Dowling being the only one injured. He was removed to the Cloquet hospital.

MAN IS CREMATED IN PENCE, WIS., FIRE.

Hurley, Wis., Jan. 17. — In a fire which destroyed the business portion of Pence, a small town six miles from here, Charles Nyman was burned to death. The fire destroyed the Mogenier and the Bertagnolli buildings, two residences in the rear of the latter and J. C. Eaver's general store.

BREAKS DOWN IN HEALTH FIGHT

Nathan Strauss Overdoes in Working for Children's Sanitarium.

New York, Jan. 17.—Nathan Strauss, the merchant and philanthropist, has broken down nerves, under the strain of fighting for the children's tuberculosis preventorium at Lakewood, N. J. There has been much opposition to the location of the preventorium among the wealthy residents of Lakewood.

"Mr. Strauss," said a statement given out at his house last night, "has had a serious breakdown. For an indefinite period he will not be in condition either to be consulted or even informed as to any matters of business."

THIRTY CLOCKS AROUND DEAD MAN'S COUCH.

New York, Jan. 17.—For the first time in thirty years, Robert Willoughby failed to wake up Sunday morning when his thirty clocks simultaneously set off a series of gongs, giving their customary alarms at 6 o'clock. He had died during the night.

Willoughby was 57 years old and had been employed as a motorman. No matter what the weather was, Willoughby was never late.

The secret of his punctuality came to light when his room was inspected. Ranged around near his bed were thirty clocks of different sizes and makes. All struck the same hour at the same time.

WOMAN DIES AFTER LONG SPEECHLESS TRANCE.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 17.—From a speechless trance in which she had lain for three months and a half, Mrs. Kate Mendelsohn passed on to death here Sunday. Her husband, on the night of Sept. 30, awoke to find the woman in a comatose state. Their baby lay on the floor uninjured, apparently having fallen out of bed. Mr. Mendelsohn had no knowledge of what had taken place before he awoke, but he thinks that his wife must have been shocked into unconsciousness believing that the child was killed. Since the baby's fall she never spoke a word.

REGISTER TOMORROW.

Tomorrow is the second day of registration for the city election which will be held Feb. 1.

If you don't register at the primary election, by all means do so tomorrow.

Do so even if you are not madly excited over the choice offered you for the mayorship. That is the smallest issue involved in the coming city election. There are charter amendments and other matters of public business to be passed upon at this election that are of more importance to the city, and to you as a citizen, than all the mayoralty elections in ten years, forward or back. You ought to register and vote even if there were nothing but the mayoralty involved, just to show that you are a good and vigilant citizen; but even if you don't vote at all on the mayoralty, you ought to vote on the charter amendments and the proposed bond issue for extending the water and light plant.

The best kind of citizen is he who votes at every election, no matter how trifling its importance; and this is not an election of trifling importance. The one issue of putting order into the work of making public improvements and fixing definite responsibility for what is done or undone is of vital interest to every taxpayer, and there are several others quite as important.

Register tomorrow, and vote at the election. Don't let your lack of interest in the mayoralty contest keep you from the polls. There are nine charter amendments to be voted upon, and a large bond issue. It is your duty to yourself and your city to study these proposals, to form an opinion upon each of them, and to vote accordingly.

Register tomorrow!

A DEFENSE OF CANNONISM.

Representative Samuel W. McCall of Massachusetts, a member of Speaker Cannon's ways and means committee, contributes to the Saturday Evening Post an article on Cannonism from the viewpoint of the "regulars." Congressman McCall, it will be remembered, is the man who "wrote up" the new tariff law in the Atlantic as the best that the country ever produced; an opinion that President Taft made more famous by his paraphrase of it in the historic Winona speech.

Mr. McCall's article is not so much a defense as it is a plea in justification. He pictures Mr. Cannon as a noble friend of progress, ever alert to the call of patriotism; and while he does not attempt to picture him as standing at the gate of the temple of democracy to repel attempted invasions of Special Privilege and Big Business, clearly he would like to leave such a picture in the mind's eye of his reader if he could accomplish it without the absurdity of saying so in so many words.

Also, we learn from Mr. McCall, the secret of Cannon's sudden loss of popularity is that he refused to listen to the demands of the newspapers for a lower tariff on print paper. When this noble Roman sternly rejected their importunities, the editors went back home to create a public sentiment against him, and they have done their work well. This, as we recall it, is very much the same way another statesman, J. Adam Bede, explains Cannon's precipitate fall in public esteem.

Of course Mr. Cannon's refusal to consider lower duties on print paper is entirely responsible. His refusal to consider lower duties on anything else that the people need to feed, clothe, warm and house themselves naturally had nothing to do with it. His loss of popularity is in no sense due to the fact that his political methods are antediluvian, coarse, arrogant, vulgar and besotted. The reaction against him has nothing to do with the fact that he rules the house of representatives with a rod of iron, recognizing nobody who has not his permission to speak, and these only for purposes which he approves.

Mr. McCall's defense of Cannon and the rules of the house is disingenuous. Chiefly he contents himself with showing what a mess there would be in congress if it wasn't for the right to move the previous question. Now we do not recall having heard any of the critics of Cannon among the ordinary rank and file mention this matter of the previous question. That motion is privileged in any parliamentary body except the senate of the United States, and the house would do little business without it. It is not this that people object to. It is to the so-called "leadership" which Mr. McCall attributes to Mr. Cannon, and which he praises. Leadership, in this case, has come to mean absolute rulership. By the power of his office, backed by an infamous set of rules that can be reshaped at any moment by a rules committee that is under the speaker's thumb, the speaker determines what legislation shall be considered, and how and when it shall be considered. All Mr. McCall's arguments amount to nothing in the light of a plain statement of actual conditions. Let a congressman whose name is not on the speaker's list for the day rise and address the speaker. The chances are that the speaker will look at his list, and not seeing the congressman's name, will recognize somebody else who is on the list. If he does recognize the presumptuous congressman, it will be in this form: "For what purpose does the gentleman arise?" When he is told, and finds that it is for no purpose that he himself has placed on the order of business for the day, the speaker abruptly replies: "The gentleman cannot be recognized for that purpose."

For what purpose the gentleman arises is no business of the speaker's; and therein lies the evil of Cannonism. Despite Mr. McCall's soft words, the speakership has become an autocratic despotism, and under Cannon it has been used more viciously and less progressively than ever before in history. He has made the speaker's power absolute, and he has used it not for the people, but for those who prey upon the people.

THE BRITISH ELECTIONS.

Never before has so much interest been felt in this country in a British election. The reason is, that the fight over there is a fight between people and privilege, and that is just what is going on in this country—only over there the attack upon privilege is closer to its ramparts and therefore more critical than it is here.

The battle ended, or is ending, pretty much complicated. It is no longer a simple fight between privilege and people, between commons and peers, between budget and "tariff reform." The jingo cry has served, apparently, to confuse the issue; and it has been worked deftly by the Unionist forces. Playing upon the popular fear of Germany, the lords have cunningly aroused a spirit that makes a Liberal victory less certain than it was. However, though the earlier returns, as expected, are comforting to the Unionists, it is highly improbable that the Liberals will altogether lose control of the government.

When parliament was dissolved, the house of commons stood as follows: Ministerialists, or Liberals, 385; Labor party, 34; Nationalists (Irish), 83; Unionists, 168. It is necessary for the Unionists to gain 169 seats—the speaker of the house, while he represents a constituency, has no vote. If the Unionists could gain this number, losing none of their present holdings, they would have a bare majority.

A Unionist victory would be equivalent to an Aldrich and Cannon victory in this country. It would mean reaction. It wouldn't mean defeat of the fight of people against privilege, but it would mean postponement of victory. It is absurd to suppose, however the present elections turn out, that the landless people will much longer consent to let the vast acres of the landed lords go untaxed.

While, as the Liberals expected, the early returns of Saturday show Unionist gains, the gain was only half as great as the Unionists expected, and if it is carried out throughout the kingdom the Liberals still will have a safe lead. The most the Unionists hope for now is that the Liberals will have to frame a government with the assistance of the Irish Nationalists. So far as the Liberals losses are concerned, it should not be forgotten that the present Liberal plurality is phenomenal, and that it was sure to be reduced. If for no other reason because a certain percentage of voters always blame the administration if matters don't go to their satisfaction, regardless of reason; and matters haven't gone to the satisfaction of many in Britain.

THE WEATHER AND THE CURLERS.

There appears to be need of apologizing to the visiting curlers for the character of today's weather. They should be assured that this single defect in the perfection of the arrangements for their entertainment was unpremeditated and unanticipated. It seems to have happened this way: During the past week or so the country has been ravaged by storms east, south, north and west—everywhere except in this little spot of enduring delights, this favored clime about the Head of the Lakes. Here, the weather was mild and delightful. Naturally, there was much praise for these conditions, not only for themselves but for the contrast they afforded with less favored places. That praise seems to have turned the head of Mr. Richardson, or J. Pluvius, or the weather clerk, or whoever it is that turns the weather off and on. Giddy with praise, he seems to have determined to outdo himself. In that spirit he got "too smart," as many another has done before him, and overdid it. He turn the "mild weather" faucet a little further to the right, and instead of calm, genial days, just crisp enough to be bracing and to provide good curling ice, Duluth got an instalment of mist and drizzle that was originally fixed up for the latitude of Washington, D. C. The result was that this morning there was more ice on the sidewalks than there was in the curling rink, and while curlers looked out with dismay, pedestrians heading for the office formed a wild-eyed procession of human beings performing strange antics in the effort to keep their feet under them.

However, better things are promised.

DULUTH'S WESTERN PASSENGER SERVICE.

Bidding a fond farewell of wives, children and home, ex-Governor E. Y. Sarles of North Dakota and a party of friends set out the other day from Fargo, bound for Duluth. They arrive here Saturday morning, as The Herald related Saturday evening, in a fit frame of mind to understand why it is that Duluth is demanding better things of the railroads. They traveled on a local from Fargo to Staples, where they had to change cars, and from Staples to Duluth the train accommodations were wretched. They landed in Duluth tired and out of temper, and disposed to talk fluently about the Fargo-Duluth train service.

Meanwhile, the service to St. Paul and Minneapolis is comparatively excellent. It really is easier, if one can spare the time, to go around that way instead of coming straight to Duluth. Naturally, as Governor Sarles said Saturday, most North Dakota people prefer to shop in the Twin Cities rather than undergo the rigors of a journey to Duluth.

This incident is merely one of the many concrete examples of the effect of depending upon railroads that have sought to make Duluth an obscure station on an insignificant spur. It is also one of many good reasons why Duluth has begun a campaign to induce the railroads to give it the service that in all decency it deserves to have.

A VETERAN EDITOR.

Last week C. F. Macdonald, editor of the St. Cloud Times, celebrated the thirty-fifth anniversary of his editorship of that excellent newspaper, and it is pleasant to note that his employes showed their recognition of the day by presenting him with a handsome silver loving cup. January 13, 1875, Mr. Macdonald bought the St. Cloud Weekly Times, and today he is still at the editorial helm, though the paper is a daily. He has fought the good fight, in war and peace; as a soldier of the republic and as an editor, he has stood by his colors bravely and consistently. The Herald takes pleasure in congratulating him upon his splendid record, and in wishing him many more years' use of a pen whose vigor the years have not impaired, and whose steadfastness for the right age has not shaken.

THE OPEN COURT.

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about live topics of general interest. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

A DEATH TRAP.

To the Editor of The Herald:

There is a condition at the ski hill that I would like to call attention to through your columns and in that way, possibly to those who are responsible for it. A little below the first hill at the ski club grounds a barbed wire has been stretched across or at least was on Saturday night, presumably as a hint to amateurs and non-members that their sliding on the hill is not particularly desired by the officers. But the wire is stretched in such a way that at night one not knowing it was there, might start from the top of the hill and a very serious and probably fatal accident would result. Parties out skiing and snowshoeing at night are liable to accident by this thoughtless arrangement. I am not questioning the right of the ski club officers to keep the hill closed to the public, but a different method should be adopted by them.

SPORT LOVER.

Duluth, Jan. 16.

THE TIME TO ADVERTISE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

It is time that the Duluth climate should be properly brought to the attention of the world, and now is the moment for the plans that The Herald has proposed from time to time to be put into practice. The advertising committee of the Commercial club should see to it, while they are having ice jams in Kentucky and people are dying of blizzards in New York, that at the top of the page, right next to reading matter, in Eastern and Southern papers, Duluth should be chronicled as a winter resort without a peer. While the winter guests from this climate are shivering in California, Duluthians are saying as one man, "Check the furnace," and there is difficulty in conducting a curling bonspiel unless the expedient of producing artificial ice is resorted to. But why doesn't some one, either the Commercial club or the public through a general fund, let it be known to the world that this is the place to come to get away from the rigors of winter.

A DULUTH BOOSTER.

Duluth, Jan. 16.

Of Imagination All Compact.

He had a strong imagination, a great poetic faculty;
In nearly all his conversation it was a fact most plain to see.
If fire in the stove was burning he said
'twas like the sunset's glow,
And busily a sonnet turning his exaltation he would show.
If any one poured water o'er him, of rills and rivulets he'd dream;
With visions of a brook before him he'd prattle of a limpid stream.

If he were battered by the ocean, or if he fell and broke his knee,
He'd sing the poetry of motion and lecture on Terpsichore;
If blithe mosquitoes buzzing near him made noises that would shock your ears,
In minutes one or two you'd hear him
harp on the music of the spheres.

If cyclone, hail and sleet and blizzard came forth to bruise him mightily,
He'd praise them all from A to Izzard and talk of nature's majesty.
By Phyllis or Griselda jilted, his eyes with tears would never grow dim,
He never pined a bit or wilted—why,
the Aurora smiled at him.

If doctors gave him something bitter he'd not rebel or wince a bit,
But for his taste he'd make it fitter by mixing sweetest thoughts with it,
And if from you a ten he'd borrow (the ducats did he always lack)
He would imagine on the morrow that he had surely paid you back!
—Nathan M. Levy in New York Sun.

Value of Political Editorials.

Edward Porritt in the January Atlantic: There can surely never have been a measure for which the dominant party at Washington was responsible to which more condemnation was meted out by the press than the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill. From April to July the daily newspapers of both political parties teemed with condemnation, and with iterated and reiterated declarations that the bill as recast by Senator Aldrich, and complacently accepted by the Republican standpat senators, was not embodying the kind of revision to which the Republican party stood committed by its national platform of 1908, and by the speeches made by Mr. Taft before and after his election as president.

All this outcry was of little avail. Except for the repeal of the duty on hides, which may in time reach buyers of shoes, nothing was done for the general consumer; while, as concerns the textile schedules, and particularly as regards cottons, the consumer is today in a worse position than under the Dingley act. It may be that the vigorous condemnation of the press of the revision of 1909 will tell at the congressional elections of 1910. It is to be hoped that it will; otherwise there never was such a waste of newspaper space as there was on the editorial pages between February and September of last year.

Hartley for Congress.

Minneapolis Journal: At least two of Minnesota's insurgent congressmen are facing a hard contest for re-election, and James A. Tawney, the lone regular, is not alone on the proposition of trouble at home. C. B. Miller of the Eighth is quite certain to have a candidate against him for the Republican nomination. J. Adam Bede wants to try again, and will if the situation shapes itself so he will have a chance. Gossip at Duluth insists, however, that G. G. Hartley will be the man. Mr. Hartley is chief owner of the Duluth News-Tribune, which was the leading sponsor for Miller two years ago. He is one of the best known business men of Northern Minnesota and his fad is development of its agricultural possibilities. His model farm at Island is doing much to demonstrate what can be done with soil now classed as swamp.

Is This the Issue?

Philadelphia Telegraph: That is a very pretty fight now going on in Washington between the president and the "insurgents." It is, however, so involved that the common man does not clearly see the issue. The congressmen who are to be "disciplined" by the withdrawal of patronage, are Republicans, who were quite all elected as straight-out sustainers of the Roosevelt policies, the Taft policies, and the national party pledges, and so far as is discernible, they stand unitedly in favor of the administration's program, to make those policies and pledges good.

The present bitterness cannot therefore be traceable to any delinquency on their part to support Mr. Taft in the essential things he is called upon to do. There is some other reason. Is it possible that there has developed hostility, because these men differentiate, in their support, between the president and "Uncle Joe" Cannon? Are they to be coerced because, while in perfect harmony with the president's administrative purposes, they refuse to accept the absolutism of the speaker and his committee on rules? Are they to be punished as recreants because, forsooth, the president demands as complete an allegiance to Mr. Cannon as to himself?

There is a very grave and general suspicion that this discord forms the present casus belli, and for this reason public sympathy is ebbing from the president, as a self-appointed guardian of Mr. Cannon, and flowing towards those insurrectionary members who do not regard the political interests of the Danville Lion as the paramount matter now before congress.

They Go Together.

A stable disposition
Is just immense,
And answers fine in a combine
With plain horse sense.

THE WEATHER.

The weather yesterday threatened the success of the bonspiel, but the weather man promises colder weather tonight, with snow flurries.

A year ago today it was mild and cloudy, much like today.

The sun rose this morning at 7:48 and will set at 4:48, making nine hours of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Unsettled weather prevails as a result of slight barometric depressions central over Kansas, western Lake Superior and Alberta. During the past twenty-four hours these disturbances caused snow flurries in the lake region, South Dakota and the Rocky mountains, and rain in the Ohio, Lower Missouri and Upper Mississippi valleys and Pacific coast states, together with milder weather in the lake region and Ohio and Mississippi valleys. Zero weather prevails in Eastern Alberta, Saskatchewan, Western North Dakota and Nevada. The barometer is high over Atlantic and Pacific coast states. Indications favor somewhat colder weather in St. Louis and Douglas counties during the ensuing thirty-six hours."

Following were the maximum temperatures for the past twenty-four hours and the minimum for the last twelve, ending at 7 a. m.:

Department of Agriculture, Weather Bureau, Duluth, Minn., Jan. 17.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours, beginning at 7 o'clock tonight: Duluth, Superior and vicinity, including the Mesaba and Vermilion iron ranges—Snow flurries tonight or Tuesday; colder lowest temperature tonight, about 10 deg. above zero; moderate westerly winds.

H. W. RICHARDSON,
Local Forecaster.

Chicago, Jan. 17.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Tuesday:

Wisconsin—Rain or snow tonight and Tuesday, with colder in west portion; warmer in east portion tonight.

Minnesota—Partly cloudy, with snow flurries in south and east portions tonight or Tuesday; colder tonight, and in east portion Tuesday.

Straws in the Wind.

Des Moines Register and Leader: The Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Ledger, after quoting a United States senator to the effect that "Democrats are preferable to Republican wolves in sheep's clothing," reports:

"It is not improbable that the 'regulars,' knowing that they can control the senate for six years to come, will attempt to defeat the return to the senate of Beveridge of Indiana, Clapp of Minnesota, and La Follette of Wisconsin."

The American Economist comes to hand with a declaration of war localized to Iowa:

"Gentlemen may cry 'peace,' but there is no peace. That is a fact which the Republicans of Iowa may as well face fairly and squarely, and govern themselves accordingly. With them harmony is out of the question. Cummins has made it impossible. Harmony can only be had through the utter repudiation and rejection of Cummins and Cumminsism."

Yesterday's Chicago Tribune J. Callan O'Laughlin reports:

"The senate leaders have discussed the following three alternatives to encompass the destruction of the malcontents in the upper house: 1. To deprive the insurgent senators of chairmanships and committees. 2. To refuse to promote the insurgents upon important committees, whatever their seniority claims might be. 3. To bind Republican senators to the same course of action through caucus proceedings, and, if necessary, to exclude the insurgents from participation in the caucuses."

In yesterday's Record-Herald Walter Wellman, who, by the way, is supporting the administration, reports:

"All Washington was amazed today to learn that President Taft had given his sanction to the amazing pronunciamento of the Republican congressional committee that in the coming campaign for house seats it proposed to support only those members who have stood by Cannon, and oppose those members who have dared oppose him.

"Unwilling to believe President Taft had made such a colossal political blunder as this, many inquiries have been made at the White House. Is it true or is it false? But no one is able to get a clear answer."

And so on indefinitely.

We commend these straws in the wind to the attention of the progressives of the states who have believed that there could be such a thing as independence without struggle, that an aggressive movement could be started and then left to care for itself.

If ever there was a time in the whole ten years since the contest began when there was need of an alert leadership and an untiring devotion, it will be in the three months between now and the assembling of the next primaries.

She Told Him All.

Cleveland Leader: A good story is going the rounds about a drummer and a pretty waitress. Here is what happened, according to the report:

The dapper little traveling man glanced at the menu and then looked at the pretty waitress. "Nice day, little one," he began.

"Yes, it is," she answered, "and so was yesterday, and my name is Ella, and I know I'm a little peach, and have pretty blue eyes, and I've been here quite a while and like the place, and I don't think I'm too nice a girl to be working in a hotel; if I did I'd quit my job; and my wages are satisfactory; and I don't know if there is a show or dance in town tonight, and if there is I shall not go with you, and I'm from the country, and I'm a respectable girl, and my brother is cook in this hotel, and he weighs 200 pounds, and last week he wiped up this dining room floor with a fresh $50-a-month traveling man who tried to make a date with me. Now, what'll you have?"

The dapper little traveling man said he was not very hungry, and a cup of coffee and some hot cakes would do.

Impractical.

Puck: It is a pretty philosophy which bids us always to see a man's good qualities first—pretty, but not practical. For if we should see men's good qualities first, we shouldn't deem their bad qualities worth mentioning, whereupon, some two-thirds of our conversation would be done away with. Certainly we can't abide that—as it is, we don't find enough to talk about unless we are more bookish than many of us care to be.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Taken From the Columns of The Herald of This Date, 1890.

The famous case of Becker vs. Howard, involving lands worth $500,000, was decided yesterday in favor of the defendant by the Wisconsin supreme court. Becker sued ex-State Senator J. D. Howard of Duluth for the value of several hundred acres of land across the bay, claiming that he gave a deed of trust for the property, the defendant holding the deed to be a legal warranty transfer. The supreme court ruled in favor of the defendant's contention.

Collector H. B. Moore has received a letter from the treasury department stating that James E. Heg has been appointed immigration inspector at Duluth at $1,460 a year and all expenses. Mr. Heg is unknown here, but is believed to hail from the Red River valley.

The Duluth & Iron Range road has filed a complaint with the clerk of the court asking that it be made a party to the suit of the Minneapolis & St. Cloud railway against the Duluth & Winnipeg, involving the selection of a land grant. The Iron Range road claims that the Minneapolis & St. Cloud has no right to select its land grant from St. Louis, Lake or Cook counties.

The Duluth Realty Investment association has been organized with a capital of $1000,000. The officers are: J. K. Sharo, president; S. C. Maxwell, vice president; Z. H. Austin, secretary; R. Crombie, treasurer; S. T. Harrison, attorney; Simon Clark, W. S. Albertson and A. M. Morison, directors.

At the nineteenth annual meeting of Pilgrim Congregational church it was announced that the new church had cost $56,000. The salary of the pastor, Rev. E. M. Noyes, who is, in point of service, the oldest Congregational pastor in Minnesota, was increased $500.

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

Interests Are Not Alarmed.

North Branch Review: In deciding to ally himself with the Cannon-Aldrich gang and trusting them to push through his own pet measures, instead of fairly standing in with the progressives, President Taft has not made friends with the common people. It is true that the Cannon-Aldrich crowd have the power to squeeze through whatever they wish at present, but the people are pretty well aware of the fact that whatever goes through with such backing is not going to hurt the big interests to any extent.

Bring It to a Head.

Albert Lea Standard: A ship subsidy bill and a bill for a central monopoly bank have been introduced in congress. It may be as well for the big interests to do their worst at once, and then we shall sooner see what the people will do to them.

The Answer.

Anoka Union: President Taft should understand if he persists in punishing the insurgents he is punishing the people and particularly the people of the Northwest. If the political plums are to be taken away from the insurgent senators and representatives, and to be given to the standpatters as exponents of the Republican party, the Union is forced to cry aloud "To hell with the Republican party, Taft and Cannon."

Able to Choose for Themselves.

Isanti News: The Republican congressional committee says it will do nothing to assist in the re-election of the progressive Republican congressmen, who are opposing Speaker Cannon and his reactionary policies. Congressman Clarence B. Miller of this district is one of the men marked for defeat by the Aldrich-Cannon combine, but the voters of this district will elect a congressman to suit themselves regardless of the desires of the Eastern politicians.

As to Remnants.

Ortonville Herald Star: That veracious range chronicler, the Mesaba Ore, says that Governor Eberhart "has all of the remnants of the old Republican machine against him." The Ore does not regard Dar Reese and Ed Smith as "remnants" of the old Republican machine, and still a "remnant" in 1910 might well have keen a "bolt" in 1904.

Democratic Blunders.

St. Cloud Journal-Press: If the Democratic party of the United States would get together and stay together, it would make the Republicans a great deal of trouble in the next campaign. But when the Republicans blunder you can usually count on the Democrats getting still deeper into the mire of inconsistency.

Not a Flaw Found.

Hutchinson Leader: Long, long will the people of Minnesota have reason to remember with gratitude the lamented John A. Johnson. His great work for the state need not be repeated, but how clean and upright was his administration develops as time passes. During the three months his Republican successor has been at the helm not a flaw has been found in the work of Governor Johnson nor of any of his appointees. Everything is found to be shipshape—the business of the state carefully, honestly and efficiently managed. But the Johnson appointees must walk the plank, says Governor Eberhart, not for the good of the state, but for the good of the governor's machine. Such is politics.

Rob and His Hammer.

Breckenridge Gazette: Bob Dunn in his paper, the Princeton Union, is swinging the finest hammer to be found at the present time among the state press. This doesn't mean that Bob is knocking—simply telling the truth, which hurts some men worse than any knock.

Handicapping the Babies.

Frank Marshall White, in Harper's Weekly: The first unfair condition to which the children of the poor are subjected after coming into the world on an equality with the offspring of the rich is the result of bad housing. Mr. Parsons gives the result of an investigation in Berlin, where of 2,711 infant deaths, 1,792 occurred in one-room apartments, 754 in two-room apartments, 122 in three-room apartments, and 43 in apartments of four rooms and over. Glasgow statistics show that the general mortality during a ten-year period in that city was 21.7 per thousand where the average occupancy per room was 1.31, and that when the average was 2.05 for each bedroom the mortality increased to 26.6 per thousand. A report recently made in regard to hygienic conditions in the District of Columbia says: "Infant mortality varies almost arithmetically with housing conditions. Although children under 5 years are only one-ninth of the population, they furnish one-third of the deaths."

Another unfair advantage taken of the children of the poor lies in the ignorance of the practitioners who bring them into the world, particularly in this and other large cities where so many of the foreigners among the population employ midwives. In a pamphlet recently published by the New York Association for the Blind this startling statement occurs: "It is an astounding fact—one not generally known—that one-quarter of all the blind children in all the blind schools in this country are unnecessarily blind." The same pamphlet asserts that there are in the United States between 6,000 and 7,000 persons who are totally blind because a simple precaution was not taken at the time of their birth, and declares that the preventive measure is within the capacity of every physician and every intelligent midwife, consisting simply of the careful washing of all infants' eyes directly after birth, and the dropping into each eye of a 1 per cent solution of nitrate of silver, obtainable from all druggists, harmless to healthy eyes, and destructive of certain germs in diseased eyes, only one application being necessary. To prove the efficacy of this treatment the fact is advanced that out of 4,000 births during a period of six years at the Sloane Maternity hospital in this city, where preventive methods are employed, not one case of the infant ophthalmia that produces blindness has developed.

The Crime of a Central Bank.

Hon. Charles N. Fowler in the January Atlantic: Geographically, politically, economically and practically the establishment of a central bank in the United States today is unthinkable; unless the sole purpose of starting such an institution is to serve some special interest to the incalculable and never-ending injury and cost of the American people.

A MOMENT WITH THE WITS.

Chicago Tribune: Horrified Citizen—Hey, there! What are you pounding that man for?

Man on Top—He says he can't remember whether he ever called me a liar or not. I'm (biff) giving him (biff) the benefit of the doubt.

Louisville Courier-Journal: "Talk about your realism, this show looks awful natural to me."

"How now?"

"Six months have elapsed since the play started and the housemaid hasn't done any work yet."

Fliegende Blaetter: The governor makes such a fuss always about my debts. But what can I do? I'm too young to marry."

The Sketch: Wife (reminiscing)—Well, I very nearly didn't marry you, John.

John (absent-mindedly)—I know—but who told you?

M. A. P.: Bishop Taylor-Smith is gifted with a delicious sense of humor. Preaching once on charity, he told a good story of a gentleman who was one day relating to a Quaker a tale of deep distress, and concluded by saying: "I could not but feel for him." "Verily, friends," replied the Quaker, "thou didst right in that thou didst feel for thy neighbor; but didst thou feel in the right place—in thy pocket?"

Scribner's Magazine: Elderly Gentleman—Say, did you see a hat that blew off that car?

Policeman—Yes, I just threw it back on the car.

Elderly G.—Great Scott! I just jumped off after it!

Chicago Tribune: Scapgrace Nephew—I wish I had your appetite, Uncle Henry.

Elderly Relative—Be thankful you haven't, my boy. It wouldn't fit your income.

Boston Transcript: Mere Man—Women in our legislatures—absurd.

Suffragette—And why not, pray?

Mere Man—What's the need? Haven't women been laying down the law to us for ages?

Philadelphia Record: "They tell me New England is full of old maids," said the Philadelphia girl.

"Now, I suppose you Boston girls don't often marry?"

"No, only once, as a rule," replied the Boston girl.

Chicago Tribune: "But, Alfred," she said, "how can we live on $14 a week?"

"That means, I suppose," faltered the young man, "that you expect to throw up that $10 a week job of yours after we are married!"

Defining Whisky.

Harper's Weekly: President Taft, having deeply considered the matter, officially decided last week that whisky is whisky except when it's rum. The late administration ruled (Attorney-General Bonaparte and Dr. Wiley concurring) that only straight whisky, aged in charred oak casks, should be branded "whisky." Later, Solicitor-General Bowers extended the use of that name to liquors made of rectified and distilled spirits. Now President Taft extends the name still farther to cover "blends" and whisky made of neutral spirits. He considers what "whisky" has meant and included for the last century rather than what it ought to mean or include, but he suggests that the label should tell what the whisky is made of. To neutral spirits made of molasses he denies the title of "whisky" on the ground that they are rum. Notwithstanding the extension of privilege in giving the name of "whisky" to distilled spirits, any whisky that is lawful enough in its composition to bear a government label at all will be rated, we presume, by consumers as comparatively wholesome as whisky goes. The awful compounds that are sold illegally as whisky in prohibition states doubtless bear no label at all.

CONCERNING WOMAN.

The wedding of Miss Margaret Pearson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Pearson, to Frederick Hemingway Waldron Jr., will take place this evening at the home of the bride's parents at Lakeside. The wedding will be a simple one and the service will be read at 8 o'clock by the Rev. J. W. Powell, Jr., of the Endion Methodist church, assisted by the Rev. Albert Parker of St. John's Episcopal church. The bride will be attended by her sister, Miss Isabel Pearson and the groomsman will be Field M. Fuller of Scranton, Pa. Mr. Waldron and his bride will leave for an Eastern wedding trip and will return to Duluth, where they will be at home.

MYERS-SHARP.

Philadelphia Wedding of Interest to Duluthians.

A wedding of interest to many Duluthians will take place at Philadelphia when Miss Blanche Myers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Myers, formerly of this city, will become the bride of Leo Sharp of Bay City, Mich. The wedding will be a home affair and will take place Tuesday evening of next week. The family is well known in Duluth, having lived here years ago and have since often visited Mr. Myers' brothers, B. F. Myers and H. H. Myers of this city. Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Myers, who are now in New York, will go to Philadelphia for the wedding, and Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Myers will leave the latter part of the week for the East, to be present at the ceremony.

Mr. Sharp and his bride will be at home in Philadelphia after a wedding trip.

SOCIAL HOUR

Will Follow the Annual Meeting of Y. W. C. A.

After the annual meeting of the Young Women's Christian association, which will be held Wednesday evening of this week at the assembly hall of the association building, a short program will be presented by Mrs. Katherine Joyce English, soprano, and Miss Adele McClaran, reader. After the program an informal social hour will be held in the lobby and refreshments will be served. The new members of the association are especially invited to attend, and any one interested in the association work is welcome at the annual meeting.

The reports of the officers will be heard and the election of seven directors will take place.

Home Musicale.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Berry entertained at an informal musicale Saturday evening at their home in Chester terrace in compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Johnson of Coleraine. There was much interest among the phasing of Fritz Fredicka, a young violinist, who has recently come to the city, and there was much enthusiasm among the guests over his numbers. Miss Wondbridge sang and Miss May Wylie gave several readings. The accompaniments were played by Mrs. Johnson.

Branch Entertains.

The Duluth branch of the Jewish Chautauqua, which was organized two years ago is entertaining the national field secretary of the organization, Miss Goldberg. The local members were hostesses at a reception this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Saul Goldberg of East First street, and will give a luncheon tomorrow at the Spalding. The visiting secretary will speak at a public meeting at the Spalding parlors tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock to which the public is invited. The subject will be "The Tendencies of Education."

The local branch is studying the Bible and Jewish literature. The course this year is devoted in large part to the story of Jewish creed and dogma.

Sleighride Party.

Personal Mention.

Mrs. John Stone Pardee of Vista street, has returned from a few days' visit at the Twin Cities.

Mrs. H. H. Hanford and daughter, Miss Bertha Hanford of Hunter's park are visiting at Minneapolis for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Matter will leave soon for California to spend the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Mendenhall of Hunter's park, left yesterday for their winter home in Cuba.

Mrs. J. D. Titcomb returned Saturday from Minneapolis, and will be in the city a week before returning to Minneapolis to leave there with Prof. and Mrs. Washburn, to sail Jan. 29, for a trip abroad.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Johnson, have returned to their home at Coleraine, after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Berry of Chester terrace.

Rabbi Lefkowits will leave this evening for Hancock to read the wedding service for Miss Gardner of that city to Mr. Field of Moorhead, Minn.

Mrs. Frank E. Limar of Laurium Mich., is the guest of her sister, Mrs. E. Woolway of this city.

WEDDING RINGS.

Newest Fashions Concerning the Gold Band.

Years ago, at the time the then prince of Wales married the Princess Alexandria, a boom was given to the engagement ring which combined gems, the first letters of which spelled the giver's first name, for the reason that a betrothal ring, given by the prince included a beryl, emerald, ruby, turquoise, jayenith and emerald in oblong setting, the first letters of the stones spelling his familiar name "Bertie," or nearly so, says the New York Sun.

Rich girls and poor girls, those who wore real, first water gems and those who had to be content with imitations, for several years vied with one another in having an engagement ring of this order, the fashion spreading to this country. The vogue did not last very long, however, and although rings of this style are still made over here and by some of the most fashionable jewelers, they are almost never chosen for engagement rings. An exception is found in the case of a young woman whose fiance, known as Ed among his intimates, insisted that an emerald and a diamond be combined in her engagement ring. At the advice of the jeweler, Ed selected a solitaire emerald, circled near the base with small diamonds.

Although jewelers say there is very little prospect of a return to the more or less ornate wedding rings of centuries back, there have been individual cases in the last few years in which the wedding ring was far removed from the plain gold band now prescribed by custom. One Fifth avenue jeweler, for example, has made several wedding rings consisting of a row of small diamonds set close together and sunk into the narrow gold band, which unadorned, is the customary wedding ring, and he has made as many more rings whose gold band has from four to six diamonds sunk into it. With these exceptions, he said, the wedding rings he is furnishing now are rounded bands, very narrow, about one-fourth the size of the bands most popular twenty or twenty-five years ago, some of which were nearly half an inch wide.

"The modern wedding ring of fashion," said he, "is designed to be inconspicuous rather than conspicuous, and" with a quizzical expression—"it is not necessary to put such lasting qualities into it.

"As a matter of fact, these narrow wedding bands are as thick in most cases as the half inch wide variety was and instead of costing about $20, they cost $5 or less. The flat style wedding ring is not at all popular now and the fashion of inscribing posies inside the ring which was handed down from the sixteenth century, at which time wedding rings were inscribed often inside and outside is practically obsolete. When I started in business thirty years ago, it was not uncommon to be asked to inscribe some loving sentiment inside a wedding ring together with the wearer's initials and the date of the marriage. Of late years the initials and date alone seem to be required; often there is no inscription at all.

"An exception occurred a few weeks' ago when a man who had purchased a wedding ring, brought it back to have engraved on its inner surface: 'Death only parts two loving hearts.'

"A book descriptive of early wedding ring fashions, which I used to keep handy for romantic persons wanting to follow old customs, contains somewhere between two and three hundred quaint couplets which once were used in wedding rings, some of which now figure in antique collections. One of the oddest I remember, spelling included, and which is never asked for now ran: 'Faithful ever, deceitful never.' Others I can recall were: 'A virtuous wife preserveth life.' 'Our love is to be so, no ending know,' and 'True love is the bondof peace.'

"It is not likely that anything will replace the gold wedding ring for the reason, as is often pointed out by clergymen and writers, that gold is the most precious metal, and that the plain circle without break or end describes the finality of the wedding bond."

The practice of exchanging wedding rings, once customary with the Germans only, is coming into vogue with Americans to some extent, it is said, the ring for the man being a facsimile of the woman's ring.

FRENCH ACTRESS CREATED A SENSATION AT HUNTING LODGE

JEANNE GRANIER.

Germany is divided into two camps over the propriety of a causerie on "L'Amour" delivered recently by the French actress, Jeanne Granier, before the kaiser at Prince Dommersmarck's hunting lodge at Neudeck. The actress talked freely on the delicate subject. Among other things she maintained that actresses were especially qualified to teach kings how to love. Prince Dontersmarck repudiates the attitude of the moralists and says the monologue is well known and has been delivered many times.

GRACE GEORGE WINNING NEW LAURELS AS AN ACTRESS

Grace George has made wonderful strides in her art in recent years. Her crowning achievement up to the present time has been her recent appearance with the New Theater company in the part of "Lady Teazle" in "School for Scandal." The New York critics unanimously praised her impersonation, while they almost as unanimously condemned the production as a whole. Miss George interrupted her tour to appear in this production. She will not go with the company when it makes an eight weeks' tour beginning in April.

THE EVENING STORY

THE ARRIVAL OF KATHLEEN

By Anna B. Coushaine.

(Copyrighted. All rights reserved.)

Sunnybrook Camp, the Ransom's beautiful summer place in the heart of the Adirondacks, was open for the season. Bright flower pots dotted the level stretch of velvety lawn, and way beyond half a dozen figures were lying the golf sticks. In walking towards the pretty dock were two girls, Theodora Marvin and Cousin Eleanor Ransom.

"Well, I think it just too mean for anything. I've just had a wire from Dick, and he can't come down till tomorrow. I suppose some old business has come up that will keep him in town, and he can't come till the afternoon train, it will just spoil our first week. Oh, never mind, Nell; it's business, of course; nothing else would keep Dick, and you know," she added, with a mischievous twinkle in her eye, "it's up to Dick to pay close attention to business nowaday, considering the responsibilities he is to assume in the autumn."

"Oh, yes, of course, it's business. Well, I don't suppose it can be helped. Let's go out on the lake," and they stepped into the canoe. Lazily the boat drifted down the river, the girls chatting of the wedding, of the early autumn when Dick Marshall and Eleanor Ransom were to be married; of the color scheme for the wedding; of the gowns for the bridesmaids, and of the thousand and one details.

"Well, Eleanor, you and Dick certainly will be happy. You understand one another, and you will get along so nicely."

"Oh, Dick and I never have 'rifts in the lute,'" replied the blushing Nell. "We don't quarrel like some of the others. Jessie Gray, for instance. Goodness! if Dick and I spatted as she and Walter do, I'd never marry him, not if we could live in a house of gold and eat with diamond spoons."

"Well, be glad you don't," replied Theo.

The Adirondack sunset was at its best, and the sky was a river of crimson and gold when last they tied the little canoe to its moorings.

"Goodness, Theo, hurry. It must be past dinner time," and they walked rapidly towards the house, where a merry party was assembled on the veranda.

Hurrying upstairs to arrange her hair, Eleanor picked up a folded sheet of paper and was about to throw it into the grate, when it occurred to her that it might be something of importance. To her surprise it was in Dick's handwriting, and the wording—once, twice, three times she read it, then carried it over to the window, and to be sure that she was not mistaken in the writing.

"Kathleen's here, and I won't be able to get down till tomorrow. Meet me at the station for the 1 o'clock, will you? Her train doesn't leave till midnight, and I'll have to stay over for it.

"DICK."

Just a few words, but enough to send all the color from Nell Ransom's pretty face. "Kathleen—who is Kathleen? So, this is business that keeps him in town; wrote this letter to Jack and didn't expect me to see it, of course. Well, if Dick cares so little for me that the instant I leave the city he has to entertain other girls, then I don't care whether he comes or not, and I don't want to see him, and there won't be any use of his coming, because I sha'n't speak to him, and I won't marry him either," and she buried her golden head in the pillow for a good cry.

An hour later, it was a very pale but a very gay little lady that joined her guests. "Oh! he'll just hear from the others that I didn't care. I won't wear my heart on my sleeve for his satisfaction, the wretched thing," she whispered to herself. Accordingly the later part of the evening saw her in the midst of a desperate flirtation with Dick's chum, Jack Graham, who had arrived that afternoon.

"Too bad Dick had to stay in town, wasn't it?" remarked Graham as they strolled through the garden, and to his amazement and mystification the girl replied flippantly, "Well, I guess we can get along without him; no one seems to miss him very much."

"Why, Nell, what's the matter? You and Dick been quarreling?"

"Certainly not. Why should you think that? I simply said he isn't much missed."

"Say, what's the matter with you, youngster? Why do you speak like that?"

"Like what, my dear Jack; you are out of your mind. Am I speaking in any but the usual way?"

"Yes, you are. Do you mean to tell me you don't care whether Dick comes down or not?"

"Certainly not. If Mr. Marshall's engagements are so many and so urgent that he cannot accept an invitation for the time given, do you think I am the one who should be bemoaning his absence?"

"Why, Nell, surely Dick let you know why."

"Never mind; we won't speak of it. Yes, I know why, all right. I'll have to ask you to excuse me, Jack. I think I hear Theo calling," and she hurried away towards the house.

Shortly after luncheon on Sunday, Graham, after vainly trying to persuade Eleanor to accompany him in his machine, started to the depot. The train was late, and it was nearly 3 o'clock before it steamed into Saranac Junction.

Nevertheless, for some strange reason or other, perhaps it was to make Dick realize what a very nice prize he had lost, she donned her daintiest white gown, and with a great corsage bouquet of red roses and her pretty garden hat she was as lovely a picture as one would want to see, when the big red machine was sighted a quarter of a mile down the road. Nearer and nearer it came, the honk-honk, chug, chug, chug, announcing the approaching arrivals.

In the front seat sat Dick and Jack, and in the back was a third person. All Eleanor could see was a pink parasol.

"Well, I wonder who's with Dick," cried Theodora in surprise.

"Can't imagine," replied Merle Crane. "Probably it's some belated traveler Jack picked up at the depot and offered to carry on to her destination."

Chug, chug, chug, the machine drew nearer.

"Well, whoever it is, she's coming here all right."

Just a glimpse of pink dress could be seen, the head was hidden by the parasol.

Eleanor felt tragedy in the air. Had Dick dared to bring his enamorato to her home? Surely not that! But what other explanation could there be? Well, if he had, no matter who she was, she should meet with a very frigid reception, and the ruby lips were drawn into a very thin, sharp line. Chug, chug, and a long-drawn out choo-choo, and the monster was brought to a standstill at the veranda. Eleanor, her head high and her expression anything but cordial, walked towards the steps. Out jumped the men, Marshall waving his hand to his fiancee. "I've brough' you another guest, dear. Missed her train last night, so I had to bring her here," and without waiting to see how his announcement was received, he turned again to the machine, then broke into a loud laugh and beckoned the others toward him.

Eleanor, pale and wondering, joined the group just as Marshall stepped back after gently taking the parasol from a pair of hands that had held it very tightly. "The company's asleep; look at this, will you?" And there, curled up in the corner of the big red seat was a golden haired little vision of 11. "My niece Kathleen Edwards (Helen's little one, dear," he added aside to Eleanor). Helen was Dick's ill-fated sister, who after an unhappy marriage and two years of misery, had succumbed to tuberculosis, leaving her little daughter, Kathleen Rosalie, a charge to her brother. Rosalie she had been from her babyhood, but of late she had been called Kathleen in school, and this accounted for the change of names in Dick's note to his friend and Eleanor's failing to recognize Rosalie in Kathleen. Quite unexpectedly she had stopped off in New York en route to school after visiting an aunt in Albany, and it was up to Dick to entertain her.

Eleanor's tragedy had slipped away and the world seemed a very bright and beautiful place after all, as she and Dick, with Kathleen Rosalie between them, crossed the lawn to look at the little pony, all Kathleen's own, bought by an adoring uncle and kept at Sunnybrook for the summer because she was to spend the vacation days with her prospective aunt.

WHY PLAIN MEN ARE POPULAR.

From "Plain Men" in the Strand: Plain men exist and multiply, but in our modern world a man's want of looks seems to be no handicap either to his success in life or to his personal popularity. In this, as it happens, the two sexes show a marked discrepancy. For a woman's charm is often her best asset, and, to parody a famous phrase, "Beauty is of man's life a thing apart, 'tis woman's whole existence."

Then a man's plainness may be atoned for by his mind, manner and general appearance. Clever men win hands down, and a good manner often counts for more than looks, brains, or even character. And most men, even if plain, own some feature that will interest, attract and save the situation. Even downright ugliness can sometimes be redeemed by a clever face and an air of distinction. We will picture to ourselves a few of these possibilities. A short, puny man may have small, straight features, good hair and a clear complexion. Weak lips may smile, or show soft curves of kindliness; a stern chin or heavy jaw can prove strength of will and firmness of character; in small, dull eyes may lurk hidden fires that tell of genius, or, at least, of enthusiasm; and a wrinkled brow often gives evidence of deep thought, a high intellect and marked powers of concentration. Then a plain man is apt to win who has a broad, well formed forehead. For an open brow attracts, and also gives sign of mental capacity. And good eyes can do much to redeem rugged or irregular features. Black eyes look beady in either man or woman, and pale blue eyes are said to be untrustworthy. But a pair of dark brown or dark gray orbs have a magnetic charm, especially when shaded and shadowed by thick eyelashes and well marked eyebrows. And good hair, kept in perfect order, will do much to redeem a plain face or a mesquin figure. This last word reminds me that for a man to be tall and well set up will cover a multitude of sins in the ways of appearance. At any rate, from a woman's point of view, six feet of height, broad shoulders and a fine presence are safe to redeem such minor defects as a snub nose, a wide mouth, small eyes or a bad complexion. And a short man can have a good figure if he happens to own a flat back and wide shoulders, and to hold himself with a smart uprightness. Outline counts for much, and has done, from the days of the Roman gladiators downward.

Strand: The camera, so far from being truthful, is consummately untruthful. It seizes hold of some unessential detail—something, perhaps, that the human eye would not observe at all—and exaggerates it until it seems to be essential and predominating. On the other hand, some essential detail, some delicate beauty of proportion, it fails to register duly.

And when we speak of the camera we do not necessarily mean the light of heaven passing through a lens. The lens may be accurate, but the final picture is, and must be, the result of processes. To this picture all the sun does is to throw the image upon a sensitized film, the image itself—the representation of the creature or scene that stood in front of the lens—being lost forever. It is the business of the photographer to recall that image. There, in a word, is the whole art of photography.

And photography is an art, because it represents facts and can select them. Where it falls short of art is in its lack of invention, and its dependence for beauty upon the beauty of the facts represented. When, granting these canons, photography fails adequately to represent beauty, it fails owing to the unskilfulness of the artist, because he does not understand the arrangement and juxtaposition of light-values, because he cannot select, because he cannot eliminate. Why, too, should it be denied that his photograph of beauty, whether of landscape or of flesh, should not be "the result of the successful expression of the artist's emotions?" A beautiful woman beautifully rendered is a work of beauty and a work of art.

ANIMALS BEHIND TARGETS.

London Chronicle: The experiment of placing dogs on board the obsolete French warship Jena the other day before battering her with projectiles was cruel; nevertheless, we should remember that we were once guilty in a very similar case.

This was in 1872, when sheep and goats were shut up in the turret of H. M. S. Glatton, which was then pounded by the Hotspur with her heavy guns. The turret was not pierced, while the animals it contained were found at the conclusion of the bombardment to be uninjured and apparently quite unconcerned. Their experience therefore, was a pleasant one compared with that undergone by the dogs in the Jena, most of whom were either burned to death or asphyxiated, while those that escaped alive were driven mad by terror.

Common Sense

Leads the most intelligent people to use only medicines of known composition. Therefore it is that Dr. Pierce's medicines, the makers of which print every ingredient entering into them upon the bottle-wrappers and attest its correctness under oath, are daily growing in favor. No Secrets. No Deception.

The composition of Dr. Pierce's medicines is open to everybody, Dr. Pierce being desirous of having the search light of investigation turned fully upon his formulæ, being confident that the better the composition of these medicines is known the more will their great curative merits be recognized.

Being wholly made of the active medicinal principles extracted from native forest roots, by exact processes original with Dr. Pierce, and without the use of a drop of alcohol, triple-refined and chemically pure glycerine being used instead in extracting and preserving the curative virtues residing in the roots employed, these medicines are entirely free from the objection of doing harm by creating an appetite for either alcoholic beverages or habit-forming drugs.

Examine the formula on their bottle-wrappers—the same as sworn to by Dr. Pierce, and you will find that his "Golden Medical Discovery," the great blood-purifier, stomach tonic and bowel regulator—the medicine which, while not recommended to cure consumption in its advanced stages (no medicine will do that) yet does cure all those catarrhal conditions of head and throat, weak stomach, torpid liver and bronchial troubles, weak lungs and hang-on-coughs, which, if neglected or badly treated lead up to and finally terminate in consumption.

Take the "Golden Medical Discovery" in time and it is not likely to disappoint you if only you give it a thorough and fair trial. Don't expect miracles. It won't do supernatural things. You must exercise your patience and persevere in its use for a reasonable length of time to get its full benefits. The ingredients of which Dr. Pierce's medicines are composed have the unqualified endorsement of scores of medical leaders—better than any amount of lay, or non-professional, testimonials although the latter are received by thousands.

Don't accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this time-proven remedy of known composition. Ask your neighbors. They must know of many cures made by it during past 40 years, right in your own neighborhood.

IRON AND STEEL REVIEW

New York, Jan. 17.—A fair volume of business in pig iron was placed last week in the Eastern territory, including several contracts for foundry grades of a non-competitive character ranging from 2,000 to 3,000 tons each.

The United States Steel corporation purchased 1,000 tons of low phosphate from an Eastern maker below $21 at the furnace for delivery to the Pencoyd works. A Western steel plant also has taken a moderate tonnage from an Eastern furnace at about $24.50 delivered. Contracts for low phosphorus are still pending calling for 10,000 to 15,000 tons additional.

Agricultural implement makers and malleable founders East and West have been negotiating for an aggregate of 12,000 to 15,000 tons of malleable Bessemer. Steel plants in Eastern Pennsylvania are in the market for round tonnages of heavy steel melting scrap for shipment over the next six to nine months, bidding $17 delivered. In all about 100,000 tons are pending.

The United States Steel corporation produced 11,600,000 tons of pig iron in 1909, breaking all previous yearly records.

Business in finished steel products has been quiet without important new features, but there have been fair specifications on previous contracts. Railroads have placed few orders for equipment of any kind.

Fabricated structural steel orders aggregated 15,000 tons. The weather retards shipments and some mills in need of steel are closing temporarily.

SENATOR THOMPSON HAS HEMORRHAGE

New Member of Upper House From North Dakota Reported Very Ill.

Cando, N. D., Jan. 17.—Fountain L. Thompson of this city, recently appointed United States senator from North Dakota, succeeding the late Senator Johnson is reported very ill in Washington.

He has had several severe hemorrhages of the lungs and his physician has advised that as soon as he recovers sufficient strength to stand the trip, that he be taken to Mexico.

His friends are greatly worried about his condition. Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Lord of Cando, who intended to go on a trip to the Mediterranean sea are hurrying on to Washington now to see him.

Governor Burke is also on his way to Washington.

ROYALTON MILLER DIES.

Mark Murphy of Royalton Succumbs to Abscess on Brain.

Royalton, Minn., Jan. 17.—Mark Royalton, one of the well-known citizens of this place, died Wednesday evening of abscess of the brain. The deceased was the proprietor of the Royalton Milling company and was prominent in business affairs in the up-river town. He was born in Maryland fifty-eight years ago, and came to Minnesota some time in the latter seventies, locating at Royalton where he has made his home ever since. He was married twice, one son of the first union surviving him with his second wife, a sister to Mrs. J. C. Knuesel of St. Cloud. Mr. Murphy was a prominent Odd Fellow and the members of that lodge attended the funeral in a body Saturday afternoon.

WILL BUILD MONUMENT TO MARTYRED MINISTER.

Northfield, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The students of St. Olaf college of Northfield have started a movement to erect a monument to the late Rev. Mr. Fugleskjel, the lumberjack missionary, who lost his life in the woods near Spooner early in the winter. The monument is to be built by subscriptions among the former students at St. Olaf.

S.S.S. THE ONLY REMEDY FOR BLOOD POISON

The first symptom of Contagious Blood Poison is usually a little sore or ulcer, so insignificant that often no attention is given it. But when the blood becomes more fully infected with the virus the mouth and throat get sore, glands in the neck and groin swell, and sometimes ulcerate, forming sores and ulcers, the hair comes out, copper colored spots appear on the body, and where the disease is allowed to remain in the system the poison frequently penetrates deeper and attacks the bones. S. S. S. is the true antidote for Contagious Blood Poison—the only remedy that is able to get at the very root of the trouble and remove every particle of the virus from the circulation; at the same time S. S. S. acts with upbuilding and tonic effect on every portion of the system. As soon as the system gets under the influence of S. S. S. the symptoms begin to disappear and soon a perfect cure is made. S. S. S. can be used in the privacy of one's own home and a permanent cure effected. To aid those who wish to cure themselves at home we have prepared a special Home Treatment book which contains much valuable information to Contagious Blood Poison Sufferers. With the aid of this book and the use of S. S. S. a cure can be effected in every case. We will send this book, and also any medical advice desired free to all who write.

CHANCES FOR POOR MEN ON THE VERMILION RANGE

Clean Ore Frequently Found Near the Surface of the Ground

Formation More Sharply Defined Than on Other Minnesota Ranges.

Today the Vermilion iron range is the nearest to a poor man's range of any in Minnesota.

Many men of strong opinions but weak knowledge may dispute this. Men who talk much but think little may claim otherwise. Many men from personal interest may scoff and buffaw at such a statement, but proof can be given.

It must be remembered that the Mesaba range is well proven and absorbed. Eighteen years ago a man with no experience, strong arms, pick and shovel could start digging in the morning and be in ore at night. Naturally, the Vermilion range could not compete with that kind of exploration. As a result the Vermilion range, with its high grade, high priced ores, was thrown into obscurity, and the Mesaba range, a wonder of the age almost monopolized iron exploration and mining in Minnesota.

Today diamond drill holes are being bored to a depth of 2,000 feet on the Mesaba range in search of ore. Likely lands either are very scarce or in the hands of large interests that will not sell or lease.

Out on the Cuyuna range a wonderful result of pluck, science and cold logic, money has been made, mines developed and that region and its ores will play a creditable part in Minnesota's iron history of the years to come. But the cream of the proven part of the range has been acquired by strong hands and stronger ones yet will take the lead in due time. Out there the search for ore is very much a gamble today, a stab in the dark, without a single outcrop and the only surface indication a magnetic attraction for the miner's needle greater than the regular terrestrial attraction. Unless new deposits near the surface are found soon that range hardly can be called a poor man's field.

So far, drilling on the Nameukan range up in the Ash river country, north of Virginia, can hardly be quoted one way or another, but aside from a bit of land speculation it has not been proven as a poor man's range.

On the Vermilion, as on no other Minnesota iron range, have ores been found on the surface or very near thereto. On the Minnesota mine at Soudan and the Chandler and Pioneer mines at Ely, for example, clean ore was found on the surface in some quantity at least, or very near to the surface. Even when not of magnitude, these showings of clean ore lead surely and directly to the huge bodies below when followed with skill and intelligence.

While many fine ore bodies on the Vermilion range will be found to be and expected at considerable depth near future and the years to come, yet it is reasonable to assume and expect a goodly percentage of cases where ore will be found near the surface and not at great depths. What has happened once may happen many times again. It is logical and sensible to reason from the known to the unknown. Mesaba ores must be sought and expected at considerable depth henceforth and Cuyuna range ores are much less valuable when found, even if not comparatively near beneath the surface, and their discovery promises to be very much of a blind gamble. The natural conclusion is, therefore, that the Vermilion now is more of a poor man's range than any other in Minnesota.

On the Vermilion iron range the formation is more sharply and definitely defined than on any other Minnesota range, therefore more plainly read by the prospector, explorer or operator. It has been carefully, closely and quite correctly mapped by state and federal scientists. As the result of this work by the leading authorities in the world geographical, topographical and geological maps have been published, together with intelligent, practical and helpful suggestions and information. All this helps to make the Vermilion the nearest a poor man's range of any in Minnesota.

Options are the most easily secured on the Vermilion range of any in Minnesota. While fees are not cheap or many, leases and options for leases bear very reasonable royalties and exploration conditons. Ore, if found, commands the highest price of all the ranges. Royalties are no more than on the Mesaba, and ores when found will sell for much more, either in the ground or to the consumers.

The best royalty yet known on the Mesaba is one in which M. H. Alworth secured $1.35 a ton. Out on the Cuyuna, George H. Crosby does not ask more than 5 cents a ton and a cash bonus of $100,000 for a property he expects to turn.

Any ore found on the Vermilion range may be set down as high grade and, in the ground, can be sold for not a single cent, less than $1.50 a ton, more than any Mesaba mine commands and nearly three times as much as one of the best mines on the Cuyuna range.

It is creditably stated that George St. Clair has been offered $2 a ton for Section 30 ore provided he will load it onto the cars after hoisting it. At $1.50 a ton he can command a handsome bonus. All else being equal, no one can dispute that these conditions help make the Vermilion a poor man's range.

Then co-operation is possible on the Vermilion range, as a result of easy conditions as to royalties, exploration, formations, government information and the superior grades of ores. Co-operation is the poor man's greatest aid to wealth and the stock company is the most common form of co-operation. In union there is strength. If all poor men voted alike, then the extremely wealthy men would not have much to say. One dollar each from 1,000,000 men will do as much as $1,000,000 from one man if used with equal skill, economy and intelligence. The result will be many times more beneficial to the entire people.

T. J. Walsh, John Helmer, E. C. Kennedy, J. C. McGreevey, Tilton E. Lewis, S. T. Hamilton, Alois Ebmer, John B. Bisbee, Richard J. Ryan, Louis Loeb, James Le Brec, Edward M. Barrett, T. E. Cannon, H. J. Grannis, Kenneth MacDonald, John C. Campbell and others, either have secured tangible, creditable and legitimate results, or plan to do so, by means of stock companies—co-operation—all of which helps prove the declaration that the Vermilion iron range is the poor man's range today.

An untruth or a misstatement repeated often enough, in time becomes an accepted fact.

For years the people of Duluth and the entire world have had it pounded into their ears that exploration on the Vermilion is so expensive—prohibitively so, except for certain big interests or wealthy drill contractors — and the people hearing this loose and unproven contention, have accepted it finally as the truth and shaken their heads in sorrow and regret because conditions are such as to prevent them from scrambling for an iron mine.

Today competition, better machinery, long experience, greater skill and less attention to the croakers show that exploration work, foot for foot, is no more expensive than on other ranges and, in some cases, even cheaper.

On all ranges churn drill work in surface dirt commands from $2.50 to $3 per foot. On the Cuyuna range diamond drilling brings from $4 to $5 per foot.

On the Mesaba diamond work brings from $5 to $6 per foot. Prices on any range depend considerably on the formation, locality and the firm bidding on the work.

On the Vermillion range a contract recently was made whereby the contractors guarantee their holes to a depth of 1,500 feet and receive $4.50 for each and every foot, whether the material be greenstone, clean ore or jasper.

Another contract made with a capable and responsible firm of drillers allows $3 per foot for greenstone and $4 per foot for ore, mixed ore and jasper, or jasper alone.

Other firms ask $3 for greenstone, $4 for ore and $5 for jasper. In some of the inferior formations on the Vermilion, where the best informed men will not undertake exploration work, prices would have to be higher to make much money for the contractors unless they had most favorable success with their work. These figures indicate and help prove that the Vermilion range is a field for the poor man.

Small shafts for exploration purposes are not unduly expensive, and, in many cases, have been more positive than drill holes in proving ore bodies. Prof. Van Hise strongly advocates these small shafts. One Vermilion range pioneer has declared that in every case where a shaft has been sunk 100 full feet an iron mine has been found. This assertion has not yet been disputed or disproven. These small shafts have been sunk by poor men, and are not beyond men or companies of very modest capital. Huge working shafts with powerful machinery more properly come within the province of the strong operating companies, and the fact that such expensive equipments and developments are required to get out the ore does not bear seriously on the assertion that the Vermilion range is one for the poor man.

Space and inclination will not permit a review of the many millionaires made by Minnesota iron mines, but very properly, a review of those who have lands in fee on the Vermilion range may be satisfying and instructive to the reading public.

Right here it may not be amiss to state that Duluth people are not inclined to pass by the Vermilion range, or to part with their fees, thereby not letting outsiders and strangers pick up the millions as they did on the Mesaba range.

There's a man in Duluth who came here empty-handed. He had industry, integrity and great foresight. He made lumbering pay him richly, and knowledge concerning iron made him millions. Today he owns an acreage of iron lands in Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota that a belted earl of old England might envy. The mere acreage may not exceed that of the United States Steel corporation on the Vermilion range, but his numerous and diversified holdings certainly do. The time may yet come when these holdings will make look small the $60,000,000 that the United States Steel corporation paid John D. Rockefeller for his Mesaba range holdings.

Quiet, modest and unassuming, this owner of a grand duchy in the kingdom of iron, as it were, maintains no press agent to herald his doings to the world. He continually does good with his right hand that his left hand never hears about. He could be a power on the Vermilion range in an active way, as he now is in a passive way. With his great ability and foresight, Robert B. Whiteside may write a few pages of the North Star state history that will compel the world to pause and read in wonder. Look at his list of holdings, alone and with others, as follows:

In town 62-14 (see map) Robert B. Whiteside has holdings in sections 9, 10, 12, 17, 18 and 19.

In 62-13, the holdings are found in sections 1, 2, 3 4, 9, 12, 14 and 15.

In 62-12, the list embraces lands in sections 3, 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8.

In 63-13, the lands are situated in sections 34, 35 and 36.

In 63-12, sections 24, 27, 32, 33 and 34 contain mere fee holdings.

In 63-11, the holdings are confined to sections 11, 12, 14, 15, 17 and 19.

In 63-10, Mr. Whiteside owns lands in the same sections as the United States Steel corporation viz: Sections 1, 2, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14 and 15. What else he owns deponent sayeth not!

The United States Steel corporation owns the fee of but one producing mine on the Vermilion range, the pioneer Minnesota mine at Soudan, which has produced ore for twenty-five years and today, is in better physical condition, and producing better ore than ever before. All other mines operated on the Vermilion range by this billion dollar corporation are now under lease. Undoubtedly, a vigorous campaign of exploration work would give this corporation some good mines on lands owned in fee and, undoubtedly, the management will not willingly permit any new mines, opened by exploration companies, to get into the hands of independent steel companies.

The United States Steel corporation owns all of the lands in 62-15 south of Vermilion lake except a few small pieces.

In 62-14 this powerful corporation owns lands in sections 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 15, 17, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 28, 29 and 30.

In 63-12 lands are owned in fee in sections 24, 26, 27, 28, 33 and 34.

In 62-11 the lands owned are in sections 12, 13, 23, 24 and 30.

In 63-10 the lands owned are situated in sections 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14 and 15.

The greater part of 61-15 also is owned by this corporation.

Few people stop to think how many there are, chiefly Duluthians, who own likely iron lands on the Vermilion range. The outsiders will have to pay heavy toll, so to speak, if they absorb that range the way they did the Mesaba range. It is impossible to mention each and every fee owner on the Vermilion, but here's a partial list, viz.:

In 62-14: Albert Poirier, C. Poirier, Charles d'Autremont, R. H. Doran, George Brosser, the Lonstorf estate, Alois Ebmer, R. N. Marble, William Ardouin, J. G. A. Crosby, T. J. In the mineral and mining business the operators and capitalists correspond to the officers in army life. The prospectors and explorers correspond to the privates and non-commissioned officers. On the Vermilion range in early days there was a valiant force of prospectors. Some gained wealth, many gained disappointment, some are dead and a goodly number yet live in Minnesota. Some of these have holdings that yet may give them a competence and others have just a bit more than they brought into the world. The least that can be done to all those early explorers and prospectors is to give their names honorable mention. Here's a partial list for the years 1880 to 1886:

Among the skilled miners on the range before 1886 were Capt. Elisha Morcom, Don H. Bacon, Joseph Sellwood, John Pengilly, Percy Gough, Tom Ross, Jack Armstrong and Sand McMaster.

In the early days travel between Duluth and Lake Vermilion was over the old Vermilion trail. Supplies were packed there on men's backs. Once at Tower, travel and freighting was greatly by canoe along the water routes. From Tower to Ely there was a "pony trail," used when Capt. Sellwood and associates were opening up the Chandler mine.

SMITH ISSUES CIRCULAR.

Advocates Adoption of Amendments and Raps Water Department.

Chan Smith will this week issue a circular letter advocating the adoption of charter amendments 7, 8 and 9 and incidentally rapping the management of the water and light department. He asserts that home consumption of water costs 23½ cents per 1,000 gallons, while corporations consuming large amounts of water pay but 3½ cents per 1,000 gallons. He advocates a flat rate of 12 cents per 1,000 gallons. Mr. Smith urges the adoption of his three amendments "to make it easier to live and own a home in Duluth."

Minnesota Wheat Prize Winner.

Sauk Center, Minn., Jan. 17.—Minnesota wheat won a decided victory at the Omaha national corn exposition, when John Roach of Avon, Stearns county, won third prize for the best Minnesota wheat of any variety. Wright county won the first and second prizes, but Mr. Roach won the third prize for the best winter fife wheat.

"GOLDFISH" IN LAKE

At Steel Officials' Dinner Was Mermaid, It Is Said.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 17.—An investigation of the "Seeley dinner," given by the officials of the Carnegie Steel company here recently, has been ordered by the United States Steel corporation, and is now.

Those who had charge of the affair have been told that it would be considered a favor if they would explain fully the grounds for the sensational rumors which have been afloat regarding this annual dinner.

There is known to have been an artificial lake built in the banquet hall, in which, it was given out, goldfish swam.

A rumor that the "goldfish" was a shapely young woman is denied indignantly by some who admit they were there.

The corporation has issued an order that there is to be no more "plugged keyhole banquets."

The American Excess Of Good Living

The Principal Cause of the Great Prevalence of Indigestion and Dyspepsia.

A Trial Package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Sent Free.

Man inhabits every part of the globe where external influences can be successfully resisted. Food is an important element in effecting this, and nature has provided for it accordingly. The colder the climate the more animal food and oily substances are required; the warmer a preponderance of vegetables and fruits is necessary in one's diet.

The whale-blubber of the fur-clad Eskimo, and the rice of the nude African, are as much necessities of locality, as matters of choice. The same indications exist in civilization. Thus, the diet in America and England is essentially different from that in Italy, Spain ond Egypt.

The effects of universal communication are nowhere more obvious than on the luxurious table. To furnish the refined cuisine, all climates, both sea and land, are laid under contribution, and the stomach is expected to digest, without assistance everything that is put into it. Combining together such varied products, and the neglect of the relation between climate and foods, are very active causes of dyspepsia.

The heavy substantial dishes of this climate accord badly with the thermometer at ninety degrees; and an inflexibility in regulating the kind and quantity of food is the cause of a large proportion of the ill health and stomach troubles among the English and Americans.

Thousands of people who have suffered from stomach troubles and a general ill-health resulting therefrom, because of a badly regulated diet, and the ingesting of an excessive amount of food at the table, have obtained speedy and permanent relief by means of a simple expedient—that of using one or two of STUART'S DYSPEPSIA TABLETS after each meal, or whenever any of the well-known symptoms of indigestion are present.

These powerful digestive tablets contain every element that exists in the stomach to digest the food, and in the exact proportion as found therein. They take the place of the natural digestive juices when the latter are deficient in quality or quantity, and do their work for them, removing the indigestion by digesting the food, and resting, strengthening and purifying the digestive tract.

There is no other digestive remedy on the market which has been found equal to Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets; none which is so rapidly and powerfully efficient, or which removes discomfort, banishes stomach-pain, and relieves and cures all of the symptoms of dyspepsia and indigestion in so thorough and plesant a manner as these marvelous little tablets, a single grain of which is capable of digesting 3,000 grains of any and every kind of food.

All persons who are annoyed with stomach troubles of any kind should use Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which will remove such troubles in a very short time. Purchase a box from your druggist, and send us name and address for free sample. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Building, Marshall, Mich.

SCHOOL PRINCIPAL HURT.

Crystal Falls Teacher Breaks Leg While Coasting.

Crystal Falls, Mich., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Amanda J. Hamilton, principal of the Crystal Falls high school, was badly injured by the sled upon which she was coasting colliding with a box car at the Northwestern depot.

She was taken to the Darling hospital and the injury was pronounced to be a very bad one. The fracture is at the knee, and it is estimated that at least four months will be required for it to mend so that she can get around for work again.

SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

De Forest, Wis.—"After an operation four years ago I had pains downward in both sides, backache, and a weakness. The doctor wanted me to have another operation. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I am entirely cured of my troubles."—Mrs. AUGUSTE VESPERMANN, De Forest, Wisconsin.

Another Operation Avoided.

New Orleans, La.—"For years I suffered from severe female troubles. Finally I was confined to my bed and the doctor said an operation was necessary. I gave Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial first, and was saved from an operation."—Mrs. LILY PEYROUX, 1111 Kerlerec St., New Orleans, La.

Thirty years of unparalleled success confirms the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to cure female diseases. The great volume of unsolicited testimony constantly pouring in proves conclusively that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a remarkable remedy for those distressing feminine ills from which so many women suffer.

If you want special advice about your case write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

DELEGATE WILL COME

Sandstone to Be Represented at Market Conference Here Tuesday.

Progressive Farmers' Club Is Interested in the Duluth Meeting.

Sandstone, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.) — The Progressive Farmers' club held its regular monthly meeting last Saturday afternoon. Louis Christensen, the secretary, was selected to attend the market, or County club conference meeting at Duluth tomorrow, as a delegate from here. It is considered that this conference will be one of vital importance to farmers and gardeners tributary to Duluth, and Mr. Christensen has shown so much interest in such affairs that he was unanimously selected to represent this club.

Building Co-operative Creamery.

It was also decided that the proposed farmers' co-operative creamery be left to private parties to build, as such an offer had been made to the club at the beginning of the creamery agitation. The offer was that they would build, equip and operate the creamery for a year, and if found a paying proposition at the end of that time they would give the farmers an option to purchase the plant and make it a co-operative creamery. This the club has decided to do, and with the co-operation of the Sandstone Commercial club, will endeavor to have these parties go ahead with the work at once. Many of the farmers have come to the conclusion it would be a good thing for them to have such an enterprise here, but it seems to be slow work for them to push the project themselves, as most of them are willing to let a few do all the hustling, but without any compensation for their time.

Meet Again Feb. 5.

The next meeting of the club will be held on Saturday, Feb. 5, at which time all farmers will give the amount of seed wanted for spring planting. The object is to raise only certain varieties of vegetables and to make a better market for them by having them uniform. The club will order all garden seeds and seed potatoes direct from the grower and distribute same on a certain date.

The Commercial club will meet next Tuesday evening to discuss the private ownership of a creamery, and also to hold a social session.

To Furnish Duluth Chickens.

C. E. Ahlm has decided to supply the demand for chickens and eggs in Northeastern Minnesota. He has recently built a chicken house on his farm on the outskirts of Sandstone, for breeding purposes. It covers 1,000 square feet, and there will be room for 200 hens. He is also adding a number of colony houses to the hennery at present, and by spring expects to fill the long-felt want of supplying eggs for the local market at least. He is an adept in the chicken business, having had many years' experience in that line before coming here, and he can't help but succeed in his venture. His choice of breeds are the rose comb black Minorcas. His establishment will be known as the Model poultry farm.

THREE PIONEERS BORNE TO GRAVES

Trio of Old Citizens of Thief River Falls Die Same Week.

Thief River Falls, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—A trio of deaths last week, which removed from this life three of the oldest citizens in the northwestern part of the state and the three men who were among the very first to penetrate this section and establish themselves in what is now Thief River Falls. They were Frank Tilton, H. O. Nelson and J. H. Wallin. They all had been residents of this city for at least twelve years, and the two latter for nearly thirty years, having been identified with this particular part of the state, even before there was any evidence that Thief River Falls would be a city. They were all buried from the Methodist Episcopal church, Rev. J. B. Smith officiating. It was coincidence that three well-known citizens, who for so many years had been closely identified with the growth of the city and actively connected with several of its civic activities, should depart this life within three days of each other. The interment of all took place at the Greenwood cemetery, and was attended by large concourses of citizens.

FATHER GIRAUX TO RESIGN.

Head of Cloquet Catholic Church Plans Leaving the Priesthood.

Cloquet, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rev. Father Giraux announces that next summer he will resign to retire from active church work. It is his intention before retiring to superintend the division of the Catholic church people in Cloquet. The church at present is composed of all of the nationalities of the Catholics with the exception of the Polish, who have a church of their own. By this division there will be two churches, one a French and the other an English. Father Giraux first came to Cloquet twenty-one years ago, and left after remaining here two years. He returned twelve years ago, since which time he has been a zealous worker of the church in Cloquet. He has during his pastorate built the church in Cloquet, which was burned in 1908, and also built three mission churches in rural communities. Plans for a beautiful new church have been drawn up for some time, but since the division has been decided upon it is not yet decided whether they will be used for either of the proposd churches or two entirely new sets of plans drawn.

MAY JOIN HER HUSBAND.

Wife of Oshkosh Convict Is Convicted of Burglary.

Oshkosh, Wis., Jan. 17.—The jury in the case of Mrs. Elsie Morris, charged with burglary, larceny and concealing stolen property, returned a verdict of guilty. She was found guilty on two counts of the information, those counts being that she had retained property stolen from the home of Mrs. Mary Morgan, Miss Elizabeth Hill and the dressmaking shop of Mrs. Sterling.

The penalty for the offense is from one to five years in the penitentiary. An appeal may be taken. The husband of Mrs. Morris is now serving a five-year term in Waupun for burglary of the Sterling shop, to which he pleaded guilty.

TO OPEN MORE LAND.

Fort Berthold Reservation in North Dakota Being Surveyed.

Palermo, N. D., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Twenty surveyors under the direction of W. D. Wheeler of Minneapolis are on the Fort Berthold Indian reservation making surveys for the government preparatory to the opening of the reservation for settlement. The agreement reached between the Indians and the government that certain portions of the big reservation might be open for land settlement, has caused great activity upon the reservation in anticipation of the incoming of new settlers.

The survey work to be done at this time will be largely of a preparatory nature, the taking of the more detailed survey being laid over till spring. Immediately upon the completion of the work surveying the reservation is to be opened.

BELIEVE IN McKENZIE.

North Dakotans Don't Believe He Killed "Dutch Henry."

Mekinock, N. D., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The people of Mekinock who are acquainted with Alexander McKenzie, the young man serving time in the Minnesota penitentiary for the supposed murder of "Dutch" Henry, are firm believers in his innocence.

They have never been convinced, even with his conviction, that he was guilty of the crime as charged. He had always borne a good reputation while he made his home in this place, never being implicated in any kind of trouble here.

SOON BEGIN HEARING.

Referee Mattson Preparing to Begin Red Lake County Probe.

Thief River Falls, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Attorney Mattson of Ada, who has been appointed referee on the case of the state of Minnesota against County Auditor Latandresse and Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners Charles Lindquist, for alleged malfeasance in office, states that he will begin the taking of testimony in the case the latter part of this month or the first of February.

The hearing results from complaints made in an official report of Public Examiner Schafer to the governor that the accused county officials have not conducted the business of the county in so far as they are related to it within the requirements of the law. Ex-Attorney General Young and City Attorney Halvorsen of this city will care for the taxpayers interests and County Attorney Michelet will be present in behalf of the county.

'PHONE LINES CONNECTED.

Eastern Marshall County Line Working With Thief River Falls.

Thief River Falls, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Red Lake & Eastern Marshall County Telephone company's line has been connected with the Thief River Falls system. The line connects Kratka, Highland, Belmer, and Erie at present, and within a month all the points in the eastern part of Marshall county will also be placed in telephone communication with this city. At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the company held at Erie in this county, the following officers were elected: President, Stephen Singer of Kratka; secretary, Andrew Hanson of Erie; treasurer, P. O. Wold of Highland. Nearly all parts of this and adjoining counties are now directly connected with this city, but still the farmers are building more lines and it is a safe prediction that within two years a farmer will not be found in the county who has no telephone in his home.

CLOQUET VITAL STATISTICS.

Births Exceeded Deaths Last Year About Three to One.

Cloquet, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dr. James Fleming, city health commissioner, has issued the birth and death statistics in Cloquet for the year 1909. Although the number of deaths is considerable, it is small when compared to the proportion of births, which is large for a city the size of Cloquet.

One hundred and twenty-two boys were born and 112 girls, making a total of 234. There were 33 deaths; 3 from tuberculosis, 3 from diphtheria, 2 from typhoid, and the others due to diseases common to old age and childhood.

JURY COULD NOT AGREE IN GORE RAPE CASE.

Dickinson, N. D., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—After being out fourteen hours, the jury in the case against Scott Gore, tried on a charge of rape, was discharged by Judge Crawford. The failure of the jury to agree may mean that Gore will be given his freedom, although no definite announcement has been made as yet. The offense is alleged to have taken place in Dickinson in 1908, Annie Hiney being the complaining witness. Following the trial of this case, the district court session was adjourned.

GRAND FORKS STREET RAILWAY WILL EXTEND.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The sale of a large block of the stock of the Grand Forks Street Railway company to a local business man means the extension of the system next year to all parts of the city. The sale gives the treasury a large amount of cash and makes the completion of the line an absolute certainty.

ATTACKS COUNTY BOARD.

Payment Made By Marinette County Commissioners Questioned.

Marinette, Wis., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—A sensation was sprung at the meeting of the Marinette county board when Attorney H. T. Scudder, one time candidate for supreme judge, attacked the legality of the action of the county board in paying $1,000 per year and expenses to the supervisor of assessors, and requested the sum of $3,070.78 for service in that capacity paid to John Curry be returned. Curry was appointed in 1905 and held the position for three years. Attorney Scudder bases his claim on the laws of 1903 in which it is stated that the compensation of a supervisor of assessors shall not exceed $4 per day while he is working and that out of that sum he shall pay his expenses.

SHOT TO FRIGHTEN, BUT BADLY WOUNDED INTRUDER.

Marinette, Wis., Jan. 17.—The assault case of Josepia Sczafranek, charged with shooting Stephen Laferski, was tried before Judge Hastings and he was found guilty. Sczafranek testified he was fixing up a gun which he intended to use in killing chicken hawks when he saw Laferski trespassing on a road through his property. He went out and ordered him to keep off his land, and for answer Laferski showed him a heavy stick which he was carrying. Sczafranek said he wished to scare Laferski and shot at the ground.

He admitted, however, that through an unfortunate miscalculation on his part he missed the ground and hit Laferski in the hip, the wound necessitating the amputation of the man's leg.

Beware Pneumonia!

According to mortality statistics, pneumonia is one of the most frequent and fatal diseases to which humanity is subject. Its action is so rapid that its victim is often in a precarious condition before realizing that anything more serious is the matter than a severe cold.

This is one of the dangers apt to follow the neglect of a cough or cold, and is therefore the best of reasons why one should check a cold at the start. A simple, inexpensive and effective remedy for coughs and colds is made by mixing two ounces of Glycerine, a half-ounce of Virgin Oil of Pine compound pure and eight ounces of pure Whisky. These can be bought in any good drug store and mixed together in a large bottle. Take a teaspoonful four times a day. It is claimed by the Leach Chemical Co. of Cincinnati, who prepare the genuine Virgin Oil of Pine compound pure, that this mixture will break up a cold in twenty-four hours and cure any cough that is curable.

THIS AD. IS ONLY FOR OWNERS OF E-M-F "30" AUTOMOBILES

Our records of owners of E-M-F "30" Cars are not complete—we lack names and addresses of several hundred owners, and in many cases where cars have changed hands we haven't the address of the new owner.

ON THE IRON RANGES

VIOLENT DEATHS HIT FAMILY HARD

D'Cenzo Family of Coleraine Has Several Tragic Takings Off.

Coleraine, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Funeral services were held Friday at the Catholic church for Domenico Schiavetti, aged 25, who was killed by a cavein while working under a high bank.

Schiavetti was another of the unfortunate members of the D'Cenzo family that has, during the past two years, been visited by no less than seven deaths. Their bad luck began a little over two years ago when Agostino Palumbello, Michelle Palumbello and Guiseppe Del Grego were killed by the explosion of a box of dynamite in a shanty near No. 3 shafthouse.

Black Hand Blamed.

This explosion was said to be the result of a plot between members of a Black Hand organization that had resolved to destroy the lives of the three men, but a close investigation failed to bring satisfactory evidence, and the matter was therefore dropped. About six months later Antonio Colongelo and Sarafino D'Cenzo met their death in a dynamite explosion at Taconite. Last summer, as will be remembered by many, Domenico D'Cenzo suffocated from powder smoke in a gopher hole and laid unconscious at the hospital for several weeks before dying. Schiavetti was the seventh of this unfortunate family to meet his death through accidence.

The mystery connected with the above mentioned accidents is that every one of the men were brothers or otherwise closely related and of the same family, and it seems as though ill fate had settled to stay among its several members.

SHOOTS AT HUSBAND, BUT AIM IS POOR

Biwabik Miner's Wife Fails in Effort to Perforate Him.

Biwabik, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Maurin, a miner working at the Monica mine, can thank his lucky stars a woman's proverbial inability to hit anything with a gun still holds good. Otherwise he might be a subject for a coroner's inquest. His wife took a shot at him at the mine, but never touched him. She claimed he failed to support her. Mrs. Maurin went to the mine, shortly before the shooting, and found him working on the stock pile. She waited till the noon hour till he went to the dray and then went to him and demanded that he return and live with her at their home at the Cass location. He refused and she drew a revolver and fired at him. He managed to get under cover and she started for town, being arrested on her arrival. When the matter was explained to Justice Salmon, he refused to issue a warrant.

'BUS DRIVERS CHECKED.

Hibbing Police Halt Actions of Chisholm Jehus at Depot.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Police Sergeant Booth has taken a hand in the regulation of traffic at the Duluth, Missabe & Northern passenger depot, and it is now safe for pedestrians to approach within half a block of the depot at train arriving time.

There are four 'busses plying between here and Chisholm, and so keen has been the rivalry that the 'bus drivers have not given a care to human life or limb. They have been in the habit of making a dash at full speed from the depot and make a mad race uptown, utterly disregarding the rights of the pedestrians, who had the choice of skurrying out of danger or being run over by the plunging horses.

WOULD REPRESENT ONE OF VIRGINIA'S WARDS

WILLIAM TRITCHLER,
Candidate for Alderman From the Fifth Ward.

Sergeant Booth has given orders to have the practice stopped, and hereafter the drivers will leave the depot in a slow and orderly manner, or they will feel the strong arm of the law.

LAST "RITES FOR UNCLE" WM. ROGERS

Long Procession Follows Body to Its Grave in Virginia Cemetery.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of "Uncle" William Rogers, yesterday afternoon from the Methodist church was largely attended. Rev. R. C. Johnson officiated. Mining friends, relatives and citizens from the Michigan and Mesaba ranges were present.

The procession to the grave was one of the longest seen in this city. All the rigs that could be secured were used, and all were well filled. The closest friends and kinsmen of the deceased acted as pall bearers, and followed the hearse, in its long travel to the Virginia cemetery, where the body was interred. Among the relatives present at the funeral, and who have been here since the deceased was in a serious frame of health, were: Matt Rogers, Mrs. Matt Rogers, Mrs. Jaspar Williams, Gilbert; John Rogers, Houghton, Mich.; Mrs. Mary Rogers, Eveleth.

OBERG'S HOODOO STILL WORKING

North Shore Fisherman's Run of Hard Luck Nearly Has Fatal Ending.

Two Harbors, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Axel Oberg, owner of the gasoline fishing schooner, who had much trouble the past few months by his boat being almost wrerked twice, once on the south shore, and once on the north shore, narrowly escaped drowning here Sunday morning.

While making repairs to his boat at the dock he slipped on the icy deck and fell overboard He endeavored to crawl out a number of times, but every thing being covered with ice, was unable to get a hold of anything and after falling back into the water, began to call for help. Luckily he was overheard by J. E. St. George and John Shields who rescued him just in time. Mr. St. George getting down on the boat and securing a hold on Mr. Oberg's collar and held him above the water until Mr. Oberg's son arrived with whose assistance he was drawn to safety.

MINING COMPANY IS MOVING HOUSES

Fine Dwellings Are Being Moved From Mountain Iron to Virginia.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Carrying out its announced intention of making Virginia the headquarters for operations on the Eastern Messaba, the Oliver Iron Mining company is moving many of the fine dwellings and other buildings at Mountain Iron to the new location, near here. Some of the fine residences will be removed to the new site.

TO WORK ST. PAUL MINE.

Preparations Under Way for Reopening Property at Keewatin.

Keewatin, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to the Herald.)—Plans are on foot for reopening the St. Paul mine, which has been idle since November, 1908. Twenty thousand ties have been ordered of Deleo & Nystrand for mining timber for the shaft and it is believed that the property will be opened for shipping in the near future. The reopening of the St. Paul mine will mean a great deal to Keewatin, resulting in a boom for the town and enlivening mining operations in this vicinity. E. S. Remer, formerly superintendent of the mine, will remove to Hibbing and engage in business for himself. A successor to Mr. Remer has not been named, but it is believed that either Jack O'Brien or E. L. Cochran will be the new superintendent.

SUPT. ROSS IS SICK.

Official of Pettit Mine Has Attack of Pneumonia.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Supt. Dan Ross of the Pettit mine is in a local hospital, suffering from a serious attack of pneumonia. He has been sick for some time, but is not thought to be in a very dangerous condition.

EVELETH RINKS SAD.

Defeat By Virginia Stone Sliders Is a Hard Blow.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—There is grief in local curling circles over the defeat of the Greening and Pratt rinks by the Virginia rink, in the struggle for the Ordway trophy.

The Eveleth-Virginia games were closely played and considering the inexperience of the local rinks the showing of the Eveleth curlers was pretty good.

CHISHOLM CHURCH BENEFIT.

Librarian of Public School Library to Give Entertainment Feb. 3.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Librarian Mabel Tuttle Frusch of the public library, a reader of considerable note, is to give a concert and entertainment in the auditorium of the high school on Thursday evening, Feb. 3. Miss Frusch will render six readings which are announced as follows: 'An Old Sweetheart of Mine,' James Whitcomb Riley; "The Felt Tale," Anon; "Unexpected Guest," Beatrice Cameron; "Manselle," Anon; "The First Call," Grace MacGowan Cook; "The Last Word," Henry Van Dyke. Among those who are rendering musical selections, are Misses. James Frost and Frank Ross, and Misses McMasters and Hood. There are also a number of others who will take part in the program whose places have not as yet been announced. The program is to be given in behalf of the M. E. church.

SECTION FOREMAN'S BETTER HALF DIES.

Two Harbors, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Theodore Lusch, 45 years old, and wife of a section foreman residing at Waldo, died at the hospital Saturday night after a long illness. She was brought to the hospital about a week ago in the hope that she could be gotten into condition to stand the shock of an operation, but she died before it could be performed. Besides her husband she leaves five daughters and two sons.

ENGINE BREAKDOWN DELAYS EVELETH MAIL.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Sunday mail was late yesterday, reaching its local destination about 3 p. m., when it should reach this city at 10:30 a. m. A breakdown on the Missabe engine resulted in the mail arriving here over two hours late.

EVELETH BRIEFS.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—C. E. Bailey left for California points on business pertaining to the extensive fruit land interests he holds in the Pacific coast country.

The fourth number of the local star course, the Castle Square Entertainers, will be given in the high school auditorium tomorrow evening.

Rev. Mr. Jamieson of Duluth, has been visiting in this vicinity the past week and while in this city incidentally spoke at the recent Christian Endeavor social, held by the Eveleth and Virginia societies.

Rev. Mr. Wyth of Virginia also addressed the audience, as also did Rev. P. A. Shwarz of the First Presbyterian church of this city.

Rendered Finnish Drama.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The comedy, "Mister Gert," was rendered in Finnish by the Walonlahde temperance organization in Walonlahde hall last evening and was enjoyed by many.

Chisholm Notes.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to the Herald.)—George F. Beatty, local manager of the Mesaba Telephone company, has leased the Thomas Dandrea residence and will move into the new place about the first of the coming month. At the present time Mr. and Mrs. Beatty are occupying the C. W. Johnson residence on Chestnut street.

Harry L. Downey and wife of Hibbing arrived in the city Wednesday and expect to spend several weeks here.

PLANER CLAIMS HAND OF CHISHOLM MAN.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—H. Culver, owner of a planing mill, was the victim of an accident Saturday afternoon that necessitated the amputation of his left hand.

Mr. Culver had placed a board in the jointing machine and started to work when one of the knives worked loose and digging too deep into the board, drew in his hand. It was so badly injured that the doctors were unable to save it.

Rapids Eagles to Install.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local aerie of Eagles will install the following officers in Odd Fellows' hall Tuesday evening: E. A. Le Febre, worthy president; H. E. Nevenx, vice president; J. F. Grant, conductor; Leo Leroux, chaplain; Hugh McEwen, secretary; E. J. McGowan, treasurer; C. F. Wilson, inside guard; M. Lieberman, outside guard; T. A. Spang, H. S. Huson and M. A. Spang, trustees.

Fayal Couple Wedded.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Lazislav Pashick and Catherine Bergovitch, both residents of Fayal, were married Saturday morning by Father Bilban in the Holy Family church.

WHY McDAVID QUIT.

Chisholm Postmaster Refused to Stand Loss By Big Fire.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The friends of J. F. McDavid, the retiring postmaster, claim an injustice has been done him by printed insinuations that he was summarily removed from office because he was short in his accounts.

Mr. McDavid lost better than $500 at the time of the Chisholm fire, when the postoffice and all contents were destroyed. The postoffice department insisted upon Postmaster McDavid paying the loss, and Mr. McDavid declared that if he had to pay he would resign, and the question came to an issue about three weeks ago. Mr. McDavid lost all the postoffice furniture at the time of the fire, which, together with postage stamps and money belonging to the government, his loss was about $1,500. The salary of the Chisholm postmaster is $1,800 a year, and Mr. McDavid could not maintain his temper after being compelled to make good a loss that the postoffice should have stood, and he quit. During his service of two years he made many improvements in the service, and there is general regret over his decision.

THE DEBT TO CHRISTIANITY

"Not All Civilization Christian," But "All Not Christian Enough."

"The Contribution of Christianity Toward Civilization," was the subject of a sermon preached by Rev. George R. Gebauer, at the First Unitarian church, corner of First street and Eighth avenue east, yesterday.

"People in speaking of Christian civilization generally assume that all material progress and intellectual and moral culture is the direct result of the Christian gospel," said the speaker.

"This may be very comforting to the believer, but a little thought might show that it is hardly true. Our civilization is like a rope of many threads, like a river composed of many confluents, of which Christianity is one of the important ones. But it is by no means the only one. Let me but intimate to you one or two of these contributions. There is, first and all important, our racial inheritance. Our civilization is essentially Germanic, using the term in its widest sense and not meaning by it 'German' or 'Teutonic.' But for the peculiar character of those Northern races, which for more than 100 years, flooded the Roman empire and whose race-genius gradually transformed the ancient world, modern civilization, is not conceivable. At any rate, whatever the mixture of our blood may be, we all recognize that it is the fundamental thing in civilization. A second most important confluent to our cultural condition, one which has again many tributaries, is the intellectual and artistic and social inheritance of Greece and Rome. What we cherish today as art, philosophy and science, received its impulse from Greece, and our social and legal status is no little a debtor to Rome. Rome has given us the idea of the state and of the rights and the obligations of citizenship. Now, if this be so, then we may well conceive of a high civilization without any Christianity. Indeed, as the ancient civilizations reached a high level of development, as Islam in the eighth and ninth century bloomed to wonderful culture, so we might have today, a highly organized society, without Christianity. But after all, such a civilization would be sadly lacking on the moral side of life. Not only this, but it would be without that wonderful spiritual impulse, which is an impelling force in every great civilization.

"Egypt and Greece and Rome, as well as Islam, owe their development no little to religion. Imperfect and crude as these religions were, they yet were full or power. How much more, then, should a purer, truer faith affect the social life of mankind. No doubt the things we most prize in our civilization are due to the Christian ideals of life pervading it. The social relations between man and man and woman and man have been influenced by the teachings of the Master. The best in art and in literature is largely the result of Christian feeling and aspiring. Philosophy and ethics are bound up with it and science even, though so often in disagreement with the church and its doctrines, has found much of its inspiration in religion.

"Christian civilization means to me a state of social culture in which the spirit of Christ reigns; in which the ideals of the sermons on the mount exert their full influence; in which love and justice are supreme. Not all our civilization is Christian, but all our civilization is not Christian enough."

Taft, Cannon and Gaynor.

New York, Jan. 17.—It has been announced in New York that President Taft, Speaker Cannon and Mayor Gaynor have accepted invitations to the Republican club's annual dinner on Lincoln's birthday, Feb. 12, here. Governor Hughes also may accept.

WILL COME UP AGAIN

Council Will Have Another Session on Railroad Franchise.

Company Planning to Go Ahead With Condemnation Proceedings.

Negotiations with the city council for a franchise to come into the city have not deterred the Canadian Northern from going ahead with the condemnation proceedings instituted in the district court about two months ago.

During the last week deputies from the sheriff's office have been serving notices upon the property owners with whom they have been unable to come to an agreement that the hearing on the condemnation proceedings will take place in the district court on March 12.

The council will again have the matter of granting the franchise before it tonight, but it is doubtful if any final action will be taken. Aldermen who have been approached for an expression upon the subject invariably state that they would like to have more information before casting a vote for or against the ordinance. They feel that Duluth needs the road and wants the road, but at the same time they state that the complaints of the West Duluth residents should be taken into consideration.

The continuation of the condemnation proceedings shows that it is the intention of the company to let the courts define its rights, if the franchise negotiations with the city are unsatisfactory. The road would rather come in under the franchise, accepting provisions which would not be put upon them by the courts, rather than fight through the tangles of the law, as the good will of the public would be secured, and as much valuable time would be lost in a legal battle carried to the highest tribunals.

The situation is left practically unchanged, but the company's action has had the effect of bringing forth several public expressions favorable to it. Mayor Haven says that the company should be granted a franchise. City Attorney C. S. Wilson takes the same stand, as does Frank Jordan, president of the council. Most of the aldermen state that their opinion is the same, except that they want to be satisfied beyond a reasonable doubt that the route proposed is he only feasible line which the road would follow in coming into the city.

Mrs. Oliver Quick Dies.

Mrs. Oliver Quick of 111 West Fifth street died very suddenly at 6 o'clock last night in her home, of heart failure. She has been a resident of Duluth since 1887. She is survived by two sons, Harry and Charles.

Turns Down Fifth Avenue.

Birmingham, Eng., Jan. 17.—Rev. John Henry Jewett, pastor of Carrs Lane Congregational church, yesterday announced to his congregation his decision not to accept the call to the pastorate of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church, New York.

Williston's Fifth Bank.

Williston, N. D., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Williston now has five banks, the new one being the Farmers & Merchants bank, opened last week. M. E. Wilson of Minneapolis, is the president, while Ralph Souden of that city is second vice president. A. O. Anderson of Williston is the cashier. The institution commenced business with a paid up capital of $30,000.

Carlton Odd Fellows Install.

Carlton, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local Odd Fellows have installed the following officers: N. G. Hartman, N. G.; Emil Magnuson, V. G.; Fred G. Brewer, recording secretary; Enoch Mikelson, financial secretary; August Norman, treasurer; D. J. McDonald, warden; Emil Newquist, R. S. N. G.; D. A. Hartman, L. S. N. G.; A. Freeman, R. S. V. four rounds his best lap was 2:38⅘. Curtiss' record is 2:12. Finding that he could not win in this, Paulhan tried to lower Curtiss' starting record. He made it on the soft turf in 118⅗ feet. Curtiss' record is 98 feet.

Roy Knabenshue and Lincoln Beachey brought out their dirigibles, struggled hard against the wind for half a mile and then gave it up.

Charles F. Willard, in a Curtiss' machine made only a brief flight. The crowd was then sent home.

Paulhan was not content, for as the crowds were filing out he appeared on the horizon with two passengers behind him, a dangerous feat in such a wind. The passengers were his mechanicians.

FIGHT IN THE ST. PAUL JAIL

against the five, but repeated blows on the head forced him senseless to the floor.

Rapped Messages on Pipe.

That the tip of the time was correct became certain Saturday night when the men, after being locked in separate cells, communicated with each other by means of pipe rappings and in a code known to Sheriff Gerber and his deputies.

At 7:45 yesterday morning the night jailers, instead of leaving the building, were stationed in the corridors and office. Sheriff Gerber, with a loaded revolver, stood half way up the main stairs leading to the floor above. Charles Silverstein, day jailer, with broom and dustpan, entered the corridor into which the cells open. As soon as the bolts were drawn, Hall and Reineke attacked the jailer, throwing him to the floor. He was securely bound with a rope which the men had made of their towels torn into strips and tied together.

Laid for Head Jailer.

Good had been selected as the one to settle Hermann Fortmeyer, head jailer, who at that hour is busy in the jail office at the rear end of the main corridor.

Met the Sheriff.

Sheriff Gerber started to follow Good into the office, but just as he reached the door leading to the cell corridor, Hall rushed out on his way to the office to help Good. The sheriff held a gun to his face and ordered him back. Hall showed no fight and went back into a cell.

In the meantime Silverstein had wriggled himself free from the towel rope that bound him and attacked Reineke, who by this time suspected that the plans had gone wrong, and was uncertain whether to follow Good or remain by the cells. Silverstein made short work of his man. All three men were placed in solitary confinement, where they will be kept on a bread and water diet until their cases are called.

Hall a Dangerous Man.

Hall is regarded as a dangerous man. He was arrested in November in the rear of a house in Inglehart avenue. The federal authorities in a search of the place secured a kit of counterfeiter's tools, a large number of uncancelled stamps and other incriminatory evidence. He is believed to be one of the men who robbed the Kansas City postoffice last summer.

Frank Good was arrested in the National German-American Bank building Dec. 3, on the charge of forgery.

Herman Reinke is 28 years old. He is under indictment on a charge of holding up A. F. Lindquist in the latter's restaurant in Wabasha street, on the night of Dec. 20.

augurated to make each industry bear the burden of accident to employes, without regard to the question of negligence, upon the ground that such burden is properly a part of the cost of the product. It has been accepted as founded on sound business principles, and put in operation by some employers already who recognize that otherwise great unfairness often results in casting upon the employe and his family the entire burden of accident.

"Legislation in England and Germany thus provides for the compensation to be paid to injured employes. The English statute provides for compensation during disability, equal to 50 per cent of the wage rate, and in case of death or total disability, a sum equal to four years' wages. Surely this country ought not to lag behind those enlightened nations in righting what is now the most monstrous injustice of the age. Nevertheless that is likely to happen unless there be uniform legislation in many, if not all, the states on the subject. For in the absence of a general movement for uniform legislation, New Jersey, for instance, would hesitate to place her contractors at a disadvantage in competing with New York contractors.

Failure of Enforcement.

"Latterly complaints have arisen of inefficiency resulting from the division of powers between the federal and the state governments. It is said, depending upon the point of view, that some states grant charters which are far too broad, while others go to the opposite extreme. That in some states the law has not been enforced against disposed of corporations and their officers, while in others the tendency is to presume them guilty of a desire to violate all law, written or unwritten.

"The public complaint for the present is more generally that the states have been lax in the enforcement of law, with most disastrous consequences. The charge of neglect must be admitted by all who appreciate that every one of the corporations now struggling for life was created in the face of the law under which they are now prosecuted—a law which by reason of its deliberate non-enforcement was assumed by the corporation founders to be 'more honored in the breach than in the observance.'

Cost of Efficiency.

"This is not the time to consider whether the one government or the other is the more responsible for this condition. For the claim is that in any event efficiency is sacrificed in the ideal form of government, and that in the interest of business prosperity efficiency is of greater importance than all else.

"There is no political government on earth so efficient as the government of the United States Steel corporation, from a purely business standpoint. Every step it takes is in obedience to a master mind. But it may safely be said that no one would be willing to have our government thus managed, however much national wealth might be augmented each year.

"We are ambitious, it is true, for wealth and the comfort it brings, but we have not yet lost our faith in the proposition that the object of government is the greatest good to the greatest number. It is desirable, therefore, now, as it was in the beginning, that we should endure a less efficient form of government in order to avoid the greater evils which would otherwise arise."

RUSH VOTERS TO THE POLLS

and Sir F. G. Banbury, doubtless, will receive majorities, even larger than they had at the last election.

Unionists Failing Behind.

At present, to sum up, nothing can be predicted with absolute certainty, but only a very great increase in the Unionist gains over Saturday's results, when they gained only half the number of seats they had counted on, will give them a victory. If the Unionists continue to gain in the same ratio, the Liberals will still retain a majority somewhat in the neighborhood of ninety. Chancellor Lloyd-George said last night:

"We are winning. England is declaring emphatically against government by the peers and beer. The north is overwhelmingly with us."

John Burns, president of the local government board, said:

"All things considered in the fight between those who have too much and those who have too little, Saturday's results are exceedingly good. London has done much better than I expected. In my judgment it has done supremely well. To win the seats that have been lost would have required almost superhuman efforts."

Astor Is Beaten.

At the close of the elections Saturday the standing of the various parties was as follows: Unionists, 43; Liberals, 37; Laborites, 6; Nationalists, 5.

Unionist gains, 18; Liberal gains, 3; Laborite gains over Liberals, 1; no change, 69.

Waldorf Astor and Sir P. Mortimer Durand, the former ambassador to the United States, who contested the two Plymouth seats, as Unionists, were defeated.

Among the interesting members elected Saturday were the Rev. C. Sylvester Horne, Congregational minister, who won on the Liberal ticket at Ipswich, and Allmerch Hugh Paget, the Unionist candidate for Cambridge, whose wife is the daughter of the late William C. Whitney.

FARGO PLANS GREAT WEEK

have a two-days' meeting and prominet speakers will be in attendance. There will be the usual annual banquet.

State Horticulturalists Meet.

A part of the program one day at the tri-state meet will be furnished by members of the State Horticulturalist society, which holds its annual session during the week.

The North Dakota Kennel association axhibit Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday is attracting attention. Exhibits are here from points within Butte, Winnipeg and Chicago, and there will be about 200 dogs shown. Minneapolis and Duluth exhibitors were expected to be represented, but they failed to make their entries. The show is under the American Kennel association rules and the awards will be made by Dr. Clayton of Chicago.

The exhibit by the North Dakota Poultry association will reach 800 birds and there are also some special feature attractions. The civil engineers of the state also meet during the week.

The dates for the state meeting of the county commissioners will be fixed during the week by the executive committeee, which will be in session here.

Valuable Prescription When Afflicted With Rheumatism or Backache, Also Splendid Tonic.

At the first sign of rheumatic pains or backache, or a feeling of being generally run down and weakened, the following simple prescription should be used; the results are prompt and cure certain. It will build up the system.

"One ounce compound syrup of Sarsaparilla; one ounce Toris compound; half pint high grade whiskey. Mix them and take a tablespoonful before each meal and at bedtime. The bottle must be well shaken each time.

Any druggist has these ingredients or will quickly get them, any one can mix them.

ENDS DYSPEPSIA IN FEW MINUTES

Heartburn, Gas, Indigestion and All Stomach Misery Vanishes.

There would not be a case of indigestion here if readers who are subject to Stomach trouble knew the tremendous anti-ferment and digestive virtue contained in Diapepsin. This harmless preparation will digest a heavy meal without the slightest fuss or discomfort, and relieve the sourest, acid stomach in five minutes, besides overcoming all foul Nauseous odors from the breath.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula plainly printed on each 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin, then you will readily understand why this promptly cures Indigestion and removes such symptoms as Heartburn, a feeling like a lump of lead in the stomach, Belching of Gas and Eructations of undigested food, water brash, Nausea, Headache Biliousness and many other bad symptoms; and, besides, you will not need laxatives to keep your stomach, liver and intestines clean and fresh.

If your Stomach is sour and full of gas or your food doesn't digest, and your meals don't seem to fit, why not get a 50-cent case from your druggist and make life worth living? Absolute relief from Stomach misery and perfect digestion of anything you eat is sure to follow five minutes after, and, besides, one case is sufficient to cure a whole family of such trouble.

Surely a harmless, inexpensive preparation like Diapepsin, which will always, either at daytime or during night, relieve your stomach misery and digest your meals is about as handy and valuable a thing as you could have in the house.

dacy was launched in Fargo following a conference that he had with Messrs. Gronna and Marshall, the senatorial candidates who head the ticket, and who are endeavoring to bring about the formation of the entire insurgent ticket.

Judge Lauder and H. T. Helgeson, both congressional candidates, were responsible for the appointment of the conciliation committee. They have both been in the field for some time, and the slate contemplated by Gronna and Marshall ignored both of them. They were in attendance at the conference, and both spoke at some length upon the subject. Careful steps, they urged, must be taken to bring about the best results, and they were opposed to the launching of a ticket without a general sounding being taken.

Eight Candidates.

The congressional candidates from the insurgent wing who are already in the field are H. T. Helgeson, Milnot; Judge Lauder, Wahpeton; U. L. Burdick, Munich; James Johnson, Minot; B. G. Skulason, Grand Forks; John Flittie, Williston and George Young, Hettinger. A. G. Hanson of Fargo has also been talked of. With only two places to be filled, it is easily seen that some close figuring will have to be done.

The latest formal announcement to be made for a state office is that of Walt Taylor of La Moure, who is now in the field for the place of commissioner of insurance. He is the man who has been picked for the slate for some time past.

KELLOGG'S CANDIDACY

contests between Republicans running for office.

Taft Admires Kellogg.

President Taft is a great admirer of Kellogg, and if Mr. Kellogg should go into the senatorial race he would, in all probability, have the moral support of the administration. But Mr. Kellogg and his friends realize, and they have so stated, that what might be construed as interference in the political affairs of Minnesota by the federal administration might prove a boomerang to the Kellogg candidacy.

Mr. Kellogg wants to be senator, and the toga now worn by Mr. Clapp is the one he is after. He has been canvassing the situation for several months, but from all that can be learned he is still undecided as to whether he should take the plunge. Whether the visit of Mr. Smith will result in early devolpments is a matter of conjecture, but among Minnesotans the belief prevails that an announcement from Mr. Kellogg bearing on the senatorship may be expected soon.

DEEP-SEATED COUGH

CURED IN 5 HOURS.

New Home-Made Syrup.
(Cut this out.)
From Boston Press.

Progress in medical compounds never ceases, and now it is stated by a prominent medical man that any deep-seated cough or cold on the lungs can be actually cured in five hours by the clock. Opium and morphine have been resorted to in the past as relief measures. But now it is learned that the system must be treated to rid it of inflammation and congestion. A tonic laxative cough syrup does the work so quickly and thoroughly as to be almost magical. What heretofore has taken weeks to cure can be accomplished in hours. Get this formula filled or mix it at home and always keep it on hand: One-half ounce fluid wild cherry bark, one ounce compound essence cardiol and three ounces syrup white pine compound. Shake the bottle and take twenty drops every half hour for three hours. Then take one-half to one teaspoonful three or four time a day until the system is purified and tones up. Give children less according to age. One filling will usually cure a whole family, as the dose is small.

LATEST SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

OLE FIERING SOARS 144 FEET THROUGH SPACE FOR NEW SKI JUMPING RECORD

August Nordby of Superior Wins First Tournament of the Season.

Riders Make Spectacular Jumps in Meet on Chester Hill.

OLE FIERING IN MID-AIR.

Every incident conspired yesterday to make the first ski tournament of the season the most successful one that has been held on the big slide of the Chester Creek hill since the organization of the Duluth ski club.

Not only was there a larger crowd than the officials of the club had expected, but the jumps broke all records made in the slide, while the wonderful leap of Ole Fiering, clearing a distance of 144 feet, breaks all professional records in this country and will probably stand for some time as the national mark.

Officials of the club are of the unanimous opinion that Fiering would have even beaten the wonderful mark he made yesterday, and that many of the splendid records achieved by some of the other riders would have been broken had the snow been less adhesive.

Both of the big stands at the hill were more than comfortably filled and the hillside in and out on the ground at the foot of the natural hill, presented a fantastic and picturesque appearance when the first event of the afternoon was called off.

Arrangements for conducting the tournament and letting the spectators at the foot of the hill know all the details of distance and time and the names of riders could not have been improved upon. Large numbers informed the crowd the distance the ride had negotiated and an announcer with a megaphone told the name of the rider, as well as the distance he had cleared.

On the form shown yesterday by the riders, Ole Fiering is destined to set some wonderful records the present season. Every time the name of the fearless Fiering was announced yesterday a little murmur ran through the crowd.

In the preliminary trial, Fiering made his great jump and brought forth a generous hand from the big crowd. Shooting down the long slide with increasing momentum, until it seemed as if the rider were a human projectile shot from some huge cannon, Fiering shot through the air and, by muscular twists of his sinewy body, seemed to project himself through the air. He landed evenly and kept his feet, and thus successfully completed one of the greatest jumps ever made in the world.

Andrew Haugen of Chippewa Falls leaped 145 feet yesterday, but was unfortunate in falling and marring what would have been the most wonderful jump of the day—a jump that would have come within a scant four feet of the world's record, made in Norway, and which has defied all onslaughts by riders in this country.

The first professional prize of the tournament went to August Norby of Superior, one of the strongest and best character riders seen on Chester slide for some time. Norby won 285 points. Norby was more fortunate than some of his competitors yesterday, in that he kept his balance on every jump, and thus boosted his record.

Second prize went to Tollef Hemmestvedt of Eau Claire, who was but a single point behind Norby. Third prize was captured by Knute Helland. Christ Bjornson of Colfax, Wis., a comparatively unknown rider until the present season, was fourth. Ole Norby, a brother of the tournament winner, captured fifth money, and Olaf Larson and Ole Fiering of this city won the sixth and seventh prizes respectively, being the only Duluth riders to break into the prize lists.

Yesterday was evidently not a lucky day for John Evenson, national champion. He was unfortunate in falling in three of his trials. On his showing yesterday it would seem as if Evenson has not reached his true form yet.

Ole Mangseth of Coleraine, while not breaking into the prize winning circle, showed yesterday that he is a rider who will make a great record this season. He made some fine jumps yesterday and appears to be a rider that will have to be considered in the future meets.

Arnold Olson of Duluth captured the first prize in the amateur events. His longest jump was 104 feet and he was given a total of 242 points by the judges. John Dela of Chippewa Falls won second prize, his longest jump being 101 feet. E. S. Hendrum of Duluth captured third prize.

Following is the record made by both the professionals and amateurs, the length of their jumps and the number of points scored by the riders figuring in the prize winning:

Professionals.	First Jump.	Second Jump.	Points.
August Nordby, Sup.	126	122	285 1-3
Tollef Hemmestvedt, Eau Claire	126	125	284 1-3
Knute Helland, Chippewa Falls	126	121	279 1-3
Christ Bjornson, Colfax	122	121	277 2-3
Ole Nordby, Superior	115	117	264 1-3
Olaf Larson, Duluth	107	120	263
Ole Fiering, Duluth	137	131	255 2-3
Amateurs.
Arnold Olson, Dul.	102	104	242
John Dela, Chippewa Falls	101	100	221 2-3
E. S. Hendrum, Dul.	95	105	231 1-3
S. Bergren, Virginia	91	100	210 1-3
Martin Boe, Superior	100	100	203 1-3
John Olson, Virginia	96	100	182

SETTING THE STAGE FOR THE ENTRANCE OF THE MARATHON DISTANCE RUNNERS ONCE MORE

Hayes, Shrubb, Dorando et. al. Will Appear on the Scene Again This Year.

(BY BRUCE)

They are setting the stage for the entrance of the Marathon runners. The man in charge of the sporting spot light is ready to flash the white light on the familiar forms of Jonny Hayes, Dorando, St. Yves and old friend Alf Shrubb in many respects the greatest runner of them all.

We had much of the long distance running last season, and the people stood by it. What the people like, they generally get. Therefore, regardless the line of argument, it is probable that many big Marathon racing will be pulled off the coming season.

The present time little Hayes is on the Pacific coast. The man who won the London Marathon, the most sensational race of the country, has caught the fancy of the running fans of the Golden coast. He has challenged St. Yves for a race for $10,000 a side. What Hayes really means what he says and whether $10,000 in real money will be waged on the result, remains to be seen.

Alfred Shrubb has done remarkably well since he has been in this country. The great English middle-distance runner has lost only three or four races, and all of the races he lost were races over the favorite distance of the wonderful Britisher.

There is no man in the world who has any business running against Shrubb from any distance over five miles and up to fifteen miles. When Shrubb gets over the fifteen-mile mark he may be beaten by some of the Marathon pluggers, but for the middle distances it is very doubtful if the world has ever beheld such a truly marvelous performer as the trim built man from the British Isle.

Shrubb is due to compete in some big events this present season. He has been running on in the land of adjoining prosperity and high heavens, Canada and has been showing the Canadian Cousin what the article from over in really is, don't you know, old fellow.

Walking around and viewing this wonderful man from all sides—stride, perfection of running, grace and economic expenditure of energy, as well as speed and staying powers, we are forced to doff our chapeau to the great Shrubb person.

England has produced some great athletes during those years of her athletic greatness. For some reason, who can tell, the athletes of the Tight Little Isle are going back. England has come last in rowing and cricket, long the tried and true distance runners of the Merrie England country began to pant in at the finish, in the rear of the spike-footed representatives of other countries. John Bull will indeed wear a peeve not unlike that worn by Uncle Joe Cannon in these days of the dippant insurgent.

Shrubb is one of the greatest of great runners that a great old country has produced. He has made running not only a science, a profession. A master in any profession is to be admired—go out and give three cheers for Mister Shrubb. He is not of the heavy face and grubby "and" type; oh, put on grandpapa's dust-laden daguerreotype, he is of the lean cut, arrowy Yankee type, the nervous type of athlete with steely muscle, fitted for the long chase. He is a man that packs some gray matter between his ears, also, and like most men with brains in the attic of their anatomy, he is a credit to the game.

Do you suppose, gentle reader, that Jay Miller will prove another Charley Foss? The latest flash of intelligence of the Western Union contains the statement that his Joylets has not been found. What has become of the boy? That is what the faculty of the Ann Arbor brain invigorating institution would like mightily to ascertain.

The Miller case is one of the most peculiar in the annals of the college game in this country. It was most peculiar that Miller to get by the faculty with his funny system of learning by absent treatment; and it is funniest still that he should disappear and refuse to come to the scratch and take his high-brow castigation from the white hands of the Michigan faculty.

If Miller is found to be slightly deranged in the above forehead line, you may be sure, Ralph, that the dear decriers of football will say that the boy went wozzy from some hurt in football. Like charity, football is made the Angora for a lot of sins.

Messrs. O'Loughlin and "Empty" Caine are engaged in a little journalistic battle. Tilts between the twain are not infrequent. And it must be said, in justice to O'Loughlin, that he is right in the present controversy, as he has been many times in the past.

Mister "Empty"—by the way, what a funny name—has the habit of unduly criticising many things that do not in any manner come under the hammer of a reputable sporting writer. A knocker is one who is not admired. Mister Caine puts but little red blood in the stuff he turns out; rather he is content to write in a near-nasty manner, of people and events.

They are telling a good story on a fellow who was disposed to laugh at the exercises a number of business men take every day at the Duluth Athletic club, under the eagle-eyed supervision of Instructor William Trepanier.

The goat of the joke is a chap who has been mixed in athletics and is fond of the strenuous. He laughed at the form of muscle builder and body antidote rectifier that some of the slaves of industry were going through. He was told that the exercises would be good for anything that was the matter with him, and more merry noise departed from his system.

However, he was persuaded to go through the form. He did. He didn't take any more exercise for the next three days. He was sore in muscles that he never knew lived in his anatomy neighborhood. Now he will probably call regularly on those tenants of the anatomy settlement. His body was grouchy in places where his strenuous exercises never did leave even a near-peeve.

And in the meantime, the business men have been regularly at their form of "sisterly" exercises.

Cora Livingston, the "lady rassler," has been performing for the delectation of the students of the game in St. Paul. The "lady" grappler has been meeting other feminine exponents of the game. It might be highly interesting, should two of the rival sisters of the mat become peeved during a mat soiree.

Would they forget the ordinary holds that the masculine maulers of the canvas employ to turn the opponent? Would they, with malice aforethought, reach for the maiden curl or the hidden rat of the fluffy headpiece? Would they attempt to massage the marcels? Verily, these are questions that are of import and interest.

In a championship event between two of the feminine grappling school, it would be just as well if hatpins and fluffy ruffles of a tonsorial persuasion were left in the dressing rooms.

James J. Hogan, great Yale football player, captain of one of the greatest teams the New Haven institution has ever turned out, and devotee of the life strenuous, made so charming-on-paper by one Teddy Roosevelt, has quit a $5,000 New York political job for the reason that he finds politics too strenuous and wearing on the nerves.

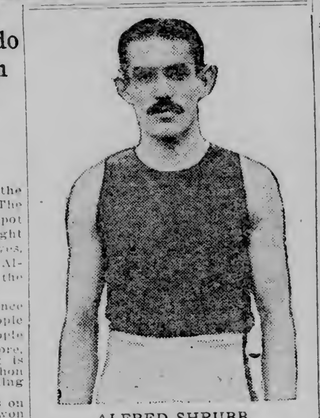

Mr. Hogan is not the first man who has found New York politics of the wearing nature, still, being a football player, we expected greater things of Mons Hogan.

His chief, Big Bill Edwards, also a football player with an international rep, is still on the job and is making the snow fly off the New York streets. Bill Edwards has accomplished more than any man who ever held the position of street commissioner. Mayor Gaynor certainly is commended. That more of the virile football fiends be employed in the street cleaning department. They are doing very well, thank you.

John Gordon, Minneapolis champion police wrestler, writes to the sporting editor of The Herald, with the assurance that will give Chris Person the merriest time in the mat career of that follower of the grapple game. Gordon writes that he is in the best of condition for the match of Tuesday evening, Person, likewise, is in the best shape of his career. His daily workouts have put him on edge for the coming encounter.

The two men should be evenly matched, with Gordon carrying the most weight and the local man having the more knowledge of the fine points of the game. Person is an enduring cuss, one who wrestles better as the hours fade into mysterious midnight. He had Greeck Denietral on the ragged edge of exhaustion in the Hancock match, when the unfeeling police stopped the bout, as midnight's still alarm had sounded.

CURLERS RE-ELECT THE OLD OFFICERS FOR 1910

Duluth Remains the Bonspiel City of the Association.

American Curlers Win the International Trophy in Easy Style.

With the exception of G. B. Reedal of Phillips, Wis., who was elected second vice president of the Northwestern Curling association at the election held at the Commercial club Saturday evening, the officers for 1910 and 1911 are the same as for the year past. Mr. Reedal was elected in place of R. W. Chadbourn of Minneapolis, who was unable to assume the office another year.

Harry T. Hurdon of Duluth is president; J. E. Catlin of Duluth is vice president; C. B. Reedal of Phillips is second vice president; Walter C. Poehler of Duluth is secretary, and F. W. Hargreaves, also of Duluth, is treasurer.

The election was held in connection with the annual banquet at the Commercial club Saturday evening, and practically all the curlers who took part in the annual bonspiel were present.

Duluth will be the meeting place again next year. The visiting curlers are enthusiastic over their treatment in the Zenith City and no other city in the association was even considered. Plans for the next spiel were gone over fully and an effort will be made to induce more outside rinks to enter another year. The officers will get busy earlier in the season and the visitors promised to do what they could in the line of arousing interest in the Zenith City event.

Will Begin on Monday.

Next year it is probable that the spiel will start on Monday as in former years. The plan of starting on Wednesday was tried out this year and it did not prove as satisfactory as was at first expected. Those who come from a distance prefer to have a Sunday at the start to do their traveling and also a Sunday at the end to get home without loss of business time. Some changes were made in the personnel of the executive committee. C. F. Poehler of Minneapolis displaces George M. Orde from the same city and A. G. McCauley of West Duluth takes the place of George B. Reedal of Phillips, who was elected to another position. Those re-elected were: Thomas McDermott of St. Paul; W. B. Stewart of St. Paul and Dr. R. C. Ogilvie of Superior.

The election of officers was preceded by one of the best banquets ever served a hungry bunch of stane pushers. There was everything that was good to eat, and the broom wielders did it ample justice.

Harry Hurdon, president of the association, introduced E. L. Millar, who acted as toastmaster. The speaker then talked down bonspiel style until the last one on the program had his say. Stephen H. Jones spoke on behalf of the Duluth club; Walter Payne, news editor of the Manitoba Free Press, took occasion to invite the local Scots to attend the annual bonspiel at Winnipeg; George B. Reedal spoke for Phillips, Wis.; Dr. Lenont for Virginia; C. F. Poehler for Minneapolis; Rev. Mr. Knowles for Superior; William McDougall for Reston; G. B. Jackson for Rainy River; L. J. Tucker for Pardeeville; A. G. McCauley for West Duluth, and E. L. Patterson for St. Paul.

Musical selections added greatly to the enjoyment of the evening.

The International.

By a score of 66 to 19 the Americans won the big International event Saturday afternoon, Atkinson of Rainy River and Wilson of Reston fell down badly and allowed the big score to be piled up. Atkinson was defeated by Reedal by a score of 20 to 7, and Wilson of Reston was beaten by a score of 16 to 8 by Tucker of Pardeeville. The Americans won all five games.

Some of the games were close. Stewart of St. Paul defeated Chapman of Rainy River by but one point. The score was 10 to 9. Whyte of Duluth defeated Neil of Winnipeg by but one point also, the score being 11 to 10. Zauft of West Duluth defeated Morrison of Winnipeg by a score of 9 to 6.

Dr. Lenont of Virginia won the Ordway event. Pratt and Greening of Eveleth brought down their rinks Saturday for a try at this event, but the Virginia man finally won out in the finale over McDonald of Virginia by a score of 13 to 5.

AMERICAN TRAINER WINS TRIUMPH

Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 17.—What is believed to be an international record for successful training of thoroughbred race horses has been compiled in Germany, and shows an American in possession of the rather remarkable achievement of having prepared horses that have won $825,000 in seasons of campaigning on German and Austrian race courses.

Two triumphs in the German Derby, a pair of victories in the Grand Prix, two Hindenburg and two Furstliss of the German turf were won by Walker in the course of his work for the Weinberg brothers. Such valuable prizes as the Kaiser's shield (a trophy offered by the German emperor) and other classics were won, and American turfmen may marvel at the figures because, as the German statistics show, there is only a short season on the German turf, rarely extending to more than a total of sixty-five racing days in a year, making Walker's operations extend over but a possible 390 days in six years.

The wonderful record has not been attained in Germany, however, without the usual results. According to information reaching here, the same prejudice that existed in the days of the British turf when Tod Sloan and other American jockeys and trainers were reaping golden harvests has cropped out in the kaiserland, and no grent is the feeling against the Yankee invasion that Walker may not return to Germany another season.

NO FIGHT IN UTAH.

Governor Spry Says Steps Will Be Taken to Prevent Big Battle.

Chicago, Jan. 17.—"There will be no fight in Salt Lake or any other place in Utah. The authorities will take whatever drastic steps necessary to prevent it," Governor Spry of Utah, who arrived in Chicago late last night, made this statement.

"I have made the assertion before," continued Governor Spry, "but I repeat it now with renewed emphasis. There is no use of these sporting men getting up the talk of overthrowing the law in Utah. It would be absurd if a couple of fight promoters could nullify the law at their pleasure. The law is against the fight, and we simply will not permit it. I don't think it will be necessary to call out the militia to prevent a fight, but we would take whatever drastic action necessary. It is generally understood that the fight is to take place in California, and we don't think there is any danger of our state being invaded. As for the supposed guarantee having been put up by Salt Lake business men, it has no official sanction."

Rules Committee Called.

Ithaca, N. Y., Jan. 17.—Prof. L. N. Dennis, president of the Intercollegiate football rules committee, has called a meeting of the committee for Feb. 3 and 4, to consider rules governing the game. The meeting will be held in New York.

LEAGUE MAY NOT DISBAND

Reports From Winnipeg Say Western Canadians Will Again Tempt Fate.

According to the Manitoba Free Press, the Western Canada league will not disband, as reports had led many of the followers of baseball on this side of the line to believe, but will go through the present season with the same clubs that finished out the rather disastrous season of 1909.

Leonard Van Praagh was choosen one of the directors of the Winnipeg club, which leads some to think that the club will be a member of the Minnesota-Wisconsin league the coming season. Mr. Van Praagh is known to be very much in favor of the Winnipeg club coming into the American baseball family. Whether his influence will be strong enough to swing the other directors of the club to his way of thinking, remains to be seen.

And there is the question of the existence of the Western Canada league. If the officers of the league decide to tempt baseball fate another year, Winnipeg will have to remain in the league. The whole question seems to be at the present time whether the Western Canada league will go through with another season of baseball.

The Free Press says in emphatic terms that the league is assured for at least another season, and that the club owners will begin signing players in a short time. If the prediction of the Winnipeg paper is correct, it does not look as if Winnipeg will be in the Minny league.

According to a report from Milwaukee, "Si" Bennett, the Duluth boy who played great baseball in the Western Canada league the past season, may be given a trial in the Milwaukee outfield. It is said that "Si" will take the spring trip with the McCloskey aggregation and will be given an opportunity to show what he can do.

TIGER LEADER PRACTICES LAW

Hughey Jennings Is a Shining Barrister of Scranton, Pa.

Scranton, Pa., Jan. 17.—Hughey Jennings, leader of the conquering Tigers, has turned from the rule book to the law book, from the coaching lines to the legal bar. That word "bar" appeals strongly to Hughey.

He was first admitted to the bar when only a young ball player, and joggled the crackers and cheese off it. Nowadays he makes no breaks and never gets absent-minded enough to ask the judge for a couple of cloves. Earnest, conscientious, determined practitioner is Attorney Jennings, carrying into the field of law the same pluck, ginger and animation that won three Tiger flags. He will be a Choate or a Daniel Webster some day—nothing to it.

Attorney Jennings has been quite busy during the last few days, clients lately swarming into his office. One case that deeply interested the rising Blackstone was that of an indignant citizen, Thomas Royce, who requested Jennings to bring suit against James Donovan, father of James Donovan, Jr., Royce demanding damages because the younger Donovan, during the last juvenile ball game of the season, drove a long foul tip into a chicken coop, slaying a blooded rooster for which $600 had been refused.

'Twas a Terrible Offease.

Donovan demanded a jury trial and the case was set forth with much skill and vigor. Attorney Rufus Clarke, representing the Donovans, asserted that the killing of the chicken was an unavoidable accident; that the great American game of baseball must not be trammeled and handicapped by absurd lawsuits, and that the Scranton public saw, with pain and surprise, so eminent a baseball leader as Jennings arrayed against the interests of his own vocation.

Jennings' reply was forceful and comprehensive.

"The able attorney for the defence," said Jennings, "holds that the stand I have taken in this particular case indicates disloyalty to the great profession through which I made my livelihood for many and many a year. Far be it from such, Eeyah, ug gub biuk oosh ip ip zibgo! (Standing on one foot and waving the other at the judge.)

"As every disciple of Coke, Chitty, Blackstone, and Chadwick will agree, the chief end of baseball is successful batting. Eeyah, slide, you son of a bush leage shortstop, slide. (Reaching for grass on the court-room floor and straightening up with a pained look.)

Boy Was "Bum" Hitter.

"The boy, who is co-defendant in this case, according to the evidence adduced by both sides, endeavored to drive out the ball for a safe alt of the single, double, tertiary, or quartenary order. Did he do so? Did he do so? He did not.

"No, your honor and gentlemen of the jury, instead of making such safe hit, he smote a foul. Two fouls, gentlemen of the jury, for the wallop killed a rooster. Thereby, your honor and gentlemen of the jury, he was penalized by the infliction of one called strike, as duly provided in the rules and statutes of the game. Therefore, he harmed the chances of his side, lessened and cheapened the noble and desirable accomplishment of batting, distinctly injured the great national game and bunged the gizzard out of a chicken. Eeyah, woofa ugh wob ya shoosh! Eeyah—next inning, sure; get ready. Ty, you're the boy, and then old Sam is coming up! (Leaping up and down and whistling shrilly on two fingers.)

"Beyond all doubt, your honor and gentlemen of the bbleachers, this defendant has injured, not helped, the national game, and I therefore ask damages in the sum of $750 for three reasons: That young men must learn to bat straight and true without the accumulation of called strikes on foul balls; that the chicken thus murdered was worth the money, and that I've got to live through the winter. Judgment, Mr. Umpire—Eeyah!"

The jury awarded Jennings' client damages in full of claim within seven minutes after leaving the box.

Roller and De Rouen.

Chicago, Jan. 17—Arrangements were made for a finish match between Dr. Roller and Raoul De Rouen, to take place here Feb. 14.

NAGEL WANTS THE SOUTH EXPLORED

Expedition to the Antarctic Regions Is Proposed By the Secretary.

Washington, Jan. 17.—An expedition to the South Atlantic and the Antartic oceans in the interest of economic and scientific work by the steamer Albatross is under consideration by Secretary Nagel of the department of commerce and labor. It was suggested by Henry Osborn, president of the American Museum of Natural History at New York.

Mr. Osborn says he recently has received confidential information from one who has just returned from the Antarctic that there still remain on certain remote islands, herds of southern fur seal in such numbers as to promise commercial import.

For a few years past a whaling industry has developed in the south rivaling the industry of the north. Mr. Osborn says he is credibly informed that large numbers of sea elephants also exist in considerable numbers in the region.

A Wild Blizzard Raging

Brings danger, suffering—often death—to thousands, who take colds, coughs and lagrippe—that terror of winter and spring. Its danger signals are 'stuffed up' nostrils, lower part of nose sore, chills and fever, pain in back of head and a throat-gripping cough. When Grip attacks, as you value your life, don't delay getting Dr. King's New Discovery. "One bottle cured me," writes A. L. Dunn of Pine Valley, Miss., after being 'laid up' three weeks with Grip." Northern Juniors	1	1	0
Fairmonts	2	0	2

The Big Duluths and Hunter's Parks will clash tomorrow evening on the Adams rink in the regular schedule of games of the City Amateur Hockey league. The game tomorrow evening should be a very close and exciting one, as the Hunter's Parks have lost one game and are exceedingly anxious to break into the win column.

The Big Duluths are believed to be the strongest team in the league, with the possible exception of the Northern Juniors, and they will put up a hard fight to win the contest.

The lineup of the teams:

Big Duluths	Hunter's Parks
A. Woods	g Blanchard
Kelley	p G. McKenzie
G. Woods	cp Waterworth
Wan Wiarton	r Ted McKenzie
Cummings	c Clark
Ostergren	lw Ashley or Thayer

BREAKS BOWLING RECORD.

Brashaw Sets High Average Mark of 226 in Ten-Game Series.

Peoria, Ill., Jan. 17.—Clarence W. Brashaw, in a ten-game handicap tournament upon regulation alleys, completed the series with an average of 226.4, a record for a straight ten-game series which has never before been equalled. His high game of the series was 278 and his grand total, 2,264. Brashaw is entered in the national congress at Detroit in the spring.

FILES ON LAND FOR POWER SITES

Federal Engineer Holds 54,000 Acres in Flathead District.

Spokane, Wash., Jan. 17.—H. N. Savage, chief engineer of the United States reclamation service, has filed water rights for more than 54,000 acres of land on the Flathead reservation in western Montana, which will be opened to settlement next spring. The water is taken mainly from Pend Oreille river, the filing calling for 100,000 cubic feet a second, which will reclaim 50,000 acres. The rest is from Mud creek, a small stream in the Mission mountains.

To obtain the water of the Pend Oreille river, it will be necessary to drive several tunnels, and the water will be raised several hundred feet by turbines to get it to the arable land. The rights reserved by the government is that the water is to be used for power and irrigation purposes. Advices from Kalispell are that practically all the claims drawn at Uncle Sam's lottery last August will be taken up by actual settlers during the present year.

Open 26,000 Acres.

Washington, Jan. 17.—Twenty thousand acres of land bordering upon the Columbia river, about nineteen miles east of Portland, Or., embraced in the third unit of the Umatilla irrigation project in Oregon, will be thrown open to homestead entry at 9 o'clock a. m., Feb. 10. This announcement was made today by the secretary of the interior.

Within this tract an opportunity will be given to take up a farm varying in size from ten to forty acres, upon which the charge for building the irrigation system is $60 an acre, payable $18 an acre at the time of making entry and $6 per acre annually thereafter. The land all lies below an elevation of 600 feet above sea level, thus insuring climatic conditions favorable to the early ripening of fruit.

CHINA OPENS PORTS WHILE JAPAN WAITS.

Pekin, Jan. 17.—China has opened Hun Chun and Lun Chin Chun in Chientao, Manchuria, to international trade, notwithstanding the fact that an agreement has not yet been reached with Japan regarding the matter of tariffs to be maintained on the Korean-Manchurian border.

The question of tariffs will come up for settlement at an early date.

Hun Chun and Lun Chin Chun are two of the treaty ports provided for in the agreement between Japan and China signed at Pekin, Sept. 4, last and designed to settle the Chientao boundary dispute between the two countries.

Depositors Gather at Bank.

Evansville, Ind., Jan. 17.—Crowds of depositors assembled today before the City National bank, which has temporarily suspended business pending an investigation by the bank examiners. There are $1,400,000 deposits on the bank's books. The bank's assets are $1,900,000 capital and surplus, $267,000.

THE MASONIC FREE CONCERT

New Composition By A. F. M. Custance Sung for First Time.

The usual enthusiastic audience turned out to hear the program given at the Masonic temple yesterday afternoon and was well rewarded for braving the perils of the slippery sidewalks.

The soloist was Phillip Gordon Brown, who chose for his first number Sullivan's beautiful and pathetic song, "Thou'rt Passing Hence," which was rendered in a very artistic manner, showing a keen appreciation of the sentiment.

The second number was by Mr. Custance, "If Doughty Deeds," one of his best, if not his best. It was sung with much feeling by Mr. Brown and was pronounced on all sides as a piece which will become immensely popular when known. This was the first time it has been sung anywhere; in fact, the first time Mr. Custance has heard it sung himself. He says he is satisfied.

The selections for the organ were of a high character, embracing the march from the operatta "Der Gascogner," by Suppe; selections from Meyerbeer's splendid opera of "Le Prophete." The gems of the organ music were the two Chopin numbers, the celebrated "Barcarolle," an imitation of the Venetian boatman's songs, with the rythmic measure, indicating the propelling of the boat, and the "Grande Polonaise," a delight to all who heard it and a splendidly rendered piece. The descriptive piece entitled "Jerome's Reverie at the Log Drive," was intended to depict the thoughts of a distinguished citizen of Duluth who in his early days waited on the logs as they floated down the Rum river, when there was some romance even in log driving. The young man is supposed to guarding against a jam, but as things are going along nicely he thinks of his old home and hears the familiar songs of twenty-five years ago in memory, but every now and then there comes floating through the air from the camp the sounds of the fiddle and the merry-making of the rest of the drivers, which soon becomes a contest between the Northern and Southern men as to who can best sing "Yankee Doodle" or "Dixie." The program was brought to a close with the celebrated overture from Auber's opera, "Massaniello," with all its wealth of instrumentation and execution.

MEXICO TO HAVE HER CENTENNIAL

Big Celebration Is Planned on 100th Anniversary of the Nation.

City of Mexico, Jan. 17.—This is Mexico's centennial year. Preparations have been in progress for two or three years to make it one of the most eventful in the history of the country in many respects. It was on Sept. 16, 1810, that the independence of Mexico was formally established. The official program for celebrating the event covers more than a month of festivities and official functions, beginning on Sept. 15, which is the anniversary of the birth of President Porfirio Diaz.

More Russian Frauds.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 17.—Maj. Gen. Artabolezsky was arrested here today in connection with frauds uncovered recently in the quartermaster's department. The emperor has extended to all departments of the army the scope of the investigation now being conducted by a commission headed by Gen. Garin.

RANGE MURDERER GETS LIFE IMPRISONMENT

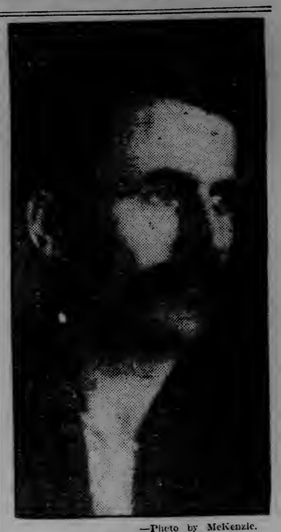

Judge Hughes Sentences Frank Sadler to State Prison.

Convicted of Murder of Lawrence Ropre at Ely Aug. 8.

Frank Sadler, convicted at the last term of district court for the range at Virginia of murder in the first degree, was at noon today sentenced by Judge Hughes in district court here to confinement in the state prison at Stillwater for life.

The proceedings were short and featureless. Sadler said nothing, but his attorney made a plea for the sentence of life imprisonment, urging the fact that the conviction had been on circumstantial evidence and other matters connected with the trial as exceptional circumstances on which the ordinary penalty of death for murder might be set aside for a sentence of life imprisonment. When sentence was pronounced, Sadler seemed pleased. He had been in the county jail awaiting sentence, when Mike Rossi was sentenced to death for his crime, and the fear of the noose which he had from that time was lifted from him today by the sentence imposed.

Sadler was convicted of the killing of Lawrence Ropre, at Ely, shortly after midnight on the morning of Aug. 8. Sadler, Ropre and several other men had been drinking at the boarding house of Frank Bergant. There were some words between Sadler and Ropre, it was said, and shortly after Ropre left the house, Sadler having preceded him, some of the other men heard a noise. They went out and found Ropre lying on the ground, with a gaping cut in his head and Sadler standing by. Sadler had no weapon in his hand, but an ax was found near the place, and the fatal wound was supposed to have been inflicted with that.

Ropre was removed to a hospital and Sadler was not arrested for several days. Ropre died about ten days after the wound was inflicted and Sadler was indicted on a charge of murder in the first degree. He was convicted after a trial at Virginia, the jury being out only a short time.

Sadler is 31 years old and was born in Austria. He has been in this country nearly three years, living at Ely all of the time with the exception of about six months, during which he lived at Aurora. He is a single man and has no relatives in this country.

CONVICT HEIR OF ST. PAUL MISER

Prisoner in Sing Sing May Get Money Saved By Lounsberry.

New York, Jan. 17.—J. Edward Boech, who is serving a seven-year sentence in Sing Sing prison for a big jewelry swindle in 1907, may fall heir to the large estate left by J. C. Lounsberry of St. Paul, who died there in squalor. Among Lounsberry's effects were papers which prove him to be an uncle of the Sing Sing convict.

Boech built up a wide reputation as a connoisseur of art and an expert in precious stones and obtained jewelry valued at nearly $250,000 from dealers in this city. He disappeared and was arrested in San Francisco a year afterwards.

Administrator is Appointed.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 17.—Robert Lounsberry Knowlton, electrician for the St. Paul Gas Light company, was appointed in probate court administrator of the estate of Jay Clinton Lounsberry, his second cousin, the aged recluse who was found dead in his room and is supposed to have left an estate estimated as high as $500,000. He gave bond of $30,000.

Minneapolis Girl Calls Police When Cans of Preserves Blow Up.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Maybel Graves, 42 Eleventh street north, Minneapolis, telephoned to the police about 3 o'clock this morning that there were burglars in the cellar and shooting was going on there. The new auto patrol wagon made a record dash to the address given. Investigation in the cellar showed that several cans of strawberries had exploded.

SAYS THAT PRICES MUST BE LOWERED

Cardinal Gibbons Declares That Something Must Be Done for Relief.

Washington, Jan. 17.—"Most of the prices of food products are clearly out of all reason," said Cardinal Gibbons in an interview last night, "and the people cannot go on paying such prices when they are not earning any more than they were some years ago, when prices were not so high."

The cardinal was unable to assign a reason for the high prices that prevail, but he said:

"Something evidently is wrong when many of the commonest necessities in food are priced at such enormous figures. Something must be done soon to put prices of food on a reasonable basis, and any method which will bring this about I indorse."

SLAYS MANY WOLVES.

Adam Lesmeister of Wells County, N. D., Kills Thousands.

McCluskey, N. D., Jan. 17—The champion wolf hunter of the state is said to be Adam Lesmeister, of Harvey. Lesmeister was in quest of information relative to the theft of a Russian boar hound last year, by a party who left for Canada, for whom he now has sufficient evidence to convict for larceny. The dog was imported from Eastern Europe, where the hunting of wild boars is as popular as deer or mountain goat hunting is on the Upper Missouri and the Rockies, respectively.

While in McCluskey Mr. Lesmeister collected the bounty for 250 coyotes which he killed last year, on which the state and county bounties amounted to $5.40 each.

Mr. Lesmeister is the champion nimrod of the Northwest among wolf hunters, having a well bred kennel, mostly of the fleet-footed savage Russian boar hounds. In the last few years Lesmeister has killed over 3,000 wolves.

BUSSE WITNESS FOR DEFENSE

Chicago Mayor Subpoenaed in Trial of Alleged Dynamiter.

Chicago, Jan. 17.—A surprise was sprung here today at the trial of Vincent Altman, charged with throwing a bomb which partially wrecked the central telephone exchange.

The defense subpoenaed Mayor Busse, former Mayor Dunne, Chief of Police Shippy and former Chief Collins and eight police inspectors and a number of men said to be interested in gambling. The defense seeks to prove that certain police officials were parties to shifting of control of gambling from one faction to another, and that this condition ratified the use of dynamite, wire cutting and other outrages by both factions.

WHITE GOT AWAY WITH LARGE SUM

Ex-Stark County, N. D., Auditor Is Short Over $30,000.

Dickinson, N. D., Jan. 17.—The shortage of J. S. White, the deposed auditor of Stark county, instead of being only $8,000 as first reported, will amount to between $30,000 and $40,000, according to the findings of the state examiners who have been at work on the accounts for some time past.

The first forgeries have been shown to have been made as far back as 1904, instead of only two years ago, and it is possible that the shortage will be even greater than is now supposed when the complete examination has been made.

It is not yet definitely known how many of the unauthorized warrants were actually forged by White. One of the big ones was drawn on July 27, 1908, for $1,221, on the county's road and bridge fund, and it was made payable to White himself.

NO CHANCE FOR PUGS.

Bismarck and Mandan Will Not Allow Prize Fighters to Meet.

Mandan, N. D., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mandan and Bismarck failed to prove healthy resorts for prizefight promoters, a "mill" between John Smith and McMahon, which had been scheduled to take place in the fire department headquarters in the Mandan city hall being broken up by Sheriff Olson of Morton county.

The event was first set for Bismarck, but the authorities there got wind of it and stopped proceedings. An adjournment was then taken to Mandan and about 200 spectators had gathered about the ring in anticipation of the fight when the sheriff and his deputies entered the hall. About half of the audience was from Bismarck.

JONES' SENTENCE MAY BE PRONOUNCED MONDAY.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge Amidon this morning postponed hearing argument and objections and passing sentence on Andy Jones until 2 o'clock this afternoon. It may be as late as 4 o'clock before sentence is imposed.

LIBRARY FOR WEST DULUTH

Western Suburbs Should Have One, Says Pastor in Sermon.

Urges the Press and Pulpit to Combine in the Campaign.

That a new library would be of great benefit to West Duluth, was the statement of Rev. D. G. Cole, pastor of the Plymouth Congregational church, Fifty-fourth avenue west and Bristol street, last evening in an address on the "The Proposed Library."

Rev. Mr. Cole argued that West Duluth was no longer a village but a rapidly growing section of what is destined to become a great city. The cost of maintenance would be slight, he asserted, in comparison with the increasing benefits of such an institution.

In speaking of the proposed library, which has been half-promised to West Duluth by Andrew Carnegie, the pastor said in part:

"The daily average attendance of 159 at the West Duluth branch is a strong indication of the need of better quarters. Dickinson, N. D., having a population of 1,700, has a new $12,500 Carnegie library, of beautiful architecture and containing nearly 5,000 volumes. West Duluth with a population of nearly 10,000 ought to equal if not excel such an equipment.

"The power of books should remind writers of their responsibility, and all men are affected by the power of the press regardless of their wishes in the matter.

"One of Duluth's duties sends its product to reach 250,000 eyes. Estimate the power of good such an agency possesses.

"The press thus becomes one of the greatest blessings and in the last great fight against strongly intrenched wrong will be a mighty force.

"Build a library and fill it with good books. The pulpit and press should join hands in urging the reading of good novels by such writers as Hawthorne, Hall Caine, Dickens, Harriet Beecher Stowe, Walter Scott, Thackeray and Kingsley. Mas for the evil books that are found everywhere. How many a bright, young man has been led astray by evil books and countless thousands of noble young men utterly ruined by the reflections of filthy minds as found in books.

"A library will attract the best citizens, besides being a valuable ornament to our city.

"Striving to make life a practical thing let me urge you to make West Duluth a place of more desirable residence."

At the evening service, Miss Maud Fulton sang two selections, "A Divine Redeemer" and "Consider the Lilies."

INJURED BOY TO ATTEND SCHOOL

American Carbolite Company Settles Claim for Damages.

Because he had three fingers on his right hand cut off in a machine at the American Carbolite company's plant in West Duluth, Alvin Landgren, a 13-year-old boy, will have an opportunity to go to school and fit himself for some better vocation than that of a common laborer.

Though the company denied any liability on account of the accident, it being claimed that young Landgren had changed machines with another boy and had himself open to the injury, the claim for damages was settled for a substantial amount.

The settlement was made before Judge Cant in district court Saturday, when Landgren announced that he wanted to use the money, or at least a part of it, to go to school. The court arranged so that his father will be able to supply the boy with money for his support and his education for a time, and the remainder was put in the bank, subject to the order of the court, and to be delivered to the boy when he is 21 years of age. He will attend a business college and fit himself to work for a living, despite the accident which prevents the free use of one of his hands.

LOSES HIS LIFE AT FARMINGTON

Carl Stratte, Former Smithville Resident, in Fatal Railroad Accident.

Carl Stratte, 49 years old, formerly of Smithville, was killed by a train near Farmington, Minn., Thursday night, according to a telegram, which was received today by his sister, Mrs. Andrew Olson of Smithville.

No details of the accident are given, except that Stratte was walking on the tracks in company with two other men and before he could get off to let a train pass by, he was struck and hurled a number of feet into a ditch.

He was picked up and brought to Farmington, where he had made his home for the past two years since he left Duluth. The authorities at Farmington learned that he had relatives at Smithville and notified them.

Stratte was a single man. Besides his sister at Smithville, he is also survived by another sister, Mrs. M. Rockwell of 2613 West Railroad street. Both of his parents are dead.

When Stratte lived at Smithville he resided at the home of his sister. He was employed at that time by the East End Ice company at Split Lake. No funeral arrangements have been made.

William Nelson Dies.

William Nelson, 39 years old, a nephew of Mrs. M. Kynell of 5512 Nicolet street, died late yesterday at St. Luke's hospital after a short illness. The funeral arrangements have not been made. The body is in charge of Undertaker Filiatrault pending word from other relatives.

SCHOOL PROBLEM AT WEST DULUTH

What to Do With 1,800 Children Is Question Minus an Answer.

The problem of providing proper facilities for about 1,800 school children with two small school buildings and only forty-seven teachers still confronts Supt. Denfield and his assistants.

At the Longfellow and Irving schools, every inch of space is utilized and since the burning of the old Fairmont school, it has been necessary to convert the corridors, cloak rooms and offices into temporary class rooms.

At the West Duluth schools, it is not an uncommon thing to find a room, in which there are sixty pupils. Two teachers will have charge, hearing recitations alternately. One part will be occupied in class work, while the other will be given written work.

YOUNG WOMAN DIES.

Mrs. Jessie Guibore of Calumet Passes Away at West Duluth.

Mrs. Jessie Guibore, 21 years old, died at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Malcomb McCloud of 317 North Fifty-second avenue west, after a lingering illness, yesterday.

The home of the young woman is at Calumet, Mich., where she has up to a short time ago been living with her husband, William Guibore. When she became sick she came to her parents in West Duluth. Her husband was at her bedside at her death.

The body was taken to Calumet this afternoon over the South Shore road, accompanied by her husband. Her death was due to dropsy.

Mayor Addresses Club.

At a meeting of the West Duluth-Republican club Saturday night, Mayor Haven was the principal speaker. He addressed the G. O. P. men on the subject of the proposed charter amendments, recommending the passage of the first three. Talks were also given by John H. Miller, Thomas Olafson, Andrew Miles and L. A. Barnes.

M. W. A. NOTICE!

TO HIRE MEN FROM THE BROTHERHOOD

Northern Pacific Is Said to Be Planning Contract for Switchmen.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Vice President George T. Slade of the Northern Pacific Railway company today refused to discuss a report that his company is planning a contract with the switchmen's branch of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, by which the organization will furnish men to replace striking switchmen.

The same position is taken by Frank T. Hawley, president of the switchmen's union.

"I know nothing about it," he said.

"NEWSBOY KING" TO SHOW "NEWSIES" HOW TO HUSTLE

"Noodles" Fagan, the newsboy king, will spend the week in Duluth, the guest of The Herald.

"Noodles" has visited nearly every country on the globe and nearly every city in the United States and Canada. Columns of newspaper matter have been printed about him, and he probably accumulated more experience in the twenty odd years of his life than any other youth of his age.

Saturday evening, with a bundle of Heralds under his arm, he will, at Third avenue west, demonstrate to the newsboys of Duluth that selling papers is easy when the proper amount of "pep" is installed into the work. Saturday morning he will deliver an illustrated lecture at the Bijou theater for the benefit of newsboys, and Thursday evening at the second performance newsboys who clip the coupon printed below will be admitted to the Bijou theater free of charge to see "Noodles" on the stage.

"Travelogues of the World," is the subject of his newsboy lecture. "Noodles" has been an extensive traveler, and has the faculty of observing closely and telling others about it.

He will show the newsboys how to hustle in the most approved New York style of strenuosity.

In his vaudeville act, "Noodles" does a lot of stunts that are brand new. He sings Italian, Irish and ragtime songs as only a newsie can. His imitations of Henry Miller, Fuller, Olden, George Cohan, Bert McKinley, David Warfield, Marshal P. Wilder and others are the kind that helped to make him famous. "Noodles" gives a wonderful imitation of the late James A. Bailey, the

"NOODLES" FAGAN,
The Newsboy King.

circus man, and late partner of P. T. Barnum, in a clever novelty in which he sings a circus song, gives a talk on sideshow freaks and does almost everything but sell red lemonade.

He sings all of Walter Jacobs' song hits, especially arranged by Don Ramsey.

The Herald has arranged for newsboy night at the Bijou theater on Thursday evening, when every newsboy in the city will be admitted free to the second show. A newsboys' carnival will be the feature in conjunction with the regular show. Cracker, pie and eating contests, rapid fire, boxing, wrestling contests, Marathon race, etc., will occur in quick succession. Prizes will be given the boys.

All the newsboys of the city are invited to attend the big newsboy carnival. Come to The Herald office and secure your badges and get in line for the newsboys' parade, which starts at 7 p. m. from The Herald office.

The paper has arranged to have special seats set aside for the newsboys.

"Noodles" has letters of recommendation from many sources. Ex-President Roosevelt says he is the model American.

CUT OUT THIS COUPON AND PRESENT AT BIJOU

FREE. FREE. FREE. FREE. FREE.

Through the courtesy of The Herald, "Noodles" Fagan, newsboy orator, New York, will deliver an address on "Life in the Slums of New York and Travels of the World," with moving pictures.

Admit one at Bijou Theater, Saturday morning.

Here are a few of the places where "Noodles" has visited: Manitoba, Vancouver, Nova Scotia, South America, Yucatan, England, Mexico, Ireland, Scotland, Wales, Germany, Holland, Belgium, France, Spain, China, Jamaica, Martinique, Porto Rico, Cuba and the Philippines. As a lecturer he has appeared on the platforms of leading churches and Y. M. C. A. halls all over the world, frequently being called upon to deliver his lecture to school children. He has spoken in all the churches in the principal cities of the country.

Who "Noodles" Is.

"Noodles" is a remarkable young man in more ways than one. When a boy his bed was often a dry goods box. His meals were picked up in the toughest sections of New York. A nickel looked bigger in those days than a $10 bill does now. Today "Noodles" owns houses and lots. He has been the guest of kings and queens. Presidents have welcomed him. He has loving cups and medals galore. But he is the same "Noodles" as on the day when a charitably inclined person bought him a bowl of noodle soup and the tiny newsboy spilled a string of noodles on his coat. The name has clung to Fagan all his life and he has made it famous around the world. The newsies idolize him. Prominent instructors the world over indorse him. He has been the guest of the leading newspapers of the entire world. The good that "Noodles" has done and is doing will never be effaced.

"Noodles" was born on the Bowery when that street was far different than it is today. In the early days of the champion newsboy the Bowery was the home of dance halls and the resort of gamblers. It was a den of vice. "Noodles" grew up amid those surroundings. He saw the evil that existed. He resolved to avoid the pitfalls which surrounded him. There were no school days for him. Bread and butter, or whatever he could get to eat, occupied his time. Until he reached young manhood "Noodles" could not read or write, but in the vernacular of the street he "made good."

The Fagan Family.

The Fagan brothers and one sister comprised the family. Ralph Fagan is the press representative of the Barnum & Bailey circus. Florence Fagan is a singing comedienne, who, like her brothers, is in vaudeville. The children were thrown upon their own resources at an early age.

Ralph, like "Noodles," sold papers on the streets of New York. The family was scattered, but the members seem to have had inherent determination to surmount any obstacle.

Today "Noodles" owns three newsstands in Greater New York, where there are sold an average of 42,000 papers daily. Sometimes as many as 75,000 are sold in a day, but the average is maintained 365 days in a year. One stand is at the corner of Fourteenth street and Third avenue; another is at the New York end of the Brooklyn bridge, and the third is at Fulton street in Brooklyn. Fifteen boys are employed, with "Peanuts" McCarthy as superintendent. "Noodles" owns considerable real estate. He derives a large income in vaudeville, and his success is due to a very simple but effective formula—25 per cent ability and 75 per cent steam.

A Winter Resort at Home.

The mid-winter display and sale of white wear at the Gidding store presents a pretty sight. Palms and floral decorations, together with displays of spotless white in all manner of feminine wear, transforms the main floor into what seems to be a tiny resort snatched from the Southern climes, and liberal reductions in many departments lend selling zest to the event. ***

Now a Band Manager.

Howard Pew, formerly of Duluth, and at one time manager for Creatore, the Italian bandmaster, is now business manager and booking agent for several bands and orchestras, among them the American Band and Orchestra of Providence, R. I. Mr. Pew is well known to the older residents of Duluth.

AGREEMENT WITH TRAINMEN

Northern Pacific May Take Active Steps Against Switchmen.

There is a rumor afloat in railway and labor circles in Minneapolis that the Northern Pacific railway officials are prepared to sign a switching agreement with the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, which will wipe out of existence, as far as the Northern Pacific is concerned, the switchmen's union.

It is rumored that the Northern Pacific officials will meet with the trainmen tomorrow and take the terms of the proposed agreement into consideration. If the agreement goes through, it will mean that the Northern Pacific system will no longer recognize the switchmen as a part of organized labor.

The story, emanating from Twin City railway circles, says the trainmen have no love for the switchmen as an organization, and for that very reason are ready to enter into the reported agreement.

Locally, nothing has been even heard of the rumor. The Northern Pacific

WEAK TONE TO MARKET

Coppers Strong at Opening, But Have Slump at Close.

Active Trading in Several Specialties on Duluth Exchange.

The copper market was soft and weak today. It opened strong, but soon became enveloped in a nervous affliction that called for strong remedial measures, but there was no support and the market sagged to lower levels.

Liquidation was not as heavy as last week and the technical position seems to be better. However, traders are now in a waiting mood, and it is not likely that there will be any marked advance or real improvement in the situation until the political and labor atmosphere clears and the decisions in the Standard Oil and Tobacco cases have been rendered.

It is not improbable that the present stagnation is due to the financial interests of Wall Street who control the surplus money of the world. They desire to "throw a scare" into the legislators at Washington and throughout the country and thus influence them against passing drastic measures liable to "injure" railroad and industrial corporations as well as the stocks and other collaterals issued by those concerns.

The break in stocks tends to confirm this theory. The financial interests appear to have liquidated, but not so with the farmer, who is still holding on to his grain to see how the next crop is working out.

The local market was active but specialized, most of the trading being done in Rawhide Royal, about 15,000 shares changing hands. It was down to 6 cents Saturday, but sold today from 7 to 9 cents. Nearly 30,000 shares changed hands on the exchange. Butte-Alex Scott, part paid, sold at $5.75 down to $5.50 and up to $5.56¼, Butte Ballaklava at $13 here and $12.12½ in the East. Red Warrior $3.75 up to $3.37½, Savanna at $2.87½, Warrior at $14, Calumet & Montana at $2 up to $2.06¼, Calumet & Sonora at $16.87½ up to $17.25, Carinan at $1.31¼ down to $1.25, Keating at $2.62½, St. Mary's at 37 cents, North American at $2.43¾ down to $2.50, Montana-Clinton at 60 cents.

Amalgamated sold at $85 off to $83 and up to $83.12½. Giroux at $11.25 up to $11.37½, and down to $11.25. Greene at $10.50 down to $10.25, North Butte at $44 down to $43, Ojibway at $12.25 down to $11.75, and Steel common at $85.50 up to $86.37½ and down to $84.

A letter has been received here from General Manager James L. Norton of the Calumet & Sonora company saying that the shaft at a depth of 350 feet is bottomed in rich lead and zinc ore and that the mineral ground appears to be of large extent. The mill is running steadily and is receiving ore carrying 40 per cent in values. The concentrates run 62 per cent. The vein matter holds intrusives of pure ore and experts have said that the Calumet & Sonora ores are the purest of any ores that have been opened up in the United States or Mexico.

Ore has been penetrated by working on the 100 and 200 levels and a large tonnage is being blocked out. A stope has been put up from the 200 to the 100 level and two holes have been raised from the 300 to the 200-foot level, one each on the north and south drifts. The shaft will be continued to the 500 level. The ore is being dumped in the bins at the mill, which have a capacity of 500 tons. New bins at the railroad station are being erected. The property is not shipping, as the management desires to let the ore dry before sending it out.

Walker's copper letter in Saturday's Boston Commercial said:

"Copper is stronger. Lak is 14⅛ to 14¼ cents, and electrolytic is 14 cents per pound. The monthly report of the Copper Producers' association, showing a decrease in the surplus of 11,237,116 pounds during December, caused better feeling in the trade. The real improvement in sentiment is due to the fact that consumption is steadily increasing. The world is now consuming more copper per month than it did in the boom times preceding the panic. In view of the fact that new construction work is only just beginning in this country, the prospect is that this year's consumption will very greatly exceed all previous records.

"Calumet & Hecla interests are very firm believers in a coming higher range of prices for the metal. I understand that company's asking price is now 14½ cents. Other large producing interests are becoming exceedingly cautious and are refusing to enter into contracts to sell large amounts of copper deliverable over long periods. The present temper of sentiment leads me to believe that copper will sell at 14¾c to 15 cents, within thirty days.

"It is now quite apparent that about 60 of the leading producing companies are curtailing their outputs from 5 to 10 per cent. The Butte mines put out only about 50 per cent of their normal product last month, the switchmen's strike having made it necessary to close down the Boston & Montana concentrators and smelter, and to discontinue production at several of the Amalgamated mines. Meanwhile the demand for copper wire, which was dull during the greater portion of last year, has become very active. Within three or four months, therefore, the surplus should be so reduced as to lose its importance as a factor."

OBITUARY

Archer Baker, European manager of the Canadian Pacific railway, died in London, Ont., Jan. 16.

Mrs. Eleanor Williams, once a nurse in the home of John D. Rockefeller, and in that of his brother-in-law, W. C. Rudd, died in Cleveland, Ohio, Saturday night. She was 100 years old.

Peter Burch, a resident of St. Paul since 1856 and a member of the volunteer fire department in the early days of that city, is dead at his residence, 540 Iglehart avenue. Mr. Burch was born in Prussia, May 10, 1830. He learned the sheetmaking trade as a boy. At the age of 20 he entered the German army and served three years. In 1854 he came to the United States and located in Detroit, Mich., where he worked at his trade about a year. He went to St. Paul in 1856, and since that time has lived in the same Iglehart avenue house in which his death occurred. Mr. Burch took an active interest in the old pioneer hook and ladder company No. 1 and joined the company soon after his arrival in the city, remaining with it until 1877. He was married in 1862 to Miss Gertrude Ross, who died about fifteen years ago. Mr. Burch is survived by two sons and three daughters: Jacob, Anthony, Mary, Caroline and Anna, all residents of St. Paul. The death last month of his son, Henry, was a severe shock to Mr. Burch and probably hastened his death.

Mrs. Antonio Timmer, first teacher in the private school established in Milwaukee, and the last of the pupils of Prof. Froebel of Germany, originator of the kindergarten, is dead at her home in Appleton, Wis., after suffering a paralytic stroke. Mrs. Timmer was 81 years of age. She is survived by two brothers and five sisters, as follows: Mrs. Amelia Kuehnstead, Appleton; Mrs. Ida Kuehnstead, Oshkosh; Mrs. Fannie Berry, Benton Harbor, Mich.; Mrs. C. W. Welz, Green Bay; Mrs. Frank Knueppl, Thomsonville, Mich.; Louis De La Porte, Oconto; Charles De La Porte, Green Bay.

Frank I. Crane, an Austin, Minn., merchant and banker, died Saturday at the Mayo hospital in Rochester, where he had been taken for treatment for acute stomach trouble. He was 62 years of age, and is survived by a widow and four children. Mr. Crane was born in Sharon, Ohio, and went to Austin when 15 years of age. He served the city as mayor for three terms. He was a thirty-second degree Mason.

MAY FLAX BREAKS SEVEN POINTS IN DULUTH MARKET

Big Slump at Opening Followed By Further Decline.

May Wheat Is Also Weaker in All American Markets.

Duluth Board of Trade, Jan. 17.—Plenty of wheat was offered on the decline today and receipts from the country were comparatively liberal. May wheat opened at $1.11¾ asked and declined to $1.11¼, gained ⅛ of a point, lost ¼ point, regained ⅛c and then declined to $1.10½, closing at $1.10¾ bid. The flax market was subject to considerable liquidation, selling from longs and the country and stop loss orders. It broke 6 points in a few minutes following the opening. May selling at $2.19 up to $2.19½, down to $2.18, up ½c, down to $2.16, up ¼c, down to $2.15, up ½c, down to $2.13 and up 1c, down to $2.13½, and then to $2.12, closing at $2.12¼ asked.

The interior movement of wheat was liberal. The car receipts in the Northwest were 703 compared with 354 a year ago. Transportation facilities are improving despite the bad weather. Stocks increased 50,000 bu in two days at Minneapolis, 158,599 bu at Fort William for the week, and 315,000 bu at Duluth for the week. The recent export trade in Canadian grain is indicated by a visible decrease in Canadian wheat of 40,000 bu.

Foreign cables were weak and affected American markets. A strong undertone pervaded markets abroad despite liberal receipts. The English elections had a deterrent effect although the initial success of the Unionists, the so-called "party of privilege," was a source of satisfaction to those opposed to the drastic principles advocated by the Liberals. The opponents of the Liberals hope they will use sufficient seats in parliament to put the Unionists in power, which will probably bring about a tariff reform, which may have considerable bearing on grain imports. The fact that the United Kingdom is forced to import most of her grains, however, is a factor which would militate against duties on grains.

Argentine news today was unfavorable but rumors from Argentina have ceased to have any influence in the American markets. A bearish report was the Russian government's figures for the wheat crop of 1909. The total crop is estimated at 783,000,000 bu, an increase of 100,000,000 bu over 1908, giving Russian an exportable surplus of 300,000,000 bu. About half of this surplus has been marketed. The figures put Russian in first place as a wheat grower, the United States falling into second rank. The wheat movement is more liberal, wheat on passage being 27,010,000 bu compared with 26,192,000 bu week before last and 23,368,000 bu last year; corn, 11,497,000 bu, last week, 13,382,000 bu the previous week and 8,678,000 bu last year. The increase in wheat on passage was 45,000 bu. Corn on passage decreased 1,885,000 bu. The visible wheat decrease is 1,009,000 bu. World's shipments last week were 8,928,000 bu compared with 10,368,000 bu the previous week and 7,901,000 bu last year.

The wheat market although soft early today, was buoyed up to some extent by the strength of corn, but when corn began to weaken the wheat market was thrown on its own legs with downward results. The cash market is weaker. The cash position has been sustaining the market for some time. Some traders talnk cash wheat will soon be selling at a discount and that the visible supply will increase instead of decrease, which happened last year. They think the visible supply March 15, will be equal to the visible supply on that date last year. Cash here today equalled May.

Some of the longs think the demand will approximate if not surpass the supply and that the milling requirements will need the increased supplies. The East is becoming rapidly cleaned up, a local exporter saying today that stocks at Buffalo were 3,500,000 bu at the close of navigation, compared with 1,600,000 bu now, the decrease in supplies being rapid and large.

A Minneapolis man has compiled interesting statistics on the wheat supplies in the Northwest, as follows:

"On the basis of the Northwestern Miller figures, city and country mills have ground this year about 16,000,000 bu more than a year ago during the same period, and Duluth shipped 7,000,000 bu more up to the close of navigation than a year ago. On the basis of these figures, the available supply for milling and shipment of wheat from Minneapolis and Duluth is 7,000,000 bu less than a year ago, when prices were forced to $1.45 in order to draw enough wheat to go around. In order for Minneapolis to draw any winter wheat, the balance of this crop year spring wheat prices will have to gain on winter wheat prices."

The flax market was active, the longs feeding out some of their holdings as prices began to decline. The crushers took offerings which came mostly from the country. Stop loss orders aided in putting prices down. The market was offered only sporadic support when shorts took advantage of the decline to cover. The upturns were only temporary and short lived. Flax supplied at the Head of the Lakes declined 25,000 bu last week.

The Winnipeg market followed the other two Northwestern markets and was without special feature. The cash demand for high grades was fair, and good for low grades. Sales were comparatively few.

Durum was 1c off from Saturday, and oats ½c off. Rye and barley closed unchanged, and cash sold on an equal basis with May.

Car receipts at Duluth were 100, against 24 last year; at Minneapolis, 504, against 228 last year; at Winnipeg, 99, against 102 last year, a total of 703 for the Northwest, compared to 354 last year. Kansas City received 167 cars, compared with 192 last year and shipped 72, against 62. St. Louis received 165,000 bu, against 95,000 bu last year, and shipped 52,000 bu, compared with 63,000 bu last year. Primary receipts were 1,041,000 bu, against 1,363 cars the corresponding day a year ago.

Broomhall wired from Liverpool: "Total world's shipments of breadstuffs last week 8,926,000 bu; previous week, 10,368,000; last year, 7,901,000. Corn, last week, 2,358,000 bu; previous week, 3,900,000 bu; last y0ear, 2,091,000 bu. At the opening wheat was steady, with values unchanged to ¼d higher, influenced by light world's shipments and steady American sales on Saturday. Later and during the remainder of the morning, the market was under pressure and values declined ½d, with offerings larger. This selling was prompted largely to larger La Plata offerings, poor demand for cargoes and parcels and some speculative selling. At midday the market was steady and ⅜d lower than Saturday. Corn was steady at the start and unchanged. Later the market was entirely neglected."

Bartlett-Patten wired from Chicago—"Cables featureless; w eat, ⅜c lower; corn unchanged. Weather warmer, with general rains. This will enable railroads to move trains more freely and clean up side tracks, resulting in larger receipts at the markets. Cash demand light for wheat and corn, moderate for oats. Do not look for marked change until receipts increase, when should have further liquidation. Believe it safe to sell on all hard spots for moderate profits. Corn well rabbied. Wheat firm, at a slight decline in face of heavy receipts. General election interfering with business. Corn inactive, with tendency upward."

Liverpool opening—Wheat unchanged to ¼d higher; corn, dull, unchanged. Close—Wheat, ⅜d@½d lower; corn, ¼d higher. Paris wheat, unchanged; flour, ⅝@-c lower. Berlin close—Wheat unchanged. Budapest close—Wheat, ½c lower.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Sluggish Cash Demand Adds to Bearish Sentiment.

Chicago, Jan. 17.—Wheat fell off in the early trades here today, opening ⅛@¾c lower than Saturday's close. Sluggish demand for cash wheat with prospects of liberal movement through bettered transportation facilities added to the bearish sentiment. The downward trend continued during the first hour and May touched $1.10⅜. The opening at $1.11⅜@1.11⅝ was ⅛@¼c to ⅜@½c lower than Saturday's final figures.

The market continued to decline throughout the greater part of the session, May falling off to $1.09⅝. Just before the close there was a slight rally on improved buying orders. The finish was steady with May 1⅜c lower than Saturday's final figures at $1.10⅛@1.10¼.

The corn pit showed initial strength, prices opening at an advance of ⅛@⅜c under the influence of light offerings and weather unfavorable to movement of the crop. Weakness in the wheat pit counteracted the bullish factors in the first hour. As a result all corn futures fell off about ½c. May opened at 69⅛@69¼c and declined to 68⅞c, after touching a high point of 69½@69⅝c.

Unimportant rallies in the corn pit failed to check the decline in prices. The bottom for May was touched at 68⅛c. The close was weak at nearly the low point of the day with May ⅝@¾c lower than Saturday's final figures at 68½c.

Oats showed less inclination to fluctuate than the other grains, although the market was somewhat influenced by the course of wheat. Opening figures were ⅛c lower to ⅛c higher and in the first hour prices sagged a trifle, May falling off ⅜c and other futures ¼c. At the opening May was a shade to ⅛c higher at 48⅝@48¾c.

Provisions at the start were easy, with the futures generally 2½c lower than Saturday's close. Purchases by prominent packers strengthened the market 2½c to 5c over Saturday's final figures. Opening prices for May were: Pork, $22.05; lard, $12.20; ribs, $11.60.

DECLINES IN STOCKS

Close Was Unsettled and Weak at About Lowest Point.

Rally on Extensive Short Covering Was Not Held Long.

New York, Jan. 17.—Wall street opening was not fully responsive to the rising tendency of prices for Americans manifest in London. Prices of most stocks were higher, but some of the most active speculative issues declined. Most conspicuous gains were in the Gould group. Western Maryland rose 1¼. Texas & Pacific, Denver & Rio Grande and Wabash preferred 1, and Missouri Pacific large fractions. United States Rubber first preferred also gained 1½. Chesapeake & Ohio gained 1. Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, St. Paul, Louisville & Nashville and Erie declined substantially in fractions.

The market closed unsettled and weak. Declines were extended in the final hour, but after touching the lowest of the day, prices rallied on extensive short covering. Union Pacific lost 3⅛. Mackay companies 5. Louisville & Nashville 2⅝. American Smelting and Republic Steel preferred 2¾. Northwestern and Virginia-Carolina Chemical 2. Demand died out on the rally and prices gave way again.

JANUARY 17, 1910.

I also visited the Central Vermilion property, only a short distance from the Macomber mine. At this property a lot of test pitting is being done, and it is claimed that ore has been opened up on the surface, pretty much the same kind of a showing as was made on the surface of Section 30. At any rate, the Macomber has a stockpile of ore mined from a depth of 120 feet that would indicate that depth is not required on the Central Vermilion. I recommend the purchase of Central Vermilion, for the conditions are very favorable to strike high-grade iron ore near surface.

I have visited the Vermilion Range, and believe many big mines will be opened up between Tower and Ely. From information that I could gather at Tower, I am more than convinced that Mr. Thomas Walsh will open up a very big mine right near Tower, namely, the North American mine.

This big property is right near the Soudan mine, which has been a skipper for about twenty years. I also visited the Robinson Lake properties, and it would do your heart good to see the way they are pushing development work on this part of the Vermilion. At the Roy, rich ore has been opened up within sixty feet of the surface and stock has been withdrawn from the market. Vermilion ores bring big returns, and I have been told that this ore commands a price of $2.50 a ton in the ground. Section 30 was easily developed, and the old cry that it takes a lot of money to open a mine on the Vermilion is about over. At Mud Lake ore has been opened up not far from the surface. To sum the thing up, it seems that we are going a long way from home to find properties which are not near as promising as those on the ranges, near our home.

BODY MANGLED UNDER WHEELS

Thomas Burns, 23 years old, a brakeman of the Great Northern Railway company, was accidentally killed last evening at Kelley Lake, Minn.

Burns fell between two box cars and was mangled under the wheels of a moving ore train. The body was picked up after several cars had passed over him.

The body will be brought to Superior some time today, where relatives will arrange for the funeral. He is a single man and has parents residing in the East end.

Engineers Will Dance.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers are making elaborate preparations for the seventeenth annual ball which will be given on the evening of Jan. 27 at the Hotel Superior. For the convenience of the Duluth people attending the affair, special arrangements have been made with the street car company to run a car from the Hotel Superior to Third avenue east, Duluth, leaving Superior at 3 a. m.

Premium for Bonds.

Bids for the $100,000 bond issue of school bonds were opened this afternoon by the bond committee of the council. The entire issue will be awarded to the Guarantee Trustee company of St. Paul, which agreed to take the bonds at par and give the city the accrued interest from Jan. 3 until the date of delivery besides a premium of $650.17. The committee will recommend to the council that the St. Paul concern be given the bond issue.

Food Show Will Open.

Superior grocers are making elaborate preparations for a big "pure food" show which will open Wednesday and continue for ten days. Lectures on the pure food question will be given by Miss Alice M. Gunn of the domestic science department of the Superior normal school. The show will be open from 2 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon, and in the evening from 7:30 to 10. The details of a baby show are now being worked out.

Jury Is Discharged.

The jurors in the case of Barney Nelson vs. The American Bedding company, after twenty-one hours' deliberation, came in at noon yesterday in the superior court and announced that they could not agree. The jury was discharged. Nelson was suing the bedding concern for $5,000 for the loss of several fingers while in the employ of the company.

Married Fifty Years.

Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Ellenson, formerly of Superior, now of St. Paul, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Saturday at the home of their son and daughter, John J. Ellison and Mrs. M. Lager of Superior. The aged couple are the parents of ten children, thirty-five grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Term Is Set Over.

The term of the federal court which was to have opened in Superior Jan 25 has been set over until March 1, the reason for the postponement being that the presiding jurist, Judge Sanborn, is occupied by a large number of cases in other cities in the district.

CLAIRVOYANT — MADAME VONGER, the celebrated Hindu clairvoyant palmist, can be depended on to read your entire life correctly, giving reliable information on every point that interests you. If you are in doubt or in trouble or any kind she is sure to point the way to happiness to you. If your case is difficult, strange or peculiar, she will take especial interest and pleasure in you. She will give you all the important information necessary to your peace of mind and happiness. She tells who, when and how many times you will marry, if at all; the number of children and the wealth you will possess; tells just what your business undertakings will amount to; tells your lucky days and numbers, locates lost friends and articles; how best to apply your natural talents to win success; how to win the one of your choice. Her wonderful clairvoyant powers enable her to give you the secrets of both living and dead. If you are in doubt or in trouble, sick or ailing, if luck or business seems to be going against you, if the ones you love most are not proving all you wish them to be to you. No matter what your hopes, fears or wishes may be, she is sure to cause you to overcome your difficulties and attain your desires. She possesses all the marvelous arts and science known only to the people of the Orient. Her readings never fail to meet your every wish and hope. Absolute satisfaction guaranteed. Nobody in need of her service will be turned away, money or no money. Consultation free. No. 20 West Superior street, over Blodgett's Shoe store.

CLAIRVOYANT — MADAME MELLIE, the noted Egyptian palmist, tells past, present and future from birth up; gives names of friends or enemies, what business you are best adapted for. She tells you the exact questions on your mind. When and whom you will marry, the name, day and hour; settles and explains love affairs, and family troubles; unites the separated, etc. Why not see the best? Costs no more. Satisfaction guaranteed or no charge. 26 Fourth avenue west.

CLAIRVOYANT—FREE $1 READING, cradle to grave. Send birth date and 10 cents postage. Advice free on business, love, marriage. Prof. Eagle, Saginaw, Mich.

NOTICE OF PROPOSED VACATION—
Notice is hereby given, That there has been filed of record in the office of the City Clerk of the City of Duluth a petition for the vacation of the alley lying between Fourth and Fifth streets from Twenty-second avenue east to Twenty-third avenue east.
The object of the proposed vacation is to allow the abutting lots to be improved to better advantage, the presence of deep ravines in said block making it impracticable to improve the alley.
Said petition will be heard and considered by the Committee of the Common Council on Streets, Alleys and Sidewalks, on Monday, February 14, 1910, at 3:30 o'clock P. M., in the City Clerk's office in the City Hall in the City of Duluth, at which time and place said committee will hear the testimony and evidence on the part of the parties interested.
H. W. CHEADLE,
City Clerk.
D. E. H., Jan. 3, 10, 17 and 24, 1910. D 448.

SHERIFF'S EXECUTION SALE.
Under and by virtue of an execution issued out of and under the seal of the District Court of the State of Minnesota, in and for the Eleventh Judicial District and County of St. Louis, on the 27th day of December, 1909, upon a judgment rendered and docketed in said Court and County, wherein Charles E. Dickerman was plaintiff and The Syndicate Investment Company, The American Loan and Trust Company, John McKinley, George A. Elder and William McKinley, were defendants, in favor of said plaintiff and against said defendants, The Syndicate Investment Company, The American Loan and Trust Company, George A. Elder and William McKinley and each of them for the sum of twenty-three thousand ninety-five and 34-100 dollars, which said execution has to me, as Sheriff of said St. Louis County, Minnesota, been duly directed and delivered, I have levied upon and will sell at public auction to the highest cash bidder, in the office of the Sheriff of said County of St. Louis, in the St. Louis County Court House, in the City of Duluth, in said County of St. Louis, on Tuesday, the 8th day of February, A. D. 1910, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, all the right, title and interest that the above named judgment debtor, George A. Elder, had in and to the real estate hereinafter described, on the 9th day of February, 1900, that being the date of the rendition of said judgment, or any interest therein which said judgment debtor, George A. Elder, may have since that date acquired.
The real estate so levied upon and to be sold, is situated in the County of St. Louis, State of Minnesota, and described as follows, to-wit:
Lot two (2), Section four (4), Northwest quarter of Southwest quarter (NW¼ of SW¼) of Section five (5), lots two (2), three (3) and four (4), and the northeast quarter of the southeast quarter (NE¼ of the SE¼) of Section six (6), all in Township fifty-eight (58) North, Range seventeen (17) West of the Fourth Principal Meridian; also the East half of the Southeast quarter (E½ of SE¼) and the Southwest quarter of the Southeast quarter (SW¼ of SE¼) of Section thirty-three (33), and the Southwest quarter of the Southwest quarter (SW¼ of SW¼), of Section thirty-four (34) in Township fifty-eight (58) North, Range twenty (20) west of the Fourth Principal Meridian.
Dated at Duluth, Minn., December 27, 1909.
WILLIAM J. BATES,
Sheriff of St. Louis County, Minn.
By S. L. PIERCE,
Deputy.
H. J. GRANNIS,
Attorney.

SPEAR LION FOR TEDDY

Natives in Africa Give Performance for the Famous Hunter.

Kermit Makes Name for Himself as Unusually Lucky.

Nairobi, British East Africa, Dec. 11. — (Correspondence of the Associated Press.) — A long stream of porters came winding across the veldt toward the station at Nairobi, looking for all the world like a string of ants. The Stars and Stripes was held aloft by a giant native, and the sound of horns make strange discords with the chanting of the weird and elusive safari song. Shortly, Col. Roosevelt arrived on the back of his favorite horse, Tranquility. It was at the end of his last trip in the darkest African protectorate.

The safari, which was the fourth to be made out of Nairobi, gave Col. Roosevelt and his party an opportunity to witness a hunt at Sirgoa, in the Guasu Nguisho country, the spearing of a lion by Nandi warriors.

Saw Natives Spear Lion.

Seventy of these spearsmen took part in the drive. When a warrior spears a lion he becomes a leader of the fighting section of the tribe. The band proceeded down a long valley, where the grass was thick

? CAN WOMEN WRITE ADS ?

It might surprise you to learn that women have come to be very successful ad-writers; that a large proportion of the ads in this issue of this newspaper are written by women.

It is in writing classified "want" ads that women have been most successful.

They have found out how simple it is to write a classified "want" ad that will perform, unfailingly a personal service for them—finding a servant, a boarder, a tenant, a buyer for used furniture or musical instruments or other articles of value.

They write ads that find them faithful servants—that find lost things—that aid in household management.

A good many ads are being written tonight by women for The Herald.

If you can't send your ads to The Herald office, telephone them. Both phones, 324.

GOVERNORS MEET AND HEAR DEMANDS FOR UNIFORMITY IN LAWS

Dryden of the Prudential Tells How Insurance Work Suffers.

Sterett Talks on Same Line and Richberg Wants Federal Charters.

Latter Denounces Present Conditions as Menace to Business.

Washington, Jan. 18. — Governors from thirty states of the Union met today in the national capital to discuss problems of state and of national interest. Governor Willson of Kentucky, chairman of the committee on arrangements for the conference, was in the chair. In a brief introductory speech he referred to the first conference of state heads, invited in May, 1908, by President Roosevelt, to meet in the White House.

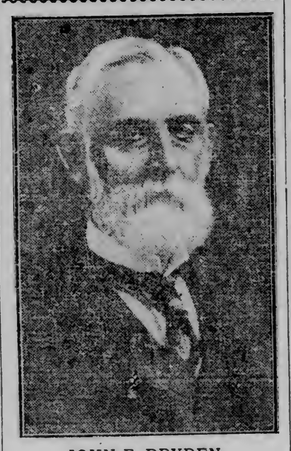

Governor Willson declared that in his opinion no better means of devising improved and uniform state legislation could have been found than for the chief executives of the states to come together as they had, and in a friendly way, with partisan feeling forgotten, talk over together the questions in which they all were interested.

States and Insurance.

In urging the uniformity of state laws regulating insurance companies, Former United States Senator John F. Dryden, president of the Prudential

TRI-STATE MEET IS ON

Large Gathering Begins at Fargo Under Most Favorable Auspices.

Western Minnesota, North and South Dakota Are All Well Represented.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The North Dakota Veterinary association began a two days' session here this morning. Today's work is being conducted at the veterinary department of the North Dakota agricultural college and consists of both clinical work and addresses. The session concludes with the annual banquet tomorrow night.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The twelfth annual session of the Tri-State Grain and Stock Growers' convention met here this morning with a large opening day attendance.

Western Minnesota, Northern South Dakota and all the state of North Dakota, especially the Eastern half, were well represented when president Worst called the association together this morning.

YANKEE CAPTAIN FIRES THINGS UP

Tells Nicaraguan Officer He Has Five Minutes to Turn Over Papers.

San Francisco, Jan. 18.—The story of a bloodless encounter between the United States naval forces at Corinto and the Nicaraguan authorities, was brought yesterday by the liner San Juan which left Corinto Dec. 28.

Among the passengers who left Corinto the day before on the City of Para was Capt. Chavse, the Nicaraguan officer who had given to the American consul details of the execution of Cannon and Groce. He had gone aboard by advice of the acting American consul, a naval officer, to avoid probable danger against his life.

When Capt. Nelson of the City of Para applied for clearance papers he was told that the ship could not leave till Capt. Chavse had been turned over to the authorities. The captain told his trouble to the naval consul, who wig-wagged the fleet lying off Corinto. Five minutes later Capt. Oliver of the Albany was on his way ashore.

Capt. Oliver bowed to the Nicaraguan commandant of the port and remarked:

"I'll let you have just five minutes to let Capt. Nelson have his clearance papers."

The papers were given.

Madriz Orders Trial.

Managua, Jan. 18.—President Madriz has sent a message to the supreme court demanding the bringing to trial of all implicated in "the miscarriage of justice, which resulted in the shooting of the Americans, Groce and Cannon."

This is believed to indicate that prompt action will be taken against Salomon, Selva, the prosecuting attorney in the case, Gen. Medina and possibly Zelaya. Medina is said to have documents exculpating himself and establishing Zelaya's responsibility.

DR. COOK TO TAKE CURE IN GERMANY

Explorer Will Spend Some Time at Sanitarium Near Heidelberg.

Frankfort, Jan. 18.—The Frankfuerter Zeitung is informed that Dr. Frederick A. Cook has arranged for a strictly incognito stay at a sanitarium near Heidelberg. The health of the explorer is represented as having been seriously affected by recent events. The paper makes no explanation as to who made the arrangements referred to, where Cook is now, or when he will arrive at the sanitarium.

UNIONISTS LOSING OUT

Indications Are That Liberals Will Win English Election.

Government Forces Fare Better Than Most Hopeful Had Expected.

London, Jan. 18.—Completed returns from yesterday's elections for members of parliament make the standing of the parties to date as follows:

Government coalition: Liberals, 79; Laborites, 17; Irish-Nationalists, 16.

Opposition: Unionists, 96; net Unionist gain, 30.

The radical coalition fought more on the defensive today than heretofore, as of the forty-six seats for which polling was in progress they held all but ten in the last parliament.

The front bench politicians whose fates were decided today were Winston Spencer Churchill, for Dundee; Sydney C. Buxton, for the Poplar division of Tower Hamlets; Walter Runciman, for Dewsbury; Sir William Snowden Robson for South Shields, Liberals; and Alfred Lyttelton for St. George's, Hanover Square, the former Conservative minister. All of these appeared certain of re-election. The representation for Bermondsey, where John Dumphreys scored a sensational Unionist victory in the bye-election of October last, was also in the melting pot, and as Dumphreys this time met an undivided opposition, the seat quite likely has reverted to Liberalism.

Government Fares Well.

The government fared much better yesterday than their most ardent supporters expected. The Unionists gained 19 seats, the Liberals 4 and the Laborites 1, making a net gain of the Unionists for the day of 14, one less than they gained at fewer elections on Saturday.

This practically assures the return of the Liberal power with a fair majority, for among the places still to poll are those in Scotland and Wales, which always are solidly Liberal.

There cannot be said to have been many surprises. Some expected that John Burns, president of the local government board, would be defeated in the Battersea division of Battersea and Clapham, but pessimism has been present at every election since Burns has been a candidate, and he himself never had any doubt as to the result.

MUCH WORK FOR MINERS

Many Subjects Are to Be Discussed in Annual Convention.

Meeting at Indianapolis Opens With Important Program.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 18.—The annual convention of the United Mine Workers of North America, which opened at Tomlinson Hall in this city today, practically is devoted to the interests of the thousands of men that labor in the immense bituminous coal fields of the country, which stretch from West Virginia and Central Pennsylvannia, northwest to British Columbia and southwest to Texas and Oklahoma, engaging all the mid-western states.

The bituminous miners are deeply concerned in a proposed demand for an increase of their wages that may be set at any point between 10 and 20 per cent.

The disaster at Cherry, Ill., has given new impetus to the movement for federal regulation of the operation of mines, and this matter will be only second in importance to the question of wages in the convention.

President Lewis will press his campaign vigorously for the institution of a government bureau of mines and mining. It is his assertion that mining is the world's greatest industry, yet the most hazardous, least protected and poorest rewarded.

It is generally conceded that the report of the tellers of the recent balloting for officers will show the re-election of Mr. Lewis as president, over William Green of Ohio, his opponent.

JOHN FARSON DIES OF HEART DISEASE.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 18.—If the ideal weather conditions of yesterday prevail again today, Glenn H. Curtiss, American aviator, will attempt the unparelleled feat of a flight from here to San Diego. The people of the Southern city have offered a purse of $5,000 for the flight and that Curtiss will make the attempt is certain.

MRS. DAVIS TAKES THE FIELD OPENLY

Minnesota Woman Candidate for President of the D. A. R.

Washington, Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. C. R. Davis, wife of Representative Davis of St. Peter, Minn., today announces herself as a candidate for the office of president of the Daughters of the American Revolution, whose convention meets in this city in April. Mrs. Davis' candidacy for the presidency is indorsed by the Minnesota chapters of the D. A. R.

SEE CANNON'S HAND IN IT

Congressmen Much Interested in Diekema's Eagerness for Speakership.

Prediction Is Made That Speaker Is Fixing for Free-for-All Race.

Washington, Jan. 18.—Looking behind the formal announcement of Representative J. H. Diekema of Michigan that he will be a candidate for the speakership of the house to succeed Uncle Joe Cannon, many members of congress attach to the move more political significance than ordinarily would be involved in the mere ambition of one member to wield the house gavel.

The fact that Mr. Diekema, recognized as a supporter of the Republican organization in the house, should come out at this time, and the further fact that friends of Representative Walter I. Smith of Iowa, say that he will be a candidate, are interpreted by many members to indicate that Mr. Cannon will take steps to make the race a "free-for-all" before the close of the present session.

Cannon Still Silent.

Rumors that Speaker Cannon will resign or that he will not again be a candidate of the speakership, are by no means new to capitol gossip. None of the close friends of the speaker can be induced to broach to him the subject of making an announcement at the present time. It is said that no announcement on the subject can be expected before the latter part of the present session.

Some of the insurgents, although declining to discuss the speakership question for publication, intimate that they do not take seriously either the Diekema candidacy or the reports that the speakership bee is buzzing about other members.

Pottsville, Pa., Jan. 18.—Fire at Ashland, twenty miles from here, early today destroyed nearly a block of buildings before it was brought under control. Among the buildings destroyed were the opera house and those containing the telegraph and telephone offices.

BERLIN MAKES LAST POSSIBLE CONCESSION ON TARIFF QUESTION

Cables Washington Its Answer to Recent Communication.

Payne Bill Is Regarded as Intended to Limit German Trade.

People Are Ready to Stand By Terms Given By Government.

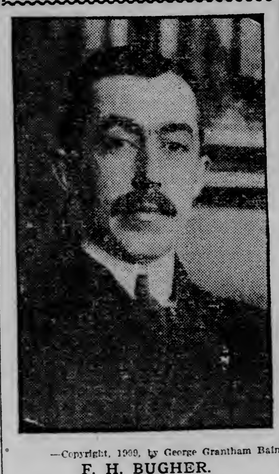

Washington, Jan. 18.—Some time this afternoon or tomorrow the state department will make public proclamations by President Taft declaring that certain European countries therein specified are entitled to the minimum rates of duty imposed by the Payne-Aldrich bill. Only six countries will be designated by the proclamations as entitled to the minimum rates, and these are: Great Britain, Russia, Italy, Spain, Switzerland and Turkey.

Berlin, Jan. 18.—The German government today cabled to Washington a reply to a memorandum recently received from the United States, relating to the tariff on shipments between the two countries. While it does not accept the American wishes in various respects, and especially concerning the importation of meat, the German response is sent in the hope that it will be satisfactory and as all that the German government can do.

The reply was dispatched with a certain feeling of gravity because of the feeling that Germany can do no more and must be prepared for trade hostilities should the United States, un-

MAY GET JOB WHICH GEN. BINGHAM ONCE HAD

—Copyright, 1909, by George Grantham Bain.

F. H. BUGHER.

First Police Deputy Frederick H. Bugher may succeed Commissioner Baker as head of the police force of New York city. Mr. Bugher has been in the police department for some years. He served under Gen. Bingham and sent in his resignation at the time Gen. Bingham resigned. He was asked to reconsider his determination and stay in the department. He has been Mr. Baker's most valuable assistant in the management of police affairs.

ATTEMPT TO FIRE HOME

Midnight Blaze Believed to Have Been of Incendiary Origin.

Members of Jones Family Escape in Their Night Clothing.

That a dastardly attempt was made to fire the home of G. Jones about 11:30 o'clock last night while he and his wife with their six children, the oldest about 14 years of age, slept in the upper rooms, is the belief of C. S. Wilson, assistant fire chief, and other authorities of the department.

Suspicion that the cowardly act was attempted by an incendiary is strengthened by the fact that the department was called to the same house, 1127 West Second street, three days ago.

Wakened to find the house filled with stifling smoke, the entire family was driven outdoors clad only in their night gowns. Mr. Jones was the first to rouse himself. He called Mrs. Jones and then carried most of the children downstairs. Coatless, hatless and shoeless they made their way through the snow and the freezing night air to the home of a neighbor, who had been awakened by the clamor of the fire engines coming up the hill. When the department arrived, Mr. Jones was outside in stockings and underwear.

The damages to the house was not heavy. The cause is not known, but the fire department officials suspect that it was of incendiary origin. Careful examination failed to reveal any natural cause which might have started the blaze. The property is owned by W. C. Mackey.

GIRL KIDNAPED AND RECOVERED

Black Hand Is Accused and Four Arrests Made in Chicago.

Chicago, Jan. 18.—It is reported to the police that the Black Hand society is responsible for the kidnaping of Maria Marocclo, a 17-year-old Italian girl, who was bundled into a cab today when she left her home to go to work.

Later, in a house with four men and one woman, the police found Maria. The five inmates, all of whom are Italians, were arrested.

Maria's younger sister, Rosa, was also seized, but broke away, and spread alarm. Apparently Maria made no struggle or outcry when she was seized. There were three men in the cab, and when the two girls passed, the men jumped out and seized both. Rosa De Rosi said she had never seen any of the men in the cab before, but she was certain they were Italians.

According to witnesses, the cab had been waiting ten minutes before the girls came. The cab was driven rapidly away, and soon disappeared.

Spokane to Welcome Bede.

Spokane, Wash., Jan. 18.—When J. Adam Bede, former congressional representative of Minnesota, comes to Spokane on Feb. 15, on a tour of the Pacific Northwest, he will receive a genuine Western welcome, in which former residents of Minnesota will be the leaders and hosts at a banquet in the Hall of the Doges.

ROOSEVELT HEARS PINCHOT IS OUT

Ex-President Expresses Surprise But Declines to Make Comment.

Butlaba, Jan. 18.—Word from ex-President Roosevelt, who is at "Rhino camp," says that he refused to make any statement when informed that Gifford Pinchot had been dismissed from his post as chief forester of the United States government by President Taft. Mr. Roosevelt was known as the sponsor and warmest admirer of the dethroned forester. Aside from expressing surprise at his dismissal, Col. Roosevelt would make no comment.

The Roosevelt party probably will spend the entire week in hunting for white rhinoceres, two of which species the colonel already has killed.

WALSH LOSES LAST CHANCE

Banker Cannot Avoid Serving Sentence in Federal Prison.

Wednesday Night Will See Him a Convict at Fort Leavenworth.

Chicago, Jan. 18.—The last hope of John R. Walsh, the former Chicago banker, of keeping out of prison, was dispelled today when the United States circuit court of appeals overruled his motion for a new trial. The motion was on the ground of alleged misconduct of jurors in the original trial. The court of appeals ordered a mandate to be issued to the district court, the court of original jurisdiction. It was expected Mr. Walsh would be resentenced in the district court this afternoon, and be turned over to the United States district marshal, L. T. Hoy.

Mr. Walsh did not appear in court, but spent the greater part of the morning in his office at the Grand Central station. Shortly before the court gave its decision, Mr. Walsh apparently had been given an intimation of the findings, for he left his office, jumped into a cab, and was driven off in the direction of als home.

Will Be Taken Tonight.

United States Marshal L. T. Hoy announced that Mr. Walsh will be taken to the federal prison at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., tonight. Mr. Walsh will be taken from here on a train leaving at 6 p. m., according to the present plans. He will be accompanied by Marshal Hoy and a deputy.

Mr. Walsh will arrive at Leavenworth tomorrow morning and a short time after that will be an ordinary prisoner.

GOVERNOR SUMMONS MINNESOTANS TO CONFERENCE ON STATE'S RESOURCES

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—In an earnest and optimistic proclamation issued today, Governor A. O. Eberhart calls on the citizens of Minnesota to meet, or have representatives in St. Paul on March 16, to discuss methods for the conservation and development of the natural resources of Minnesota. Following is the text of the proclamation:

"That an era of new and complex development is opening in Minnesota there is no doubt. The soil and climate of the state are second to none. There exist within the borders of this state untold opportunities for the development of farms, mines, forests, water-power, reclamation of swamp lands and construction of country roads, as well as the necessity for more railroad lines.

"To determine by a congress of representative men, interested in all lines of business and social endeavor, what the resources of this state are, and how the rapid and intelligent development of Minnesota may best be assisted, will contribute greatly to the advancement of this commonwealth to the front rank of the states.

Subjects to Be Considered.

"The development of unused lands; conservation of soil fertility of lands now under cultivation; increase of production per acre on the farms; careful handling of mineral resources to eliminate waste; preservation and perpetuation of the forests; scientific drainage of swamp lands; improvement of public roads; extension of industrial and agricultural education; study of the practicability of water power and the continuance of the best sanitary conditions to insure public health; are all subjects which must be considered and agitated in order to give force to a state wide movement for the development of Minnesota.

"The time has come for a new era of pioneering. Men and women are coming into the West and Northwest as in the days of old, but they must come and expect to come without facing the hardships endured by the first pioneers. They will open the virgin regions of Minnesota, creating new wealth and at once contributing to public maintenance.

Help for New Comers.

"How to assist these people to the advantages enjoyed by the older and more highly developed regions, giving them good roads, educational institutions, transportation facilities, mail routes, healthful surroundings, telephone lines and markets in which to buy and sell, is one of the problems which citizens of Minnesota may well consider in a meeting of representative men and women.

"For many years parts of this state have been severely subjected to single cropping. Thousands of farms have been compelled to yield year after year the same crop until the soil is wearing out, and profits have undoubtedly been reduced. These soils must be given back the elements of plant life or they will cease to pay dividends at the increased valuations.

"While the state of Minnesota has vast timber and boundless mineral re-

NEWS OF THE STORE.

A gentleman and lady came in the other day to buy clothes. They were not expert judges of values, and were inclined to class our "Sale" with others they had attended. The salesman told them, politely, that he would rather not sell them if they questioned our statements. They retired a little indignant. In about an hour they returned and asked as a special favor to be allowed to buy the suit they had looked at. We readily agreed. The man said: "I thought I could get as good bargains in other stores and that you were too independent. I was in error. We've been all over town and I now apologize for my lack of appreciation and compliment you on your attitude toward skeptics."

OLD RESIDENT PASSES AWAY

MRS. THOMAS FINN.

Mrs. Thomas Finn, for many years a resident of Duluth, but who has recently made her home with her children in St. Paul, died there yesterday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. A. Rogers. Mrs. Finn came to Duluth in 1870 and had a host of acquaintances here. She was about 88 years of age. She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. E. A. Rogers, Mrs. J. Moran and Miss Mayme Finn, and three sons, all of St. Paul. She has two sisters, Mrs. John Walsh and Mrs. John Flood, residing in Duluth.

BRAINERD SHOPS NOW WORKING ON SATURDAYS.

Brainerd, Minn., Jan. 18.—For the first time since the cut in time at the shops shortly after the commencement of the switchmen's strike, the locomotive side of the Northern Pacific shops worked on Saturday. The men are still on eight hours, but are keenly rejoicing over the fact that they are getting in six days per week instead of five.

WEST END

NEW MEMBERS ADMITTED.

Adams Athletic Association Adds Thirty New Names to List.

After being closed since early last fall, the membership books of the Adams Athletic association were opened last evening and a class of thirty-two members was admitted to the club.

The Adams association is one of the largest independent organizations of its kind in the city and during the football and baseball seasons finished in possession of the championship, both on the gridiron and diamond in local amateur circles.

Since the membership books were closed many young men throughout the city and at the West end have applied for membership. At a recent meeting it was decided to keep the books open for a period of two months.

At the hockey and skating rink at the foot of Twenty-first avenue west, the members are becoming proficient in hockey playing and expect to carry off championship honors. League games are played every day except Sundays and Thursdays.

The officers of the association follow:

Axel Erickson, re-elected president; H. C. Rankin, first vice president; Albert Olson, second vice president; Thorwald Behrens, treasurer; John Geistman, secretary; and William Downey, financial secretary. A membership committee consists of Cyrus Olson, Phil Thorstad and Jesse Pinney. The trustees are John Steuerwald, Robert Burke, Arthur Hendricks, Edward Nelson and Edwin Olson and sergeant-at-arms, Hjalmar Otterson, William Vexel, Edwin Olson and Andrew Grenner.

REVIVAL SERVICES.

Several West End Churches Holding Special Meetings This Week.

Revival services are being held this week at a number of the West end churches.

At the First Swedish M. E. church, Twentieth avenue west and Third street, Rev. Frank Gustafson, pastor of the First Swedish M. E. church of Superior, is conducting services, assisted by the pastor, Rev. Edward Stromberg, every evening this week.

At the First Swedish Baptist church, Nineteenth avenue west and First street, Rev. Swaney Nelson will conduct services every evening this week except Saturday. He will be assisted by Rev. Bennett Erickson, pastor of the Bethany Baptist church.

At the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church, Twenty-fourth avenue west and Third street, there will be special prayer services this evening, and Thursday and Friday nights.

The congregation of the Swedish Mission church is also holding special services at the church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street, this week.

BENEFIT ASSOCIATION TO INSTALL OFFICERS.

A good program of speeches and music has been arranged in connection with the installation of the newly elected officers of the North Star Benefit association, Duluth observatory, No. 39, which will be held this evening in the basement of the Swedish Bethany Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street.

The following officers will be sworn in tonight:

Anton S. Mickelson, astronomer; Fred Frederickson, assistant astronomer; A. Thoren, recorder and treasurer; John S. Lundberg, conductor, and B. E. Wellberg are the board of directors for a term of three years.

Thygesen Funeral.

Rev. Edward Erickson, pastor of the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church, officiated this afternoon at the funeral of Ernest Thygesen, 32 years old, who died Saturday evening at the home of his brother, John, of 107 North Twenty-sixth avenue west.

The service was held from the undertaking rooms of Olson & Crawford, 2010 West Superior street, with interment at Park Hill cemetery.

Republicans Meet.

Republicans of the Seventh ward held an enthusiastic meeting last evening at the voting booth, Twenty-eighth avenue west and First street, at which time arrangements were made to have hustlers bring out the indifferent voters for registration today. Speeches were given by a number of those present.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank the many friends, the Order of Railway Conductors, No. 238, and the Brotherhood of Railway Firemen for their beautiful floral offerings and the kind sympathy shown us in our late bereavement, the death of our brother, Moritz Hedberg.

West End Shortrails.

A social will be held this evening at the St. Luke's Episcopal church, Nineteenth avenue west and First street, for the members of the congregation and their friends.

Mrs. Dean Dash of 1922 West Superior street, while coming downstairs yesterday afternoon, slipped and fell to the bottom of the stairway, sustaining severe bruises.

E. O. Reppe, who has been ill at his home, 2330 West Second street, is slightly improved today. Mr. Reppe is the proprietor of a photograph gallery at Twenty-third avenue west and Superior street.

The confirmation class of St. Luke's Episcopal church will organize at a meeting which will be held tomorrow evening at the home of the pastor, Rev. W. E. Harmann, 2528 West Second street.

The annual election of officers of the Tabitha Society of the Swedish Bethany Lutheran church will be held Thursday evening at the home of the pastor, Rev. C. G. Olson, 2305 West Third street.

Mrs. E. E. Churchill of 3823 Grand avenue west will entertain the Ladies' Aid Society of the Central Baptist church at her home tomorrow afternoon.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the St. Peter's Swedish Episcopal church will meet Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. L. J. Hallquist of 2826 West Huron street.

M. Johnson of the West End Auto Works returned from a business trip to Minneapolis this morning.

WILL NOT PROSECUTE.

Fargo Man Who Recovered Stolen Diamond Stud Relents.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—After having a charge of stealing a valuable diamond stud hanging over his head all day yesterday, J. G. Dougherty was released last evening, having effected a settlement with the complaining witness, C. R. Williams of Fargo. The supposed theft took place Sunday evening in the Frederick hotel in this city. A man named Dempsey and Dougherty called at Williams' room. When they departed he noticed that a diamond stud valued at $165 was missing, and he gave the alarm.

A few minutes later, after a hot chase through the streets, Dougherty and Dempsey were captured and returned to the hotel, where the missing stud was turned over to the rightful owner. Williams did not want to prosecute and the two men were released.

MANDAN BUSINESS MEN MAY START WOOLEN MILL.

Mandan, N. D., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The organization of a company in Mandan for the purpose of establishing a woolen mill is being given consideration by the Business Men's club and it is expected that the plan will be worked out. Mandan is at a point where there is a large wool market, and thus the cost of the raw material would not be as great as it is to factories in other cities farther from the market. Another advantage is that lignite coal could be used as fuel, Morton county having vast deposits of the coal.

Foley's Kidney Remedy will cure any case of kidney or bladder trouble that is not beyond the reach of medicine. It invigorates the entire system and strengthens the kidneys so they eliminate the impurities from the blood. Backache, rheumatism, kidney and bladder troubles are all cured by this great medicine. HOLD-UP MEN PASS UP WALLET

Two highwaymen, evidently amateurs, held up Leonard Thomason on East Superior street, between Tenth and Eleventh avenues, about 10 o'clock last night. They took a small purse containing some loose change, but passed a wallet containing a large sum of money, the amount of which the police did not learn, and a valuable gold watch. Thomason was not injured and no gun or other weapon was displayed.

One of the men grabbed him about the waist while the other went through his pockets, or tried to go through them. Mr. Thomason lost his eye glasses in the scuffle.

By a strange coincidence the two men taken into custody by the squad of police who hurried to the scene in the big Franklin auto, were named Thompson and Thomas Thompson, while the man who had been held up was Thomason. The two were able to establish an alibi.

WILL DEMAND CLOSING OF RED LIGHT DISTRICT.

Chicago, Jan. 18.—Several hundred women, chiefly members of the Cook County Women's Christian Temperance union, decided at a meeting yesterday to march in a body to the mayor's office next Monday and ask him if he intends to obliterate Chicago's "red light" district. It is expected the women will march through the streets.

At the meeting resolutions condemning the bill providing re-establishment of the army canteen were adopted. They will be sent to the house committee on military affairs and to President Taft. Congressman R. Wayne Parker, who introduced the measure in congress, was denounced.

A SCENE OF ACTIVITY

Nearly 400 Men Are Employed on Steel Plant Site.

Three Pile Drivers at Work ---Rushing Bridge Construction.

While Duluthians are anxiously waiting for "work to begin on the steel plant," there are between 300 and 400 men actively employed on the site.

The site presents a scene of activity that would surprise anyone who has not kept in close touch with it. There are camps scattered on all sides.

The men are still working on the bridge, and the railroad and some little digging is also being done on this side, filling in ravines and stripping for gravel.

The railroad fills on the other side of the river have been finished, and some of the steel for the Pokegama river bridge has been received. Three pile drivers are at work on the Duluth approach to the bridge, and the stripping of the gravel pit has begun. There are fully 200 men at work on the bridge, putting in the approaches and building the coffer dam for the central pier. There is still an immense amount of work to be done on the bridge across the St. Louis, but judging from the number of men at work upon it, it is the intention to rush this work just as rapidly as possible.

MARKET NOT SUPPORTED

The Shorts Sell on Every Rally and Declines Follow.

Local Stocks Fairly Active, With Some Soft Spots.

The market today acted like a market that had been squeezed dry and entirely sold out. It started well at the opening, but toward mid-day declined, although the pronounced gains were not entirely lost. On an average the market showed improvement over the opening and yesterday's quotations. On the rallies the shorts got busy and the market was not supported. Left to its natural action it advanced, but it had practically no legs to stand on when assaulted by the shorts. The period of liquidation should be drawing to a close, and it is only natural that an upturn should soon be looked for, although such a recovery certainly cannot be very pronounced nor can it compare with the high prices which ruled on last fall's ...e before the general decline.

North Butte scored a fair advance, but lost part of it. Calumet & Arizona continued to decline. It is notable that declines in the Cole-Ryan stocks have taken place, not simultaneously, but in succession, which leads some to think that they have been the subject of considerable manipulation on the short side. There is a short interest in North Butte, covering by which, is believed to have been the cause of the advance today.

The local market was fairly active with many soft spots. The general tone was weak although brokers expressed confidence in the ability of the market to react favorably soon.

Amalgamated sold at $82.50 up to $84.25 and down to $83.50. Calumet & Arizona sold off from $92 to $90.50. Superior & Pittsburg declined from $15.25 to $15. Greene sold at $10.25, and Giroux advanced from $11.25 to $11.50, but fell back to the opening. North Butte advanced from $42.25 to $46.25, but declined to $44.25. Ojibway sold at $12. Lake sold at $87.50 up to $90.25 and down to $89. Butte-Coalition sold at $26.25 off to $25.62½ and back to $26.50. Steel common sold at $83.25 up to $84.12 and back to $83.87½.

Copper Queen sold at 79 cents; Cordova, part paid, at 58 cents; Denn at $3.50, Greene at $10.50 on the local exchange; Savanna at $2.56¼, the full paid at $5.62½, Shattuck at $20.75 down to $20.25, Zenith at $1.68¾, Butte & Superior at $2.87½, Calumet & Montana at $2.12½, Calumet & Corbin at $1.06¼ up to $1.12½, Keating at $2.50, Rawhide at .9 and 10 cents and Montana Clinton at 55 cents.

The Duluth-Toroda company is now out of debt, having made the last payment on its property. The company will purchase additional machinery to facilitate production. Ore is being sent to the Granby smelter in addition to the ore treated at the mill. The company will be placed on a dividend basis in the near future. The next clean-up, which will be made in about two weeks, will be the most valuable thus far, it is expected.

O. H. Esprey, Dr. J. W. Arnold and William J. Schindler, all of St. Paul, and Capt. J. M. Wilcox of Laurium, general manager of the Mass mine, are in Duluth today to attend a meeting of the directors of Calumet & Corbin, which is being held this afternoon.

The annual meeting of the company was held at Laurium yesterday, and the entire board of directors resigned and were succeeded by the men named above and B. J. Cook of Duluth. The resignation of the old board signalized the transfer of the company to the new owners. The new company will have 500,000 shares of stock, full paid and non-assessable, with a par value of $1. The treasury will retain 200,000 shares, the syndicate will underwrite 150,000 shares and the other 150,000 shares will be exchanged for the outstanding stock of the old company, share for share.

Supt. W. C. Hosking of the Calumet & Corbin company is in the city to attend the first meeting of the new directorate. He said that developments at the property are satisfactory. It is expected that operations will be conducted on a much larger scale and with greater speed now, as the company will have ample funds in its treasury.

It is said that Capt. J. M. Wilcox will be retained as president.

SUPERIOR

SOO ROAD WILL BUILD ORE DOCKS

That the Soo road will build ore docks at Allouez some time before next year, now seems a certainty. A real estate transfer recorded this morning at Superior is thought to substantiate the persistent rumors to this effect.

The Pokegama Land company, a subsidiary corporation to the Soo railroad, today purchased from E. F. McCausland 115 acres of land in the belt line district, just east of the Great Northern ore docks at Allouez.

The consideration for the purchase was not named but it is said that the price was in the neighborhood of $75,000.

OFFICER IS SUSPENDED.

Detective Dill to Answer to Charge of Insubordination.

T. A. Dill, a well-known detective on the Superior police force, was suspended for an indefinite period today, by the board of police and fire commissioners, following the discharge of James McIntosh, a patrolman, from the force, yesterday.

Dill is charged with insubordination and it is claimed that he was unduly active in pushing the investigation of the charges against McIntosh. An investigation of his case will be held by the police commission in the near future.

PATROLMAN McINTOSH DROPPED FROM FORCE.

Patrolman James McIntosh, who has been under supension several weeks as the result of charges filed with the police commission by the proprietor of the Arlington lodging house, 1710 Winter street, was discharged from the force yesterday.

An investigation of the charges that had been brought against him by his landlord came to an end yesterday afternoon, when a hearing was held and the testimony of a large number of witnesses taken.

Will Help Take Census.
A committee was appointed yesterday by the Superior Commercial club to see that no one is overlooked when the coming census is taken. Various ways of determining whether the city gets its full quota or not will be included in the duties of the committee, which comprise Mayor F. R. Crumpton, R. F. Wilcutts and J. T. Murphy.

Old Resident Dies.
Daniel Linscott, 80 years old, a resident of Superior for more than twenty years, died last evening at his home, 5929 Cumming avenue, South Superior, after a long illness. He was one of the pioneer chairmakers at the Head of the Lakes, coming to Superior when the Webster Manufacturing company opened its plant here over a score of years ago. He is survived by a wife and four daughters.

Lecture on "Alaska."
Prof. E. F. Bean of the Blaine high school will lecture this evening at the school auditorium on "Alaska." The lecture will be illustrated by many of the views taken by the speaker while on a trip through Alaska last summer as a member of the United States geographical party. There will be no admission to the lecture.

Spokane Man Robbed.
G. W. Wetmore of Spokane, who is in Superior looking after his property holdings, reported to the police late yesterday that he had been robbed of a pocket book containing $100 in bills, at his boarding house. The police are investigating. Mr. Wetmore is the owner of the old Gem theater on Third street. It is understood that a deal is being negotiated for the sale of the old playhouse. The prospective purchasers, it is said, intend to remodel it into a lodging house.

Thomas Burns' Funeral.
Funeral services for Thomas Burns, the East end brakeman who was killed Sunday evening at Kelley Lake, Minn., by falling under the wheels of a moving train, will be held tomorrow morning from the residence of an aunt, Mrs. Frank Connolly of 531 West Seventh street, and at the East End Catholic church. Interment will be at Nemadji Catholic cemetery.

Johnson Work Undone.
Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 18.—The subway franchises, passed as almost the last act of Tom L. Johnson's administration as mayor, were repealed last night by the city council on a strict party vote. The scheme for $75,000,000 for a subway system was voted down by the people in November, but the franchises, in slightly altered form, were passed again by the Johnson administration.

Box Ball Alley Now Thrown Open to the Public

Makes the Hit of the Season

Box ball is a wonderfully improved form of bowling. It does not require any pin boy, as the pins are set automatically with a lever operated by the player. Thus you do not have to wait for the pins to be reset—just pull the lever and the pins are instantly ready for another game—no waits—no annoying delay between games. This game has made a tremendous hit everywhere, and is simply sweeping the country with an immense wave of popularity. It is better than any indoor game ever known and as fascinating as many of the big outdoor sports. People play this game for hours; often they become so enthusiastic that they play on and on after any other game would have lost its interest, and the more they play the stronger and healthier they get. It is better than any gymnasium or physical exercises, and cheaper, too. (Women and children can play this game.) Women often were unable to play regular bowling because the strain was too great, but box ball not only uses lighter balls, but the runway is elevated slightly from the floor so that you get the full amount of exercise without the strain. But on account of the accommodations we will not be able to handle the women and children's trade at present, but later on will try and prepare for it. Don't forget box ball, and watch tomorrow night's Herald for free coupon.

Custom-Made Suits at Half

Half Price rules thruout the custom made ranks for the first time this week. "Aren't they lovely!" is the exclamation women usually make when they note the splendid finish and quality of these Man-tailored Suits.

Business women, stay at home women, and women who can afford 2 or 3 suits bought indiscriminately yesterday. Great is the pleasure in picking up a $60.00 hand-tailored suit and paying $30.00—when you are absolutely sure that the half price is bona fide.

It is an opportunity that seldom comes to women in this city.

Tomorrow will be a mighty interesting day in the S. & B. Co. Garment section. The showing is diversified enough to make it worth your while to come to the store as soon after breakfast as you can, and stay as long as you can.

This is the gamut of prices:

$50.00 Custom-Made Suits at $25.00
$57.50 Custom-Made Suits at $28.75
$60.00 Custom-Made Suits at $30.00
$65.00 Custom-Made Suits at $32.50

It was very pleasant shopping here yesterday, and most of the opportunities still exist today.

A Coat Sale Coming

That will surpass in values offered, quality and style anything ever heretofore presented to the women of Duluth.

Worth Waiting For

Take our word for this.

New Silks in the Clearance

The silk industry of this store is a thriving one just now—FOR IT'S PATRONS. Owing to the enormous silk sales of the past week we have added hundreds of yards of new silks (about 450, the silk man says) to keep the Clearance ball a-rolling.

The remarkable difference between this and other silk sales is, that it includes NO SECONDS and NO JOB LOTS—every yard is bona fide merchandize from our own high-class stocks.

One counterful holds all these:

Our complete Fall line of Peau de Cygnes (twenty colors), thirty-five inch Black Taffeta, plain Black Foulard, Black Crepe Princess, Black 24-inch Pongee, Cream Crepe de Chine, Jasper Lousine, plain Colored Messaline silks, shadow striped, colored and white Messaline, Foulards, plain colored and Silk Pongee, Embossed Satin, plain colored Lousines, etc.—values to $1.25—Clearance.....69c

Clearance of Finer Dress Stuffs

Includes some of the best Dress Goods in our stocks. We can but quote "some of the new additions" for this week:

What admirable dresses this cloth will make! It is 44 inches wide, of the popular pin checks that fashion says will be worn anew this spring—Imported from France and reduced from $1.65 to 95c.

Included in the 95c lots are Black French Voiles in stripes, checks and plaid eeffects, that are regularly $1.50—also fancy striped Mohairs with black grounds that were sold to two days ago up to $2.00 the yard. These and others innumerable are included at the above Clearance price of 95c.

The 65c Clearance Tables include plain Serges, Panamas, Voiles, Mohairs, hairline stripes, dark plaid, Black and White Check Suitings, stripes and plaids. The school girl who could view herself in one of these dresses would grow taller in front of the mirror.

$1.00, $1.50 and a few $2.00 values are included in the 65c lots.

PLANS FOR AN ART GALLERY

The art association, of which Bishop McGolrick is president, will meet this evening at the Commercial club rooms to take preliminary steps towards securing an art gallery in the city. The need of a gallery has been felt for several years, but there has been no central organization to push the movement. Duluth has a large number of art lovers who feel that the city is sufficiently large to warrant the establishment of a gallery.

OPEN MARKET PLAN TO BE LAID BEFORE COUNTY CLUB

Big Gathering of Farmers Considering the Important Problem.

The second annual meeting of the county club, composed of farmers' organizations and market gardeners' clubs from all parts of the county, opened at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Commercial club.

The most important business to be laid before the club is the formation of a central market association, the general plan of which was outlined in The Herald several days ago. The step is one of the leading factors in the sweeping campaign which has been started for the development of Northern Minnesota.

The intention of the farmers is to get an organization with headquarters in Duluth, which will put their produce on the general market at fair prices. The farmers in this part of the state feel that they have not received, and will be unable to get a square deal from the commission merchants.

The plan outlined has been drawn up by a committee of the club and will be submitted to the county club for approval. The general sentiment seems to be strongly in favor of the adoption of the plan suggested.

The membership will be composed of the various clubs of farmers and gardeners in this and adjoining counties. The business will be in the hands of competent officers acting under a board of nine directors selected in different ways. Central warehouses will be built and only enough commission charged to pay the running expenses. Where there is a surplus the dividends will be paid to the members. Individual producers will be entitled to all the benefits of the organization, except that they will not have a vote, upon payment of a membership fee.

One of the requirements is that members shall bind themselves in shipping carload lots, to market through no organization other than the central market association. The association will also keep the farmers posted upon general market conditions throughout the country. Prof. Gray of the university will speak tonight on "Co-operation."

The annual conference of school officers is being held jointly with the annual meeting of the County club. Many of the men attending are delegates to both, and they are holding their meetings at the same time.

PARK BOARD BUYS HARRISON PARK.

The park board has purchased the triangular plot of ground near the Bryant school in the West end, part of which is now being used for a skating rink, for $10,250. In the future it will be known as Harrison park. Longing eyes have been cast upon this piece of property by the city authorities for years, but until the sale of the park bond issue of $50,000 last fall, the treasury has been too hard pressed to allow of the expenditure. It contains about two and one-half acres. It will not only be a breathing spot for West enders, but will be used for playgrounds and a skating rink. The board has other desirable spots in view. Many have been offered, but up-to-date, this is the only one for which a deal has been closed.

LODGES WILL BE ACTIVE

Within the next two weeks, many of the fraternal orders and other societies and lodges of West Duluth will hold a number of social functions. Several of the organizations are planning on the installation of officers, most of the annual elections, having been held before Christmas.

West Duluth lodge, No. 2, K. O. T. M. will install officers next Monday evening at Great Eastern hall. The Maccabees will celebrate the occasion with a program of music and speeches, followed by a dance. The officers to be installed are as follows:

Past commander, C. E. Eaton; commander, B. J. Gundry; lieutenant commander, O. W. Buell; record keeper and finance keeper, J. A. Bethune; chaplain, L. A. Barnes; sergeant, S. C. Onsgard; physicians, D. Graham and C. R. Keyes; master-at-arms, J. D. Larrine; first master of guard, J. McDonald; second master of guard, D. King; sentinel, C. Priola; picket, K. Herman.

The West Duluth lodge, No. 168, I. O. O. F. will hold a business meeting this evening at the Odd Fellows hall on North Central avenue to make plans for the nineteenth annual ball which will be given at Wade's hall on Wednesday, Jan. 26. The Rebekah lodge, an auxiliary to this order, will meet next Friday evening to exemplify degree work.

Old Hickory camp, No. 1555, Modern Woodmen of America, will install its new officers on the evening of Jan. 26. A good program will be arranged for the occasion. The officers to be sworn in, are: A. R. Armstrong, consul; William Cockran, advisor; M. J. Solberg, banker; C. C. Salter, clerk; George Dudleavy, escort; Frank Gottwald, watchman; Thomas G. Lee, sentry; M. J. Fillatrault, a member of the board of managers.

West Duluth Council No. 255, Royal league, will hold the first of its monthly socials this evening at the Commercial club rooms on North Central avenue. Before the social and dance a big class of candidates will be initiated. A large delegation from the uptown and Superior lodges is expected to attend.

Tomorrow evening Fraternity Lodge No. 860, Modern Brotherhood of America, will install its newly elected officers. A good entertainment has been provided for the evening in connection with the affair. The new officers are: W. H. NEW DEPOT IS WELCOMED

The new station of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railway at the head of Fifty-seventh avenue west, which has just been completed after being under course of construction for the past few weeks, is a decided improvement over the old depot and the cause of much favorable comment.

The old station was an old shack and did not provide proper accommodations for the traveling public. The new depot was promised by the officials last fall and was built during the early part of the winter. The old station was moved to Sparta, Minn.

A ticket agent is now in charge of the depot. He keeps the office open for forty-five minutes before every train arrives. There are six passenger trains a day going to and from the range towns and Duluth on this line. The waiting room, heated during the winter, is open for the accommodation of the public.

The patronage at the new station is good, according to the officials.

CHOIR MAKES PLANS FOR EASTER CANTATA.

The choir of the Elim Swedish Lutheran church, Fifty-sixth avenue west and Elinor street, will organize for the coming year at a meeting to be held at the church Friday evening and also make plans for an Easter cantata.

The cantata, which the members are planning will consist of a number of classical compositions requiring the accompaniment of the pipe organ and several solos by various members of the choir. Prof. A. F. Lundholm will be the organist for the occasion.

Registration Light.

Registration was very light today at the voting booths in the Seventh and Eighth wards at West Duluth. Up to noon today, scarcely a dozen voters had registered at any one of the polling booths.

Announce Engagement.

Mr. and Mrs. David Sang of 428 North Fifty-eighth avenue west announced the engagement of their niece, Miss Rose M. Sang, to Frank W. Scott of this city. The wedding will take place at West Duluth on Feb. 23.

William Nelson Funeral.

The funeral of William Nelson, 25 years old, who died Sunday evening at St. Luke's hospital, after a week's illness with typhoid pneumonia, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the undertaking parlors of M. J. Fillatrault, with interment in Oneota cemetery. Rev. G. Oberg, pastor of the Swedish Finnish Lutheran church, Fifty-third avenue west and Wadena street, will officiate. Mr. Nelson was a nephew of Mrs. M. Kyneli of 5411 Nicollet street.

Tigers vs. Gophers.

Manager Ralph Pond of the Tiger hockey team made arrangements today for a game Sunday afternoon with the Gopher hockey aggregation of the West end. The contest will be played off at the Forty-ninth avenue west rink. Manager Pond is looking for games for the Tiger seven.

West Duluth Briefs.

Rev. and Mrs. W. G. Boyle of 6009 Raleigh street will entertain the Ladies' Aid Society of the Asbury M. E. church tomorrow afternoon at their home.

Mrs. A. L. Murray of 620 North Fifty-seventh avenue west entertained a number of her friends last evening at her home. The evening was pleasantly spent in card playing and dancing.

The Ladies' Guild of the Holy Apostle's Episcopal church will hold a business meeting tomorrow afternoon at e home of Mrs. Walter Evered of 626 North Fifty-sixth aveNue west.

Miss Mamie Cullens of 124 North Fifty-sixth avenue west left yesterday afternoon for St. Paul, where she will spend a few days with friends.

Funeral services were held this afternoon for Lura Rankin, the infant child of Mr. and Mrs. William Rankin, of 5113 Roosevelt street. Rev. W. G. Boyle officiated.

Rev. John Begley, who recently came to West Duluth from Ireland, has been appointed assistant pastor to Rev. D. W. Lynch, pastor of the St. James Catholic church, Fifty-seventh avenue west, by Bishop McGolrick.

Hurst, Watch repairing, W. Duluth.

The senior class of the Duluth Industrial high school had a sleigh ride party to New Duluth and return last evening. They were afterwards entertained at the home of Miss Sadie Kern of 4809 West Sixth street.

C. Johnson of Cloquet, Minn., is a business visitor at West Duluth today. He is registered at the Phillips hotel.

Miss Alice La Mont of Virginia was the guest of West Duluth friends yesterday.

George Cooke of Virginia, spent yesterday in West Duluth on business.

Claus Pearson and Otto Eklund have gone to Two Harbors for a visit.

To Stop a Cough in a Hurry.

With this recipe you can make a pint of cough remedy at home in five minutes. A few doses usually conquer the most obstinate cough. Simple as it is, no better remedy can be had at any price.

Put 2½ oz. of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a clean pint bottle, and fill up with Granulated Sugar Syrup, made as follows: Take a pint of Granulated Sugar, add ½ pint of warm water and stir for 2 minutes. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours. The taste is very pleasant—children take it willingly. Splendid, too, for colds, chest pains, whooping cough, bronchitis, etc.

Granulated Sugar makes the best syrup. Pinex, as you probably know, is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway White Pine Extract. None of the weaker pine preparations will take its place. If your druggist hasn't the real Pinex, he can easily get it for you.

Strained honey can be used instead of the syrup, and makes a very fine honey and pine tar cough syrup.

VOTERS SLOW TO REGISTER

Last Opportunity to Get Names on List to Be Given Saturday.

Mayor Haven Organizes Forces for Last Week of Campaign.

Registration over the city is comparatively light today, although in some parts more voters are turning out than had been anticipated. The last opportunity to register will be next Saturday. The polls opened at 6 o'clock this morning and will not close until 9 o'clock this evening. About one-third of the total city vote registered at the primary elections last month.

Mayor Haven selected a campaign committee yesterday afternoon consisting of the different ward chairmen who have already been selected. They are George H. Schulenberg in the First, Edward Conkey in the Second, Robert McKercher in the Fifth, J. W. Allen in the Sixth, J. W. Cumming in the Seventh and J. E. Foubister in the Eighth. Daniel Morgan, campaign manager, acted as chairman of the meeting yesterday when plans were outlined for getting out the registration.

Another meeting will be held tomorrow at which a treasurer and a finance committee will be chosen. It is not thought that much money will be needed. Most of what is necessary will come from the candidates.

sources, agriculture is a condition to control, in a large measure, the industrial activity of the people in towns and cities. Only a little more than one-third of the land in the state suitable for agricultural purposes is now under cultivation. These lands should be opened and handled so as to insure the best results to the tiller of the soil.

Training for Farmers.

"Another demand has followed this. The farmers should be given every possible opportunity to secure the knowledge of practical, scientific agriculture, the profits to be gained by crop relation; the increase possible by creative and selective breeding of plants and animals. These things generally known and applied, will result in immense improvements in production.

"To develop and extend the dairy industry necessities more general discussion and knowledge of stock breeding. Great progress has already been made in this state, and if the work is encouraged and extended, Minnesota will have in ten years, a profitable market in other states and abroad for high priced cattle which combine milk and beef.

"Good roads must be built to enable Minnesota producers to meet the competition of other producers in states having better transportation facilities, nearer markets, and improved country roads. The cost of hauling our products from the farm to the market is excessive in comparison with the railroad charge for hauling similar products, and will remain in excess of the cost of wagon hauling in other states unless we improve our roads. Practical, intelligent work on the highways of the state will reduce the cost from a half to two-thirds, broaden the scope of the farmer's market and add to the profits.

The State's Waterpower.

"The source of many rivers, with countless lakes scattered over its broad domain, Minnesota has unquestioned opportunities for the development of water power. Discussion of these unharnessed streams and their possibilities by practical engineers is to be desired, that the people may realize that it rests with them whether they shall have cheap power and at the same time conserve the fuel resources of the state.

"At once one of the most healthy regions in the United States, the natural advantage undoubtedly needs guarding in the cities, in the homes and schoolhouses. How best the public health may be preserved and improved is a question for wide discussion, which will have for a general result education of the people to desire and secure the most healthful conditions everywhere.

"The impractical idea of taking a boy from the farm to teach him farming is now overcome by incorporating in the courses of the rural schools the elements of practical, scientific agriculture, and with the study goes industrial training for the boys and domestic science and art for the girls of the farm. The extension of these studies and how the system can be best fostered by consolidation of these schools, is a subject of the most vital importance and worthy the most earnest consideration.

Proved by Experience.

"Experience has shown that farmers' institutes, the so-called "short courses" and similar meetings have had a wide influence, adding not only millions to the value of production, but improving the conditions of life. That the citizens of Minnesota should join in such a movement for conservation and agricultural development seems fitting when the governments of earth have come to deem expenditures of time and money for research, discussion and agitation, looking toward the creation of a strong public sentiment for better living, more important than any other line of work.

"Taking into account, therefore, these vital considerations for the welfare of the state, I hereby proclaim the holding of the Minnesota Conservation and Agricultural Development Congress, in the municipal auditorium in the city of St. Paul on March 16, 17, 18 and 19, 1910, and earnestly invite the entire citizenship of the state to participate in and co-operate in carrying out the plans for this gathering, that its purposes may be fully realized.

happily, insist upon more than Germany accords to other countries.

Chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg and his associates, the imperial ministers, appear convinced that the combined conservative center and national-liberal parties of the reichstag would block the way to any departure from the present laws covering the importation of meats.

The government has received the opinions of the leaders of these parties and, moreover, has gathered widely the views of manufacturing interests.

Cites Roosevelt Statement.

It is cited that in promulgating the American-German tariff agreement in 1907, President Roosevelt stated that Germany was giving to the United States more than she was receiving.

It was further pointed out that now, the American tariff revision having been made, as is constantly asserted in all quarters, with the design of limiting German trade with the United States, and a request being made that Germany shall make further impossible concessions, the general temper of the country, as indicated by the chambers of commerce, the reichstag, financial journals and the governmental special inquiries, is steadfast in what is considered a sound position, namely, to take whatever comes.

A Sprained Ankle.

As a rule a man will feel well satisfied if he can hobble around on crutches in two or three weeks after spraining his ankle, and it is often two or three months before he is fully recovered. This is an unnecessary loss of time, as by applying Chamberlain's Liniment, as directed, a cure may as a rule be effected in less than one week's time, and in many cases within three days. Sold by all druggists.

GOVERNORS MEET AND HEAR DEMANDS FOR UNIFORMITY IN LAWS

insurance company, declared that if the various states failed to codify uniformly their insurance laws, the only alternative would be the federal control of the business.

"The immense amount of new legislation and the enactment of new laws, annually or biennially, by the different legislative bodies, is naturally the cause of much uncertainty as to what the law which governs the business really is," he said. "During the nine years ending with 1908 there were enacted not less than 1,200 specific laws pertaining to the business of insurance, aside from the numerous laws affecting corporations generally, or having reference to taxation, contracts, etc.

"The whole body of laws and legislation now governing the business of insurance in the different states would constitute a volume of 5,000 printed pages, but no compilation of these laws has been made, since the constant changes and additions would make such a consolidation of statutes almost out of date by the time the same could come into general use.

Subject is Complicated.

"The whole subject is enormously complicated by retaliatory laws, which have resulted in a condition properly described as interstate warfare, unworthy of the civilization of the present day.

"I am firmly convinced that a uniform code governing the essentials of the law on the subject of insurance can be framed. Failing in this, the only ultimate alternative will be the supervision and control of the interstate business of American insurance companies by the federal government."

Speaking of the control of corporations, J. E. Sterett, president of the American Association of Public Accountants, singled out Massachusetts as the state where other states could find the beginning of a proper form of corporate control.

"Even here, though, the law is incomplete in its requirements in some respects," Mr. Sterett said, "and generally speaking there exists a most unfortunate lack of uniformity in our corporation laws, and all of these laws make little or no provision for effective control."

Value of Uniformity.

Under a federal incorporation act, said Mr. Sterett, the majority of corporations may continue to operate under state charters, so that regardless of any federal law that may be passed it is important that the corporation laws of the states should be substantially uniform and should provide for an adequate measure of effective control. In conclusion Mr. Sterett said:

"The present chaotic condition of American corporation laws is a serious hindrance to business progress. The lax provisions in the various state laws have been at least a contributing cause of the loss of untold fortunes. The remedy should have uniform application, and to be successful must be founded on sound business practice and experience."

Talks on Federal Charters.

John C. Richberg, president of the Illinois commission on uniform state laws and also chairman of the committee on uniform incorporation act, in an address before the National Civic Federation conference held that the divergent laws in the various states were no longer mere obstacles to commercial and social development, but actually menaced both the business and moral growth of the nation.

Mr. Richberg heartily agreed with those who believed in the power of congress to authorize the formation of corporations and regulate corporations engaged in interstate commerce. The inability of the states to deal with problems of national extent had been clearly shown, he said, and the onward march of commerce and discovery must not be halted by the state lines. There should be legislation both on the part of congress and by the states. Congress should pass a national incorporation act for corporations engaged in interstate commerce, and the states should adopt a uniform law for local corporations.

State Lines and Laws.

Said Mr. Richberg in conclusion:

"Where our problems are national in necessary comprehension, where state independence means national chaos, either the Federal Government as representing the united people must act for the people, or the states must join hands, sacrifice sectional desires, individual methods of business, even perhaps climatic habits of thought, and adopt uniform legislation as the medium for expressing their diverse interests, even as a common language carries the expression of the divergent thoughts."

BIG STUNT ON FOR CURTISS

miles in less than two hours yesterday over the Dominguez course while trying to beat Farnum's 144-mile record. A leak in the fuel tank forced him to give up.

If Curtiss makes it today it will be the first time, so far as known that a man has flown between two cities so far apart. It is an extremely hazardous undertaking, however, as the aviator will be compelled to cross a range of mountains, or else will have to fly over the Pacific ocean for nearly the entire distance. If Curtiss makes the flight Paulhan is likely to do it also, as he always takes any risk to share in the honors achieved by his rivals.

No Extension of Meeting.

An announcement probably will be forthcoming tonight, definitely declaring that the aviation meeting, which began Jan. 10, and is scheduled to close on the 20th, will not be extended beyond that date. Curtiss and Paulhan have been under a terrific strain for the last few days, amusing thousands by courting death hourly, and both have expressed the desire for a few days' rest.

Perry W. Weidner, treasurer of the aviation committee, made public today figures showing their receipts of the week up to yesterday were $102,444, while the gateman reported 187,189 admissions.

As soon as the meeting closes, Clifford B. Harmon of New York, who holds the forty-eight hour balloon record, will ascend in his balloon New York, and make an attempt for the long-distance record.

Baltimore Craft Smashed.

Yesterday, the Gill-Dosch aeroplane, a Baltimore entry, which has met with a series of trifling accidents that has kept it off the course, was brought out. It made two feeble attempts to start, but could not rise. Later a new start was made. The machine hopped along for a few yards, rose five feet and then settled down with a bump that broke the steel carriage.

President Cortlandt F. Bishop of the Aero Club of America has received telegrams from Germany and France containing challenges for balloon flights for duration and altitude during 1910, also a challenge from France for a contest to decide the ownership of the aviation cup now held by Glenn H. Curtiss and won at Rheims for speed.

Each country will enter three balloons in the balloon contest. Eleven countries having affiliated aero clubs are yet to be heard from. Mr. Bishop will leave for New York this week and there dates will be selected for the meetings.

FRED HAZEN IS FOUND GUILTY

First Conviction is Secured Under White Slave Act.

A jury in district court last evening returned a verdict finding Fred Hazen guilty of receiving support from the earnings of an immoral woman. Hazen was sent back to the county jail to await sentence, which may be from one to three years in the state prison.

The prosecution was conducted under a statute passed at the last session of the legislature, making it a crime for anybody to receive support under such circumstances. It is very likely the case will be carried to the supreme court as a test.

Hazen and Ethel Mack were arrested Jan. 4 in a room in the Rex hotel, where they had been living together for about three weeks. The Mack girl, who had but recently come to Duluth from Bayfield, Wis., testified that she had supported Hazen during the time they lived together, giving him money from her earnings in immorality.

HUGO WILL NOT A BE CANDIDATE

Reconsiders His Decision to Try for Seat in State Senate.

T. W. Hugo has reconsidered his decision to be a candidate for election to the state senate from the Fiftieth district at the primaries next fall. Mr. Hugo's communication to The Herald conveying this intelligence follows:

"About two weeks ago you did me the honor of announcing my determination to enter the contest for the nomination for state senator for the Fiftieth legislative district. At that time, as far as I could see, everything was favorable for the necessary absence in St. Paul, if elected, but since then matters of a personal nature have so shaped themselves that it will be out of the question for me to think of holding office and being away from Duluth for any length of time; I must, therefore, thank you for your kindness in making the announcement, and my friends for rallying so generally and enthusiastically to my support.

"I do not intend to lessen my interest in Duluth affairs, but as I have tried since 1891, when elected alderman, to show my appreciation of the privilege of being a citizen of this most promising city, I intend to work for its advancement and best interests, giving all my time, energy and talents whenever needed. Yours very truly,

"T. W. HUGO.

WILL LECTURE ON WESTERN CANADA.

Alexander Cameron, Ph. D., will deliver a lecture in the Duluth Central high school Wednesday, Jan. 19, at 8 p. m., on the subject "Opportunities For Making Money in Western Canada."

Dr. Cameron, who delivers this lecture, has spent five years in Western Canada, and will give an exact account of the climate, the country and the nature of the soil. He has been all over Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, has proved up a homestead in Saskatchewan, and will describe the methods by which a poor man may become independent and the man with a moderate amount of cash become wealthy.

There will be a silver collection.

SCARLET FEVER CAUSES WORRY AT DEER RIVER.

Deer River, Minn., Jan. 18.—Scarlet fever has suddenly become alarmingly prevalent in the village and has already claimed a victim in the person of Cecil, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Martin, aged 7 years.

Mrs. Martin returned last week with the children from a month's visit at Hibbing and Princeton, and on Monday both oldest children were taken down with scarlet fever. Friday night the little girl succumbed, and the boy, Clement, aged about 9 years, is very low. Only last summer they lost a child by sickness while visiting at Hibbing.

The two children of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Everton are down with the epidemic, and while in town from his camp Frank Voight was stricken, and he was placed in the pesthouse. There are other cases in town and the contagion is spreading so rapidly that it is feared a general epidemic will soon cover the town.

HAMMOND MAY BE CHOSEN.

Minnesota Democrat Has Chance to Be on Ballinger Committee.

Washington, Jan. 18.—Representative W. S. Hammond, the lone Democrat from Minnesota, may be assigned to the minority side of the house end on the joint committee on inquiry into the Ballinger-Pinchot controversy as a result of objections made to the assignment for this service of Representatives James of Kentucky and Rainey of Illinois.

Republicans, as well as some Democrats, declare that a blunder has been made by the Democratic caucus when it selected Messrs. James and Rainey for places on this committee. They are declared to be narrow partisans who would bend every energy to stir up trouble instead of trying to get at the facts.

Blue Laws Go Glimmering.

Dickinson, N. D., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Prospects of "Blue" laws in Dickinson have gone glimmering with the killing of ordinances before the city council. These ordinances placed bans upon all kinds of Sunday amusements, including baseball, poolrooms, theaters, etc., and after a somewhat strenuous discussion they were all voted down.

Cigar slot machines, which were also scheduled to be put out of the city, will continue in operation, a yearly license fee being prescribed.

CROOKSTON WOMAN DIES IN MINNEAPOLIS HOSPITAL.

Crookston, Minn., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Albert Harris died Sunday at a hospital in Minneapolis as the result of an operation. T. A. Harris and T. R. Johnstone left Sunday evening for Minneapolis and returned with the remains on the Great Northern Flyer yesterday morning.

The funeral services were held this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence of T. A. Harris, Rev. Mr. Hodgson and Rev. Mr. McCoy officiating.

LUMBERJACK KILLED.

Deer River, Minn., Jan. 18.—While working at Jessie Lake camp for the Itasca Lumber company Henry Weidermann was killed by a tree falling on him on Jan. 3. It was impossible to locate relatives of the man and his remains were buried here in Pine Ridge cemetery last Sunday, Jan. 9.

Calls Statement on Public Money "Waste" Ridiculously False.

Nebraskan Is Declared to Have No Foundation for Statements.

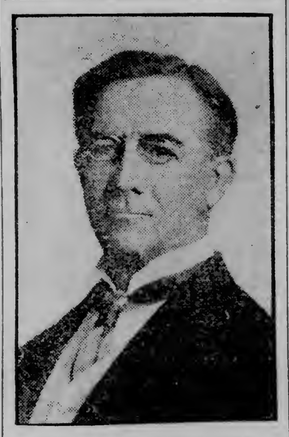

Washington, Jan. 18.—Secretary Ballinger last night, issued a lengthy statement, which, in most vigorous terms he declared the charges made by Representative Hitchcock before the house committee on expenditures, and aimed at the interior department and general land office, were without foundation in fact.

A statement was presented by Mr. Hitchcock at a meeting of the committee called to permit him to substantiate his charges of extravagances in the interior department. The committee decided to issue subpoenas on Secretary Ballinger, Commissioner Dennett of the general land office and all others interested in the charges, to appear as witnesses before the committee next Wednesday morning.

How Money Went.

The statement alleges improper use of the $1,000,000 appropriation "for the protection of the public domain against frauds," by the purchase of expensive furniture, mounting into the tens of thousands of dollars; the erection of "a certain large brick chimney for a land office at considerable expense," the employment of some eighty additional clerks, salaries increased, and in one case at least, doubled, out of this $1,000,000 fund (citing the case of Chief of the Field Service Schwarz as this instance), long telegraph bills, "which cover long extracts from the newspapers sent in by traveling representatives of the general land office, selection of special agents not at all qualified," etc.

The statement asserts that when Mr. Ballinger became commissioner of the general land office, the position he held before entering the cabinet, he reduced the salary of Law Clerk Wright so that Judge Wright's $2,000 salary "could be given to Jack Ballinger," his second cousin, not under the title of law clerk, but under the title, created by Mr. Ballinger's order, of "confidential clerk."

"Died of Humiliation."

"I have been told Wright died of disappointment and humiliation soon thereafter," says the statement.

Jack Ballinger remained a year in the service, the affidavit says, his manner of living about the time R. A. Ballinger resigned, in March, 1908, being alleged to illustrate the "reckless expenditures of the land office."

"It was announced," the affidavit goes on to say, "that young Jack Ballinger was leaving the land office to resume law practice in Seattle. In order that he might receive a final rake-off, he was designated as special temporary inspector of offices, an evident outrage on the treasury. This enabled him to draw traveling expenses from Washington to Seattle and a per diem also. Within two weeks after he reached Seattle he resigned, as understood in advance, and resumed law practice, including, of course, practice before the land office out there, and also in Washington."

Mr. Hitchcock declared this to be one of many outrages on the treasury which can be found.

Suggests Some Witnesses.

Mr. Hitchcock suggested to the committee that the following government employes be called to furnish specific information, explaining that he was "persona non grata" with the interior department and that the committee was in a better condition to obtain the facts.

J. D. Yellverton, chief of division "P," or his assistant, Bert Marshall, or Irving Rittenhouse, chief of the accounts division, general land office, concerning the purchase of desks, filing cases, etc., out of the $1,000,000 fund.

Frank Bond, chief clerk of the general land offices, concerning eighty-odd clerks performing ordinary clerical duties not connected in any way with the protection of the public domain, though so paid.

Concerning the office of chief of the field service, occupied by H. H. Schwartz, the statement alleges that position was created for Mr. Schwartz, without warrant of law, his salary being raised from $2,000 as special agent to $4,200 as chief of field service, or $700 more than his immediate superior, the assistant commissioner. His messenger's salary was raised from $720 a year to $900, it is alleged.

Thinks There Are Others.

Mr. Hitchcock suggested there were doubtless other excessive salaries and large expenditures paid out of this fund, and recommended investigation of statements made in an anonymous letter to him that declared Mr. Ballinger's system of files has "so mixed, confused, befogged the clerks, files and records that there is now absolutely no one who knows anything about anything that appertains to the office," requiring over 100 clerks against fifteen under the old system.

Special agents, says Mr. Hitchcock, have been selected from clerks at Washington, who know practically nothing of the lands of the West, nor of fraudulent methods, nor of law. He cites particularly the case of Howard L. Wilcox, appointed by Commissioner Dennett upon Schwartz's indorsement of Wilcox, recommending him as a "near-dentist."

"I have been told, as a matter of fact," added Mr. Hitchcock, "that the real reason for the appointment was that Wilcox was a bosom friend of Mr. Ucker, chief clerk of the interior department."

Would Demand Statement.

Mr. Hitchcock suggested the committee demand a statement of expenditures under the fund, and avoids reference to the question of favoritism and fraud in the land office, because, he says, they are "not questions the committee can properly investigate."

The committee will also meet next Saturday to continue the investigation.

"Mr. Hitchcock's statement," said Commissioner McGuire of the committee, "was based solely, as he said to the committee, on rumors. We are going to the bottom of the matter, and I have not detected any disposition on the part of any member of the committee to be otherwise than entirely fair to both sides."

Answering in turn each of the charges made by Mr. Hitchcock, Secretary Ballinger asserts that "insofar as they allege any extravagance, wrong-doing or faoritism on his part, they are absolutely without foundation."

"False and Ridiculous."

"False, ridiculous false; equally false—equally ridiculous; peculiarly unwarranted assault on an efficient government official," the latter sentence referring to Mr. Schwartz, chief of field service, are expressions which he used in his repudiation of the various charges.

In regard to appointing a relative, J. H. Ballinger, as confidential clerk when he became commissioner of the land office, and desired to have as confidential clerk some one whom he knew. He says that Judge Wright was removed, not to make way for J. H. Ballinger, but because Judge Wright's age, he being nearly eighty, made him "physically disqualified to perform his duties."

The vacancy on the law board, he says, was filled not by Jack Ballinger, but by Judge Gray. He says that the "certain large brick chimneys," which Mr. Hitchcook alludes to were erected pursuant to a specific appropriation for the purpose by congress; that the additional clerks in the land office complained of were necessitated by the congressional appropriation of 1,000,000 for protecting public lands, and that the charge relative to the purchase of furniture "is on a par with that relating to the employment of additional clerks."

"Appointed by Roosevelt."

Spokane, Wash., Jan. 18.—Jack Ballinger, who it is charged by Congressman Hitchcock, was favored by his second cousin, the secretary of the interior, at the expense of the government, denies ever having been given a cent through Secretary Ballinger or any other person connected with the government service, except a salary under President Roosevelt. Jack Ballinger is now at Coner d'Alene, Idaho, representing the settlers in the fight over overflowed shore lands.

"It is absolutely false that my cousin or any one else ever favored me in the government business," stated Mr. Ballinger. "I was appointed by President Roosevelt as a special examiner of land claims and contests and was detailed as private secretary to the secretary of the interior at a salary of $2,000 a year.

"The man who previously held the position died and I was appointed to fill the vacancy, so that I took no one's place. That is all there is to the affair."

DEATH FOLLOWS AN OPERATION

Mrs. M. W. Gallagher, Formerly of Duluth, Dies at Lake Linden.

Mrs. Michael W. Gallagher, who died at Lake Linden yesterday will be buried from the residence of Michael Gallagher, 840 Lake avenue south, tomorrow afternoon at 2 p. m. Rev. Alexander Milne will officiate.

Mrs. Gallagher was formerly Miss Bertha Pease of Duluth and was married to Mr. Gallagher but five months ago. Since that time they have lived in Lake Linden. She died as the result of an operation recently performed.

She is survived by a husband, mother, one sister and six brothers. The brothers are Andrew, John, William, Bert, Claude, all of Duluth and Fred of Minneapolis. The sister is Mrs. Millie Sandager of Minneapolis.

Mrs. Gallagher was but 22 years of age, and up to the time of her wedding both she and her husband had been residents of Duluth. They had many friends here.

ADMITS MURDER OF WOMAN AT POUGHKEEPSIE.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Jan. 18.—In the presence of his mother, Frank Schermerhorn, lying on his cot at Vassar hospital, last night confessed to Undersheriff Fred Hornbeck that he alone was responsible for the death of Sarah Breymer, the governess who was found strangled to death at the Compton home at Hillbrook, last Thursday morning. Schermerhorn said he was very drunk at the time and did not know what he was doing.

MOTHER'S FRIEND

A LINIMENT FOR EXTERNAL USE.

Cheerfulness and a bright disposition during the months before baby comes, are among the greatest blessings a mother can bestow upon the little life about to begin. Her happiness and physical comfort will largely govern the proper development of the health and nature of the child. Mother's Friend contributes much to the mother's happiness and health by the relief and mental comfort it affords. It is a liniment composed of penetrating oils and medicines which lubricate the muscles and tendons of the body, soothe the swollen mammary glands, cause a gradual expansion of the skin and tissues, and aid in the relief of nausea. The regular use of Mother's Friend greatly lessens the pain and danger when baby comes, and assures a quick and natural recovery for the mother. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. "NOODLES" MIXES WITH BOYS AND SCORES A HIT

New Yorker and the Duluth Newsies Quickly Become Friends.

Boys Will Be Entertained and Encouraged By the Globe-Trotter.

SAYINGS OF "NOODLES" FAGAN.

Be polite to a customer.

Never "short change" a customer.

Selling papers is as much a business as running a department store.

The boy who quits selling too soon in the evening never "makes good." The one who stays out and catches the stragglers is the one who makes the most money in the long run. At 7:30 is plenty of time to quit hustling.

Many a boy has sent himself through college by money made from selling papers after school hours.

The ladder of success has no rungs made of cigarettes.

Education is the foundation of every nation.

The newsboys of Duluth and "Noodles" Fagan became acquainted yesterday and the boys are looking forward to a great week, with "Noodles" circulating among them, scattering his "pep" and showing the boys a few tricks in disposing of their papers. For "Noodles" has been a newsboy since he could crawl and he is one yet, although he doesn't have to get out on the streets to earn his living. He likes the work, and in nearly every town he visits, he goes out for a little while some evening to sell papers in the good old New York way.

Thursday night, the boys will be entertained at the Bijou at the second performance, and after they have been entertained by "Noodles" and the other performers on the bill they will occupy special seats set aside for them, the audience will be invited to remain to see the fun. They will be invited upon the stage to take part in the performance. A newsboy carnival will be held, Marathon race, Bill Taft waddle bug and rapid fire contest; it will take some time. Every one in Duluth should be there to see the fun. It will be a regular newsboys' carnival, such as was held recently at Madison Square garden in New York. The performance at the Bijou will be proceeded by a newsboys' parade. The boys will receive their badges at the office of The Herald, Thursday, and they will meet after they dispose of their evening papers. The big parade will start from The Herald office, and every boy wearing a badge will be admitted to the Bijou free.

Saturday morning at the Bijou, "Noodles" will lecture on "Travelogues" of the World," and the public in general will be admitted by coupon, which may be cut from The Herald any evening this week. Through the courtesy of Manager J. T. Maitland and The Herald, the Bijou has been secured for the lecture and admission will be free only by coupon. The lecture will be illustrated by moving pictures and "Noodles" will give in his characteristic manner, some of his experiences in foreign parts.

Will Sell Papers.

Saturday evening "Noodles" will give a demonstration of his method of selling papers. He will go out on the street with the evening edition of The Herald and will sell papers as he did in New York for years. The proceeds will be turned back to the regular Herald newsboys.

"Noodles" makes a big hit with the boys. He knows them from the ground up, for he is one of them. Where another boy might be downed for "preaching," they listen to "Noodles'" advice with respect and they say they will follow it. As soon as he meets them he is in their good graces and they enjoy his company in the circulation room of The Herald and out on the street.

Every boy has a profound respect for "Noodles," who rose from the Bowery of New York to a successful young man. "Noodles" appeared at the Bijou last week and made a big hit. iHs make-up is clean-cut and Ted Snyder's New York songs are charming as "Noodles" sings them. His impromptu song was a big scream.

Trips Around the World.

"Noodles" has made three trips around the world. The first he began in 1895, going first to Paris en route to Madrid with a message to King Alfonso from the newsboys of New York city. He visited the principal cities of England, Ireland and Wales, selling papers in each. He showed the newsies of Paris how to shout their wares along the Bois de Boulogne and the Champs Elysees. He yelled the extras of the French capital in the Latin Quartier. He shouted German papers almost under Emperor William's ears, and was received by every European monarch whose country he visited. King Edward, Emperor William, and the French president were glad to grasp the hand of the boy who had the grit to start on a world-girdling trip and earn his way by selling newspapers.

"Noodles" delivered his message in due time to King Alfonso and received a medal. In speaking of the Spanish monarch the newsboy said: "He is to me the best of all the crowned heads of Europe. Why? Because he meets every one of his subjects on the same plane. The poor man looks just as good to Alfonso as the rich man. There is no red tape to him. If he was here he'd belong to the 'Hello, Bill' society. I've seen him in Madrid, and in Barcelona, and he would greet his subjects in the most friendly manner. He speaks good English, and when I met him the second time there was no towing. It was just 'Hello Noodles.' Can you blame me for liking Alfonso?"

On his first trip around the world, "Noodles" landed in New York one year and seven days after leaving the metropolis. He stopped en route in Australia and Hawaii, and was given a medal for completing the tour in record time, considering the places at which he stopped, and in having paid all his expenses by selling newspapers.

Second Trip Around World.

Three years after his first trip the wanderlust again seized "Noodles," and he determined on a second world's tour. This time he took a message to Oom Paul Kruger in South Africa from the newsboys of Philadelphia. He arrived at a strenuous time. The ruler of the South African affairs was found in Pretoria, and there "Noodles," presented the greetings of Philadelphia newsboys. "Noodles" was the guest of Oom Paul and his good vrou, and in his home today has several valued mementoes of his visit to the leader of the Boers. He sold papers in Pretoria, Johannesburg, Blomfontein and other South African cities, and sailed from Cape Town en route on another trip which was again to take him to Paris, through Japan, to Formosa, the Philippines and the Sandwich Islands. Before leaving Africa, "Noodles" took a trip to the interior of the Black Continent and as a member of a caravan led by a British nobleman saw the big game in the districts whre Col. Roosevelt is. This trip is one of which "Noodles" is very proud, and which he most entertainingly describes to his friends.

Third World Girdling Tour.

The third trip made by "Noodles" around the world was in 1903, when he took a message from the newsboys of New York to King Edward at his coronation in London. "Noodles" startled the staid English newsies along the Strand and Picadilly row. He woke the cabbies in Trafalgar square with a shrill cry and the American guests of the Hotel Cecil caught a familiar sound when "Noodles" yelled "Wuxtry" in front of that famous hostelry. King Edward received the message from the newsies. He took "Noodles over to Buckingham palace.

From kings and princes to Indian potentates, calico garbed rulers on semi-civilized islands to the mayor of Dublin, and the town constable in Reno, Nev., "Noodles" is known. There isn't one of them who hasn't admiration for the young man who has hustled and landed way up.

His Love for the Newsboys.

It is not strange that "Noodles" loves the newsboys and seeks to warn them against the evils which encompass them. He has organized more than one hundred newsboys' bands. He has organized more than one hundred newsboys' benevolent associations. Noodles" believes in strong muscles, and has been the organizer of many manual training clubs among newsboys. He was the originator of the "Speak Kindly Club," an organizatin unique and far-reaching in its influence among newsboys. "Noodles" believes that a boy can sell papers as well with a clean face as with a dirty one, and he is a great advocate of soap and water.

During his career as a newsboy "Noodles" has sold papers in nearly every country on the globe, and when he is home in New York spends most of his time doing something for the poor people in the great Ghetto, where there are thousands of suffering children. "Noodles" carried letters of commendation from the leading Jewish ministers and statesmen, including the Hon. Oscar Strauss, Jacob Schiff, Dr. Leonard Levi of Pittsburg, the late Dr. Herschel of Chicago, the late Dr. Isaac Wyss of Cincinnati, and hundreds of others for his great work among the poor. Hebrew children of the great Ghetto of New York. He has fed thousands. Many of the little Jewish newsboys got their start under "Noodles'" tuition. He has sold thousands of papers and turned the proceeds over to the Jewish benevolent associations, to be sent to the unfortunate Jewish children who suffered through the massacre of Kishineff. In New York for the past ten years on Christmas day "Noodles" has been the superintendent of the big Christmas dinner given to the poor along the Bowery, in which the late "Little Tim" Sullivan met the financial end. "Little Tim" always said about a week before Christmas: "Give little Fagan the money and he will get up the dinner and there will be no favorites played; all the poor boys on the Bowery will receive fair play, no matter what nationality." Thousands of New York business men owe their start to the boy to whom Richard Croker gave the nickname of "Noodles" Lawrence Clinton Fagan.

THINK SWOPE'S FRIEND MAY HAVE BEEN POISONED.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 18.—If the examination of the stomach of Col. Thomas H. Swope, now being made by Chicago physicians, reveals poison, an autopsy will be made on the body of James M. Hunton, a close friend of the dead millionaire, who died in the Swope home Oct. 1, two days prior to Col. Swope's death.

The demise of Hunton was suden and similar in many respects to that of Col. Swope. Apoplexy was given as the cause of death. Relatives of Col. Swope believe, however, that an examination of Hunton's body might aid in solving the chain of mysteries that has developed in the Swope residence.

GOTHAM GETTING GOOD?

New York, Jan. 18.—Either New York is becoming a law-abiding city, or the police are showing less vigilance in making arrests. The report of the board of city magistrates for 1909, shows 145,505 arrests, as against 175,271 for the year previous, a decrease of 29,766. Of the total number of convictions, 26,397 were American-born and 58,579 foreign-born.

HUSBAND SAVED— WIFE OVERJOYED.

Gratitude-Filled Letter Received By Boston Drink Cure Firm.

Gentlemen:—I feel it my duty to tell you how grateful I am to you for saving my husband from a drunkard's grave. My husband has drank steadily for ten years, and although at times he really seemed to make a determined effort to stop, the craving was stronger than his will-power. I had tried three advertised so-called cures, without the slightest effect; in fact, they only seemed to aggravate his appetite. A friend of mine, whose son was cured by your blessed medicine, told us about it, but it was with very little confidence that I started giving him White Ribbon Remedy. He did not realize the damage drink was doing him and his business. He was not sober long enough. Whenever I tried to talk to him about taking a remedy to relieve his appetite for liquor, he would fly into a rage and say: "Haven't you any sense at all? Why, woman, all such things are fraud." But how little he knew. It has been three weeks since he has touched a drop and our home is now so happy. I gave him all the eight boxes secretly."

The name of the writer of the above letter is, of course, withheld, because all such correspondence is kept as absolutely confidential by the White Ribbon Remedy company.

The White Ribbon Remedy is honestly made by honest people with the sincere desire to help the homes that are being injured and, perhaps, even desolated by alcohol. It is odorless, tasteless, contains absolutely no habit-forming drugs, may be administered secretly if desired. Has proven its efficacy so many times that those who earnestly desire to win the drinker from the alcohol habit may begin treatment with the utmost confidence of the beneficial results.

White Ribbon Remedy may be obtained of E. M. Tredway, 108 West Superior street, Duluth, Minn. $1.00 per box, or 6 boxes for $5.00.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

DRYS GIVEN GREAT BLOW

By Federal Supreme Court's Decision Involving North Dakota Law.

Act Upon Which Prohibition Element Relied Has Been Knocked Out.

Washington, Jan. 18.—The supreme court yesterday declared unconstitutional the law of North Dakota requiring the publication of a notice that persons within that state had taken out federal liquor licenses. The decision was rendered in the case of the state of North Dakota on the relation of R. E. Flaherty against the sheriff of Grand Forks county. Flaherty refused to pay the state fee of $10 and to publish the fact that he had taken out a federal license at Grand Forks. He was arrested and attacked the law on the ground that it was repugnant to the Federal Constitution. The state supreme court sustained the law, but the decision of that court was reversed yesterday.

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The declaration that the North Dakota law providing that holders of government liquor licenses shall make publication of the fact and register them with the auditors of the counties in which they reside is unconstitutional, which was made in the decision of the United States supreme court Monday in the case of R. E. Flaherty vs. O. G. Hanson, as sheriff of Grand Forks county, is a great blow to the prohibition element in this state. This law, passed by the state's legislative assembly in 1907, was aimed to assist the prosecutors of liquor law violators, and to that end it has worked with great success, but with the United States supreme court's decision its effect is nullified.

The law is known as chapter 189 of the laws of 1907. It was introduced by Representative Haugen of Grand Forks county and provided that all holders of liquor tax receipts must register them with the county auditors. In addition to this, they were ordered to make publication of the fact that they held such licenses, and the county auditor also published the list. Failure to comply with the law is described as a misdemeanor.

It Helped Prosecutors.

When the lists were published, the prosecuting officials were enabled to know just what places to watch for law violations. By this method they have been enabled to make a great many arrests during the past three years, but with the law declared unconstitutional this source of information is done away with.

In the Flaherty case, the plaintiff was arrested for failure to make publication of the fact that he held a license. He made application for a writ of habeas corpus, the state courts denying it, and he then appealed to the United States supreme court, where the state court decisions are reversed and the law declared unconstitutional.

GLAVIS FORMERLY WAS IN MINNESOTA

Ballinger's Accuser Was Chippewa Timber Estimator Several Years Ago.

Crookston, Minn., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—L. R. Glavis, the special agent of the interior department, who has been causing Secretary Ballinger so much trouble and has the backing of Pinchot, is known to many Northwest people. Mr. Glavis first entered the government service as an estimator of the Chippewa pine in this state several years ago, and when the headquarters of the estimators were at Fosston and Thief River Falls he often visited this city.

E. S. Wilcox of Thief River Falls, who was one of the estimators, worked with Mr. Glavis, and they camped together many months, and naturally became very well acquainted. After the work was finished in this state, Mr. Wilcox quit the service of the government, but Mr. Glavis remained and has been in the government employ until recently dismissed. The two have kept up a correspondence, however, and last week Mr. Wilcox received a long letter from Mr. Glavis from the West, who is now en route East.

PERISHED IN ALASKA.

Son of Stillwater Man Frozen to Death in North.

Stillwater, Minn., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Word has been received by Carl H. Scheela, a shoemaker on Myrtle street, indicating that his son, Walter Carl, has been frozen to death in a snow storm in Alaska.

The report came from friends in the state of Washington, who stated that they saw an item in a newspaper of that state giving an account of the death.

The father has wired to Alaska to learn the truth of the report. The son left here six or seven years ago to engage in mining near Berry, Alaska.

Young Scheela was long a resident of this city and was with Company K in the Philippine campaign.

DIES FROM EXPOSURE.

Sad Fate of Aged Man Who Faced Cold While Intoxicated.

Fergus Falls, Minn., Jan. 18.—Full reports have been received by the county authorities as to the death of Peder Olson, who was found dead in the snow Friday morning. Olson was 73 years old and quite feeble. Of late years he has been drinking to excess and Thursday night he started from Ottertail for his home in Leaf Lake in an intoxicated condition, walking the Soo railroad track. On account of his condition and also on account of the weakness of old age and feeble health, aggravated by a bad cold, he was unable to reach home, but sank in the snow and died from exposure. He was found by the section crew the next morning.

He leaves a wife who is 70 years old and a nephew who makes his home with them.

SEEKING HUGE DAMAGES.

Typewriter Salesman Sues M. & I. Road for $50,000.

Bemidji, Minn., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Minnesota & International railroad has been made defendant in a $50,000 damage suit by John C. Watson, who claims to have been permanently disabled by falling between the steps of a passenger coach and the station platform at Bemidji, Aug. 11 last.

Watson is a typewriter salesman, 24 years old. His complaint states that he boarded a passenger train at International Falls and that while alighting in the dark at the Bemidji depot he fell between the platform and the cars and sustained injuries which have permanently disabled him.

SPOONER SOCIAL EVENT.

Mrs. C. H. Dodds Entertains the Birthday Club.

Spooner, Minn., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The members of the Birthday club were entertained by Mrs. C. H. Dodds last Saturday in honor of Mrs. Dodds' birthday. Those present were: Mesdames G. Gorham, McGregor, James A. Mathieu and Miss Clara Boyson of Rainy River, A. E. Noble, B. P. Eagan, O. H. Durcks, Albert Berg, George E. Ericson and Miss Emma Ericson of Spooner.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Habstritt on Saturday, Jan. 15.

James A. Mathieu returned Monday from a business trip to Toronto. The following day he left in company with A. E. Noble for the Barious lumber camps on a tour of inspection.

Eight men employed by the Engler Lumber company of Baudette are on a strike for higher wages. They quit their work Monday morning. The men on strike are mostly Galicians.

Helie Clementson returned on Saturday morning from Duluth, where he served as witness for the government in the United States district court.

Henry Tingelum was here Monday.

BAUDETTE INSTITUTE.

Farmers of Northern Country to Gather There This Week.

Baudette, Minn., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—A farmers' institute will be held at Baudette on Friday and Saturday next at Williams hall.

Lectures and useful illustrations will be given by Messrs. F. B. McLeran of Wrenshall, Frank Gibbs of Marian Park and H. G. Larson of Berner. They will also have charge of the institute. The main topics under discussion will be soil, fertility, drainage, stump land, dairying, cultivation of potatoes, production of cheap pork, raising of clover, small fruits and poultry.

A large attendance is expected from the adjoining counties of this North country and from Roseau and Koochiching counties. The Commercial Club of Baudette will take special interest in entertaining the visitors.

LUMBERMEN MEET.

Annual Meeting of Northwestern Association On at Minneapolis.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Northwestern Lumbermen's association began a two days' annual session here today in the courthouse hall with several hundred delegates in attendance, as well as several hundred salesmen who will take this opportunity of conferring with the trade.

The most important matter to be discussed is the decision of the Pacific coast lumber manufacturers to sell odd lengths in flooring, weather boarding and ceiling. This is stated by them to be a part of the forest conservation plan, but it is considered to work a hardship on dealers who pay freight and on contractors and builders who must pay for lumber they cannot use. The decision was made without consulting the trade.

The principal speakers will be Nelson S. Darling of Oklahoma City, president of the Oklahoma Sash & Door company, and Ben R. Vardaman, associate editor of the Merchants Trade Journal of Des Moines.

KILLED BEE HUNTER

Is Charge Against Sylvester McAvoy Held at Ladysmith.

Ladysmith, Wis., Jan. 18.—Sylvester McAvoy was brought before a justice here for a hearing on a charge of murder. Ernest French left his home near Conrath Oct. 3 to go bee hunting, and three days later was found under a bee tree dead. The coroner's inquest showed that after being shot the man had been kicked in the neck with shoes having loggers' spikes. The shot was fired so close that powder burned French's clothing and some of it burned into the skin. McAvoy left the neighborhood next day and went to Ashland, when Sheriff McNally found him last week.

Oshkosh Man Cooked Alive.

Oshkosh, Wis., Jan. 18.—Being literally cooked alive was the agonizing fate Sunday morning of William Knudson, an employe at the veneer plant of the Paine Lumber company, who fell into a vat of boiling water used for soaking logs. He was 36 years of age and had been married but a short time.

How Knudson fell into the vat and how he got out has not been explained. The plant has a night crew, but operations were suspended at midnight. It is believed Knudson remained behind to clean up about the mill.

Hurt Rescuing Entombed Miner.

Negaunee, Mich., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Capt. Fred Ware of the Negaunee mine sustained a fracture of a small bone of one of his legs near the ankle and will be confined to his home for at least a month.

Capt. Ware was working with the men who were employed searching for the body of Oscar Mattila when he met with the accident.

MINE DRYHOUSE IS DYNAMITED

Unknown Motive Causes One Tragic Death Near Hurley, Wis.

Hurley, Wis., Jan. 18.—The authorities are trying to secure a clue to the perpetrators of the outrage at the Windsor mine, operated by the Odanah Iron company, one mile west of here, yesterday, when the dryhouse was blown up with dynamite, one man killed and several injured. The building was badly wrecked. The motive for the act is not known.

A man named Davis, in charge of the dryhouse, was killed instantly.

Henry Grover, mine boss, suffered a fracture of one leg and the loss of an eye. Capt. Camellio's leg was broken. Three or four Polish miners were also more or less seriously injured.

Find Fourteen Unexploded Sticks.

Fourteen sticks of dynamite, with a fuse partly burned, were found under the opposite corner of the building.

Had the explosion occurred ten minutes earlier it would have caught 100 men in the building.

Ten sticks of dynamite were found lodged in a shaft at the second level, with the fuse partly burned. Had these expieded they would have closed the only exit of the mine.

BIG LAND DEAL IN MARSHALL COUNTY

Wheeler and Culbertson Farms Are Sold for $214,500.

Warren, Minn., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Col. F. E. Greene of Stephen has just closed the biggest real estate deal in the history of Marshall county. He has sold the bonanza Wheeler & Culbertson farms in town of Augsburg, comprising 6,000 acres to John D. Henry of Hallock for a consideration of $214,500. The farms, there are two of them, are in a high state of cultivation and contain some of the best land in the county. It is the intention of the new owner to subdivide the farms into smaller ones and sell same to actual settlers.

The passing of Wheeler & Culbertson farms mark an era in the history of the county. They were established in the early days and the name is as familiar as household words to the early settlers. Hundreds of the early settlers in the county found employment on said farms and were enabled to earn ready money for the keeping of themselves and families while they were developing their own homesteads. The country now needs 160-acre farmers more than anything else.

BILLIARD TABLES BARRED.

North Dakota Laws Against Allowing Them in Fargo Y. M. C. A.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—There will be no billiard tables installed at the Y. M. C. A., at least for the present. At the adjourned meeting of the board of directors held late yesterday afternoon the members were in favor of installing the tables. Secretary Wolf of the association had been looking over the state laws, however, to find the legal status regarding billiard playing and he discovered that the Y. M. C. A. is barred at the present time from installing these tables.

"The state law reads: "It shall be unlawful for any owner or keeper of any pool or billiard hall, or any place under any name whatever where the games of pool, billiards, bowling or cards are played, to allow any person under the age of 18 or attending a local high school to either play or be allowed to visit said places, unless accompanied by parent or guardian."

In most other cities where boys are barred from pool and billiard rooms the law makes an exception for "benevolent institutions which are chartered by the state," and this removes the ban from the Y. M. C. A. and kindred associations.

DEDICATE HANCOCK CHURCH.

Memorable Exercises Bring Together Notable Clergymen.

Hancock, Mich., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—There was a notable array of Catholic clergymen in this city Sunday, called here by the exercises connected with the re-dedication of St. Joseph's Catholic church. The services began with the blessing of the church at 10 a. m. by Rt. Rev. Frederick Eis, bishop of Marquette. Solemn high mass was celebrated by Mgr. Charles Langner of Negaunee, first pastor of St. Joseph's parish, and the builder of the original church. Mgr. Langner, vicar general of the Marquette diocese, was assisted by Rev. Father A. J. Rezek of Houghton, as deacon; Rev. Father Raymond Jacques of Iron Mountain, as sub-deacon; Rev. Father A. Wollny of Calumet as master of ceremonies, and Rev. Father T. J. Attfield of St. Patrick's parish, Hancock, as priest at the bishop's throne.

The high mass was followed by a sermon by Bishop Eis, who, prior to his elevation, officiated as a pastor of St. Joseph's. Special music was furnished for the occasion by the full church choir.

ALLOTMENT AFTER YEARS.

Fargo Indian Woman to Secure Piece of Land After Long Wait.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Waiting thirty-five years, during which time she has been a resident of Fargo, Mrs. Carrie Rosebery is now preparing to secure an allotment of land from the government. She is an Indian woman, the wife of a local carpenter.

Recently she learned by submitting proof of her tribal relations and showing that she has never received an allotment of land, she would be entitled to one.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Hancock—The directors of the First National bank have re-elected for the ensuing year the following officers: President, August Mette; vice president, A. J. Scott; cashier, W. R. Thompson; assistants, M. M. Shea, J. C. Condon.

Houghton—John Frostad of Redridge, paint boss for the Baltic Mining company at that place, was in Houghton Saturday en route to New York, at which port he will take the Lusitania for Europe. He is going to visit his parents at Trondhjem, Norway.

Lake Linden—L'Anse high school was victorious in both of the basket ball games played at Lake Linden Saturday evening against the highs of that town. The girls won, 20 to 15, and the boys, 38 to 15. The halves of the two games were played alternately.

Hancock—There will be but three more attractions at the Kerredge theater this month. On Jan. 24 and 25 the Elks' minstrel show will be on the boards. On Wednesday, Jan. 26, occurs the Person-Wirtanen-Gronlund wrestling match at the theater. On Jan. 31 "A Winning Miss" is booked.

Rockland—A depth of about 360 feet has been attained in the new Adventure shaft. Last Summer, in diamond drilling, the company intersected three lodes, the first one at a depth of 900 feet. This shaft, when completed, will serve all three lodes, but until a vertical depth of 900 feet is reached there will probably be no drifting attempted.

Calumet—President Frank H. Schumaker of the village of Red Jacket has stated to friends that he will again be a candidate for the presidency, running at the caucus and the polls this spring, if the voters of the town show they want him. Mr. Schumaker has filled the office for several terms, and the taxpayers and other residents of the town have every faith in his integrity.

Lake Linden—The funeral of Mrs. Martha Roberts was held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, services over the remains of the deceased woman being held in the Methodist church, of which she was a member for a number of years. Rev. H. C. Shaw, pastor of the church, officiated at the ceremonies.

Marquette—Marquette aerie, No. 1128, Fraternal Order of Eagles, is making arrangements for its annual ball, to be held at Fraternity hall the evening of Feb. 2.

Negaunee—The funeral of John Grandy, who was killed in the Prince of Wales mine of the Regent group, Friday evening, was held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Services were conducted at the Mitchell Methodist church by Rev. Plannett, the pastor.

Ishpeming—Alma, the nine-year-old daughter of Peter Martin of Divitt, died Friday evening of diphtheria. The funeral was held Saturday afternoon, with interment in the Ishpeming cemetery.

Calumet—The twenty-fifth anniversity of the establishment of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows in the Copper country will be celebrated Jan. 26 by Hecla lodge, No. 90 of Calumet. Judge W. Kerr will be the principal speaker on the program, which will be musical and literary in its nature and will attract all Fellows from all parts of the country.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Green Bay—Carl Manthy of Green Bay won first place in the winter tournament of the Fox River Valley Skat league, held here Sunday in which 117 players participated.

Oshkosh—A middle-aged man who registered at the Tremont hotel here as T. Olson, but who is believed to be Thomas Nilson, whose home may be at Oconto, shot himself fatally Sunday, three times with a revolver. Two of the shots entered the region of the stomach, and one took effect just above the heart.

Madison—Governor Davidson and daughter, Mrs. Frederick C. Inbusch, have left for Washington to pass a week or more. Upon personal invitation of President Taft they will dine at the executive residence Wednesday.

Eau Claire—William Miller, aged 71, died at Angus, Wis., Friday night. Death was caused by heart trouble. The remains were brought to this city to the home of his daughter, Mrs. H. J. Kneer, 114 Cochrane street. The funeral was held Monday at 2 p. m.

La Crosse—Bangor's village blacksmith, John G. Jenkins, who established the first shop there fifty-five years ago, is dead. Two weeks ago he worked in his shop without heating it, due to the coal famine, and pneumonia developed. He was 77 years old.

Grand Rapids—James Miller, one of the oldest and best known settlers in this county, died at his home on Saturday, the cause of his death being cancer of the stomach.

Eau Claire—The stockholders of the Eau Claire County Telephone company raised the capital stock of the company from $5,000 to $10,000. The matter of improving the service was also taken up.

Ashland—There has been unexpected delay in getting the machinery for the new paper mill and the plant may not be in operation for two months more. The mill building is entirely completed.

Fond du Lac—The Doyle Glove factory, the largest concern in North Fond du Lac, is doing a great business. Five electric modern sewing machines are being installed in the plant.

Sparta—The Sparta glove factory is to resume operations after ten months' idleness. The factory was started by local capitalists in January, 1909, and after running two months was shut down.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Edmore, N. D.—No inquest was held over the remains of Miss Mary Ulstad, the maiden woman whose dead body was found a few miles from Edmore. She had been frozen to death while en route to her farm home from this city.

Fargo, N. D.—Judge Pollock began the winter term of the district court here Monday. The fall term which ran up till the holidays, cleared up the criminal calendar and only civil matters will be considered by the jury.

Minot, N. D.—Considering their stay in the Ward county jail for contempt of court no less than martyrdom, Mrs. Dora Lucksinger and her son, John Lucksinger, have been released upon the orders of Judge Davis.

Devils Lake, N. D.—The new Carnegie library of this city is opened to the public. The library is one of the finest in the state and will fill a long felt want in Devils Lake.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Wesley College Conservatory begins the year with a record of a remarkable growth, showing in fact an increase of 50 per cent over last year. Never in the history of this excellent school has the registration reached such a figure at this time of the season.

Minot, N. D.—An isolated tract of fifty-three acres, located in township 152, range 89, near Plaza, was sold Saturday morning at the local land office for the highest price that any of the tracts sold so far. There were three bidders from Minnesota and a number from this section of the state. A North Dakota man landed the tract at $11.75 per acre.

Grand Forks, N. D.—The University Glee club, which is composed of sixteen of the best male voices of the university, is progressing very rapidly and is to be the best club the university has had for several years. Last year the club was composed of twelve men under the direction of Prof. Geo. A. Stout.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Grand Marais—Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Babb have returned from Duluth, accompanied by Mrs. M. E. Durfee, who has been sick at St. Mary's hospital for the past six weeks. She is steadily gaining in strength.

Brainerd—John C. Congdon has received a letter from his brother, William Congdon, of Gresham, Wash., who states that they are having a very hard winter there. He says that all of November was cold and rainy and that for three weeks in December there was a very cold east wind which was very disagreeable and most of the farmers are unable to do any work except their chores.

Fergus Falls—The work on the waterworks dam has been progressing nicely and will be completed in about two weeks. Cribbing has been put in and this is being filled with dirt and stone to form a solid embankment. The weather this winter has been favorable for work and very little time has been lost since the work was started.

Deer River—Following is the list of orations that will be given by the pupils of the high school in the assembly hall the coming week: Hazel Robinson, "What a Title Will Do In America;" Archer Martin, "Robert Burns;" Dora Seaman, "Polygamy;" Michael Guttry, "First Continental Congress;" Susie Knowlton, "Men Made Rich by the Poverty of Christ." Crookston—Attorney Elias Raehle of Willmar, the legislative superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Minnesota, arrived in the city Friday and that evening left for Perley and Hendrum, where he made addresses.

Stillwater—Charles Porterfield has been committed to the state prison from Hennepin county under a sentence of a year for indecent assault.

Badger—The directors of the Scandinavian-American State bank at their annual meeting re-elected officers for the ensuing year as follows: T. Anderson, president; Walther Anderson, vice president; K. T. Wang, cashier; Miss Lydia Anderson, assistant cashier.

Roseau—Andrew Elliott of Roseau and George Elliott of Russell, N. D., brothers, met last week after twenty years' separation, each thinking the other dead. The reunion of the brothers at the Hotel Elliott last week was a happy one.

Wahkon—Two of the Mayo children, living northeast of town, came down with diphtheria last Thursday night. They are improving steadily and no serious consequences are feared.

Aitkin—Work on county ditch No. 14, which is located north of Tamarack, was completed last week, and the dredge with which the work was done was with difficulty brought back to Tamarack, it being necessary to scoop up blocks of ice twenty-two inches in thickness, which obstructed the progress of the boat. E. W. Dotten of the Aitkin Dredge company had charge of this work.

Warren—H. E. Boardman, an old resident, died at his home in this city on Saturday morning, Jan. 8, in his 69th year. The funeral was held under the auspices of the Masonic lodge on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. An appropriate funeral sermon was preached by Rev. A. A. Myers.

Now You Need Not Suffer From Catarrh

(From Vienna Abendpost.)

At the recent convention held by the Physicians and Surgeons of Vienna, many present being men well known in the profession, one topic of interest that brought about much discussion was that of catarrh, its rapid increase and results.

Prof. Herman Von Schelt, a well known general practitioner, surprised those present with his experience with the disease, for a disease it is. He stated that in the past two years he has been able, through the use of a simple drug called vintox, to treat successfully almost every case that came under his care.

It seems that this vintox, according to Prof. Von Schelt, has already found its way to America and can be bought in any drug store.

"Every sufferer of catarrh," says the doctor, "can readily obtain relief from two ounces of vintox dissolved in a pint of water. Just gargle a little 4 or 5 times a day and pour some in the palm of the hand and snuff it up the nose."

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY.

There is a pleasure in the pathless woods;
There is a rapture on the lonely shore;
There is society, where none intrudes,
By the deep sea, and music in its roar.
I love not man the less, but nature more.

THE WATER AND LIGHT BOND ISSUE.

At the city election Feb. 1 the voters will pass upon nine amendments to the city charter, and also upon a proposed issue of $200,000 to be used in extending the city water and light service.

It is to be hoped that the tremendous excitement of the mayoralty election will not obscure this important matter in the minds of the voters.

The question submitted to the voters on the ballot will be: "Shall bonds be issued to the amount of $200,000 for the purpose of extending the water and light plant?" The real question, however, will be this: "Shall Duluth keep its water and light plant abreast of the growth of the city?"

The bond issue is necessary if this growing city is to be supplied with gas and water. The expansion of the city is so rapid, these days, that it is impossible to keep the service abreast of it by the ordinary methods. Usually extensions are made out of earnings, and ordinary extensions still are being made that way. But satisfactory though these earnings are, they cannot provide extensions that will keep pace with the present development of the city. For instance, there will be a small city, presently, about the site of the new steel plant, and that small city must have gas and water. Yet ordinary earnings are not great enough to extend the service so far; so a bond issue is needed to make these extensions, and others of smaller size.

This should be borne in mind: though the taxpayers vote these bonds, they do not pay for them, nor the interest upon them. The service must pay for that. When an extension is made out of the proceeds of these bonds, the property served must guarantee earnings amounting to 8 per cent upon the cost. These earnings will take care of the bonds, as well as the cost of providing water and gas.

It is very important that the voters should authorize this bond issue. The city can hardly grow unless the water and light service keeps pace with its growth. The water and light service cannot keep pace unless the department has money with which to make the extensions. The only way the department can get the money it needs for this purpose is through the proposed bond issue, and it cannot get it in that way unless a majority of those voting at the election vote "yes" on the bond issue.

Remember to vote "yes" on the bond issue. It will not cost you a cent, and if the bond issue fails the cost to the community will be great. Bonds will be issued only as they are needed, and then only when returns great enough to take care of them are guaranteed. Those who live in the new territory being developed will pay for these bonds; but they cannot settle in that new territory unless the water and light service is extended to them, and this cannot be unless the bond issue is approved.

THE ST. LOUIS COUNTY CLUB.

St. Louis county is a vast and magnificent empire, with wealth and potentialities of wealth that many states might envy. Chief among these potential sources of wealth is the soil; and the soil is the resource that has been least drawn upon of any: yet it is the one whose development is needed more sorely than any.

The St. Louis County club, as the effective concentration of the forces in each community that are working for the common good, has a large field of usefulness before it, and right well is it attacking its duties. That it should concern itself chiefly with agricultural development is fitting, for there are agricultural possibilities in all parts of the county, and it is important to all parts of the county that these possibilities be realized as speedily as may be.

Nor are the energies of this club to be confined to St. Louis county alone. Duluth and the iron range communities need to be fed by nearby soil. From an economic viewpoint it matters little whether this home-grown food comes from the soil of St. Louis county or that of adjoining counties. Therefore nearby counties are represented at today's meeting of the St. Louis County club, and all will work in harmony for the development of the rich soil of Northeastern Minnesota and for the establishment of market places where its products may be sold. These points being clear, it is hardly necessary to add that the meetings of the St. Louis County club which begin tonight are exceedingly important.

THE NEW SPIRIT.

The annual report of Health Commissioner F. J. Patton, just issued, is typical of modern documents of its character, and of the marked change in their character that has come about of recent years.

The old style of health report was largely statistical, when there was any report at all—for the publication of statistics is comparatively a recent development of civilization. So many people died during the year of such and such diseases; that was about all there was to it. The blame for the deaths was laid at the doors of Providence. Nowadays, besides the statistics, there are pregnant reflections, and the blame is not laid upon Providence, but upon those ugly brats of Satan's, Ignorance and Neglect. The deaths from typhoid were due to bad hygiene, bad sanitation, bad water or bad milk. The deaths from pneumonia and consumption were due to bad living conditions, lack of nourishment and fresh air, and, in the case of consumption, to failure to guard against contagion. Deaths from heart disease and kidney ailments were due, in large measure, to improper personal habits, in the forming of which intemperance in eating and intemperance in drinking went hand in hand. Infantile mortality was due to bad and insufficient nourishment.

The old health report was fatalistic and pessimistic. It was the will of God that so many people should die each year of certain diseases. The new report is optimistic and hopeful. It is not by the will of God that men sicken and die of the commoner ills, but by the neglect of the individual and of society.

So the modern health report has meaning; it is a warning and a signpost pointing the way to better things. If there is too much typhoid fever—and a single case is too much—the water and milk supply and sanitary conditions must be scrutinized. If there is too much consumption—and there will too much so long as there is a single victim—the people must be taught to give themselves plenty of fresh air and to keep their bodies in a condition to resist disease.

Incidentally, a reduction in the number of deaths from tuberculosis from 105 in 1908 to 68 in 1909 shows what has been done to combat this peril, and gives encouragement to those who are seeking to keep the fight at a maximum of efficiency. Also, an annual death rate of 9.9 persons in each 1,000, such as Duluth has shown in the past two years, is small compared with most other cities. Yet it can be lowered still more by effective hygienic and sanitary regulation.

FEEDING DULUTH.

So great is the need of such a plan as that proposed by John G. Williams to solve the problem of cheaper living in Duluth that there really is but one question—that of practicality; and that question is being settled by an examination of the scheme that is far more minute and business-like than almost any investor thinks of giving to a mining venture into which he puts his money.

There is no longer any doubt about why the cost of living is higher in Duluth than it is elsewhere: it is because Duluth has to import its food instead of growing most of it near by, as other communities do. Duluth was established not as a result of the development of an agricultural community, as most cities are established; it grew up at the Head of the Lakes because of the splendid opportunities for shipping that were offered here, and because of the wealth of timber and minerals that was being exploited. Until now, the matter of raising food on nearby soil has been neglected. Now it is being taken up, and the movement deserves the whole-hearted support of every citizen.

There is no question of the market: for a long time to come Duluth will furnish a peculiarly avid and unusually profitable market for all that market-gardeners, dairymen, fruit growers and poultry raisers can produce.

There is no question of the soil: nowhere else is such fertile soil available so close to such a market. The soil is rich, and it grows uncommonly fine vegetables and small fruits in uncommon profusion. Clover is a weed, and every expert authority declares that nowhere can dairying be carried on to better advantage than near Duluth.

There are difficulties in the way. The land is covered with timber and undergrowth, and it costs money to clear it. The products have to be hauled to market, and that must be made easy. There must be a market place where buyer and seller can meet to advantage, and that must be provided. All these difficulties are covered by the plans now pending; and to carry them out means profit to those who invest their money in them, but, what is of infinitely more importance, it also means great profit to the community in cheaper living. That means easier conditions for labor, and easier conditions for labor mean easier conditions for employers—which comes, in the end, to the biggest possible impetus to manufacturing industries that could be imagined.

THE ROLE OF GOAT.

There are two chief points of interest in the present session of congress: the president's program of legislation and the fight of the insurgents to shake the hold of Cannonism upon the liberties of a representative body.

Recent reports from the capital show that the insurgents need have a care lest the president's program be ditched, and they be given the credit for ditching it.

It must not be supposed for a moment that whatever they have told the president, the members of the "organization," of whom the president is taking advice and counsel, are crazy about putting through any progressive legislation, even legislation so sluggishly progressive as that proposed by the president. On the contrary, they believe firmly in "letting well enough alone," as they would put it themselves, and they will seek anxiously for excuses for defeating the president's proposals.

If they can make it appear that the defeat of the president's measures is due to the "obstruction" of the insurgents—and be sure they will try mightily so to contrive it—they will have the excuse they seek. Having been taken into the confidence of the president, and having been given his support, they cannot oppose his measures openly; but it is not to be imagined, for that reason, that they are any more in sympathy with progress than they have been. If they can conceive a plan of accomplishing secretly what they dare not do openly, they will gladly carry it out; and if the insurgents do not have a care, they will be forced into playing the role of goat.

Suggesting that the insurgents be on their guard against this does mean that they should abandon their fight against Cannon and Cannonism. It does not even mean that they must swallow whole the president's measures. By all means they should keep up their fight against Cannon, and expose his tyrannical misuse of power at every opportunity. They should scrutinize the president's measures as carefully as they would if they came from Aldrich or Cannon. If wrong, they should oppose them; if they can be improved by amendment, they should offer such amendments and fight for them. But they shouldn't permit the organization to scuttle the president's fair cargoes of legislation and lay the blame upon the insurgents. It would be bad for them and bad for their cause if they did.

Congressman Miller, chief complainant about the administration's distribution of patronage, lunched yesterday at the right hand of the president. Expectant Eighth district office seekers will breathe easier.

THE OPEN COURT.

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about live topics of general interest. Letters should not exceed 200 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

THE SWITCHMEN'S CASE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I wish you would kindly give a little space in your paper for the following regarding the switchmen's strike:

Mayor D. W. Lawler of St. Paul, Minn., who has been retained by the switchmen who are fighting arbitration to a finish, in a statement issued on this subject, explains their reasons for refusing to arbitrate their differences with the railroad managers under the provisions of the Erdman act, as follows:

The railroad managers' committee, fully realizing the force of public opinion and fearing it, is making a concerted effort through newspaper items to charge the switchmen with unfairness because they have declined to submit to arbitration under the Erdman act. The switchmen could easily retort by saying truthfully that the managers are in no position to make this complaint, for the reasons that the managers from the very commencement of the controversy have refused to make any advances or consider any suggestions relative to an increase in wages. With regard, however, to arbitration under the Erdman act, anybody who reads that statute will readily understand why the switchmen have consistently refused to proceed under it. It is a very catchy and talking proposition to claim that where two parties have a controversy they should be willing to submit to arbitration. The arbitration provided for under the Erdman act, however, is hedged about with legal provisions which would strip the switchmen of all power to legitimately press their claims, and it would put them completely in the power of the railroads. Admitting that the decision were favorable to the switchmen, the railroad companies under section 4 of the Erdman law could within ten days after the filing of the award in the clerk's office of the circuit court of this district, file exceptions and take an appeal to the circuit court, and if the decision still went against them they could take an appeal to the circuit court of appeals. This would delay the final decision for a period of from one to two years. It would be unlawful for the switchmen or any member of the switchmen's union to strike or in any way aid a strike.

Under the first provision of section 3 of the act, it is provided: That, pending the arbitration, the status existing immediately prior to the dispute shall not be changed. This means that during the period just mentioned the switchmen would be compelled to work at the old schedule of wages and under all conditions of which they complain. In other words, if the switchmen were to put their heads in this noose they would be compelled to accept the present schedule and present conditions for a period of from one to two years, and would surrender the right to strike during that time.

President Taft, when a judge, said in one of his famous decisions that the right to strike is one of the most precious rights of manhood and citizenship.

In view of the operation of the arbitration clause of the Erdman act the switchmen would be untrue to themselves and to those whom they represent if they accepted it. The moment the public understands that the switchmen have not refused arbitration, but have refused arbitration under the Erdman act, and have refused to commit suicide, the attempt of the managers' committee to enlist public opinion against the switchmen will fail.

HOW BREAD IS HANDLED.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I have been interested in watching the way bread—bakery bread—is handled as it is carried from the bakery wagons into the small corner grocery stores, and I must say the sight is most revolting and the system ought to be prohibited by law if health and cleanliness are of municipal concern. I buy all my bread but after what I have seen from my window, I do not buy it at the corner grocery store but at the bakery itself, where it at least gets less handling by careless drivers. Why should there not be a law that all bread should be wrapped and sealed in packages at the bakery before it is allowed to leave the bakery at all? A certain bakery wagon stops across the street; the driver pulls and throws the bread around as though the loaves were cabbages. The baskets are thrown onto the ground near the wagon and the bread tossed into them, alighting where it will. The driver meanwhile stands over it smoking a cigar. At times I have seen him carry the bread on his arm like sticks of wood, his coat sleeve constantly rubbing over the loaves.

It is very disgusting and ought to be prohibited in some way.

The Evening Newspaper.

Topeka State Journal: Printer's Ink, a publication which has come to be considered as an authority on things pertaining to the newspaper and printing world, presents some irrefutable arguments in a recent issue in support of the reasonable contention that the evening newspaper is the more valuable one in the dissemination of the news of the day while it is news; that people have the more leisure to read it and therefore it is the best possible medium for advertisers. In the course of an article on the relative values of the morning and afternoon newspapers, Printer's Ink says:

"The day is ended. Fortunes have been won and lost. Statesmen and soldiers, writers, adventurers have done the deeds of the day; and night has fallen. The news has been gathered by a marvelous system from all continents. It has been sifted, arranged, illustrated, commented upon, printed and published and is served hot from the press, still palpitating, as it were, with the action of the events recorded, interesting and startling with the freshness and excitement of the present. Readers over their soup learn what had happened in the wide world while they have been busy, each in his little round of duties toiling in his shop, arguing his case in court, earning his daily bread. They sit at ease and read at leisure. The evening is ahead of them and a needed rest after the fatigues of the daylight hours will cap it all.

"Fourteen hours later, while he bolts his breakfast with one eye on the clock and a brain already busy with cares of the day, the morning paper is handed the citizen. If he has time to read the headlines he is doing well. In the night he has leisure to think of the affairs of the human race; in the morning he must think only of his private affairs."

The Naughty Litte Motor.

'Twas a very little boy
Had a pretty litle toy—
'Twas a little yellow motor with a shiny scarlet wheel.
When the motor wouldn't go
Little Bobbie muttered, "O!
When I ask you you had ought to, yes you'd ought-to-mobile!"

But the balky little imp
Wouldn't run, and wouldn't limp,
And it paid no least attention to the little boy's appeal;
And the laddie cried, "Alack!"
As he thumped it on the back.
'You're a naughty little autey, yes a naughty-mobile!"

—A. Sufferan Mann in Harper's Weekly.

A Happy World.

If you and I—just you and I—
Should laugh instead of worry;
If we should grow—just you and I—
Kinder and sweeter hearted.
Perhaps in some near by and by
A good time might get started.
Then what a happy world 'twould be
For you and me—for you and me.

THE WEATHER.

CLOUDY

The cold snap saved the ice for the curlers. It came just in time, and this morning broke clear and cold.

A year ago today it was fair and mild.

The sun rose this morning at 7:43, and will set at 4:59 making nine hours and two minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Barometric disturbances of considerable intensity are central this morning over Lake Huron and Alberta. During the past twenty-four hours these depressions caused rain or snow in the lake region, North Atlantic states, the Ohio and Mississippi valleys and the greater portion of the Northwest, besides higher temperatures in Gulf and Atlantic states and the extreme Northwest. A strong area of high pressure central over Nevada has caused colder weather in the Southwest, the Mississippi, Red river and lower Missouri valleys and Western Lake Superior. Zero temperatures prevail in North Dakota, Northern Minnesota and Manitoba. Moderately cold weather may be expected at the Head of the Lakes tonight, followed by warmer Wednesday."

Following were the maximum temperatures for the last twenty-four hours and the minimum for the last twelve ending at 7 a. m.:

The Word That Was Not Too Late.

In the chill and ghostly shadows of the dreary night, a man
Stood and fought as fierce a battle as a hero ever can.
Face to face with sin he wavered in the grim and bitter fight,
As the strongest will, when tempted, as this wanderer was that night.

"Why this doubt and hesitation?" said the tempter to his heart.
"In this great, o'ercrowded city not a soul would take your part.
Not a hand would reach to help you if you sought the city through.
Little, nothing, does it matter what becomes of such as you.

"What if this to what I urge you brings to others grief and pain?
Have they pity for your troubles? Have your pleadings not been vain?
Hearts are hard and cold and cruel. They would crush you in the fight.
With the hands of men against you, anything for you is right."

"No one cares," the man repeated, as he wandered to and fro,
With the tempter in the darkness, beside him made him start.
No one cares for me, an outcast!" O, what words could sadder be?
In the shadows gathered round him, in the dreary street and wild.
"In the world of men and women not a creature cares for me."
With her hand held out toward him, there he saw a little child.

As the cry so sad and bitter with the pain that thrilled his heart
Fell upon the night, a footstep close "You- forget," she whispered softly, "when you said that no one cared," beside him made him start.
And the little hand seemed reaching for the heart by sin ensnared,
"You forget, for God cares for you," and the child smiled up at him
With a face so full of pity that his eyes with tears grew dim.

"Little girl," he answered, softly, as he bent to touch her cheek,
"Did God send you out to find me, words like these of yours to to speak?"
Yes, I know He sent this message to a soul in bitter need:
From the very brink of ruin I will follow where you lead."

O, for all earth's poor and friendless who are giv'n no loving word,
Let our hearts, grown cold and careless, unto helpful deeds be stirred.
Loving words to those sore tempted oft might make them strong and brave,
And, as did the child's sweet message, wavering souls from ruin save.
—Eben E. Rexford.

The Tale That Taft Told.

Uncle Remus' Magazine: While spending the winter in Georgia, before his inauguration as president, Mr. Taft went to the city of Athens to deliver an address to the students of the University of Georgia. He met a member of the faculty—a staunch Democrat—who said:

"Judge, I voted the Democratic ticket, but wanted to see you win."

Judge Taft replied:

"You remind me of the story of Brer Jasper and Brer Johnson, who were both deacons in the Shilo Baptist church, although avowed enemies.

"Brer Jasper died and the other deacons told Brer Johnson he must say something good about the deceased on Sunday night. At first he declined, but finally consented.

"Sunday night, when time for the eulogy arrived, he arose slowly and said: 'Brederen and Sisteren, I promised ter say somp'n good 'bout Deacon Jasper tonight, an' I will say we all hopes he's gone whar we knows he ain't.'"

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Taken From the Columns of The Herald of This Date, 1890.

Cassius M. Lounsberry is in the city, having just been discharged from the Northern Pacific sanitarium at Brainerd. He was severely injured in a railroad wreck last year while engaged as chief railway postal clerk, and the Northern Pacific road made him an offer of $8,000 in settlement, which he accepted. Assistant Postal Clerk Evans, who was slightly injured, received $1,500.

Col. Ethelbert L. Dudley, vice president and general manager of the St. Paul & Duluth railway, died at his rooms in the Hotel Ryan, St. Paul, last night. He was stricken with laryngeal paralysis a week ago and apoplexy followed. Col. Dudley was born in Danville, Ky., Jan. 15, 1845, and was in the railway service since 1867. He became general manager of the St. Paul & Duluth in 1888. At his death bed were his son, Harry; his sister, Mrs. L. D. Garth of St. Louis; his niece, Mrs. Von Wedelstedt; Dr. N. B. Carson of St. Louis, his family physician, and Col. R. S. Hayes of Philadelphia, president of the St. Paul & Duluth.

The board of education has appointed Miss French to teach cooking to the juveniles at $40 a month.

The property owners of that portion of the Third division claimed by Frederick Prentice held a meeting yesterday, at which it was decided to begin suit against Prentice to quiet title and to carry this suit to the end. M. R. Baldwin, G. G. Hartley and L. M. Willcuts were appointed a committee to see the interested property owners and raise $25,000 for the purpose of pushing the suit.

J. C. Morse of the Minnesota Iron company and Mrs. A. C. Ely, his daughter, have been in the city this week.

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

Best Liked When Best Known.

Paynesville Press (Rep.): The argument that C. W. Stanton is not available as a Democratic candidate for governor on the ground that he is unknown in the southern part of the state will hardly hold water. Mr. Stanton was born and raised in the good old county of Goodhue, and the people down there swear by him.

Fair Warning.

Two Harbors Journal-News: When St. Louis county attempts to move our county line over the other side of a few of our iron mines she will discover that her offspring, Lake county, has grown to be a husky youngster and can "go some" in the scrapping game.

Rob's Opinion.

Princeton Union: In a letter to a friend at New Ulm, John Lind unequivocally declares that he will not be a candidate for the office of governor or any other office, and the declaration is in such terms that it will be accepted as final.—Marshall News-Messenger.

At the present time probably John Lind has no desire to again become governor, but at the same time it is the opinion of every thoughtful Democrat that one meets that when the Democratic state convention convenes next August his will be the only name mentioned in connection with the governorship, without requesting or receiving his consent the convention will nominate him and adjourn and he will make the race. No matter who his opponent may be, at least, the result will be doubtful until the votes are counted.

Steenerson's Treachery.

Fergus Falls Wheelock's Weekly: Congressman Steenerson again shows the hollowness of his protestations of loyalty to the people of his district in his vote in support of Speaker Cannon as to the appointment of the committee of investigation which Cannon wished to appoint, and which the "insurgents" were determined that he should not appoint. The insurgents won, but Steenerson was not among them. He stood by the speaker and in line with every trust and corporate interest that is represented in congress.

What Mr. Aldrich Does Is Right.

Sauk Rapids Sentinel-Free Press: President Taft sent in a special message to congress the other day on matters of interstate commerce. If all his suggestions were enacted into laws it would work a revolution in the industrial affairs of the nation and America would become a veritable Utopia. But alas, we fear the figure must end there. In fact, judging from past experience with Mr. Taft, the country would be justified in looking for the directly opposite effect. For didn't President Taft send a message to congress last spring advising a lower tariff? And didn't congress send him back a bill giving the nation a higher tariff? which he took to his manly bosom and proclaimed to the world to be his very own! And now when President Taft advises congress to curb the trusts may we not expect Messrs. Aldrich and Cannon to send him back a bill giving free rein to all the trusts on earth? and will Mr. Taft not take this too to his breast—and fondly christen it "the best anti-trust law ever enacted!"

Quo Vadis.

Elk River Star-News: The Republican congressional committe has announced that it will oppose the principles of insurgency and will advocate the nomination of regular and loyal Republicans. This means that any congressman having individual opinions on public questions will be opposed by the organization. Whither are we drifting?

Principles, Not Offices.

Foley Independent: The people of the West (God's country) don't care a continental whether the insurgents are recognized by the administration or not. We fight for principles, not offices, out this way.

Bill's in Trouble.

I've got a letter, Parson, from my son away out West,
An' my old heart is heavy as an anvil
in my breast.
To think the boy whose futur' I had once so proudly planned,
Should wander from the path o' right
an' come to sich an end!
I told him when he left us only three short years ago,
He'd find himself a plowin' in a mighty crooked row—
He'd miss his father's counsel, an' his mother's prayers, too,
But he said the farm was hateful, an'
he guessed he'd have to go.
I know that's big temtation for a youngster in the West,
But I believed our Billy had the courage to resist.
An' when he left I warned him o' the everwaitin' snares,
That you find like hidden sarpints in life's pathway everywheres.
But Bill he promised faithful to be keerful, and allowed
He'd build a reputation that'd make us mighty proud.
But it seems as how my counsel sort
o' faded from his mind,
An' now the boy's in trouble o' the very wurstest kind.
His letters come so seldom that I somehow sort o' knowed
That Billy was a-trampin' on a mighty rocky road.
But never once imagined he would bow
my head in shame,
An' in the dust'd waller his ol' daddy's honored name.
He writes from out in Denver, an' the story's mighty short:
I just can't tell his mother; it'll crush
her poor ol' heart:
An' so I reckon, Parson, you might break the news to her—
Bill's in the Legislatur', but he doesn't say what fur.

The Four Flies.

Youth's Companion: In the course of a disquieting article on the subject of food adulteration, a writer in the German weekly, Die Gartenlaube, drops into allegory. Americans who read it congratulate themselves that things are now different in this country.

There were once four flies which made their way into a certain pantry, and determined to have a feast.

One flew to the sugar and ate heartily; but he soon died, for the sugar was full of white lead.

The second chose the flour as his diet, but he fared no better, for the flour was loaded with plaster of paris.

The third sampled the syrup, and his six legs were presently raised in the air, for the syrup was colored with aniline dyes.

The fourth fly seeing all his friends dead, determined to end his life also, and drank deeply of the fly poison which he found in a convenient saucer.

He is still alive and in good health. That, too, was adulterated.

A MOMENT WITH THE WITS.

Washington Star: "Did you secure an autograph from Mr. Dustin Stax?"

"Yes," answered the girl with the album.

"Is there anything characteristic about it?"

"I should say so. He put his signature as close to the top of the page as possible so that nobody can write anything over it."

Metropolitan Magazine: They are telling this story of the late Senator McCarren: On the second day of his illness his nurse took his temperature and the senator asked her what it showed.

"It's 99½," was the reply.

"When it gets to 100 sell," rejoined the patient.

Yonkers Statesman: "Now, my little boy, I suppose your father said he would give you something if you pulled out all those weeds?" asked the old gentleman, over the fence, to the lad in the garden.

"No," was the feeling reply, "but pop said he'd give me something if I didn't pull 'em out!"

Pittsburg Post: "Are you interested in these aviators?"

"Intensely. I watched one this morning who was an adept. He rose, dipped, circled, turned corners and alighted without trouble and without a mishap.

"Well, well! He must have been a bird."

"He was, of the sparrow variety."

Chicago Record-Herald: "Look here," said the head of the firm. "I want to give you a pointer."

"Yes, sir," the office boy respectfully replied.

"If I hear you humming any more popular songs around here, I'll discharge you."

"All right, I won't do it no more. I wouldn't have done it this time, only me lips is sore and I can't whistle."

Chicago Record-Herald: "Pa, did you ever hear of a real case of poetic justice?"

"Yes. A man who once swindled me out of $600 in an irrigation scheme died of water on the brain."

Pittsburg Post: "What is this?" inquired the dealer.

"That's a cigar stump," explained the Christmas shopper. "One of the kind my husband smokes. I want to match it. Got anything in that shade?"

Washington Star: "Ma'am, here's a man at the door with a parcel for you."

"What is it, Bridget?"

"It's a fish, ma'am, and it's marked C. O. D."

"Then make the man take it straight back to the dealer. I ordered trout."

Childhood's Brief Hour.

Witchita, Kan., Beacon: If your mother had let the housework go and taken you on her lap and explained away all the pleasures of the Mother Goose book of rhymes, would you have grown up to be any better man or woman? What if she had explained that the cow never jumped over the moon; that there was no Little Miss Muffet, and if there had been, there was no tuffet for her to sit on; that Jack didn't violate etiquette by sticking his thumb into a plum pie; that Jack and Gill's parents used hydrant water and they never went up a hill to get the drinking pail filled; that Jack Sprat could eat any kind of meat set before him instead of only lean meat; that Old King Cole was a grouchy dyspeptic and the very opposite of a merry old soul; that no blackbird ever disfigured the king's washerwoman by picking off her nose?

Would you have been a better boy or girl if your mother had done all these things—had explained away the delightful book of childhood and had told you that the amusing, jingling rhymes were written by some hard-up story-writer who wrote them for money and not for truth's sake? Would you?

Is anything accomplished by squaring a child around and setting it face to face with the realities of life before it has come into the years of responsibility? Let the children enjoy childhood in a childish way, for it is brief and comes not again.

Lake Shipyards Will This Year Be Busier Than Last.

Forty-Six Boats Are Now Under Construction at Various Points.

The shipyards of the Great Lakes have forty-six vessels under construction for 1910 delivery, including twenty-eight bulk freighters, five package freighters, five passenger boats, one ferry steamer, six tugs, two hopper barges, one fire boat, one lighter, one light vessel, one light-house tender and onescow. Of this program the American Ship Building company is building twenty; the Great Lakes Engineering Works 9; the Toledo Ship Building company three; the Manitowoc Dry Dock Company two; the Racine Boat Manufacturing company two; Johnson Bros. five; the Collingwood Ship Building company three and the Toronto Shipyards two

Again subdividing the program, the American Ship Building company's new construction consists of twelve bulk freighters, four package freighters, two passenger boats, one fire boat and one ferry steamer. Of this program the pasenger boat Rochester, the package freighter Octorara, the bulk freighters W. B. Schiller, John P. Morgan, Jr., and A. A. Augustus have already been launched. The Great Lakes Engineering Works have under construction eight bulk freighters and one package freighter. Of this program the package freighter North Star has been launched. The Toledo Ship Building company is building a bulk freighter, a lumber steamer and an excursion steamer; the Manitowoc Dry Dock comapny a passenger steamer and a lighter of which the passenger steamer, the Alabama, has been launched; the Racine Boat Manufacturing company, a light vessel and a light house tender; Johnson Bros. five tugs; the Collingwood Ship Building company, one tug and two hopper barges; and the Toronto Shipyards, one passenger steamer and one scow.

It should be mentioned that the Collingwood Ship Building company is lengthening the steamer Athabasca, belonging to the Canadian Pacific Railway company, thirty-six feet, which will make her 306 feet over all, at a cost of about $50,000. Contract has also been secured by the company to lengthen the steamer G. L. Crowe of the St. Lawrence & Chicago Steam Navigation company's fleet seventy-two feet, giving her a new length of 321 feet and gross tonnage estimated at 2,769, at an approximate cost of $60,000.

The twenty-two bulk freighters included in this program have a carrying capacity of 293,740 gross tons of ore in a single trip or 4,974,800 tons in an average season of twenty trips.

Seventeen bulk freighters were put overboard in 1909 having a capacity of 157,300 tons on a single trip or 3,145,400 tons in an average season of twenty trips. In the past eight years vessels having a gross carrying capacity of 37,015,200 gross tons in full season have been added to the available ore carrying fleet. The 1910 program will increase this to 41,088,000 gross tons. This is more than has ever been carried down the lakes in any one year with the exception of 1907 and 1909, when 41,288,755 tons and 41,683,873 tons were moved, respectively.

With the exception of the Pittsburg Steamship company, which is the lake end of the United States Steel corporation, none of the steel-making companies appear to figure in the 1910 shipbuilding program, though in some instances the names of the owners have been withheld by the shipbuilders.

Although thirty-nine vessels were launched during 1909, of which seventeen were bulk freighters, five package freighters, five passenger steamers, six tugs, five lighters and one survey steamer. The number of accidents during the year were many, some of them severe, and repair work during the winter months will be very heavy. The lake shipyards may therefore be said to be enjoying unusual prosperity, as repair work is admittedly more profitable than new construction.

Rev. I. W. Williams Testifies.

Rev. I. W. Williams, Huntington, W. Va., writes us as follows: "This is to certify that I used Foley's Kidney Remedy for nervous exhaustion and kidney trouble and am free to say that Foley's Kidney Remedy will do all that you claim for it." Sold by all druggists.

NORTH DAKOTA LAND IS IN GREAT DEMAND.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The activity of the realty men at this season of the year when dirt deals are usually infrequent, is attracting a lot of attention among realty men of the state. It is regarded as indicating an unusually big year, due largely to the big crops of last year.

The men who are most anxious to get the Red river valley lands are from Illinois and Iowa. They are purchasing more for permanent homes than for speculative purposes.

Buyers from Wisconsin and Southern Minnesota are more fond of the central and the western sections of the state, where the prices are some lower and it is assumed there are greater possibilities in advancing prices.

The fact that many of the larger farms are being sold into smaller holdings is one of the most pleasing features as it assures more actual residents.

Langdon, N. D., Jan. 18.—Cavalier county will soon experience an increase in population, announcement having just been made that during the next two months a great many people from Illinois and Iowa will migrate here. About twenty-three carloads of settlers' movables will be shipped in, arrangements for that amount having been made by the interested land agents.

Cured of a Severe Attack of Bronchitis By Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

"On Oct. 18 last my little 3-year-old daughter contracted a severe cold, which resulted in a bad case of bronchitis," says Mrs. W. G. Gibson, Lexington, Ky. "She lost the power of speech completely and was a very sick child. Fortunately we had a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house and gave it to her according to the printed directions. On the second day she was a great deal better, and on the fifth day, Oct. 23, she was entirely well of her cold and bronchitis, which I attribute to this splendid medicine. I recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy unreservedly, as I have found it the surest, safest and quickest cure for colds, both for children and adults, of any I have ever used." For sale by all druggists.

MAIL CLERKS WANTED

On Canadian Northern Trains Running West From Head of Lakes.

Fort William, Ont., Jan. 18.—The Fort William board of trade is making a move towards securing mail clerks on the trains of the Canadian Northern, running west from the Head of the Lakes. A meeting of the council of the board was held in the city hall when a resolution was passed, which will be submitted to the full board, asking the government to place clerks on these trains.

Seven of the fourteen members of the council were present at the meeting and a number of matters that will come up at the first meeting of the board of trade were discussed. One of these was a communication concerning a bill now before parliament to make it imperative that in all government contracts a clause be inserted that eight hours shall constitute a day's work for the men engaged thereon. The council passed a resolution to the effect that in their opinion it was not in the interests of the country that the number of hours should be arbitrarily fixed.

JUST OFF THE PRESS AND RIGHT UP TO DATE.

The mission of the World Almanac is to eliminate the superficial and replace it with facts; facts you may have with you; facts that may be tossing about in an active brain that won't be remembered; facts that make your acts unimpeachable; facts that fit your pocket, financially and literally; facts that adapt themselves to any space or place without inconvenience until you make a convenience of them; facts that are not facts unless they can be proven, and proven facts are necessities every man must encounter at some time. The 1910 World Almanac is better than ever. Not that it is more complete than ever, but because the world has lived another year and things have progressed and happened in the light of another year's added knowledge and experience. The history of the year just passed is brought down to the last tick of the block—365 days ahead of the world's history, in combination with something about almost everything you should know. Users of the World Almanac will tell you to buy it, not borrow it, and make your doubts certainties. Never think you know something when you can know you know it; you don't need a room full of books to explain one fact. When you buy the World Almanac you buy certainty, convenience and knowledge with a consciousness of all three; it is an education to the uneducated, a post-graduate course to the graduate; it is the memory of those who know and the creation of memory in those who don't. On sale wherever books are sold.

MAY BREAK UP GANG.

Arrest of Pair of Alleged Horse Thieves in Ward County.

Minot, N. D., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The arrest of William Delaney and a man giving the name of Ludwig is looked upon by the officials of Ward county as the initial step in the breaking up of a small gang of horse thieves that has been at work in this section for some time. These two men are charged with being implicated in the theft of horses from a local livery stable and the evidence against them is very direct.

A STEADY DRAIN

Sick Kidneys Weaken the Whole Body—Make You Ill, Languid and Depressed.

Sick kidneys weaken the body through the continual drainage of life-giving albumen from the blood into the urine, and the substitution of poisonous uric acid that goes broadcast through the system, sowing the seeds of disease. Loss of albumen causes weakness, languor, depression. Uric poisoning causes rheumatic pain, nervousness, nausea, cricks in the back, gravel and kidney stones. The proper treatment is a kidney treatment, and the best remedy is Doan's Kidney Pills. Here is good proof in the following testimonial:

E. S. Moulton, First avenue, Two Harbors, Minn., says: "I was suffering from a pain in the small of my back for a long time. I finally decided to try a good kidney remedy and procured a supply of Doan's Kidney Pills. I was much pleased with the results of their use, and I am now free from pain and feel better in every way. I know that Doan's Kidney Pills are a valuable remedy and am pleased to recommend them."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50c. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

ACTS DIRECTLY ON BAD KIDNEYS

Backache Vanishes and Your Kidneys and Bladder Act Fine.

If you take several doses of Pape's Diuretic, all backache and distress from out-of-order kidneys or bladder trouble will vanish, and you will feel fine.

Lame back, painful stitches, rheumatism, nervous headache, dizziness, irritability, sleeplessness, inflamed or swollen eyelids, worn-out, sick feeling and other symptoms of sluggish, inactive kidneys disappear.

Uncontrollable, smarting, frequent urination (especially at night) and all bladder misery ends.

Feeling miserable and worried is needless, because this unusual preparation goes at once to the disordered kidneys, bladder and urinary system and distributes its healing, cleansing and vitalizing influence directly upon the organs and glands affected, and completes the cure before you realize it.

The moment you suspect any kidney or urinary disorder or feel rheumatism pains, begin taking this harmless medicine, with the knowledge that there is no other remedy at any price, made anywhere else in the world, which will effect so thorough and prompt a cure as a fifty-cent treatment of Pape's Diuretic, which any druggist can supply.

Your physician, pharmacist, banker or any mercantile agency will tell you that Pape, Thompson & Pape of Cincinnati is a large and responsible medicine concern, thoroughly worthy of your confidence.

Only curative results can come from taking Pape's Diuretic, and a few days' treatment means clean, active, healthy kidneys, bladder and urinary organs—and no backache.

ANNEXATION TO BE CONSIDERED

Property Owners in Hibbing Additions Would Join Village.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Jan. 19 there will be a meeting at the home of A. L. Beaudette of the residence and lot owners of the Hibbing Heights, Western and Roosevelt additions to discuss the advisability of either being annexed to the village of Hibbing or forming an entirely independent village.

The lots in the additions have been bought up for the greater part by residents of Hibbing, with the view of making their future home in the South end. At present the conditions existing in the additions are such that the residents enjoy none of the modern conveniences. There are but two small wells to provide the families with water which is entirely inadequate.

A. P. Silliman left on the morning train to attend a meeting of the County clubs in Duluth today.

T. C. Congdon returned home Monday noon from Minneapolis where he visited with his mother for a few days.

David Graham left yesterday for Duluth where he will spend a few days on business.

Clarence Dwyer returned Sunday to Duluth to resume his work as court stenographer, after a few days' visit here with friends.

Mrs. S. O. Gelsor entertained very delightfully Saturday afternoon. Honors at cards were awarded to Mrs. H. G. Burnham, Mrs. Weiden and the consolation prize went to Mrs. D. Graham.

Dr. and Mrs. Moresman left Sunday for Duluth whence Mrs. Moresman will proceed to Omaha, Neb., for a five months' visit with her parents.

I. P. Egal is in Duluth on business.

J. A. Redfern left Monday for Duluth.

W. J. Ryder left Monday for Duluth.

FORMER WARDEN, CAPT. REED, DEAD

Former Prominent Minnesotan, Who Was Mountain Iron Postmaster, Called.

Stillwater, Minn., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Capt. John A. Reed, aged 79, formerly warden of the state penitentiary here and for several years postmaster at Mountain Iron, was held here at 10 o'clock this morning, at the cemetery chapel, under the auspices of St. Joseph's lodge of Masons, of which the deceased was a member for many years.

Capt. Reed, who was long prominent in Minnesota, died yesterday morning, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. John J. Ablett, at La Crosse, Wis., and the body was brought here for interment.

Native of New Hampshire.

Mr. Reed was born at Sutton, N. H., and he located at Sterling, Minn., in 1854. He became one of the active public men of the state, especially in the councils of the Republican party. In September, 1861, he enlisted at Fort Snelling in Brackett's battalion, Minnesota Volunteer cavalry, and later was attached to the Fifth Iowa cavalry. He participated in the battles of Shiloh and Fort Donelson, and other important engagements.

In 1864, he was made captain of Company B, and later was engaged with Gen. Sully in the Bad Lands campaign, against the Sioux. After the war, he served several terms in the legislature from Blue Earth county, and for a part of sixteen years, was warden of the state prison.

Moved to Mountain Iron.

After Capt. Reed retired from the office of warden, he removed to Mountain Iron, Minn., where he lived until four or five years ago, and where he served as postmaster for a number of years. Mrs. Reed died at Mountain Iron some five years ago. After the death of his wife, Capt. Reed went to Minneapolis, where he lived for a number of years with his daughter, Mrs. H. R. Ensign. About a year ago he went to La Crosse, where he made his home with another daughter, Mrs. Jack Ablett, and where the end came.

Surviving Mr. Reed are the four children, Mrs. H. R. Ensign of Minneapolis, Mrs. Jack Ablett of La Crosse, and Mrs. Little of Enfield, Pa.

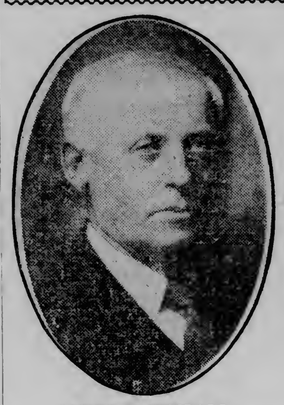

To Play at Eveleth.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The romantic drama, "The Lily and the Prince," which played in Duluth Sunday and Monday, will be presented tomorrow evening in the Othello theater.

Here to Serve Sentence.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—A. Peterson, arrested Sunday on a charge of vagrancy, was sentenced to sixty days in the county jail. Peterson was sent to Duluth this morning to serve his sentence.

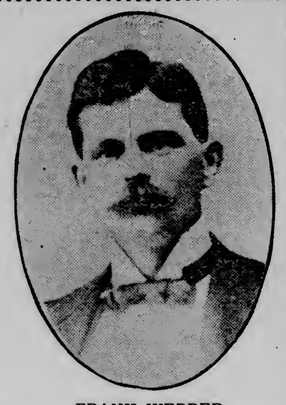

THREE VIRGINIA ALDERMANIC CANDIDATES

JAMES L. KIMBALL, Yard Foreman Missabe Railroad, Candidate in Fourth Ward.

MICHAEL BOYLAN, Plumber, First Ward Candidate.

FRANK WEBBER, Ice Dealer, Sixth Ward, (Candidate for Re-election.)

ODD FELLOWS TO BUILD BIG HALL

Eveleth Lodge Figuring on Putting Up Best Range Lodge Hall.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Odd Fellows are contemplating the erection of a commodious hall, of cement or brick, to cost in the neighborhood of $15,000 to $20,000. The building is to be of two stories height, the upper floor being for the hall, and the lower occupied by storerooms.

As the present plans state the building will be 150 by 50, which will make it the largest lodge room on the range. The lodge room will be fitted up in the most modern fashion, which will mark all the details of the structure.

The lodge has a well situated location in view, upon which it will build the structure. The present plans are to start the building the coming spring and have it completed by early fall. The lodge is in a very prosperous condition, consisting of over 150 members, and is a very active body.

FAYAL MAN MARRIES.

Father Bilban Makes Frank Goshel and Helen Grager Happy.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Frank Goshel and Helen Grager were married yesterday by Father Bilban at the priest's residence, many friends and relatives being in attendance. Martin Birk was best man, while Mrs. M. Birk attended the bride.

Mr. Goshel is an old resident of this city and is employed at the Fayal mine. The bride is also well known and liked here.

TO RESIDE IN DULUTH.

Superintendent of Aurora Schools Resigns to Move Here.

Aurora, Minn., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Noah A. Young, superintendent of the Aurora schools, has handed in his resignation, to take effect Jan. 28. Mr. Young took charge of the schools here in September, 1907, and it was through his influence that manual training and domestic science departments have been added to the course. He was also instrumental in having the school put on the state list of graded schools. He will leave with his family for Duluth Feb. 1, where they will make their home.

TO REOPEN CASS MINE.

Biwabik Property Closed Three Years Ago Will Soon Resume.

Biwabik, Minn., Jan. 18—(Special to the Herald.)—The Cass mine which closed during the financial panic three year ago, will soon resume operation. The operators have had men on the ground and have now the estimates of the expense necessary to unwater the property. The Cass is a small property, located just east of the big Biwabik mine.

The Interstate Iron company has everything in good shape at the Hector to resume operation of this property. The Interstate people recently closed a lease for this property with the St. Claire interests, who mined there for some years until the winter of 1907. Quite a stockpile was allowed to remain on the ground from the closing until this last fall.

EVELETHIAN TO MOVE TO BOSTON

Manager Irwin of Electric Light Co. Going With Boston & Maine.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Howard W. Irwin, general manager of the Home Heating & Electric company, and copartner in the concern, will leave the company to accept the position of superintendent of instruction in the locomotive department of the Boston & Maine Railroad company. He will have his headquarters at Boston to which place he will remove his family, the latter part of February.

Mr. Irwin is a graduate of an electrical college, in the vicinity of Boston, and while there held a newspaper position with the Boston Globe. He was called here about three years ago by the Northern Electric company which at that time operated the local plant. He was made general manager of the local plant on his arrival, which position he has held very capably ever since. He is a prominent lodge member and holds an important position as officer of the Elks. He is a musician of rare ability, and has shown his artistic playing on the harp, at local social entertainments.

LOCKED IN CHURCH.

Gilbert Woman Tarries Too Long Admiring New Eveleth Edifice.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Barbara Metikvitch of Gilbert, while here a few days ago, visited Holy Family church, which is nearing completion, and became so charmed with the splendid interior decorations that she forgot to leave before it was closed for the day, with the result she found herself locked in the edifice. Fortunately Contractor Wasielewski returned to the building after some tools and discovered the woman's predicament. She had been an unwilling prisoner about an hour before being released and began to fear her cries for help would not be heeded if she would have to spend the night in the church.

McGUIRE TO SPEAK.

Grand Rapids Man Down on Program at State Dairymen's Meet.

Hutchinson, Minn., Jan. 18.—The thirty-second annual convention of the Minnesota State Dairymen's association began here today and will be in session until Thursday afternoon.

On the program for an address tomorrow is Supt. A. J. McGuire of the Grand Rapids, Minn., state experimental farm, who is to speak on "Dairy Farm Management." O. A. Storvik of Crookston will speak today on "Dairy Thoughts."

BURY VIRGINIA INFANT.

Other Current Happenings Reported in the Range City.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Gladys Virginia, the 2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William McLean, who died Saturday of measles, was held yesterday with services at the family home, followed by interment in Greenwood cemetery.

The entertainment at the Roosevelt auditorium by the Castle Square Entertainers was attended by a capacity house, the estimated attendance being 1,100 people. It was one of the best entertainments we have had in this town and was thoroughly enjoyed by the immense audience.

Frank H. Gilmor, superintendent of the logging operations for the Virginia & Rainy Lake company, returned yesterday from a trip to the north country.

Robert Garvey has returned from a visit to his family in Ashland, Wis.

John R. Krugdahl has filed papers with the city clerk as a candidate for alderman from the Fifth ward. The time limit for filing expires next Saturday, the 22nd.

Edward Finch has returned from a business visit to Minneapolis. The contract for the erection of the proposed new business building by Mr. Finch has not as yet been let, but probably will be some time this week.

Aurora Church Supper.

Aurora, Minn., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Ladies' Aid of the M. E. church are preparing to give a meat pie supper in the Knights of Pythias hall Wednesday night.

EVELETH COUNCIL TO ACT ON APPOINTMENTS.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The city council will meet this evening. Appointments will be confirmed and new appointments in some of the city departments made. Many questions of importance, such as the city distribution of its financial funds, liquor ordinances, which were prominent subjects of the recent meeting of the council, will come up.

TOWER BOWLERS ARE DEFEATED BY AURORA.

Aurora, Minn., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The heretofore undefeated Tower bowling team played a series of three games with the Aurora team at Sandberg's bowling alley Saturday night and was defeated by a total of 120 pins. Tower came here with victories over Virginia and Ely teams, and had defeated Aurora earlier in the season. Another series will be played in the near future to decide the championship of the range.

Library Association Elects.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Finnish Library association has appointed the following officers: John E. Aho, president; Hilda Kosk, secretary; Andrew Makl, treasurer.

NORTH ST. PAUL OFFICE ROBBED

Postoffice Safe Is Blown for Third Time in Eighteen Months.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—For the third time in a year and a half the postoffice at North St. Paul was robbed early this morning. The safe was demolished by an explosion of dynamite which also blew out the front windows. The burglars obtained about $80 in cash and about $40 worth of stamps.

C. D. Boody, postmaster, says that until an investigation is made he can only estimate his loss, but he believes it will total in the neighborhood of $120, not including the safe, which is destroyed.

GRASTY GETS BALTIMORE SUN

Is Also Said to Have Bought the World at Foreclosure Sale.

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 18.—It was learned today that the papers have been signed by two of the three interests controlling the A. S. Abell estate, transferring to Charles H. Grasty the control of the stock in the A. S. Abell company, which publishes the Baltimore Sun. The Abells, it is understood, will retain a large interest in the paper and be connected with the management. It is understood further that the change will not mean any revolution either in the policy or personnel of the Sun.

Mr. Grasty was formerly managing owner of the Baltimore News. Subsequently he became identified with the St. Paul Dispatch and Pioneer Press, and only recently disposed of his interests in these papers.

Mr. Grasty is credited with having bought the Baltimore World, an afternoon paper which was sold under foreclosure about a week ago, but he has steadfastly refused either to affirm or deny the story.

SMALLPOX FRIGHTENS

Yet Statistics Easily Show That More People Suffer and Die From Ordinary Kidney Disease in Three Months Than Die by Smallpox in a Year.

Mentions Fine Prescription to Prevent and Cure Kidney and Bladder Disorders.

The appalling number of people who neglect the slight signs of kidney derangement is responsible for the high death rate of this class of mankind. A little attention at the very first symptoms would tend to greatly lessen the fatal maladies. No organ in the body keeps such faithful records of health or ill health, as the kidneys and bladder. A cramp-like pain in the back, a burning, dragging pain in the spine, or early morning weariness are signals from disordered kidneys. Frequent (especially at night) burning, smarting, profuse or scanty urination, and dull pain in the bladder region, puffed eyes, swollen ankles, weakness and lethargy all should be taken as signals of distress to be answered promptly. Nature needs assistance and a few of nature's properly blended drugs, make sick kidneys and bladder quickly recover. This is superior and harmless, too: Fluid extract buchu 1 oz., comp. fluid halmwort 1 oz., and syrup sarsaparilla compound 4 ozs. Mix, shake well and take a teaspoonful before or after meals and one when retiring, and very soon all symptoms vanish and health again reigns.

RANSDALL LAUDS NEW RIVER BILL

Washington, Jan. 18.—(Special to the Herald.)—"The forthcoming river and harbor bill is going to be the most comprehensive, businesslike and satisfactory measure ever reported to congress" was the opinion expressed today by Congressman Ransdall of Louisiana, president of the National Rivers and Harbors congress.

In its entirety the bill carries an appropriation of $30,000,000 and furthermore, this amount or even a greater one, will be appropriated each year, is the opinion of those who are watching the trend of events.

The National Rivers and Harbors congress for years has been engaged in working up public sentiment to induce the government to recognize a broad and comprehensive policy toward our waterway resources, which in these days of rapid transit by rail, or through the air, have been altogether too greatly neglected, much to the detriment of the agriculturists.

The National Rivers and Harbors congress has been hammering away from dawn to sunset urging the government to look after its great natural waterways, with the result that this year a "comfortable" budget will be secured for the further and continuous development of our rivers, harbors and canals.

WHERE TO GO TONIGHT.

LYCEUM—"The Merry Widow."
BIJOU—New Vaudeville Bill. (see notice below.)

AN EXCELLENT BILL AT BIJOU

Many Strong Comedy Features in the Week's Vaudeville Program.

There is not a weak number on the current bill at the Bijou theater. It is doubtful if a stronger or more evenly balanced bill presented at the popular theater this season. Two packed houses saw the evening shows, and there was much laughter and applause throughout the bills.

Louise Stickney opens the evening's performance with her dog and pony show. Miss Stickney has only one dog and one pony, but they have been carefully trained, and go through more than the usual stunts. In addition to the animals, Miss Stickney has a mere man, who supplies much of the humor of the act.

Georgie Nelson follows the pony and canine act with some singing and some stories. Her songs are good and her stories, some of them, are clever. Miss Nelson has a pleasing personality.

"Noodles" Fagan, "the boy with the national air," is the headliner of the current bill. The boy with the national air has an air, and a breezy one at that, which is distinctly his own. There is something doing every minute "Noodles" is on the boards. He sings a little, he tells some stories and then he proceeds to get into close touch with the audience.

He sings an impromptu song that scores some of the members of the audience. Last evening he secured repeated calls for his song which touched gently on some of the occupants of the front rows.

Fagan's talk about the newsboys and the conditions surrounding the peddlars of the papers, is really a talk interspersed by Harry Bulger in his facial appearance and his methods of fun making.

And the funny looking Foster can thump the piano somewhat. He does some ragtime that has the audience keeping time to the jingling tune, and he also does some heavy stuff. The two men have a dialogue that is really funny, and they have the audience sitting straight up and looking for more.

Mazuz & Mazette present an acrobatic and comedy stunt that has been seen on some of the best vaudeville circuits of the country. Both members of the team are funny, especially Mazuz in his tramp specialty. The act is another one of the clever ones of the bill that has the members of the audience laughing from start to finish.

The pictures and the illustrated songs are good and close a very strong bill.

"THE MERRY WIDOW."

New York Company, in Famous Musical Success, at Lyceum.

Henry W. Savage's famous New York company will offer "The Merry Widow," the queen of Viennese operettas, at the Lyceum tonight.

Concerning "The Merry Widow" itself, it is unnecessary to speak in any detail. It is enough to note that not only has Franz Lehar's brilliant work captivated the American music-loving people as has no other operetta in the memory of the present generation, but that all Europe has likewise fallen under the magic witchery of these alluring and haunting melodies. Two hundred cities, covering all parts of the civilized world, have heard and approved this merriest and most melodious musical success. The personnel of this cast comprises Mabel Wilber, George Damerel, Oscar Figman, William V. Strunz, Charles Wright, Sophie Barnard, Harold Blake, Arthur Wooley, F. J. McCarthy, Loulda Hilliard, Viola Napp, Winnifred Marshall and Adele Remington.

TELLS ABOUT FAMOUS RED RIVER JOURNEY.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Recalling his experiences as he floated down the Red river from Fargo to Winnipeg thirty-six years ago, William Nelson, a hotel man of Spokane, Wash., is here renewing acquaintances with early pioneers. The following year he came back from Winnipeg by dog train, and then farmed in the valley near here for fourteen years before moving to the state of Washington.

Receivers Appointed.

Cleveland, O., Jan. 18.—The Gilchrist Transportation company the second largest on the Great Lakes, was placed in the hands of receivers today upon application by Frank W. Gilchrist of Alpena, Mich., vice-president of the company. The debts are said to be $2,500,000.

MAN 70 YEARS OLD HELD AS UXORCIDE

Gallipolis, Ohio, Jan. 18.—Charged with uxoricide, Joseph Gossett, 70 years old, is under arrest at Millsport, Ohio, a village, twenty-five miles southwest of here. Gossett today issued a statement denying the charge and asserting that his wife died as the result of injuries received from a fall.

THOMAS AGAIN HEADS LEHIGH

Philadelphia, Jan. 18.—President E. B. Thomas of the Lehigh Valley Railroad company was today re-elected by the stockholders of the company at their annual meeting in the office of the company in this city. William H. Moore, Edward S. Moore and Daniel G. Reid were elected members of the board succeeding Robert C. Lippincott and George H. McFadden of Philadelphia and Irving A Stearns of Wilkesbarre, Pa.

DIES IN STATE PRISON.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Allen died Sunday afternoon in the state prison hospital, of tuberculosis, aged 22 years. His father lives in Chicago. His relatives have not yet been heard from relative to the disposition of the body.

The man was sent to the reformatory at St. Cloud from Minneapolis, on Oct. 24, 1908, for burglary in the third degree, the term being from one to five years, but he was given a reformatory plan sentence. He was transferred to the state prison a year ago for incorrigibility.

NEGAUNEE MOURNS CORBIT.

Negaunee, Mich., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—There is a profound sorrow here over the death of Lewis Corbit in a Chicago hospital Friday night.

The deceased was one of Negaunee's oldest and most substantial business men.

He came to Negaunee from his native home in Connecticut in 1876, to accept a position at the Pioneer furnace. For some time he had charge of the wood and charcoal end of the industry and was highly successful in his operations. For several years he conducted a successful horse business here and owned considerable real estate in the city.

The deceased was 65, and is survived by his widow.

BODY OF SUICIDE IS LYING IN LONELY HUT.

Fort William, Ont., Jan. 18.—The body of Joseph Weiden, the prospector and old-timer, who shot himself in a hut near Sturgeon Lake over a month ago is still lying in the place where the tragedy occurred, some five miles from any human habitation.

Information was brought in Thursday by a man who lives in the same neighborhood and who is very indignant over the fact that the authorities had not taken steps to give the body burial.

Coroner Birdsall, however, says that it has been impossible to reach the scene of the suicide up to the present time, but that the crown attorney had instructions from Toronto in the matter and that an effort would probably be made this week to get to the hut and have the body brought out.

ST. PAUL HEARS MARTIN.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 18.—Archbishop Ireland, E. Clarence Jones and Frederick Townsend Martin of New York were the speakers at a meeting of business men last night to further the work of the American Embassy association, an organization which is striving to induce congress to provide suitable embassy buildings for American ambassadors. The speakers all favored the movement.

ANOTHER HEIR FOUND TO ST. PAUL MISER.

Binghamton, N. Y., Jan. 18.—Through the death of her brother, J. C. Lounsberry, of St. Paul, who died intestate, Miss Elizabeth Lounsberry of Tioga county, who for nine years has been an inmate of the Binghamton state hospital for the insane, is understood to be the only heir to a fortune appraised at $550 000. Mrs. G. S. Decker of this city thinks she is a cousin of Mr. Lounsberry and the insane heiress, and is the only known living relative.

WANT HILL FOR PREXY

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 18.—(Special to the Herald.)—Albert Ross Hill, president of the University of Missouri, it is reported, on excellent authority here, has been offered the presidency of the University of Minnesota to succeed President Cyrus Northrop. The general opinion of those who favor Dr. Hill is that he will accept the offer.

For a time the regents expected to bring Dean Frederick S. Jones, formerly of the engineering college of the University of Minnesota, now of the college of arts and sciences of Yale, back to this state, but opposition caused him to decline.

Although there are several educators on the list of the regents, the name of President Hill is declared by far the most likely. It is expected that a choice will be made within a few weeks.

DUNN OF BRAINERD IS STATE FAIR TREASURER.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—M. T. Dunn of Brainerd was elected treasurer of the state fair board at the first meeting of the new board of managers this morning at the state fair grounds, in the place of E. L. Mattson of Minneapolis. According to C. N. Cosgrove, who was reelected secretary of the board, the change was made because the board decided the country is entitled to one of the offices.

SPECIAL MEETING OF SCHOOL BOARD.

At a special meeting of the school board to be held tomorrow morning, the matter of a central heating plant to heat the high school and the new Washington grade and manual training building will be considered. The committee on buildings will furnish some additional data on the plan. It is expected that the report of the physicians, who examined five schools as an experiment in medical examination of children will also be submitted. The board will also consider the appointment of a truant officer. George V. Fifer having resigned from the position at the first of the year.

A LITTLE RED SPOT

Novel Experiment By Which It May Be Made to Disappear.

A peculiar feature about poslam, the new skin discovery is that no one is asked to buy it without first sending to the Emergency Laboratories No. 32 West Twenty-fifth street, New York city, for an experimental sample and applying same to an affected part of the skin, about the size of a silver dollar. It will clear the spot so treated in twenty-four hours—a remarkable visual demonstration of its powers.

While poslam has been mentioned principally in connection with the cure of eczema the most stubborn of skin diseases, it must be remembered that when used for itch, hives, pimples, blotches, acne, itching feet, scaly scalp, chafing of infants and similar minor skin troubles its action is all the more pronounced, results being seen after an overnight application. As only a small quantity of poslam is necessary to cure such cases, a special fifty-cent package, usually sufficient, has been placed on sale at the Lyceum Pharmacy and W. A. Abbetts in Duluth, the A. E. Holmberg Drug Co. in Superior, and other leading drug stores throughout the country.

TRI-STATE MEET IS ON

dress. E. S. DeLaney, the Barnes county stock man, made the response most happily.

Director Hoverstad of the North Dakota farmers' institutes spoke on "The Value of Manure Spreaders' and Dean Shepperd of the North Dakota Agricultural College on "Winter Wheat Raising in North Dakota." President Worst appointed the usual committees before the noon adjournment.

The first afternoon speaker was Professor Dolve of the agricultural college, who spoke on the "Advantages of Tiling." He was followed by Prof. V. J. Spillman, sent here by Secretary Wilson from the department of agriculture in Washington. He spoke on "Grasses and Their Relation to Scientific Agriculture." Prof. Andrew Boss of the Minnesota Farm school discussed "Rotation of Crops and Soil Fertility" and Prof. H. L. Bolley of the North Dakota Agricultural College spoke on the "Care of Land and Plant Diseases."

There will be no evening session today, but three sessions will be held daily for the next three days.

Dog Show Also On.

Blue blooded canines are holding the boards here today. The first show ever given in this part of the Northwest under American club rules, opened here this morning and about 200 entries are benched.

There are some large exhibits in pointers, as setters, fox terriers, Boston terriers, Russian Wolf hounds, bull dogs and bull terriers with nearly all the leading breeds represented.

The awards are being made by Dr. Clayton, the well known expert of Chicago. Puppy classes were judged this afternoon and the other dogs will be passed on tomorrow.

Corn Show Popular.

No feature of the week's attractions appears more popular than the North Dakota corn show. It is an exhibit that compares favorably to those of Iowa and other states further south. The exhibits are fully confirmatory of all the claims made by the realty men in the state that North Dakota was in reality in the corn belt.

The North Dakota Poultry show with over 800 entries, is on the second floor above the corn show, the latter being a free exhibit. The chicken fanciers of the entire Northwest are well represented and scoring begins tomorrow.

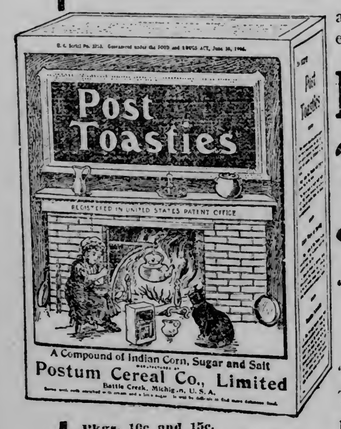

CRITICISM OF A "FAT" STORY

We were criticised for telling fat people to "tender" 75 cents to their druggists for a large case of Marmola Tablets. Several wrote in saying the use of the word "tender" was incorrect, that "tender" in such a connection raised the impression the druggist might refuse 75 cents as insufficient.

Now, isn't that odd? A few weeks ago 75 cents was "tendered" to a Broadway druggist and he did refuse it. That is, he said he did have no Marmola Tablets, whereas he did have seven cases. But, the wholesale house was closed, it being on a Saturday, and he had to prevaricate to protect his regular customers, who absorbed those seven cases later in the day.

This elegant pharmaceutical adaptation of that famous, fashionable fat reducer, the Marmola Prescription (viz., ½ oz. Marmoia, ½ oz. Fl. Ex. Cascara Aromatic, 3½ oz. Peppermint Water), is certainly having a remarkable vogue. Millions of cases of tablets are sold yearly and their fame grows. This is doubtless because of their harmlessness (guaranteed by the Marmola company, 491 Farmer building, Detroit, Mich.), and sure ability to remove ten to sixteen ounces of fat (not flesh) a day without inconvenience, bother, need for exercising or interference with the taker's appetite for good things.

LIGHTING COMPANY WILL "STAKE" CITY TO LIGHTS

Will Install Them and Wait Until City Is Able to Pay.

Canadian Northern Franchise Laid Over for Two Weeks.

WHAT THE COUNCIL DID.

Laid over Canadian Northern franchise for two weeks.
Passed unusual lighting franchise.
Asked Northern Pacific to operate tracks properly at Central avenue and right-of-way.
Granted governmnt use of sidewalk at Third avenue west and First street for weather "kiosk."
Extended M. Fitzgerald's contract for reducing the grade on Piedmont avenue to May 15.

The city council last night passed a resolution to secure needed street lights which is greatly out of the ordinary.

The resolution was drawn by E. M. Morgan, assistant attorney, at the request of Alderman Moore, who introduced it some weeks ago, at which time it was loaded down with amendments until it was a joke. It is so framed that the Duluth-Edison Electric company is given permission to erect lights at the designated places without putting the city under any legal obligations to pay for them, according to City Attorney C. S. Wilson, who was present.

He declared that unless the city wants to, it need never pay for the light, and that the only obligation is a moral obligation. The resolution states, after giving the electric company permission to locate the lights, "provided that the erection and location of said light shall not obligate the city of Duluth to pay for the same at the present contract rate, but that said light be installed with the understanding that arrangement for compensation therefor be made at some future date when the condition of the light fund is such as to make payment practicable legal, and just."

Alderman W. B. Getchell declared that by passing the resolution aldermen would be putting themselves under obligations to the Duluth-Edison Electric company, tieing their hands when the time arrived for negotiations for a new contract. He said the city would not be in the best position to demand fair terms. He suggested that if more money is needed for lighting purposes, the proper method would be to amend the city charter to enable the conference committee to levy more than one mill for the light fund. He didn't doubt but that the Duluth-Edison company would get another extension, as it has the city sewed up so no other corporation can come in, while municipal ownership it as present an impossibility.

Alderman Moore said that in the past, individual aldermen have been given lights by the electric company and received payment at a future date. But he stated that he didn't care to obligate himself individually to the light company, but wanted the matter placed on record by the entire council. Alderman Moore thought that Lakeland has no police or fire protection the suburb should have additional lights, valuing that above two or three policemen for protection purposes.

Alderman Shartel took a stand similar to that of Alderman Getchell, saying that he didn't think the city should place itself under moral or legal obligations to the light company. He preferred that it should be made a legal obligation, but was told by the attorney that this would be impossible.

The vote was 10 to 4 in favor of the resolution. Aldermen Fear and Merritt voted with Aldermen Getchell and Shartel. President Jordan declared the motion lost, but the city attorney stated that as it carried no legal obligations a majority vote was sufficient to carry the resolution.

The discussion of the Canadian Northern franchise was postponed two weeks to give the company time to make alterations in its plans for crossing the city streets. The charter requires that the plans be filed with the city clerk before a franchise can be granted by the council. The city engineer told the company engineers that he could not approve the plans for crossing streets and they withdrew them to make changes.

Two amendments to the franchise were passed. The first requires the company to construct and maintain its tracks as near the center of the right-of-way as possible. The second requires it to erect at least one round-house, one machine shop, one repair shop in the corporate limits, and to maintain the Lake Superior terminals and yards inside the city.

The council passed a resolution notifying the Northern Pacific that the gates maintained at the crossing at Central avenue, West Duluth, are operated irregularly. In the opinion of the aldermen this is more dangerous than no gates at all, as those using the crossing expect to see the gates down if a train is approaching.

• • •

Aldermen Hogan, Moore and Hector were appointed a committee to confer with the county commissioners at their meeting to secure aid in building the Sandby road. It is understood with the county commissioners that financial help will be forthcoming for the project, which is considered important, as it opens an easy route to the country back of the city.

• • •

The government was given permission to use sidewalk space at Third avenue west and First street for a kiosk, which tells at a glance all any one wants to know about the weather. The readings are shown by automatic instruments protected by plate glass.

M. Fitzgerald was given until May 5 to complete his contract for reducing the grade on Piedmont avenue, between Third and Tenth streets. Much dissatisfaction has been expressed by hillside residents of the West end at the delay of the contractor, claiming that it had prevented them from getting coal, wood and groceries.

• • •

The city attorney filed a communication to the effect that the city has never platted Twelfth avenue west below the alley south of Michigan street. Hence it would be impossible to make the railroad build a foot bridge from Michigan street to Railroad street without first acquiring street rights. Many of the people working in this vicinity recently petitioned the council for a foot bridge to extend across the tracks from Michigan street.

• • •

The board of water and light commissioners has been notified by the city attorney that licenses granted by the council cannot be suspended because plumbers are in arrears for stoves, lamps or other supplies.

• • •

Miss Holmgren was hired as cook and laundress at the new contagious hospital at $25 a month. The contract of Hugh Fawcett for the construction of the hospital was extended to Feb. 1.

KANSAS LAW IS FOUND INVALID

Supreme Court Decides Bush Act Case in Favor of Western Union.

Washington, Jan. 18.—The "Bush act" of the state of Kansas, which sought to compel outside corporations to pay a charter fee for the benefit of the state schools as a condition of doing business in that state, is held invalid by the supreme court of the United States in a decision by a divided court. The controlling opinion is by Justice Harland, with concurring opinion by Justice White, but three justices dissent—Chief Justice Fuller and Associate Justices Holmes and McKenna.

The case was that of the Western Union Telegraph Company, plaintiff, vs. The State of Kansas, on the relation of C. C. Coleman, attorney general. The Western Union has fought the law on the grounds of acquired rights and that the law was unconstitutional as seeking to impose a burden upon interstate commerce.

Interpreting his opinion, Justice Harlan said that it was held that the statutory requirement of a given per cent of the authorized capital of a telegraph company, which represented all its business inside and outside of the state, was in its practical operation a burden on interstate commerce and a tax on property beyond the limits of Kansas.

Should Have Been Dismissed.

The opinion closed as follows:

"The state court ought to have dismissed the petition on the ground that the condition sought to be enforced by a decree of ouster was in violation of the Constitution and of the company's rights under that instrument. The right of the telegraph company to continue the transaction of local business in Kansas could not be made to depend on its submission to a condition subscribed by that state which was hostile to both letter and spirit of the Constitution. The company was not bound, under any circumstances to surrender its constitutional exemption from state taxation direct or indirect, in respect of its interstate business and its property outside of the state, any more than it would have been bound to surrender any other rights held by it under the Constitution."

In the dissenting opinion, Justice Holmes declared that the state had not undertaken to tax the Western Union but simply had fixed conditions on which the company could transact business within the state.

I Cured My Rupture

I Will Show You How To Cure Yours FREE!

I was practically helpless and bed-ridden for many years from a double rupture. I wore innumerable different kinds of trusses and appliances. Some of them were tortures, some positively dangerous, and none would hold the rupture in its proper place. The doctors told me I could not expect to have it entirely healed unless I would consent to a surgical operation. I fooled them all, however, and cured myself completely and permanently by a simple method which I discovered. Anyone can use it, and I will gladly send the cure free by mail to anyone who writes for it. Fill out the coupon below and mail it to me today. I will send the cure by return mail, postpaid.

MAMMOTH SHOSHONE DAM IS COMPLETED.

Cody, Wyo., Jan. 18.—The last bucketful of cement to complete the big government dam to impound flood waters of the Shoshone river, eight miles above Cody, was put in place yesterday and the event was celebrated in true Western style. The dam is the highest structure of its kind in the world, 328 feet. It is eighty-five feet long at the bottom and 200 feet long at the top.

It is designed to hold back only the flood waters of the Shoshone, which will form an artificial lake ten miles square. This is expected to furnish water for the irrigation of 150,000 acres of land.

GRAND JURY FINDS GIRL "SOLD" FOR $20.

New York, Jan. 18.—The price of a comely girl in New York is $20, for this sum Elizabeth Harzo, 20 years old, was "sold" to a woman maintaining a resort in East Seventy-ninth street, according to indictments returned yesterday afternoon by the Rockefeller grand jury, which is investigating the white slave traffic in Greater New York.

Six indictments in all were returned, and two arrests were made almost immediately thereafter—Paul Drinko and Philip Mangold, who were held in $7,500 bail each for trial. They went to the Tombs in default of bail. They are charged with abducting and selling the Harzo girl.

ATTITUDE OF PRESIDENT

Taft Tells Congressman Miller He Wants Party's Pledges Redeemed.

No Patronage Club for Insurgents Opposing Cannon and Rules.

Washington, Jan. 18.—Congressman C. B. Miller, Frank B. Kellogg and C. A. Severance of St. Paul were guests at luncheon at the White House yesterday, and Mr. Miller remained after the luncheon for a private interview with the president. Subsequently Mr. Miller said:

"I think I may say that no Republican member who gives his honest and earnest support to the legislation redeeming the promises of the Republican national platform will have occasion to complain of the treatment that is accorded him on questions of patronage. By that I understand that when it comes to patronage the Republicanism of a member is not to be measured by his attitude toward the speaker or the house rules.

"The subject of patronage was not under discussion while I was at the White House today, but I believe I secured a distinct idea as to the president's position toward congress. He wants legislation. He wants the country to have the laws the people have a right to expect after they elected a Republican president and a Republican congress last year.

Wants Pledges Made Good.

"He wants the pledges of the Chicago platform made good. Naturally he seeks and expects the co-operation of all Republican members, whether they are insurgents or regular, when other matters are at issue in the house or in the party caucus."

President Taft made it clear to Representative Miller, as he has to others of his callers, just what legislation he is especially interested in. While Mr. Miller does not assume to speak for the president or to quote him, it is his understanding that the administration is primarily concerned in seeing the four following measures passed: The bill establishing a postal savings bank, the bill limiting the use of injunctions in labor disputes, the bill amending the interstate commerce law, and the bill giving statehood to Arizona and New Mexico.

The bills embodying the administration's policy relative to conservation and the federal incorporation bill are not classed as legislation the Republican party is specially pledged to enact, and support or non-support of them will not be made a test of party regularity.

Representative Miller has had considerable trouble with patronage matters, but it is understood now that his recommendations will be considered as are those of other Republican members in good standing at the White House.

MRS. CHRISTY'S FAULTS AIRED

Charges of Drunkenness and Other Misconduct Made in Court.

Zanesville, Ohio, Jan. 18.—Howard Chandler Christy, on the stand in his own defense, was the feature of yesterday's trial of the habeas corpus proceedings brought by his wife for possession of their child, Natalie. Christy freely admitted the truth of most of the charges made against his life by his wife and her witnesses, but said that since he took up the Christian Science faith two years ago, he had completely reformed. He challenged any one to find in the last two years anything that would prove an argument against his being an ideal guardian for the little girl.

Mrs. Christy was upon the witness stand when court adjourned last Friday evening, but contrary to expectation did not resume her testimony. Attorney C. C. Lement, for Mrs. Christy, announced that she would present no more evidence, and "rested" her side of the case.

She "Cut Out Booze."

A deposition by Attorney Frank F. Vendeveer of New York was read in behalf of Mr. Christy. The attorney said he had had several conferences with Mrs. Christy and that she had told him that she had "cut out booze" and had nothing more to do with Purdy, the former Christy chauffeur, who was frequently mentioned in last week's testimony.

Vendeveer also quoted profane language which he alleged Mrs. Christy used in conversation with him. The deposition also referred to a letter from Purdy to Mrs. Christy, in which Purdy addressed her as "Dear Love." The witness, according to the deposition, refused to answer a question about the advisability of the artist's instituting divorce proceedings by naming C. S. Berry, head of a detective agency in New York, who is here to testify, as co-respondent.

The depositions of Kenneth Douglass, telephone operator in an apartment house in New York, the last home of the Christys, and Lavinia Lennon, a nurse, told of Purdy's having been there. Miss Lennon also testified that she had seen Mrs. Christy drunk last spring.

IN THE DAY'S WORK AT WASHINGTON

For Reclamation Bonds.

The issuance of $30,000,000 worth of government ten-year 3 per cent bonds for reclamation projects, desired by the administration is provided for in a bill introduced by Chairman Mondell of the house committee on public lands. Mr. Mondell also offered the only other of the eight bills sent him by President Taft and Secretary Ballinger, which he approves—to allow more liberal assignments of homestead entries of reclamation bonds.

Statehood Bill Again.

For the third time the house of representatives passed a bill giving separate statehood to the territories of New Mexico and Arizona. The vote was taken amid applause. The absence of opposition to the measure was the most striking feature of the debate.

The bill provides the limitations that are to prevail in the power of the states to legislate, restricting the sale of liquor among the Indians and providing methods for state organization. Friends of the measure declare they have encouraging assurances of its passage by the senate.

Money for the Missouri.

A bill appropriating immediately $5,000,000 and eventually $40,000,000 for the improvement of the Missouri river from its mouth to Sioux City, Iowa, was introduced by Representative Alexander of Missouri. The measure provides that not over $5,000,000 shall be expended annually on the project.

Eulogize Dead Senator.

Eulogies on the late George L. Shoup, former senator from Idaho, in connection with the acceptance of his statue, were the special order in the senate.

That Hunt for Astor.

"The action taken by the treasury department to discover the whereabouts of the Nourmahal, the sea-going yacht of John Jacob Astor," reported Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Hilles to congress, "consisted of an unsuccessful attempt to direct the revenue cutter Algonquin at San Juan, Porto Rico, to search for the yacht and the dispatch of the revenue cutter Yamacraw in West Indian waters to search for any vessels that might be in distress between Porto Rico, San Domingo and Jamaica."

Mr. Hilles' report, which goes exhaustively into the work of succor performed by the revenue cutters that constitute a cordon about the entire coast of the United States, was in response to a resolution of inquiry introduced by Mr. Hartwick of Georgia and passed by the house.

"There are on file at the treasury department," concludes Mr. Hilles, "many letters from maritime associations, ship owners and masters of vessels, expressing their appreciation of the valuable relief work performed by the revenue cutter service."

Whacks the Pension System.

Representative Martin Dies of Texas resigned from the pension committee of the house because he is opposed to the pension system as now administered. In his letter of resignation to Speaker Cannon, Mr. Dies declared he was in favor of general pension laws, but opposed to private pension bills.

"Every man on the payroll of the government from the president down to the porters around the capitol is anxious to have his pay increased," said Mr. Dies in a statement. "Within the last few days the president has announced himself in favor of pensioning government employes. In the meantime congress is spending nearly $100,000,000 a month and the poor are groaning under high living expenses. If this thing continues it will soon be worse than the militarism of Europe. There every laborer must work to support a soldier. In our case, every laborer will be compelled to work to support a pensioner. I am heartily opposed to the system and I am glad to be off the committee."

WOMAN'S GENTLE NATURE CALLS FOR GENTLE TREATMENT

Delicately formed and gently reared, women will find, in all the seasons of their lives, as maidens, wives or mothers, that the one simple, wholesome remedy which acts gently and pleasantly and naturally, and which may be used with truly beneficial effects, under any conditions, when the system needs a laxative, is—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna. It is well known to be a simple combination of the laxative and carminative principles of plants with pleasant aromatic liquids, which are agreeable and refreshing to the taste and acceptable to the system when its gentle cleansing is desired.

Only those who buy the genuine Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna can hope to get its beneficial effects, and as a guarantee of the excellence of the remedy, the full name of the company—California Fig Syrup Co.—is printed on the front of every package, and without it any preparation offered as Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is fraudulent and should be declined. To those who know the quality of this excellent laxative, the offer of any substitute, when Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is called for, is always resented by a transfer of patronage to some first-class drug establishment, where they do not recommend, nor sell false brands, nor imitation remedies. The genuine article may be bought of all reliable druggists everywhere; one size only. Regular price 50 cents per bottle. Get a bottle today to have in the house when needed.

SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

AFTER GRAND AGGREGATE

E. N. Whyte's Duluth Rink Looks Good for the Big Prize.

The Seventeenth Annual Bonspiel Is Rapidly Nearing a Close.

The E. N. Whyte rink of Duluth looks good for the grand aggregate prizes. Up to date Whyte's rink has won nine contests in the open events. Zauft, Harry Hurdon and Reedal of Phillips, Wis., are tied up with seven victories each to their credit.

The Duluth rink is down to the semi-finals in the St. Paul Jobbers', the Minneapolis event and in the Western Curling club event. They still remain in the International event also, but this event is not so far along as the others.

The Whyte rink has in all scored thirteen victories since the 'spiel opened. Four of these victories do not count for the grand aggregate as they were not won in open events. The three victories in the Western Curling club event do no count and the victory scored Saturday afternoon in the International is also thrown out.

Whyte up to this time has been in a class by himself when it comes to the total number of contests won. Zauft, Hurdon or Reedal may yet head him off and check his progress, landing the grand aggregate for one of these rinks, but at this time, it seems hardly probable, as Whyte has a good lead and seems to get stronger as the 'spiel progresses.

The prizes for the grand aggregate are four sterling silver cups. The second prizes are the same as those offered for first, being but a trifle smaller.

The 'spiel progressed in good shape yesterday afternoon and last evening. As the weather grew colder the ice improved and the conditions became better. Although curling on the sticky ice yesterday morning took a good deal of "pep" out of the men they bent to their brooms with a will under the improved conditions of the afternoon and evening play.

Last night in the Canadian Soo event, Miller of West Duluth defeated McCauley of the same club, 13 to 10. In the Western curling club event, Helmbaugh of Superior lost to Tucker of Pardeeville, 13 to 10. Whyte of Duluth scored another brilliant triumph over Reedal of Phillips, Wis., when he defeated the Wisconsin man, 13 to 8. Zauft of West Duluth, beat Currier of Duluth, 11 to 9. Dunlop of Duluth defeated Fullerton of St. Paul, 13 to 9. All the foregoing contests were in the Western Curling club event.

In the International event, Legont of Virginia forfeited to Hall of Duluth, and Smith of Superior forfeited to Hurdon of Duluth. Brewer of Duluth defeated Stephenson of Superior by a score of 9 to 7.

L. J. Tucker of Pardeeville, Wis., was the first man to reach the semi-finals in any event. This he did yesterday afternoon by defeating Morrison's Winnipeg stone pushers by a 13 to 7 score. The game was in the Minneapolis event.

This afternoon the semi-finals in the Duluth Curling club event will be played off. Gates of Superior meets Zauft of West Duluth and Reedal of Phillips will meet Duncan of Duluth. The winners of these games will meet in the finals probably tonight. One other game in the semi-finals will be played off this afternoon when Whyte of Duluth meets Hurdon of Duluth in the St. Paul Jobbers' event.

The Western, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Duluth and Canadian Soo events are now all but finished, and it is probable that Wednesday evening the Northwestern bonspiel will be over with all the events closed.

RICKARD SECURES ARENA.

Fight Promoter Signs Contract for Salt Lake City Site.

Salt Lake, Utah, Jan. 18.—A contract was signed today by Tex Rickard and the management of the Salt Air Beach company, for the use of the bicycle track arena, at the bathing resort, as the scene of the Jeffries-Johnson contest, July 4.

The management of the Salt Air resort agrees to remodel the arena and provide for the seating of 50,000 spectators.

FARMED PLAYERS ELIGIBLE.

Central League Removes Ban on Major Clubs' Recruits.

Zanesville, Ohio, Jan. 18.—At a session of the Central baseball league, held late last night, it was decided to do away with the rule placing a ban on players farmed from a bigger league, and to open the season May 4, with a 140-game schedule. The schedule meeting will be held in Dayton, March 7. For the first time in the history of the league, the managers of the various teams were barred from a session of the magnates.

"DOESN'T LOOK NICE," EXPLAINS BAN JOHNSON.

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 18.—"It doesn't look good for a professional baseball player to be beaten by an amateur or a semi-professional. It discredits the league players and if they are defeated it causes remarks to be made about their inability to beat a town nine."

This is the way President Johnson last night answered some of the criticisms recently made about the "Barnstorming clause" in the new baseball contracts. "Now an owner is not going to stop the player from earning a little extra money in a legitimate way after the season is over, but the magnate has a right to protect the good name of his club," he continued. "Barnstorming doesn't help baseball. Now when the new clause is thoroughly understood it will be a benefit to the game and the players as well."

MINNEAPOLIS POLICEMAN WILL MEET PERSON ON MAT

John Gordon, the champion police wrestler of the United States, the conqueror of Leo Pardello and big John Rooney, and one of the toughest and strongest wrestlers in the West, reached Duluth today over the Great Northern, in the pink of condition for his finish match with Chris Person.

In Gordon, Person will be meeting a man large and solid of physique and one who has met and defeated some of the best wrestlers in the country. Gordon will have about twenty-five pounds on the Duluth heavyweight, but Person expects to overcome this advantage by superior knowledge of the game.

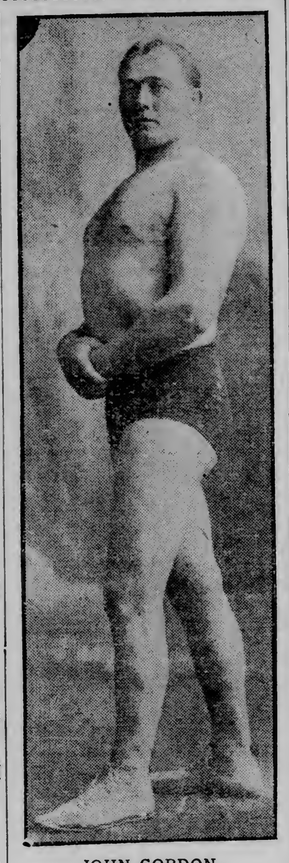

Both of the men are in the very best of physical condition. For the past ten days Person has been working out at the gymnasium of the Duluth Athletic club. He has often worked with two and three wrestlers a day, and the hard and consistent work has put the big fellow in the very best of condition.

Gordon has wrestled a number of matches the present winter and has a number of important matches on at Des Moines and other cities in Iowa. He reports himself to be in the very best condition.

There is much at stake in the meeting of the two wrestlers. Gordon wants another meeting with Henry Ordemann, as he claims he was not right the first time he met Ordemann.

On the other hand, the defeat of Gordon means even more for Person. He came to Duluth but little known to wrestling fans. He has only asked to be recognized as his work merited. He will wrestle his third bout tonight, and it is of the utmost importance that he make a good showing against Gordon, as it means much in his battle with Zybszko.

The main bout will be preceded by a preliminary between Sailor Jack, who claims the welterweight championship of the navy, and Clarence Beeman of this city. The first bout will be called at 8:30.

JOHN GORDON.

CENTRAL HAS HARD SCHEDULE

Basket Ball Team Will Meet Twin City Schools for Championship.

One of the most strenuous basket ball schedules ever adopted by a high school or college has been scheduled by the manager of the Duluth Central high school basket ball team. The schedule includes all of the schools in the vicinity of Duluth, as well as one of the Minneapolis and St. Paul high schools.

The Central team is one of the strongest that has ever represented the hill top institution, and the students of the school believe there is an excellent chance of winning the state interscholastic championship. It was stated in this paper some time ago that the Centrals would meet several of the Twin City schools in an effort to win the highest honors in state high school basket ball circles. The games have been scheduled and the followers of the team are confident of the result.

In the games scheduled so far the members of the team have shown excellent ability, not only individually, but also as an aggregation.

The corrected schedule of games will be found below:

Jan. 22, Superior Normal at Superior; Jan. 28, Nelson-Dewey at Superior; Feb. 5, Blaine at Duluth; Feb. 11, St. Cloud Normal at Duluth; Feb. 19, Minneapolis West high school at Duluth; Feb. 25, St. Paul Central at St. Paul; Feb. 26, Minneapolis West high at Minneapolis; March 5, Nelson-Dewey at Duluth; March 11, Blaine at Superior; March 18, Superior Normal at Duluth.

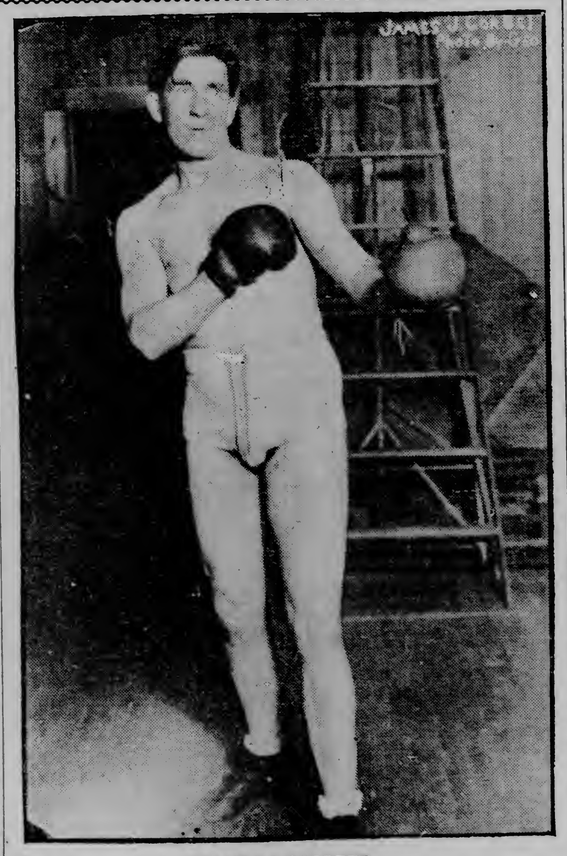

ROLLER SKATERS MATCHED.

"Hi" Cohen of St. Paul, who claims the Northwestern roller skating championship at the distance of one mile, has been matched to meet Frank Bryant, claimant of the Head of the Lakes championship, in a mile race at the Lincoln Park pavilion, Thursday evening.

Cohen has been trying to get on a race with any of the skaters in this part of the country since his arrival in Duluth, over a week ago. Yesterday the management of the rink hung up a purse for the boys and they will meet over the favorite distance route of the St. Paul man.

The St. Paul skater claims to have met Joe Munch and some of the fastest of the Milwaukee speed merchants. Bryant is a Detroit boy and has won several races at the Head of the Lakes.

CORBETT IS IN ACTIVE TRAINING IN NEW YORK

JAMES J. CORBETT.

Corbett, who will train Jeffries for his fight with Johnson, is now getting into trim at Cooper's gymnasium in New York. He is training with his sparring partner, Kennedy, and seems to be in better condition than would have been expected, considering his long absence from the ring. But it is understood that he has really been training in private for two years past and that he expects to make a match of his own after he has trained Jeff. He feels sure Jeff will win.

McFARLAND SAILS FOR OLD ENGLAND TO HAVE ANOTHER TRY AT HIS OLD-TIME RIVAL

The Chicago Stockyards Wonder and His Approach to the Spotlight--Jeff and Ryan.

(BY BRUCE)

Packy Mcfarland is unfortunate in being near-great. You may argue that it is better to be near great than to be in the never was class. There is room for argument. Still the man, woman or unmarried lady who trudges along in the never heard of class, may have only occasional times when a sigh and a wish that things might have been different, proclaims a burning dissatisfaction with the deal of old lady fate. The near-great are forever dissatisfied.

Look in the dope book and you will find that Packy McFarland was born in November, 1888, Chicago, the vicinity of the stockyards, being the place where the Irish lad first opened his blue eyes upon a world of strange things. The dope book will also inform you that McFarland is 5 feet, 8 inches in height, which is rather tall for a lightweight, being only one-half inch shorter than that inimitable figure of the squared circle, Thomas J. Sharkey, who packed something around 190 pounds on his broad and sinewy frame.

The height of the Chicago boy may explain why he is having trouble in fighting at 133 pounds, ringside. Most of the boys fighting in the class that Packy still claims he belongs to, are in the 5 feet 3 or 4 class. A fighter clings to a low weight class like undersized person clings to a false social position. They hate to be driven to a higher weight division.

McFarland is one of the cleverest two handed fighters in the business today. There is not a fighter in the world, anywhere near his own weight, who has anything on the curly headed Chicago boy for a ten-round battle. When it comes to the longer route we will have to be shown.

Look through the first part of the McFarland record and you will find a sterling succession of "K's," which means knockouts, with Packy in the role of the man administering. But look through the latter part of his fistic biographical record and you will also find that James Edward Britt, a clever fighter before the earthquake hit San Francisco, and nearly scared Jimmy to death by nearly destroying all his hats, is about the last person of prominance that Packy has put hors de combat, or in other words, made to lie still, quietly and pensive, while the referee counted ten.

The same might indicate that Packy was meeting fighters in his early career who lacked the proper bone setting in their jaws, or that they were fighters who left openings in their defense wide enough for the clever boxer to brace his feet against a ring post and swing at. McFarland may have lost his punch, or he may never have had one; the fact is, he is not known as a man with the jolt in his mit necessary to beat a tough and hardy man.

One of the greatest ring rivals of the speedy Irishman is English Freddie Welch, bloime him. Packy and Freddie have mixed industriously upon two occasions. At Milwaukee, Feb. 21, 1908, McFarland won the decision over the English speed marvel. The second fracas occurred on the coast, with James J. Jeffries in the role of referee. That was on the glorious Fourth of July, 1908, the battle going twenty-five rounds. At the conclusion of the fight big Jim held the hands of both fighters aloft, signifying that the battle was so even that he did not care to impugn his personal popularity by making a decision in the case.

McFarland and his manager let escape a yell not unlike that let loose from the system of a peeved politician when the spoils of office have been denied to his kith and kin. Packy has always claimed that big Jeff used about as much judgment in awarding the decision as did Mrs. Lot on another historic occasion. Ever since the Los Angeles meeting with the English vegetarian, Packy has been asking as earnestly for another meeting as O. Twist asked for more mush, and he seems, unlike Oliver, about to have his request granted.

The McFarland party has sailed on the palatial Adriatic for dear old Hengland, where he will attempt to get on with the Welshman. Packy has been loud in his declarations that he can trim the clever little Briton, and he will be given a chance to prove his assertion in the event that he is fortunate enough to hook up with the lightweight champion of England.

In one of the most interesting sport stories that has appeared in the public prints for some time, Paul Armstrong, the playwright, the author of "The Heir to the Hoorah" and many other clever Western shows, who used to be famous under the name of "Right Cross," tells of the ingratitude of Jeffries toward Tonsolitis Tommy Ryan, in many respects the greatest fighter for his weight the world has ever seen.

Armstrong only consented to write the story from the fact that Ryan is a friend of his and he wanted to make the position of the former trainer of Jeffries right before the public. Jeffries has been saying some mean things about Ryan, and it was to tell the truth about the service that Ryan did for big Jim, that Armstrong once more assumed the role of a sporting writer.

When Ryan took Jeffries, according to Armstrong, the big fellow couldn't fight fast enough to hit big Ed Dunkhurst, if the human freight car was feeling in a frisky mood. It was Ryan who taught the big man from California his crouch and taught him all his knowledge of the fight game. It was Ryan who taught the newcomer into the fight game the tricks and fighting habits of Fitzsimmons, whom Jeff was about to fight for the world's championship. It was Ryan, shrewd, observing, brainy, who taught Jeffries all those things that enabled him to go and surprise the world by beating Fitzsimmons.

It was the wise and calculating brain of Ryan that directed the battle in Jeff's corner. Yet today Jeff laughs and sneers at his former trainer, and will have none of him. He would do better, in the opinion of many of the followers of the game, should he again seek the rare advice of the man who was considered one of the greatest generals the ring has ever produced, and dispense with some of the superannuated punks he is alleged to have engaged for the Herculean task of fitting the retired champion to lick the dark man.

Jack Johnson made his appearance at the aristocratic Harvard. The big colored fighter took the strength tests of the gymnasium at the invitation of Dr. Sargent, one of the greatest experts in his line in the world. The physical director of Harvard has examined Jeff, Sharkey and many of the noted athletes before the public today. Just how Johnson compared with Jeff in actual strength, the doctor refused to state.

The big black registered 1.575 points, which is above the heavyweight pugilistic average, according to Dr. Sargent. This is also some hundred points above the record of the average college strong man. The result of the test simply goes to show that Johnson, even in a test which depends much upon special training, can make a great showing and must be classed as one of the strongest men of the world.

Old slant head Yussiff Mahmout, who since his defeat by Frank Gotch has been making hay in the heavyweight wrestling meadows, and Zybszko, the champion of Poland, will wrestle to a finish in Chicago, the winner of the match having the right to meet Frank Gotch for the world's heavyweight championship.

The backers of the Turk have even gone so far as to wager $1,000 on the chances of their man. The fact seems to be that Mahmout is a very much better man than the quick defeat at the hands of Champion Gotch would indicate. Since then he has been doing great work, and it may be that he has learned the tricks of the catch-as-catch-can game.

It would rather upset conditions should the Bulgarian beat the popular Pole.

Al Kaufman and Philadelphia Jack O'Brien will clash in a six-round fight at Philadelphia Wednesday night. Stubby Sam Langford, according to the report, will be at the ringside to challenge the winner. There will be no chance for Sam. He could beat both of the men so fast and there would be little amusement for the spectators. O'Brien might be able to keep away from Sam for a few rounds, but Kaufman is just naturally built for a fighter of Sam's determined disposition. Kaufman, as he hopes for regular meals and an unfractured anatomy, will keep away from the tar baby.

Stanley Ketchel thinks Jack Johnson will beat Jim Jeffries. Why shouldn't he?

CLUB LOSES OARSMAN.

H. A. MacDowell, Senior Crew Stroke, Will Leave the City.

One of the strongest oarsmen ever developed at the Head of the Lakes will be lost to the Duluth Boat club through the departure tomorrow for Idaho of Herbert A. MacDowell, stroke last season of the Duluth senior crew, which made such a gallant showing in the St. Paul regatta, and who was counted upon to stroke the Duluth junior eight the coming season.

HERBERT A. MacDOWELL.

"Mac" was eligible for the junior crew and it was generally believed he would stroke the crew. He was one of the gamest and cleverest strokes ever turned out at the boat club. He stroked his crew a magnificent race at St. Paul and earned the commendation of Coach Murray Peyton and the coaches of other crews by his splendid showing.

The departure of MacDowell will be sincerely regretted, not only because of his loss to the boat club, but also from his personal popularity. He takes a road position with the Marshall-Wells company, which is the reason for his leaving the city.

SODALITY TEAM WINS.

The St. Clement's Basket Ball Quints Defeat Superior Alumni.

The first and second basket ball teams of the young men's sodality last evening, defeated the first and second teams of the Carpenter school alumni of Superior. In both games the local boys showed superior form and outplayed their opponents. The lineup of the two teams:

CARDINAL LAYS PRICES TO TARIFF

Gibbons Says He Is Persuaded That Much of the Trouble Lies There.

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 18.—In discussing the increased price of foodstuffs last night, Cardinal Gibbons said:

"I am persuaded and inclined to believe that our high tariff has a great deal to do with the exorbitant cost of things necessary for life. Take as illustrations:

"First the cost of sugar. That article is a product of Louisiana, Porto Rico and the Philippine islands. England does not produce sugar and yet the price of sugar in Great Britain is as low, if not lower, than in the United States.

"Second—The case of tin, a necessary covering for canned fruits and vegetables. The high tariff on tin excludes the foreign article from the states and consumers are obliged to use the domestic, which inures to the exclusive benefit of the domestic manufacturers. The government receives no benefit from this protection nor do the packers themselves. The advantage is conferred solely upon the domestic manufacturer of tin."

The cardinal added that something must be done at once to improve economic conditions in this country.

ELLIOTT DECIDES CASE ON PHILIPPINE TRADE.

Manila, P. I., Jan. 18.—In a case involving cruelty in the handling and shipment of cattle from Indo-China to Manila, the supreme court of the Philippines has handed down a decision holding that the Philippine government possess the power to regulate foreign commerce with the Philippine islands and to decrease such commerce within the limits of the authority of a complete governmental organization, the court maintaining that the limitations upon the authority of the insular government do not affect the question of foreign commerce.

Justice Charles D. Elliott, who recently was appointed justice of the supreme court of the Philippines after several years of service on the bench in Minnesota, wrote the opinion.

WILL BOOST SHOE PRICES.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 18.—The price of shoes is going up. Official announcement to this effect has been made by the National Shoe Wholesalers' association.

The association says that the existing high price of leather and materials makes the increase necessary, but that the new prices will be so adjusted so as to "permit the addition to each grade of such value as will compensate the wearer for increased cost."

The association's approval of the repeal of the duty on hides was unanimously voiced.

-Millions for Children.

Chicago, Jan. 18.—A $2,000,000 home for friendless children, to be maintained in Chicago, is provided for in the will of Henry Curtiss Elliott, a mine owner, who was killed by a snowslide in Alaska, on Jan. 4. The will was filed for probate yesterday, but attorneys for the estate said the wording of the will was such that no definite time for the erection of the home was fixed.

GREAT MEN AND BEER BREWING

WHENEVER this great nation needed the assistance and personal services of strong, patriotic men to further the cause of liberty and humanity or to repulse invasions and oppressions, the brewers and their friends were among the first to respond.

History tells us that many of the best men of their time were connected with the business, such as Wm. Penn, who caused the erection of the first brewery in Pennsylvania, or Samuel Adams, the acknowledged father of the Revolution, who managed his father's brewery at Boston, or Patrick Henry, the jovial host of Williamsburg, Va., who made the famous speech: "Give me liberty or give me death." And the immortal Lincoln, when accused by his rival, the great Douglas, in one of their famous debates, of being engaged in the traffic, turned the tables by saying: "The difference between Douglas and me was that I was doing the selling and he was doing the drinking."

Surely the brewers and their friends have always been foremost in promoting public welfare, and according to Andrew D. White, the great statesman, they have done more for real temperance than their fanatic opponents can ever do.

CURLING EVENTS ARE DOWN TO SEMI-FINALS

But Four Outside Rinks Are Now in the Race.

Tucker of Pardeeville and Zauft Have an Interesting Contest.

The Seventh Annual Northwestern bonspiel is now all but over. Lemont of Virginia and Fullerton of St. Paul left today for their homes and the only outside rinks left are the Reedal rink of Phillips, Wis., the Morrison rink of Winnipeg, the Neil rink of Winnipeg and the Tucker rink of Pardeeville.

All the events but the International are down to the semi-finals and they will be down to the finals when play is concluded this evening.

The most interesting contest played this morning was between Zauft of West Duluth and Tucker of Pardeeville. Tucker won, 12 to 9. The game counted in the International event. Zauft, who has been playing strongly all the way through the bonspiel, having lost only two games, started out well in the first end by scoring two. Tucker made one in the second and also one in the third, tieing the score. In the fourth the Pardeeville man scored three stones, putting his rink in the lead with a margin of three. Zauft was not in the least discouraged and scored one in the fifth and two in the sixth. The score was again tied. Zauft made three in the seventh and Tucker came back with two in the eighth. Again Tucker scored in the ninth and three in the tenth and one in the eleventh. The final score was 12 to 9 and a large bunch of enthusiasts watched the various shots with much interest.

In the Canadian Soo event Stephenson defeated Fullerton 14 to 7. Duncan beat West in the International, 13 to 9. Reedal defeated McLeod, 15 to 3 in the International.

Evered of West Duluth forfeited to Jim McLennan in the International, as did Holland to Currier and Richardson to McCauley of West Duluth.

This afternoon in the later draw in the International even McLennan or Dunlop is playing Hewitt or Heimbaugh, Currier is meeting McCauley and Tucker plays Harry Hurdon. Duncan is meeting either Gridley or Miller.

In the Canadian Soo event McCauley or Hall is playing Stephenson or Neil. In the Western event Zauft and Dunlop are playing.

The Duluth event stands as it was yesterday. Gates and Zauft and Reedal and Duncan are in the semi-finals. The winners of the contests play off in the finals. In the St. Paul event Wilyte meets Hurdon and Zauft meets Brewer in the semi-finals. The winners also play in the finals. Tucker is already in the finals for the Minneapolis trophy and he has yet to meet the winner of the Whyte-Hurdon game in the finals.

The winners of the McCauley-Hall and Stephenson-Neil game play the finals in the Canadian Soo event. In the Western event Heimbaugh and Whyte and Dunlop and Zauft are in the semi-finals.

It is expected that by Wednesday noon the spiel will be finished and the winners in the several events known.

The ice this morning was in first-class shape and curling became real sport again under the improved conditions.

If a few more table guests would make it profitable for you to keep boarders, then you have business for a Herald want ad.

PLEAD GUILTY TO LARCENY

John Gronholm and Jacob Hanson Wolff yesterday afternoon withdrew the plea of not guilty which they had entered in district court to a charge of burglary in the third degree and entered a plea of guilty to grand larceny in the second degree.

Gronholm and Wolff entered the clothes pressing establishment of Claus Thoerson at 1 Lake avenue north, Dec. 12 and carried off a quantity of clothing worth about $120. Their sentence was deferred.

The charge of keeping a house of ill-fame, which was preferred against Sextus Lindall, proprietor of the Rex hotel, by the last grand jury, was discussed this morning. The Rex hotel is the place in which Fred Hazen, the man convicted yesterday of receiving money from an immoral woman, and Edith Mack were arrested. Lindall was arraigned on the indictment last week and was released on $250 cash bail. This morning on motion of the county attorney, the charge against him was dismissed.

BAY FRONT LOTS ARE TRANSFERRED

Deeds have been filed with the register of deeds conveying seven lots on the west side of Slip 5, between Tenth and Eleventh avenues west to A. L. Ordean and Luther Mendenhall. The former owners were George Spencer and the Melvin W. Forbes estate.

The interests are undivided. Mr. Spencer conveying his undivided half to Mr. Ordean for $27,500 and the undivided half owned by the Forbes estate being conveyed to Mr. Mendenhall for a like amount, the valuation placed on the seven lots being $55,000.

The property is part of that on which the Cutler warehouse stands. It is a valuable piece of bay front property and is one of very few deals made in that class of property in Duluth of late.

SAYS BRYAN IS PICKPOCKET

Frank Bryan was convicted by a jury in district court this morning of grand larceny in the second degree for the theft of a pocketbook containing $40 from Hans Haglin on East Superior street, Nov. 16.

Haglin testified that he had just come out of a saloon and was walking along the street when Bryan brushed against him. He felt the man take his pocketbook, he said, and immediately gave chase. Bryan was captured and a sum of money found on him. He claimed that he had the money before and had nothing to do with taking the pocketbook. The jury was out but a few minutes.

The next jury case to be tried is that against Alvin Johnson, who is also accused of grand larceny in the second degree. He is accused of having stolen about $20 from John Norberg, Nov. 11.

WYOMING LAND TO BE OPENED TO SETTLEMENT.

Washington, Jan. 18.—Secretary Ballinger designated yesterday as coming within the enlarged homestead act 3,320 acres of land in Wyoming.

In aid of proposed legislation affecting the disposal of water power sites on the public domain, Secretary Ballinger has temporarily withdrawn from all forms of disposition the following areas: 3,713 acres along the Big Blackfoot river, Montana; 25,120 acres along the San Rafael river, Utah; 2,408 acres along the Coeur d'Alene river, Idaho; 160 acres along the Fresno river, California; 3,536 acres along the South Platte river, Colorado.

Syracuse, N. Y., Jan. 18.—Justice W. S. Andrews granted the application of the state insurance department to have the People's Mutual Life Association & League turned over to the department for liquidation.

INSANE MEN ARE COMMITTED

John Graham Makes Charge Against Sheriff in California.

Two insane men were examined in probate court yesterday afternoon and committed to the state asylum at Fergus Falls. They are John Graham and Charles Enquist.

Graham is the man who was brought to Minnesota by the California authorities after he had been confined in the asylum at Napa for over a year. He is 42 years old and was a resident of Minnesota for about eighteen years, going to California a little over a year ago after he had been paroled from the insane asylum at Fergus Falls. He has a delusion that people are talking about him and laughing at him. He said during his examination that he had $600 when he was taken in charge in Pulmas county, Cal., and that it was taken away by the sheriff and never returned.

Charles Enquist is 43 years old and a native of Sweden. He has lived in Minnesota twenty-three years and his father lives at Biwabik. He thinks that people are plotting to hang him. Intemperance is supposed to be the cause of his condition.

RAILROADS

HARRY E. BRYAN IS PROMOTED

New Chief of Operating Department of Burlington Known in Duluth.

Duluth railroad men have learned of the selection of Harry E. Bryan as the chief of the operating department of the Burlington railway. The change in the Burlington comes about through the election of "Dan" Willard president of the Baltimore & Ohio railway.

In railroad circles it is generally believed that Darius Miller, first vice president of the Burlington, will succeed to the office left vacant by the resignation of Mr. Willard. It is stated that the authority of Mr. Miller has been extended to all departments of the Burlington system, with the understanding that he will eventually become the head of the road.

Harry Bryan is well known in the local railway colony by a number of the local officials who learned part of their railroad business in the west. Mr. Bryan was with the Montana Central, and while in that capacity was well known by A. M. Fenton, district freight and passenger agent of the Omaha. Other agents of this city also have a personal acquaintance with him.

Railway Notes.

The Northwestern train from Chicago was delayed two and one half hours this morning. Heavy snow and a desire on the part of the officials of the railroad company to take no chances over a heavy track, is the reason for the frequent delays in the arrival of the Chicago-Duluth train, according to the statement of local officials of the road.

* * *

Fred Southall, traveling freight agent of the Northwestern, returned yesterday from a trip through the Northern Michigan freight territory, with the statement that Duluth is being known as one of the big freight points of the Northwest.

* * *

Homer Grey, traveling passenger agent of the Illinois Central railway, is in the city today looking after more business for the Seminole Limited, the Illinois Central train to the Florida coast points. Mr. Grey says there is a comparatively heavy travel out of Duluth for Florida points, with the promise that the travel will be even heavier later in the season.

* * *

The Railroad Age prints a table showing the earning of twelve railroads during November of last year in comparison with the same month in the preceding year. The table shows that in almost every instance the earnings of the roads in question were heavies than the earnings the previous year. The facts speak well for the prosperity of the railroads last year.

* * *

The same publication gives a list of rolling stock ordered in 1909 to be used by the railroads during the present year, which indicates that the year will be a very important one to every railroad of the country.

* * *

Local freight men believe that there will be a large amount of lumber moved from the Head of the Lakes when the shipping season opens, beginning around the later part of next month. They base their prediction on the increased building operation over the country and the increased business activity that is promised for the coming season.

Hastings Man Hurt in Wreck.

Austin, Minn., Jan. 18.—Patrick Steffins, a hotel man of Hastings, Minn., wes seriously injured in the wreck of a freight train, southbound on the St. Paul road, yesterday. A brakeman also was hurt. Five cars left the track. The cause of the wreck was the dropping of a brake beam.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

BEARS CONTINUE THEIR RAID ON FLAX MARKET

The May Option Drops Eight Cents, But Rallies Later.

Wheat Market Is Nervous, Showing a Decline at Close.

Duluth Board of Trade, Jan. 18.—The wheat market was subject to considerable liquidation today and was affected by free offerings. It was nervous and uncertain rallies being unsustained, although brief ascensions were easily forced. May opened at $1.10½. ¼c off from yesterday and lost ¼c, coming back to $1.10½@1.10⅝, declining to $1.10⅜@1.10½, advancing to $1.10½, then to $1.11⅛ bid, declining to $1.10⅛ and closing $1.10⅛ bid.

The flax market was a lively proposition although trading was not as heavy as yesterday when the country made liberal offerings causing the sale of more flax to arrive than for several days. Today the same condition was experienced, althought not in as pronounced a measure. The farmers and country elevators appear to believe that flax has hit its high quotation for the current crop and they seem to be feeding out supplies on the scale downward. Offerings from the country today caused the price to drop suddenly shortly after the opening. May was quoted at $2.12 asked at the beginning and the next offer was at $2.04 which was quickly snapped up. The market, however, showed a tendency to rebound on the slightest stringency of offers and the load kidding. May went back to $2.09 on a small volume of trading, but declined when some long flax came out and closed $2.06½ bid. The option fluctuated nervously.

The receipts at Minneapolis are now about three times the quantity that was being received at this period last year. Receipts show an increase here although not pronounced. The stores of flax here amount to 208,000 bu, a decrease of 3,000 bu, for the last two days. The speculative possibilities of the flax market were reduced to a minimum when the clearing house advanced the margin to 20 cents and the trend of the market now follows naturally conditions with more certainty than for some time. Its aspect, it is believed, now rests almost entirely upon the attitude of the country.

Finley, Barrell & Co., said concerning the flax market, that offerings of the three or four thousand bushels put the price down to $2.04 and the last reaction was on slight trading. The offerings, it was stated, came from country ings, it was stated, came from country elevators which had been holding on for the upturn for higher prices.

Today's weakness in wheat was caused by lower cables, bearish reports from Argentina and Europe, although the bulls derived some slight satisfaction in the report that the visible decrease in European supplies last week was 650,000 bu, free offerings which the shorts took, and an increase in Northwestern receipts.

Around midday wheat rallied and the May option was quoted fractionally higher than at the opening. The position; of the market at this stage of the day's proceedings seemed to be based upon the condition of the cash wheat market, which despite increased receipts and plentiful supplies in the hands of the millers, became firmer. The local cash market which follows the trend of the Minneapolis cash position was in sympathy with Minneapolis cash which was quoted at from 1½c to 2c over May, although cash here closed on a parity with May.

The rally at noon was short, as buyers at the low prices earlier in the day were cautious and placed their holdings on the market on the upturn, believing that a further decline was inevitable. The market weakened under pressure and sold off fractionally.

Broomhall's crop reports from Europe, which were flattering, so far as crop returns are concerned, brought no joy to the bulls. In Europe the markets were weaker after a stronger period at mid-day. The softening was caused by talk that the Argentine shipments will be larger than most of the guesses which have been registered on the Argentine exportable surplus.

Argentina is shipping only moderately and the movement thus far has been light. In the last three weeks of January last year the exports were 8,740,000 bu and in four weeks in February 23,350,000 bu.

The recent bull market has been in progress for several months and a reaction was a logical consequence. In fact, the period of liquidation is believed by some to have been late in arriving. The long committments have been reduced and the bear element is aggressive. The longs, the bears believe, have overstayed the market which is drifting to a lower level. The bears have plenty of argument to use on the market but they are held in check to some extent by the low stocks in the Northwestern markets, the supplies in Duluth and Minneapolis still being extremely low.

One of the most remarkable features of the present wheat situation is the rapidity with which offerings are absorbed. The consumption is larger than last year, probably because of the higher prices of other foods. Mills have large supplies of wheat and evidently the flour buyers not the ultimate consumer, but the bakers—purchased heavily fearing further upturns in the market. Primary receipts are running about double the movement this time last year, yet accumulations at primary markets have not been large on account of the heavy absorption by the millers. The demand, the bears think, will be less urgent in the near future.

A bearish argument is the prevailing high prices of wheat in the face of one of the greatest of the world's crops. Prices are unquestionably abnormally high, but compared with the values of other products, raw and manufactured, wheat prices do not seem to be out of place. Compared with other years, however, the prices are unusual, especially as there is no big speculative movement of a predominant factor.

The argument that the farmers are holding their wheat seems to have lost some of its putency. On the recent decline the country is making more liberal offers and receipts in the Northwest probably will increase, especially as transportation facilities are improved and are almost normal.

The export trade today, said Ames-Brooks, was small.

Winnipeg reported that some wheat had been worked yesterday for May and June shipment. Durum was ½c off, oats ¼c off and rye unchanged. Barley sold 2 cents off from yesterday, and cash wheat sold on an equal basis with May.

Local wheat stocks increased 90,000 bu at the Head of the Lakes in the last two days. Wheat supplies at Minneapolis increased 100,000 bu in the last four days.

Car receipts at Duluth were 115, against 38 last year; at Minneapolis 345, against 111 last year; at Winnipeg 271, against 136 last year, a total of 731 for the Northwest, compared with 385 last year. Chicago received 41 cars, against 13 last year. Kansas City received 69,000 bu, compared with 76,000 bu last year. St. Louis received 67,000 bu, against 51,000 bu last year, and shipped 82,000 bu compared with 71,000 bu last year.

Primary receipts of wheat were 706,000 bu, last year 317,000 bu; shipments, 293,000 bu , last year, 281,000 bu.

Primary receipts of corn were 848,000 bu, last year 611,000 bu; shipments, 306,000 bu, last year 510,000 bu.

Broomhall cabled: "Liverpool—At the opening the wheat market was easy, with larger offerings and the demand quiet, and values showed a decline of ⅝d to ⅞d. Pressure was the result of the easy American cables yesterday and the cheaper La Plata offerings. Following the opening, the market displayed some firmness on the predictions of a decrease in the European visible supply and the unfavorable weather in the United Kingdom. Broomhall's foreign summary was bearish and there is now talk of larger Argentine shipments and these, together with the weakness of spot and the decline in Winnipeg, caused renewed selling, mostly in the way of profit taking, and values at midday were ¾d to ⅞d lower than yesterday. Corn was slightly lower, being affected by the easier American cables. Later the market was neglected, with prices unchanged.

"No wheat cargoes are off coast, and none are awaiting orders. Wheat cargoes in distant positions are easy and more freely offered. Corn is dull with a limited demand. Visible supply of wheat in Europe this week is 81,732,000 bu against $2,382,000 bu last week, a decrease of 650,000 bu. Last year there was a decrease of 300,000 bu when the total was 51,900,000."

Bartlett-Patten wired from Chicago—"Liverpool unchanged on corn and ¾d lower on wheat in sympathy with our decline yesterday. Weather unsettled through West with moderate temperatures. Railroads rapidly getting into normal condition. Receipts of grain bound to increase. Slightly better demand for corn, but demand for wheat and oats moderate. Liquidation seems to be on in all grain pits and we believe that it is safe to sell the grains on hard spots.

Finley-Barrel wired from Chicago—"There is nothing in the news over night which will tend to stimulate courage of bulls, which of late has received a severe jolt. Cables lower, movement liberal, with prospects of further increase as railroads are making every effort to relieve congestion of grain at country and junction points. Cash demand is far from healthy, country offerings are increasing daily. Banks and cash houses report advances on grains have reached enormous proportions for this season of year. The above, coupled with fact that world produced last year a record breaking yield, warrants a further readjustment in values. Of course natural rallies are to be anticipated from time to time but we believe from now on they will be of soda water character, as the situation from a supply and dema.. point considering the prices, is without question the most bearish ever experienced in the history of the trade."

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Bearish Sentiment Has Early Effect in Decline in Wheat.

Chicago, Jan. 18.—Bearish sentiment manifested itself in wheat early today. Opening prices fell off ¼c to ¾c below yesterday's closing figures. The principal factor in the decline was the improved transportation conditions evidenced by considerable improvement in Northwest receipts. Cables told of generally fine crop conditions. In the first hour prices moved over a range of ¾c uniformly in all the futures, the decline at the low points being checked by scattered scalping trades. At the opening the May delivery was ¼@⅝c to ⅝@¾c lower at $1.09⅞@1.09½.

The market continued to decline through the session with occasional rallies. May fell off to $1.08⅞ from a high point for the day of $1.10⅝. The close was weak at nearly the lowest point of the day, with May 1⅛@1¼c lower than yesterday's final figures, at $1.09.

Selling orders were numerous in the corn pit at the start and caused an initial decline of ⅛c to ½c in the opening figures below yesterday's close. A moderate demand developed in the first hour. The support, though scattered, stayed the downward tendency. The bulk of the trading was in the May delivery which opened at 68⅜@68c and kept within the opening figures in the first hour.

Prices fluctuated nervously through the day. May fell off to 67½@67⅝c from 68⅜c. The close was weak with May ⅞@1c lower than yesterday's final quotations, at 67½@67⅝c, the low point of the day.

Oats to a lesser degree followed the the course of the other grains and fell off slightly. Improved buying in the first hour prevented a wide fluctuation, prices keping within a range of a shade to ¼c. May opened unchanged to ¼c lower at 47⅞@48c and kept within those figures during the first hour.

Light offerings and a fair demand held provision prices comparatively steady, although the tendency at the start was downward, the market ranging generally 2½c lower to 2½c higher than yesterday's close. May products at the opening were: Pork, $21.90; lard, $12.15@12.12½; ribs, $11.57½@11.55.

Barley—Cash, 65@73c. Timothy—March, $4.12½. Clover—March, $14.85.

Cash wheat—No. 2 red, $1.23@1.25; No. 3 red, $1.18@1.23; No. 2 hard, $1.12½@1.13; No. 3 hard, $1.10@1.12; lower on wheat in sympathy with our decline yesterday. Weather unsettled through West with moderate temperatures. Railroads rapidly getting into normal condition. Receipts of grain bound to increase. Slightly better demand for corn, but demand for wheat and oats moderate. Liquidation seems to be on in all grain pits and we believe that it is safe to sell the grains on hard spots.

Finley-Barrel wired from Chicago—"There is nothing in the news over night which will tend to stimulate courage of bulls, which of late has received a severe jolt. Cables lower, movement liberal, with prospects of further increase as railroads are making every effort to relieve congestion of grain at country and junction points. Cash demand is far from healthy, country offerings are increasing daily. Banks and cash houses report advances on grains have reached enormous proportions for this season of year. The above, coupled with fact that world produced last year a record breaking yield, warrants a further readjustment in values. Of course natural rallies are to be anticipated from time to time but we believe from now on they will be of soda water character, as the situation from a supply and dema.. point considering the prices, is without question the most bearish ever experienced in the history of the trade."

Hannibal, Mo., wired—"Millers reduced price on No. 2 red from $1.25 to $1.20. Flour business very dull. Running on old orders."

Bradstreet's—Wheat east of Rockies decrease, 1,712,000 bu; Canada increase, 661,000 bu; United States and Canada, decrease, 1,051,000 bu; afloat and Europe, decrease, 790,000 bu. Total decrease, 1,751,000 bu. Corn, increase, crease, 1,751,000 bu. Corn, increase, 541,000 bu; oats, decrease, 1,320,000 bu.

World's available supply of wheat this week, decrease 1,750,000 bu; last week, increase, 4,010,000 bu; and year ago decrease, 2,582,000 bu.

Liverpool—Wheat closed ⅜@½d lower; corn, unchanged to ⅛d lower. Paris—Wheat unchanged to ¼c lower; flour unchanged to ½c lower. Antwerp —Wheat ¾c lower. Budapest—Wheat ⅜c lower.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Bearish Sentiment Has Early Effect in Decline in Wheat.

Chicago, Jan. 18.—Bearish sentiment manifested itself in wheat early today. Opening prices fell off ¼c to ¾c below yesterday's closing figures. The principal factor in the decline was the improved transportation conditions evidenced by considerable improvement in Northwest receipts. Cables told of generally fine crop conditions. In the first hour prices moved over a range of ¾c uniformly in all the futures, the decline at the low points being checked by scattered scalping trades. At the opening the May delivery was ¼@⅝c to ⅝@¾c lower at $1.09⅞@1.09½.

The market continued to decline through the session with occasional rallies. May fell off to $1.08⅞ from a high point for the day of $1.10⅝. The close was weak at nearly the lowest point of the day, with May 1⅛@1¼c lower than yesterday's final figures, at $1.09.

Selling orders were numerous in the corn pit at the start and caused an initial decline of ⅛c to ½c in the opening figures below yesterday's close. A moderate demand developed in the first hour. The support, though scattered, stayed the downward tendency. The bulk of the trading was in the May delivery which opened at 68⅜@68c and kept within the opening figures in the first hour.

Prices fluctuated nervously through the day. May fell off to 67½@67⅝c from 68⅜c. The close was weak with May ⅞@1c lower than yesterday's final quotations, at 67½@67⅝c, the low point of the day.

Oats to a lesser degree followed the the course of the other grains and fell off slightly. Improved buying in the first hour prevented a wide fluctuation, prices keping within a range of a shade to ¼c. May opened unchanged to ¼c lower at 47⅞@48c and kept within those figures during the first hour.

Light offerings and a fair demand held provision prices compar

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE—
Default having been made in the payment of the sum of One hundred twenty-two and twenty-two one-hundredths dollars (121.22), which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Peter Gilley, Mortgagor, to Dickerman Investment Company, a corporation of the State of Minnesota, mortgagee, bearing date the 21st day of June, 1906, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of St. Louis and State of Minnesota, on the 11th day of August, 1906, at eight o'clock A. M. in Book One hundred ninety-four (194) of Mortgages, on page Taree hundred fifty-six (356), from the lien and operation of which said mortgage the following described premises situated in St. Louis County, Minnesota, to-wit, Lots Four (4), Five (5), Six (6), Seven (7) and Eight (8), in Block Twelve (12), of Kimberley and Stryker's Addition to Duluth, Second Division, according to the recorded plat thereof on file in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said St. Louis County, Minnesota, were discharged and released by said Dickerman Investment Company, mortgagee, by a partial release of said mortgage executed on the 13th day of July, 1909, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for St. Louis County, Minnesota, on the 22nd day of December, 1909, at two o'clock P. M. in Book Two hundred three (203) of Mortgages, on page Two hundred thirty-three (233);
Which said mortgage, together with the debt secured thereby, was duly assigned by said Dickerman Investment Company, Mortgagee, to Mary McNulty, by written assignment, dated the 13th day of July, 1909, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for St. Louis County, Minnesota, on the 23rd day of December, 1909, at two o'clock P. M. in Book Two hundred twenty-eight (228) of Mortgages, on page One hundred eighty-one (181); and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said Mortgage or any part thereof.
NOW, THEREFORE, NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said Mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said Mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said Mortgage, which have not been released and discharged from the lien and operation of said Mortgage, viz: Lots One (1), Two (2), Three (3), Nine (9), and Ten (10), in Block Twelve (12), in Kimberley & Stryker's Addition to Duluth, Second Division, according to the recorded plat thereof on file in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said St. Louis County, Minnesota, situated in St. Louis County, Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances thereunto belonging, which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said St. Louis County, at the front door of the St. Louis County Court House, in the City of Duluth, in said County, and State, on the 18th day of February, 1910, at ten o'clock A. M. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of One hundred twenty-one and twenty-two one-hundredths Dollars ($121.22), and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00) Attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.
Dated January 4, 1910.

ONE HOPE IS HELD OUT TO WILLIAM SCHREIBER

Case of Convicted Murderer Is Appealed to Supreme Court.

Defense Contends Evidence Did Not Justify Jury's Verdict.

The supreme court will pass upon the case of William Schreiber, convicted of the murder of Frank Massapust and sentenced to the state penitentiary for life. The papers in the appeal from the judgment of conviction have been served on County Attorney John H. Norton and Assistant County Attorney Warren E. Greene and the case will probably come before the higher court at the April term.

Schreiber's last hope lies in the appeal to the supreme court. Despite the fact that a jury found him guilty of the crime after long consideration of the evidence and that two motions for a new trial were denied by Judge Dibell, before whom the case was tried, there are many people who believe that Schreiber is a victim of circumstances. A movement for the raising of sufficient funds by public subscription for an appeal to the supreme court has been successful and the last resort of the law will be invoked in the convicted man's behalf.

The appeal is based principally on the contention that the evidence in the case was insufficient to warrant a conviction. Technicalities in the trial will probably be touched upon in the arguments, but the main contention is that the verdict was not based on the evidence and on common sense. Schreiber was convicted wholly on circumstantial evidence and those who do not believe in the damning weight of that class of evidence have worked to have the case reviewed by the supreme court.

Schreiber is still hopeful, as he has been ever since he was arrested a year and nine months ago. The papers for his commitment to the state prison not yet having been made out, he is still confined in the county jail and the reflection that he has one hope left is buoying him up.

The charred body of Massapust was found in the ruins of his cabin, about twelve miles west of Cook on the morning of Feb. 9, 1908. Schreiber was arrested April 28 of the same year, and was charged with the crime, his attempt to negotiate some certificates of deposit which had been Massapust's, causing the finger of suspicion to be pointed at him. He was tried at the November term of court in 1908, and was convicted after the jury had been out forty-seven hours.

CHARACTER OF PINCHOT

Former Forestry Commissioner as Seen By Henry F. Greene.

Attorney Henry F. Greene, who was civil service commissioner under President Roosevelt, is very well acquainted with Gifford Pinchot, and while he courteously refrains from expressing any opinion upon the present controversy in which the former head of the forestry department is engaged, he is able to throw some interesting light upon the personality of the man who is attracting national attention at the present time through his controversy with Ballinger and President Taft.

"Mr. Pinchot is a man about 40 or 45 years of age, and is of the artistic, idealistic and intensely enthusiastic type," said Mr. Greene today. "He is the kind of man who puts his heart and soul into his work, and he is so wrapped up in his forestry work, in the great good for the people and the country, that he really has little time for many other things.

"It was only recently that the elder Pinchot died, leaving his son an immense fortune, reputed in Washington to be a very great figure. Mr. Pinchot lives in the most fashionable part of Washington and has a house that is one of the palaces of the national capital. He is an example of the young man with money who has had the ambition to do something in the world, he has made forestry his study, his hobby; it has become a passion with him, you might almost say.

"The man who is attracting so much attention at the present time is a very fine looking man, with a fine cast of countenance and an artistic manner. He is very affable and courteous and very interesting to talk with. I have heard him lecture at the Smithsonian Institution, and his lectures are very interesting. He has made forestry a study and a science and Mr. Pinchot knows a wonderful amount about the forests and trees of this country.

"You would rather believe the man was a student, an investigator, not a politician and a seeker after political preferment. Mr. Pinchot is not compelled to work, and therefore I am sure that he is not in politics for the money there is in it; rather I would believe that he entered the forestry service because of his intense enthusiasm for the work and his wire and extensive knowledge of the needs of the forestry conservation scheme.

"Like the president, Pinchot is a Yale man. He was a very close friend of President Roosevelt's; in fact, one of the very closest at Washington. I believe he is a tennis player, though I have never seen him play. There has never been any question of the man's honesty. I would characterize him as a man immaculately honest. I believe that Mr. Pinchot loves the forests, as any great enthusiast loves the subject of his life work. I also believe that he has the good of the country at heart, and has worked earnestly for the conservation of the forests.

"At Washington he was recognized as an authority on the subject of forestry. He always impresses me as a deep student and thinker, who was completely wrapped up in work, and had little time for scheming or petty politics."

Mr. Green returned this morning from an Eastern trip.

FIFIELD NOMINATED FOR ASHLAND OFFICE.

Washington, Jan. 18.—Among a large number of nominations of postmasters sent to the senate yesterday by the president were the following: John H. Rohr, North Milwaukee, Wis.; Samuel S. Fifield, Ashland, Wis.; William B. Tscharner, La Crosse, Wis.

A COLONY OF DUTCH

Fifteen Families From Holland to Settle in Mille Lacs County.

The plans of the Minnesota Catholic Colonization society for the settlement of lands in Minnesota in the interests of the poorer classes are being steadily pushed to a successful culmination.

To show the large number of settlers who have had little or no experience in agriculture or dairying how to make a rich living upon the soil of this state, experts are being brought from Europe. All of those brought here for this purpose will be specialists in their line with good educations, capable of teaching and demonstrating those who will go upon these lands. The society has about 170,000 acres scattered about the state and will be one of the most important factors in the movement to settle and develop Northern Minnesota.

As soon as the snow is off the ground fifteen families will be brought to the United States from Holland. They will be met at New York and brought to Minnesota in a special car. They will settle in Mille Lacs county.

Another man is in Belgium to secure another colony of families, while others are working among the Poles of Milwaukee, Chicago and other big centers of population. They are exercising the utmost care in the selection of these people and will offer inducements to none whom they do not feel certain would give absolute satisfaction.

HAS IRON MINE FOR SALE

P. J. Greaney from Greaney, Minn., came to town today with an iron mine tucked under an arm and had been here only a few minutes when he got an offer of $500 cash and 15 cents a ton royalty. That might have gone in the olden days but not in these times—nix. Mr. Greaney still has that iron mine under a capable arm and he says nobody will get it until he has received a fair price for it.

In 1891 Mr. Greaney took a homestead on the Vermilion range and he bought adjacent acres bringing his holdings up to 200 acres. His property adjoins the Leroy, La Chance and Walsh properties now under development. He thinks proper development work would show up a valuable mine on his property in the NE¼ of NW¼, section 9-16-15, and the W½ of NE¼ and N½ of NW¼ of section 10-61-14.

For many years Mr. Greaney has been a timber cruiser and locater in St. Louis county. He lives thirty miles north of Virginia in a settlement comprising about 200 families. Mr. Greaney is the postmaster at "Valley."

According to Mr. Greaney, the town named after him is prosperous, although the welfare of the community would be greatly increased by the construction of more good roads.

COUNSELMAN DIVORCE VOID

Chicago, Jan. 18.—Judge Chetlain today ordered that the decree separating Willis Counselman, a broker, from Counselman's former wife, Lulu Counselman, be set aside. This will annul the recent marriage of Counselman and Clara French.

The action to annul the marriage was brought by the Chicago Bar association and the relatives of the first Mrs. Counselman, charging that gross fraud was practiced in obtaining the divorce. The first Mrs. Counselman was in a sanitarium for the insane, throughout the time the proceedings for the divorce were pending, and she was declared to have received no notice of the suit.

In the decree separating Counselman from his first wife it was set forth that he was not eligible to wed within one year from the time of the decree. He disregarded this prohibition and married Clara French at Crown Point, Ind., five days after the decree was signed.

NORTH DAKOTA LUNATIC BELONGS IN WINNIPEG.

Minot, N. D., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—"Jimmy" Brown, who was recently sent to the asylum for the insane of this state, has been identified as Hugh Malcom Brown of Winnipeg, and efforts will be made to deport him. Brown lost his reasoning power following a siege of typhoid fever in this city and has since been in a pitiful condition. A sister resides at Saginaw, Mich., and she has been notified, but as yet has not been heard from. It is believed that Brown is a legal charge of the Canadian government.

WALSH'S SON WHACKS MAN

Uses Suit Case as Weapon and Fells Photographer at Kansas City.

Ex-Banker's Official Guards Join in Laugh at the Escapade.

Leavenworth, Kan., Jan. 19.—John R. Walsh, the convicted Chicago banker, arrived at the federal penitentiary here at 12:06 today, and began serving his sentence of five years. His number as a convict will be 686.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 19.—John R. Walsh, the former Chicago financier, on his way to the federal prison at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., to serve his sentence of five years for misapplication of the funds of the Chicago National bank, arrived in Kansas City at 9:25 this morning on a belated train.

The aged banker had slept fairly well last night and between trains had appeared cheerful.

As the party of officials and relatives that accompanied Mr. Walsh was alighting from the Chicago train, a newspaper photographer who had raised his camera to take a snapshot

SOUTH HONORS ROBERT E. LEE

Celebration of 103rd Birthday of the General Is Held There.

New Orleans, Jan. 19.—The 103rd birthday of Gen. Robert E. Lee was celebrated throughout the South today. Being a legal holiday in a number of states, it was attended with a partial suspension of business activity. The distribution of crosses of honor to Confederate veterans by the Daughters of the Confederacy in practically every town and city of the South, constituted a prominent feature of the day's commemoration.

TALK OF RAISING LAKE PREMIUMS

Protective Association Delegates Say Action May Be Necessary.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 19.—At the second day's session of the Great Lakes Protective association here today, delegates discussed the necessity of an advance in the insurance rate on hulls of vessels engaged in the lake trade. Such action it was thought, may be necessitated by the heavy losses to ship property during the 1909 season. Though owners declared that the rate of 5 per cent on hulls was close to the prohibitory line, an increase of ½ to 1 per cent was agitated.

Representatives of the Lake Carriers' and the Lumber Carriers' associations also convened here today.

SAYS PEOPLE PAY MILLIONS

Fouse Talks to Insurance Chiefs About Present Legislation.

Declares Non-Uniformity of Laws Costs Policyholders Over $15,000,000.

Washington, Jan. 19.—From $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 a year is the toll paid by the life insurance policyholders of this country as a result of the lack of uniformity in state insurance laws and practices, according to L. G. Fouse. This is at least 5 per cent of the yearly payments to policyholders and beneficiaries, he figures.

Mr. Fouse, who is president of the Fidelity Mutual Life Insurance Company of Philadelphia, made these figures known today in an address before the Association of Life Insurance Presidents. He is a member of the executive committee of the association.

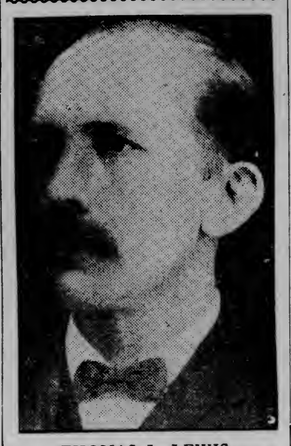

Executive officers of the principal life insurance companies of the United States, representing 20,000,000 policyholders and nearly $4,000,000,000 in assets, began a conference here today at the third annual meeting of the Association of Life Insurance Presidents.

Hundred Companies Represented.

While the association itself is composed of the twenty-three largest life insurance companies in the country, the conference is in every sense an open one, and in all about 100 companies are represented. The four sessions which will be held today and to-

LOSES SKIRMISH WITH UNION "INSURGENTS"

THOMAS L. LEWIS,
President of the United Mine Workers of America.

MINERS PUT LEWIS DOWN

Insurrectionists Take Control of Convention and Suspend Rules.

Fight Over National Organizers Throws Meeting Into an Uproar.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 19.—The insurrectionists took charge of the convention of the United Mine Workers of America at the opening of today's session, and despite the efforts of President Lewis the rules were suspended and a motion by Frank J. Hayes of Illinois, that national organizers' salaries should be cut off during their attendance here as delegates, was considered. Hayes was supported by William Green of Ohio.

The convention was thrown into an uproar by the contest. Charles Gildey of Hazelton, Pa., a national organ-

WILL KEEP MILK AT WINTER PRICE

Boston Dealers Decide Not to Make Usual Summer Reduction.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 19.—The winter price of milk, 9 cents a quart, will be continued through next summer, according to a vote taken by the Boston Co-operative Milk Producers' association. It has been customary to make a reduction to 8 cents for the summer. Official reports showed that milk producing cows in one year had decreased 4,000 in Maine, 4,000 in New Hampshire, 3,000 in Vermont, 2,000 in Massachusetts and 1,000 in Connnecticut.

COUNTY VOTERS GO TO THE POLLS

Eighty Constituencies Cast Ballots in English Election.

London, Jan. 19.—Eighty constituencies returning eighty-one members voted for members of the new parliament today, but few results will be known before tomorrow. The county divisions had their first innings, and these seldom make their returns until the day following the election.

Of the 81 seats contested today the Liberals held 52 in the last parliament, the Unionists 18, Laborites 7, and Irish Nationalists 4. The Unionists, however, expect to make big inroads upon the counties captured by the Liberals in the landslide of 1906.

Some Interesting Men.

Among interesting personalities standing for election today are Sir Edward Grey, secretary of state for foreign affairs, Liberal candidate for Northumberland, North division; Arthur H. Lee, Unionist, Hampshire, South division; Herbert L. Samuel, Liberal, Yorkshire, North Riding-Cleveland division; Thomas McKinnon Wood, Liberal, for Glasgow, St. Rollox division, and Alexander Ure, the Liberal candidate for Linlithgowshire, against whom the Unionists have made an especially energetic campaign because of his assertion that government old-age pensions would cease if the Liberals were ousted from power.

James Keir Hardie, Laborite, for Merthyr Tydvil, is also fighting for his seat today. Capt. H. Spender Clay, Unionist, who married Miss Pauline, daughter of William Waldorf Astor, is the Conservative candidate for Kent, Southwest.

The elections yesterday resulted in the return of the following: Unionists, 21; Liberals, 15; Laborites, 3; Nationalists, 1. Unionist gains, 12; Liberal gains, 1. The standing of the parties at the conclusion of the day's polling was as follows: Unionists, 120; Liberals, 98; Laborites, 26; Nationalists, 28. Total gains: Unionists, 51; Liberals, 9; Laborites, 1.

NO STATES THIS YEAR

Senate Committee Has New Plan for Arizona and New Mexico.

President Taft Is Said to Have Acceded to the Changed Program.

Washington, Jan. 19.—No new stars will be added to the American flag before the summer of 1911, according to the plan under consideration in the senate committee on territories. The program is said to have the indorsement of President Taft. It provides for the reporting of an entirely new bill for the admission of New Mexico and Arizona as states.

The Hamilton bill, which was passed by the house, is declared to be objectionable to the senate committee on two grounds. First, the bill does not provide for sufficient elapsed time between the proposed territorial elections for the adoption of Constitutions and the election of state officers and of members of the senate and house of representatives.

The other objection relates to the public interests in relation to existing and proposed land grants.

LEMON FAMINE IN SOUTH IS BROKEN

Shipload of Fruit From Sicily Arrives at New Orleans.

New Orleans, La., Jan. 19.—The end of a lemon famine in New Orleans and other Southern cities was marked today by the arrival here of the steamship Marie Mazeli, considerably overdue, with its cargo of 6,000 boxes of lemons from Sicily. During the last few weeks lemons have been sold as high as $15 a box in the local market.

WOULD LIGHTEN BAN ON CHINESE

Los Angeles Men Get Commercial Club to Consider Request.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 19.—The chamber of commerce has under consideration today a request supported by Bishop W. S. Lewis of the Methodist church and others, that the organization assist in fostering a movement to induce the federal immigration bureau to temper the rigors of the Chinese exclusion act.

FIX TARIFF BY FEB. 7

Germany Will Not Wait for America Beyond That Date.

Schedule Including 127 Articles Involved in the Convention.

Berlin, Jan. 19.—The government has decided that in the event that an agreement upon reciprocial tariffs between the United States and Germany is not reached by Feb. 7, when the running arrangement expires, Germany's general tariff rates must, under the law, be applied to American imports at present coming in under the conventional tariff. One hundred and twenty-seven articles will be affected.

It was, however, semi-officially declared today that the tariff negotiations with the United States had not been broken off, and it was added that time remained for a settlement of the differences between the two countries. In the absence of such a settlement the general tariff rates will go into effect automatically at midnight on Feb. 7.

Commercial Board Summoned.

The imperial consultative commercial board, composed of manufacturers, financers and economists, has been summoned to meet on Jan. 24 and consider the trade position taken by the United States. The government wishes to explain to the board the attitude which it has assumed.

Last night's speech of Privy Councilor Goldberger before the American Association of Commerce and Trade, in which the speaker indicated that Germany was not disposed to give way to the United States, was based, it is learned, upon Goldberger's personal inquiries in government quarters.

The newspapers today note with some concern that Germany was omitted from President Taft's proclamation of yesterday of the countries to profit by the minimum rates at United States ports.

STETSON FACTION IS VOTED DOWN

Election in Christian Science Church May Be Taken Into Court.

New York, Jan. 19.—Mrs. August E. Stetson's friends have lost their fight to keep control of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, board of trustees. The result of a prolonged session of the congregation last night, followed by balloting in the early morning hours was announced today, the candidates of the party opposed to the former first reader having been elected by the decisive vote of 733 to 486.

The anti-Stetson2 ticket bore the legend: "Loyalty to Mother Church; Democratic Government; Rotation in Office," and the policy of the trustees elected on it will, it is declared, be framed in cordial sympathy with the wishes of the leaders of the church in Boston.

There are hints that the validity of the election will be tested in the courts on the ground that challenges of voters were overruled by the chairman of the meeting. No authoritative statement on this point could be secured today.

RUMOR AGAIN LINKS ROYAL NAMES

PRINCESS PATRICIA,
Niece of King Edward.

MANUEL II,
King of Portugal.

It is reported again that King Manuel of Portugal will marry Princess Patricia of Connaught, known as "Princess Pat." She has been reported as sought by the king of Spain and other members of royal families, and it has been said that her heart is set on an English peer who does not reciprocate her affection. She was said to have scoffed at the King of Spain, but Manuel is quite a different sort of person. Princess Pat is three years and eight months older than King Manuel.

Congressmen Begin Investigation of Expenditures By Ballinger.

Hitchcock and Dennett Among Those Present at Hearing.

Washington, Jan. 19.—The investigation of the charges made by Representative Hitchcock of Nebraska, a Democrat, alleging extravagance in the interior department, including charges affecting Secretary Ballinger and his cousin, "Jack" Ballinger, was begun before the house committee on expenditures in the interior department today. Bird S. McGuire of Oklahoma, chairman of the committee, presided.

Commissioner Fred Dennett of the general land office, whose service directly figures in the contention that there were many instances of improper use of the million dollar appropriation for the protection of the public [illegible] and Mr. Hitchcock, who stirred up the trouble, first by a speech in the house on Dec. 16, and later followed up in a statement to the committee were present today.

Mr. Hitchcock in his statement said that about the time the present secretary of the interior, then commissioner of the general land office, and Jack Ballinger, his cousin and private secretary left for Seattle, the latter received an expense allowance, although it was known he was about to resume private law practice.

DOZEN DEAD FROM FIRE?

Six-Story Factory Building in Philadelphia Is Destroyed.

Whole Interior Is Burned Out ---Bodies Sought in the Ruins.

Philadelphia, Jan. 19.—A dozen persons, mostly young women, are believed to have lost their lives in a fire that today destroyed a six-story factory building at 200-202 Chancellor street, in the heart of the produce market section of the city.

M[illegible] Davis [illegible] to Have Gone to Lawyers.

New York, Jan. 19.—"I decline to discuss the matter in any of its aspects," was Former District Attorney Jerome's reply today to a question as to the truth of the reports that Mrs. Richard Harding Davis, wife of the novelist, was taking legal counsel for the adjustment of marital difficulties.

Friends of the couple had heard that Mrs. Davis had retained the law firm of Jerome & Rand, of which the former prosecutor is a senior member, to represent her interests. Mr. Davis could not be reached today, but his attorneys declared that they had no knowledge of any legal steps taken or contemplated by Mrs. Davis.

Mrs. Davis was Cecil Clark, daughter of John M. Clark of Chicago, Ill. The author was an insistent suitor and made his final proposal by cable, received a cabled "Yes" in reply. They were married in 1899 at Marion, Mass.

Washington, Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The house today passed a bill to authorize the city of Minneapolis to construct a bridge across the Mississippi river at that city.

OHIO RIVER ON RAMPAGE

Floods Are Expected as Result of Breaking of Big Ice Gorge.

One Death Reported and Some Spectacular Rescues Made at Pittsburg.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 19.—Tons upon tons of water today poured into the Ohio from the Allegheny river, where, thirty miles above this city, the ice gorge at Freeport broke last night. The Allegheny, bank full of soft, spongy ice, crumbled into small floes by its tumble over the dam after the gorge let go, was forcing the Ohio river up at the rate of two feet an hour.

As soon as the gorge broke Henry Pennywitt, the local forecaster, sent out warnings by telephone. The police, too, notified the residents and business men of the downtown district, and as it was expected twenty-four feet, two feet above danger mark, would be reached by noon, there was a scurrying to move furniture and stock to upper floors.

At Wheeling, W. Va., Mr. Pennywitt said the stage would reach thirty-five feet by tomorrow. This is one foot below the flood mark there.

One Death Reported.

One death reported is that of Pearl Hodgson, aged 8, of Turtle Creek, who, while playing in a flooded cellar, slipped off a raft and was drowned.

During the morning the weather bureau reported the river at twenty-two feet and rising three inches an

CONCERNING WOMAN.

Isadora Duncan didn't get to Duluth on her continent tour, but of course a whisper of the roar of discussion, which her entertainment has caused throughout America reached here. Half the world was shaken to what seemed its very foundations over its difference of opinion over Miss Duncan's bare foot dances. Families divided against themselves, shocked ministers preached against her and her insinuating art lovers of the beautiful upheld her, business men covered their eyes in confusion and shame, and artists did without sustenance for days at a time, just because Miss Duncan's dancing was completely satisfying and beautiful and joyous and free and artless and graceful and rhythmetic and all that sort of thing.

But at least in this season of little social activity, Duluth society may follow in the tract of society East and West. Dowager matrons, slim sylphs of girls, and those who in the theatrical world would be candidates for the pony ballet, are going in for Duncan dancing. Miss Duncan, be it known, causes all the furor of excitement because she insisted upon dancing with no more covering on her feet than nature put there. Of course, every one knows that every one had feet and that they are a great help in making one's living and all that sort of thing, but to appear publicly without covering. Horrible!

But Miss Duncan just would. She copied the poses from old Gracian urns. Did the ladies on the urn have on French heels? They did not. Neither would Isadora. The portion of humanity who are known as society girls are of course not beginning with unclad feet. They are wearing ballet slippers, and are learning to dance with their feet and arms and neck and head, making the whole affair the very poetry of motion.

Why doesn't Duluth do it?

A festival of music in the spring has been financially more or less of a failure in Duluth, but think of the success a festival of Duncan dancing would be with the society girls as chief performers. The fad has everything to commend it. It would succeed in producing a generation of graceful dancers, and not just a lot of well intentioned folks who can hop through a two step in more or less time to the music. If the ladies who are beginning to achieve double chins would take to it, it would be a fine flesh reducer; it would be highly educational and no end of fun. And it would be something to do.

Don't let Duluth be the last place in the United States to begin Duncanizing.

FEBRUARY LECTURES.

B. Papot to Deliver Six Lectures Here.

The second lecturer to come to Duluth in the university extension lectures arranged by a number of Duluth people will be Benedict Papot, Ph. B., head of the romance department of Chautauqua Institute of New York and lecturer for the University of the South. The first lecture will be given Saturday evening, Feb. 5, and one will be given each week for six weeks.

TRAVEL CLASS

Listens to Delightful Lecture By Dwight Woodbridge.

Dwight Woodbridge gave a most interesting talk yesterday afternoon before the members of the travel class of the Twentieth Century club at the library clubroom. Mr. Woodbridge spent three months last year in Norway and his personal impressions and knowledge gathered on that trip were presented in a most entertaining manner. The patriotism of the people of Norway and the development of their country was the subject of the greater part of his talk and the afternoon was one of the most delightful of the year.

Box Ball Alley Now Thrown Open to the Public

Makes the Hit of the Season

Box ball is a wonderfully improved form of bowling. It does not require any pin boy, as the pins are set automatically with a lever operated by the player. Thus you do not have to wait for the pins to be reset—just pull the lever and the pins are instantly ready for another game—no waits—no annoying delay between games. This game has made a tremendous hit everywhere, and is simply sweeping the country with an immense wave of popularity. It is better than any indoor game ever known and as fascinating as many of the big outdoor sports. People play this game for hours; often they become so enthusiastic that they play on and on after any other game would have lost its interest, and the more they play the stronger and healthier they get. It is better than any gymnasium or physical exercises, and cheaper, too.

Bring the free coupon ticket on this page and play the wonderful game. To all male adults: Don't fail to cut out the free coupon ticket and bring it in Jan. 24, 25 or 26, for after that no tickets can be accepted except when accompanied with the regular cash price. Come and try this game at our expense and just cut out the free coupon, bring it to us and you will enjoy the most fascinating game you have ever known. Watch these columns in the near future for forming of clubs and giving of prizes.

FREE COUPON

This ticket is good for one game of box ball when properly signed by any male adult and presented to the attendant at our alleys. Only one coupon allowed to each person and must be presented on or before Jan. 24, 25 and 26.

WAGON STRUCK BY STREET CAR

Two Boys Injured and Horse Killed in the Collision.

Wilson and Walter Knight, aged 11 and 13 years, were injured, a horse killed and a light covered delivery wagon completely demolished about 11 o'clock last evening, when a west-of the Anti-tuberculosis society, will Thirty-fourth avenue west struck the rig from behind, hurling it for a distance of seventy-five feet and spilling the occupants out.

Walter, the older of the two boys, sustained the more painful injuries, although neither of the boys was seriously hurt. The father of the boys, W. C. Knight, who lives at Fortieth avenue west and Eleventh street, stated that Walter was confined to his bed with a sprained shoulder while the other lad was able to be about today.

When the car struck the rig the jar broke the back of the hor... Some of its legs were also smashed. It was shot later by a police officer. The boys were carried into the residence of Bert N. Wheeler, at 3406 West Third street, and a physician was called.

The boys at the time of the accident, were driving home with a load of groceries from their father's store at 1709 West Superior street.

WILL GIVE SOCIAL AND BASKET BALL GAME.

For the purpose of raising funds to secure new suits for the members of the basket ball team, the Young Men's Sodality of the St. Clement's Catholic church will give a card social tomorrow evening at the school hall.

A good program, with many interesting features, has been arranged for the occasion. After the entertainment, there will be a basket ball game between the first and second teams.

WILL VISIT THE SUPERIOR LODGE.

About sixty members of North Star lodge, No. 11, I. O. G. T. will hold a sleighride party to Superior and return Saturday evening. The West end Good Templars have been invited over by the Superior lodge, which is making elaborate preparations for their entertainment while in the city across the bay.

A meeting of the order will be held tomorrow night, at which time the final arrangements for the affair will be made. Harmony lodge, I. O. G. T., of Superior will provide an entertainment for the visitors and refreshments will be served the Duluthians during the evening.

The party will start in two sleighs from the residence of Gus Landin at Twenty-first avenue west and First street.

MOORHEAD PRIEST VISITS DULUTH.

Rev. Father Gerard Sellmann, formerly of a parish in New York City, but more recently of Moorhead, Minn., is in Duluth, the guest of Rev. Father Augustine of the St. Clement's parish at the West end, and the bishop for a few days.

Father Sellmann is very much interested in the work which is being done at the St. James Catholic orphanage at Twentieth avenue west and Third street, of which Rev. Father Raymond, assistant pastor of the St. Clement's church, is chaplain.

While in New York city, Father Sellmann was the chaplain of the Farmingdale Orphans' Home on Long Island for a number of years. He was also connected with the Nazareth Trade school, another parochial institution in his parish.

Will Install Officers.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers will install officers at a meeting which will be held Friday afternoon at Columbia hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street. After the ceremonies, a supper will be served to members and their families. The Proctor lodge has been invited to attend.

The following officers will be installed:

Mrs. C. Emerson, president; Mrs. G. H. Craig, vice president; Mrs. L. McLish, secretary; Mrs. J. Watson, treasurer; Mrs. A. Dahl, insurance secretary; Mrs. J. Evans, guard; Mrs. A. A. Farrer, sentinel.

Peterson Funeral.

Funeral services for Miss Mary M. Peterson, 25 years old, who died yesterday morning at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peterson of 2319 West Tenth street, after a three years illness of tuberculosis, will be held tomorrow afternoon. The service will be conducted at 2 o'clock from the family residence, with Rev. J. H. Stenberg, pastor of the First Norwegian Lutheran church, officiating. Burial will be at Lutheran cemetery.

Republicans to Meet.

The Republicans of the West end will meet tomorrow evening at Sloane's hall, at which time, all of the Republican candidates in the city will be present. Mayor Haven has been asked to be the principal speaker at the meeting.

Is Fascinating Game.

Much interest is being shown in the boxball alley, that has been opened at 2805 West Superior street by James M. Holt. The game is said to be an improved form of bowling, the player setting up his own pins by pulling a lever, thus avoiding any annoying delay. Boxball is fascinating and healthful, and is a great game for women and children, as well as men. Mr. Holt is not ready to accommodate women and children at his alley, but is preparing for their trade as fast as possible. Free coupon in tonight's Herald, entitling the holder to a game.

West End Shortrails.

"OPEN MARKET" WILL BE A REALITY BEFORE SPRING

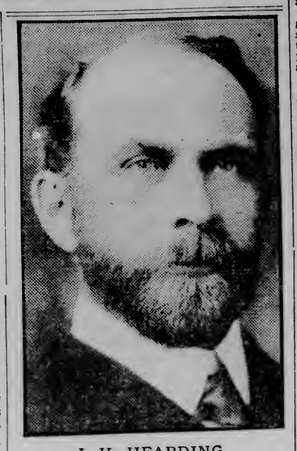

Temporary Association Is Formed at Meeting of County Club.

Permanent Organization Will Be Formed at February Meeting.

The open market association is at last an accomplished fact.

It is a temporary organization at present, but it will be made permanent, and the 100 or more farmers, who were present at the meeting of the County club yesterday afternoon, will carry the gospel of co-operation home with them and urge the farmers' clubs of which they are members to become associated with the new organization. The general plan of the market association was submitted to the meeting by J. S. Pardee, chairman of the committee, appointed for the purpose of drawing it up.

The plan was practically the same as that outlined in The Herald last week. Mr. Pardee then suggested that a committee be appointed to investigate the plan and suggest changes. After some little discussion it was decided that there was no time like the present, and that it might be months before so many farmers were brought together again, so the club promptly resolved itself into a committee of the whole and discussion of the plan followed, which lasted during the remainder of the afternoon, and through the dinner at which the delegates were entertained by the Duluth Commercial club. But few changes were made in the plans, although they were thoroughly discussed in every detail. At the close of the discussion a temporary organization was effected with the following officers:

J. H. HEARDING,
Re-elected President of the County Club.

Temporary Officers Elected.

Chairman, L. H. Budbee, Wrenshall; secretary, John S. Pardee, Duluth; vice president, J. R. Grady, Adolph; treasurer Ludwig Mosback, Partridge; directors, B. A. Beek, Cromwell; Louis Christensen, Sandstone; Charles Schelin, Alborn; E. N. Hemerad, Arnold; Andrew Puall, Forbes; Joan J. Yung, St. Louis River; J. H. Peterson, Meadowlands; A. J. McGuire, Grand Rapids; E. H. Reff, Bagley; C. P. Craig, Duluth; Amos Garrett Floodwood.

The plan is to have the delegates return to their homes and urge the various clubs to which they belong, to become members of the new association. They will then send representatives to a meeting to be held the second Thursday in February, when the permanent organization will be effected.

organization will be effected. This permanent organization will take final action on the by-laws.

During the meeting yesterday afternoon, officers were elected as follows: President, J. H. Hearding, Duluth; first vice president, R. E. Stratton, Hibbing; second vice president, W. A. Haenke, Eveleth; third vice president, William Moore, Floodwood; secretary and treasurer, Fred B. Meyers, Biwabik.

Following is a copy of the by-laws approved yesterday:

"1. Any organization of farmers or gardeners shall be entitled to membership in this association having not less than ten individuals enrolled, actually producing agricultural commodities available for marketing in Duluth. The board of directors of this association shall be judge of the eligibility of any organization desiring membership.

"2. Loan funds for the conduct of the business, not exceeding $10,000 in gross amount, may be negotiated by the board of directors, provided that they shall not exceed at any time the amount fixed by a vote of the association.

"Unless otherwise directed by the association, the directors may in their discretion execute short-term notes or certificates of indebtedness for such loans.

"Certificates so issued should run in series and provision shall be made for their payment at maturity. They shall bear interest not exceeding 6 per cent. They may, in the discretion of the directors, or upon the affirmative vote of the association, bear upon their face a provision that in case the interest thereon is in default sixty days or longer, the holder of each certificate, in the amount of not less $250, may participate in a vote of the association upon any question that may properly be brought before it.

"3. The board of directors may be authorized by vote of the association, to contract debts for the purchase of real property and fixtures, or to lease the same when it appears that the revenues of this association and the earnings of such property are sufficient to meet such obligations.

"The membership fee, which shall accompany each application for membership, shall be $10 minimum, and such further amount as shall equal a per capita fee of 50 cents.

"The membership fee for individual producers shall be $5, and shall accompany the application.

"Assessments may be levied by the directors not exceeding $1 per capita in any one year, and assessments in larger amounts may be levied by a two-thirds vote of the individual members.

"4. The board of directors of this association shall have power to make any necessary regulations for the control and management of its' market places and warehouses, to fix the rental price of stalls or booths, to assign such stalls or booths to members or others, and to make all necessary contracts and engagements for rentals, leases, sinking fund and interest charges.

"5. The board of directors shall have power to execute and enforce all the provisions of the articles and bylaws of this association.

"To conduct the business of this association in all matters consistent herewith.

"To make all regulations pursuant to these bylaws and the articles of association.

"To buy from members and sell for members, and for the association all farm and garden products.

"To grade, accept or reject all produce offered to this association.

"To collect and disseminate all profitable information about this and other markets and to advise shippers as to time, place and manner of shipment, provided that all orders shall be distributed as nearly as possible in equal rotation.

"To elect the officers of this association and assign their duties, consistent herewith.

"To authorize the employment of necessary superintendents, servants and assistants.

"6. In all transactions for members, the directors shall withhold a percentage of the returns calculated to meet all expenses and current dues of this association.

"The directors shall cause immediate returns to be made to members from all transactions under these bylaws, with the deduction herein noted.

"7. Once in every three months the board of directors shall cause a settlement to be made with all members, in which, after deductions have been made for all causes incident to the business, any surplus in the hands of the association shall be returned to the members in proportion to their commitments for the time during which the settlement is calculated.

"8. The members hereby enter into a contract with the association to market through its agency exclusively, all produce shipped in carlots, and it is part of this contract that members shall pay on products otherwise sold in carlots, a brokerage to this association equal to the percentage fixed at that time, as the expense margin of the association.

"9. Proper books of entry shall be kept, showing all transactions of this association. The books and correspondence of this association shall be in the name of the association, and all members shall have access to such books and correspondence during business hours.

"10. In all matters determined by a vote of this association, the numerical vote shall be that established by the articles of association and their bylaws.

"Votes may be had at any annual meeting, at any special meeting called by the directors, in which call the matters to be brought before the meeting shall be clearly set forth, or by mail vote, in which case the question proposed shall be clearly set forth in writing.

"11. The directors may propose for mail vote, any matter which has the support of a majority of their members, and shall submit to mail vote any proposition which one-third of the members may in writing demand; but any question also submitted, shall require either a majority of the directors and a majority of the association; or two-thirds majority of the association.

"12. These bylaws may be amended by two-thirds vote of the members at any annual meeting, or by two-thirds mail vote, as hereinbefore specified.

"Membership in this association may be terminated upon twenty days' notice to the board of directors and a full quittance of any charges against the member retiring."

WHISKEY FOR RHEUMATISM

The increased use of whiskey for rheumatism is causing considerable discussion among the medical fraternity. It is a wonderful cure when mixed with certain other ingredients and taken properly. The following is the formula:

"To one half pint of good whiskey add one ounce of Toris compound and one ounce of syrup Sarsaparilla compound. Take in tablespoonful doses before each meal and before retiring."

Any druggist has these ingredients or will quickly get them, any one can mix them. This formula was published here last winter and hundreds of people were promptly benefited.

DOZEN DEAD FROM FIRE?

will not be known until the firemen complete a search of the ruins.

Panic at the Start.

The fire is said to have started on the third floor, either from a slight explosion or the blowing out of a fuse in an electric switchboard. Those on that floor were instantly thrown into a panic and the cry of fire was spread.

When the excitement reached the three upper floors, a rush for life ensued. Many of the girls were young and they became practically helpless in the panic. The work people on the first and second floors and most of those on the third escaped, but those in the upper portion of the building were blocked at the third floor, which was a mass of flames.

The stairway was blocked with a solid mass of people fighting for life. Some got through, others fell unconscious on the stairs, while others rushed to the windows and leaped.

Leaped For Life.

By this time Chancellor street was filled with people who implored the girls not to jump, but to wait for the firemen. The pleadings were unheeded, and the leap for life began.

Produce men hurriedly brought out large squares of canvas used to cover produce at night, and willing hands held them for the girls to jump. It is estimated that about twenty made the leap from different floors. More than half of the twenty were so badly injured they were removed to hospitals.

The fire spread rapidly through the structure, but energetic work confined the fire within the walls where the flames started. The roof and the floors fell in to the first floor and stopped all rescue work for the time being.

A hundred men are now digging at the ruins. Several of the women and girls taken to hospitals are expected to die.

A Wild Blizzard Raging

Brings danger, suffering—often death—to thousands, who take colds, coughs and lagrippe—that terror of winter and spring. Its danger signals are 'stuffed up" nostrils, lower part of nose sore, chills and fever, pain in back of head and a throat-gripping cough. When Grip attacks, as you value your life, don't delay getting Dr. King's New Discovery. "One bottle cured me," writes A. L. Dunn of Pine Valley, Miss., 'after being 'laid up' three weeks with Grip." For sore lungs, Hemorrhages, Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, it's supreme. 50c. $1. Guaranteed by all druggists.

KILLS SELF AT LAPORTE

John A. Johnson of Minneapolis Is Suicide in Indiana.

Laporte, Ind., Jan. 19.—The authorities are mystified over the suicide of a well dressed man, believed to be John A. Johnson of Minneapolis, Minn., who, after handing a package addressed to the "A. E. Johnson Transportation company, Minneapolis, Minn.," to A. A. Ross, station agent at Magee, Laporte county, and remarking, "This is as good a place as any," pulled a revolver from his pocket and shot himself through the head.

The man had left a through Grand Trunk train at Union Mills. In the package were a trunk check and a ticket from Minneapolis to Gottenberg, Sweden. The man was 64 years old and had $60 in money and a watch on his person.

HARTMAN'S NAME

Sent to the Senate By President Taft—Other Nominations.

Washington, Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—President Taft today sent the following nominations to the senate:

To be register of the land office at Duluth, Minn.—Charles F. Hartman of Duluth.

To be census supervisor—Harold Blake, for the First district of Montana.

Minnesota postmasters — Argyle, Brayton S. Buckingham; Farmington, Hamilton H. Jackson; Houston, Casper F. Schonlau; Jackson, Alexander Fiddes; Osseo, Elmer Owen.

CENTENARIAN ELECTED DIRECTOR OF A BANK.

Barre, Mass., Jan. 19.—What is believed to be in its way a world's record, was created yesterday when the stockholders of the Barre Savings bank at their annual meeting re-elected George Howard, who is three months more than 100 years old, to the bank's board of trustees. Mr. Howard is thought to be the oldest living trustee of any bank.

IF ASTHMA SHOULD RETURN

What a Former Sufferer Would Do If Ever Afflicted Again.

When one has suffered from asthma and finally experienced a complete cure, it is interesting—particularly to those now afflicted with the same trouble—to know just what course that person would pursue should the asthma ever return. Three years ago Miss Mary A. Cowley, 24 Hamilton street, Muskegon, Mich., experienced a complete cure through the use of the new specific, ascatco, and only a month ago, said: "I have never had asthma since, but if I should ever have any trouble in the future ascatco would be the first thing I should try." Her experience is echoed by thousands of former sufferers who have found in ascatco their only means of relief.

Besides the effectual work which ascatco does in driving the disease from the system, nothing is so valuable as a preventive measure. Relief is experienced at once, choking attacks at night being checked almost instantly.

Every asthma sufferer who has not tried ascatco may learn what effect it will have in their own case by using the trial treatment, which is sent free of charge to any one who will write to the Austrian Laboratory, 32 West Twenty-fifth street, New York city. The genuine ascatco may now be procured, for regular treatment, in both the 50-cent and $2 sizes, at the Lyceum pharmacy and W. A. Abbetts in Duluth, the A. E. Holmberg Drug Co., in Superior, and other leading drug stores.

CLAIM DISALLOWED IN PHILLIPS ESTATE.

Washington, Jan. 19.—The claim of Nathaniel Wilson and the administrators of the estate of the late Phillip Phillips to 10 per cent of the moneys awarded the Roman Catholic archbishop of San Francisco and other prelates of the Catholic church against the Republic of Mexico by the court of arbitration at The Hague, Oct. 14, 1902, and of the amount subsequently to be paid by the Mexican republic, on account of what is known as the Pius fund, has been disallowed by Justice Gould of the district supreme court.

"Mysterious Raffles" Held.

Grafton, N. D., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Clarence Cooper, the "Mysterious Mr. Raffles" who recently fleeced a number of Grafton business men, has been bound over to the district court of Walsh county. His bail was fixed at $500, but it has not been furnished. Cooper was captured in Butte, Mont., after a long chase.

PLAIN TALKS TO FARMERS AT COUNTY CLUB MEETING

Williams, Bede and Prof. Gray Speak at the Evening Session.

We Can Live as Cheaply as Grandfathers Did, Says Bede.

"I am glad to be a farmer," said John G. Williams when called on for a talk at the meeting of the County club, at the Duluth Commercial club last evening.

"A few years ago," continued Mr. Williams, "not one per cent of the improvements had been made that have now become most common to us all. The improvements at this time are not one per cent of what they will be a few years hence.

"Duluth is waking up and by her wakening the surrounding country will be improved. It is only lately that Duluth people have realized that the factories, steel plant, and all the other improvements are going to do but little good without a development of the surrounding farming country. There is no better place to farm. People are searching all over the country for seeds such as can only be grown here. They know this, but the country has not been producing.

A Slow Awakening.

"There have been various steps taken in the awakening process by the citizens of the Zenith City. It has all come about slowly and the real importance has at last dawned on people to such an extent that the work is now going along in fine shape.

"The other day Duluth made up her mind that she wanted a garden. She is going to have it and I might add that when once started and in full swing, it cannot be beaten. Duluth people have been buying everything to condensed milk. This won't do and the people are finding it out. We must produce and I cannot make that too strong.

"Now, I am very much interested. It is a work that should have begun long ago. We have been so busy getting merchantile interests in the city and drawing them here that the most important thing of all has for a time slipped our notice. The work is rightly started now; let us continue and work as hard in this direction as we have in others.

"I would like to see here in Duluth a sort of clearing house of information for the farmers. People who had by a careful study grown to know what species of the vegetables would grow to best advantage here and also what there is the best market for, should be willing to pass the knowledge on. What to grow and how to grow it to the best advantage; how to prepare the soil; on what soil to plant the various vegetables; what breed of dairy cattle is best suited to our needs, how to breed horses and other animals; all these things and more of which I have not the time to speak, I wish it were possible for the farmers to know for the asking.

No Overcrowding.

"Don't any of you farmers ever be afraid that there is going to be too many of us in this business. The more the merrier. This part of the country will never be overcrowded. There will always be room for everybody. The farmer represents the bone and sinew of the country. Everything depends on him and he must make good.

"Why say, four years ago there were grown in the Northern part of Michigan but $600 worth of peas. In 1909 there were grown 400,000 bushels. You see we are not the only ones who are waking up to this farming proposition. There is no better market in the world than right here at home."

Here Mr. Williams read an editorial from Hoard's Dairyman, a farming journal published at Fort Atkinson, Wis., and written by ex-Governor Hoard of Wisconsin. The article told of what was being done in Duluth to help the farming interests, and commended the action of the people in taking the matter up in the enthusiastic manner that is always characteristic of people who live at the Head of the Lakes.

"This whole surrounding country is one day going to be known as 'Duluth's farm,'" the speaker continued. "Duluth is going to be proud of it, and while the work is just beginning, I hope to see the day when the present improvements will look very small as compared to the conditions that I know will exist in the future."

Mr Williams' remarks were enthusiastically received.

J. Adam Bede drifted in about this time, and he was called on for a few remarks on "Creameries." Mr. Bede had left his facetious manner behind, and he talked seriously on this subject as long as what he knew held out. He admitted that there were a few people who probably knew more about creameries than he did. He said he helped to start one a long time ago, and that was about his only association with the subject. Mr. Bede switched to the school question. He said that the most important thing next to farming was to teach the young people how to farm. He declared that the day of the little red schoolhouse is about over. "The time is coming," said Mr. Bede, "when we are going to give our sons and our daughters a high school education without taking them away from the home. I favor the country divided school, and hope to live to see the time when this that I have just told you of will not be a myth but a reality.

The Cost of Living.

"All this talk about the high cost of living amuses me at times. We can live today just as cheaply as we lived years ago. We can live as cheaply as our grandfather and our grandmother lived. But will we do it, that is the question. We have all the modern improvements. Electric lights, telephones and all those things are not these days thought to be a luxury but a necessity. Everybody has them. That is the reason. If we would go back to the old folks' way of living, of course we could get along. Still we kick. We want too much. We expect too much. We want everything and refuse to sacrifice. Of course the cost of living is high. We have four times as much as did our forefathers and yet we constantly kick and claim that the conditions are wrong.

"Do you know that 25 per cent of the population of each large city in the United States should get back on the farm? Do you know that if this same 25 per cent of which I speak went back that they would never be missed? It is true. We have been away from the land too long.

"Now, I am a farmer. I am proud of it. I am living on a farm and I am in hearty sympathy with the farmers. I know something about a farm. I have spent a good part of my life on one. But, there is the big question. We can't expect the people to endure the hardships of starting a farm after having been used to the modern methods of city life. We must make the life attractive. We must get to those people some of the enjoyments of the city. There is no reason why a farmer should not have as beautiful a lawn as the rich man in the city. There is no reason why he should not have steam heat in his house. He should have all these things and the boy and the girl would be content to remain on the farm instead of seeking the cities and falling into some of the pitfalls laid for them.

Cruelty to the Soil.

"Then, also, there should be improvement along other lines. We arrest people these days for cruelty to animals. I say that farmers should be arrested, tried and fined for cruelty to the soil. Soil should be treated right, because civilization has a right to use the land."

Mr. Bede said that he could talk for hours on this farming subject, but he knew others were to follow.

J. S. Pardee read a communication from a member of the Duluth Commercial club in the form of a resolution of regret on the death of O. H. Simonds. It was decided to incorporate the communication in the minutes of the meeting. The last public work of Mr. Simonds was to help make a report of market conditions in and about Duluth.

Prof. George Grey of the University of Minnesota told of conditions years ago and of the great improvement over them today. He said that when a boy he lived in Illinois with his father and mother on a raw piece of ground 125 miles from the nearest town. He said that he now often wondered how they got along at all. How they endured the conditions and were finally successful, he said, was quite beyond his knowledge.

Prof. Grey compared conditions here with the conditions in the older countries of Europe. He said that on visiting in London he was impressed with the great strength of labor organizations. He said that the farmers of this country should organize for their own protection and benefit.

He admitted that the farmer has up to this time been wasteful, but he said that the trouble is not ignorance in this locality. It is the fact that there are not farmers and roads enough.

Prof. Grey laid stress on the fact that the farmers should have all the modern comforts. He told a story to illustrate his point of the maid who applied at the house of his friend for a position, passed it up when it was offered, giving as her reason that the room she had been assigned to was not equipped with the modern improvements she had been used to. He said that was just the point. People must have the new way of living in the country as well as in the city.

"The farmer these days in a small way is up against it. He finds himself helpless under the present transportation and road conditions. What use is a large crop if there are no roads?"

Prof. Grey referred to the good being done by the agricultural schools of the Mississippi valley. He said that they were returning in dollars and cents the money spent. He said that the time was coming when the good done would be even much greater than at present.

"We are never going to have roads in this state until people quit being afraid of the state and put the matter in its hands with sufficient money, and the work under the direction of skilful engineers. In this county it will be impossible for your county board to build roads as fast as the country is settled up and they are needed. The state must come to the rescue and outside capital must be enlisted in the fight for good roads.

"This is the most enthusiastic meeting I have ever attended in this state. I want to congratulate you on your energy, pluck and your perseverance. I wish I could talk longer. I would like to go over every detail with you as this is the most interesting subject I know."

Causes Debility

Here Are Facts Backed Up by a Strong Guarantee.

Catarrh causes debility. In our opinion, most people suffering from general debility have catarrh. Such cases of debility cannot be completely cured by medicine not designed to eradicate catarrh. In every case where our remedy fails to give entire satisfaction we will not charge a cent for the medicine, employed during the trial. Now, surely no one should hesitate to believe us or to put our claim to a practical test under such conditions. We will take all the risk; no one else can lose anything by the transaction.

We make these statements and this offer because we know and have time and again proved that Rexall Muco-Tone rarely fails to do as we claim. It is not a cure-all prescribed to cure every disease that flash is heir to. It is intended for one purpose, i. e., to cure catarrh, by assailing the diseased condition in a reasonable, scientific way, which is to employ agents that have been found to have the tonic and alterative power to correct faulty metabolism (tissue change) and to stimulate and help nature overcome the cause or causes of catarrh. This being done, appetite increases, nutrition improves, weight is gained, comfort of body is attained and life's work taken up with the zest natural to the perfectly healthy individual.

We want you to try Rexall Muco-Tone. Follow directions and take it regularly and consistently for a reasonable length of time. Then, if you are not satisfied, come back and tell us and the money you paid for the treatment will be returned without any argument whatever.

Rexall Muco-Tone comes in two sizes, 50 cents and $1 a bottle. Sold only at our store.—The Rexall Store. E. M. Tredway, 108 West Superior street.

MUST FIGURE IN BOND INTEREST

Corporation Tax Decision Is Given By the Attorney General.

Washington, Jan. 19. — Financial institutions will be required to take into account the interest on United States bonds owned by them in making returns to the commissioner of internal revenue under the law imposing a tax of 1 per cent on the net income of corporations.

An opinion to this effect has been rendered by Attorney General Wickersham for Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh. It has been eagerly awaited by national banks and other financial institutions throughout the country.

The total amount of interest-bearing debt of the United States, represented by issues of bonds outstanding Dec. 31 last was $913,317,480. More than $700,000,000 of these securities are deposited by national banks with the treasury to secure circulation and public money deposited with them. The total interest on the bonded indebtedness of the United States annually is $21,275,000.

MASONIC LODGE FREE FROM "DEATH DUTIES."

Des Moines, Iowa, Jan. 19.—The Iowa supreme court here today held that the Masonic lodge is a charitable organization and is not required to pay the state a collateral inheritance tax on any bequests.

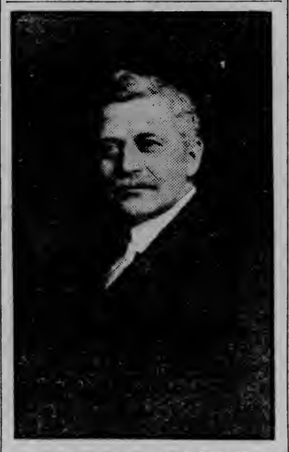

HARTMAN IS APPOINTED

Duluth Man Will Succeed J. C. H. Engel in Land Office.

Congressman Miller's Choice Is Approved By the President.

Charles F. Hartman of this city, formerly manager of the West Duluth Water & Light company, has been appointed register of the land office in this district, to succeed J. C. Herman Engel, whose term of four years will expire Feb. 1. Mr. Hartman's nomination was signed by President Taft late yesterday. It will be sent to the senate for confirmation with the first batch of appointments.

Congressman Clarence B. Miller of Duluth recommended Mr. Hartman and his selection was indorsed by Senators Nelson and Clapp. Mr. Miller made the recommendation about ten days ago and Secretary Ballinger of the interior department forwarded it to the president with his approval. This is the first of the more luscious pieces of pie that Mr. Miller has to distribute.

CHARLES F. HARTMAN,
The New Register of the Land Office.

Mr. Miller was notified Monday by President Taft that the chief executive did not regard Mr. Miller as an outcast from the party because he was insurging over the back lots. Mr. Miller dined with the president and after the other guests had departed Mr. Taft gave the Duluth congressman assurances that his support and that of the other insurgents would be welcomed and appreciated on legislative matters even if they continued to deploy against "Uncle Joe" Cannon.

Mr. Miller raised an outcry about three weeks ago when he found that the administration was trying to discipline him. The other insurgents, including Congressman Lenroot of Superior, discovered that their recommendations were being held up and they, too, lifted aloft their voices in protest. The rumpus had its effect and Mr. Miller was the first insurgent to be notified by Postmaster General Hitchcock that the patronage of insurgents would not be molested.

WARRANT FOR ESCANABA MAN

R. D. Stack Wanted on Charge of Kidnaping His Young Son.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 19.—An information charging R. D. Stack of Escanaba, Mich., with kidnaping his 6-year-old boy, was issued here yesterday on complaint of Mrs. J. W. Allen of Nashville, Tenn., the child's grandmother. Chief of Police Creecy telegraphed to the seaports to intercept Stack.

The boy was taken away from St. Louis last week, and Stack announced he was going to London. He was divorced in Spokane, Wash., two years ago. Under the court order, Mrs. Stack was given $50,000 alimony and the custody of the boy ten months each year.

Mrs. Stack was married in New York two months ago to Orion Burbank of Los Angeles. She was on her honeymoon trip when the boy was taken.

VESSELMEN IN CONFERENCE

Duluth Agents Attending Sessions at Detroit---Tugmen Also Meeting.

G. A. Tomlinson, D. T. Helm and R. C. Helm, all well know Zenith City vessel agents, are this week in Detroit, Mich., where the annual meeting of the Great Lakes Protective association is being held. The meeting brings together representative vessel owners and vessel agents from all around the Great Lakes.

The Great Lakes Protective association is the vesselmen's mutual insurance organization which was launched a year ago and has so far proven satisfactory to those interested.

The lake carriers and lumber carriers are also holding their annual sessions at Detroit.

The annual convention of the Licensed Tugmen's Protective association is taking place at Buffalo. James Walsh, who is in charge of the state free employment bureau, and Capt. Charles F. Green, captain of the tug Superior, represent the Duluth tugmen at the meeting.

WANT STATE TO BEAR LOSS

County Board Objects to Paying Judgment for Money Lost in Bank.

At a special meeting of the county board yesterday afternoon, the members took further steps to evade the payment of a judgment of $17,161.74 obtained by the state on account of funds lost by the failure of banks in which funds were deposited.

The board instructed its attorney, William J. Stevenson, to take such steps as are necessary to carry out the provisions of a resolution requesting the attorney general to refer the matter to the governor, that a commission shall be appointed to adjust the equities of the matter. The members of the board believe that since the county lost money in the failures as well as the state, both should bear their own losses and the state should not throw the whole burden on the county.

The board turned down the petition of a number of the residents of Spina, asking that they be allowed to submit the matter of the incorporation of the place as a village to the voters.

ONE FOR TAMMANY.

Gaynor Makes Whitney Commissioner of Corrections.

New York, Jan. 19.—With one exception, William J. Gaynor now has completed his official cabinet as mayor of Greater New York. He has yet to appoint one or two commissioners of accounts, one of whom he named last night along with a commissioner of corrections and a board of assessors. In this, the last batch of appointments which the mayor has handed down, Tammany fared better than at any time since the inauguration of the Gaynor administration. The new commissioner of corrections is Patrick A. Whitney, a lifelong friend of Charles F. Murphy and recording secretary of Tammany Hall. The commissioner of accounts named is Raymond B. Fosdick, independent in politics, a Princeton graduate and for some time connected with the department of accounts.

EMPLOYED BOYS TO BE GUESTS

Novel Entertainment Friday Night at Boys' Department of the Y. M. C. A.

Friday evening the employed boys of the city are to be guests at the Boys' Department of the Y. M. C. A. The secretaries of the boys' department will be down town tomorrow with the invitations and the only qualification to get one is that the boy works. If any boy is missed he may get an invitation by calling at the boys' department not latter than Friday noon. The committee in charge is sparing no palms to make it an evening long to be remembered.

The program will include a sketch by Chester McLeod, entitled "Pickles for Two." There'll be music, games, a wrestling match and a basket ball game. "Noodles" Fagan, the king of the newsboys, will be on hand to entertain the crowd. Each boy will receive a complimentary ticket, entitling him to two swims in the big swimming pool, and the evening will close with refreshments.

The entertainment is exclusively for the employed boys and none others will be admitted. Every employed boy in the city is invited, and if any are missed in the distribution of invitations, Secretary McLeod invites them to call at the boys' department and get one.

TOLEDO TO HAVE BIG ORE DOCKS

Railroad Will Spend $1,500,000 on Improvements at That City.

Toledo, Ohio, Jan. 19.—The intention of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton immediately to construct here ore docks and freight yard improvements, aggregating $1,500,000, was announced last night by Frank P. Alfred, assistant to President Cotter. The ore handling plant will have a storage capacity of 750,000 tons, and the yards, a capacity of 2,700 cars. Mr. Alfred said that this will enable the railroad to handle 2,000,000 tons of coal, compared with 1,200,000 tons last year.

IS SUING THE BIG PACKING COMPANIES.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 19.—Attorney General Jackson of Kansas began suit yesterday in the district court of Kansas City, Kan., against the Armour Packing and Swift Packing companies, charging them with being members of a combination to raise prices illegally. The state alleges that the companies belong to the Kansas City produce exchange and are therefore liable under the Kansas law providing a penalty of $100 a day for such membership.

BALLINGER KEEN FOR BATTLE, HE DECLARES.

Washington, Jan. 19.—Secretary Ballinger made it plain last night that he does not intend to resign under fire. When told of a report that he was to leave the cabinet and be succeeded by a man from Oklahoma he showed some heat.

"I don't intend to resign while there is anything to fight," he said. "That cannot be made too plain and it is final. It is intended to answer this resignation rumor whenever it comes up in the future."

REEDAL WINS DULUTH CURLING CLUB EVENT

Zauft of West Duluth Is Defeated By Badger Rink.

Tucker of Pardeeville in the Finals in Three Events.

Five games remain to be played in the Northwestern bonspiel. They are scheduled to be played this afternoon, when some of the best curling of the "spiel" is looked for.

This morning the Zauft rink of West Duluth was defeated by Reedal in the finals of the Duluth Curling club event, the strong rink from Phillips, Wis., taking the game by the score of 12 to 7. The playing of Staples was the feature of the game. He made some sensational running shots and some very clever draws.

The other game played this morning was between Currier and Tucker in the International event, the Tucker rink winning out by the score of 12 to 6. Tucker's rink played a strong, consistent game this morning, the running shots of the Tucker crowd preventing Currier's rink from getting anything like a dangerous looking head.

The playing of Tucker's rink has proved one of the features of the bonspiel. The Tucker rink will play the finals this afternoon in the International event, being opposed by Dunlop's rink. This is expected to be one of the best games of the "spiel."

In the St. Paul Jobbers' event this afternoon Zauft and Brewer will play in the semi-finals, the winning rink meeting Hurdon in the finals. The Tucker rink will play in three finals on this closing day of the bonspiel. He will oppose Hurdon in the finals of the Minneapolis event, and Dunlop in the Western and the International.

The score of the two games played this moring follow:

Duluth Curling club final—
Reedal .....0 3 0 1 2 2 0 1 0 1 0 2—12
Zauft .....1 0 1 0 0 0 3 0 1 0 1 0—7

International event—Semi-finals—
Tucker .....0 2 0 2 1 4 0 1 1 1 0 x—12
Currier .....1 0 3 0 0 0 1 0 0 0 1 x—6

MEDICAL INSPECTION IN SCHOOLS INAUGURATED

Board of Education Engages Physician and Visiting Nurse.

Action on Central Heating Plant for Two Buildings Held Up.

The board of education at a meeting this morning made a start toward establishing systematic medical inspection of school children. For the remainder of this school year, the work will be confined to the five schools, in which examinations were recently conducted by physicians who volunteered their services, but the board has in view the extension of the system to all of the schools of the city as soon as the plan is worked out. Dr. C. H. Schroder was apponted examining physician and Miss Theresa Beattie visiting nurse.

The committee on teachers and schools, which received the reports of the Franklin, Jefferson, Adams, Emerson and Irving schools, which were examined by the physicians who volunteered in the experimental work, reported on the results obtained and recommended the action the board took.

W. G. Crosby, in commenting on the report and the recommendations, said that the report of the physicians was no reflection on the general health of the people of the city or the children in the schools. He said conditions are quite as good as the average. He said the committee recommended the beginning of the work in only five schools in order that the board might have an opportunity of determining how many physicians would be needed to carry on the work all through the city and in order that a system might be worked out that could be applied to secure the best results.

Card Index System.

"If we once have medical inspection in the schools, we will never give it up and we will wonder why we never had it before," said Mr. Crosby. "Every big business has a card index system. Why shouldn't we have our children listed in a card index system in order that we may keep track of their condition of health?"

Dr. Boyer told the board that the engaging of a nurse to work with the physician is absolutely necessary to secure results. He said the physician would examine and diagnose and then the nurse's duties would be to visit the home of the pupil and tactfully instruct the mother as to what course should be pursued. He said many slight ailments would be treated by the nurse and that many defects or diseases, which now cause the exclusion of the child from school, could be treated in the school by the nurse, cutting down the percentage of exclusions.

Under the terms on which Dr. Schroder is engaged, he is to spend three hours daily in the inspection of pupils in the five schools in which a beginning has been made. The nurse is to put in the greater part of her time supplementing the work of the physician.

The report of the committee follows:

"Since the beginning of the school year by the aid of the voluntary services of resident physicians a preliminary attempt has been in progress to ascertain the condition of the pupils in five of the schools of the district with reference to their health and the presence or absence of bodily defects. The five schools selected were the Franklin, Jefferson, Adams, Emerson and Irving. The reports in detail of the principals of these schools are on file with the secretary of the board. These reports are to some extent incomplete and imperfect. This was unavoidable from the lack of system incident to the working together of so many different physicians without general direction and from the fact that the work was new and not systematized. However, each individual pupil in each of these five schools has passed under the eye of one of the physicians, and a record has been made of each child who showed a diseased or defective condition.

"An average of the reports shows that forty in every 100—two out of five—required some special mention by the physicians. This condition is not so bad as it sounds. Half of these, or 20 per cent of the total, had some slight trouble or ailment, annoying and perhaps communicable, but not directly affecting the general health. Twenty per cent of the total, or one out of every five school children, had some diseased condition more or less serious which required definite attention. In one school more than 5 per cent suffered from defective eyesight. The other schools showed on the average not more than half this percentage, though the actual condition must have been about the same. Nearly one-half as many had some irritable or inflamed condition of the eyes or eyelids, which made the use of the eyes painful or difficult. More than 5 per cent of the children were found to need dental treatment, while about half of 1 per cent had some ear trouble. Throat troubles were, however, more common than all these others put together. Only a small percentage of these last would deserve medical treatment, but, as nearly as can be estimated from the imperfect data, at least one child in twenty should have some attention given to the throat. All the trouble last noted comes directly within the category of diseased conditions which can be easily relieved, which directly affect the efficiency of the child for study and which tend to grow worse and to bring other troubles in their train.

Conditions Not Alarming.

"We do not picture the condition as alarming. The same conditions exist elsewhere. These troubles do not of themselves shorten life, but they account for many a case of irritability, inattention, obstinacy, listlessness or lack of ambition. The parents are in most cases ignorant of these troubles and blame the child or the teacher.

"There were, however, frequent cases of unsuspected contagious diseases and serious spinal or lung trouble which require more extended treatment, but which are all the more dangerous to the future welfare of the child. If regular medical inspection is introduced it will be possible to keep run of these cases and where lung trouble exists to see that the pupil is excluded before danger of contagion arises.

"It is perhaps impossible to go more fully into the results of these examinations. It seems, however, to your committee that they demonstrate the advisability of pursuing still in a tentative way, the course already taken and taking advantage of the work which has already been done and building upon that work a more serious, careful and systematized inspection. For this purpose, it is necessary that there should be regular inspection by some one appointed physician, and that his work should be supplemented by that of a visiting nurse.

"Doubtless the work will have to be systematized largely through consultations between the members of your committee and such physician, if employed. The work of the nurse is to consist in visiting the parents, explaining the reports made by the physician and endeavoring to induce the parents to adopt such measures as will lead to the removal of the defects. It has been found elsewhere that the employment of such a nurse is absolutely essential to any definite results. Your committee believes that by the end of the school year the physician employed will be able to present to the board a report of work accomplished that will be of great value in determining the future action of the board as to this matter, and will be well worth the small expense involved. Among other things it will appear how many pupils can be looked after by one physician and just how it will be possible to systematize the work and extend it to all the schools of the district, should such extension appear to the board to be desirable."

The board extended a vote of thanks to the physicians, who assisted in the preliminary examination of pupils.

The plan for establishing a central heating plant in the high school building to furnish heat and power to the high school building and the new Washington grade and manual training building was given what may be only a temporary set-back this morning, when the credits offered by the contractor on the new building on account of the changes, were presented to the board.

Engineer Larson and the committee on buildings and maintenance had estimated that the central heating plant could be istalled at an additional cost of a little less than $10,000. It was pointed out that the change would save in the neighborhood of $2,500 a year and would be a good investment. The board looked favorably on the plan, but the estimates were overturned by the contractor's figures showing that instead of a saving on the cost of construction in the new building, the elimination of the heating plant in it would cause additional expense and the replacing of the present plant in the high school building by one of sufficient capacity to heat both buildings would mean an outlay of about $20,000.

The matter was referred back to the committee on buildings and maintenance and they will confer with the architect and contractors and attempt to get some more satisfactory figures.

Mr. Brewer reported that he had been investigating the cost of removing the chemical laboratory from the high school building to a new room to be erected over the boiler room and he found that the new room in brown stone would cost $6,800 and in vitrified brick, it would cost $5,800. Action on the matter was deferred until some figures would be obtained on the effect of the change on the insurance rates on the high school building.

• • •

Dr. Boyer reported that the committee on schools and teachers is working on a plan for fumigating the books in rooms in which contagious diseases are discovered. He submitted a sketch of a box, in which it is proposed to enclose all of the books in a room for fumigation. He pointed out that by fumigating the books in a box, the necessity for fumigating the entire room, or the bookroom, would be obviated.

Henry J Gude, 2340 Minnesota avenue, Park Point, was appointed truant officer to succeed George V. Fifer, who resigned from the position Jan. 1.

• • •

On account of the small size of the seats in the Washington school building, the request of Miss Jean Poirier for the use of a room in the building for a night school was denied. If an arrangement can be made between Miss Poirier, Supt. Denfield and Principal Buck for the use of one of the high school rooms for the purpose, it will be sanctioned by the board.

ANNUAL MEETING OF PILGRIM CHURCH.

The annual meeting of Pilgrim Congregational church was held last evening at the church. As usual dinner was served before the business session and nearly two hundred of the church members were present. The past year has been a most successful one for the church, more than $14,000 having been raised for the various activities. A new parsonage has been purchased at the cost of about $9,000 and $2,000 was sent to the support of missions.

The officers chosen for the year were: Alexander Anderson, trustee; William S. Woodbridge, W. W. MacMillan and A. G. Strong, deacons; Brewer Maitocks, clerk; H. W. Nicols, treasurer; W. W. MacMillan, treasurer of benevolent funds. For the Sunday school the following were elected: Andrew Nelson, superintendent; G. A. Schulze, assistant; Eugene W. Harbison, secretary; Alonzo W. Taylor, treasurer; Mrs. John Drew and Mrs. H. D. Maddock on the standing committee.

IMPLEMENT MEN WILL MEET AT GRAND FORKS.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The annual program of the North Dakota and Northwestern Minnesota Implement Dealers' association for the meeting here Feb. 1 to 3, is announced by Secretary Geo. F. Carpenter of Crookston.

There will be addresses by a number of prominent men of Minnesota and North Dakota. The association's membership is made up of the implement dealers of Minnesota and North Dakota and a large attendance is anticipated.

Physicians In Combine.

Menominee, Mich., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The physicians of Menominee and Marinette have agreed on a uniform scale of prices. They believe that they have not been as well paid as the members of the profession in near by cities and have entered into an agreement to raise their fees.

Bishop Foss Seriously Ill.

Philadelphia, Jan. 19.—The condition of Bishop Cyrus D. Foss of the Methodist Episcopal church, who was stricken yesterday with paralysis, is critical today and little hope for his recovery is entertained. Bishop Foss is 76 years old. He was retired several years ago.

MAY LEAVE CHURCH WORK

West Duluth Pastor May Go Into the Insurance Business.

The congregation of the Plymouth Congregational church, Fifty-fourth avenue west and Bristol street, has extended a call to Rev. Daniel G. Cole, who for the past three months has been acting pastor of the church.

When the annual meeting and election of officers is held tomorrow evening at the church, Mr. Cole will give a definite answer to the request that he remain in charge of the church for another year.

Recently Rev. Mr. Cole received an offer from an insurance company with headquarters in Des Moines, Iowa, to take charge of a number of its agents.

Mr. Cole stated today that he had not yet definitely decided whether he would accept the call to the church, or go into the insurance business. He came to West Duluth three months ago from Butte, Mont.

In Butte Rev. Mr. Cole was engaged in missionary work at the Western state penitentiary of Montana. He also was retained by one of the colleges there as a lecturer.

FORMER PUBLISHER IS VISITING FRIENDS HERE.

G. A. Terry, formerly of West Duluth, but now of Gardner, Minn., is here on a visit with friends. Mr. Terry formerly operated a printing shop on Central avenue and for a few years published the West Duluth Post. For the past two years he has been located at Gardner, where he is interested in an inn for sportsmen.

May Not Give Play.

The senior class of the Duluth Industrial high school has partly abandoned the idea of giving a class play before graduation this year, and it has been decided that the play will not be given this semester.

The class has been active in debating work during the past term, much time being devoted to this feature. According to Principal S. A. Foster, the play will be presented some time the latter part of next semester, if it is given at all.

The new semester will begin Feb. 7.

West Duluth Briefs.

C. Mehling of Sixty-seventh avenue west and Raleigh street, will entertain the Young People's Society of the St. Stephen's Evangelical Lutheran church at his home, tomorrow evening.

Fraternity lodge, No. 860, Modern Brotherhood of America will install officers this evening. A large class of candidates will be initiated and after the ceremonies there will be a social and smoker.

The West Duluth Dancing club will give a masquerade ball tomorrow evening at Wade's hall.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the St. Stephen's Evangelical Lutheran church will be entertained tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. Barr, 2113 West Fourth street.

Mrs. C. R. Keyes of North Fifty-sixth avenue west will entertain the West Duluth branch of the W. C. T. U. at her home, tomorrow afternoon.

West Duluth council, No. 255, Royal league, entertained at a social last evening at the Commercial club. H. H. Stone, state deputy, had charge of the initiation. The affair was wound up with a dance.

Five dollars reward for any information leading to the arrest and conviction of the party that has my English setter, answering to the name of King, tied up. Dog is colored white and orange, and when last seen Monday wore collar with my name and address on. M. H. Murray, 428 North Fifty-seventh avenue west.

Masquerade, Thursday night. Wade's hall.

The ladies of St. James' Catholic church will give a card party, followed by a dance, tomorrow evening at Gilley's hall on North Central avenue.

Mrs. George Little of 612 North Fifty-sixth avenue west entertained the Ladies' Aid Society of the West Duluth Baptist church at her home, this afternoon.

John D. Lowe of 316 North Sixty-third avenue west, who has been confined at St. Mary's hospital for some time, is reported to be recovering, today.

Miss Fern Brooks entertained the Philathea club of the West Duluth Baptist church last evening at a coasting party. Tonight, the society will meet at the home of Mrs. Robert Dunn of Seventy-first avenue west.

Hurst. Watch repairing, W. Duluth.

Mesaba tribe, No. 25, Improved Order of Red Men, held its annual "powwow" last evening, when the officers of the order will be installed. After the installation, there was a smoker followed by a dance.

Removal sale at Miss Lindgren's.

OUR BIG "3" SYSTEM OF BUYING PIANOS

Makes it possible for you to obtain the very highest grade of pianos at prices the same as New York or Chicago. Our pianos are standards of the world. The well-known reputation of the Ludwig, Kranich & Bach, Ivers & Pond, Weber and Steinway, and the great Pianola Pianos insures you the greatest value.

Standard Pianos—Standard Values. You can buy more intelligently after you see and hear the best. Prices no higher than you would be willing to pay for inferior instruments.

Mme. Scheff will use our pianos in her suite, and also in the Lyceum for her great concert in Duluth, Jan. 24 and 25.

The musical clubs of the city use them almost exclusively. They must be the best.

We rent new pianos at $4.00 per month.

NEW TOWN ON THE VERMILION

Operations in Robinson Lake Basin Necessitate New Business Center.

Plans are under war for a new town on the Duluth & Iron Range railroad, between Tower and Ely. A Duluth company operating on the Vermilion range is preparing to meet the demand for another mining town, and it is asserted that the new municipality bids fair to rival some of the older range towns as a lively business center.

The demand for this new abode for miners, is created by ore finds of considerable magnitude in the Robinson Lake basin, about ten miles west of Ely. Several companies are operating drills in this basin, and at least, one of them, it is claimed, has shown up an extensive body of ore near Robinson lake. A shaft to mine this ore will be sunk in the early spring, and accommodations on a larger scale must be had for the employes of this and other companies which expect soon to be shipping from this district.

The plans for the townsite are being made by the Duluth-Vermilion Iron company, which has secured surface rights of a large tract of valuable mineral land for this purpose.

The Duluth-Vermilion Iron company is controlled by Duluth and Eastern capital, L. B. Manley, Charles D. Brewer, Elmer S. Whyte, Dr. Stanley R. Holden and John B. Bisbee, officers and directors of the company, being residents of Duluth.

The new town promises to be quite an addition to the Vermilion range, both as a business center and a beauty spot.

The townsite will occupy some sixty acres of high ground northeast of Robinson station on property leased to the company for mining purposes. The land is well drained and level, and contains many beautiful trees which will be left standing for shading purposes.

No name for the new town has been selected by the company as yet.

CONVICTED OF STEALING MONEY

A jury in the district court this morning returned a verdict of guilty against Albin Johnson, who was charged with grand larceny in the second degree.

Johnson was accused of taking from a man named John Norling $22.32 while Norling was in a drunken condition at the Nicollet hotel some months ago. He claimed that he took the money for safe keeping, as he was robbed in the same hotel some years ago. At first he claimed when arrested that the money was his own, he having earned and saved it while working in Dakota. He later admitted taking the money, but insisted that it was for safe keeping.

The jury was out but a few minutes.

INVENTOR OF THE TIME LOCK DEAD

Rochester, N. Y., Jan. 19.—James Sargent, known the world over as the inventor of the time lock, and president of the Sargent & Greenleaf company, died suddenly at 85 years. Mr. Sargent's death, which was entirely unexpected, came peacefully after an illness of only twenty-four hours. He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. John F. Forbes, and one grandson, Midshipman Sargent Forbes of Annapolis academy. Mr. Sargent was a member of the First Universalist church and also a member of Valley Lodge, A. F. & A. M.

Mr. Sargent was born at Chester, Vt., on Dec. 5, 1842. Some years later, with his family, he moved to New Hampshire, where in 1847 he was married to Mrs. Angelina Morse Foster. In 1864 Mr. and Mrs. Sargent moved to Rochester. Mrs. Sargent died in this city three years ago. It was in Rochester that most, if not all, of the inventions which gave to Mr. Sargent the name of the "Rochester Edison" were perfected.

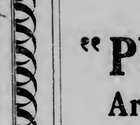

Picked Government Locks.

The invention however, which brought fame and success to Mr. Sargent, was the time lock, which since it was put into use in 1873, has defied the skill of safe burglars. Previous to the introduction of this lock Mr. Sargent startled the department of the treasury in Washington by picking all the locks of the United States government there, to show how useless were the locks which had been in use up to that time.

Among Mr. Sargent's other inventions was a glass enameled steel tank which made it possible to manufacture beer under the vacuum process from start to finish within twenty days.

Big Land Owner dead.

Marquette, Mich., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—John R. Gordon of this city, aged 58, former member of the legislature and one of the largest land owners in the upper peninsula is dead in Los Angeles. Heart failure claimed him.

(Seal, Probate Court, St. Louis County, Minnesota.)

Duluth Evening Herald, Jan. 19, 26; Feb. 2, 1910.

THE CHICAGO TRAIN WAS ON TIME.

An unusual event has happened in "our midst." The Northwestern train from Chicago was precisely on time, yesterday.

For the first time in quite a spell, the Chicago train reached Duluth according to its running card. How the event happened to occur, is not known, as the train was an hour and a half late this morning.

Local officials of the Omaha state that the track between here and Chicago is still in a condition that makes fast running out of the question. The frequent changes of weather, freezing and then thawing, and the heavy snow banks that are piled along the tracks, make fast service a rather inadvisable policy on the part of the railroad.

It was stated this morning that conditions between here and Chicago were rapidly improving, and that it was expected that within a very short time the Northwestern would be running on schedule time again.

DULUTH'S OPEN MARKET.

The organization of the Producers' Co-operative Market association of Duluth at the meeting of the St. Louis County club yesterday afternoon took practical and business-like form, and it was backed by a degree of vim and purpose that leaves little doubt of its success. And its success is quite as important to the future of Duluth as any other pending plan.

The market place must be the foundation for efforts to encourage cultivation of nearby soil, because before men should be asked to settle on that soil they must be assured a place where they can sell their products. Nor is the use of this market place to be confined to those who till the soil within wagon or trolley road distance from Duluth; it must include those who ship by rail. To get its benefits, producers who ship by rail must form co-operative marketing societies of their own in each community, to get the benefit of shipping in larger quantities. All these points are covered by the pending plan, and it is particularly encouraging to note the large attendance of outside farmers who realize that Duluth must be their best market.

The plan is assured of success if it has the support that appears now to be promised; and it must succeed or all other plans for solving the problem of cost of living in Duluth will fail.

HEARING FROM THE PEOPLE.

The vote of the insurgents in congress does not by any means represent the full force of the revolt against Cannonism.

Several weeks ago The Herald noted the spread of the revolt to Ohio, as evidenced by the outspoken attitude of leading Republican newspapers of the state. The other day the Republican house members from Ohio had a caucus, and the Washington correspondent of the Cleveland Plain Dealer states that nine of them announced that they never will vote for Cannon or the present rules again. They were quite frank about their reasons. They had lately been home, and they were hearing much alarming news from home. If they didn't desert Cannon, their constituencies would desert them. So they are announcing to their respective districts that when they apply for re-election, it will be as opponents to Cannon and Cannonism.

In point of fact, the question whether Cannon will announce that he will not seek the speakership again is not important. Of so little importance is it that we ardently hope that his district will re-elect Mr. Cannon, and that he will present himself as a candidate for speaker of the next house.

It is as certain as anything so far away can be, that in the next house the anti-Cannon forces will be in control. Pro-Cannon congressmen will either follow the example of the Ohio representatives, or they will be beaten; and maybe they will be beaten anyway, their constituencies not taking kindly to political deathbed repentences. Besides, it is at least an even bet that the next house will be organized by the Democrats anyway; and whatever they do, they will not elect Cannon speaker.

GOVERNOR HUGHES'S WEAK REASONING.

Though the opponents of the income tax are gleeful because so eminent and so respectable a statesman as Governor Hughes of New York has opposed its ratification, it is not because of the cogency of his reasoning.

The Outlook, which opposes the income tax because it fears that it will reach incomes derived from industry and not from property, has analyzed and discredited Governor Hughes's argument that the amendment should not be adopted because it authorizes congress to tax incomes "from whatever source derived," and therefore congress may tax the incomes from state bond.

As The Herald has said, this is merely the opinion of one good lawyer, and many other good lawyers hold a contrary opinion. Even if it were correct, it is not probable that congress would frame a law taxing the income from state bonds; but if it did, it is a practical certainty that the supreme court would annul such taxes.

Says the Outlook: "Governor Hughes's objections to the amendment do not seem to us to be final. The amendment is permissive, not mandatory; congress under it may enact a statute specifically exempting state and municipal bonds. All that the states have to do to protect themselves is to elect representatives and senators who will see to it that the revenues of their respective states are not interfered with. If discretion to tax state bonds were left with the executive, there might be some ground for Governor Hughes's fear of incroachment, for the executive is the representative of the entire nation and of no particular state. But the congress is composed of delegates from the states, each of whom should be and may be expected to be a natural guardian of the rights of his state. Again, if indifferent to or ignorant of the welfare of the states, the delegates to congress should attempt to tax state and municipal bonds, would not the supreme court construe such an act to be contrary to the spirit, if not the express terms, of the Constitution? That this would be the attitude of the court is foreshadowed by many of its previous decisions. The gist of these decisions is that neither government (federal or state) may tax those agencies or instrumentalities of the other which are essential to its preservation as a government."

In others words, the federal government has no more right to tax state bonds than the states have to tax government bonds; and there isn't the slightest probability that either would attempt it.

Governor Hughes's reasoning, in this light, seems very slim and ragged; yet his name will be used to good advantage by those who are fighting the income tax for the same reason that the British peers are fighting the land tax.

DEMOCRACY IS CONSERVATIVE.

Half a century ago Macaulay, the great English historian, wrote a famous letter to a friend in this country warning him that if all men had a vote, as they have in this country, the poor would plunder the rich.

He was appalled at the prospect of free manhood suffrage. He prophecied that great American cities would breed foes "worse than Goths and Vandals." The "have-nots," given political power, would choose rulers according to their liking and seize the property of those that have. No right or title of property would be respected in a land foolish enough to let all men vote.

Macaulay was a wise man, when his face was toward the past; but this prophesy shows that he was a very much mistaken man when his face was toward the future.

Half a century has gone by since he expressed this friendly alarm, and never was prophecy more effectually proved false. Democracy, even under full manhood suffrage, has showed itself to be the most conservative system of government on earth. Nowhere in the world are property rights more sacred than they are in this country. Nowhere on earth do they rise more triumphantly superior to human rights. The safety of property, even at vast cost to humanity, is the rule that guides courts and government. Millions of people suffer the pangs of poverty and deprivation in this country and millions more find it harder each year to make both ends meet, because of the protective tariff, an institution for the benefit of property. Yet all the agony and suffering in the cry for relief from this oppression has not availed to induce congress to change that institution.

Half a century after Macaulay said that under full suffrage those that have not would plunder those that have, the situation is exactly the reverse in this country. Those who have are plundering those who have not. Privilege in its most deadly forms still is rampant. Property in the mass is sacred, and attempts to regulate it to bring about wider distribution, to secure to those who create wealth a decent share of what they create, are opposed as being attacks upon property, and are defeated. It is hardly yet true that a man in a factory has as much value before the law and the government as a machine in that factory, because the machine is property.

England is having a general election in which is involved the right to tax the rich according to their ability to pay. Macaulay's England has classes, a peerage, a crown, hereditary privilege, restricted suffrage—all the checks that Macaulay deemed essential to the safety of property. Yet in pleading for his party and the protection of property rights, A. J. Balfour, the Conservative leader, in his address to the English people said:

> I do not ask that the British citizen should enjoy the same security for his property as the citizen of the United States. I am not so immoderate.

How greatly mistaken was Macaulay in his prophecy! The "have-nots" have been exceedingly tender, in this country, with the "haves." Democracy is turning out to be the most conservative form of government on earth—that is, the kind of democracy that prevails in this country.

ON THIN ICE.

It seems likely now that the president will recede, as gracefully as may be, from the absurd position, to which friends of Speaker Cannon conducted him, that he would give no patronage to those who interrupt the smoothness of the session by making trouble for Cannon.

He was skating on very thin ice when he permitted that announcement to be made for him, and it is no credit to his perspicuity that he didn't see sooner how thin it was.

Here was the situation: the president, from time immemorial has consulted senators and congressmen about appointments in their respective districts. Suddenly it was announced that he was considering a plan of refusing to appoint the friends of those who called themselves insurgents, on the ground that they were threatening that "party solidarity" which he seems to honor more highly than party honesty.

If congressmen were meek and amiable, and did not resist the dictates of the organization, they were to be rewarded with patronage. If they were independent, and voted according to their own interpretation of the party policies and their understanding of the wishes of their constituents, they were to be punished by having their fingers rapped when they reached into the pie dish.

Is there anything about that startlingly different from bribery and coercion? And what becomes of considerations of fitness for place, when such reasons determine appointments?

It was indeed, very thin ice upon which the president ventured, and he is pretty lucky to have regained a firm underfooting; if he has, indeed, regained it.

THE GOOSE AND THE GANDER.

Thanks to the coalition of Democrats and Republican insurgents, it was determined recently that Speaker Cannon should not select the house members of the committee that is to investigate the Ballinger-Pinchot mess, but that the house should do it. Then the Republicans got together and decided that the Republican members of the committee should be selected by a caucus of Republican representatives.

It being the custom to allow the minority representation on all committees, care being taken that they remain in the minority, the Democrats, taking a card from the Republican action, caucussed and selected for their two members of the investigating committee Representatives James and Rainey.

Now it is reported from Washington that these men are not satisfactory to the Republicans, and that others will be selected by the Republican caucus in their places. In other words, the majority can pick its committee members in caucus, but the minority can't. Isn't that just a little like the tyranny against which Republican insurgents are insurging?

THE OPEN COURT.

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about live topics of general interest. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

BEDE'S CONVERSION.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Quoting from a recent issue of your paper: "Mr. Bede says 'the fact is there would be little heard of the insurgents outside of such men as Cummins and La Follette if the elections were not coming on in the next few months.'" This is true of the Minnesota bunch, at least, who are hanging on to their scalp locks for dear "loot" and hoping to fool the voters just once more.

But I did not expect to see Mr. Bede a convert so soon. But it is wonderful how much clearer we see things when we are outside looking in than we do when we are inside looking out. It is just like looking into the different ends of a telescope. At any rate Mr. Bede has said a dollar's worth and there ought to be a pension fund out of which such bills could be paid. In lieu of this won't some rich philanthropist hand over the dollar anyhow? It is now up to us to clarify Mr. Miller's vision by the same process.

THAT ART EXHIBIT.

To the Editor of The Herald:

As an effort is being made to have an art exhibit in the city some time during the next month or two, now is the time for Duluthians to offer their best interest and support to the movement and I hope that there may be a widespread interest in this effort that is proposed by a few public-spirited men. An art exhibit is too often considered by the majority of people as a superfluity and a means of pleasure for the few. If I understand at all what is being attempted, it is far from that, and the exhibit will not be brought here for the privileged few, especially, those who have had opportunities of travel and study and observation, but for the many who are are unable to leave their home in this city for the enlarging experiences that may be secured in travel and study.

The discouraging feature often of attempting anything of this kind, not only in Duluth, of course, for the experience is universal, is the lack of interested support. I notice that the committee will make an effort to set aside certain days for the children of a particular school to see the pictures. If the teachers or parents would make it their business and pleasure and duty to inform themselves and then the children in their care, what of value is to be seen, what particular thing to look for, some point of special interest, this exhibit, would be of incomparable educational value. I wish that something, anything, could beat it into the heads of every citizen, man and woman of Duluth that their whole duty toward this promised exhibit is not to call at it casually some half-hour during the time it is in the city, with a slight air of disdain and supercilious condescension. The point is for every single individual to DO SOMETHING to make is a success and it will be.

And incidentally all honor to Bishop McGolrick and the committee who are making this effort for Duluth.

Changing America.

T. P. O'Connor in M. A. P.: A man said to me the other day, with indignation in his voice, that the young New Yorker who passes through the streets today never stops to look at a statue of Washington or Lincoln or Grant, or any of the other men who created the nation and protected it from destruction. To him the interesting thing to point out is the house of Andrew Carnegie or Rockefeller, or of any of the other men who have amassed vast fortunes. These are the really interesting persons.

Yet why should my friend be so indignant? This young man who is so little interested in Washington and Lincoln, and so much in Carnegie and Rockefeller, came from Europe, or his father came before him. He is not a native of the soil, and to him the great attraction of America was that he could make money here which he could not make in his own poor country. Washington and Lincoln belong to a past which is dead to him; which indeed, to some extent, is dead to all America. The conditions are entirely changed.

I doubt very much if it would be possible in the America of today to have anything like the Civil war which rent America for four terrible years some forty years ago. You couldn't get any of these foreign millions to interest themselves sufficiently in the question whether slavery should be abolished or not. Indeed, there are a good many of them who think that the slavery of the black man has been succeeded to a large extent by the slavery of the white man. For there is deep, widespread and fierce discontent in America, in spite of all the splendid wealth, enterprise and energy of the country.

Alas, Poor Initiative!

Puck: That celebrated sense of humor to which from time to time we have alluded in these columns, is presumed to be evenly apportioned among the American population. It is the boasted heritage of the proudest American patrician and the humbliest American plebeian. Everybody has it—sometimes more of it than is good for him. Only upon occasion does the lack of it crop out, and when it does, as in the case we cite, the exception is more striking than the rule. When Monopoly, that commercial Frankenstein, drives an independent producer out of business; when it ruins him by setting next door and giving goods away; when, conspiring with a railroad, it crushes the smaller shipper by means of the secret rebate; when it grabs natural resources, ore, water, and timber, and holds them out of use so that no rival may gain a foothold; when it consolidates competition and throws salesmen by hundreds out of employment; when it tosses aside as worn out and useless men who are not yet old; when it does these things and more, what, meanwhile, are the chiefs of Monopoly saying? If they possessed that celebrated American sense of humor, of course, they couldn't say it. The very idea would seem so irresistibly funny to them that it is doubtful if they could talk at all without choking. But with their sense of humor dead or dormant, they can turn to the people and say without cracking a quiver of a smile: "The trouble, my friends, with Socialism is that it would destroy initiative. It would take away your ambitions. It would rob you of opportunity." Puck is not an advocate of Socialism, but this paper finds some grim humor in Monopoly's argument against it.

Willin'.

The Housekeeper: Moses became enamored of the dusky maiden, and not having the courage to "pop" the question face to face, called up the house where she worked and asked for her over the telephone. When he got her on the line he asked: "Is dat Miss Johnsing?"

"Ya-as."

"Well, Miss Johnsing, I'se got a most important question to ask you."

"Ya-as."

"Will you marry me?"

"Ya-as. Who are you?"

The Effect.

There was an earnest, hopeful youth
Who vowed to tell naught but the truth.

He put this vow into effect
With such results as you'd expect.
Today in one vast angry choir
His friends and foes call him a liar.

—Chicago Post.

Happiness.

Tolstoi: Love, self-renunciation—this is real happiness, which does not depend upon chance.

THE WEATHER.

The clear, cold weather continues, and today was an ideal winter's day. The weather man looks for slightly warmer weather tonight.

The sun rose this morning at 7:47 and will set at 4:51, making nine hours and forty minutes of sunlight.

The weather a year ago was fair and mild.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Fair weather prevails this morning in nearly all districts. During the past twenty-four hours snow or rain fell over most states east of the Mississippi valley and in the extreme Northwest, due to disturbances that are now central over the Lower St. Lawrence valley and Saskatchewan, respectively. The depression over the latter district also caused much warmer weather there and in Manitoba, the Dakotas and Western Minnesota. Somewhat colder temperatures are the rule in the Ohio valley, Tennessee, South Atlantic and Gulf states as a result of a high pressure area central over the Lower Mississippi valley. Colder weather attends a rise in pressure over Alberta and the Cascade range.

"Continued fair weather may be expected in St. Louis and Douglas counties during the ensuing thirty-six hours, with a turn to colder Thursday afternoon or night."

Following were the maximum temperatures for the last twenty-four hours and the minimum for the last twelve ending at 7 a. m.:

Influence of Newspapers.

New York World—One of the leading magazines of the country—the Atlantic Monthly—is advertising a series of articles entitled "The decline of public confidence in the newspaper press."

That the public has lost confidence in some newspapers may be accepted as a matter of course, like the loss of public confidence in certain politicians and statesmen and theories of government. But if there is a marked decline of public confidence in newspapers as a whole, that fact is of such far-reaching public importance that it deserves the closest study and investigation.

More newspapers are printed than ever before. More newspapers are read than ever before. If the public has lost confidence in newspapers, why does it read them in such vast numbers? Merely to amuse itself? Merely to pass away the time? Merely to acquire information which it distrusts and upon which it can place no reliance? The American people have never impressed us as a nation of idiots and lunatics. They must have some definite motive in reading the newspapers, and the average American is not the sort of a person who wastes his time on things in which he has no confidence.

We have observed, too, that the shrewd, practical gentlemen who manage the great corporations have detected no marked decline of public confidence in newspapers. Their desire to own newspapers, to influence newspapers, to shape the policy of newspapers was never so keen as it is now. They must believe that the public has confidence in what it reads in newspapers or they would not be so eager to control newspapers.

What is commonly spoken of as a decline of newspaper influence is in reality only a change in newspaper influence, and a change for the better. Newspapers are cheaper than they were, and few men are obliged to rely upon a single newspaper. They draw information and opinions not from one source, but from two or three or four sources, and their own opinion is the resultant of these various forces. This is having the excellent effect of teaching people to think for themselves. They are the surer in consequence to detect bad advice and the quicker to follow good advice. Their own opinions are clearer and saner and less prejudiced.

This does not mean a decline of newspaper influence. On the contrary, it is a manifestation of the best kind of influence that newspapers can exert.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Taken From the Columns of The Herald of This Date, 1890.

C. B. Wagner, with Porter & Son, will leave soon for Chicago, to develop a budding talent for elocution.

Lawyer S. E. Cheeseman has gone to Asheville, N. C., to spend the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Dunbar have gone East to be absent several weeks.

H. S. Wilson of East Saginaw is in the Duluth, looking after business interests and visiting friends.

Misses Vachon and Mayor and John Mayor, who have been visiting the Misses Ready, have gone home.

Rev. Father Bush, Roman Catholic pastor at Tower, has been appointed vicar general of the new diocese of Duluth. He has been in Minnesota since 1867 and has done good work among the Indians as well as among the whites.

Miss Barnes, the two Misses Moore and Miss M. Taylor, are a quartet of teachers laid up with the grip. Miss Bailey, Miss Krelwit and Miss F. Burbank are officiating in their places as substitutes.

At a meeting of the Norwegian Lutheran society, the following officers were elected: Secretary, H. Thorsen; treasurer, S. A. Siverts; trustees, H. Grytdahl, John Anderson and A. Ellingson; deacons, K. Peterson, John Olson and John Hanson; assistant, Peter C. Peterson; organist, R. Hanson. The new church building will cost $10,000, while the lot on which it stands cost $3,000. The church debt is now about $5,000.

Mrs. E. P. Emerson has returned from a visit to New York and Boston.

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

Stay and Share.

Park Rapids Clipper: Northern Minnesota will in the next few years begin to come into her own and those who are here to share in the returns that will result from this development will be fortunate indeed. Our cheap lands, our timber, our minerals, our rich drainable swamps and other natural resources are attracting attention as never before and real development may be said to be just fairly begun. Be a "stayer" and share in it.

The Independent Newspaper.

Le Sueur News: Occasionally some one denounces the independent newspaper and says it is simply a paper "sold" for a purpose. Don't you believe it. The real independent paper is one which is trying to serve the public honestly, return value for the subscription price and at all times deserve the respect of its readers by telling them the truth. It may make mistakes, but it never should be afraid to admit this and to explain the cause leading up to the error.

The State Fair Scandal.

Elk River Star-News: "The way politics are being injected into the affairs of the state fair association is nothing short of scandalous," indignantly observes the Foley Independent. It surely is, but is no comparison to the rotten system of financial management whereby favorites of the majority of the board of management are financially benefited with the association funds. The way money is made to fly, savors of old times when boodling was openly winked at.

A Great Loss to the State.

Princeton Union: Carlos Avery, the outgoing executive agent of the game and fish commission, retires from office with the good wishes of every one with whom he has come in contact in the discharge of the duties of his position. Without the slightest attempt at braggadocio, but in an efficient and gentlemanly manner, Mr. Avery attended to the affairs of his office, and he has made a record that his successor would do well to emulate.

Why?

Roseau Region: J. F. Jacobson threatens to force a county option plank into the Republican state platform. Although we are ready to help him nail it down, we cannot refrain from asking Mr. Jacobson why he did not have such a plank inserted two years ago, when he was in full control of the convention.

The People Are Not Blind.

Pine River Sentinel: All those newspapers that think—whether for any particular reason or not—that Cannon can stay and boss the "house" just as long as he wants to, have another think coming. If Cannon is not fired bodily before the next presidential election it will mean utter defeat for the Republican party. The people of this United States are not totally blind to their own interests.

The Better Part of Valor.

Brainerd Tribune: The Ortonville Herald-Star is of the opinion that when "Doc." Ruttledge of the Bemidji Pioneer gets ready to take another fall out of the state editorial association he will probably decide to write a spring poem instead.

"Our Stanton."

Olberg Journal (Rep.): The Democrats are booming Hon. C. W. Stanton of Bemidji for governor. They certainly could not find a better fitted man within their ranks to become their standard bearer, than our Stanton!

A Perilous Power.

Fairmont Sentinel: The Waseca Herald very truly remarks that it must be apparent to every thinking person that the power which can stop transportation, paralyze business of all kinds, deprive the people of villages and cities of necessary food and fuel to sustain life, is a power that ought not to be lodged in the hands of a few men—whether union laboring men or railroad managers. It ought, it seems to us, to impress upon the mind of every young person most indelibly, the absolute necessity of government ownership and management of transportation routes.

Do You Remember?

Do you remember the day long gone,
When you said goodbye to mother,
And with tear-dimmed eyes in the rosy dawn,
Went joyfully away with another?

Do you remember the joy and pain,
Of the strange new way of living,
And the blessedness of home again
On the eve of dear Thanksgiving?

And the day you went with a breaking heart,
When summer winds were sighing,
And stood in a darkened room apart,
And saw your mother dying?

And the time you prayed to the God, who gave;
Where the mournful trees were keeping
A silent watch o'er a new-made grave,
Where a darling one lay sleeping?

Dear heart, while you are struggling here,
Through wealth or through disaster,
A mother waits for you, my dear,
Beyond the gates of Jasper.

—Della McGovern.

The Joy of Living.

Dr. Luther H. Gulick in the World's Work: Life is not only for work. It is for one's self and for one's friends. The degree of joy that a man finds in his work is due to two things: The intensity or fullness of his vitality, and the congenial character of the work itself. When one is thoroughly well and vigorous, the mere joy of living, of merely being alive, is very great. At such a time the nature of the work does not matter to a large extent. The sense of having power at your command, and the delight of exerting it, even in coal shoveling or selling goods, is enough. When one is full of life, the mere feeling of fresh water or air on the skin, the taste of the plainest food, the exertion of muscular effort, the keenness of one's vision, the sight of color in the sky, or the sound of the wind or the waves—it takes nothing beyond these to make one jubiliant, enthusiastic.

Not Quite.

Life: "He's been accused of cheating the government, hasn't he?"

"Yes, out of a paltry ten millions or so."

"Likely to go to jail?"

"Hardly. He's president of the company and the largest stockholder."

A MOMENT WITH THE WITS.

Bon Vivant: "We are now exactly 1,000 feet above the level of the sea."

"What sea?"

"The guide book doesn't say."

Washington Star: "A man never knows how many friends he has until he gets into politics."

"True," answered Senator Sorghum, "nor how few he has until he gets out of office."

Illustrated Bits: George—Do you think I'm good enough for you, darling?

Darling—No, George; but you're too good for any other girl.

Chicago News: Little Willie—What is logic, pa?

Pa—Logic, my son, is your line of argument in a controversy.

Little Willie—And what is sophistry?

Pa—The other fellow's.

Boston Globe: She—Don't you think woman's suffrage would be a fine thing?

He—I know I could always persuade my wife to vote as I wanted by telling her I intended voting the other way.

Kansas City Journal: "Now, your conduct during the trial may have considerable effect on the jury."

"Ah, quite so," responded the ultra-swell defendant. "And should I appear interested or just mildly bored?"

Washington Star: "So you never made fun of your wife's hats?"

"Never! I tried that long ago."

"What happened?"

"She kept on buying others to please me."

Chicago Record-Herald: "Well, we will soon have to try again to look as if we meant it when we tell that old lie about it being just what we wanted."

"Yes, but that will not be the hardest part of it. We will soon have to try again to look as if we believed it when that lie is told to us."

Life: "Do you think my hair is getting thin?"

"Which one do you mean?"

Washington Star: "What part of the railway train do you regard as the most dangerous?" inquired the nervous man.

"The dining car," answered the dyspeptic.

Boston Globe: Miss Kidder—S'sh! Carrier has dyed her hair black. Don't tell anybody.

Miss Askitt—Is it a secret?

Miss Kidder—Yes; she wants to keep it dark.

Woman's Journal: Mrs. Jones—This milk look suspiciously blue.

Dealer—Madame, my cows were raised in the blue grass region of Kentucky.

Boston Journal: In an outward-bound Dorchester car the other evening there was not a seat left. A lady entered and not a man noticed her standing, apparently. Finally one man rose from his seat and offered it to the lady. She thanked him, adding: "You are the only gentleman in the car."

She was startled by the answer: "Yes, betcher life I am, kiddo."

New York Press: Howell—Why don't you try drowning your sorrows, old man?

Powell—No go; my sorrows all have life preservers.

Pointed Paragraphs.

Chicago News: Blessed are they who expect but little; they'll get it.

No, Alonzo, policemen aren't always looking for trouble.

Sooner or later every man bumps into his stone wall.

Generally a girl isn't as anxious to marry as she is to become engaged.

Some men are unable to achieve popularity even by staying out of politics.

A woman always jollies a man along when she wants to make a fool of him.

Ignorance isn't bliss to those who don't know a good thing when they see it.

When you reach your bottom dollar you still have the foundation for a fortune.

A girl believes in love at first sight, but she is sure to regret it if she marries that way.

When a headache keeps a girls from seeing a gentleman caller it's a sure sign that he isn't the right one.

A girl always says "Don't" when a young man tries to kiss her, because she knows that her mother would expect her to put up some kind of a bluff.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

New York Press: The more a man is on good terms with himself the less he is likely to be with others.

A father makes the rules and then blames the mother for nobody being able to enforce them.

Any man who knows enough to know he doesn't understand women is better off than if he did.

Gossip.

In his hour of pain and shame,
In his prison house of fame,
When revenge the devil sought,
Little tongues of fire he wrought;
Tongues to lie and twist and turn,
Tongues to scorch and sear and burn,
Tongues to slap the high and holy,
Tongues to slay the poor and lowly;
Then to earth the tongues he sent,
There to work his fell intent;
To whisper, hint and smirch and sneer
And to fill the world with fear,
Foul with gossip that can kill,
Evermore to work his will.
The little tongues of hell
Still serve the devil well.

Thos. Crawford, Niagara, N. D.

Wrote to C. F. ERICKSON:

Dear Sir: I received your letter last night. I had a cancer on my lip for one and one-half years. Saw Dr. Rea's ad in the Grand Forks Herald, for curing cancer. I went to see him, and he treated me two times, which permanently cured me of my cancer. I would advise that you go and see him at once, and be treated by him, for I am sure that you will be cured.

Dr. Rea comes to Grand Forks once each month. You will see his dates in the paper. Hoping to hear that you get along all right, I remain,

Yours respectfully,
THOMAS CRAWFORD.

Box 81, Niagara, N. D.

Mrs. Neis Carlson, Buffalo, Minn., writes on March 23, 1906:
Dr. W. D. Rea,

Minneapolis, Minn.

Dear Doctor: I received your letter, and will gladly answer it right away. I am now well, and have been well ever since. I recommend your cures to everybody I know.

Mrs. Carlson was treated and cured of a large cancer of the breast, by the hypodermic treatment. This treatment cures piles, tumors, as well as cancer.

J. C. Kendricks, Hortense, Ga. Cured of rheumatism and stomach troubles of long standing. Had many doctors, but had failed to cure him. Mr. Kendrick writes that he did not see Dr. Rea in person, but medicines were sent to him.

Mrs. J. Droskoski, Little Falls, Minn. Cured of cancer in 1902, writes on March, 1905, that there has been no return of the dreadful disease.

Mrs. Andrew Jensen, Leader, Cass Co., Minn. Cured of pleurisy of the lungs.

Frank Fusher, Staples, Minn. Cured of kidney diseases. Had many doctors, but quickly cured by Dr. Rea's treatment.

W. E. Goodall, Opulans, P. O., Cass Co., Minn. Cured of piles of twenty years' standing.

Mrs. L. Beckel, Austin, Minn. Cured Cured of cancer by Dr. Rea's new hypodermic treatment.

Chas. Jeffs, Owatonna, Minn. Treated and cured of the headache, 1901, writes on March 1906, that there never has been any return of the disease.

Miss Anna Gleving, McIntosh, Minn. Cured of consumption.

H. P. Jackson, Morris Minn. Cured of long standing piles, without operation. Injection plan.

L. S. Dressler, Ellison, N. D. Cured of fistula of the rectum. Cured quickly of this most terrible disease.

Mrs. Martin Downs, Willmar, Minn. Cured of partial blindness.

S. J. Insley, Ipswich, S. D. Cured of varicocele, by Dr. Rea's injection method.

Mae Lynard, Bixby, Minn. Cured of chronic catarrh.

Lewis Doer, Rannaby, Minn. Cured of cataract of the eye. Cured by the absorption method.

F. G. Swoboda, Hopkins, Minn. Cured of Bright's disease and kidney troubles.

George Kothlow, Menomonie, Wis. Cured of catarrh and bronchial trouble.

Frank Hughes, Dwight, N. D. Cured of cancer of the lip. Cancer had been cut out several times, but always returned.

Mrs. Robert Kerns, Emerson, Man. Cured of appendicitis.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 19, 1910.

Special to The Herald:

Dr. Rea announces the date of his next regular professional visit to Duluth, at Hotel St. Louis, on Saturday, from 9 a. m. until 8 p. m.

This is the eleventh year of Dr. Rea's regular professional visits to Duluth. During that time he has treated and cured thousands of the worst cases of chronic diseases and those cases that have been considered as practically incurable.

Dr. Rea's system of treatment for cancer, tubercular glands, tumor is that of the Hypodermic Injection plan, a treatment that is administered without pain, without loss of blood and without inconvenience to the patient, a remarkable, wonderful curative plan. His system of treatment for heart disease, consumption, stomach and chronic diseases is peculiar in its results, is never failing and cures so quickly as to be a complete surprise to the patient.

These continued visits of Dr. Rea to Duluth afford his many patients and others interested an opportunity to see him close to their homes. Consultation and examination to those interested, $1.00.

"NOODLES" FAGAN GIVES GOOD ADVICE TO NEWSBOYS

"NOODLES" FAGAN.

Don't miss one school session.
Don't smoke tobacco.
Don't drink liquor.
Don't chew tobacco.
Keep hands clean.
Keep your character clean.

This is the advice that "Noodles" Fagan, the famous newsboy who is appearing at the Bijou theater this week, in a clean-cut vaudeville act, gives the boys. He sings Joseph Morris' big song hits and his impromptu song is the best heard here this season. Those few epigrams mean a whole lot to a boy. If he follows that advice he won't go wrong. "Noodles" says the right time to make a man is when he is a boy, and that is right. When a boy enters school, whether he is rich or poor, he has an equal chance to secure an education. If he doesn't take advantage of the excellent school teacher, that's his fault.

"Noodles" tells the boys that they should be thankful that they are lucky enough to be there and have an opportunity to get good education, so as to be mentally equipped to hold any position. He says many a boy is working in coal mine and factory whose talent is buried because he does not get the chance to go to school. That is the reason "Noodles" Fagan, in conjunction with his theatrical work, spends his spare moments doing something for the future generation.

"Noodles" is a newsboy, his college career was in the streets of New York.

Turn on the Steam.

"Noodles" is a living reminder that there are few remarkable performances in which steam is not 75 per cent of the miracle.

Every newsboy wishes he could sell more papers than any other boy, just as every physician wishes for the biggest and best practice in town, and every merchant wishes for the largest store and the leading trade in his line.

But ninety-nine men and boys in a hundred never open the throttle of their physical and mental machinery on the proposition, says "Noodles."

Twenty-five per cent of success is talent and 75 per cent steam, he says.

"Noodles" got steam up, and turned it on—therefore "Noodles."

He used both the 25 per cent—the talent—and the 75 per cent—the steam—and got 100 per cent in results in his business, which happened to be selling newspapers.

Suppose "Noodles" had not possessed the natural talent, but had used the 75 per cent?

He would not in that case have attained the 100 per cent in results, but he would have beaten the average a whole lot.

On Thursday night, at the second show, the newsboys of the city will be the guests of The Herald at the Bijou, when "Noodles" will entertain them. The boys will be invited to participate in the contests, consisting of marathon races, boxing, wrestling, rapid-fire and "Bowery" contests in which there will be fun galore. Special seats will be set aside for The Herald newsies. It will be a newsboys' carnival, just like the one that is held in New York every year. Boxing, wrestling, marathon races. Duluth's leading newsies will appar in conjunction with the carnival. The news kids say it will be "some" night.

The newsboys will met at The Herald office at 8 o'clock Thursday. Every newsy in town is invited to attend. "Noodles" will sell The Herald on the streets for the benefit of the newsboys on Saturday afternoon. "Noodles" has sold papers in every big city in the world, and is considered to have the loudest voice of any newsy in the world. He said that he was going to make the Third avenue west corner sound like a Wall street panic. He will turn the proceeds over to the local news boys.

Saturday morning at 10 o'clock is the time set aside for the children of the city to attend the Bijou, where "Noodles" will deliver an address on "Travels of the World, and Life in the Slums of New York," with illustrated slides and moving pictures, through the courtesy of The Herald. Clip the coupon below, which will be good for admission to this talk. Manager Joe Maitland has turned the Bijou over to the children of the city free, and will have ushers there to look after the little ones and their parents. Clip a coupon and be there at 9:45 sharp.

CUT OUT THIS COUPON AND PRESENT AT BIJOU

FREE. FREE. FREE. FREE. FREE. FREE.

Through the courtesy of The Herald, "Noodles" Fagan, newsboy orator, New York, will deliver an address on "Life in the Slums of New York and Travels of the World," with moving pictures.

Admit one at Bijou Theater, Saturday morning.

COAL TRUST BRIEF FILED

Government Makes Another Move in Action to Break It Up.

Conspiracy and Monopoly Are Charged and Injunction Is Sought.

Philadelphia, Jan. 19.—The government's brief in its suit to break up the alleged anthracite coal trust was filed in the United States circuit court late yesterday afternoon by William S. Gregg, special assistant to the attorney general. The suit was brought in April, 1907, and the government's case was prepared by G. Carroll Todd and J. C. McReynolds. The nearly three years that have intervened since the action was brought were taken up with the examination of witnesses for both sides.

The principal defendants are the Reading company Philadelphia & Reading Railway company, Philadelphia & Reading Coal company, Lehigh Valley Railroad company, Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad company, Central Railroad of New Jersey, Erie railroad, New York, Susquehanna & Western Railroad company, Lehigh Valley Coal company, Lehigh & Wilkesbarre Coal company, Pennsylvania Coal company, Hillside Coal & Iron company, New York, Susquehanna & Western Coal company and Temple Iron company.

Conspiracy and Monopoly.

The government contends that all the defendants have long been parties to a general combination and conspiracy which stifles competition and obstructs trade and commerce among the states in anthracite coal and that they have monopolized the trade.

The government in its brief asks the court to restrain and enjoin the alleged monopoly and to further enjoin the defendants from carrying out the contract with the so-called independent companies by which the latter turn over their product to the larger companies for 65 per cent of the tidewater selling price.

The government contends that the stock of the New York, Susquehanna & Western Railroad company owned by the Erie, the stock of the Jersey Central owned by the Reading company, the stock of the Temple Iron company, owned by several of the defendants, the stock of the Pennsylvania Coal company, the Delaware Valley & Kingston Railroad company owned by the Erie and the stock of Coxe Bros. & Co. owned by the Lehigh Valley Railroad company was acquired in violation of the anti-trust act under which the suit was brought, and the court is asked to enjoin the defendants from voting this stock or from sharing in the dividends or other profits of these companies.

Northern Securities Case.

In support of its contention the government cites the decision in the Northern Securities case and in the case of Swift & Co. vs. the United States.

The defendants have twenty-two days to file their briefs and argument will be heard by Judges Gray, Buffington and Lanning on Feb. 21.

ART EXHIBIT FOR DULUTH

Some Great Paintings Will Be Shown Here for a Week.

Arrangements were practically completed last evening by a committee of the Duluth Art society at the Commercial club for a week's art exhibit in Duluth, beginning March 28, in the Y. M. C. A. building. The best masterpieces will be brought from the East and a competent instructor obtained to deliver lectures upon them each afternoon and evening. The different schools and societies will be given separate days to attend the exhibit in a body. The committees having charge of the exhibit details will be announced later.

LITTLE GIRL HAD HAIR BREADTH ESCAPE.

Sliding down Fourteenth avenue east across the tracks on Superior street, the sled of 3-year-old Elizabeth Magie, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Magie of 1401 East Superior street, was ground to pieces under a street car, while the small girl was picked up unhurt by the fender, Monday afternoon. That the child was not killed or dangerously injured is believed to have been due to the presence of mind of the motorman, who reversed the motor and dropped the fender. Mrs. Magie had returned from a short walk with the three children when the accident occurred.

BIG DAY FOR THE PYTHIANS

D. O. K. K. Will Hold Ceremonial in Duluth Next Tuesday.

Al Sirat Temple No. 135, Dramatic Order Knights of Khorassan, will hold its annual ceremonial next Tuesday evening at the old Masonic temple, Second avenue east and Superior street. About fifty new members will be initiated. To belong to the D. O. K. K. one must first belong to the Knights of Pythias. The program of the evening will start at 6 o'clock with a parade through the business section. Supper will be served at 7 o'clock, and at 7:30 the ceremonials are scheduled to begin in earnest. It is expected that delegations will be present from the ranges, the Copper country and nearby towns and cities.

FAVORS FULL LEVY FOR ROAD WORK

Chairman McInnis of County Board Will Work to Make Large Sum Available.

At the meeting of the County club yesterday afternoon Neil McInnis of Eveleth, chairman of the county board, announced that if the views of himself and other members are accepted by a majority of the board, the full 1-mill road tax will be levied next year, giving the county upwards of a quarter of a million dollars for road work in 1911.

Mr. McInnis said that the levy made last summer gives the county $150,000 for road work this year and that is the largest sum ever levied for that purpose. Mr. McInnis said that in his opinion the county should build up its road system as well and as speedily as possible and he said he would advocate the full levy possible under the law for next year.

After the meeting P. J. Ryan of Hibbing, commissioner from the Seventh district, said that he also is in favor of levying the full amount allowed by law and that he will support Mr. McInnis in urging that action on the board when the next levy is made.

Mr. McInnis' announcement was received with expressions of approbation by the delegates. Without good roads, the development of the agricultural resources of the county is impossible. The county takes the position that no amount is too large to levy for road work, for every dollar spent in building new roads and putting highways in passable condition will give many times its value in return to the community. The farmer must have means of reaching his market or it is useless for him to grow anything on his land, and the furnishing of means of communication between farms and market is largely a matter for the county commissioners.

PREVENTION OF AITKIN FLOODS

Dredging of the Mississippi River Sought By Congressman Miller.

Washington, Jan. 19.—Further improvement of waterways in Minnesota is urged upon the house committee on rivers and harbors in a communication forwarded to that body yesterday by Representatives Stevens, Nye, Miller and Lindberg. It treats of nearly all the projects in the state, with the exception of the proposed high dam in the Mississippi river between the Twin Cities.

Surveys are asked for three important projects in Congressman Miller's district. The first is for a survey to determine the feasibility and cost of dredging the Mississippi river in Aitkin county so as to provide relief against floods. The second is a survey looking to the improvement of the channel of the Rainy river by the removal of the dangerous rocks in the rapids near the lake. The third is a survey for a breakwater to make a harbor at Knife River on Lake Superior.

The committee was also requested to provide for a survey of the Upper Mississippi.

JOBS AS DIPLOMATS.

State Department Is Preparing for List of Eligibles.

Washington, Jan. 19.—The state department has established an eligible list from which appointments to minor positions in the diplomatic and consular service of the United States will be made. At this time there are few or no vacancies in these positions except that of student interpreter, in which there are a number of vacant places.

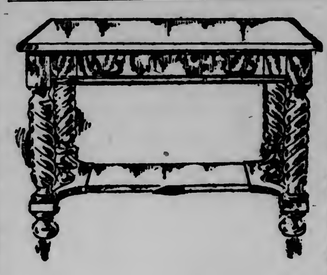

During the next six months examination will be held in Washington to fill the eligible list. There will be held a special examination for the student interpreter corps in China, Japan and Turkey. The consular service examination will be held here June 27, 28 and 29. The age limit for applications for secretaryships in the diplomatic service is from 21 to 50 years.

LYCEUM—"The Merry Widow" (See notice below).

"THE MERRY WIDOW" BACK

Savage Company in Lehar Opera Charms Big Lyceum Audience.

Company the Same That Appeared in Duluth Last Year.

After hearing the machine made jingles of the modern musical comedies, and having one's ears offended by the clap-trap and the syncopated clatter that masquerades as music, "The Merry Widow" is like a cool bath on a warm day.

It is music—real music—and it is unfortunate that more genuine musicians do not stoop—as they consider it—to operettas of "The Merry Widow" type. People there are—but they are few—who can thoroughly enjoy an entire evening of modern grand opera. There are passages in almost any of the great operas which the average citizen can and does enjoy, but there are few, outside of those who have made a thorough study of musical composition, who can enjoy all of a grand opera. But that does not signify that the American public does not like good music. "The Merry Widow" is good music, but with a simple theme, and harmony and rhythm that any one can understand and appreciate. The American people do not want all rag time and the stereotyped refrains that are served up in the ordinary musical comedy. They simply take that because they cannot get anything better. If any proof of that is needed, "The Merry Widow" furnishes it. A "Merry Widow" audience means an audience entranced. Even the famous waltz, that has been murdered by gramophones, tortured by street bands, teased out of cafe violins, filled in countless intermissions in countless theaters, been tooted by village brass bands, and been ground out by dance orchestras from the Bowery to the summer pavilions of Sunny California, still sends a creepy feeling along one's spinal column, when the orchestra begins on its well known strains, with the proper settings and the scene of gayety and it. And a dozen others, less well known, "Maxim's," "In Marsovia," "Villa," "Women," and the dainty little duet, 'Come Into the Arbor," never grow old. Rather do they improve with age—the surest test of good music.

Long-continued success on the part of a producing manager means that he has not merely the money to secure the best material, the courage to exhibit to the best advantage, pride in artistic achievement, but a capital in brains, efficiency, taste and experience. Think back and try to recall any grand opera, operetta, musical comedy or serious drama bearing the trade mark of Henry W. Savage that did not impress as being the very best in its particular field.

The splendid productions of "Parsifal," of "Madame Butterfly," of the English Grand Opera company with its repertoire of classic masterpieces, its brilliant singers and gorgeous mise-en-scenes, the rollicking fun of "The College Widow," of the alluring tunes and kaleidoscopic charm of "The Prince of Pilsen," of the brilliant satire and deep philosophy of "The Devil," are some of his triumphs.

Henry W. Savage never does anything cheaply. The company at the Lyceum last evening was a Savage company, and it was not cheap. There are good Savage companies and better Savage companies, but there are no poor ones. The company at the Lyceum last evening carries its own orchestra of eighteen pieces and some sixty or seventy members back of the footlights. With but one or two minor changes, it is the same company that appeared in Duluth last season. Mabel Wilbur is still in the title role, and George Damerel still appearing in the role of Prince Danilo. Duluth has never seen any of the numerous other "Widows" and has no means of comparing Miss Wilbur with the others who have appeared in the role. But Miss Wilbur seems to thoroughly fill the bill. She dances well, artistically and gracefully, acts acceptably, and has all the physical charms necessary to the role. She has improved since her appearance here last year. Her voice seems fuller and clearer, and her acting is better.

Damerel possesses the rare ability of securing the absolute sympathy of his audience. His dancing is a revelation, and his singing passably good. It would be difficult, indeed, to imagine a better "prince."

It is always a pleasure to greet one of the members of the gifted Figman family. Duluthians laughed at Max in the role of Mary Jane's Pa, and last night they thoroughly enjoyed his younger brother Oscar in the role of the Ambassador. Oscar is a finished comedian.

Miss Sophie Barnard, in the role of Nattlie, probably possesses the best trained voice in the company. She has a clear soprano of splendid range, and her two ducts with Camille were thoroughly enjoyable.

Harold Blake as Camille de Jolicon, who sings the role opposite her, is one of those rare birds, a good tenor. Really great tenors in these days can be counted on the fingers of the hands, but Mr. Blake has a good range, and his tones are excellent.

There are many minor parts, all in good hands. Arthur Wooley as Nish, the messenger of the embassy, is passable and manages to extract more or less comedy out of the role. The comedy of "The Merry Widow" is its weakest part. Figman's fooling is acceptable at all times, and he could get a laugh or two out of reading a page of the dictionary. Mr. Wooley does his best with the role of Nish, and the dumpy little messenger is the cause of not a few laughs during the performance.

As far as costuming and the scenery are concerned, the production leaves nothing to be desired.

"The Merry Widow" will give three more performances in Duluth, one this afternoon, one tonight, and one tomorrow night. The Lyceum was filled last evening, and the audience was one of the most enthusiastic seen in many a day.

Duluth, incidentally, is seeing "The Merry Widow" on the $1.50 scale, where the prevailing scale on the present tour has been $2 down.

"The Soul Kiss."

The scenes of "The Soul Kiss," the New York musical comedy success, which comes to the Lyceum on Friday for an engagement of two nights, are laid in Paris and New York, and the stage settings and the costumes are said to be most elaborate. The gorgeous stage settings, electrical effects and beautiful costumes are only a small part of the attractiveness of "The Soul Kiss." There are a score of swingy, catchy songs, a continued fire of fun, and many other novelties that made the entertainment one of the biggest successes of the last two seasons. The leading role in "The Soul Kiss" is termed "the dancer." In this character Mlle. Pertina, the Parisienne danseuse, will be seen.

"The Soul Kiss" is the joint work of Harry B. Smith and Maurice Levi, authors of "The Follies of 1908 and 1909."

Fritzi Scheff Coming.

The company which will be seen at the Lyceum in support of Fritzi Scheff in Charles Dillingham's production of "The Prima Donna" is one of the most important that has ever been assembled for a light opera in this country. There are names in the cast to conjure with whenever people know the real people of prominence on the American and English stages. There is, for instance, John E. Hazzard, owner of one of the richest German dialects ever heard, who became internationally famous as the author of "Ain't It Awful, Mable?" Then there is Vernon Davidson, an English leading man; William K. Harcourt, one of the best leading men in this country; Phil Branson, who a few years ago was known all over America as having the finest tenor voice in light opera in this country, and who is now playing an Italian character role with a distinction and sureness of touch that mark him as being even a better actor than a singer. There is Donald Hall, a young tenor, and Martin Hayden, a comedian, who sings "Everybody Else's Girl Looks Better to Me Than Mine" in a truly charming manner.

ONE DOSE MAKES INDIGESTION GO

Heartburn, Gas, Headaches and Other Stomach Misery Vanish.

If your meals don't fit comfortably, or you feel bloated after eating and you believe it is the food which fills you; if what little you eat lies like a lump of lead on your stomach; if there is difficulty in breathing after eating, eructations of sour, undigested food and acid, heartburn, brash or a belching of gas, you can make up your mind that you need something to stop food fermentation and cure Indigestion.

To make every bite of food you eat aid in the nourishment and strength of your body, you must rid your stomach of poisons, excessive acid and stomach gas which sours your entire meal—interferes with digestion and causes so many sufferers of Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Biliousness, Constipation, Griping, etc. Your case is no different—you are a stomach sufferer though you may call it by some other name; your real and only trouble is that which you eat does not digest, but quickly ferments and sours, producing almost any unhealthy condition.

A case of Pape's Diapepsin will cost fifty cents at any pharmacy here, and will convince any stomach sufferer five minutes after taking a single dose that Fermentation and Sour Stomach is causing the misery of indigestion.

No matter if you call your trouble catarrh of the Stomach, Nervousness or Gastritis, or by any other name—always remember that a certain cure is waiting at any drug store the moment you decide to begin its use.

Pape's Diapepsin will regulate any out-of-order stomach within five minutes, and digest promptly, without any fuss or discomfort all of any kind of food you eat.

The American Excess Of Good Living

The Principal Cause of the Great Prevalence of Indigestion and Dyspepsia.

A Trial Package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Sent Free.

Man inhabits every part of the globe where external influences can be successfully resisted. Food is an important element in effecting this, and nature has provided for it accordingly. The colder the climate the more animal food and oily substances are required; the warmer a preponderance of vegetables and fruits is necessary in one's diet.

The whale-blubber of the fur-clad Eskimo, and the rice of the nude African, are as much necessities of locality, as matters of choice. The same indications exist in civilization. Thus, the diet in America and England is essentially different from that in Italy, Spain and Egypt.

The effects of universal communication are nowhere more obvious than on the luxurious table. To furnish the refined cuisine, all climates, both sea and land, are laid under contribution, and the stomach is expected to digest, without assistance everything that is put into it. Combining together such varied products, and the neglect of the relation between climate and foods, are very active causes of dyspepsia.

The heavy substantial dishes of this climate accord badly with the thermometer at ninety degrees; and an inflexibility in regulating the kind and quantity of food is the cause of a large proportion of the ill health and stomach troubles among the English and Americans.

Thousands of people who have suffered from stomach troubles and a general ill-health resulting therefrom, because of a badly regulated diet, and the ingesting of on excessive amount of food at the table, have obtained speedy and permanent relief by means of a simple expedient—that of using one or two of STUART'S DYSPEPSIA TABLETS after each meal, or whenever any of the well-known symptoms of indigestion are present.

These powerful digestive tablets contain every element that exists in the stomach to digest the food, and in the exact proportion as found therein. They take the place of the natural digestive juices when the latter are deficient in quality or quantity, and do their work for them, removing the indigestion by digesting the food, and resting, strengthening and purifying the digestive tract.

There is no other digestive remedy on the market which has been found equal to Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets; none which is so rapidly and powerfully efficient, or which removes discomfort, banishes stomach-pain, and relieves and cures all of the symptoms of dyspepsia and indigestion in so thorough and pleasant a manner as these marvelous little tablets, a single grain of which is capable of digesting 3,000 grains of any and every kind of food.

All persons who are annoyed with stomach troubles of any kind should use Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which will remove such troubles in a very short time. Purchase a box from your druggist, and send us name and address for free sample. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Building, Marshall, Mich.

GLADSTONE, N. D., FLOUR MILL GUTTED BY FIRE.

Gladstone, N. D., Jan. 18.—The Gladstone flour mill was completely gutted by a fire which started between 12 and 1 o'clock, while the workmen were at dinner. The machinery and stock was also completely destroyed. The building was a stone structure and during the fire fell outward, partially burying two firemen, John Hughes and William Hiser. Both were extricated however, after a narrow escape from death, with no more serious injuries than numerous bruises. The Dickinson fire department came down by request on a special train, as adjoining buildings were endangered, but the fire was finally confined within the main building of the mill. The loss will reach $30,000, with less than one-third insurance. The mill was the pioneer flour mill of the western part of the state, and was erected in 1884 by Robert Lee.

WEST EMERSON ELEVATOR IS DESTROYED BY FIRE.

Pembina, N. D. Jan. 18.—A fire caused by the friction of one of the pulleys in the elevating machinery, totally destroyed the large grain warehouse of the Northern Elevator company at West Emerson, just across the international boundary, north of here Saturday. The elevator contained about four carloads of wheat, and smaller quantities of other grains. The loss is total and is estimated to reach close to the $20,000 mark. The good work of the firemen saved adjoining buildings.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE REVEALS MISSING MAN.

Berthold, N. D., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The sudden and unexplained disappearance of Frank Pring from his home in this city three weeks ago has been explained by the receipt of a message from Larrington, Wash., where the young man attempted to commit suicide while insane. Pring leaped from the second story window of the Lincoln hotel in the Washington city, his injuries however only being a sprained wrist and ankle. The fellow was suffering from delirium tremens and imagined that a gang of Italians was upon his heels with intentions of murdering him. Luckily he struck an old spring mattress that was lying upon the ground, and his thirty foot leap therefore resulted in his being only slightly injured.

Saved at Death's Door.

The door of death seemed ready to open for Murray W. Ayers of Transit Bridge, N. Y., when his life was wonderfully saved. "I was in a dreadful condition," he writes. "My skin was almost yellow; eyes sunken; tongue coated; emaciated from losing forty pounds; growing weaker daily. Virulent liver trouble pulling me down to death, in spite of doctors. Then that matchless medicine, Electric Bitters, cured me. I regained the forty pounds lost and now am well and strong." For all stomach, liver and kidney troubles they're supreme. 50c at all druggists.

Are All Advertised Medicines Fakes?

As well ask "Are all doctors quacks?" or "Are all lawyers shysters?" We all know there are ignorant quacks; does that prevent anyone calling in his good, old family physician in case of need and trusting him? There are shysters, but there are also honorable lawyers to whom we confidently trust our lives and fortunes.

There are fake medicines advertised; but they are not fakes because they are advertised. A good thing is worth advertising; we all want to know about it. The more a bad thing is advertised, the worse for it in the end.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is no fake; yet it is advertised; it advertises itself; and those who have used it are its best advertisers, and that free of cost.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has proved its merit by more than thirty years general use. This simple, old-fashioned remedy, made from roots and herbs, has become the standard medicine for ailments peculiar to women,—its fame is world-wide.

Read this plain, honest statement of what the medicine did for one woman; her own words; if you doubt, write and ask her.

Upper Sandusky, Ohio.—"Three years ago I was not feeling well and could hardly drag myself along. I had such tired feelings, my back hurt, my sides ached, I had bladder trouble awfully bad, and I could not eat or sleep. I had headaches, too, and became almost a nervous wreck. My doctor told me to go to a hospital. I did not like that idea very well, so when I saw your advertisement in a paper one day, I wrote to you for advice. I have done as you told me. I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, Blood Purifier, and Liver Pills, and used the Sanative Wash, and now I have my health. We keep your medicine always in the house."—Mrs. Benj. H. Stansbery, Route No. 6, Box 18, Upper Sandusky, Ohio.

The makers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have thousands of such letters—they tell the truth, else they could not have been obtained for love or money. This medicine is no stranger—it has stood the test of years.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM

If the slightest trouble appears which you do not understand, write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., for her advice—it is free and always helpful.

EAST GRAND FORKS IN FRANCHISE FIGHT.

East Grand Forks, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the next meeting of the city council steps will be taken to bring about the passage of ordinances granting franchises to the Tri-State Telephone company and the Grand Forks Street railway system. Both propositions have been before East Grand Forks councils on previous occasions, but were voted down.

The telephone fight promises to be an exceptionally bitter one. Mayor J. J. O'Leary has recommended that the franchise be granted, but strong opposition will be made through the Northwestern Telephone company, which at present holds the exclusive telephone franchise in this city. The street railway franchise is not opposed.

WHIPPING POSTMASTER IS EXPENSIVE PASTIME.

Mandan, N. D., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Martin Crowsey had to pay a fine of $83.20 for being an accessory in the assault committed upon Postmaster Shatuck, of Pelpszig. John Mooney, whom the officials believe is the real offender, and for whom a warrant has been issued, has not been caught. The affair took place several weeks ago in the postoffice, the postmaster being very badly beaten up.

Sheepmen Hard Hit.

Bowman, N. D., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sheepmen have been suffering quite heavy losses in this district, during the past few weeks as the result of cold weather. The owners of the smaller herds are the heaviest losers of the season. If no more severe weather comes, the sheepmen hope to pull out in good shape, but a continuation of the conditions that have existed, will mean still further heavy losses.

ST. PAUL'S CATHEDRAL COMPLETED BY 1913.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The new Catholic cathedral on Summit avenue, will be occupied for public worship before the end of the year 1913.

This is the statement that will be made at he annual meeting and dinner of the building committee, at the Ryan hotel, on the evening of Jan. 29.

Archbishop John Ireland will be the host on that occasion, and as many as 300 guests, including the committee, all the priests of the Catholic churches of the archdiocese of St. Paul and many invited guests will be present

GRAND FORKS LOAN OFFICE THIEF HELD.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sidney Taylor, aged 19 years, was bound over to the district court yesterday afternoon when arraigned before Judge McLoughlin on a charge of burglary. The lad's bail was fixed at $500, which amount will be furnished. Young Taylor raided the Cohen pawn shop in this city on Thanksgiving night, securing a large amount of cheap jewelry. He was placed under suspicion when he made an attempt to pawn a portion of his loot. Officials, searching his home, found a great deal of stolen stuff.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

LIVESTOCK DISCUSSED

Also Best Dairy Methods at Tri-State Meet at Fargo, N. D.

North Dakota Veterinary and Live Stock Associations Elect Officers.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The North Dakota veterinarians elected the following officers: President, C. H. Babcock, New Rockford; vice president, J. W. Robinson, Coal Harbor; secretary, C. H. Martin, Valley City; treasurer, B. C. Taylor, Hillsboro.

The North Dakota Livestock association selected officers as follows: President, John Donnelly, Grafton; vice president, U. L. Burdic, Munich; secretary, W. B. Richards, Fargo; treasurer, Charles E. Stowers, Wheatland.

Livestock and Dairy Day.

Today is livestock and dairy day at the tri-state convention. The latter held the boards during the forenoon session and the addresses were of a nature that added many converts to the cause in this state. The discussion following the addresses was spirited and indicated the intense interest felt by the spectators.

"Reflections on Present Day Dairying Conditions" was the subject of the address by Joel Winkler of the dairy division of the department of agriculture at Washington. He is an old Crookston citizen and is familiar with conditions in this section of the Northwest. Prof. Martin of the department of dairying at the North Dakota Agricultural college spoke on "What Dairying Has Done for Other States." O. C. Gregg, for many years superintendent of the farmers' institute work in Minnesota and at present assisting in North Dakota, spoke on "The Dairy Cow for the Dairy Man."

Afternoon Session.

This afternoon and evening will be given over to the livestock men of the state. W. B. Richards of the department of animal husbandry at the agricultural college will speak first on "The North Dakota Stallion Law." "The Bacon Hog for North Dakota" is the subject assigned H. C. Krum of White Bear, Minn., secretary of the Yorkshire Breeders' association.

"The Production of Beef Cattle" will be discussed by J. A. Power of Power, N. D. "The Place for Sheep in Mixed Farming" will be explained by George McKerror, superintendent of farmers' institute work in Wisconsin.

This evening the subjects for discussion are "Livestock on the Farm," R. W. Wilkinson, commissioner of the Great Northern railway; "Handling Range Ewes," McLain Cooper, Hillsboro, N. D.; "Relation of Fairs to Agriculture," A. E. Chamberlain, superintendent of the farmers' institute work in South Dakota.

Dog Prizes Awarded.

Dr. Clayton of Chicago completed judging the aristocratic canines at the North Dakota kennel meet this afternoon. Messrs Bissett and Kobold of Winnipeg had an exhibit of fifteen of the best specimens from the Manitoba city and were able to capture many first prizes. Dr. Chandler of Fargo made a clean sweep in the Irish terriers and Messrs Thomas and Tees did a competition between Ion of Drayton and Hart of Fargo in fox terriers. Bulldogs and bull terriers and Russian wolf hounds presented som difficult problems for the judge.

The big task of scoring the 800 exhibits in the North Dakota Poultry show was begun this morning and it will probably require two full days to complete the work. The exhibit is reported by experts to be of exceptionally high quality.

The annual banquet of the members of the North Dakota Live Stock association was held last night in advance of the live stock day at the Tri-State convention. Tonight the North Dakota Veterinarians hold their banquet at the completion of their two days' session.

NO BOTTLED GOODS SOLD AKELEYITES

Walker Saloonmen Fear Plot to Injure Them and Clamp on Lid.

Walker, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Word has been passed in Walker not to sell any liquor in bottled form to a resident of Akeley. The village of Akeley, located ten miles from Walker, has recently been wiped clean of saloons and blind pigs. One element there being quite hostile at Walker on its having two saloons, is said to have endeavored to give this place a black eye by securing bottles of liquor and taking them home and creating a disturbance. These parties are also said to have given liquor to Indians that Walker might be blamed for the act. The saloons in Walker, in order to protect themselves, refuse to sell liquor in bottled form to people from the neighboring village. The Akeleyites are quite excited over the ruling and take it as an insult to be classed with Indians.

LAY EXPLOSION TO BLACK HANDS

Ironwood, Mich., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald)—This community is still stirred to its center over the dynamite outrage at the Windsor & Corey mine, near Hurley, Wis., not far from here, on Monday last when the dry house was blown up by dynamite, killing Dryman Davis and wrecking the building. Ninteen additional sticks of dynamite that had failed to go off were found under the captain's office.

The explosion is believed to be another Black Hand outrage.

These mines are under the jurisdiction of the Pickands-Mather company of Cleveland.

The local officers and mining officials are making strenuous efforts to locate the criminals that the law may deal with them accordingly.

Making Journeys On Ice.

Menominee, Mich., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The stage route from Menominee to Sturgeon Bay over the ice on Green Bay has been prepared, and regular trips are advertised.

HIRED FIREBUG TO BURN BREWERY

Sensational Allegations Are Made During a Trial at Manistique.

Marquette, Mich., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sensational developments, which have caused a considerable stir in that city, have followed the burning of the plant of the Manistique Brewing company at Manistique.

The fire occurred some months ago. There was ample evidence at the time that the blaze was of incendiary origin and, as there had been launched a movement looking to a local option election in the county, it was surmised that the fire was in some manner connected with that agitation. Subsequently George Bush, a former convict, was arrested, charged with the crime. Bush has now been tried in the circuit court and has been found guilty.

Heard Arson Offer.

The chief witness for the state was Peter La Belle, a saloon keeper, who testified that he had overheard a conversation between the defendant and a man who had offered Bush $200 to set fire to the brewery. The man so accused is engaged in the liquor business, as well as in other lines, and is one of Manistique's most prominent citizens and politicians. He represents an outside brewing concern. La Belle also swore upon the stand that when it became noised about that he had overheard the alleged conversation he was approached with an offer of $200 providing he would remain silent in court. The witness was subjected to a severe cross-examination, but he held stubbornly to his story, and the jury evidently gave it full credence. Aside from La Belle's testimony, the evidence was largely circumstantial.

The man who is alleged to have employed Bush to set fire to the brewery will likewise be hailed into court and La Belle will again be the main reliance of the prosecution.

HABNER HAS RESIGNED.

Former Manager of Duluth Hotel Quits Fargo Hostelry.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 19.—It is reported that Sam Matthews, formerly one of the proprietors and active manager for years of the Waldorf, is to assume the management of the Hotel Gardner. N. A. Lewis of the board of directors of the Gardner corporation will neither confirm or deny the rumor today.

George M. Habner, formerly manager of the Spalding in Duluth, who has been manager of the local hostelry since it was opened, tendered his resignation at a meeting of the board of directors late Saturday afternoon. He expects to leave soon for Chicago.

In the meantime Mr. Lewis of the directors has temporary charge of affairs.

DELIBERATE SHOOTING.

Attack With Gun Upon North Dakotan Was Premeditated.

Fessenden, N. D., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Until such a time as it is definitely assured that Thomas Clayton will recover from injuries he received at the hands of Oscar Peterson, the accused will not be given a preliminary hearing. Should Clayton recover, as it is supposed he will, Peterson will face a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon with intent to kill. Two other men are also in jail, Peter Enlend and Oscar Olson, both charged with obstructing an officer in the performance of his duty.

The shooting was a very cold-blooded affair. The two men had quarreled when Peterson suddenly left. He walked about a block down the street, secured a .44-calibre revolver and hunting up Clayton, fired, hitting him in the abdomen.

FATHER PLEADS GUILTY.

North Dakotan Admits Taking Shot at His Son.

Stanley, N. D., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Valentine Jasmanka of Plaza, charged with assault with intent to kill his son, entered a plea of guilty before Judge Goss of the district court of Mountrail county. The assault took place last summer, the father shooting at his son while the latter was at work on a new building, being mounted upon a scaffold some few feet from the ground. The father's aim was not true and the young man escaped with his life. The two men had been having considerable difficulty and the shooting was the outcome. The prisoner will be sentenced later.

Mike Fiatla and Thomas Williams, both pleading guilty to charges of blind pigging, were given ninety days and a fine of $200. Ole Auverson also pleaded guilty to the same charge and will be sentenced later.

In the case of the Springdale Sunday School association vs. Abbie Ogden and M. F. Ogden, judgment for the plaintiff was found, the jury being out eight hours. The defendants were former officers of the Sunday school organization.

ACCUSED LAWYER GETS A CHANGE OF VENUE.

Towner, N. D., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The trial of Attorney W. E. Slavins, the Granville lawyer charged with assault with intent to commit rape, will come up at Rugby Jan. 24 before Judge Cowan. When the case was called in the district court of McHenry county in this city the defendant filed an affidavit of prejudice, contending that he could not receive a fair and impartial trial. This resulted in the transfer of the case to Pierce county.

Louis and Mike Room, charged with burglary, were found guilty in the fourth degree.

"RATS" NO PROTECTION.

Wisconsin University Co-eds Told to Wear Their Headgear.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 19.—Contending that "rats" offer no protection from the weather, Dr. J. H. Dobson, medical examiner for women at the university, urges "co-eds" to wear their hats whenever they step outdoors. She says that the habit girls have of wearing their hats one day and depending on "rats" and false hair the next is largely responsible for the prevailing epidemic of grip and bad colds among women students.

"If girls would always wear their hats, or just the reverse," declared Miss Dobson, "there would be danger. However, they go on the campus bareheaded. The "rats" would serve as protection, but they become used to those, and then when they go downtown and wear a hat, a new condition results."

Dr. Dobson cited the faculty rule at Radcliffe college, Cambridge, Mass., compelling all "co-eds" to wear hats when out of doors. She is in favor of a similar ruling here.

HURLED TO HIS DEATH.

St. Paul Youth Killed By Explosion of Oil Tank Car.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 19.—While Willie Brennan was on his way to school yesterday afternoon he passed an oil tank car in the Omaha railroad yards, in Hazel Park, just as the tank exploded. His body was blown seventy-five feet down the track, where it was found a few minutes later by boys who had heard the explosion. The little victim was dead and mangled.

The boy was the son of Matt Brennan, who lives at 1422 Stillwater avenue. He left his home immediately after lunch and started to school alone. There were several other boys some distance behind him, but they lost sight of him as he crossed the tracks. A report of the matter was sent immediately by persons living in the immediate neighborhood to the police and the coroner.

WILL OFFER BIG BONUS TO MILWAUKEE RAILROAD.

Lishon, N. D., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Citizens of Fort Ransom, the inland town in the western part of Ransom county, are making overtures to the officials of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway to run their line through that city if the extension from Harlen, S. D., to Valley City, N. D., is decided upon. A big bonus besides free right-of-way, it is understood, have been offered the company, as Fort Ransom is particularly anxious to get on the railroad map at as early at date as possible.

Road To Be Extended.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Jan. 19.—General Manager Franz of the Lake Superior corporation, announced that the Algoma Central railroad will be extended 200 miles northward to connect with the trancontinental line of the Canadian Pacific railroad. A preliminary survey is already in progress.

Neighbors Discover Fire.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—About $1,000 damages was done the residence of J. H. Paxton Tuesday by fire which had its origin in a defective safety stove pipe. Paxton was away from home at the time and had it not been for the fact that neighbors discovered smoke issueing from the house, it would have been entirely destroyed within a short time.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Grand Forks, N. D.—Deputy State Bank Examiner John Vallely of Grand Forks has been placed in charge of the Bowesmont State bank at Bowesmont, this state, and will continue to direct its affairs until a receiver has been appointed. Application has already been made for the appointment of a receiver, but it has not been granted.

DeLaval Cream Separators

Are admittedly in a class by themselves. They are without exception the BEST separators on the market, and because of this, many people have the mistaken idea (which is fostered by would-be competitors) that they are likewise the most expensive and that something "cheaper" will do in their stead.

The fact is that the De Laval Cream Separators are not only the best, but at the same time by far the cheapest—in proportion to the actual capacity and life of the machine.

These are simple facts, which may be easily proven by any buyer who will take the trouble to investigate.

Inquire of the Kelley Hardware company, who will send to you the address of your nearest progressive dairyman who is using the De Laval Separator.

The Fuller & Johnson Farm Pump Engine—which is taking the place of windmills all over the country—will be on display here in a few days. This gas engine is easily attached to any pump—is air-cooled and weather proof—will operate pump of any depth and is simple in construction.

Extra pulley is supplied for attaching churn, separator, etc.

FIFTY MEN IN DULUTH

Two Weeks Given for Counting People in the City.

Supervisor B. L. Hollister Arranging Districts in His Territory.

B. L. Hollister of Aitkin, supervisor of the census for the Eighth congressional district, is in Duluth today conferring with politicians and others who have had experience in systematically getting around the city and county, and arranging the districts in which the enumerators will begin work April 15. Mr. Hollister is receiving some valuable suggestions from the county school officers, who are in session here, and also from Duluth officials and politicians.

Some of the larger voting precincts in Duluth will be divided among the enumerators, but the assignments will be practically one precinct to an enumerator. The men who work in the city will have two weeks in which to complete their task, and they will have to cover the ground pretty rapidly to finish within the time limit. The enumerators outside of the city will have thirty days in which to cover their districts.

There will be 200 enumerators in the district, one-fourth working in Duluth and the remainder being assigned to the smaller towns and the country districts. Jan. 31 is the last date for receiving applications from applicants for appointment as enumerators. Mr. Hollister says he believes he will have a sufficient number of enumerators to do the work as he has outlined it. He is busy getting around the district arranging preliminaries, and he says that April 15 when the enumerators are sent out, they will have instructions, which, if followed, will enable them to take a complete census in the time given.

GEORGE W. SMITH DIES SUDDENLY

Had Been in Poor Health, But End Comes Without Warning.

George W. Smith, 60 years of age, of 27 South Twenty-first avenue east, died last evening of apoplexy. Death came suddenly although he had been in poor health for some time and had been failing noticeably the last few days. Mr. Smith had been a resident of Duluth since 1892. He was in business for a number of years, but ill health compelled his retirement about five years ago.

Besides his wife he is survived by three children, a son, Seymour, employed by F. A. Patrick & Co., and two daughters, Miss Addie M. Smith, a teacher in the high school, and Miss Helen C. Smith, a high school student. The funeral services will take place from the residence Thursday morning, at 11 o'clock. Interment will be at Iowa City, Iowa, the former home of the family.

GRAND FORKS FACTORY CONSTRUCTION STARTS SOON.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Active building operations will be commenced within a few days by the Beach Manufacturing company on the new structure to be used by the concern. Two buildings are to be erected, entirely fireproof, being of brick and steel construction. Spur lines are to be built to the factory site by the Northern Pacific and the Great Northern that the best of freight facilities may be had.

Grand Forks May Festival.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Arrangements are already well under way for the annual May music festival, which will be given in Grand Forks under the direction of the Grand Forks Oratorio society. The Minneapolis Symphony orchestra has been engaged again and the soloists that will participate are Arthur Middleton, David Duggan and Mrs. Lucile Towksburg. The chorus this year will be composed of about 185 voices.

HOME MADE MEDICINE FOR KIDNEYS, LIVER AND BLADDER.

Go to any good drug store and buy a one-half ounce vial Murax compound in original sealed package, one-half ounce fluid extract Buchu, six ounces good, pure gin. Mix together and you have the best medicine that can be had for kidneys, liver and bladder. Shake bottle well each time and take one to two teaspoonfuls three times a day after meals.

This will quickly cure symptons such as backache, rheumatic pains in the joints or muscles, frequent or highly colored urination, scalding urine, puffiness under the eyes, dizziness, dimmed vision etc. Chronic rheumatism, Bright's disease and dread diabetes are thus prevented.

Registration on Second Day Is Heavier Than Was Expected.

Candidates and Friends Work to Get Voters to Polls.

Registration yesterday was heavier than expected, 2,312 more voters putting their names on the poll books to be eligible at the general election, Feb. 1. The last day of registration is next Saturday.

The total registration is now 6,245. Up till late this afternoon all the returns had been received except those from the third precinct of the Eighth ward, and they have been estimated as closely as possible in arriving at the totals. The judge, who was supposed to bring the poll books to the office of the city clerk is said to have lost them last night.

The figures show that the candidates for mayor have been doing more work than was generally supposed. Both the Haven and the Cullum forces have undoubtedly been doing a great deal of hustling, although neither side has been making any noise. it has been a "whispering campaign" throughout, and one of the most peculiar that Duluth has ever had.

The candidates for aldermen in the different wards have also helped increase the registration. In some of the wards the baotlle promises to be warm and no voters are being overlooked.

The large number of important charter amendments that are to be passed upon at the general election has brought out many citizens who would otherwise have neglected to register. The questions which are being put to a vote are of vital importance to Duluth, and men who have no other interest in the campaign are urged to register Saturday for this reason alone if they have not already done so.

The detailed figures of the two registration days are as follows:

George M. Smith Wants to Recover $7,000 From D. T. Adams.

The case of George M. Smith against D. T. Adams was begun this morning before Judge Dibell of the district court.

Smith alleges that he was induced to buy stock in the California-Calaveras Mining company by Mr. Adams, who, he alleges, misrepresented the company and the conditions.

So good did the property look that Mr. Smith says he sank $7,000 in it by purchasing 6,000 shares. He now wants the $7,000 back.

We Cannot Exchange Goods Bought at This Sale

We do not wish to be unaccommodating—but owing to the actual loss that a great many of these goods are being sold at, we cannot possibly exchange them or take them back. Our object in cutting the prices as low as we do and in selling actually below cost is to move broken sets, odd or discontinued patterns and to reduce our stock before inventory time. Please do not ask to have exchanges made.

TO BE TRIED NEXT WEEK

Jackson McPherson to Answer for the Killing of Otto Frey.

For the alleged killing of Otto Frey, aboard the Mutual Transit company's package freighter North Lake, on Sept. 22 last, Jackson McPherson will be on trial Monday morning before Judge Martin Hughes of the district court.

The case would have gone on during the present week but for the fact that Judge Hughes is scheduled to hold court at Virginia.

The murder was committed about noon of the date mentioned, while the Steamer North Lake was lying just west of the Marshall—Wells company dock.

Frey and McPherson were not getting along well together and Frey accused McPherson of stealing from the bunkhouse several small articles. What was begun by words ended in the murder, it is alleged.

McPherson's plea will undoubtedly be self-defense. He claims that while they were quarreling in the bunkhouse, Frey attacked him, grabbing him by the throat and backing him up against the bunk. McPherson claims that he said, "Be careful or I will shoot." Frey is alleged to have replied, "Shoot and be damned." McPherson then reached into the bunk, drew out a revolver and shot. The one shot was sufficient and Frey died almost instantly.

When asked who did the shooting, McPherson admitted that he did, according to the testimony offered in municipal court the day after the shooting. MsPherson, it is claimed, was under the influence of liquor when the trouble occurred.

"NOODLES" AT HIGH SCHOOL

"Noodles" Fagan, the world-famous newsboy who is in Duluth this week, the guest of The Herald, spoke this morning in the assembly room of the Central high school on "The Advantages of Education. "Noodles" was introduced by Prof. George Buck, principal, and for forty minutes held the students spellbound. "Noodles" has talked in all of the leading high schools throughout the world, and he knew the chord to strike before the high school boys and girls.

He told of the high and manual training schools of the country and their systems. He told the boys that a comprehensive education is necessary. He said he has noticed on the people of Duluth small buttons reading "Do It For Duluth," which means "hustle." The greatest boosts for a town is the future generation, he claimed. If the Duluth Commercial club is able to bring here great manufacturers and business enterprises, there must be many intelligent and capable young people to occupy the positions, therefore, he urged, "take advantage of every moment you have in the high school to get mentally equipped to hold any position offered to you."

He warned the boys against the use of cigarettes and strong drink and said that the greatest example for the high school boys and girls are their principals and teachers, men and women of brilliant minds.

"Noodles" told them many humorous stories of how boys get through the world without an education.

At the finish "Noodles" was given a round of applause. Prof. Buck thanked him and said the talk was one of the best given in the high school since he became principal. The boys and girls tendered "Noodles" a vote of thanks.

BRADLEY AND DICKMAN TIED

The civil service commission met last evening to pass upon the papers of those who recently took the civil service examinations in the police and fire departments. Chief interest is in the appointment of a sergeant in the police department from the ranks of the patrolmen who took the tests. The three highest were J. L. Bradley, P. J. Dickman and L. J. Hannott. The first two were tied. Several others also passed.

Mayor Haven said this morning that he will not make any appointment until he has gone into the records of the men who are now eligible. The last few weeks there has been no night sergeant in charge of the force at West Duluth.

FALLS DOWN AT WINDUP

Whyte Rink of Duluth Given Four Defeats in One Day.

The Walter G. Hall Rink Wins the Canadian Soo Event.

After displaying the best form of any rink entered in the bonspiel, the E. N. Whyte rink of Duluth fell down badly yesterday and is now out of every event. Harry Hurdon defeated Whyte 9 to 7 in the St. Paul Jobbers' event; Tucker defeated him 9 to 8 in the International; and Hurdon beat him again in the Minneapolis event 12 to 4; and Brewer defeated him in the International.

The Walter G. Hall rink is the winner of the trophy in the Canadian Soo event. This is the only event that has been finished up to this time, with the exception of the Ordway, although there are but a few more contests in the other events to be played. Hall won in the finals over Neil of Winnipeg by a score of 9 to 7.

A Duluth or West Duluth rink will capture the St. Paul Jobbers' event. Hurdon is in the finals and will meet the winner of the Zauft-Brewer game. This latter game is in the semi-finals.

Zauft of West Duluth and Iredal of Phillips, Wis., are today fighting it out in the finals of the Duluth Curling club event.

Tucker of Pardeeville and Dunlop of Duluth are fighting for possession of the Western Curling club trophy.

Neil's Winnipeg rink left for home this morning. Only the Reedal rink of Phillips and the Tucker rink of Pardeeville now remain.

Hurdon and Tucker today play off the finals in the Minneapolis club event.

In the International event Dunlop will meet the winner of the Currier-Tucker match in the finals. But seven games in all remain to be played and the bonspiel will be a thing of the past.

The contests will all be played off today. Three were played this morning, three this afternoon and one will be played tonight.

Last night's scores follow.

IMP, THE FASTEST ICE YACHT IN THE WORLD, AND HER OWNER

THE IMP ROUNDING THE HOME POST.

BIG DULUTH TEAM WINS

Hunter's Park Hockey Seven Loses a Well-Played Contest.

Play Was Fast and Furious, Although Ragged at Times.

Standing—	P.	W.	L.	P.C.
Big Duluths	2	2	0	1.000
North'n Juniors	1	1	0	1.000
Adams	1	1	0	1.000
Hunter's Parks	2	0	2	.000
Fairmounts	2	0	2	.000

Last evening the Big Duluth hockey team won its second victory of the regular City Hockey league season by defeating the Hunter's Park team by the close score of 2 to 0.

The Big Duluths is the first team to break into the double win column, and on the showing of the team last evening there is every reason to believe it will be in the running for the post-season championship series.

Neither of the teams was able to score in the first half. The Hunter's Park players put snap and team play in the contest, and surprised the league leaders by the good exhibition. During the first half the puck was in the danger zone of the Big Duluths most of the period, and several times it looked as if the suburbanites would register a net.

After the whistle sounded for the second period, the play was even faster than in the first half. Wharton shot a net in the first minute of play. Earl Cummings carried the puck almost the length of the rink, by some steller work, scoring the second goal in the middle of the half.

In the contest last evening neither team showed the degree of team work that is expected from a finished team. At times the play was ragged. The game was fast throughout and showed that the Hunter's Parks will have to be reckoned with in the pennant climb.

The lineup:

Big Duluth	Position	Hunter's Park
A. Woods	g	Blanchard
Kelley	p	McKenzie
G. Wood	c	Watterworth
Bartlett	c	Clark
Cummings	r	T. McKenzie
Ostergren	l	w. Thayer, Ashley
Wharton	r	w. Cargill

Referees: C. Horn, R. Macrea; timekeepers, McFadzean, P. Holgate; goals, Wharton, 1; Cummings, 1; time of halves, 20 minutes.

GLEASON MUST CONTROL.

San Francisco Supervisors Will Insist "Happy Jack" Conduct Fight.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 19.—"When Jack Gleason can satisfy us that he alone is the controlling spirit in this Jeffries-Johnson fight matter, he can have the permit for a 45-pound fight in this city," was the statement made last night by John L. Herget, chairman of the police committee of the board of supervisors.

"Gleason can conduct that fight here and no one else. If Gleason cares to bring Rickard in here as a partner, all well and good, but Rickard's application would not be considered.

"The committee of which I am chairman, a majority of the board of supervisors and pretty nearly the whole city administration is anxious that the fight should come to San Francisco."

Gleason's application will be considered at the next meeting of Herget's committee next Friday evening.

Seniors vs. St. Clements.

The senior class basket ball team of the Central high school will play the St. Clements sodality team at the gymnasium of the latter team in the West end, this evening. Father Raymond and Ray Fenton will officiate. The teams will lineup as follows:

St. Clement's		High School
Lavelle	f	Thorburn
Gallagher	f	Nastland
Owen	c	A. Helmer
Arimond	g	Merritt
Miller	g	Stevens

COURT ORDER WILL CUT OUT CHEAP SEATS.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—Grand stands roofs of buildings overlooking the local National league baseball park were declared "clearly a nuisance and a danger," by the appellate court yesterday. The decree was given in an appeal taken by property owners from order of the circuit court denying a writ enjoining the city from interfering with a roof grand stand. Under the provisions of this decree, the city officials can tear down these grand stands.

Owner of the Imp.

Charles Burd is the owner of the fastest ice yacht in the world. It is the Imp, which yesterday won the third class pennant for the third time. Burd was the builder of the Drub, which was long the fastest boat. The Drub was in the race, of yesterday, but came in third. The Imp jumped into the lead at the beginning of the race and was never headed. The Isabel held second place throughout and came in two minutes and twenty seconds behind the Imp. The Imp made the twenty miles in one hour, three minutes and three seconds. The race was held at Red Bank on the North Shrewsbury club's triangular course.

WRESTLE FOR THREE HOURS

Gordon and Person Prove to Be Very Evenly Matched.

Neither Man Is Able to Get Fall in Long Bout.

Chris Person, Northwestern heavyweight champion, and big John Gordon, the Minneapolis policeman, who holds the police championship belt of the United States, by virtue of his defeat of John Rooney, for years considered one of the greatest wrestlers of the country, broke the world's record for a distance bout last night by wrestling three hours and eighteen minutes without either of the grapplers being able to secure a fall.

After the first five minutes of wrestling it was seen that the men were very evenly matched. Gordon was the stronger of the two, but Person possessed that science that prevented the big policeman from clamping on any hold that placed Person in a dangerous position.

The men struggled over the mat, first Gordon being on top and then Person wriggling out of a hold to assume the aggressive. The great strength and superior weight of Gordon, who topped Person by something like twenty pounds, proved an effectual bar to many of the holds that Person attempted to fasten on the big Minneapolis man.

Added to the weight and strength of Gordon, was his clever blocking of holds. The past winter the Minneapolis man has been working with little Harry Mills, a clever and speedy wrestler, and Gordon has benefited from Mills' knowledge of the game.

It was only when the crowd decided that it would be almost impossible for either man to secure a fall, so evenly matched were they, that the bout was called a draw. The officials of the Duluth Athletic club informed those present that, should they wish, the men would be held to the terms of the match and made to wrestle until one man secured a fall or until one gave up the match.

"I am ready to wrestle until tomorrow night," declared Person, "I will be right with you," declared Gordon. Both men were willing to continue, but they were both so exhausted with the three hours' of gruelling work the audience was unanimous in calling for a draw.

In many respects the match of last evening was similar to the famous Gotch-Hackenschmidt match. In the famous Chicago match, which went two hours and three minutes, it was a question of which man would succumb to the gruelling struggle. Hack proved the yellow boy, and Gotch won the match.

After the match last night Person stated he would have been carried out of the ring rather than have been defeated or accused of being a quitter, Gordon also stated that he would rather have wrestled throughout the night than to have given up the match.

During the latter part of the match, the men were on their feet the greater part of the time, mauling and attempting to tire each other out. It is very doubtful if a more evenly contested match has ever been wrestled in this country.

The preliminary to the big event proved an easy victory for Sailor Jack, claiming the championship of the United States navy. He threw Clarence Beeman, a local boy, and showed that he knew a great deal about the wrestling game. The Sailor had considerably the better of the argument in weight, however.

FRESHIES WIN FROM SENIORS

First Game Played in Interclass High School Basket Ball League.

The Interclass High School Basket Ball league, under the direction of Physical Director Batchelor of the boys' department opened up its series of games at the boys' department gymnasium yesterday afternoon. The contest was between the Freshmen and senior class and resulted in a victory for the freshmen with a score of 19 to 18.

The game was one of the most closely contested games ever pulled off at the gymnasium. Both galleries were crowded with spectators who thoroughly enjoyed the game, and showed their enthusiasm by the vigorous class yells. Both teams were in the pink of condition and showed splendid form as a result of faithful practice. The seniors surprised their friends by coming out in suits made up of the class colors, red jerseys and black pants.

At the close of the first half the score stood 12 to 7 in favor of the freshies, in the second half the seniors gained, but were unable to pull out a victory. Helmer and Capt. Naslund starred for the seniors and Kenneth Harris and Herbert Helmer did great work for the freshmen.

The lineup was:

Seniors		Freshmen.
Naslund	f	Kearns
Thorburn	f	Harris
Merritt	c	H. Helmer
Mather	g	Huttel
A. Helmer	g	Brown

Officials—M. Wallace, J. R. Batchelor.

The next game will be played Friday, Jan. 28, at 2:30, Junior vs. Sophomores. The first game in the Interscholastic series will take place Wednesday, Jan. 26 between the Ely and Emerson schools at 4:30 p. m.

IN THE DAY'S WORK AT WASHINGTON

Nelson Does It.

Ten bills relating to the public land and conservation policies of President Taft and Secretary Ballinger were introduced by Senator Nelson, chairman of the committee on public lands. The measures are not the same as those which Representative Mondell of Wyoming, chairman of the house committee on public lands, declined to champion, but they relate to the same subjects.

Alaskan Home Rule.

Senator Beveridge introduced a bill to create a government council in Alaska, a measure which is said to command the approval of President Taft and Secretary of War Dickinson. The bill provides for a governor, an attorney general, a commissioner of interior, a commissioner of education and health and a commissioner of mines, who together with four other persons, to be also appointed by the president for terms of four years each, shall constitute the legislative council. The effect of the bill is to give to all Alaska a form of home rule, as four members of the council must be residents of the territory.

Criticise Roosevelt.

The house devoted almost five hours to further discussion of the urgent deficiency appropriation bill. Consideration of this measure was not concluded. The session was somewhat enlivened by criticisms of Former President Roosevelt by Representatives Harrison and Fitzgerald of New York, the former denouncing him for appointing representatives to the third maritime conference to be held at Brussels next April without due authority of law, and the latter because of his alleged numerous violations of the civil service law.

Law on Carrier Pigeons.

That carrier pigeons come within the control of the interstate commerce laws and are fit subjects for legislation, is the opinion of Representative Lafean of Pennsylvania, who introduced a bill regarding them. The Pennsylvania member wants homing pigeons protected from molestation when they are making interstate journeys. Mr. Lafean's bill provides a fine of not to exceed $50 or thirty days in jail for any person who "entraps, shoots, kills, steals or in any other way detains carrier pigeons while in interstate flight." The proposed law was referred to the committee on interstate and foreign commerce.

Tariff Ukase Issued.

The president this afternoon issued a proclamation in which it is declared that under the new tariff law, the commerce of Italy, Great Britain, Russia, Spain, Turkey and Switzerland is entitled to the minimum rates imposed by that act. The proclamation is signed by the president and by Secretary of the State Knox.

Peonage Verdict Affirmed.

New Orleans, La., Jan. 19.—United States court of appeals at New Orleans has affirmed the verdict rendered in the federal court of nthe Southern district of Florida in the the case of James Graham, who was found guilty of holding in peonage, a white man named James McCants. Graham was sentenced to serve thirteen months in the federal prison at Atlanta and to pay a fine of $500.

S.S.S. CURES CHRONIC ULCERS

There is nothing that causes more worry and discomfort than a chronic, festering ulcer. As it lingers, slowly eating into the tissues and surrounding flesh, and by its tendency to grow worse in every way, it suggests the possibility of being cancerous in its nature. Efforts to heal the ulcer by means of salves, washes, lotions, etc., always result in failure, because such treatment can have no possible effect on the blood where the impurities and morbid matters form, and are carried thorugh the circulation to the place, to keep it open, irritated and diseased. The impurities in the blood must be removed before the healing process can begin. S. S. S. goes to the fountain-head of the trouble, and drives out the germ-producing poisons and morbid impurities which keep the ulcer open. Then as this rich, purified blood is carried to the diseased place the healing commences, the inflammation gradually leaves, the discharge ceases, new tissue and healthy flesh are formed, and soon the sore is permanently cured because the source has been destroyed. S. S. S. does not make a surface cure, but by supplying the blood with healthful, tissue-building properties it begins at the bottom and causes the flesh at the diseased spot to firmly and permanently knit together, and the place is left sound and well. Book on Sores and Ulcers and any medical advice free to all who write.

WANTS BIG ESTATES APPRAISED AGAIN.

New York, Jan. 19.—Proceedings have been begun in the surrogate court here by Clark Williams, the state comptroller, to have the estate of George Smith, the Chicago millionaire, and that of his nephew, James Henry Smith, known as "Silent Smith," reappraised because of an alleged attempt to evade the transfer tax on $1,263,481. An investigation also has been started to ascertain why the estate of "Silent Smith" has never been settled up, although his death occurred almost three years ago.

CANDIDATES FILING FAST

No Lack of Aspirants for Virginia Offices Getting in Limelight.

Municipal Campaign in Range City Promises to Be Anything But Tame.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The political pot continues to boil. New candidates for municipal offices are springing up daily and by the time the day arrives for closing of the filing contest, it is expected that there will be enough candidates in the field to make the election more than of passing interest.

Although there has as yet been no filings of candidates for judge of the municipal court, the present incumbent, James P. Carey, will file for that office. James H. Fleming, who at present holds the office of special municipal judge, is being talked of as a candidate for first honors, although, he has not as yet filed for the office. Judge Carey, who was elected two years ago for four years is conceded to be the logical candidate for re-election, and it is thought that he will have no opposition. The people elected him for four years and the general opinion is that he is entitled to at least one term for which he was chosen. Attorney R. C. Pickering has announced his candidacy for the honors now held by Mr. Fleming. It is said that if the latter comes out as a candidate at all, it will be for first judge of the municipal court.

Alfred Staff, a business man, has filed for alderman from the Second ward, in opposition to William Kistela.

Thomas Coughlin, a well-known railroad man, who it was expected would be a candidate for alderman from the Second ward, has withdrawn and has declared his intention of becoming a candidate for alderman-at-large. A. C. Osborn, president of the council; Aldermen Klingbiel, Smith and McNeil have not as yet declared themselves, but it is expected that they will all file for re-election before the close of the day next Saturday. Michael Boylan, who is candidate for re-election as alderman from the First, will probably have opposition in the person of Frank Carlson, who is now serving in the council as an appointee. J. L. Kimball, candidate for alderman from the Fourth ward, will probably have Alderman N. J. Smith as his opponent although the latter has not as yet filed for the office. Edward C. A. Johanson, who has served on the council and who is at present a member of the police and fire commission, is said to be willing to make the race for alderman-at-large.

Second and Fifth Fights Hot.

It is expected that the Second and Fifth wards will be the scene of the biggest battle for political honors. In the Second there is a large population of Finlanders, who are members of either the Socialist and temperance organizations and who have heretofore stood pat in elections with their members and they have put in the field for alderman Mr. Kistela, who belongs to both organizations and although Kistela will not put up a determined fight for election he will undoubtedly get big support from his fellow countrymen. Mr. Staff is a Scandinavian, is widely known throughout the ward which he aims to represent and is considered one of the most popular and influential business men in that section of the city. Kistela, it is said, has been put up to represent the anti-saloon element for which there is a large following in that ward. Mr. Staff cannot be considered as representing the saloon element in any degree, but between the two candidates the issues will be along these lines.

The fight in the Fifth ward promises to be exciting as well as interesting. Three candidates are now already in the field for aldermen, and it is said that a fourth will be in the race before many days. William Fritchler, John R. Kingdahl and Sven A. Nelson are all going after the toga without any particular issue up to the present time, and the fourth, who it is said will be put forward by the Virginia & Rainy Lake Railway company interests, will endeavor to defeat the trio on his own merits.

Joseph Backus, who is being urged to enter the mayoralty contest against Mayor Hawkinson, has not as yet filed his intentions. Mr. Backus is at present absent from the city, but it is said that when he returns there will be something doing along these lines, which will make the race an interesting one.

NASHWAUK MINES WILL BE ACTIVE

This Year Promises to See Much Mining in That Section of Range.

Nashwauk, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Pearson mine has laid off its night shift, for an indefinite time which will throw fifty men out of employment. The mine has been stockpiling up to the present.

The LaRue Mining company is making considerable changes and will make the coming season a busy one. Butler Brothers, contractors, are making great headway stripping the LaRue Mining company's property and have added a new shovel and two standard engines on the works which will aid greatly in the uncovering of the overburden at the mine. The Crosby mine is also making great preparations for the coming season by building new shops, a new up-to-date dryhouse along with many other conveniences which has a tendency in aiding the mine for much larger shipments of ore than that of last season.

The Hawkins mine is also making preparations for a big season's shipment.

Harold Johnston, the 15-year-old son of Oscar Johnston, owner of the Sebeka Mercantile company's store here was taken seriously ill Friday with typhoid-pneumonia.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. George A. Lindsey a nine-pound baby girl Saturday.

William Gordon left Saturday for points out West after a brief visit with his parents at this place.

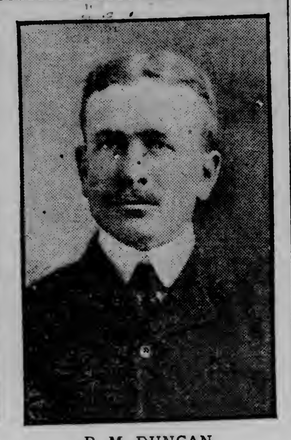

Alfred Nelson returned the latter part of the week from Duluth where he underwent an operation.

Miss Pearl Gordon was a Hibbing visitor the last of the week.

OLD AND NEW GENERAL MANAGER OF EVELETH HEATING & ELECTRIC CO.

HOWARD W. IRVIN,
Retiring General Manager.

R. M. DUNGAN,
New General Manager.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—R. M. Dungan, who has been appointed successor of Howard W. Irwin as general manager of the Home Heating & Electric company here, who resigned to accept a Boston position, is at present connected with the Oliver Mining company, as chief electrician at the Spruce and Adams mines, a position he has held for the past seven years.

Mr. Dungan is a product of the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing company, with which he was connected for some time in the East. Mr. Dungan came to this city about seven years ago from East Pittsburg, and has been connected with the Oliver Mining company here since. He is a prominent leader in the local church circles and a musician and vocalist of ability.

WILL EXAMINE WATER SUPPLY

State Board of Health to Learn If It Causes Virginia Sickness.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The large amount of sickness prevalent in the city has stirred the local board of health to activity in regard to the condition and purity of the water. Dr. J. H. Crowe, health officer, has had some correspondence with the secretary of the state board of health, who has replied that he will send a man here soon to examine and analyze the water, the matter being brought to the city council's attention last night.

W. B. Pratt, city treasurer, has filed a bond in the sum of $20,000 with the city clerk, to run from Jan. 1 to April 1, 1910, the new charter providing an extention of his term of office for three months.

Meat Inspector J. P. Chalmers reported that he had found all the markets in the city in good condition, with the exception of the Mesaba market, where he condemned fifty pounds of pork sausage.

Mr. Joseph was granted a license to sell intoxicating liquors.

The ordinance committee was instructed to draw up an ordinance regulating the local theaters and for the licensing of operators of moving picture machines.

Miss Jessie McNeil, clerk of the court, reported fines collected in that court for the week ending Jan. 15 amounting to $76.50.

VIRGINIA WAITRESS IS ACCUSED OF STEALING.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Caveline Frazer, a waitress at the Louis Fong restaurant, was arrested yesterday on complaint of William Mattson, who accused her of stealing $10 of his money. She was arraigned in municipal court, but the case was continued until a later date.

Judge James P. Carey was a Duluth business visitor yesterday.

The Virginia Ski club are planning on a local tournament for Jan. 30. The club is also planning to hold an interstate meet here on the 27th of February.

Miss Helen Gillmor, daughter of Alderman and Mrs. Frank H. Gillmor, is ill with an attack of the measles.

A son was born yesterday unto Assistant Health Officer and Mrs. J. P. Chalmers.

Dr. J. H. Crowe has returned from Canada, where he accompanied the remains of his brother, Christopher Crowe, for burial.

John O'Leary, a well known railroad man, returned last night from a visit to Duluth and Superior.

HIBBING PERSONAL NOTES.

Miss Fay Aamodt returned to Duluth Tuesday to resume her duty as clerk in Gidding's store after spending the past month visiting with Miss Marie Sullivan of this city.

Rev. and Mrs. Frank Durant left for Duluth Tuesday to be the guests of Bishop and Mrs. Morrison for a few days, while there Rev. Mr. Durant will attend the meeting of the Duluth Deanery is which Rev. Mr. Durant is the present dean.

Mrs. Blair has returned from Chicago where she has been visiting with relatives for the past two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Wilson and daughter returned home Monday evening after spending the past month in New York City visiting with friends and relatives.

A meeting of the Knights and Ladies Modern Maccabees will be held this evening in the Model hall and will elect new officers. After the installation a social and dance will be held.

A meeting of the Elks was held in their hall last night, at which the business for the past year was gone over and plans made for the future.

STRENGTH

Without Overloading the Stomach.

The business man, especially, needs food in the morning that will not overload the stomach, but give mental vigor for the day.

Much depends on the start a man gets each day, as to how he may expect to accomplish the work on hand.

He can't be alert with a heavy fried-meat-and-potatoes breakfast requiring a lot of vital energy in digesting it.

A Calif. business man tried to find some food combination that would not overload the stomach in the morning, but that would produce energy.

He writes:

"For years I was unable to find a breakfast food that had nutrition enough to sustain a business man without overloading his stomach, causing indigestion and kindred ailments.

"Being a very busy and also a very nervous man, I decided to give up breakfast altogether. But luckily I was induced to try Grape-Nuts.

"Since that morning I have been a new man; can work without tiring, my head is clear and my nerves strong and quiet.

"I find four teaspoonfuls of Grape-Nuts with one of sugar and a small quantity of cold milk, make a delicious morning meal, which invigorates me for the day's business."

Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

SINKING SHAFT ON WOODBRIDGE MINE

Buhl, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Foundation company has been awarded the contract for sinking and placing a concrete shaft in the Woodbridge mine, located on the northwest quarter of 16, 58-19, one mile northeast of here. The shaft will be rectangular, 9 by 17 feet inside and twenty-nine feet outside measurement.

The depth to ore body is about ninety-four feet. The company is now engaged at erecting an office building and warehouse, and Reginald Jackson who was in charge of the Morton work at Hibbing for a time, is expected to arrive from Chicago to take charge of the work at the Woodbridge.

Has Million Tons of Ore.

The mine is supposed to have about 1,000,000 tons of a fair grade of ore. The fee is owned by the state of Minnesota and the mining lease is held by Ogelby-Norton Company, of Ironwood, Mich., which company will mine the property themselves. The company started a shaft on the property last year, but made the mistake of locating it incorrectly, and in consequence was so badly troubled with water that the work had to be abandoned.

Carver Richards was in charge of the work on the first shaft, but it is well understood that the same was located contrary to his advice and that he was in no way responsible for the failure.

EVELETH KNOWS CINNAMON.

Man Who Figured in Fargo-Moorhead Tragedy Ran Restaurant.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The story in The Herald that Barney Cinnamon, a former local pugilist and restaurant man, had fell from the Red river bridge at Fargo while attempting to save a girl from jumping into the Red river, caused much interest in this city.

Cinnamon was very well known and liked in this city, having just recently left this vicinity after disposing of his restaurant. He also had a boxing school here and participated in many prize fighting exhibitions. He came here from Milwaukee and was very popular in local business and athletic circles.

HEALTH OFFICER IS NOW INVESTIGATING.

Two Harbors, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—In order to ascertain the cause for the unusual number of typhoid fever cases prevailing in this city, Dr. Hill of the state board of health is making an investigation here. He has visited the various hospitals and patients trying to discover the source of the infection. He inspected the septic tank and the water and light plant today, though the probabilities of the city water being the source of the infection is very remote, as the well at the pumping station was recently inspected and found to be in a very clean condition. Dr. Hill will make known the result of his investigation at a later date.

Eveleth Entertainment a Success.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The entertainment given last evening in the high school auditorium by the Castle Square Entertainers was a great success, the numbers being well rendered and a large audience was present.

Eveleth High Class Managers.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The freshman class of the local high school has appointed the following to manage the affairs of the class for the last semester: Charles Crottier, president; Maude Page, vice president; Jennie Mulligan, secretary.

The class is planning on many social affairs for the last semester.

Hibbing Italian Buried.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Orjstalle Guesseppa, an Italian, was held Monday from Barrett's undertaking parlors. The deceased was 38 years old and father of three children, all of whom are living. He was brought here from Stevenson, where he had been lingering with pneumonia but five days.

TWO HARBORS HAS LOTS OF READERS

Two Harbors, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The people of this city are great readers and liberal patrons of the fine public library, according to the report of Miss Stella Hanson, city librarian, which was presented to the city council last evening.

The substance of the report was recently printed in The Herald, but the communication received from the librarian last night goes more into details and furnishes withal a fine commentary upon the fondness of the people of this city for literature.

The report shows that forty new registrations were made during the month of December, making a total of 309 since the library moved into its new building. The readers and reference workers number 857, and of this number 385 were adults. Books were issued as follows: Adult fiction, 696; non-fiction, 80; juvenile fiction, 512; non-fiction, 139; of this number 13 were French, 32 Norwegian, and 40 Swedish. During the month of December 145 new books were added to the library, which included fiction, books for children, and a number of Swedish and Norwegian books. With the new books this makes a total accession of 996

Books Loaned Rapidly.

The report also indicates that the books are being loaned out very rapidly, and that the library is evidently very much appreciated. This applies not only to adults, but the children as well, for the new order of books for children consisted mainly of non-fiction, with a number of good stories, and are in constant demand. Miss Hanson also spoke very highly of the behavior of the children while in the reading room of the library, stating that as a rule it was the aim of the librarian to make it a self-governing department, and thus far the children have responded well.

The reading room attendance is growing steadily and shows an increase of 106 over the month previous, and especially is this true of the Scandinavian patrons. Their use of the reading room and the increase in the circulation of the Scandinavian books shows how they enjoy the privilege of the library.

EVELETH COUNCIL COMMITTEES NAMED

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 19.—Special to the Herald.)—The following committees were appointed at last evening's council meeting by President Wilson:

Auditing, Doyle, Saari, Sutherland; board of health, Sutherland, Wilson, Saari; city property and building, Jesmore, Wilson, Doyle; claims, Saari, Sutherland, Jesmore; drains, sewers and parks, Jesmore, Wilson, Doyle; finance, Doyle, Sutherland, Saari; fire department, Wilson, Sutherland, Doyle; light and water, Wilson, Sutherland, Jesmore; officers and elections, Saari, Doyle, Wilson; ordinances, Sutherland, Jesmore, Saari; police and licenses, Doyle, Saari, Wilson; printing, purchasing and supplies, Sutherland, Jesmore, Doyle; streets, alleys and sidewalks, Jesmore, Wilson Saari.

The question of granting Caesar Capitinelli, a transfer of license was thoroughly discussed. Capitinelli who was convicted twice of violating the law, claimed he wished a transfer because of poor business. Chief of Police Kent said that the place was run in a disorderly manner. J. C. Miller, representing the Hamm Brewing company which owns the building in question, claims the company wished to secure another manager for the place, but was unable to do so. He was closely quizzed by the aldermen and chief, relative to the brewery's attitude on Capitinelli, after a man had been murdered in the saloon about two years ago. City Attorney Boyle in a scathing speech advised the council to investigate the applicant's character as required by law, claiming that the feedings of the brewery should be avoided except in the case that Capitinelli had defrauded it. After some deliberation the matter was referred to the license committee and city attorney.

The application of Augustina Ariculo for a transfer of license to Ericulla Mardenue, was also referred to the police and license committee and city attorney. The application of Frank Rylander for a transfer of license was granted, and petition placed on file.

Adjutant General F. B. Wood wrote that the militia was lacking in equipment and the matter was referred to the Commercial club.

Several Appointments Confirmed.

The appointments of Dr. D. P. Brown as health commissioner; W. H. Brown and A. H. Johnson, as pipemen; J. H. Murray, as assistant water works superintendent; J. La Fontaine, as assistant fire chief and fire warden; H. Gordon and H. Finnegan, drivers; W. MacGraw, Sr., W. McGraw, Jr., Mark Chaffe, N. Nelson, firemen; P. E. Lister, fire electrician and Fire Chief Nellon, were all confirmed.

Miss Bertha Dupont was appointed deputy city clerk.

The city attorney was instructed to draw up an ordinance in conjunction with City Engineer Austin, establishing a grade for the side streets and also plans and specifications for paving Grant avenue.

The city clerk was instructed to advertise for bids for the city printing for two years.

The question of the distribution of the city funds was discussed and the city clerk was instructed to advertise for places of deposit.

RANGE DISTRICT COURT.

Probability That Judge Hughes Will Try Cases at Hibbing.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to the Herald.)—On Jan. 25 the next session of the district court will convene on the range and it is more than likely that the cases sceduled for Virginia will be transferred to Hibbing, owing to the fact that the court room in Virginia is at the present time under-going repairs.

The second murder case to come up before Judge Hughes since his appointment on the range will be that of A. Fusiciarella, who is charged with the killing of L. Argarilla, a Gilbert baker. The crime was committed on Nov. 24th in Argarilla's bakery and was the outcome of an argument over a board bill.

BASKET BALL GAME SCHEDULE AGREED ON.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to the Herald.)—A schedule has been drafted by the committe in charge of the City Basket Ball league and at an enthusiastic meeting held Monday night the following officers were elected: President, Carl Schirmer; vice president, Joe Healy; secretary, Charles Calligan; treasurer, Ben Greenfield. The opening game will be played on Jan. 23, between the city team and the militia. The following teams are in the league: Olivers, Militia, City and Schirmer Bros. The season will close March 23, with a game between the militia and Schirmer Bros.

BIWABIK CALL BOY IS APPENDICITIS VICTIM.

Biwabik, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—After an illness of several months of appendicitis, William Guimont, aged 17, who had been employed as a call boy for the Iron Range road, is dead.

He suffered greatly from the time the disease made its presence known, and died before he could get enough strength to undergo an operation.

BOVEY IN BRIEF.

Bovey, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Catholic ladies gave a basket social in the Eagles' hall Saturday evening. Dancing was indulged in and $70.10 was realized.

Martin Nagle returned from Eveleth Saturday night.

Owen Gatley has returned from Virginia after an absence of two weeks.

Erik Johnson has left for a trip East, and also for Cuba and other points of interest, for a couple of months.

The Misses La Vallee of Lawrence Lake have moved into the building recently vacated by Miss Maloney, and will start a dressmaking and fancy work store.

Mrs. Edmund Pelletier and daughters, Helen and Eleanor, have returned from a two weeks' visit at their former home at Cloquet.

Mrs. Henry Andre of Minneapolis is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Alfred Holmes.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Eidison Monday.

Mrs. N. Morisette entertained a few friends at her home Monday evening.

morrow will be devoted to discussion of uniform life insurance legislation in the various states and the new movement for the conservation of the public health, which recently organized with some of the largest life companies.

President Taft will speak to the insurance men tomorrow and this afternoon Governor Charles E. Hughes of New York will make an address.

The organization of a propaganda for the conservation of the public health, which is being considered at this meeting, is being taken up by the life companies strictly as a business one.

The actuaries have calculated that if the life of every policy holder could be prolonged one year, not only the companies would be benefited but the policy holders would see the reflection in their own rewards.

The conference is the greatest event of the year in the life insurance business.

Interests Are Stupendous.

President Fouse, speaking on the variations in insurance laws, said:

"The magnitude of the interests involved is stupendous. Some $25,000,000 of life insurance in various forms are in force in the United States, with accumulated assets of $4,000,000,000, of which $3,500,000,000 are held by the legal reserve companies. Over one-third of the population has a direct interest in life insurance, an additional one-half of the remaining two-thirds an indirect interest. It is exceedingly important that waste and unnecessary taxation be stopped while extending ample security and protection to the interests involved.

"Some would seek to accomplish the desired end through national laws and supervision; others through the harmonizing of state laws and practices. For the present we are particularly interested in the latter. It is a fact that cannot be contraverted that the lack of uniformity in laws and practices has been a detriment to the business.

May Avoid National Control.

"In recent years, however, we have been drifting towards uniformity and harmony, and there are many who believe that the laws of the various states can be made consistent and homogeneous, and that it would be better for all concerned that the business be conducted under such improved laws rather than under a centralized administration. Hence, if the uniformity hoped for can be accomplished, there will be no need of national laws and supervision."

of the travelers, was attacked by John W. Walsh, son of the prisoner.

Suitcase for a Club.

Young Mr. Walsh had preceded his father and was carrying a heavy suitcase. The son, the moment he caught sight of the photographer, darted toward him. Swinging the suitcase with surprising force, the young Chicagoan sawed down the newspaper man, driving him and the picture machine in a bunch against the side of a Pullman sleeper.

The photographer fell in a heap and his camera landed beneath the car, half a dozen feet away. The elder Walsh gave a hurried glance at his son and then at the prostrate man, while the officers and others in the party gave vent to a hearty laugh.

Only a few persons knew of the arrival of the ex-banker, and there were less than a dozen people close enough at hand to witness the incident. The party moved quickly from the train shed to the main waiting room, where a secluded spot was sought while the train being made up by the Missouri Pacific to complete the remainder of the trip to the penitentiary.

Prisoner Is Cheerful.

The party arrived in Kansas City over the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul at 9:25, one hour and five minutes late. The departure for Leavenworth was made twenty minutes later. During the brief stop in Kansas City the party passed practically unnoticed, except for the attention paid them by a group of newspaper men.

Mr. Walsh talked cheerfully with those about him and displayed no evidence of breaking down. In answer to questions, he said he had slept well. He had gone to bed early, the officers accompanying him said, and he had eaten a light breakfast.

During the trip the prisoner was protected from any possible intrusion from fellow passengers, and the journey from Chicago was made without incident.

MINERS PUT LEWIS DOWN

izer, in a heated speech denied that he had been brought in from his field of work to do the bidding of President Lewis in the convention or that an effort had been made by the Lewis administration to "pack" the convention.

"We migh as well thrash out this filibustering now as later," announced Lewis, and he made no further resistance to the discussion on Hayes' motion.

Growth Not Up to Standard.

Hayes declared that the national organizers were neglecting their duties, and that the United Mine Workers as a body was not progressing with its campaign or organization as it should.

Green, who was Lewis' opponent in the election for the presidency, spoke as an advocate of "district" rights, as against Lewis' declared theory that the national organization has supreme authority.

"If a national organizer comes into this convention as a delegate from a local union," said Mr. Green, "he should be reimbursed for his expenses here by his local union, and he should not draw his salary from the national treasury while he is here."

A motion to table the Hayes motion was lost in a storm of "nays."

Lewis Beaten Again.

The Lewis conservatives also were defeated in an effort to amend by including district officers within the motion to suspend salaries of national agents attending the convention as representatives of local unions. This amendment, if adopted, would have meant the death of Hayes' original motion.

Hayes, who probably has been elected as national vice president, is secretary of the Illinois district. He was joined here today by John H. Walker of Illinois, who, as a candidate for the national presidency last year, led the anti-Lewis campaign. Walker has been elected president of the Illinois district. He made a vigorous speech in support of Hayes motion.

Yesterday President Lewis ruled out of order both Hayes and Green when they objected to the national organizers being seated as delegates if their salaries were paid during the convention.

William Smith, New York, forehead cut and hand broken.

The cause of the wreck is not known, but it is supposed that it resulted from a broken rail.

hour. This mark is the "danger line" for high water. The Baltimore & Ohio railroad station in Allegheny is submerged.

Edward Jennings and his two sons early today, pulled three men, two women and a tiny baby from a house boat to the Corapolis bridge, over the Ohio river. The rescue was effected by ropes just as the ice gorged against the bridge piers. The houseboat had been carried against the bridge on the crest of the Freeport ice gorge.

Flood Warnings Issued.

Washington, Jan. 19.—Warnings of flood stages of the Ohio river and some of its larger tributaries have been issued by the weather bureau. On account of the warm weather and rains, the Ohio river is gradually rising, although, according to the forecast, flood stages are not probable, except from the vicinity of Evansville, Ind., to the mouth of the Wabash river and at Pittsburg, where a stage of twenty-four feet is forecasted for this afternoon. Flood warnings were issued for the Little Kanawha, Muskingum, Scioto, Great Miami and lower Wabash and also for the Sandusky river.

BIG SLUMP ON 'CHANGE

pool and its holdings were thrown into the market for what they would bring.

It was reported on the floor of the stock exchange that the failure of Lathrop, Haskins & Co. had been caused by the sharp decline in the stock.

Whole List Affected.

While the decline was in progress the general list was very weak. Prices broke all around in the stock market in sympathy with the collapse of Hocking Coal. The average losses in and that ran to between 1 and 2 points, and in Inter-Metropolitan amounted to 3⅝, the preferred falling 5⅛ points. Pittsburg Coal fell 4, Chesapeake & Ohio 3½ and Westinghouse Electric 2⅜.

The selling had exhausted itself in the course of less than an hour and a violent rally ensued with a rush of orders to cover. The loss in the general list was entirely wiped out by this rebound in some of the principal stocks.

Lathrop, Haskins & Co.

The firm of Lathrop, Haskins & Co. was reorganized about a year ago with Henry S. Haskins as the board member, Henry S. Leverich as general partner and Fannie Graves Lathrop, widow of the former senior partner of the old firm, as special partner.

Formerly the house was prominent in the bond business, but recently has been actively engaged in a general brokerage business.

At the principal office of the firm today it was announced that the failure was due to customers who had refused to make good their impaired margins. No announcement was made as to the assets and liabilities of the firm.

Lathrop, Haskin & Co. had for a long time been intimately associated with the interests of the Columbus & Hocking Coal & Iron company.

J. M. Fiske Failure Announced.

The failure of J. M. Fiske & Co. was announced on the stock exchange this morning.

The Fiske firm was organized in April, 1900. The members of the firm are J. L. Fiske, Arthur C. Sherwood, Dudley T. Humphrey and Clifford M. Washburn.

COLE-RYAN STOCKS WEAK

Calumet & Arizona Slumps Ten Points, But Rallies at Close.

The Local Market Is Weak With But Little Trading.

The action of the Cole-Ryan stocks was the feature of the copper market today, a market which opened strong, but which could not stand up under assaults of the bears and wide liquidation.

Calumet & Arizona opened at $91.50 and declined speedily to $81, a loss of 10½ points, and recovered toward the close to $83. Calumet & Arizona has been weak for several days, and it was apparent that there was some liquidation in progress, but today's slump was a surprise even to those who had been following the stock market's action. Inquiry in Duluth today developed the fact that there is no condition at the mine to warrant such a shrinkage in the stock. It is supposed by some that General Manager Powell, who will leave the company on Feb. 1, and his friends, were throwing their holdings on the market. This seemed to be the only adequate explanation.

The copper metal market was firm, spot being ¼ higher.

North Butte opened at $15.50 and went to $18.25 and some Boston brokers were bold enough to wire a prediction of $50 for this stock immediately but the issue slumped in sympathy with C. & A. and went to $14.75, recovering to $15.50. Greene Cananea sold up to $10.25 from $10.12½. Giroux sold at $11.25 down to $10.25. Butte Coalition sold at $26.12½, off ¼ point and down to $25.75. Superior & Pittsburg declined from $15.25 to $15.

In large and expensive advertisements Thomas W. Lawson has been advising the public to get in on Chino. His bull campaign, however, has not been a complete success. Chino declined today from $11 to $11.25 and advanced afterward to $11.50. Steel common was subject to heavy liquidation and declined from $84.25 to $81.75 after hitting $84.50.

The local market was dull and weak. About 7,000 shares changed hands, most of the trading being done in Butte-Alex Scott, part paid; Butte Ballaklava, Rawhide Royal and Keating. In the part paid Scott 1,250 shares were disposed of at $5.50, Butte Ballaklava, $12, $12.12½, $12.00 down to $11.75. Savanna sold at $5.87½ and $5.81¼, Butte & Superior at $28.87½ and $28.81¼, Calumet & Montana at $2, Calumet & Sonora at $16.87½, Calumet & Corbin at $1.12½, Cliff at $2, Chief at $2.37½, Keating at $2.18¾ and $2.25, Rawhide at 11 and 10 cents and Sierra at $1.25. Montana-Clinton was traded in at 55 cents.

Three Wall street brokerage houses, which were on the bull side, failed today. One was mixed up in the Hocking Valley Coal suspension.

Duluth Made Blank Books.
Thwing-Stewart Co. Phone 114.

Funeral of Pioneer.
The funeral of Mrs. Francis Hamp, 68 years of age, who died Monday at St. Mary's hospital, took place this morning from the German Catholic church, Third avenue east and Second street. She was the wife of R. Hamp, who died March 24 last, and was one of Duluth's pioneers, coming here in 1875. She is survived by one son, R. J. Hamp of 201 West Third street.

Case Is Dismissed.
The case of the state against John Paulson, who was indicted by the January grand jury for robbery in the second degree, was this morning dismissed in district court. It was found that Paulson had nothing to do with the crime with which he was charged.

Candy Company Incorporates.
The Minnesota Candy Kitchen this morning filed articles of incorporation with the register of deeds. The incorporators are Mike Zootis, Alexander George and Fred Reynolds. The capital stock is set at $25,000, and the highest amount of indebtedness is placed at $10,000.

Verdict For Plaintiff.
Carl Johan Lind was given a verdict for $125 against Christ Wallin by a jury in district court yesterday afternoon. Lind sued for $5,500 damages, claiming that he had been seriously injured by an assault Wallin committed on him.

Case Is Settled.
Anna C. Narveson, the wife of Narve O. Narveson will receive $3,150 from the United Commercial Travelers of America, the attorneys for Mrs. Narveson filing the order stipulating the arrangement in United States court this morning. Mr. Narveson was killed about a year ago and his widow brought suit for $6,300, the amount paid by the order in case of the accidental death of a member. The order contested the claim, but the settlement was finally agreed upon.

Auditor's Office Closed.
The employes at the office of County Auditor Odin Halden attended the funeral of George H. Scully this afternoon. Mr. Scully was a draftsman in the office. The flag on the courthouse was at half-mast today out of respect to Mr. Scully's memory.

New Flag at Last.
The old flag which waved over the federal building for many long months has finally been torn to shreds, and has been replaced by a bright new edition of Old Glory.

Sues for Building Material.
The suit of M. A. Thompson against J. A. Robert for $456, which Mr. Thompson says is due on building material, is on trial before Judge Hughes in district court this afternoon.

For Theft of Watch.
Gunner Schon, 19 years of age, was arrested today for the theft of $3 and a watch from Fred Russell. The theft is claimed too have been committed in the Belmont hotel last night.

Ordered Them "Charged."
N. P. Turnbladh of this city, is the victim of a rather odd case of dishonesty. Some person at Brule, Wis., ordered some building material from a Superior concern, amounting to $35, and had the goods charged to Mr. Turnbladh. The goods were delivered, and today Mr. Turnbladh got the bill. The matter will probably be investigated by the Wisconsin authorities.

Engels' Picture Sale.
Do not overlook Engels' art store great picture sale now going on. New subjects are put on daily. Engels handles nothing but the best.

Thimble Bee.
The Women's Relief corps will hold its monthly thimble bee in memorial hall in the courthouse tomorrow afternoon. A basket lunch will be served at 4 o'clock.

Verdict for the Defendant.
In the suit of Henry Kauppi against Joseph W. Reynolds for $1,155.24, on account of the alleged violation of a logging contract, Judge Cant late yesterday afternoon directed a verdict for the defendant.

Canfield in the Lead.
The pool match between Mose Canfield and Charles Nolan, at the Majestic pool hall, was resumed last night. Canfield won the block played last night by a score of 166 to 126. Nolan's high runs were 19, 18, 15, 7. Canfield's high run was 50, and at the end of the game he had an unfinished run of 40. The men are playing a 1,000-ball match. The total score now stands: Canfield, 664; Nolan, 443.

COUNTY SCHOOL OFFICERS HERE

The county school board convention is being held today at the Duluth Commercial club.

The annual meeting was called by County Supt. of Schools S. W. Gilpin.

The morning was given over mostly to talks by various delegates. This afternoon a discussion of school affairs will be held and the delegates will this evening leave for their homes. Many of them attended the meeting of the County club held yesterday.

C. G. Schultz, state superintendent of public instruction of St. Paul this morning delivered an address advocating the taxing of state lands the same as privately owned lands, the revenue to go toward schools, roads, bridges and ditches. This seemed to meet with favor by those in attendance at the meeting.

G. F. Howard of the state agricultural school spoke, as did J. Adam Bede and Hugh Hock, state truant officer.

This was the fourth annual convention. George L. Ault is president of the organization and in the absence of the secretary, W. A. Holt was elected to fill the position.

SISTER NAURA SCHMITT DIES

Sister Naura Schmidt, a nurse at St. Mary's hospital for fourteen years, died at the hospital last night as the result of a paralytic stroke, which she suffered two days after Christmas. Sister Naura was 57 years old. She came to Duluth in 1889, and many a patient at the hospital will remember her kindly offices gratefully.

The funeral will be held tomorrow morning, with services in the chapel at Villa Scholastica, Father Lydon will have charge of the services and he will be assisted by Father Guillet and Father Lacosse.

Interment will be in the private cemetery of the Benedictine community.

SUPERIOR

TELEPHONE WAR IS REVIVED

Another round in the fight that the Twin City Independent telephone interests are making to get control of the affairs of the Zenith and People's Telephone companies at the Head of the Lakes, was brought to light today, when W. M. Hubbard filed a protest with the secretary of state at Madison against the granting of an application made by the Twin City interests to reinstate the defunct Lake Shore Telegraph & Telephone company.

The Lake Shore Telegraph & Telephone company is a holding corporation, organized a number of years ago under the Wisconsin laws. It was formed to take over the stock of the People's Telephone company of Superior and also that of the Zenith Telephone company of Duluth. The Twin City interests have bought a controlling interest in the holding company.

If the application of the Twin City stockholders in the holding company is granted, it will mean that changes will be made in the two subsidiary companies in Duluth and Superior. Mr. Hubbard, who wishes to keep the St. Paul and Minneapolis interests out, is protesting against the granting of the request.

In the papers filed today at Madison, Mr. Hubbard asserts that the defunct company was not organized to do legal business, but was simply formed for a pooling corporation, in which the interests of the two subsidiary corporations were involved. He asks the secretary of state to deny the application which will mean that the holding company cannot be reinstated.

The Lake Shore Telegraph & Telephone company lost its standing as a legal corporation in Wisconsin by the failure to file its annual reports with the secretary of state for a number of years past.

Thomas Leamon Dies.
Thomas Leamon, for twenty-four years a resident of Superior, 73 years old, died late yesterday at his home, 21 West Fifth street, after suffering for some time with a goitre. Mr. Leamon was a native of England and came to America to settle in Ontario, when a young man. Later he lived in Michigan and from there came to Superior. He leaves a wife and five children. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon from the residence.

Offices Are Combined.
After a heated discussion, the city council passed the ordinance placing the compensation of the city veterinarian and dairy inspector on a salary basis. The aldermen created an office combining the two departments with a salary of $1,200 a year. The mayor also offered his recommendations on street improvements.

Peddled Without License.
J. J. Johnson, vender of optical goods, tried to sell Police Lieut. D. W. Scoon a pair of spectacles at his residence yesterday afternoon. The result was that his arrest followed on a charge of peddling without a license. At police headquarters, he was released after agreeing to procure a license.

Dies in Workhouse.
Jerry Maley, a lake seaman, died at the Rockmont workhouse late yesterday, after serving one day of a ten-day sentence for drunkenness. Death was due to heart disease. The body is at the Le Sage undertaking parlors. It is not known whether he has relatives or not.

Officers Stop Runaway.
Two officers, Sergeant Henry O'Brien and Patrolman Carl Hagberg saved a score of little children from possible injury under the hoofs of a runaway team yesterday afternoon in the vicinity of the Nelson-Dewey school at the East end.

"Pure Food" Show.
The Superior grocers will open a "pure food" show this evening at 911-913 Tower avenue. Nearly every jobber and manufacturer of foodstuffs at the Head of the Lakes is represented in addition to a number of outside concerns. Special music and vaudeville programs will be given each evening. Miss Alice M. Gunn, of the Superior normal will give a "pure food" lecture on alternate days. The show will last for ten days.

THE MARKET IS NARROW

May Wheat Goes Lower With But Little Trading Locally.

Flax Market Still on the Toboggan, Declining 4 Cents.

Duluth Board of Trade, Jan. 19.—The wheat market was demoralized today and there were few offerings. Sales were restricted. The market was narrow in tendency in the early hours, but covering by shorts toward the close put May above the opening and only ¼c off from yesterday's close of $1.10 bid. The low price today was 1¼c off from yesterday's close. The advance in the last hour today appeared to be the result of an oversold market. The flax market was subjected to more liberal offerings from the country and prices declined in consequence.

May wheat opened at $1.09¾, ⅜c off from yesterday's close, lost ⅛ point and advanced to $1.09⅞, but declined to $1.09⅝, and then to $1.08⅞, and rallied to $1.10, closing at that price. The trend of the wheat market was in the early hours narrow as traders were extremely cautious, preferring to wait until some of today's perplexities had been cleared up. The shorts feared to commit themselves on the break for fear of oversselling the market, but late in the day got into the game and oversold it. The bulls, who believe that the bottom of the decline is about reached, hesitated to enter the market, as most of them admit that it may drop another cent or two. They realize that there is considerable long wheat liable to go out on stop loss orders.

May flax opened at $2.06½ sale and lost two points on selling from the country, principally rural levators, gained a point on slight buying by the crushers and declined further on offers and slight selling by shorts, closing $2.02 bid after touching $2.01. The bulls did not let go of their holdings to any noticeable extent, being in an anxious but waiting mood. Crushers seem to think flax prices too high and they are inclined to take a great quantity of the country's offerings at prevailing prices. Whether the crushers desire to read a lesson to the farmers and country elevators who have been holding for higher prices is a question of interesting import. Anyway, it is probable taat the crushers will endeavor to force lower quotations before entering the market to any great extent. That receipts are increasing is indicated by the augmented stocks at the Head of the Lakes which increased 3,000 bu in the last four days, compared with a steady decrease in the previous two or three weeks.

Some bulls think the action of the market is simply the usual January slump. They recall that last year the decline was approximately 8 cents spread over about a week. They are in a waiting mood and think natural conditions will force a higher market in the near future. It is easy at this time to oversell the market, and an air of caution pervades the activity of the traders, such as it is.

The foreign situation became predominant today. The foreign markets were completely demoralized and sold off, although a slight rally around midday, which was unsustained, was caused by covering of shorts on receipt of news of the ruins in Argentina. Offerings from Canada, the United States and Europe were lower and the export trade was considerably out of line. Anaes-Brooks reported "nothing doing" in the export business today. Winnipeg apparently did not work out as much stuff last week as was first reported, the total shipments being placed at about 500,000 bushels. La Plata offerings were cheaper, suffering a decline of 6 pence. The foreign cash market was easier and private reports of increased Argentine shipments and continued heavy exports from Australia, India and Russia caused the market to become stagnant and unsettled.

Slaughter got into the game today with another guess on the exportable surplus from Argentina. Slaughter's agent at Buenos Ayres said that the acreage had been reduced officially by 500,000 ha. The correspondent estimated the exportable surplus at 64,000,000 bu, which is approximately the estimate announced slightly more than two weeks ago by Ames-Brooks, which at that time was the lowest computation submitted for the market's consideration, other estimates running from 70,000,000 bu to around $4,000,000 bu. Most traders seem to think Slaughter's cable is too low. In view of the big increases in the surplus of exportable stocks of India, Australia and Russia, the decrease in the Argentine surplus does not seem to significant as some traders have considered it.

This bullish sentiment that has pervaded the market for the last three or four months seems to have received the attention of Wall street, according to the opinions of some traders. The United States has been exporting considerable gold and the wheat exports are not maintaining the position which Uncle Sam has held in the past, Russia now being in first place. It is gossip that the financial interests would like to see more grain and less gold sent abroad and that to bring about this condition the exponents of big business decreed that wheat prices should go lower. It is problematical if there is anything of truth in this, but it is given for what it is worth.

Traders say that Northwestern farmers have borrowed unusually large sums of money this season on their wheat from country banks and that a check in the upward movement of wheat will help the financial situation, if nothing else, as farmers will feed out their holdings on the scale downward. Whether this theory about the farmers will become a fact remains to be seen. It is evident, however, that the decline has jolted loose considerable grain and that the interior movement is at least twice what it was this time last year.

During the bull campaign, it was the proper thing to buy on the breaks, but now there seems to be a reversed tendency—to sell on bulges. Bears are inclined to sell on the hard spots while the bulls are cautious about getting loaded up on the breaks.

The cash demand was slightly improved in Chicago, the leading cash market, but until the demand is more urgent for immediate shipment, or until pronounced bullish factors in the foreign situation become predominant, the market is liable to droop and be subject to considerable nervousness and erratic tendencies. Cash equalled May here today.

The millers are not so eager for wheat, and some traders see no reason for them to acquire such large stocks. The new crop, from all reports, is in excellent condition and the bears think the farmers will have no cause to hold on to their present supplies.

The latest estimates on the world's crop indicate it at 3,593,000,000 bu, an increase of 341,000,000 over 1908 and 528,000,000 bu over the crop of 1907. It is the largest crop on record. The Russian crop is estimated at 780,000,000 bu; official Russian estimate is 783,000,000 bu. The big crops in the last three years make up for the two low crops in the two previous years when supplies were reduced to a minimum.

Northwestern receipts continue at a good rate, Minneapolis being the center of receipts. Local receipts show a slight falling off compared with the last few days. The local market has been on a parity approximately with Minneapolis and has been selling higher than Chicago.

Durum closed ¼c off, oats, ⅝c off and other coarse grains were unchanged.

Wheat stocks increased 199,000 bu at the Head of the Lakes in the last three days. Local flax stocks increased 3,000 bu. Wheat supplies at Minneapolis increased, 175,000 bu in the last four days.

Car receipts at Duluth were 54 cars against 23 cars last year; at Minneapolis, 416 cars against 121 cars last year; at Winnipeg, 108 cars against 77 cars last year; a total on 588 cars for the Northwest, compared with 221 cars against last year. Chicago received 12 cars against 3 cars last year, and shipped 63 cars against 83 cars. Kansas City received 75 cars, compared with 50 cars last year. St. Louis received 44,000 bu against 28,000 bu last year and shipped 93,000 bu, compared with 11,000 bu last year.

Clearances of wheat, 36,000 bu; oats, 31,000 bu; flour, 22,000 bbl.; wheat and flour, 135,000 bu.

Clearances of corn, 80,000 bu.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "The wheat market at the opening was weak with values, ½@⅝d lower; being influenced by the disappointing American cables yesterday. Following the opening the market developed further pronounced pressure and prices showed an additional decline of ½d to a penny with the principal weakness in March and July. Realizing was induced largely by holders who are prompted to take profits due to the general weakness in financial and cotton markets in America. Pressure was further prompted by the decline of six pence in La Plata offerings, easiness in the spot markets, continued free Australian offerings and private predictions of increasing Argentine shipments. There was generally poor demand for all descriptions here. Just before midday there was a slight recovery from the extreme decline on some covering by shorts on the rains in Argentine. At midday the market was weak with values 1⅜@1⅝d lower than yesterday. Corn opened ¼d lower and further declined ⅜@⅝d. Realizing was due to the break in wheat, cheaper European and American offerings. Our Argentine agent cables heavy general rains occurred last night."

Partlett-Patten wired—"Cables 1⅛@1⅜d lower on wheat. Slightly better demand for cash wheat in Chicago from millers, but will have to show larger demand to hold our market. Unless we have severe winter wheat damage and largely increased cash demand prices will weaken and we advise caution in selling on breaks. The market could be oversold and cause a quick reaction. The weather is clear and bright through the corn belt for the first time in several weeks. With favorable weather our receipts of corn should increase and give us a lower corn market. Our Liverpool agent cables: 'Wheat and corn affected downwards by advices from your side. Wheat depressed with buyers holding back. Corn declining in sympathy with tenders.'"

Finley, Barrell & Co. wired: "While we can see nothing in the situation to prevent further readjustment in values, we believe it prudent not to longer at least a portion of your profits on any further decline, as we have had a pretty fair house cleaning as a result of our 6-cent break, hence some temporary rally is natural and to be expected, but they should be taken advantage of in every instance to replace or increase short sales, as the situation is all against bulls."

Barrell's crop expert, Charles Kinyon, wired from Trenton, Mo.: "Corn in this section is almost a failure. Corn is being shipped in from Iowa. selling at 70 cents. Growing winter wheat is looking good." From Kirksville, Mo.: "Corn is being shipped in here from Illinois, selling at 65 cents. Farmers will not sell their holdings for less than 70 cents."

The Chicago Inter Ocean said:—"Grain men who have been very bearish and who are still strong advocates of lower prices believing that everything bullish in the grain situation has been discounted and that we are in for a lower level of prices, said that the technical position in the pit favored a rally. These men advised selling on all hard spots, believing that the rallies will be short lived, and that while there has been enormous liquidating with a break of six cents from the recent high point of the season, there is still a great deal to be liquidated which will eventually come out as prices work lower."

Liverpool close—Wheat 1⅜@1⅝d lower; corn, ⅝@¾d lower. Spot wheat closed ½@¾d lower; corn unchanged to ½c lower; flour ½c lower. Berlin wheat 1c lower. Budapest wheat, 1½c lower.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Prices Continue to Decline With Liberal Movement.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—Wheat continued on the down grade in today's market and fell off at the opening ⅛@½c. Continued liberal crop movement induced by fine weather conditions counterbalanced, a slightly improved demand for cash grain, and gave energy to bearish sentiment. In the first hour prices moved over a range of ⅞@1½c. The bulk of trading was in the May delivery which opened at $1.08⅛@1.08¾, and after touching $1.09, dropped back to about the opening figures.

The market nervous through the first half of the session, the decline continuing. In the final half of the session, a rush of shorts to cover advanced prices above the opening figures. May went up to 1.09 after having touched 1.07¾. The close was strong with May a shade lower than yesterday's final figures at 1.08⅞@1.09.

General commission selling in the corn pit caused a fall off in prices at the outset. The initial drop was ⅛@½c below yesterday's closing prices. Excellent weather accelerated the movement of country elevator stock which of late has been delayed. The range in the first hour was about ¼c, the market keeping practically within the opening figures which for May were 67⅞@67¼c.

The market declined for a time. Later, in sympathy with the advance in wheat, prices shot upwards, closing unchanged to a shade higher than yesterday's final figures. May touched 67¾ after having declined to 66½. The close was strong with May at 67½@⅝.

Trade in oats reflected the course of wheat and corn, increased movement of the crop being the principal factor in the decline which at the start ranged ⅛@½c lower than yesterday's closing prices. The first hour's trading was within the opening range. May opened at 47⅞@47¼c.

An easier tone in the hog market together with the decline in grain, were reflected in provisions, which at the start were generally unchanged to 10c lower. January pork dropped off 22½c at the start. Opening figures on May products were: Pork, $21.75@21.70; lard, $12.00; ribs, $11.47.

THE MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Wheat Is Weaker But Gets Firm on Apparent Overselling.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 19.—Easier cabels and liberal offerings in the pit made the wheat market open ¾@⅞c lower than yesterday's close. During the early session May sold down to $1.08⅞, the lowest price for a month. One commission house sold an even lot of 1,000,000 bushels of May. During the latter part of the day an oversold condition seemed to prevail and the market was firmer. The near option closed ⅞@1c higher than the low point. Local elevator stocks increased 175,000 bu for four days. Minneapolis today received 416 cars of wheat as compared with 121 cars a year ago, Duluth 54 cars against 23 cars, and Duluth 54 cars against 77 cars. Winnipeg 108 cars against 77 cars. May opened $1.09¾@1.09¼; high, $1.09⅞; low, $1.08⅞; close, $1.09¾@1.09⅞. July opened, 96⅜@96⅝; high, $1.00¼; low, $1.00; close, $1.00¾.

Cash wheat was steady today. Demand was strong and both milling and elevator interests were good buyers. No. 1 northern sold for 1⅛@2c above the May option, and No. 2 northern for the even May price to ½c under. Closing prices on track: No. 1 northern, $1.10⅝@1.11⅜; to arrive, $1.10⅝@1.11⅜; No. 2 northern, $1.08⅝@1.09⅝; to arrive, $1.08⅝@1.09⅝. No. 3 wheat, $1.06⅝@1.08⅝. No. 3 yellow corn, 59¾@60¾c. No. 3 white oats, 44⅞@45¼c. No. 2 rye, 76¼@77⅝c.

Millstuffs—Shipments, 1,397 tons. The market continued strong and steady. Demand remained general and active. Shipments heavy and prices firm. Bran in 100-pound sacks, $23.00@23.50.

There was no change in the flour situation today.

Demand fair; shipments heavy; prices firm. Shipments, 58,636 bbls. First patents, in wood f. o. b. Minneapolis, $5.40@5.60; second patents, $5.20@5.40; first clears, $4.34@4.45; second clears, $3.10@3.40.

Flax—Receipts, 34 cars; year ago, 24; shipments, one. Prices registered another decline today on account of further liquidation in the future market, but demand was strong for both spot and to arrive at 1c above the Duluth May option. Closing price, $2.02¾.

Barley—Receipts 75 cars; year ago, 44 cars; shipments, 64. The market was steady today. A tendency for the range of prices was noticed. Demand was good for all grades and quotations held firm. Closing range, 59@67c.

Total balance in general fund, $80,253,841.

DECLINES IN STOCKS

Opened With Advances, But Lively Selling Carried Down Prices.

Market Closed Furiously Active and With Rally in Progress.

New York, Jan. 19.—The opening rebound in prices of stocks today was quite violent, especially in those stocks which were most depressed yesterday. Louisville & Nashville was run up 2¼, Northern Pacific, 1¾; Southern Pacific and Canadian Pacific, 1½; Great Northern, preferred, Rock Island, Baltimore & Ohio, and Amalgamated Copper and St. Paul, Reading, Western Maryland and American Smelting large fractions. There was a sprinkling of declines which ran large fractions. Great Northern preferred and Northern Pacific lost their gains immediately after the opening.

The pressure against the Hill stocks was abandoned for a time and they got back to their high figures. Later wholesale liquidation in the Interborough-Metropolitan stocks which cost the common, 2½ and the preferred 3¾, caused a general reaction which ran to a point in many of the prominent stocks. Chicago, Great Western, Western Maryland certificates and Pullman declined 1.

A lively selling movement carried prices below yesterday's level throughout the list. Heavy liquidation in the Interborough Metropolitan stocks and the violent decline in Hocking Coal on sales of small lots were weakening factors. Hocking Coal tumbled 27¾ points, Inter-Metropolitan 3½, the preferred 5, Minneapolis & St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie 2½, and Reading, Chesapeake & Ohio, Kansas & Texas, Republic Steel, United States Rubber, and others, a point. Bonds were irregular.

The market closed furiously active and with a rally in progress. The bears centered their final attack on the more standard stocks and forced declines of between 2 and 3 points in Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, Atchison, Wabash preferred, New York Central, Atlantic Coast Line, Rock Island, United States Steel, Amalgamated Copper, American Smelting, American Locomotive and others. Delaware & Hudson dropped 4 and Consolidated Gas 8¾. Demand from the bears to cover shorts became very active at the declining and rallied prices quite vigorously.

COPPER STOCK BROKERS.

MEMBERS DULUTH STOCK EXCHANGE.

JANUARY 19, 1910.

We are getting a lot of high-grade ore at the Butte-Alex Scott mine. This one will soon be a big shipper of high-grade ore. These are the days that valuation back of a property means something. Any big holder of Scott should take the time and go to Butte and see for himself, and then when any one talks to him regarding the market he will simply say, we are opening up a real mine and will soon be sending high grade ores to the smelters. We advise the purchase of the Scotts, for we know the mine and that it is worth at least $3,000,000.

The time will come when you will simply have to take off your hats to this Scott proposition.

We advise the purchase of Vermilion stocks, for we believe a lot of big mines will be opened up on that range.

We think St. Mary's stock should now be picked up. This is a very good property and shares should easily advance from present low level.

Our market is not very swift and this comes about on account of the slow Eastern market. One of these days things will change and it will not take long either. We advise the purchase of Central Vermilion stock for we have visited the property and believe in the proposition.

The Cotton Market.

New York, Jan. 19.—The cotton market opened firm at an advance of 15@37 points. Although a renewal of liquidation by Western and Southern houses caused a slight reaction during the first few minutes, the undertone was decidedly better, and prices during the middle of the morning ruled 35@37 points net higher on the active months, $9.25 per bale above the low point of yesterday. Better cables than expected and reports of an increased demand from spinners seemed reassuring to the remaining long interest.

The market closed quiet 50 points higher. middling uplands, 14.40; middling gulf, 14.65. No sales. Midway Horse Market.

Minnesota Transfer, St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 19.—Barrett & Zimmerman report: Several consignments of farm mares and farm chunks were among the days offerings. Retail trade continues to show improvement. A number of buyers from Montana and North Dakota were among those looking through the stalls, and were of the opinion that large numbers of horses would be required in these states this spring.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

Duluth, Minn., Jan. 17th, 1910.

We wish to announce to the public of Duluth and the whole of the Northwest that Ray W. Butchart and Miss K. L. Dolan has today formed a copartnership to do a general brokerage business with offices in the Providence Building in the city of Duluth.

Ray W. Butchart, or as everyone knows him, "Butch," is a Duluth product and has held a number of responsible positions, leaving the firm of C. H. Aske of Duluth to start out on his own book and previous to this he was first receiving teller in the City National Bank, working his way up from messenger to one of the most responsible positions in the banking business.

Miss K. L. Dolan has been a resident of Duluth for the past ten years and is well known for her integrity and straightforwardness in all business matters. Miss Dolan was for several years with Swallow & Hopkins and for the past two years was with the Court House commission.

We believe Miss Dolan will fill a long known vacancy in the brokerage business in Duluth and that is, take care of the trading of the ladies of Duluth. There are a number of lady speculators in Duluth and also a number who would like to speculate but are rather timid in approaching the general brokerage offices, and to those and all other ladies we extend a hearty welcome and anything you would like to know and we are not at the moment able to tell you, we will do our best to ascertain for you.

Mr. Butchart will attend to the firm's business on the floor of the Stock Exchange, as he was today elected a member of that body.

We sincerely solicit a share of your patronage and you may rest assured that courtesy and honest dealing will always be our motto, knowing that a pleased client is the best advertisement we can possibly have. Thanking you in advance for any favors you may see fit to entrust to us, we remain, Very truly yours,

TURKISH PALACE RAZED BY FIRE

Constantinople, Jan. 19.—The palace of Cheragan, where parliament sits, was practically destroyed today by fire of accidental origin. The chamber of deputies was burned out, and the hall was so badly damaged that it cannot be occupied again.

The palace of Cheragan was built by Sultan Abdul Aziz and was the finest of the palaces on the Bosphorus. It was constructed of marble. The interior was ramarkable

ORDER FOR HEARING ON PETITION FOR ADMINISTRATION—
State of Minnesota, County of St. Louis.
In Probate Court.
In the Matter of the Estate of Omar H. Simonds, Decedent.
The petition of Nellie W. Simonds having been filed in this court, representing, among other things, that Omar H. Simonds, then being a resident of the County of St. Louis, State of Minnesota, died intestate, in the County of St. Louis, State of Minnesota, on the 28th day of December, 1909, leaving estate in the County of St. Louis, State of Minnesota, and that said petitioner is the widow of said decedent, and praying that letters of administration of the estate of said decedent be granted to J. L. Cromwell.
IT IS ORDERED, That said petition be heard before this court, at the Probate Court Rooms in the Court House, in Duluth, in said County, on Monday, the 7th day of February, 1910, at ten o'clock A. M., and all persons interested in said hearing and in said matter are hereby cited and required at said time and place to show cause, if any there be, why said petition should not be granted.
ORDERED FURTHER, That this order be served by publication in the Duluth Evening Herald according to law, and that a copy of this order be served on the County Treasurer of St. Louis County not less than ten days prior to said day of hearing.
Dated at Duluth, Minn., January 10th, 1910.

ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION —OF— MINNESOTA CANDY KITCHEN COMPANY.

BE IT KNOWN, That we, whose names are hereto subscribed, do hereby associate ourselves together and adopt and sign these articles for the purpose of forming a corporation in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 58 of the Revised Laws of Minnesota, 1905, and all Acts amendatory thereof and supplementary thereto.
ARTICLE I.
The name of this corporation shall be MINNESOTA CANDY KITCHEN COMPANY. The general nature of the business of this corporation shall be the manufacture of all kinds of confectionery, and the buying, selling, handling, storing and disposing of all kinds of fruit and confectionery; also the buying, selling, storing, handling and disposing at wholesale or retail, or on commission or consignment, of all kinds of goods, wares and merchandise usually bought, sold, stored, handled, consigned and disposed of by wholesale or retail fruit and confectionery merchants. This corporation shall also have power to buy, sell, receive on consignment or commission, and dispose of, by sale or otherwise, of all kinds of merchandise in any way pertaining to the wholesale or retail fruit and confectionery business, to act as sales agent for the sale and disposal of the same, and to do and transact all kinds of business incident thereto, and said corporation may buy, own and lease real estate for the purpose of carrying on its business, and may acquire and hold, use and dispose of all such property, including real, personal and mixed; and also do and transact all kinds of business incident and necessary and convenient to be done in the manufacture of confectionery, including the receiving, storing, handling and selling of all of the ingredients entering into the manufacture of confectionery, and generally to acquire, hold, use and dispose of such property, and to do any and all things and acts usually incident, necessary, convenient, expedient or conducive to the attainment of any of the purposes aforesaid, be to the conduct or management of the business of said corporation.
The principal place of business of said corporation shall be Virginia, Minnesota, but it may have branch houses at other places in Minnesota and elsewhere.
ARTICLE II.
The time of the commencement of this corporation shall be January 20, A. D. 1910, and the period of its continuance shall be thirty (30) years.
ARTICLE III.
The names and places of residence of the persons forming this association for the purpose of incorporation are Alexander George, Mike Zootis and Fred Reynolds, all residing in the City of Duluth, Minnesota.
ARTICLE IV.
The management of this corporation and the conduct of its affairs shall be vested in a Board of Three (3) Directors, all of whom shall be stockholders, and who shall be elected at the annual meeting of this corporation to be held on the third Monday in January of each year, and in a President, Vice President, Treasurer and Secretary, who shall be elected by the Board of Directors at a time and place and in a manner prescribed by the by-laws of this corporation. The names and addresses of the persons composing the first Board of Directors are Alexander George, Mike Zootis and Fred Reynolds, all of Duluth, Minnesota. The offices of President and Treasurer may be held by the same person. Until their successors are elected and qualified, the officers of this corporation shall be Alexander George, President and Treasurer; Fred Reynolds, Vice President; Mike Zootis, Secretary.
ARTICLE V.
The amount of the capital stock of this corporation shall be Twenty-five Thousand Dollars ($25,000.00), to be paid in in cash or property, or both, at such times and in such manner and amounts as may be determined by the Board of Directors of this corporation.
ARTICLE VI.
The capital stock of this corporation shall be divided into Two Hundred Fifty (250) shares of the par value of One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) each.
ARTICLE VII.
The highest amount of indebtedness or liability to which this corporation shall at any time be subject is Ten Thousand Dollars ($10,000.00).
IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, witness our hands and seals this 12th day of January, A. D. 1910.

FULTON TOLD NAPOLEON HE COULD build a steamboat. Napoleon didn't believe it. By refusing to investigate, Bonaparte failed to realize the greatest ambition of his life, the invasion of England. To every young man who can qualify, the United States navy offers a chance; a chance to see some of the United States, maybe foreign countries; a chance to become strong, erect, athletic; a chance to save money, as most of his expenses are paid; a chance for promotion to rank of officer; perhaps a chance to learn a trade, but a sure chance to learn by travel, study and high-class associates; and, should he wish to leave the navy, he will be in fine training for life's fight. By refusing to believe it by refusing to investigate, you, like Bonaparte, may fail to realize your greatest ambition, the ambition to win success. The navy department doesn't urge any young man to become a bluejacket. It only urges him to investigate navy opportunities. Will you refuse to investigate, or will you talk it over with a recruiting officer today? You will find him obliging and glad to tell you everything. Ask him all the questions you wish. That's what he is there for. Should you decide not to enlist, you will have done no harm. If you can't call, write the recruiting office for an interesting free book which tells all about pay, play, work in the navy. Call or write Navy Recruiting Station, room 16, Postoffice building, Duluth, Minn.

IS IRON RANGE ROAD TO EXTEND ITS LINE TO SECTION 30 MINE?

Reports That the Survey Has Been Made and Accepted.

Cutoff to East Vermilion From Mesaba Station Also Rumored.

Canadian Northern Anxious to Reach Duluth From Gunflint Lake.

It is reported on good authority that the Duluth & Iron Range Railroad company has decided to build a line to the famous Section 30 iron mine.

Some time ago it was announced that Section 30 would ship at least 50,000 tons of ore in 1910, and the public at once thought of the railroad side of the matter. Messrs. St. Clair, Merritt, Pagan and Lonstorf announced that if the Duluth & Iron Range did not extend the line to Section 30, they would build the extension themselves.

Reliable reports have it that the survey has been made and accepted. It will leave the Whiton extension beyond Ely at a point about where it crosses the creek between Ely and Winton and follow that to Section 30. It will run along the northerly side of this mine, just below the section line, and end at or near Garden lake on the easterly side of the property.

The extension is a stiffish bit of work and reputable engineers say that it will cost about $30,000 for the two or so miles of construction.

Another story has it that the railroad company is asking the Section 30 interests $75,000 for the extension and

GOVERNORS TALK ON WIDE TOPICS

Irrigation, Crime, Mining and Divorce Are Considered at Meeting.

Washington, Jan. 20.—"Irrigation," "Extradition," "Mining" and "Divorce," were the questions upon which four governors spoke at this morning's session of the governors' convention. Idaho's executive head, Governor Brady, talked on "Irrigation." Governor Ansel of South Carolina, followed with an address on "Extradition." "Mining" was the topic of Governor Sloan of Arizona. The fourth and last address of the morning was by Governor Carroll of Iowa, on the divorce question. The formal addresses were followed by a general discussion on each of these subjects.

The governors were guests last night at a dinner at the White House.

Resolutions by Eberhart.

Governor Eberhart of Minnesota yesterday introduced resolutions defining the jurisdiction of the state and federal courts in matters involving interstate commerce. These were referred to a committee of five, consisting of Governors Fort of New Jersey, Harmon of Ohio, Burke of North Dakota, Prouty of Vermont, and Ansel of South Carolina.

WALL STREET MUCH SHAKEN

Hocking Coal Takes Another Slump During the Early Trading.

Suspension of Roberts, Hall & Criss Follows the Decline.

New York, Jan. 20.—The stock market was still violently disturbed in the early dealings today as a sequel to the crash in Hocking Coal yesterday and the financial embarrassments which that involved. Arrangements effected over night afforded hopes of averting further trouble, and there was a rush of uncovered bears to cover their shorts, which ran up opening prices in the general list in some of the leading active stocks between 1 and 2 points.

Another slump in Hocking Coal and urgent liquidation in some other stocks recently the center of speculation unsettled the tone almost immediately and caused a sharp reaction. Many of the opening gains were wiped out, and fractional losses established. Hocking Coal sold at the opening at 25, yesterday's low price, compared with 33, the last price of yesterday. After the opening today the price ran off to 22 and rallied to 26.

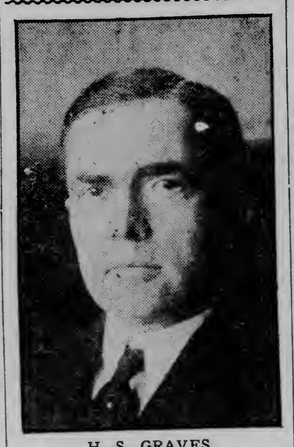

Money was freely offered at 4 per cent.

Criss Under Fire.

The governors of the stock exchange met today and had before them Hugh

SUCCEEDS PINCHOT AS CHIEF FORESTER

H. S. GRAVES.

Henry S. Graves, director of the Yale Forestry school, has succeeded Gifford Pinchot as chief of the forest service. Mr. Graves served for two years as assistant chief of the old division of forestry under Pinchot. He will take up his duties Feb. 1. Mr. Graves has been director of the Yale Forestry school since 1890. He will continue to be identified with the school, on the board of directors.

IS JUST ONE OF THE 900

Ex-Banker Walsh Has Become Merged With Other Convicts.

Aged Chicagoan Shows No Sign of Breaking Down in Prison.

Leavenworth, Kan., Jan. 20.—"I slept very well, thank you," replied John R. Walsh, the former Chicago banker, in response to the greeting of a guard this morning at the federal prison here.

The aged banker had arisen after his first night as "Convict 6,861," had made up the little cot in his cell, and stood, as did the other 900 prisoners, awaiting the order to march to breakfast.

Today, it was planned, and probably for several days to come, Mr. Walsh was to be permitted to rest before entering upon the regular routine of prison life.

If the prisoner was on the verge of collapse, he covered up the symptoms. His chief concern seemed to be that he should violate none of the rules of the institution. He was even eager to carry out to the letter every order that might be given him. This he did with a cheerfulness that made keepers marvel, who had seen many a stout heart give way when finally merged into the existence of hundreds of fellow prisoners.

It is said that while Mr. Walsh was talking in private with an old friend—a man like himself, with white hair, whom he has known for half a century—he remarked, sadly:

"I don't believe I shall ever live out my sentence if I am not pardoned."

TRIED FOR CRIME; ADMITS OTHERS

Man on Trial for One Murder Has Confessed to Two More.

Spokane, Wash., Jan. 20.—According to statements made by Dr. L. B. Harvey of Colville, Wash., and Dr. M. F. Setters of Spokane, the man known as James F. Logan, but whose real name is believed to be Frederick Jahans, and who has been on trial at Colville the last ten days for the murder of Mrs. Agnes Janson, has confessed not only to that crime, but to two other murders.

The doctors were closeted with the accused man several hours as mental experts. They state publicly that he told them he killed Mrs. Janson by breaking her back in a fit of anger, and then burned her body. He said, the doctors declare, that he murdered E. R. Shiveley in Spokane and shipped the body north in a trunk and burned it on his farm.

Stole His Victim's Name.

It is related that he also confessed that he killed the real James Logan, in Maple Falls, Whatcom county, and hid the body under a bridge at Maple Falls.

Also that he cashed a draft for $85,000 on the Exchange National bank in New Orleans, after he had returned from the Boer war in South Africa, and that the banks will show that draft was cashed.

UNIONISTS MAKE GAINS

Government Now Has 199 Members to 154 for Opposition.

Asquith Is Accused of Having Tricked the Irish Voters.

London, Jan. 20.—A succession of Unionist gains without a single loss marked the belated returns from yesterday's elections to parliament, received up to 1:30 o'clock this afternoon. At that hour the state of the parties was:

Government coalition—Liberals, 129; Laborites, 23; Irish Nationalists, 47.

Opposition—Unionists, 154.

In today's returns, received at the same hour, the Unionists had gained 12 Liberal seats.

The contest at Westminster today brings the London borough elections to an end, as the sitting member, W. L. A. B. Burdett-Coutts, Unionist, is assured of re-election. The metropolis in the new parliament will have 33 Unionists against 28 Liberals. The proportions in the last house were 39 Liberals and 22 Unionists.

From now on interest will center in the results in the provinces.

Conservatives Accuse Asquith.

The Conservative papers today accuse Premier Asquith of having tricked the Irish voters on the subject of home rule. They declare that he promised home rule before the election, and that on the strength of this promise the Nationalists issued their address to the Irish in England asking support for the Liberals. As soon as the Irish votes were cast, however, the premier, it is charged, hedged and practically withdrew his promises.

ACCUSE KEEPERS OF STATE ASYLUM

Regents Paint Awful Picture of South Carolina Institution.

Columbia, S. C., Jan. 20.—Charges of the grossest violations of the ordinary rules of sanitation and decency and a stinging arraignment of the board of regents of the state hospital for the insane are contained in the majority of reports made today of the commission appointed to investigate the hospital.

Without placing the blame on any particular person, the commission's report states the evidence shows:

That fifteen patients of one ward were bathed in the same water in a bathtub.

That patients who die are buried one on top of another in the same lot.

That cholera hogs and the dead are kept in the same lot; and, the report also states, that many attendants are illiterate and brutal, many cases of brutality being reported and that the food served the patients is badly prepared. Government reports are quoted to show that in the South Carolina hospitals the death rate is the highest in the United States.

PEACE TALK BROKEN OFF

Madriz Orders Troops to Prepare to Attack the Insurgents.

Prosecutor and Executioner of Groce and Cannon Are Arraigned.

Managua, Nicaragua, Jan. 20.—President Madriz announced today that Gen. Estrada's reply had served to end abruptly the peace negotiations and that reinforcements had been ordered to the front with the purpose of striking a decisive blow at the insurgents.

Selva and Medina Arraigned.

San Juan del Sur, Nicaragua, Jan. 20.—Salomon Selva, who appeared as prosecuting attorney before the court-martial that sentenced Groce and Cannon, the Americans who allied themselves with the insurgent cause, was arraigned in court today with Gen. Medina, who was entrusted by President Zelaya with the execution of the sentences. Selva and Medina are accused of having convicted the prisoners illegally.

Rebels in Uruguay.

Montevideo, Uruguay, Jan. 20.—The insurgents are reported to be on the Argentine border today, still holding the position in which their presence was first known. The Uruguayan government has taken the precaution of requisitioning all the horses in that vicinity so that in the event of an invasion the rebels will be unable to augment their transportation facilities.

BOY DIES IN SPITE OF INFUSED BLOOD

Second Murder Charge Lies Against Man Who Shot at Coasters.

New York, Jan. 20.—Six-year-old Arthur Shibley died today, the transfusion of blood from his mother's veins Tuesday night having given only temporary help to the desperately wounded lad. This another murder stands charged against the maniac who appeared among a party of boy coasters on Washington Heights last week and shot and killed 6-year-old Robert Lomas and wounded the Shibley lad.

Search for the murderer went on with added eagerness today and another suspect in the case was taken into custody in Astoria, L. I.

GREAT WESTERN HAS WRECK NEAR DUBUQUE.

Dubuque, Iowa, Jan. 20.—A westbound Chicago Great Western railroad passenger train early today ran into an open switch at Graf, near here, and crashed into a freight train on a siding. Engineer C. McManigal of Chicago jumped from his engine and was fatally hurt. The passengers were badly shaken up.

LAKE BOATS OVERLOADED

Speakers at Detroit Make Charge and Say It Causes Losses.

Classification Similar to That of the Lloyds Is Suggested.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 20.—That overloading of vessels is the cause of the largest percentage of accidents on the Great Lakes, was brought out by speakers at last night's meeting of the Great Lakes Protective association here. To relieve owners of strongly constructed ships from paying premiums on losses to lower grade ships, a classification committee similar to that of the Lloyd's was recommended.

Speaking of the causes of lake disasters, A. A. Wrights of the Dominion Marine association said:

"Many vessels on the lakes are loading far beyond the safety limit, owing to the hatch construction. At the bottom of the trouble is the anxiety of the owner to get the maximum load and the greatest number of trips, and the captain who is trying to beat his competitor and make the best time. As it is, we have all got to contribute for the other man's nerve."

Yates Is Re-elected.

Washington, Jan. 20.—Emphatic indorsement of the opposition of the Marine Engineers' Beneficial association to the Lake Carriers' idea of the closed shop problem was given here yesterday by the re-election of William F. Yates of New York to be president of the association. Arthur Hyde of Cleveland was chosen vice president and the following were re-elected: William P. Tindall of Detroit, second vice president; C. N. Vosburgh, of New Orleans, third vice president; George A. Grubb of Chicago, secretary, and A. L. Jones of Detroit, treasurer. William Bridges of Milwaukee was selected as a new member of the advisory board. The association will be in session here during the remainder of the week.

LANDS TAKEN BY DUMMY ENTRYMEN

Testimony Is Introduced in Trials for Fraud in Denver.

Denver, Colo., Jan. 20.—Under the the ruling of Judge Trieber of the federal court yesterday, testimony is being introduced in the trial of L. M. Rumsey of St. Louis, et al, charged with conspiracy to defraud the government out of 5,000 acres of coal lands in Colorado, to show that dummy entries were used by the defendants to secure the land.

Yesterday P. H. Clark, former sheriff of St. Louis testified that he was induced by F. W. Keitel of Denver, and Franklin Fay of St. Louis, two of the defendants, to get a number of his deputies to sign applications for coal lands, all of which are said to have been turned over to the company organized by the defendants.

DEMOCRATS REFUSE TO ACCEPT CHOICE OF REPUBLICAN CAUCUS

NEW LEADER IN THE NEW YORK LEGISLATURE

J. P. ALLDS.

The new Republican leader at Albany and president pro tem of the New York State senate is State Senator Jotham P. Allds of Chenango. He was chosen by the Republican senators recently. He succeeds the late John Raines. One of his first acts in the present session was to demand a legislative investigation of charges that he had accepted money for aiding certain forms of legislation.

Lloyd Declines to Serve on Committee to Investigate Land Affairs.

Clash Over Selection of the House Members Begins Early in Session.

Effort to Put Rainey Back Is Defeated By Vote of 147 to 192.

Washington, Jan. 20.—The Currier resolution naming the Republican caucus appointees was adopted by a vote of 186 ayes and 145 nays, 18 voting present.

Washington, Jan. 20.—Democratic leaders of the house decided this morning to stand by their original caucus nominees for the Ballinger-Pinchot investigation. Following this decision, Representative Lloyd of Missouri announced to the house that he would not serve on the Ballinger-Pinchot committee in lieu of Rainey of Illinois. His statement was greeted with applause.

Representative Clayton of Alabama, Democrat, offered an amendment to the Republican rule naming members of the Ballinger committee, proposing to substitute Rainey for Lloyd. It was lost by a vote of 147 to 192, with 11 voting "present."

Promptly after the house was called to order by Speaker Cannon today, Chairman Ingleell presented a resolution from the committee on rules providing for an election by resolution of six members to represent the house on the joint committee to investigate the whole matter underlying the so-called Ballinger-Pinchot controversy.

Opposed Republican Report.

Representative Currier, chairman of the Republican caucus, at once offered the names of McCall of Massachusetts; Olmstead, Pennsylvania; Denby, Michigan; Madison, Kansas; James, Kentucky and Lloyd, Missouri, as members of the committee, all of them Republican caucus selections, made last night.

WHOLE FIVE ACQUITTED

Verdict of Not Guilty Returned in Odd Bank Robbery Case.

Crippled Girl Who Stole $90,000 to Get Married Will Be Tried Next.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—The five persons who were on trial on the charge of conspiracy to fraudulently obtain money from Pasquale Schiavone, the owner of an Italian bank here, were declared not guilty today.

The defendants were implicated by Angelina Schiavone, the daughter of the banker, who confessed to the theft of approximately $90,000. The girl, who is a cripple, said she stole the money to give to her uncle and aunt, Francesco Schiavone and Gliorma Schiavone.

The girl committed the theft in order that she might marry their son, who is also a cripple. She said that she was afraid that she might never be married, because of her physical deformity.

The defendants, besides Francesco Schiavone and wife, were his two daughters and a son-in-law. Angelica, the girl who stole the money, will be tried later.

ZEPPELIN PLANS AIRSHIP ROUTE

Will Build Flyer That Can Carry 300 People From Hamburg to London.

Cologne, Jan. 20.—Count Zeppelin, whose aerial flights in dirigible balloons have attracted world-wide attention, is planning a monster airship which will be capable of carrying 300 persons, and which it is proposed to use in a passenger service to be established between Hamburg and London. A service also will be maintained from Hamburg to Cologne and Baden-Baden. The craft will be 984 feet in length and 85 feet in diameter and will be driven by eight motors.

News of the enterprise developed through visits which Zeppelin's chief engineer, Colsmann, made to Hamburg and to this city, where on Monday he discussed with the mayor of Cologne arrangements for the construction of landing and departure yards.

It is planned to employ four motors in ordinary weather, reserving the others for use in case those in service become overheated or get out of order, or in the further event of a storm's necessitating the development of greater power.

It is learned that the ministry of war has not contracted for more of Zeppelin's dirigibles, but has decided to wait upon the development of aeroplanes.

FLINT, MICH., LEADS IN POSTAL BUSINESS.

Flint, Mich., Jan. 20.—According to statements of Postoffice Inspector Eugene Parsell, Flint, with an increase of 38 per cent in postal business for 1909, leads all cities in the United States, Seattle being its closest competitor.

MRS. LONG GIVEN PENSION OF $10

Kalamazoo, Mich., Jan. 20.—Through the efforts of a local pension agency, Mrs. Esther Todd Long, 90 years old and a relative of Abraham Lincoln, has been granted a pension of $10 per month with arrears amounting to $1,175. Mrs. Long was formerly Esther Todd, a member of the Todd family of Kentucky. She is now a resident of Linnell, Minn.

ORGANIZERS STILL STICK

Do Not Leave Mine Workers' Convention Though Salaries Are Stopped.

President Lewis in His Report Criticises Striking as Unsuccessful.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 20.—None of the international organizers of the United Mine Workers of North America, whose salaries and expense allowance have been suspended during the period of their attendance at the convention of the organization now in session in this city, had returned to his field today, according to the information of Secretary Treasurer Edwin Perry.

"Of course, I shall not pay them a cent," said Perry, "and if any of the local unions whose voting power they bear pay the expenses, it will be entirely voluntary. Such delegates will get their mileage from the international treasury, just as if they were ordinary delegates, but no more."

It is said that sixty international organizers are in the convention. It is estimated that the general organization will save $2,500 by yesterday's action.

Strikes Not a Success.

"The application of common sense should be the basis of the new method of promoting industrial peace in the mining regions," according to the annual report of President Lewis. With this as a keynote, the report continued, Mr. Lewis saying:

"The strike as a method of organizing has not proved a success. The enormous expenditure of funds and the tremendous waste of energy incident to industrial strife should be avoided. Our right to strike can never be surrendered, but it should be the very last resource and every other means exhausted before a suspension of work is ordered or takes place."

The report stated that the anthracite coal region of Pennsylvania employs 174,000 mine workers, about 30,000 of whom are organized.

FREAK WITH TWELVE FINGERS AND THIRTEEN TOES WANTS TO JOIN UNITED STATES ARMY

A man possessing twelve fingers and thirteen toes applied at the United States army recruiting office for admission to the army today.

When the oddity in his hands and feet were discovered, he was told that he could not possibly join the army. He was informed, however, that some side show or museum might be glad to give him profitable employment.

The man's name was taken by the sergeant in charge of the office, though there was no chance that he could get into the army. Lieut. A. P. Watts, however, took some notations on the malformation of the feet and hands, though the extra fingers and thumbs were so perfect that you could hardly call them physical malformations.

On the left foot the applicant had seven toes. The two extra toes were well formed, but gave his foot a most peculiar contour. On his right foot he has six toes, and the extra toe was as perfect as any of the others.

On each of his hands the man had four fingers and two thumbs. The extra thumbs were almost perfect. According to the statement of the man, he possesses great strength in his hands. He did not know that there were any regulations in the army against accepting men with extra fingers or thumbs, and he was very much disappointed that his application was turned down.

The applicant also stated that he had never tried the museum business. He had never thought of it, he stated, and suggested that he might give it a trial.

TRAIN JUMPS THE TRACK IN ROCKIES

Three Men Are Killed and One Fatally Injured in the Accident.

Denver, Colo., Jan. 20.—Tearing down the mountain side at the rate of nearly seventy miles an hour, a freight train on the Moffett road jumped the track at a point between Jenny Lake and Antelope, near the summit of the range, early today, and the entire train plunged down the hill. Three men were killed and another fatally injured.

GRAND ARMY MAN IS DEAD

Sylvester M. Sherman Passes Away After Long Illness.

Served Through Civil War as Corporal in Illinois Company.

Sylvester M. Sherman, aged 63 years, died last evening at his home 6513 Polk street, after a long illness of dropsy. He was a resident of Duluth for twenty years and had formerly conducted a store on Grand avenue. Of late years, he had been a flagman for the Northern Pacific railroad at the Central avenue crossing.

Mr. Sherman was a member of Willis A. Gorman post G. A. R., and a drummer in the post drum corps. He enlisted in Company H, Fifty-fifth Illinois regiment, Aug. 27, 1861, as a corporal, and was discharged Aug. 14, 1865.

Mr. Sherman was born at Aurora, Ill., and lived at Stacy, Minn., before coming to Duluth. His first wife died there and he married again. A son and a daughter living in St. Paul and two sons living at Stacy, Minn., all born of the first marriage, survive him. His wife also survives.

The funeral arrangements will be made this afternoon, when one of Mr. Sherman's sons arrives from Stacy.

RETURNED AFTER TWENTY YEARS

West Duluth Man Keeps a Promise Made in 1890.

Twenty years ago Charles Iltis, a plumber, of 223 North Fifty-second avenue west, did a plumbing job in the engine room of one of the mills operating there at that time. On leaving he forgot a hammer, which was picked up by Robert Murray of 415 North Fifty-second avenue, who was employed there at the time. Yesterday the hammer was returned to Mr. Iltis by Mr. Murray, in compliance with a compact made by the men at the time the hammer was lost. Iltis came back after the hammer the next day. Murray said he couldn't have it, but that in twenty years he would return it to him. During all those years he has kept the hammer. Through good times and bad, including the panic of the 90's, the hammer stayed in his possession. And he didn't have it locked in a safe or mounted behind a glass case. He used it whenever he had occasion to call a hammer into play. Yesterday when the hammer was given to the original owner the two West Duluth pioneers had a hearty laugh over the occurrence and talked over the old times which it recalled.

WILL BE MARRIED IN EAU CLAIRE.

The marriage of Miss Anna Berg of Eau Claire, Wis., to S. A. Potter of West Duluth will be solemnized this evening at Eau Claire.

The bride is well known to many of the young people of West Duluth, having been employed at the Lindgren millinery store during the summer months.

The groom is an insurance man and has a wide following of friends in the western end of the city.

Mr. Potter left last evening for the Wisconsin town. After a week's trip they will return to West Duluth, where they will make their future home.

NOT AN ARREST FOR EIGHT DAYS.

These are quiet times for the West Duluth police.

The peace and dignity of this section of the city has not been disturbed for eight days, according to the records at the West Duluth station. The last arrest was recorded on Dec. 12.

Only six persons have been arrested at West Duluth this month. The police say that January will probably be one of the quietest months in the history of the local station.

Lodge Installation.

Degree of Honor, Lodge No. 85, will hold its annual installation of officers tomorrow evening at Gilley's hall. Mrs. Nellie Kern will act in the capacity of the installing officer. After the ceremonies, there will be refreshments and a social session. The new officers to be installed are:

Sarah A. Nelson, P. C.; Hilda Pollock, C. of H.; Emily Little, L. of H.; Caine Iltis, C. of C.; Christine McLellan, recorder; Hannah C. Melin, financier; Mrs. Collins, receiver; Josephine Simons, usher; Edith Pollock, I. W.; Olive Peterson, O. W.

Officers Installed.

Fraternity lodge No. 860, Modern Brotherhood of America, installed officers and initiated a large class of candidates last evening. The initiation work was carried out under the direction of Past President O. H. Hanson.

After the installation, speeches were made by Dr. W. H. Konkler, W. G. Holcombe, W. H. Schaffer, L. A. Barnes and O. H. Hanson. The new officers are: W. H. Schaffer, president; Anna Hanson, vice president; Joseph Beck, secretary; Lizzie Hagen, treasurer; Joseph Herrick, watch; Corlina Holter, sentry; Dr. D. Graham and Dr. Seashore, physicians; Hazel Corby, musician; L. A. Barnes, W. H. Richter and W. G. Holcombe, trustees.

West Duluth Briefs.

Dr. J. C. Anderson of Grand Marais, Mich., is in the city with his family. It is understood that he may locate in the western end of the city.

The Young People's Society of the Immanuel Lutheran church will be entertained this evening at the home of Thomas Olafsen of 5724 Huntington street. Rev. E. Wulfsberg of the St. Paul's church in the West End will speak.

Masquerade tonight, Wade's hall.

A number of West Duluth people attended the dance given last evening by the Stein club at the Broadway flats in Superior.

Removal sale at Miss Lindgren's.

Robert Cochran, former alterman of the Eighth ward, now of Schaffer, N. D., arrived in the city yesterday on a visit with local relatives. He is the son of James Cochran, president of the Western State bank.

M. L. Olander, a Grand avenue druggist, has gone to Rochester, Minn., where he will undergo an operation for an ulcer of the stomach.

L. L. Gilpen is visiting relatives at Kallspel, Mont.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul G. Oettel of 919 North Fifty-eighth avenue west are the parents of a daughter, born yesterday.

At the annual meeting of the congregation of the Plymouth Congregational church, which will be held this evening, H. C. Brown will sing and violin solos will be given by E. A. Johnson of New York City, now visiting in West Duluth.

NELSON HEADS THE COMMITTEE

Paynter and Fletcher Are Democrats Named From the Senate.

Washington, Jan. 20.—Vice-president Sherman today announced the following as the senate members of the Ballinger-Pinchot committee:

Senators Nelson of Minnesota, Flint of California, Sutherland of Utah, Root of New York, Republicans; and Paynter of Kentucky and Fletcher of Florida, Democrats.

"Legislative autocracy is on the run. Its chief exponent, Speaker Cannon, has lost his power, and every effort will be made to see that his legislative system goes with him," said Insurgent Leader Murdock of Kansas, commenting upon the action of the house today in naming the Ballinger-Pinchot committee.

A Traveling Salesman.

H. F. Beers, 417-7th Ave., Peoria, Ill., writes: "I have been troubled for some time with kidney trouble, so severely at times I could scarcely carry my grips. After using one bottle of Foley's Kidney Pills I have been entirely relieved, and cheerfully recommend them to all." Foley's Kidney Pills are healing and antiseptic and will restore health and strength. Sold by all druggists.

WALSH STILL TO ASSIST BANKS

Will Help in Reorganization of His Railroad Properties.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—John R. Walsh, in prison, will still be the staff upon which the Associated banks of Chicago will lean in the task of reorganizing the Walsh railroads The organization is preparatory to the sale of the roads by the bank to recover the face of the $7,121,887 note they released to Mr. Walsh. The Walsh settlement agreement contains the specific promise of Mr. Walsh to lend the aid of his remaining small holdings and "of his experience and knowledge of the properties," to the reorganization.

SUBSCRIBING FOR DULUTH ELEVATOR

North Dakota American Society of Equity Already Has $25,000 Raised.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The grain department of the American Society of Equity held a session this morning in a separate hall with the object of raising money for terminal elevators in Minneapolis and Duluth.

About $25,000 worth of stock has been subscribed. The promoters want at least that much more in sight before permanently organizing.

Subscriptions are being taken on a basis of $50 per share.

RAILROADS

NOTICE OF NEW MILEAGE BOOKS

Thirty days' notice has been given of the issuance of the 2,000-mile books that will be issued the first of March by all railroads doing passenger business in the territory of the Western Passenger association and the Southwestern association.

This announcement will be of interest to the large commercial houses of this city, inasmuch as the book sells for $40 straight, which means a fare of 2 cents a mile on all railroads, whether they have a fare of 2 cents or a straight fare of 3 cents, as is charged by some railroads in the Western states.

There is no refund or credential system about the book that will be issued on March 1. It means doing away with much red tape, as well as a saving to the big houses that have a large number of men on the road.

The fact that the new mileage book would probably be issued was mentioned in The Herald some time ago.

Wabash Sale Is Off.

Toledo, Ohio, Jan. 20.—The sale of the property of the Wabash railroad in Ohio, except the Montpelier branch, which was set for yesterday after several postponements, was again postponed indefinitely, arrangements having been made to settle the claim of the late James Compton estate with cash. This means that the property will not be sold.

Senator Thompson Improving.

Cando, N. D., Jan. 20. — Advices from Washington regarding the health of United States Senator Thompson are to the effect that he is improving and gaining strength daily. This is welcome news to his many friends over the state who are earnestly praying for his speedy and permanent recovery.

Came Near Choking to Death.

A little boy, the son of Chris D. Peterson, a well-known resident of the village of Jacksonville, Iowa, had a sudden and violent attack of croup. Much thick, stringy phlegm came up after giving Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Mr. Peterson says: "I think he would have choked to death had we not given him this remedy." For sale by all druggists.

WOMAN BEHEADED IN CHICAGO HOUSE

Horrible Tragedy Discovered By Police in Resort on West Seventeenth Street.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—The decapitated and mutilated body of a woman, identified as that of Anna Furlong, was found in a room in a resort at 50 West Seventeenth street today. The head was missing, and the police believe it was carried away by the murderer in an attempt to conceal the woman's identity.

The woman evidently had made a terrific struggle for life, as the room was in great disorder. The body was clad in a night gown, which was cut and torn in several places. The police think the woman had been dead several hours. The body was disemboweled and parts of the scalp, covered with hair, were scattered about the room.

Inmates of the place said the woman had lived there several weeks. She was said to be 24 years old. The police however, were unable to learn anything about her relatives.

CRAZED OVER RELIGION NORTH DAKOTAN DEAD.

Grafton, N. D., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—A raving maniac over religion, D. W. Frazier was recently taken to the state hospital, only to die. Frazier came from Hoople, this county, where he was employed as a miller.

Upon arriving at the asylum, Mr. Frazier's condition became worse and yesterday word was received here that he had died. A married sister resides in Calgary, Alta., and efforts are being made to gain knowledge of his parents that the estate may be probated.

WILL NOT DROP SUIT TO SUNDER PACIFICS.

Washington, Jan. 20.—It was stated authoritatively today that the government suit for the dissolution of the merger of the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific railroads will not be dropped. Attorney General Wickersham in his investigation of the representations from the other side has found nothing so far to warrant such action.

COAL AND METAL MINERS MAY JOIN THEIR FORCES.

DEMOCRATS NAMED TOO

Republican Caucus in House Picks the Whole Committee.

Two Minnesotans and Others Bolt When Minority Choice Is Overruled.

Washington, Jan. 20.—The caucus of Republican members of the house last night named the house side of the Ballinger-Pinchot investigation committee and incidentally rejected Rainey of Illinois, one of the two Democrats selected by the Democratic caucus last Saturday night as the house minority's representative.

The six men selected include three "regular" Republicans—McCall of Massachusetts, Olmstead of Pennsylvania and Denby of Michigan;—one "insurgent" Republican, Madison of Kansas, and two Democrats, James of Kentucky, and Lloyd of Missouri.

Rainey of Illinois, who with James was named by the Democratic caucus last Saturday night, was rejected by last night's caucus of the majority and Lloyd was named in his stead.

Two Minnesotans Bolt.

The caucus lasted three hours, and while characterized by considerable acrimony, was a good deal more peaceful than most members had expected. Even at that there was a bolt of six insurgents, led by Cooper of Wisconsin, the other bolters being Lenroot, Nelson and Cary of Wisconsin, and Davis and Lindbergh of Minnesota.

In several speeches, strong objections to both James and Rainey were voiced; the objectors claiming to express the views of President Taft. There was no objection to either of them personally but it was urged especially against Rainey, that their alleged extreme partisanship would unfit them for a judicial investigation. Incidentally there is the question which could not be answered tonight, whether in the circumstances Lloyd will consent to serve.

Insurgents All Present.

All of the insurgent members of the house were present at the caucus. Several speeches were made in opposition to the naming of the Democrats in a Republican caucus. It was stated after the caucus that Representative Cooper was supported in this stand by several "regular" Republicans, including Gaynes of West Virginia, Gillett of Massachusetts, Fish of New York and Douglas of Ohio. The overwhelming majority, however, was in favor of dictating the personnel of the whole committee, thus indicating that when the matter comes to the floor of the house there will in all probability be ample votes to carry the ticket through over any combined Democratic and insurgent objection.

NO SIGN OF PEACE FOR NICARAGUA

Official Reports to Washington Picture Conditions in That Country.

Washington, Jan. 20.—Official telegrams received at the state department from Nicaragua show that the political situation in that country is extremely complicated and that intrigues are going on on all sides. Proposals and counter-proposals looking to the establishment of peace have so far amounted to nothing, and even while these negotiations are in progress the Managua government is sending troops to oppose Estrada's army as rapidly as they can be recruited and equipped. It seems to be the general impression that there is no immediate prospect of peace on any terms.

BALANCE OF TRADE IS ON THE DEFICIT SIDE.

Washington, Jan. 20.—The balance of trade of the United States as shown by a comparison of import and export figures for the last three years, is leaning heavily toward the deficit side of the scale. While the imports for 1909, amounting to $1,475,520,205, exceeded those of the previous year by $359,146,118, the imports for 1909, totalling in value $1,727,381,128, were less than those of the preceding year by $25,425,219. As compared with the year 1907, the imports for 1909 show an increase of $52,400,385, while the exports of 1909 were less than those of 1907 by $196,043,177.

INDUSTRIAL DISPUTE MEN IN ORGANIZATION.

Washington, Jan. 20.—The International Association of Governmental Agencies Dealing with Industrial Disputes was organized here yesterday by members of state boards of mediation and arbitration representing more than half the states in the union. Next year's meeting will be an international conference between capital and labor to which representatives of both classes will be invited.

Frederick Klum, chairman of the Michigan state board of arbitration, was elected president; John Lundrigan, of the New York state board, vice president, and Joseph Bishop, secretary of the Ohio board of arbitration, secretary.

Inheritance Tax In Spain.

Madrid, Jan. 20.—A royal decree has been issued creating an inheritance tax.

Talk Elevator Plans.

Winnipeg, Man., Jan. 20.—Sir Richard Cartwright minister of trade and commerce, will meet a deputation from the Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta Grain Growers associations in Ottawa on Jan. 26 to discuss the question of federal ownership or control of terminal elevators.

Terrible Suffering

Eczema All Over Baby's Body.

"When my baby was four months old his face broke out with eczema, and at sixteen months of age, his face, hands and arms were in a dreadful state. The eczema spread all over his body. We had to put a mask or cloth over his face and tie up his hands and arms. Finally we gave him Hood's Sarsaparilla and in a few months he was entirely cured, and today he is a fine healthy boy." MRS. INEZ LEWIS, Baring, Maine.

Hood's Sarsaparilla cures all blood diseases. Get it today in usual liquid form or tablets called Sarsatabs.

SUBSTANTIAL WOMEN OF THE UNITED STATES

Tell Their Experience With Pe-ru-na as a Great Family Medicine.

Cystitis Entirely Relieved.

Miss Mattie McArthur, care of Hospital, Medical Lake, Wash., writes:

"I have not written to you for some time, but, Oh! I have given you many words of praise. I am so well.

"I had cystitis very badly and could not walk any distance without suffering intense pain, but I do not have a touch of my old suffering now.

"I can never praise Peruna enough. I am telling every one how much good Peruna has done for me."

A Word to Other Women.

"I trust that no one will think from this that I want my name in public for any cause only to let sufferers know where they may find relief from many ailments.

"I can truly say I have been much benefited by the use of Peruna. I feel better than I have for two years. It is the best medicine that I know for internal troubles. I have taken medicine from the doctors and found no relief; but when I began taking Peruna I could see that before I had finished taking the first bottle it was doing me good.

"I recommend it to all suffering women. I think that it is the best medicine in the world. I can't say enough in its favor."—Mrs. George C. Worstell, 11 River Road, Clarksburg, W. Va.

Catarrh of Kidneys and Bowels.

"I must inform you that I recovered my health after using your valuable medicine, Peruna. I had suffered with catarrh of the kidneys and bowels, but now I am much better and feel real strong.

"I can only praise your medicine and extend my hearty thanks to you herewith."—Mrs. Marla Gongoll, Mayer, Minn.

Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

"I have been troubled for sixteen years with kidney and bladder trouble, and have taken all kinds of medicine for the trouble without relief.

"I at last saw Dr. Hartman's advertisement, and I wrote to him describing my case. He pronounced it chronic catarrh of the bladder and urinary organs. He advised me to take Peruna, which I did, according to his directions.

"After taking one bottle I felt much better. I have now taken six bottles and I am now cured of the old trouble of sixteen years' standing.

"I advise all that are troubled in the way I have been to take Peruna and be cured as I am.

"I feel better than I have for ten years. I shall always keep Peruna in the house. I cannot praise it enough, for it has been a God-send to me."—Mrs. H. E. Russell, Box 94, South Sutton, N. H.

Internal Catarrh.

"I suffered with internal catarrh until I wrote to Dr. Hartman, and after taking treatment as he advised, I can say I am now cured of this most trying affliction, for which I am truly thankful. I think Peruna the best medicine for catarrh. I never felt better in my life than I do at present."—Miss Etta Booker, Dundurn, Sask., N. W. T., Canada.

System All Run Down.

Miss Ricka Leopold, 137 Main St., Menasha, Wis., Sec'y Liederkranz, writes:

"Three years ago my system was in a terribly run down condition and I was broken out all over my body. I began to be worried about my condition and was glad to try anything that would relieve me.

"Peruna was recommended to me as a fine blood remedy and tonic, and I soon found that it was worthy of praise. A few bottles changed my condition materially and in a short time I was all over my trouble.

"I owe my restoration to health and strength to Peruna. I am glad to indorse it."

There are a host of petty ailments which are the direct result of the weather. This is partly true of all seasons of the year. Peruna has become a standby in thousands of homes for minor ailments.

Effects of La Grippe.

Mrs. C. S. Sagerser, 1311 Woodland Ave., Kansas City, Mo., writes:

"I feel it a duty due to you and to others that may be afflicted like myself, to speak for Peruna.

"My trouble first came after la grippe, eight or nine years ago, a gathering in my head and neuralgia. I suffered most all the time. My nose, ears and eyes were badly affected. For the last two years, I think from your description of internal catarrh that I must have had that, also. I suffered very severely.

"Nothing ever relieved me like Peruna. It keeps me from taking cold. With the exception of some deafness I am feeling perfectly cured.

"I am forty-six years old. I feel that words are inadequate to express my praise for Peruna."

The plan of furnishing on a large scale, directly to the people, a remedy for chronic catarrh, is an immense saving to the people.

Stomach Trouble.

Mrs. Wilson Robinson, 2926 Robinwood Ave., Toledo, Ohio, writes:

"I feel like a new person. I have no more heavy feelings, no more pain, don't belch up gas, can eat most anything without it hurting me. I want to be working all the time. I have gained twenty-four pounds.

"People that see me now and saw me two months ago seem astonished. I tell them Peruna did it. I will say it is the only remedy for spring and all other ailments."

Treatment of Catarrh.

The treatment of catarrh is no longer guess work; the nature of catarrh is so thoroughly understood, and the action of drugs so completely comprehended, that the remedy can be adjusted to the disease with an accuracy that almost approaches scientific completeness.

For Suffering Women.

Mrs. J. F. Summitt, cor. Seventh and Cypress streets, Muscatine, Iowa, writes:

"It has been some time since you have heard from me, but I am getting along all right. Peruna has cured me.

"I hope other suffering women will give Peruna a trial the same as I have done, for if it will cure me it will surely cure others."

Dyspepsia and Constipation.

"As to the merits of Peruna, too much cannot be said.

"I am sixty years old and have just found out a medicine that is a great improvement to my health. I have suffered for years with dyspepsia and constipation. The use of Peruna two weeks only has given me great relief.

"I wish Dr. Hartman grand success."—Helen A. Maxfield, M. D., Lyman, Utah.

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE CITY CHARTER

Granting Power to Park Board to Provide Free Band Concerts.

Nearly All Cities of Duluth's Size Make Such Provision.

Chairman Hudson of the charter commission, who has been writing a series of articles for The Herald on the proposed amendments to the city charter, has stepped aside this week to make way for ex-Mayor T. W. Hugo, who discusses the fourth amendment, granting power to the park board to provide free band concerts in the public parks. Mr Hugo says:

Free Band Concerts.

The fourth amendment to the city charter which is to be voted on at the coming election provides that the board of park commissioners shall have authority to provide free band concerts and other musical entertainments in the public parks of Duluth, and if carried, will give the board of park commissioners the power to appropriate a sum of money for the purpose of paying for those concerts; the board are the judges of the advisability of making any appropriation and of stating how much shall be appropriated.

In practice, this appropriation of money will not reduce the amount the board will be allowed to spend for the acquisition or maintenance of parks, etc., but in the making up of their budget for submission to the conference committee, the amount to be used for band concerts will be added to the usual and present expenses, and that much additional allowed as a part of the total amount set apart for the uses of the park board. No change is made in the business of the park board or its methods; there has merely been added to its powers the appropriation of a sum of money for band concerts, and the board determines the park in which such concerts will be given.

From the standpoint of the cold-blooded calculator who begins the Lord's prayer, "Our Business, which art in Duluth," with a big "B," continued by a growling buzz, ending with a snap of the jaw, this may not at first sight appeal to him, but it is business, just the same, because it is along the line which is making possible the establishment of the Williams idea of market gardening, tending to make living more pleasant and satisfactory in Duluth, which makes it possible for us to have parks at all; they are absolutely necessary, but we are bound to have them, and having them, we take off the "Keep off the grass" signs and enjoy them. We take commendable pride in our boulevard. It is not absolutely necessary, but woe to the man or body of men who would advocate letting it fall into decay or get out of repair; but the boulevard is of very little use to the woman with the baby carriage, and so example upon example could be given where we do unnecessary things from altruistic motives, and this band concert idea is another one, a sequel and continuation of the Masonic free concerts given in the winter time, open to everybody; to the band concerts given last summer through the enterprise of The Herald an dits friends.

We have the parks. Let us make use of them, as some day we will make use of the churches and public schools, for all the people all the time. We want to offer the baby carriage and the poor, closed in, hard-working persons, as well as their more fortunate brethren and sisters, something to induce them to get out in the fresh air of this glorious climate; get away from themselves and their drudgery, or meanness, or selfishness, and have their music hunger satisfied under ideal conditions; elevate them by their surroundings; make Duluth a place where, in addition to being a cheap place to work, it will be a pleasant spot to live; where we will be satisfied and after we have made it a place "where only man is vile," we will then be able to get the "vile" out of him.

As far as I have been able to learn there are few if any cities of anything like our size and importance which do not make any provisions in one way or another for such concerts; not one has failed to continue the scheme year after year with great satisfaction. Europeans on coming to this country miss, almost the first thing, these band concerts which they are used to from earliest recollection. The amendment ought to receive enough votes to carry it through because there is so little involved, as far as money is concerned, and that left entirely to a board which has always been zealous and careful in the handling of public money to the entire satisfaction of the public. It must also be remembered that the common council has the last say in the determination of how much money any department will be permitted to spend any one year. Yours truly.

T. W. HUGO.

WHERE TO GO TONIGHT.

LYCEUM—"The Merry Widow."

"The Merry Widow."

The last performance of "The Merry Widow" will be given at the Lyceum this evening.

The company is an excellent one and fully up to the high standard set last year.

Fritzi Scheff.

Charles Dillingham will present Fritzi Scheff at the Lyceum next week in the new comic opera, "The Prima Donna," written for her by Henry Blossom and Victor Herbert. The piece has just completed a long run at the Knickerbocker theater, New York, and is said to be the most successful musical play Madame Scheff has yet had as a star. The authors have again gone to France for the locale of the story, as they did in "Mlle Modiste," Miss Scheff's former success. This time she appears as Mlle. Athenee, reigning prima donna of the Opera Comique in Paris, and it is said that this role gives her unusual opportunities dramatically, as well as enabling her to use her voice. While on an automobile trip, her machine breaks down and she takes refuge in a cafe chantant on the outskirts of Paris. She there hears the musical director berating a sick singer because she cannot appear, and Mlle. Athenee (Fritzi Scheff) impulsively volunteers her services in the sick girl's place. A young lieutenant from the neighboring barracks falls in love with her in true rapid comic opera style, and she is insulted by his captain. This forms the basis for Mr. Blossom's plot.

Charles Dillingham has furnished one of his usual complete productions, and has surrounded Madame Scheff with a cast of unusual excellence. In the company are such well-known people as John E. Hazzard, Vernon Davidson, William K. Harcourt, Donald Hall, Marth Haydon, Armand Cortes, Phil Branson, Anna Pelham, Tillie Salinger, Grace Delmar, Katherine Stewart, Maxine Verande La Noveta and many others. The orchestra will be largely augmented for the engagement here.

"The Soul Kiss."

The attraction at the Lyceum tomorrow night will be "The Soul Kiss." After an entire year on Broadway and visits to but a few of the principal cities of the country, this much-talked of musical comedy is making a tour of the country that will extend from coast to coast.

The premier danseuse, Pertina is assisted by a special ballet of ten of the best dancers to be found in London. Besides these there are thirty of what are claimed to be the handsomest Broadway chorus girls, ever lured from "The Great White Way."

WILL OPPOSE DEMAND FOR RAISE BY MINERS.

Philadelphia, Jan. 20.—Any demand for an increase in wages that may be made by the miners in Central Pennsylvania will be opposed, was the decision reached by the executive committees of the Bituminous Coal Operators' association for Central Pennsylvania, which is holding meetings in this city to consider the agreements for the coming year. The association includes nearly all the operators in the central soft coal field of Pennsylvania, producing 30,000,000 tons of coal annually and employing about 40,000 men.

CLAIMS C. & W. I. WAS SWINDLED

Fraud on Railroad Is Charged to Former President Thomas and Others.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—Charges that Benjamin Thomas, former president of the Chicago & Western Indiana railroad; Charles R. Kapper, former real estate dealer for the road, and John C. Fetzer, obtained at least $850,000 from the railroad through a real estate conspiracy, are made in a bill for an accounting filed in the circuit court yesterday.

The bill was filed by the Chicago & Western Indiana Railroad company. According to the bill, the real estate transactions in question took place in 1906, and involved the expenditure of $2,521,899. The defendants are alleged to have divided the $850,000 profits. The bill is sworn to by E. B. Pryor, president of the road.

In June of the year 1908 Thomas and Kappes resigned their positions with the railroad company. It is alleged that they destroyed or removed from the office quantities of papers, books and documents relating to the transactions with Fetzer.

ANOTHER ATTACK ON CORPORATION TAX LAW.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—Another suit has been brought by a local bank to test the corporation tax law. W. H. Miner, a stockholder in the Corn Exchange bank, asked the court today to restrain the directors of the bank from paying the tax, on the ground that the law is unconstitutional. The first suit was brought against the Northern Trust company, a state bank. The Corn Exchange is a national bank.

Thirteen Chinese Held.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—Thirteen Chinese have been held to the grand jury for complicity in the death of Sing Moy, who was shot recently while in an alleged gambling house. It is believed that the shooting was the result of a Tong war.

CONCERNING WOMAN.

At a beautiful home wedding ceremony last evening Miss Mabel Duncan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Duncan, became the bride of Jesse Bradley of this city. The Duncan home is so arranged as to make a most effective setting for a wedding ceremony. Last evening the color tone chosen was pink and the large living room where the ceremony took place was aglow with delicate pink flowers. Cherry blossoms were the flowers that transformed the room into a bower of pink, and palms and azelas were banked at the window. A conpy of the pink flowers and Southern smilax was built and under it the ceremony took place.

La Brosse's orchestra played the wedding music, and at 8:30 o'clock the wedding party came down the stairs and across the great hall to the living room. Misses Louise Frick and Virginia Moore entered first in gowns of deep rose pink, carrying ribbons. They were followed by the bridesmaids, Misses Lillian Gowan and Mae Browne, in gowns of pink chiffon over pink satin and carrying Killarney roses. The maid of honor, Miss Grace Duncan, entered next in a gown of pink chiffon over white satin and carrying Killarney roses, and last came the bride with her father. The color scheme of the gowns was shaded from the rose pink to the most delicate shade in the gown of the maid of honor to the bride's gown, which was of ivory white satin with rose point lace. She wore a tulle veil with orange blossoms in her hair and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses. The wedding service was read by the Rev. Alexander Milne of Pilgrim Congregational church.

In the dining room the decorations were the beautiful Killarney roses.

Mr. Bradley and his bride left for a wedding trip. The bride's going away gown was a tailored suit of blue. After March they will be at home at 1122 East Second street.

GOULD ENGAGEMENT.

Miss Marjorie Gould to Marry A. J. Drexel, Jr.

New York, Jan. 20.—Mr. and Mrs. George Jay Gould have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Marjorie Gould, to Anthony J. Drexel, Jr., of Philadelphia.

Miss Gould, who made her debut last winter, is one of the most beautiful as well as richest of the American heiresses, and last night's congratulations were especially hearty because she is to marry an American and not one of the numerous titled foreign suitors who have besieged her since her debut.

Beaux of many lands, possessing names centuries old and great wealth, have paid court to Miss Gould. Among those who have aspired to her hand are Captain Albert E. S. Paget, son of Gen. Sir Arthur Paget and Lady Paget; Prince Alexander Georgievitch Romanowsky of Leuchtenberg, a kinsman of the czar of Russia, and the duke of Alba, one of the richest noblemen in Europe.

Mr. Drexel, who is the guest of the Goulds, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. Drexel of Philadelphia. He is a nephew of Mrs. J. Henry Smith and a cousin of Miss Anita Stewart, who married Prince Miguel of Braganza.

A Gould-Drexel alliance unite families prominent not only socially, but prominent and powerful financially.

Young Drexel had been devoted to Miss Gould for some time and among their intimate friends it was known that an understanding existed, although the formal announcement was deferred until his arrival recently from abroad. The elder Drexel also arrived in New York a few days ago, which was interpreted as indicating that Mr. and Mrs. Gould would soon announce the engagement.

FOR THE STRIKERS.

Prof. Frances Potter Speaks in Their Behalf.

Prof. Frances Squire Potter, corresponding secretary of the National American Woman Suffrage association, appealed to Philadelphians to uphold the hands of that army which fought only with passivity, at the meeting at which the cause of the shirtwaist strikers was espoused, held under the auspices of the Pennsylvania Women's Suffrage association in the New Century drawing rooms. Philadelphia. So great was the crowd that admission was refused to many by locking the doors.

"There is no more noble way to fight than by refusal to act or work," said Mrs. Potter. "In America the woman has passed out of the dominance of the man in the home and under that of the man of the machine. These girls are voicing their protest.

"As it is now, women that work and look after themselves are the wards of the state and of society. That is why it is so easy to make the labor movement and the suffrage movement one. Industrial freedom and political freedom are so closely allied that we only need to understand to be willing to co-operate."

Prof. Potter was formerly of the faculty of the Minnesota university and she will lecture in Duluth this year under the auspices of the Twentieth Century club.

REAL ROMANCE IN LIFE OF MRS. MARY HUTTON PELL

—Copyright, 1909, by George Grantham Bain.

MRS. MARY HUTTON PELL.

Mrs. Mary Hutton Pell will be married in April to Charles Noe Daly, a Wall street broker, reputed wealthy. He was a suitor years ago, but she married Alexander Mercer Pell thirteen years ago and lived to regret her choice. In 1907 she divorced Pell and since that time she has been supporting herself by conducting a "Bureau of Social Requirements" and a tea room. Mr. Daly meantime had gone to the Hudson bay country and become wealthy through mining investments. Recently he sought Mrs. Pell and again tendered his hand and it was accepted.

ANNUAL MEETING.

Reports of Y. W. C. A. for Year Are Presented.

The first annual meeting of the Young Women's Christian association in the new building was held last evening with the president of the association, Mrs. W. C. Agnew, in charge. The reports of the various departments of the association were combined in the report of the general secretary, Mrs. Wesley Feetham. The enlarged equipment in the new building has made possible a larger work in every department. During the first four months of the year in the old association rooms on Superior street the average number of meals served each day was 220. Since entering the new building 320 meals a day have been served at the lunch room on the average. During the year just completed 95,924 meals have been served at an average cost of 15 cents a meal. The educational classes in domestic science and languages are meeting an evident demand; the travelers' aid work is successful and the source of great help to young women coming to the city not knowing conditions and to old or helpless travelers. The gymnasium classes have been enlarged.

Since the opening of the new building 171 regular guests have lived there and 573 transients have been accommodated. As much extension work as possible is being done and during the next year it is intended to add an extension work secretary to the corps of workers.

The total money received during the year was $25,962.44 and the disbursements were $24,308.51, leaving a balance on hand of $1,653.93.

Directors for a term of three years were elected as follows: Mrs. R. S. Manley, Mrs. L. W. Kline, Mrs. W. J. McCabe, Mrs. W. A. McDonagle, Mrs. W. H. Cole and Mrs. J. A. Watterworth. In place of Mrs. J. D. Titcomb, who has resigned, Mrs. F. H. Rogers was elected for a term of one year. W. A. McDonagle was elected a trustee for a term of four years to succeed himself.

Following the business meeting a program was presented by Miss Adele McClanan, reader, and Mrs. English, soprano, which was followed by an informal social in the reception hall down stairs.

DAKOTA WEDDING.

Daughter of Former Mayor Truelsen a Bride.

A wedding of interest to many Duluthians will take place Wednesday of next week at Zenith, N. D., when Miss Ida Truelsen, daughter of Henry Truelsen, former mayor of Duluth, will become the bride of Andrew Sornson of Zenith. The bride has been the guest of honor at a series of affairs. The family is well known in Duluth.

Informal Evening.

The Misses McEachen entertained the members of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Union church last evening at their home, 1 East Fifth street. An informal evening of amusements was enjoyed by the thirty-five guests present. During the evening Miss Hillis gave several readings.

ROYAL BETROTHAL

Will Be Known at End of Official Mourning.

Brussels, Jan. 20.—It is believed here that the engagement of Princess Clementine and Prince Victor Napoleon will be announced on Feb. 20, the date upon which the court's official mourning for the late King Leopold will be ended. The prince is a cousin of King Victor Emmanuel of Italy. King Leopold opposed the marriage five years ago on the ground that it might strain the relations between Belgium and France, but the political objections disappeared with the death of her father, when Clementine became the cousin of the reigning monarch of Belgium.

Prince Victor is regarded by the royalists of France as the hope of a re-established monarchy, but he has not concerned himself greatly with politics.

Meeting Postponed.

The meeting of the Endion Circle of Pilgrim Congregational church which was to have been held Friday afternoon has been postponed.

CARE OF THE PIANO

Is Little Understood in Many Households.

In many households there is not a piece of furniture that is more sorely neglected than the piano. Anyone who has ever studied the construction of a pinaforte knows that its mechanism is most delicate, intricate and sensitive. It is no wonder, then, that it requires a great deal of care, and suffers severely from neglect, says an exchange.

Some people think they are treating their piano well if they have it tuned once or twice a year. It should be tuned at least four times to prevent loss of pitch, and should be kept at concert pitch all the time. To raise or lower it a half tone means to spoil it irremediably, say the authorities.

It is almost as important to place the piano well as to keep it tuned. It should not be put too near the wall, as this absorbs the tone; it should be put near the inner wall rather than the outer to prevent dampness or cold from affecting it. Dampness is a stanch enemy of pianos—it rusts the wires, rots the felt, splits the hammers and makes the keys stick. A changing temperature is almost as dangerous, and too great heat, such as is caused by the proximity of a radiator or fireplace, has also its bad effects. Heavy carpets muffle the sound; that is why music rooms should always have hardwood floors and why pianos should be placed on little glass insulators if possible.

A piano should be kept free from bric-a-brac, pictures and lamps, because they all tend to make the tone metallic. So often when a note is tinny or tremulous, it is because it is in sympathetic vibration with some object on or near the piano.

When the pedals squeak they should be greased (not oiled), or a little talcum powder may be puffed into the hinges. Broken hammers, if not badly damaged, can be repaired with hot glue and bound with cord, and broken ivories can be mended with a little household cement. Yellow ivories can be cleaned with alcohol. They need much light in order to keep their whiteness; that is, why one should not always leave the cover down.

Bertrand was distinctly annoyed. There was a wreck ahead and his train was delayed—probably for five or six hours, the phlegmatic train officials said. He was so infernally tired of traveling, too. For weeks and months he had been on the go by mule, camel, stage, train, ship and now by train again. It did not seem so bad while he was moving but stagnation seemed more than he could bear.

"Where the deuce am I anyway?" he soliloquized.

"Maybury, sir," whispered the porter who spent most of his time within easy distance of the liberal young gentleman who tipped him so frequently.

"Maybury," ejaculated Bertrand. "Why, that's where Morrison lives. 'By jove, dear old Morry. He has invited me to visit him a hundred times. Why not look him up while this bloody old train finds a way to wake itself up? I will, by Jove."

That is how it happened that Templeton Bertrand—oh, most misguided of men—presently mounted the steps of the Morrison home, clad immaculately.

As the door opened he was confronted with the most astounding vision it had been given him to behold. A petite, dainty dream of feminine loveliness with such rare golden hair, such swimming blue eyes, such a peachy pink complexion and such carmine lips—and the form—but the form may be spoken of only in a suggestive way, as the dainty gown was arranged so demurely and yet so artistically that the most ravishing of figures should be veiled most modestly and yet suggested most clearly to one with any imagination whatever.

For once in his life Bertrand was stunned—taken clean off his feet, and he stood and stared.

"Do you desire to see my father?" asked the vision a trifle sternly after a moment of endurance of Bertrand's wrapt scrutiny.

"Yes, yes—that is—really I beg your pardon—no," replied Bertrand trying to recover himself. "The fact is I am looking for a friend of mine, Mr. Morrison. I was directed here. I supposed it was his house."

"It is," replied the vision demurely. "That is, usually. Only you see he and his family are away for the summer and papa and I have taken the house for the season."

"Oh," replied Bertrand with a look of genuine disappointment on his handsome face. "I am very sorry. Morrison and I were chums in college and I have not seen him for years."

Then he told her the story of the wreck and his long and tiresome journey. In fact, he did not shorten the story, but rather padded it most scandalously just for the privilege of standing there with her and watching the play of expression in her wonderful eyes.

"It's too bad," she said sympathetically after he could think of nothing more he could decently say. "Won't you come in and have dinner anyway. I know its dreadful unconventional but it seems a pity to send you away from the home of your friend without any mark of hospitality—and especially back to that dreadful, gloomy train."

A great light sprang into Bertrand's eyes. "If the intrusion would not be unpardonable—really, may I?" Then he added mendaciously: "I would so like to break bread once in dear old Morry's house."

The telephone rang as he seated himself in the pretty drawing room and his charming hostess rushed to the telephone with that indefatigable curiosity which characterizes womankind.

"Oh, dear," she remarked in deep distress when she returned, "that provoking dad of mine is tied up in a business deal and can't come home until very late—now isn't this a mess?"

"Gracious, I'll go away if there's anything compromising or distressing to you about the situation," replied Bertrand, rising with the well-bred air which always had made him the delight and despair of women.

"Now, you shall not," she replied decisively. "I've started this supper plan now and I will put it through unless you think it improper."

"Me—not at all. I think it both proper and delightful," he replied, his pleasure showing so plainly both in the sparkle in his eyes and the flush in his tanned face that her own cheeks grew rosy and her eyes sought the floor.

Bertrand had dined at many sumptuous tables where the board was surrounded with the wit and beauty of an empire, but that little dinner with the table set for two and one lone maid to do the waiting was the most appetizing and delightful affair in his memory. He found that his charming little hostess was as gifted in mind and character as in beauty of person.

As they returned to the drawing room the girl gave a little gasp of dismay.

"Just to think of it," she said, "of all nights for papa to desert me when the Mystic Shrine masquerade—the swellest dance of all the season, is on—and he promised to take me—and I have my costume all ready—and oh, its a dream. Now isn't it a shame?"

"Why not let me take you?" responded Bertrand unblushingly. "I'll present indubitable proofs that I'm of irreproachable family—here, look into Morry's album; I'll bet you find a half dozen photographs of me. And I assure you that I will not abuse the privilege an iota."

The girl was flushed—whether with anger or with the novelty of the proposition, Bertrand waited anxiously to hear.

"It would be a great lark," she said, looking searchingly into his clear gray eyes, "but, oh my, how very bold and unconventional. Why, papa does not even want me to go out with young men who we know well—besides you have not time before your train leaves."

"I have escaped that and many other iniquities," declared Annabel.

"I don't think you understand, Miss DeLain," said the secretary, coming to the rescue.

"Oh, yes I do, Mr. Archer," replied the actress, in a low voice. "Just watch her while I ring for assistance."

She was moving furtively toward the bell, and the secretary sprang before her.

"Don't ring," he cried, excitedly "Let me explain."

"The theater is iniquitous," put in Annabel.

The actress cast a doubtful, pitying look at Annabel's flushed face, then turned to the secretary.

"Do you think she is harmless?" she inquired.

The perspiration rolled off that gentleman's face in great drops.

"I think there's a misunderstanding," he asserted, weakly.

"Doesn't she understand you yet, after all these weeks?" asked Annabel. Turning to the actress: "Have the exhortations of my affianced husband done you no good?"

"Great Scott! What a mixup!" muttered the secretary.

"I believe stage people to be bad, each and every one of them," was the next statement of Annabel.

"Shall I call the police?" asked Miss DeLain, with her finger on the button.

"Great Caesar!—No!" came from the secretary's pallid lips. "Let me explain."

"Well, I think it's time for the explanation to be forthcoming," was Miss DeLain's reply, as she moved a step nearer the door.

"Wait, stop," shouted the man.

"If you're afraid, I'll call for help," said the actress.

"Come here, Miss DeLain—Annabel, be seated. I'll explain," he said. "The theater has redeeming qualities, and I'm convinced that there are many good people on the stage. The—"

"What?" cried Annabel. "Do you say that?"

"I say what I believe is the truth," was his reply.

"You've changed, sir," she accused, with anger blazing in her eyes. "What caused you to revise your views?"

"My association with one who knows," he answered.

"You don't mean to say that this woman has brought this about?"

"I mean just that," he said.

Annabel was speechless with rage and chagrin.

"Our engagement is at an end," she declared. Picking up her skirts, and without as much as a look at Miss De Lain, she swished out of the room.

After she was gone there was an embarrassing silence for a little while.

"I did not know you were engaged," said Miss De Lain, presently.

"I know it—only too well," he answered, bitterly. "I never truly loved the woman—though I thought I did until about three months ago."

"Did you change your opinion suddenly?"

"Well, no," he replied slowly. "It grew with me as our acquaintance grew."

He looked at her, but not a feature in her face changed. He felt disappointed.

"How long had you been acquainted with her?"

"I didn't mean my acquaintance with her," said he.

"No?" And she raised her brows inquiringly.

"I discovered it was you I loved," explained the secretary, with considerable bluntness.

"But I am married," said she sweetly. "My husband comes tomorrow."

And the secretary soon was married, too—to Annabel.

A Sprained Ankle.

As a rule a man will feel well satisfied if he can hobble around on crutches in two or three weeks after spraining his ankle, and it is often two or three months before he is fully recovered. This is an unnecessary loss of time, as by applying Chamberlain's Liniment, as directed, a cure may as a rule be effected in less than one week's time, and in many cases within three days. Sold by all druggists.

Shirt Sale Starts Saturday

Our famous One-Day Shirt Clearing has been set for Saturday, January the twenty-second.

As usual we'll make short work of it by closing out our entire winter stock at the low price of 98 cents.

Clothing sales occupy the center of the stage. There are plenty of them in town—good, bad and indifferent ones. Here at The Columbia every man, young man and boy can supply his wants at Cut Prices, which every one knows to be the real thing. The fact that clothing prices are going to be higher in 1910 (ask Mr. Taft about it!) is an added reason for buying during our present sales.

How about a pair of pants at the special January price?

"Where Your Money Does Double Work"

"NOODLES" ON THE BENCH

Champion Newsboy Observes Methods in Duluth Municipal Court.

Sits Beside Judge Cutting While "Plain Drunks" Are Fined.

"Noodles" Fagan, "king of the newsboys," sat with Judge Cutting on the bench in police court this morning as the regular grist was put through the mill at 9:30.

The session was one of the common kind, with no unusual feature to put a spark of color in it. All those arraigned were "plain drunks," and they all got the minimum sentence, $3 or three days.

"Noodles" is one of the best-posted persons in the country on police matters. He visits every police court and calls on every police chief in every city he visits when he has the time or the opportunity. What he doesn't know about police regulations and police news is insignificant.

He is as well posted on these matters as he is on newsboys and their doings over the various parts of the United States. Among prominent police judges with whom he has sat are Judge Barney McKenna of Pittsburg, Judge Fitzpatrick of New York and Judge Crutchfield of Richmond, Va. Judge Ben Lindsay of Denver is also on his list.

"Noodles" is the best of "mixers." Everybody likes him. He's a breeze, blowing along easily into any place. He met most of the front desk men at headquarters this morning and they all said he was one of the best they had met. He was acquainted with numerous celebrities throughout the country, whom the local officials know. He had something new to say about each of them. He sat on the bench, as though he belonged there. Those who didn't know him thought that he was a visiting judge.

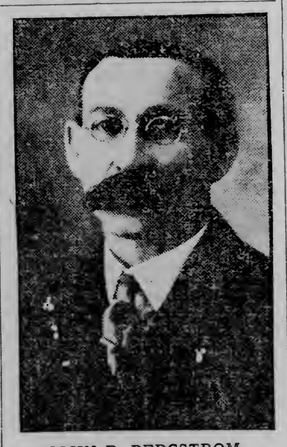

He said that the Duluth system is equal to any. He was struck by the manner in which the cases were handled. The full opportunity which every prisoner was given to tell his side of the story impressed him particularly, and he commented specifically upon the fact that where there is a doubt the witnesses who are familiar with the facts are summoned into court while the case is postponed until a later hour.

WEST END BITTER CONTEST IS EXPECTED

Bergstrom's Entrance Into Aldermanic Race Gives New Interest to Election.

When John D. Bergstrom, real estate dealer and insurgent Republican, filed a petition with the city clerk yesterday asking that his name be placed on the ballot as an independent aldermanic candidate from the Sixth ward, it marked the first step in what is expected to prove one of the bitterest aldermanic contests in the coming city election.

It is conceded that Mr. Bergstrom will have the support of the insurgent factions of the Sixth ward Republicans.

JOHN D. BERGSTROM.

Mr. Bergstrom, the independent candidate, is an old resident of the Sixth ward and has lived in Duluth since 1887. He has for a number of years been engaged in the real estate business. For the past few years he has been active in ward politics, but has never held public office.

Republicans of the West end, who supported Alderman Peter Olson in the primaries, when he was defeated for the Republican nomination by Sands Van Wagner. The Democrats did not put a candidate in the field and he may get the support of some of these, it is said by his friends.

The Republican organization, which will meet this evening at Sloan's hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street, has indorsed Mr. Van Wagner for alderman. Mr. Van Wagner will address the members of the Sixth Ward club tonight. Mayor Haven is also expected to give a talk. Reports from the chairmen of the different precincts will be given.

Besides Mr. Van Wagner, the Republican candidate, Mr. Bergstrom, the independent candidate, will be opposed by Daniel Eklund, who is running on the Public Ownership ticket. Mr. Eklund is not making a strenuous campaign and although his friends say that he may be the dark horse, it is generally thought that the bitterest fight will be between the two

WAS IN ROW AT BROWNSVILLE

Duluth Colored Man Will Appear Before Congressional Committee.

George W. Newton, a colored brick mason of this city, and also a colored Mason, left yesterday for Washington where he will appear before the congressional committee that is looking into the famous Brownsville, Tex., incident, in which the colored troops and Company D, Twenty-fifth United States Infantry were involved.

Newton was a member of the company and was discharged from the service with the rest of the members of the company. He has been making his home in Duluth since being discharged from the army. He has made frequent applications for re-enlistment, but as yet no action has been taken on the case of the members of the company that were mixed in the shooting up of the Texas town.

The Duluth negro will appear before the investigating committee and give his version of the case. He was subpoenaed to appear before committee, as were a large number of the members of the colored company. Newton routed Lieut. A. P. Watts, in charge of the United States army recruiting office here out of bed Tuesday night, after midnight, so excited was he at the news of his subpoena. He wished to secure the advice of the army officer.

THE FUNERAL OF MRS. L. HEGARDT HELD IN DULUTH.

The funeral of Mrs. L. Hegardt, who died Jan. 6 in Redlands, Cal., was held privately today, interment being in Forest Hill cemetery. Mrs. Hegardt was 73 years old and she and her husband settled in Duluth in 1870. Mr. Hegardt died in 1897. W. J. Hegardt, Mrs. H. B. Paull and Miss Hegardt accompanied the remains of their mother from California, arriving here last evening.

STATE FUNERAL GIVEN NABUCO

President Attends and Secretary Knox Is an Honorary Bearer.

Washington, Jan. 20.—With all the impressiveness and solemnity attending the joint participation of the state, the military and the church, the funeral of Joaquim Nabuco, late Brazilian ambassador to this capital, was conducted today at St. Matthews Roman Catholic church. The body was escorted to the church by cavalry, artillery and a battalion of engineers. The honorary pall bearers were Secretary Knox, the Italian ambassador, the Austro-Hungarian ambassador and French ambassador, the Portuguese and Chilean ministers, Senator Root, Senator Cullom, Associate Justice Holmes, Representative Perkins, Admiral Schley and John Barrett.

The services at the church were conducted by Mgr. Falconio, the papal delegate, assisted by Mgr. Lee of St. Matthews.

President at Funeral.

President Taft with the members of the cabinet, nearly all of the diplomatic body in Washington, members of the supreme court of the United States and a number of the senators and representatives and officials of high degree attended the services.

At the conclusion of the ceremonies, the coffin was conveyed to Oak Hill cemetery, there to remain until about the middle of February and then be transported on the president's yacht Mayflower to Hampton Roads, placed on the new cruiser Montana and conveyed to Rio de Janeiro.

OPENING JUVENILE CLASS

Saturday, January 22—3 p. m.

Parents wishing to enter their children in this class should make arrangements on or before the above date, as starting at the beginning means success, if started right.

Parents should never allow their children to attend any school or academy unless they can place the utmost confidence in the teacher, as very few realize the important duties which are demanded of a teacher of today. You must realize that the effects of dancing are not confined to the body. It gives to children, not mere outward gracefulness of motion, but manly and womanly thoughts and a becoming confidence in each other.

The greatest trust that can be given to a human being is that of influencing the character of a growing generation. Teachers of dancing must not be second to recognize this grand truth and take the advantage of the opportunities placed before them, of raising children to a higher conception of morality of conduct through their pleasures in motion and association. The laws of gracefulness and propriety are as fixed as the laws of right and wrong, and it is as imperative for your teacher to be fully acquainted with these laws as it is to be imbued with honesty of purpose.

Special rates for children's term, $5.00. Adult class, Thursday evening at 8 p. m. Private class, Tuesday evening at 7:30 p. m. Beginners' class, Monday evening at 8 p. m.

Private lessons by appointment. Either 'phone, afternoon or evening.

THE MARKET WAS NERVOUS

Liquidation in the Cole-Ryan Stocks Is Well Absorbed.

Bargain Day Rush in the "Ten-Twenty-Thirty" Issues.

The copper market was nervous today, liquidation continuing with intermittent support. Rallies were frequent but selling took place on each bulge and the market closed generally about at a par with the opening.

The Cole-Ryan issues were nervous today but stronger and the liquidation in those stocks seemed to be well absorbed. It is reported that large interests that have had considerable to do with the control of the Cole-Ryan issues are pulling out of Calumet & Arizona, North Butte, Superior & Pittsburg and one or two others.

The local market was specialized. There was not much doing outside of St. Mary's, Rawhide and National. It was a sort of bargain day, with the ten-twenty-thirty stocks the attractions. Rawhide Royal sold at 10, 9 and back to 10 cents, 23,000 shares changing hands. St. Mary's sold at 32, 33 and back to 32 cents, 17,000 shares being traded in. National sold at 68, 67, 69, 70 and down to 62 cents, 5,500 shares changing hands. The deals in Rawhide and St. Mary's were mostly professional. One brokerage house unloaded considerable Rawhide on another, and the second house became slightly peeved and started to hand St. Mary's a few jolts. To protect that stock the first brokerage house was forced to take offerings that came in thousand share lots, one trade being on a 10,000-share basis.

Butte-Ballaklava sold at $11.87½ off to $11.75 and down to $11.62½. Cordova sold at $1.06¼. Live Oak at $29. Red Warrior at $3.56¼. Shattuck at $20.25 down to $20. Butte & Superior at $2.81¾ and $2.75. Calumet & Sonora at $16.50. Carman at $1.25. Elenita at $9.50. Keating at $2.12½ down to $2 and then to $1.95¾. Duluth Toroda at 75 cents.

Amalgamated sold at $82.25 down to $82 up to $82.75, off ½ point, and back to $82.75. Greene sold at $10 off to $9.87½. Calumet & Arizona sold at $83 off to $81.50, back to the opening and then to $85, down to $83.25 and back to $84. North Butte sold at $14.50 down to $14.25, up to $45.50, off to $44 and up to $46. Giroux sold at $10.87½, down to $10.50 and back to $10.75. Superior & Pittsburg sold at $14.25, off ⅛ and back to the opening.

A message was received here today from General Manager Norton of the Calumet & Sonora company saying that he had contracted with the New Jersey Zinc company to take the zinc output of the Calumet & Sonora mine on a base price of $49.50 a ton and that the spelter will regulate the additional price. He also sold 5,000 tons of lead ore at $44 net at Cananea, Mex.

Spelter is based on $5 a ton and is now selling at $6. The ore is based on 60 per cent, but Calumet & Sonora ores run as high as 65 per cent and average about 64 per cent. The additional price per unit is $1. The total additional price that will be received will be approximately $4.10.

VERDICT FOR THE DEFENDANT

George M. Smith Fails to Recover on Mining Deal.

Judge Dibell in district court, today, directed a verdict for the defendant in the case of George M. Smith vs. David T. Adams. Mr. Smith was suing Mr. Adams for $7,000 to recover an amount which he claimed to have been defrauded out of in a stock deal. Mr. Adams is said to have sold the plaintiff a large block of stock in a California company which afterwards slumped and proved worthless.

AFTER WINTER TOURIST TRAFFIC.

P. W. Morrow, Northwestern passenger agent of the Louisville & Nashville railway, is here today looking for Florida coast business. Mr. Morrow says his road is getting a very heavy business from the Duluth district at the present time, and that even a larger number of Duluth people will go to the South later in the winter.

The Florida season is right at its height at the present time, according to Mr. Morrow, and the biggest season in the history of the Florida winter resorts is on.

SUPERIOR FOUND DEAD IN HIS BED

Lake Nebagamon Butcher May Have Taken His Life.

Was Former Ferryboat Captain in the Local Harbor.

John H. Hanson, 46 years old, a butcher of Lake Nebagamon, Wis., who also had a home in Superior, was found dead in his bed this morning under circumstances that would indicate that he had committed suicide.

Coroner Geisen of Superior is investigating the case and will hold an inquest over the body of the dead man, probably tomorrow morning.

Hanson is said to have worried considerably over financial matters of late and it is believed that this might have been a motive for self-destruction. Two years ago he was forced into bankruptcy, after having failed in his business.

For a number of years, Hanson was the captain of a ferry between Superior and Duluth. He owned a home in Superior on Fifth street and at the time of his death, his wife and daughter, Edna, were at the superior home.

Besides his wife and daughter, he is survived by two sons, Louis and John, who are now working on the ranges.

BADLY BEATEN AND ARRESTED

Alleged Attempt of Link Holden to Kill Father-in-Law Was Foiled.

Link Holden is in the Douglas county jail awaiting trial on a charge of attempting to take the life of his father-in-law, Charles Cole, a prominent Douglas county politician, and Cole is defendant in a suit for $5,000 damages brought by Holden because of a beating he received at Cole's hands, Christmas eve. Holden was arrested yesterday on a warrant sworn out by Cole, Dec. 20. He pleaded not guilty to the charge against him and was held for trial.

The situation is brought about by differences between the two men over alleged mistreatment of his wife by Holden. Mr. and Mrs. Holden separated about a year ago and Mrs. Holden is living in Illinois with her son.

On Christmas eve last, according to the story brought to light yesterday in connection with the arrest of Holden, the son-in-law went to Cole's home at South Range, and demanded to see his son, who was supposedly in the custody of his wife. Mrs. Holden and her boy were in Illinois at this time.

Holden, it is claimed, made several threats upon the life of Cole and started out with a gun to hunt Cole out. In a South Range saloon, Cole was at him and overpowered him by main strength. In the fracas there was no shooting, but Holden received a bad beating.

He returned to Superior and immediately after Christmas started a civil action for $5,000 against Cole. It is claimed that even after this action had been filed, Holden continued to make threats against the life of his father-in-law. When Cole heard of it, he secured a warrant for Holden's arrest on a charge of attempting to kill him Christmas eve. The warrant was sworn out Dec. 20, but Holden changed his name and was not apprehended by the police until yesterday.

HORSE PULLING HEARSE SUDDENLY DROPS DEAD.

A peculiar incident in connection with a funeral occurred at the East end yesterday, when the burial procession of Thomas Burns, a railroad brakeman who was killed Monday, was in progress.

The horse which was drawing the hearse dropped dead without warning. When it fell to the ground the driver tried to revive it, but to no avail. Another horse was secured and the funeral continued.

The animal was owned by the Bowser Transfer line.

Change of Venue.

When the McAloon case is tried, Judge Wickham of the new circuit court at Eau Claire will preside. The Eau Claire jurist was selected yesterday by Judge Vinje of the Superior circuit court, in accordance with the change of venue action. Alex McAloon, former county supervisor, has been indicted on a charge of mishandling the county funds.

Will Demand Increase.

Superior bricklayers have demanded an increase in wages. A notice was served yesterday on contractors doing business in Superior that after April 1 the bricklayers would demand 70 cents an hour. The wage scale now in effect calls for 65 cents an hour.

Mrs. Lambert Dies.

Mrs. W. H. Lambert, for twenty years a resident of Superior, died last evening at her home, 507 Clough avenue, following a serious operation. Three weeks ago she was taken ill. She was the mother of seven children and is survived also by a husband and two brothers.

SENTENCED FOR BOOK SWINDLE

Man Who Victimized Mrs. Patten Is Sent to the Penitentiary.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—Samuel T. Warfield, convicted on the charge of a conspiracy to obtain money by false pretenses from Mrs. James A. Patten in the "de luxe" book swindle, was today sentenced to one to five years in the Joliet penitentiary. John M. McFarland and William N. Cooper were indicted with Warfield. Cooper was acquitted and McFarland turned state's evidence.

TARIFF PLEA WINS VOTES

Unionists Make Gains of Two in Lloyd-George's Principality.

Ure, Samuel, Hardie and Edgar Jones All Return, However.

LATEST REPORTS ON THE BRITISH ELECTION

London, Jan. 20.—Complete returns from 370 constituencies in the British general elections received up to tonight, show the following results: Government coalition: Liberals, 133; Irish Nationalists, 53; Laborites, 26. Total, 212. Opposition: Unionists, 158. Government majority, 54.

London, Jan. 20.—A wave of tariff reform swept over a majority of the constituencies, mostly country districts, which voted yesterday for members of the parliament. The Unionists on completed returns show a total net gain thus far of 58 seats. The state of the parties as known at 3 o'clock this afternoon was:

Government coalition: Liberals, 132; Irish Natfonalists, 50; Laborites, 25; Opposition: Unionists, 158.

The total net gain of 58 by the Unionists is of Liberal seats. The aggregate gains of the Unionists from 365 elections complete were 69, while the Liberals had 10, and the Laborites 1 gain.

In Lloyd-George's District.

Two gains in David Lloyd-George's principality, the election of W. Ormsby-Gore for Denbig and C. T. Venables-Llewellyn for Radnorshire, are especially treasured among the scalps taken by the Unionists yesterday, while Sir M. M. Stewart, another Unionist, put a wedge in Scottish Liberalism by capturing Kirkcudbrightshire. Other tariff reform victories were the elections of Arthur H. Lee, formerly military attache at the British embassy in Washington, who more than tripled his earlier majority for the Fareham district of Hants; and Capt. H. Spencer Clay, who turned a Radical majority of 1,283 for the Southwest district of Kent into a Unionist majority of 3,210.

Sir Edward Grey Wins.

Sir Edward Grey, secretary of foreign affairs, retained his seat for the Berwick-on-Tweed division of Northumberland by a substantial majority though reduced by nearly 600 from his earlier figures.

Alexander Ure, for Linlithgowshire, the attorney general against whom a special onslaught had been made by the Unionists, won hands down, with a majority increased by 394.

Herbert L. Samuel, Liberal, Yorkshire, North Riding-Cleveland division, nearly doubled his previous majority.

J. Kier Hardie and Edgar Jones, respectively, the Labor and Liberal candidates for Merthyr Tydvil, were elected by enormous majorities and the political color of the constituency is unchanged.

RAILROADS ALL REJECT DEMAND

Trainmen and Conductors Are Denied Increases in Wages.

Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 20.—Not one railway in the Eastern section of the United States or Canada accepted the demand made by the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen or the Order of Railway Conductors for an increase in wages and uniform working conditions. This statement was made by W. G. Lee, head of the trainmen, at the headquarters of the trainmen here today.

Announcement Is Looked For.

Washington, Jan. 20.—A tentative agreement has been reached in the controversy between the Chicago railroads and their switchmen. It is likely the announcement will be made later in the day by the mediators. The nature of the agreement is not disclosed, but it is believed to involve arbitration of the wage question.

Will Arbitrate Dispute.

Washington, Jan. 20.—Arbitration is to be the solution of the controversy between the Chicago railways and their switchmen. This was decided today, the announcement being made by the mediators that both sides had agreed to refer to arbitration. The first meeting of the arbitrators will be held in Chicago on the 24th.

BOSHART WILL LEAVE CITY

Duluth Boat Club Will Lose Another Strong Oarsman.

John G. Boshart, last season a member of the senior crew and counted upon the present season to be a member of the junior crew of the Duluth Boat club, has taken a road position with the firm he has been employed with since coming to Duluth, the Peyton Paper company, and will leave the city Saturday to travel for his house.

The loss of Boshart will be a severe

one to the boat club. Last year was the first one he had ever sat in a shell. Learning the rowing game in remarkably short time for a novice, he proved at the end of the season one of the strongest men in the boat.

There never was a more faithful oarsman than Boshart. He trained as few members of the club trained. In the gruelling senior eight race at St. Paul last July, in which the senior crew defeated the crack Winnipeg eight, Boshart pulled one of the strongest oars in the shell.

He was counted upon as a valuable addition to the junior crew the coming season. His loss will be keenly felt, coming as it does after the loss of MacDowell. Boshart and MacDowell were two of the strongest oarsmen in the senior crew, and the loss will prove a hard one for the rowing interests of the boat club.

CLUBS TRADE PITCHERS.

Philadelphia and Cincinnati Figure in Biggest Baseball Deal of Year.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 20.—One of the biggest baseball trades of the winter was closed today by the Cincinnati and Philadelphia National league clubs. The deal involves the trading of four pitchers, Philadelphia getting Robert Ewing and James Brennon in return for Frank Corridon and Harry Covaleskie.

Ewing has been with Cincinnati since 1892. Brennan was bought from Hutchinson, Kan., last fall.

SKATERS WILL MEET.

"Hi" Cohen and Champion Bryant in Special Match Race.

"Hi" Cohen of St. Paul, said to be one of the fastest performers on the rollers in the Northwest, and Frank Bryant, the Head of the Lakes champion, will meet this evening at the Lincoln Park pavilion in a match race of one mile.

The boys will skate for a purse offered by the management of the rink, and also for a side bet. Bryant is strongest at distances over a mile, while Cohen claims that one mile suits him to a nicety.

Bryant has won all his races here, but if the reports of Cohen's speed are true, the Head of the Lakes champion will be opposed by a very fast man. There will be skating before and after the race, and it is expected that a large crowd will witness the contest.

Rappaport Is Not Guilty.
Harry Rappaport, arrested last week on a warrant sworn out by Leo Solomon charging him with stealing $4 from him while in his employ as a clerk, was found not guilty in police court yesterday afternoon. The evidence showed that he had placed a slip in the cash drawer charging the money to himself, and that he still has $7 coming in wages.

Schon Goes to Jail.
Gunner Schon, arrested yesterday for stealing a watch and about $3 from Fred Russell in the Belmont hotel, pleaded guilty in police court yesterday afternoon and was fined $50 and costs or fifty days in the county jail. He was committed.

Bond Is Reduced.
The bonds of George T. Holm, the former assistant postmaster at Sandstone who is accused of the embezzlement of $30 from the office, were reduced by Judge Morris in federal court today from $1,000 to $500. Holm has been in the county jail since his arrest last week. He was acquitted on a charge of falsifying the records of the office and was immediately rearrested on another indictment.

Is Made a Citizen.
For a time this afternoon, Judge Morris couldn't understand how Edward Wilson, an applicant for citizenship papers, could have declared his intention at Seattle, Wash., in 1906 and still claimed that he has resided in Minnesota since 1902. Wilson said that he made a trip to the coast in 1906 to look over some land, being gone about a month in all. While he was out there he declared his intention. Judge Morris decided that his absence didn't constitute a breach of continuous residence in Minnesota, and the papers were granted.

FOR MOUNTAIN CLIMBERS.

What to Eat, Drink and Wear—How to Husband the Strength.

New York Sun: The medical opinion with regard to mountain climbing is that it is, of all sports, the most health-giving, bringing, as it does, every muscle of the body into activity. But sufferers from heart and lung complaints must abstain from this form of exercise. Even the strong must take certain precautions before difficult expeditions.

They should learn the art of breathing from experienced mountaineers, while the actual motion of the legs should also be carefully studied. One does not climb mountains as one climbs stairs. Experienced climbers begin very slowly, taking frequent but short rests, keeping their energy in store. Novices spend theirs thoughtlessly and suddenly find themselves incapable of proceeding.

Refreshments taken on the road should be very light, of a vegetarian and, as far as possible, non-alcoholic nature. Spirits diluted in water are better than wine, while those who are unaccustomed to them will find a spoonful of brandy taken as a mouth rinser (not swallowed), and followed immediately by a glass of water, most cooling and refreshing; in fact, this is a plan which may be recommended to all tourists and sportsmen.

Tea (hot or cold) is a stimulating as well as refreshing drink, and particularly suitable on mountain expeditions. Solid food should consist of bread, gruyere cheese, chocolate, eggs, dry biscuits, dry figs, slices of cold rice pudding and sugary aliments generally. A sip of brandy or rum will restore warmth to the body, and it is therefore advisable to add it to one's provisions. Liquids should be carried in leather bottles which have already been used to avoid the disagreeable taste they communicate to their contents when new.

Food, clothes and medicine should be packed in Tyrolean bags in thick woolen material, which rest on the hips and do not interfere with the respiratory organs, as those strapped to the back may do. On excursions which last over night a sleeping bag of sheepskin should be taken. As to clothing, says a writer in The Queen, this must be chosen to combine warmth with the lightest weight possible. One woolen garment next to the skin and a thick woolen suit above this, with a shawl to be thrown on during halts, should be sufficient.

Woolen stockings, with nailed boots, a soft felt hat, blue spectacles and a handkerchief to protect the neck from the sun complete the outfit of the climber, who will be also careful to put a pair of stockings or socks and a woolen vest in his bag, if the excursion is a long one. This will be sufficient on most ascents taken during the summer, but in the winter more precautions will be necessary, such as fur-lined gloves and caps covering the ears.

Mountain sickness affects most people on first high ascensions. It may be prevented, as also cured, by inhalations of oxygen. Persons in a state of overfatigue, nervousness or weakness from any cause are particularly subject to it. Mountain sickness is not always felt on first reaching the highest altitude, but very often some little time after on the descent. As for seasickness, the best cure is acclimatization, and some people suffer from it only on a first ascension. Many mountaineers have an attack on their first climb every year. The symptoms are the same as those experienced on balloon ascensions.

POLYGLOT OPERA.

Musical America: Polyglot opera is tolerated in some Old World cities to an extreme that baffles the understanding of spoiled New Yorkers who may be asked to take their opera in mixed French and Italian once or twice in a season in an emergency, but not oftener. Le Menestrel reports a performance of "L'Africaine," in Budapest, in which the Selika sang in Italian, the Nernsko in French, the other principals in German and the chorus in Hungarian! An English writer reads into this stage Babel a plea for Esperanto for opera.

ON THE IRON RANGES

WANTED ONES ARE NOW UNDER ARREST

John Hill and Ed Williams, Sought By Virginia Police, Caught.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Hill, who, together with an unknown man, assaulted and robbed Andrew Johnson of the sum of $75 Dec. 25 last near the village of Gheen, and who has since been at large, was captured by Chief of Police Walsh in this city yesterday. Hill was arraigned in municipal court in the afternoon and held to the grand jury on bonds of $500. He was unable to furnish the bonds and is now confined to the city jail.

Charles Carlson, charged with having robbed John Hill of the sum of $18 in the Kopplia saloon, also had his hearing in municipal court. The robbery charge was dismissed and the charge of being drunk and disorderly substituted. Carlson was given a sentence of ninety days in the county jail.

Chief of Police Walsh has received a telegram from the chief of police at Minneapolis stating that he had captured and was holding Ed Williams, wanted here on the charge of grand larceny. Some time ago Williams made out three personal checks, two for $20 each and one for $15, cashing them with Edward Finch, Gust Carlson and Robert Thorpe, after which he left for parts unknown. Chief Walsh sent a description of the man to the Minneapolis police and it was not until yesterday that any trace of him could be found. Williams will be brought back here for trial.

BLACKSMITH IS LOST WITH SHOP

Edward Mather Perishes at Cussons When Blacksmith Shop Burns.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Undertaker H. S. Gillespie returned yesterday from Cussons with the body of Ed Mather, who was burned to death in a blacksmith shop. Mather was employed as blacksmith for the Virginia & Rainy Lake company at Cussons and also slept in the building. The building caught fire on Friday night and Mather was burned to death. Just how the fire originated is not known, as Mather was the only person about the property. He was single and about 40 years of age. The body is being held here pending word from relatives. It is thought that Mather has a brother residing at Ann Arbor, Mich.

COHASSET HAS QUITE A BOOM ON

Lumbering and Other Interests Bringing Place to Forefront.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—There is considerable activity at Cohasset this winter. The lumbering and allied industries, with headquarters here make that village a lively place. The freighting for the Soo construction, which is going on south of that point is also making some business, and gives the town a lively appearance. The shipbuilding is no inconsiderable industry, a number of steamboats being now under construction.

E. L. Buck, who is the owner of a considerable amount of good property in and about Cohasset, is about to plat and put upon the market an addition. This addition is located south of the Mississippi river, and the bridge which is to be constructed across the river, uniting one of the main streets of the town will give easy access to the new townsite. This bridge, as well as the bridge across the thoroughfare at Jay Gould lake, is to be finished by June 1. The Hennepin Bridge company have the contract for the erection of these bridges, and the work on the Jay Gould thoroughfare bridge is well along.

Cohasset has an active Commercial club, and that body is always alive to the needs and wants of the town. The club at this time is working hard to interest a large Wisconsin sawmill concern to erect a mill at that point. The mill which is proposed to erect will be a mill of about 50,000 per day capacity, beside a shingle mill and a lath mill.

On Monday evening last, a basket social was given for the benefit of the Cohasset Catholic church, and it was a grand success. The sum of $100 was netted.

BOOTS OR BEER, WHICH?

Many a Man Drinks Alcohol While His Children Want.

When a man selfishly persists in spending money for beer and whiskey that ought to go for the comforts, and, perhaps the very necessaries of life for his wife and children, such a man needs treatment. Some would say that he should be put under restraint and forcibly kept from wasting that which belongs to his family even more than himself. If, however, this man can be made to give up drink by a treatment administered secretly, it would certainly seem to be a wise thing to do, but in searching for such a treatment the wives and mothers of drinking men should be careful that they deal with honest people and get an honest treatment.

The White Ribbon Remedy is honestly made by honest people with the sincere desire to help the homes that are being injured and, perhaps, even desolated by alcohol. It is odorless, tasteless, contains absolutely no habit-forming drugs, and may be administered secretly if desired. Has proven its efficacy so many times that those who earnestly desire to win the drinker from the alcohol habit may begin treatment with the utmost confidence of the beneficial results.

White Ribbon Remedy may be obtained of E. M. Tredway, Duluth, Minn. $1.00 per box, or six boxes for $5.00.

CASES POSTPONED.

Some Hearings Before Grand Rapids Judge Go Over.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—In Judge Huson's court a number of cases which have been pending have been adjourned to a later date. The Israel Butts bastardy case, which was to have come up on Tuesday, has been postponed until Friday.

The case of The State vs. Dr. C. J. Kjelland of Crookston, which was to have come up Jan. 14, has been adjourned until Friday. Dr. Kjelland, who hunted during the past hunting season in the vicinity of Goodland, is accused of having bought a deer, contrary to the game laws, of N. Fairbanks on Nov. 25 last.

Joseph Laudert, who was arrested last week on a charge of killing a moose last June, will have his hearing on Jan. 23.

FILLING LATH CONTRACT.

Spang & Hoolihan Have Much Sawmill Work on Hand.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Spang & Hoolihan, who last summer built a fair-sized sawmill on the river front in the West end of the city, are going to do some business at their mill during the coming spring and summer. For the present sawing season and until the logs are in condition a large lath sawing job is on the program. A piece of small pine timber has recently been purchased north of town, and W. E. Myers has the contract for the lath. About 1,000,000 lath will be sawed before the summer's sawing season in the mill commences.

Spang & Hoolihan have recently opened a camp north of here, in section 22, 54-25, in which some fifty men are employed. The timber will be landed on the Missabe spur near Buckeye lake, from which place it will be loaded on cars and hauled to the mill at this point over the new line of the Great Northern. This camp is in charge of M. Callihan of Cohasset.

The timber cut this winter it is expected will keep the mill running next summer most of the sawing season.

STOCKPILE TRAGEDY.

Gust Mattson Is Instantly Killed at the Kellogg Mine.

McKinley, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—While attending to the dumping of ore cars at the stockpile of the Kellogg mine here early yesterday Gust Mattson, aged 22, single, was struck by the cable and instantly killed.

As he did not send the car back within the required time, investigation was made and he was found dead, having been instantly killed. It is thought that the hook at the end of the cable, which pulls the car, became detached and in flying loose struck the unfortunate man and caused his instant death.

Deputy Coroner Seeley of Biwabik was notified and took charge of the body. He decided that an inquest was unnecessary. Deceased had not been long in America and had worked at the Kellogg mine only about three months.

KNIFE RIVER DRY.

Two Saloons in Place Closed By the Recent Incorporation.

Knife River, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.—The recent incorporation of the village of Knife River resulted in closing the two saloons here that were being operated under licenses issued by the county board to carry on business in the town of Two Harbors. The village board will hold its next meeting, Feb. 5, when application will be made for licenses. If these are denied the village will continue dry.

EVELETH ELKS' EVENT.

New Hall Will Be Officially Opened Saturday Evening.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Elks are planning on the official opening of their new hall Saturday evening, at which time District Deputy McPhee of Crookston will be present on his annual visit.

Special music is being arranged for and recitations of a witty nature will be rendered by local lodge members. The hall is being fitted up in a beautiful manner for the occasion, and the affair promises to be a great success.

BIG MORTGAGE FILED.

Consideration $1,000,000 and Itasca County's Fee Large.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—A Shevlin-Mathieu Lumber company trust mortgage, involving the land holdings of the company in the counties of Itasca, Koochiching, St. Louis, Beltrami and Roseau, has been recorded in the office of the register of deeds of Itasca county. The mortgage deed is given for a consideration of $1,000 000, and is secured by lands in the counties named. The registration or mortgage tax on the instrument was $5,000, of which Itasca county's share is $1,041.69, which goes into the county's general fund.

It took one of Register of Deeds McGowan's best clerks three days to copy the mortgage, and the recording fees amounted to $15. This is the largest consideration ever involved in any instrument filed in Itasca county, except the Northern Pacific and Eastern Railway of Minnesota mortgages, filed in 1902.

MINING MAN IS CALLED BEYOND

Assistant General Superintendent Ross of Republic Iron & Steel Mines Dead.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Daniel E. Ross, assistant superintendent of the Republic Iron & Steel company, in charge of the concern's Mesaba range mines, died died yesterday morning of double pneumonia in a local hospital, after a short illness. Mr. Ross complained of a severe cold to his fellow employes, but was in a strong enough condition Saturday to visit the Gilbert hospital for treatment. His condition was so serious that he was immediately brought to the Moore hospital, but he was never thought to be in immediate danger of death until shortly before the end. He received good care at the hospital and was holding his own when a sudden relapse made his condition very low and resulted in his death.

The body is at the Presbyterian church, where the services will be held. Relatives of the deceased have been notified and a brother, William Ross of Roxbury, Massa., is expected this evening to make funeral arrangements. At present the body is in care of the Knights og Pythias of which order Mr. Ross was a prominent member. The body will probably be shipped to Somerisde, accompanied by his brother William and close friends.

He Was Only 33.

The deceased was 33 years of age, single, and had been a resident of Eveleth for seven years, coming to this city from Boston, to which place he went after graduating from Queen's college, Ontario, Can. On his arrival here he accepted a position as assistant engineer and worked his way up to chief engineer of the Fayal district. A short time after he was again promoted to be superintendent of the Fayal stripping works. In February of last year he was invited by the Republic Iron & Steel company to enter their employ as superintendent of the Pettit group of mines, which position he accepted. In September he was promoted to the position of assistant superintendent of the company's Mesaba holdings, which position he held at the time of his death.

He was very popular with all and was considered by mining men of high authority, a very capable, bright industrious man. He was a member of the Knights and of the Presbyterian church belief. Until recently he resided in this city, but because of his mining work, was obliged to remove to Gilbert, where he lived at the time of his death.

Mr. Ross is survived by an aged father, who resides in Somerside, a brother William, living at Rexbury, Mass., a sister, Mrs. F. Owens, Boston, Mass., who have all been notified of his sudden demise.

During the funeral, held here, all the Republic Iron & Steel company's mines of the range will be shut down.

LETTER BEARING FRUIT.

Adjutant General's Communication to Eveleth Council Heeded.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The action of the adjutant general of the state F. B. Wood, in sending a lengthy communication to the local council advising that body that immediate steps should be taken by local citizens in providing new spacious quarters for the militia, which is at present housed in an unequipped inadequate building, will probably result in some definite action by the Commercial club, on the part of the citizens, towards the erection of a large armory here the coming summer.

VIRGINIA BAKER FILES.

Edward C. A. Johnson Would Be Alderman at Large.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Edward C. A. Johnson, a former member of the city council and at present a member of the police and fire commission, has filed for alderman-at-large. Mr. Johnson is engaged in the bakery and confectionery business.

W. W. Woodward, local agent for the Virginia & Rainy Lake Railroad company, returned yesterday from Kelmount, where he went to install Ben Benson as agent.

John Pasternacki the Chisholm druggist, spent Tuesday night in the city with friends.

Miss Beatrice Munro of Duluth is a guest of her sister, Mrs. H. S. Gillespie.

An Order of Owls will be organized here tonight, the ceremonies taking place at the Fay opera house. About fifty members will be initiated.

A number of common drunks were taken before Special Judge Fleming yesterday, who suspended sentence with the understanding that they return to their labors in the north woods.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Bert Griffin, on Jan. 14.

ACCUSED YOUTH FREE.

Purse Is Raised and Boy Is Sent to His Mother.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Justice was tempered with mercy in the case of Harry Green, the youth arrested recently on the charge of the theft of a jewel belonging to the wife of County Attorney Price. The county official has given the boy a home and it is alleged that he showed his ingratitude by robbing his benefactor. After a hearing before Court Commissioner Pratt it was decided to drop the charge and allow the boy to go home to his mother in Iowa. Attorneys in the case provided the funds and he was started toward the Hawkeye state.

HIBBING COUNCIL HAS CLEANED UP BUSINESS.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The village council met Tuesday night for the first time in two weeks and cleaned up the business that had accumulated. Several saloon licenses were granted and the applications therefore ordered published. The matter of supplying lights for the new free rink was taken up, but at the present time the council is unable to do anything definite as the wires in the southern part of the town are unable to supply any more current, than at present.

GOOD SAMARITAN HEAD VISITS HIBBING LODGE.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—W. B. Henderson, a deputy imperial Good Samaritan has arrived and will attend the meeting of the Samaritans Friday evening.

ARE STRINGING WIRES TO THREE HIBBING ADDITIONS.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Mesaba Telephone company, having entered into a contract with a sufficient number of subscribers for telephone service, is stringing a wire to the Western and Roosevelt Hibbing Heights additions, and will install the telephones in a few days.

HIBBING PERSONALS.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Tessy Carry, who has been employed in the G. L. Thoun hardware store, will leave in a few days for Duluth, where she has accepted a position with a Duluth firm.

NEWSBOYS OF CITY WILL BE GUESTS OF HERALD AND "NOODLES" FAGAN AT BIJOU

"NOODLES" FAGAN.

All the actual newsboys of Duluth are invited to be the guests of The Herald and of "Noodles" Fagan at the second show at the Bijou theater this evening. All that will be necessary is to secure one of the special newsboys' badges from the office of The Herald and wear it. This badge will pass the bearer to the theater. Without it, regular admission will be charged.

Mr. Fagan will address the boys. Then they will make a short parade through the city and march to the theater. After the regular show tonight, the newsies will be invited to the stage to participate in some competitions under the direction of Mr. Fagan. This portion of the entertainment will prove an additional and enjoyable feature for the regular attendants of the show, all of whom are invited to remain and see the fun. Remember, all the newsboys of the town can attend and participate, by securing a Herald badge. The boys will occupy the balcony.

Again last night the Bijou theater was crowded with a throng that assembled to hear and see Mr. Fagan, popularly known and well loved as the king of the newsboys, from whose ranks he has graduated.

Tonight is the slogan among the Duluth newsies, for on this occasion they will go to the show as the guests of The Herald. It will be a great time, and everybody in Duluth should be there to see the fun, consisting of all kinds of stunts by the boys. Prizes will be given to the winners.

"Noodles" will give an exhibition at 12 o'clock, Saturday noon at Third avenue west to show how the New York newsboy sells his papers. He will offer a sample of his sky-scraping voice with each copy of The Herald. "Noodles" is said to have the loudest voice of any newsboy in the world.

He will turn the proceeds to the local newsies.

On Saturday morning at 10 o'clock sharp, 'Noodles' will give his talk on "Travels of the World." Beautiful slides from all parts of the world will be shown.

He will also speak on "Life in the Slums of New York." In this talk, he shows how the children have to live in the great poor district of New York. "Noodles" great work among the children of the metropolis gave him plenty of material.

He will tell of Chinatown, the Ghetto and the great East side, and show the local boys some scenes that will be a revelation of conditions in New York.

"The people of Duluth don't know how lucky they are to live in a good town," said "Noodles" to a Herald reporter today. In the first place, you have fresh air, which you never get in New York, winter or summer. The water here is the best ever tasted in America. Those two things are small items here, but what a blessing to have them in New York."

The high school pupils here were highly pleased with the address given by "Noodles" yesterday morning. The Herald invites them all and their mothers and fathers to attend the lecture Saturday. Just clip out the coupon, which is good for admission.

Manager Joe Maitland will have special ushers on hand to look after the children.

CUT OUT THIS COUPON AND PRESENT AT BIJOU

FREE. FREE. FREE. FREE. FREE. FREE.

Through the courtesy of The Herald, 'Noodles" Fagan, newsboy orator, New York, will deliver an address on "Life in the Slums of New York and Travels of the World," with moving pictures.

CURTISS GIVES UP LONG AERIAL TRIP

Paulhan Makes Some New Records at Meeting at Los Angeles.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 20.—With the end of the aviation meeting at hand, Glenn Curtiss made it known today that he had no intention of making a flight to San Diego for the $5,000 prize offered by the business men of that city.

"Hamilton may attempt the flight if he remains over for a day or two," said Jerome Fanciulli, manager for Curtiss, "but Curtiss will leave tonight for Hammondsport."

The announcement of Edmund Cleary, Paulhan's manager, that arrangements are made for exhibitions in San Francisco makes it practically certain that the famous French aviator will be seen in Sacramento, Salt Lake and St. Louis. There is a strong possibility that he will also go to Denver and New Orleans before he starts on his globe-girdling tour. Terms are being discussed.

New Passenger Records.

By carrying one passenger in his by-plane on a 22-mile cross-country trip from Aviation field, to a point half a mile out over the ocean, by taking another passenger on a 12-mile flight over the fields, and by taking three other passengers, one at a time, on short flights, Louis Paulhan yesterday established a new world's record for heavier-than-air machines.

No other aviator has taken up so many passengers in one day, and no other aviator has taken a woman for a high flight for more than twenty miles.

Paulhan sailed at an altitude of from 500 to 1,000 feet over Redondo beach, Venice by the Sea and other resorts toward Point Firmin. There were no life buoys tied to the machine to save them from death in the waves should they fall. He made his trip and other perilous flights with the ease of a run in a taxicab.

Beats Wright's Stunt.

The passenger-carrying record is held by Orville Wright, who flew with Capt. Engelhardt for 1 hour and 35 minutes at Berlin last fall, but Wright did not leave the course where he could land at will.

Paulhan was gone 33 minutes on his twenty-two-mile trip. He had as a passenger his wife. His twelve-mile trip was made with Clifford B. Harmon of New York. Besides these he took up Mrs. Courtlandt F. Bishop wife of President Bishop of the Aero club of America; Lieut. Paul Beck of the signal corps; William Randolph Hearst, the newspaper publisher, and another newspaper man.

chair, Representative Lloyd announced that in the selection of Democratic members of the committee the choice of the Democratic caucus should be respected. He declared he could not serve on the committee, Messrs. James and Rainey having been selected by the caucus for those places.

Mr. Clayton's declaration that the Democrats did not wish to control the action of the majority brought forth laughter from the Republican side.

Prepared for Battle.

Informal conferences early in the day between Democratic leaders in the room of Minority Leader Clark of Missouri, and between Republican leaders in the room of Speaker Cannon, had paved the way for the battle on the house floor, made inevitable by the action of the Republican caucus last night in rejecting Mr. Rainey of Illinois as one of the minority members of the investigating committee. Although the Republicans retained Mr. James of Kentucky on the committee, the turning down of Mr. Rainey was condemned by the minority as hostile to the principles that the Democrats should not be interfered with in making selections.

Those who met with Minority Leader Clark were Messrs. James and Rainey the Democratic caucus nominees, Lloyd of Missouri, chosen by the Republican caucus in place of Rainey and Underwood and Clayton of Alabama and Finley of South Carolina.

Figured Out Votes.

The conference in the speaker's room was attended by Representative Dalzell of Pennsylvania, Republican Whip Dwight of New York and a number of others. The subject under discussion was the mustering of sufficient votes to put the Republican caucus program through the house.

After the conference Mr. Dwight sent notice to all Republican members, including regulars and insurgents, requesting them to attend the session, and remain until the vote was taken for the election of the investigating committee.

The minority took similar action to muster full strength on the floor. Minority Leader Champ Clark made this statement after the Democratic conference:

"The Republican caucus had no right to refuse our selections for the Ballinger-Pinchot committee. The majority can't take away the power of the minority to name representatives in a matter of this kind. All this talk about our naming men who would stir up a row is ridiculous. We selected the best men we had for the committee. Both James and Rainey are good lawyers and fair, honest men.

Democrats Will Fight.

"The Democratic party does not want to discredit President Taft or blacken Secretary Ballinger or anybody else. There have been a lot of things said about this Ballinger-Pinchot matter and it ought to be investigated. The whole thing ought to be probed to the bottom. We named two men who would not spare anybody in a probing, nor would they treat anybody unfairly.

"We are going to stand by James and Rainey and will fight the best we know how against any attempt to discredit or defeat them."

Urging the adoption of his resolution, Mr. Clayton insisted that the house elect James and Rainey.

Mr. McCall asked to be excused from serving on the committee on the ground that he had interests in mining properties.

While Mr. McCall was speaking, Mrs. Taft, accompanied by a party of friends, entered the executive gallery and took seats in the front row.

Some Advise About Colds

Take warning from the first sneeze and check a cold before the lungs are affected.

An effective remedy for coughs and colds is made by mixing a half ounce of Virgin Oil of Pine compound pure with two ounces of Glycerine and eight ounces of pure Whiskey. These ingredients can be bought in any first-class drug store and easily mixed together in a large bottle. It is claimed that a teaspoonful of the mixture four times a day will break up a cold in twenty-four hours and cure any cough that is curable. This formula is highly recommended by the Leach Chemical Co., of Cincinnati, in whose laboratories the genuine Virgin Oil of Pine compound pure is prepared.

POLICE BREAK UP THEIR GAME

Belle Rabidou, who has been advertising herself as the largest perfectly-formed woman in the world, was arrested yesterday afternoon on the charge of conducting an exhibition at 110 West Second street without a license. She and her "manager," Lawrence Brosseau, who admitted that he was living as her husband, although they are not married, were each fined $100 and costs or sixty days in the county jail. Although it is said that many dimes have been rolling into their treasury, they were unable to pay the fine yesterday, and were committed to the county jail for sixty days. The evidence showed that the woman appeared in a union suit and demonstrated her perfect dimensions with a tape line.

F. Criss, the broker who executed many of the buying orders in Hocking Coal stock yesterday. There was no early statement by the governors, but the disputed contracts growing out of the Hocking Coal complications were believed to be under consideration.

The suspension of Roberts, Hall & Criss, brokers on the stock exchange was announced. Mr. Criss, the board member of the suspended firm, was the specialist who handled the orders of the Columbus & Hocking Coal & Iron company stock pool on the floor. Criss endeavored yesterday to stay the flood tide of selling orders in the stock, and before the day was over almost collapsed and had to be assisted from the exchange floor.

Liabilities Are $3,000,000.

In announcing the suspension, President Thomas of the stock exchange added that all contracts on Hocking Coal held by members of the exchange with the suspended firm would be sold "under the rules."

The suspended firm, composed of J. Nevins Roberts, Thomas B. Criss, Hugh F. Criss and Walker Hall, has its principal office in Cincinnati. The firm was formed in 1902.

In a statement issued by Mr. Criss the firm acknowledged liabilities of $3,000,000. The amount of the assets is not yet determined.

Says Firm Is Not Involved.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 20.—J. Devine Roberts of Roberts, Hall & Criss, declared that the firm is not involved in the transactions which led to the suspension. According to Mr. Roberts, Hugo F. Criss, acting as an individual broker, had executed orders for a number of 500-share lots of Columbus & Hocking Coal & Iron stock following yesterday's collapse of the pool in that stock.

Roberts asserted that when Criss sent slips showing his executed orders to the houses that were the real purchasers, the deals were repudiated. He said that the subject was then taken before the governors of the exchange by Criss.

AS TO EXPORTING MEAT.

Apparently the chief point of issue that threatens to cause a trade war between Germany and the United States is Germany's insistence upon certain regulations regarded as hostile to the importation of American meats.

Why should this country be so interested in exporting meat as to get into a trade war about it, risking vast harm to many other industries and to all the people?

Does this country raise too much meat for domestic use? On the contrary present prodigious prices charged the consumer for meat are explained by statements proving the scarcity of meat. The prices themselves form prima facie evidence that this country is not raising enough meat to feed its people.

If this country were producing more meat than its people needed; if meat were going to waste because everybody had all he could eat of it, and prices were so low because of the surplus that there was no profit for stock-raiser, packer or retailer, then there would be good reason for getting anxious about foreign markets for our meat.

But when meat is so high that its cheapest forms are luxuries, when it is so scarce that the meat trust hasn't the slightest difficulty in maintaining an exorbitant level of prices, and when only those with liberal incomes can afford to eat meat when they please, doesn't it seem rather silly to go into a trade war to force some other country to buy meat of us?

What would be thought of a butcher who sold meat when members of his family were starving for meat? What would be thought of him, under those circumstances, if he not only sold meat, but went to extraordinary lengths to force his meat on those who did not want it?

Eugene Wood, in one of his characteristic sketches in Everybody's magazine, tells the old story of the foreign-born servant who was having her mistress write a letter home for her, and at the close instructed her to add: "And they give me meat once a week."

"Why, Ellen," exclaimed the mistress, shocked, "you know that you have meat three times a day if you wish it! Why tell them that you get it once a week?"

"Bless you," responded Ellen, "they would think I was lying if I told the truth about it: you see they get meat so seldom themselves."

"That's a pretty good story, isn't it?" continues Eugene Wood. "Well, you'd better tell it as soon as you can; it won't be funny in this country much longer."

And that's the bitter truth. Meat prices mount so rapidly, and maintain so tenaciously each height thus gained, that it won't be long in this country before a vast majority of the population will be utterly unable to see the point in that story. Indeed, it is decidedly unpleasant to think about how many people there are in this country today who are unable to see the point of it because to them meat has become a luxury that is steadily growing out of their reach.

And yet we are so anxious to sell meat to other countries that our government is thinking of embarking upon a deadly and expensive trade war to make those other countries take our meat!

MEDICAL INSPECTION IN SCHOOLS.

The Duluth board of education is to be congratulated on its decision to make a start toward a complete and permanent system of medical inspection of the pupils in the public schools. The Herald has advocated this plan for years, and it believes, with Wilson G. Crosby of the board, who was quoted in The Herald last evening, that "if we once have medical inspection in the schools, we will never give it up and we will wonder why we never had it before."

No further argument is needed than the results of the experimental examinations made of the pupils of five principal schools. Forty out of every hundred pupils—two in every five—required special mention by the examining physicians. Half of these had trifling ailments, annoying and perhaps communicable, but not directly affecting the public health. Twenty per cent of the pupils, or one in five, had some diseased condition, more or less serious, requiring definite attention. In one school more than 5 per cent suffered from defective sight, and though the other schools showed an average of only half as much, school medical inspection would be worth while if it did nothing but detect cases of defective vision. Countless cases of mental sluggishness, nervousness, and other ills affecting efficiency are due to defects in sight that can be detected only by expert examination. Correction of the defect by proper glasses or otherwise often works remarkable revolutions in health, mentality and character.

There are, in short, a mischievous horde of minor ailments, not acute enought to attract the attention of parents, which handicap children, render their lives miserable and inefficient and threaten lifelong disability, which are not likely to be detected except by such a system as that which the board of education has adopted for five schools, and which it rightly proposes to extend to all the schools as soon as it is practicable.

If the parents co-operate properly, and the conditions found by the examining physicians are followed up carefully, great good to the community will follow. The average efficiency of the pupils in the public schools will be greatly increased, and it follows that in years to come correspondingly greater efficiency in citizenship will result.

THE BAND CONCERT AMENDMENT.

Elsewhere in The Herald tonight T. W. Hugo of the city charter commission explains charter amendment No. 4, and urges its adoption. This amendment is the one that authorizes the city park board to spend public money to provide popular band concerts in the parks. Every voter should read Mr. Hugo's article, and should go to the polls Feb. 1 and vote "yes" on this amendment.

There can't be much question about the desirability of furnishing the people with good music in this manner. Last summer The Herald conducted a series of band concerts, given by the Third Regiment band in the various city parks. The Herald never did anything that gave it more satisfaction than this. It was so plain that the people enjoyed the concerts, and that it did them great good to get out into the parks and enjoy them and listen to good music by a good band, that The Herald was rewarded many times over for the expense of the concerts.

The public concerts are good for the city and its people, and they should have them. They should be furnished by the city, just as the city furnishes parks. The argument that band concerts are not necessary is a very slim argument. Parks aren't necessary either, in that sense; neither is Duluth's splendid boulevard drive: but as Mr. Hugo says, woe be unto the man who would attempt to take away either boulevard or parks. It ought not to be necessary to argue that people need music as much as they need food, if they are to be something more than mere members of the animal kingdom. Some time music will be considered as great a public necessity as bread and butter and paved streets.

There are few cities that do not provide public band concerts. Even the smaller communities have their own amateur bands which give concerts on the streets, if there are no parks.

Private enterprise cannot be depended upon regularly to provide band concerts; the city must do it out of public funds. The expenditure of public money for band concerts is placed under the park board by the proposed amendment because that board has charge of the parks. The only objection that has been made to it comes from the fear that the expense will encroach upon the too slender park fund. That fear is unfounded. The expense will not be great in any event, and the money will have to be provided for by the city conference committee and the city council when they make up each year's budgets. The park board will spend it, but none of it will come out of the regular park fund. If that fund is increased to provide for the concerts, it will be definitely understood, and the board will use the additional money for that purpose only.

Those who enjoyed last summer's band concerts—and few there are who didn't—should make it a point to register and vote at the coming election, and to vote in the affirmative on the band concert amendment. Remember that on this amendment, as on all the rest, a failure to vote counts the same as a vote against it. Amendments must be approved by three-fifths of those voting at the election, not a mere majority of those who vote on the amendments. If 5,000 men vote, each amendment must have 3,000 votes, no matter how many negative votes there are. If there were 2,999 affirmative votes and no negatives at all, the amendment would fail of adoption.

THE STATE MUST ACT.

State Immigration Commissioner George Welsh says that there are 20,000,000 fertile acres in Northern Minnesota, a quarter of which belongs to the state and federal governments, and the remainder to individuals and corporations. This land is admirably adapted, he adds, to dairying, poultry raising, vegetables and all kinds of small crops. He wonders that there is not a general movement to these lands where great rewards await the farmer.

The Minneapolis Journal, commenting upon these statements, says: "It is time the state adopted an enlightened and forward policy in this matter. Under its leadership the private owners and corporations could be induced to join in the movement and something would be accomplished."

The newspapers of Northern Minnesota, including The Herald, have been urging such action for years. Initiative and direction on the part of the state is absolutely necessary. State lands, paying no taxes and contributing nothing toward local improvements, lie like shackles over the land, forbidding development. Individuals and corporations, from the most brutally selfish business viewpoint, would gladly help development if the state would make it possible. As The Herald has stated, if an absentee landlord, living in New Jersey, adopted the attitude toward Northern Minnesota that the state government has maintained, that landlord would be execrated from one end of the state to the other.

ONE WAY TO GET AT IT.

Ten thousand workers in Cleveland, representing 50,000 consumers, recently turned vegetarians. It wasn't because of any conscientious notions about the wickedness of killing animals for food. It wasn't from any scientific convictions about the perils of proteids. It was simply that meat prices have become so high that workers can no longer feed their families meat except as an occasional luxury, and the enterprise was an experiment with the law of supply and demand. These experimenters didn't know but maybe if they quit eating meat, prices would go down so they could afford to take it up again.

As a Cleveland dispatch elsewhere in The Herald tonight states, the result of this movement was that the Cleveland butchers have begun cutting the prices of meats. How much the cuts amount to, and whether they bring the cost of meat down within reach of the average wage, the dispatch does not state; but it seems evident, from this relation, that the meat boycott is having its expected effect.

The trouble with a local movement of this sort is that it hits the retailers, and leaves the real culprit, the meat trust, unharmed. The only thing that would reach the meat trust would be a country-wide boycott against meat; and that would also hit the retailers, who are neighbors and friends who are, as a rule, undeserving of punishment. However, this Cleveland experiment points one way of getting at the appalling cost of meat. The meat trust has repealed the law of supply and demand so far as meat prices are concerned; maybe a widespread meat boycott would revive it, with a consequent reduction in meat prices.

THE OPEN COURT.

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about live topics of general interest. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

J. ADAM AND OUR GRANDPARENTS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

It is some time since you have heard from me. We are not snowed in, out here at Lakeside, but in these long winter evenings when we get our feet in front of the fire, a pipe well loaded and drawing well, and a good book propped up where the light strikes it right, there does not seem to be much wrong with the world, and as long as that is the case, why write letters to The Herald? I was not interested in the "Open Market" question directly, for I have an open market right here at home—several lusty young Americans—who can consume all I can raise in my back yard garden. But in looking over The Herald last night I read something that "got my Angora," as your slangy sporting editor would say. One of your reporters quotes our old friend J. Adam as saying that the talk about high living amuses him, and that we could live just as well as our grandfathers did for the same money. Now who in H——, pardon me, Woodland—wants to live as well as his grandfather did? I don't. I wouldn't get up in the morning, and crack the ice in the water bucket to get a wash, or monkey with tallow candles, or wear red flannel underwear as long as I had a dollar in my pocket, or could borrow one.

What are 100 years of progress worth, if we can't live better than our grandfathers did, and better than our fathers did? One of the officials down at Washington the other day, said the American workman lives better than Queen Elizabeth did. What twaddle! There is just enough semblance of truth in it to make a most vicious lie. The American workman may have a better system of heating his home than Queen Elizabeth did, and get better results, but it is not because he spends more for it. Let him try to heat his home with great logs in a fireplace as Lizzie probably did hers, and see how quickly he will go through bankruptcy.

And why shouldn't the American workman live better than Queen Elizabeth did? Why shouldn't the American workman have every modern comfort and convenience in his home? This country is enormously more wealthy than England was in Queen Elizabeth's time. The only trouble with us is we have not solved the problem of the distribution of wealth, as we have the problem of production. Such talk as J. Adam's is calculated to make the workman more content with his lot. Nobody should be content—that is, not until he gets a home at Lakeside paid for, and a wife and family—and then not too blamed content. Progress never grew out of contentment, and the only way the American workman will get what is coming to him, will be by kicking, everlastingly, and not listening to the honeyed phrases of the men who tell him he is better off than Queen Elizabeth. When the American workman dives as well as Senator Aldrich, then it is time for him to quit. There's my sentiments, and I'm not running for office either.

THE SHIP SUBSIDY BILL.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Pickney said "Not a penny to contribute, but millions for defense."

The ship subsidy, which is now of such importance, and a measure being considered by congress, looks very much like we (as a nation) will be contributing public money to have boats fly the American flag, if that measure becomes a law.

When the Bates treaty was in existence and in force between this country and the sultan of the Jolo archipelago the agreement had been made with the sultan to fly our flag (for a money consideration, a bribe, if you please)—

"The flag that waves o'er the grandest of nations
The ensign of freedom through all our possessions"

over his realm which included the harem and a large number of slaves. Did that treaty have the effect of making a good, loyal, patriotic, liberty-loving American out of that exalted, egotistical personage? Or did it not? We lost a large number of men trying to subdue him and his after that treaty.

How will a ship subsidy bill help our navy? What boat will it help? How can a boat be benefited by paying it money? What good will a boat be (carrying for revenue only) the Stars and Stripes for us, unless her owners are patriotic citizens? What value are citizens for their boats if dollars can sway their patriotism enough to have them raise a foreign flag, probably one stained with all the curses caused by over-bearing kings or heartless emperors? What will become of those principles of Americanism if patriotism can be swayed by money?

And those ship subsidy advocates call up "patriotism" and "honor of the flag" in order to have that bill passed. What right have they to call upon either when the ship owners (their peers) would sell the "honor of the flag" and "patriotism" for a few paltry dollars?

I believe Pickney's motto would aptly apply to the ship subsidy, which some members of congress would create by the pasage of an appropriate bill. We have a navy to defend our commerce, but I do not believe that we should waste revenue to create something to defend. A. G. CATLIN.

THE WEATHER.

The weather-maker up at Medicine Hat has been working for a few days and he is ready to blow his freezing breath on the lake region. Tonight will be cold, the weather man says, but Duluth has had an unusually long spell of beautiful winter weather. The snow this morning was welcome and there will probably be more of it in the next few days.

A year ago today, Duluth was having a real January thaw, with rain threatened.

The sun rose this morning at 7:46 and it will set at 4:55, giving nine hours and seven minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"The Saskatchewan disturbance has moved its center to Eastern Minnesota and Western Wisconsin attended by snow in Northern Minnesota and much warmer weather in the lake region and the Mississippi valley. This depression also caused rain in Lower Mississippi valley states during the past twenty-four hours. An area of high pressure of marked intensity has advanced from California to Idaho and Northwestern Wyoming and has caused decidedly colder weather throughout the Northwest. Zero temperatures prevail in the Northern portions of Alberta and Saskatchewan. The further Easterly movement of this high pressure will be attended by much lower temperature in St. Louis and Douglas counties tonight, probably reaching slightly above zero by Friday morning.

Following are the maximum temperatures for the past twenty-four hours and the minimum for the past twelve, ending at 7 a. m.:

The Mother-Woman.

She never sees a baby that she doesn't want to kiss,
She never sees a little tot of three
That she cannot make a fuss of, that she cannot fairly love,
That she doesn't want to take upon her knee.
Are they dirty-faced or grimy, it is all the same to her,
They are babies and she loves them one and all;
And her time is ne'er so precious that she cannot stop to play
With the little ones who happen in to call.

O, her arms are ever reaching for some tiny little mite,
And her eyes are ever looking for a child;
And her heart is ever open to the little ones she meets,
She has never seen a baby but she smiled.
I have watched her love the saddest and the puniest of babies,
I have seen her make it gurgle with delight.
And I long ago concluded they are all alike to her,
That no little one is ugly in her sight.

She's the little mother-woman! you may meet her everywhere
Pausing here and there to kiss some little tot;
Taking babies to her bosom in the way that mothers know,
She's the tender little woman God forgot.
And I sometimes sit and wonder, although impious it be,
If in heaven all things of earth are really known,
If her love for little children God above can really see,
Why should he deny her children of her own?

A Hard Luck Story.

Chicago Tribune: The Emporia Gazette reprints a hard luck story from a Great Bend paper. We have seen a number of hard luck st ies of late. And they all seem trivial and futile compared with the hard luck story of Ole Olson, first given to the world by W. A. Washburne, a gentleman of exceptional veracity. Olson was a lumberjack. Every spring he would come into Duluth with his winter wages, get drunk, and wake up without a cent. A bright idea occurred to him. Before starting on his annual spree he bought a meal ticket—the kind that the cashier punches as you leave the restaurant—and stowed this away in his mackinaw. The next morning he awoke, as usual, without a cent; his $146 had gone, but he had the game beaten; there was his meal ticket, with twenty-one meals on it. He felt for the ticket; it was there. But in going downstairs he dropped the precious pasteboard, and before he could prevent the horrible disaster he stepped on the ticket with his spiked shoes and punched out every meal on it!

Pointed Paragraphs.

Chicago News: Even a truth-loving detective gets a shadowy reputation.

He's a poor lawyer who mistakes the will for the deed.

And when a cigar is called a "weed" the reason is obvious.

Any community can endure a coward who is afraid to do wrong.

Many a man with a will of his own has a codicil added to it by his wife.

A clever woman always tells a fat man that he looks much thinner than he did.

Some people are too honest to take advice they haven't paid for, and others are too wise.

As the bride and what she married leaves the church, trouble gets busy and follows them home.

When a woman is proud of her husband's ancestors, it's a safe bet that she isn't proud of him.

If your boss is not satisfactory, just mention the fact to him and perhaps he will permit you to resign.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Taken From the Columns of The Herald of This Date, 1890.

Swan Carlson and Miss Ida M. Johnson were married on the evening of Jan. 16 by Rev. C. J. Colin at the West end. There were about 100 invited guests present. They will reside in the home on Eighteenth avenue recently furnished by Mr. Colin.

Horace V. Winchell of Minneapolis, well known in Duluth on account of his connection with the geological survey, was married in Ann Arbor a few days ago to his cousin, Miss Ida B. Winchell.

A new musical organization will be formed shortly under the leadership of Frank Hoare, for the purpose of giving of some of the light operas.

A. B. Plough, general passenger agent of the St. Paul & Duluth, has been appointed to the position made vacant by the death of General Manager E. L. Dudley. Mr. Plough has been with the St. Paul & Duluth road for nearly two years. Mr. Gilfillan, special passenger agent, is spoken of strongly for general passenger agent.

There was very little excitement at the election in West Duluth to decide on the question of paying for the village hall. There were 157 votes cast, of which 131 were "for building."

Some time next week a train of cars manufactured by the Minnesota Iron Car company of this city and loaded with flour from the Imperial mill will put out of Duluth, bound for Boston, via the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic road. On every car will be banners, flags and streamers, across whose surface the magic name of "Duluth" will be printed. Across the sides of the cars will be placed hangers, bearing statistics relating to Duluth.

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

Jake "Pestigating" Again.

Hibbing Mesaba Ore: "Hell Roaring" Jake, the blue-ribbon Republican who was brought out to beat Governor Johnson last fall, is pestigatin' 'round again, and if given another chance he will lead the party down to another defeat; worse than that of last fall it will be, too.

An Unfaithful Insurgent.

Roseau Times: It looks like a Democratic congressman from the Ninth, if Steenerson cannot keep in touch with the sentiment of his constituents.

Keep Your Eyes on Stanton.

Fairmont Sentinel: The newspapers, regardless of party, are saying some very handsome things of Judge C. W. Stanton in connection with the mention of his name as a Democratic candidate for governor. Judge Stanton is a gentleman, a scholar, an able lawyer and an accomplished and persuasive orator. The Democratic party has so much good material for positions of honor and trust it will be a difficult matter to choose in filling offices like governor, United States senator, congressmen, etc. But Judge Stanton is surely big enough for any of the positions within the gift of the people of Minnesota. Keep your eye on his star!

It "Touches" All, Every Day.

Roseau Region: President Taft says the tariff must not be touched. It touches us all, but it seems we must stand with our hands in the air while we are being "touched."

Party Name Is No Safeguard.

Le Sueur News: W. J. Bryan says the Democrats should elect a majority of the next congress. What benefit would follow such a strange act, Mr. Bryan? The only Democrats in congress who are any assistance to the people are the insurgents, and they are the same thing whether Republican or Democrat. No, Mr. Bryan, let us elect men who will be servants of the people and not hirelings of the trusts and monopolies. The word Democrat is no more of a safeguard than the word Republican.

Dunn Still? Hadn't Noticed It.

Onamia Lake Breeze: Eberhart keeps on talking and Dunn keeps on keeping still. In spite of rumors that Dunn has pulled out, the Princeton man is sitting back watching things. Brower has no intention of absenting himself in foreign parts until after the convention, either. Those who claim to know say that William E. Lee has withdrawn and will remain in private life. If Eberhart is nominated, he will have the fight of a lifetime to beat the man put forward by Frank Day.

Must Purge the Nation.

Appleton Press: Special privilege usually monopolizes that essential good which it can not completely control. In little England it is the land which is held from its proper use by the millions who, not having had the wisdom and foresight to be born with blue blood in their veins, are compelled to huddle in the cities or to emigrate to foreign shores. In America, thus far, our land areas have been too vast to be successfully centralized, so special privilege has turned its attention to our forest and mineral resources and to our industries. The tariff in America is as much an inherited and unjust privilege as the land monopoly in England. We must purge this nation of the protective tariff and all unjust subsidies, or we must bid farewell to a free government.

Country Before Party.

Cannon Falls Beacon (Rep.): The Beacon stands for a free country, for a free people. It seems to us this is a better thing to stand for than a political party that has fallen into the clutches of combined greed. Not but what we believe parties to be necessary, and party allegiance and party solidarity a needful thing, but we do not think it either patriotic or good sense to support a party that is simply a machine for making effective the wishes of those who dream of a despotism of money. There is a point where party loyalty ceases to be a virtue and it becomes a duty to speak the plain, unvarnished truth.

Seeing Red.

Chicago Daily Socialist: It is characteristic of those who are separated from the actual working class movement to begin to look for a bloody revolution as soon as they see the evils of present society. One of the latest to be affected with this nightmare is Dr. J. W. Stagg, president of the Alabama Presbyterian college. He sees a great bread revolution about to break out in this country on the pattern of the French cataclysm of the eighteenth century.

This is natural. The capitalist class holds to the doctrine of individual responsibility of great men, of artificial catastrophes and sudden upheavals.

Such a viewpoint takes no account of the forces that are really working for revolution. It is blind to the constantly growing intelligence and increasing solidarity of labor. It forgets that the coming revolution will be the first in the world to be carried out in the interest of a majority of the population, and that when once the workers realize the necessity of revolution there will be no need for violence.

If the coming years see the world deluged in blood over the bread question it will be because the working class has been kept in ignorance of its true interests or else because the capitalist class has precipitated a revolt to prevent a peaceable change.

The Socialist party is working to avoid both of these alternatives. It seeks to educate labor to the necessity of using the ballot and the union to build up an intelligent force so powerful that resistance on the part of the few exploiters will be hopeless.

If I Should Die Tonight.

If I should die tonight
And you should come to my cold corpse, and say,
Weeping and heartsick o'er my lifeless clay—
If I should die tonight
And you should come in deepest grief and woe
And say, "Here's that ten dollars that I owe,"
I might arise in my great white cravat
And say, "What's that?"

If I should die tonight
And you should come to my cold corpse and kneel,
Clasping my bier to show the grief you feel—
I say, if I should die tonight
And you should come to me and there and then
Just even hint 'bout paying me that ten,
I might arise the while,—but I'd drop dead again.

—Ben King.

A MOMENT WITH THE WITS.

Catholic Standard and Times: Knox—I saw Nuritch looking at one of your paintings the other day.

D'Auber—Ah! I'm afraid of that. He intimated to me that he might have something for me to do.

Knox—Yes, while he was looking at it he told me he had intended to let you paint his back fence, but he didn't think he would now.

Judge: "Did you take your shoes to that place with the sign, 'Shoes repaired while you wait?'"

"Yes. They repaired six while I was waiting and told me to call in three days for mine."

New York Sun: Minerva had just sprang from the brow of Jove. "I always had a good head for figures," he cried. Herewith he eyed the classic outlines approvingly.

Tit-Bits: A minister, having walked through a village churchyard and observed the indiscriminate praises bestowed upon the dead, wrote upon the gate post the following: "Here lie the dead, and here the living lie."

The Delineator: A school teacher in one of the lower grades once asked her room: "What is wind?" After a thoughtful pause, a small hand was raised.

"Well, Robert, what is your answer?"

"Why-er, wind is the air when it gets in a hurry," answered Robert.

Chicago Tribune: Mr. Tucker (having served the others)—Well, Tommy, what part of the chicken will you have?

Tommy—Why, paw, you know I always take the back when there's company.

Catholic Standard and Times: Joakley—You're right; most people worry over what they haven't got, but I know certain people who worry because of what they have.

Coakley—That so? What have they?

Joakley—Nothing.

Boston Transcript: Mrs Youngwife—I'd like a hat for my husband, please.

Clerk—what size, madam?

Mrs. Y.—Dear me, I've forgotten the size, but he wears a 15 collar, so he would take a 20 or 22 hat, wouldn't he?

Chicago Record Herald: "I thought," said the inspector, "you reported that this building was provided with a fire escape?"

"It is. There's a room on the nineteenth floor that is used by a very devout little band of people as a church."

New York Sun: Alice in Wonderland boasted she could believe six impossible things before breakfast.

"Six cooks answered your advertisement for help," we remarked. Herewith her credulity plainly weakened.

Washington Star: "You insist on laughing at my new hat," said Mrs. Comrox, severely.

"Yes," answered her husband. "I can't get away from the idea that it is a joke."

"A joke? On whom?"

"Well, when you wear it the joke's on you and when I pay for it it's on me."

Reflections of a Bachelor.

New York Press: Wisdom is knowing you haven't got it.

People get married first and try to find out why afterward.

Money in most people's pockets frets them more than having debt.

What a woman hates about being dressed is her legs won't chap is suppose anybody should guess.

A man will fuss around all day hunting for an old pipe, and then when his wife finds it for him decide he doesn't want to smoke because he forgot he couldn't make it draw well.

But He Got the Pin.

Brodhead, Wis., Independent: A man who believes in the old saying, "See a pin and pick it up; all day you will have good luck," saw a pin lying on the street. Bending down to get it, his hat fell off and rolled into the gutter, his eyeglasses fell off and broke on the pavement, his suspenders gave way behind, he burst the buttonhole on the back of his shirt collar, and he all but lost his false teeth—but he got the pin.

More Important.

New York Times: The eagle-eyed Mrs. Gaddem sat in her front window, as usual, ogling the door of one of her opposite neighbors. Presently a friend burst in upon her vigil.

"Mrs. Gaddem," cried she, "did you hear what happened?"

"No," replied the watcher, without removing her eyes from the opposite way. "What happened?"

"Why a few moments since Mrs. Crowley's house on the next street caught fire, and Mrs. Crowley barely escaped with her life! I'm surprised that you, of all others, weren't over there!"

"I've something more important on hand."

"What is it?"

"The woman that moved in the opposite house this morning has just gone out with a pail, and I think it was for beer!"

Disillusionment.

Puck: It's all very well to say that we should see America first, but does a fellow really see America until he has been through the custom house? Lacking that strenuous experience, does he get the scales rightly struck from his eyes?

The common notion used to be that nothing so informed a man as going abroad. And if you count coming home as a part of the going abroad, there's something in it still.

YOUR LAME BACK WILL FEEL FINE

Out-of-Order Kidneys Are Regulated and Bladder Misery Ends.

A real surprise awaits every sufferer from kidney or bladder trouble who takes several doses of Pape's Diuretic. Misery in the back, sides or loins, sick headache, nervousness, rheumatism pains, heart palpitations, dizziness, sleeplessness, inflamed or swollen eyelids, lack of energy and all symptoms of out-of-order kidneys simply vanish.

Uncontrollable urination (especially at night), smarting, offensive and discolored water and other bladder misery ends.

The moment you suspect kidney or urinary disorder, or feel any rheumatism, begin taking this harmless medicine, with the knowledge that there is no other remedy, at any price, made anywhere else in the world, which will effect so thorough and prompt a cure as a fifty-cent treatment of Pape's Diuretic, which any druggist can supply.

It is needless to feel miserable and worried, because this unusual preparation goes at once to the out-of-order kidneys and urinary system, distributing its cleansing, healing and strengthening influence directly upon the organs and glands affected, and completes the cure before you realize it.

Your physician, pharmacist, banker or any mercantile agency will tell you that Pape, Thompson & Pape of Cincinnati is a large and responsible medicine concern, thoroughly worthy of your confidence.

Accept only Pape's Diuretic—fifty-cent treatment—any drug store—anywhere in the world.

RURAL LINES TO BE BUILT

Pine River Rural Telephone Company Planning on Extensive Work.

Lines Aggregating About 100 Miles to Be Constructed Next Summer.

Pine River, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The stockholders of the Pine River Rural Telephone company have decided to build two new lines next summer, with a third line under consideration.

A new line will be constructed from this village to the Poplar-Hazel Dell country, a distance of about thirty miles. Another line will be built from Emily to Little Pine, about twenty miles. The third line is also under consideration, if built, will connect Swanburg to Longville, thence to Remer on the new branch of the Soo. Work will commence just as soon as the weather will permit.

Last year the company in its initial effort besides constructing the local exchange, built forty miles of country line connecting Swanburg, Emily and Outing with the local exchange. The two new lines to be built will comprise about fifty-five miles of new wire, and if the third line is built the new lines will aggregate over 100 miles.

Officers were elected for the ensuing year as follows: W. A. Curo, president; H. H. Hill, vice president; Charles W. La Du, secretary, and James E. Gearey, treasurer. The four officers mentioned with F. L. Hill were elected as directors.

FEW FULL BLOODS LEFT ON RESERVE

Denizens of White Earth Reservation Want Restrictions Wiped Out.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 20.—Indians on the White Earth reservation will petition congress to remove every restriction against the sale of the lands and ask that reservation walls be obliterated. The petition will be carried to Washington by John W. Carl, a mixed-blood Indian, center on the Minnesota football team of 1899, formerly auditor of Mahnomen county and now a farmer. Carl's petition declares there are not more than fifty full-blood Indians on the reservation.

Should the movement be successful, all the White Earth reservation lands will be thrown on the market and the recent government report of Carl and chicanery will be set aside, hundreds of titles disposed of by Indians to outsiders will be cleared and the Indian will be left to work out his own salvation.

Charges are made not only against the recent government investigation, but against the Indian methods of the government in general. Carl of the Hotel Nicollet, said the result of the investigation had been so to fog the monetary situation that the mixed-blood Indian who now wishes to dispose of his land cannot get more than a quarter of its value.

BURIED AT BEMIDJI.

Henry Becker, Pioneer of Liberty Township Borne to Grave.

Bemidji, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The body of Henry Becker, a pioneer resident of Liberty township, was buried in Greenwood cemetery Tuesday afternoon, the funeral being attended by a large number of relatives and friends.

Henry Becker died in the University hospital at Minneapolis Friday, having been taken to Minneapolis the day previous. He had been ailing for the past three years and had failed rapidly during the last two months.

The body was brought to Bemidji Sunday and taken to the home of the deceased on the shore of Campbell lake, where funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon, Rev. Theodore Buenger of Cass Lake officiating, and the body being brought to Bemidji for burial.

Henry Becker was the first resident to make his home in Liberty township, some fifteen years ago. He has always been prominently identified with the affairs of his township and has always been a member of the town board of supervisors.

Deceased was about 40 years of age. He was single and his parents made their home with him at his farm residence at Campbell lake.

OUT OF THE GLOOM.

Many a Gloomy Countenance in Duluth Now Lightens With Happiness.

A bad back makes you gloomy.

Can't be happy with continual backache.

The aches and pains of a bad back

Are mostly due to sick kidneys.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys.

They have made many a happy home in Duluth.

Read what a grateful citizen says:

J. Vaughan, 5333 London Road, Lakeside, Duluth, Minn., says: "Some years ago I told in a public statement of the great benefit I had received from Doan's Kidney Pills. Kidney trouble had kept me in misery for a long time and I had dull, heavy pains through my loins that made me very restless at night. The kidney secretions passed irregularly and contained a sediment, resembling brick dust. Doan's Kidney Pills helped me at once and it was not long before I was entirely relieved. At this time I am glad to say that my cure has proven to be a permanent one."

NORTH DAKOTA U ATHLETES ELECT

ALBERT WOLD.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Albert Wold was this week elected president of the North Dakota University Athletic association. The contest between Wold and Fred Filteau was an interesting one, Wold winning by a handsome majority. The new president has long been prominent in debating and oratory at the university, being one of the team that has been chosen to debate against Hamline university this year.

WOULD CHANGE TAXING METHOD

First Annual Meeting of North Dakota Tax Association Next Month.

Pembina, N. D., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The program for the first annual meeting of the North Dakota Tax association, to be held here Jan. 28 and 29, has been announced by Secretary W. W. Felson, auditor of Pembina county.

The league has for its object the creation of sentiment favorable to changes in the state's taxation method and the meeting is expected to result in the bringing forth of several new ideas on the subject.

The program follows:

Friday, Jan. 28—Morning, call to order; address of welcome, B. G. Skulason; "Some Aspects of State and Federal Taxation," Dean A. A. Bruce, Grand Forks; afternoon, "The Work of the State Board of Equalization," D. K. Brightbill, state auditor; "The Sticking Point in Taxation," President F. L. McVey, North Dakota university, formerly president of the Minnesota tax commission; "Separation of Sources of State and Local Revenue," S. Johnson, state librarian; discussion, Don McDonald, Grand Forks; "Taxation of Mortgages," H. A. Bronson, Grand Forks.

Saturday, Jan. 29—Morning, "Life Insurance Taxation," W. J. Graham, Minneapolis; discussion by Dr. M. Jacobstein, North Dakota university; afternoon, "Assessment of Farm Lands and City Lots Compared," A. G. Lewis, Fargo; "Shall We Amend Our State Constitution?" R. A. Nestos, Minot, and A. W. Fowler, Fargo; discussion by S. Miller, Grand Forks; papers by Robert Lyn Cox, New York city, and Hon. Nels P. Haugen, member of Wisconsin state tax commission.

PATTON VICE PRESIDENT.

Duluthian Is Elected Officer of Masonic Veterans' Association.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 20.—The eighteenth annual meeting of the Minnesota Masonic Veterans' association came to a close at a banquet and informal musical and literary program last evening in the Masonic temple, with about 300 in attendance.

In the course of the evening thirty-four active and two honorary members were admitted. The organization now has 563 members. Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, Dr. T. C. Clark of Stillwater, for the seventh consecutive time; first vice president, William Pitt Murray, St. Paul; second vice president, W. B. Patton, Duluth; secretary, Giles W. Merrill, St. Paul; treasurer, I. D. B. Sprague, St. Paul; historian, A. P. Swanstrom, St. Paul; marshal, George Markert.

The grand lodge of the Masonic order of Minnesota deferred its annual session last evening and the delegates joined with the veterans. The grand lodge will close its business today with election of officers.

BUTTER MAKING RECORD.

La Moure, N. D., Creamery Claims to Be Entitled to Palm.

La Moure, N. D., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The La Moure creamery, a co-operative concern, claims to hold the North Dakota butter making record. At the annual meeting held here this week reports were filed showing that during the past year a total of 511,459 pounds of butter fat had been received and that 1,60,320 pounds of butter had been manufactured. Also, it was shown that the institution had distributed $42,295.85 among its patrons.

RED RIVER VALLEY LOST ONE OF ITS PIONEERS.

Ardoch, N. D., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—When the remains of Mrs. Sarah Hutten were buried here yesterday, one of the best-known pioneers of the Red River valley was laid away. Mrs. Hutton, accompanied by her husband, arrived in Turtle River, Grand Forks county, in 1879, and they made their home there. In the early days their home was used as the church, the first religious services in that part of the Red River valley being held at their residence.

Smallpox Near Grand Marais.

Grand Marais, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald by United Wireless.)—A severe case of smallpox has been discovered in the vicinity of Grand Marais. The patient has been quarantined and every effort is being made by the authorities to stop the spread of the disease in the village. Residents are very anxious to prevent the spread of the disease as at this time of the year there are a great many transients.

NEW COMMONS BUILDING.

North Dakota University Regents Let Contract for Structure.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a meeting of the board of regents of the North Dakota university, Feb. 15, the contract for the construction of the commons building at the university will be let. This building will be the most up-to-date structure of its kind in the state, housing the boarding department of the university. It is of the Jacobean style of architecture, 120 by 112 feet, three stories high. An appropriation of $40,000 by the state legislative assembly pays for the building.

DESPERATE OVER LAWSUIT.

Assistant Cashier of Northwestern Road Threatens to Take Life.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 20.—Otto W. Hagedorn, 26 years old, assistant cashier in the Chicago & Northwestern railway freight office, disappeared Monday morning, leaving a note for his wife, which he sent through the mail, declaring his intention to drown himself in the river "because of a lawsuit." The river was dragged north of his home by the police on Tuesday, as he said he would "walk north and jump in at a suitable place." His body was not found.

The explanation for his disappearance given in the letter is doubted by the Chicago & Northwestern freight agent, J. M. Callahan. Mr. Callahan said he did not believe Hagedorn would be so acutely affected by a small lawsuit as to destroy himself. He could not offer a solution of the mystery, however. Hagedorn's office accounts, he said, had been inspected and were found to be in good shape.

PARIS GREEN AND RAZOR

Accomplish the End of a Suicide Near Ashland, Wis.

Ashland, Wis., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald)—Frank Burke, who killed himself at Highbridge, was buried from the farmhouse where he committed the deed.

He was about 55 years of age and so far as is known has no relatives, at least none have been found by Coroner Soille, who has had the case in charge. Burke was working for a farmer by the name of Deere, near Highbridge. It appears that he took a dose of paris green Sunday night, but although he was sick all night he did not succeed in killing himself by this means. He then rose early Sunday morning and completed the job with a razor, making three gashes before he severed his windpipe. He lived for about an hour after he was discovered by the farmer's family.

SWITCHMAN KILLED.

Loses His Life in Great Northern Yards at Melrose.

St. Cloud, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Valentine S. Gentner, a switchman in the employ of the Great Northern, was struck by an engine early Tuesday morning and instantly killed, while performing his duties in the Melrose yards. Deputy Coroner August Kuhlman of Melrose and County Attorney J. B. Hilmsl conducted an inquest.

Gentner was switching in the yards and, presumably misjudging the distance of an approaching engine, stepped directly in front of the big machine. He was struck squarely on his head and chest, death being instantaneous. Gentner was a single man and had made his home in Melrose for some time.

THRASHING IN JANUARY.

Belated Farmers Around Grygla Are Finally Getting Busy.

Crookston, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The sale of a thrashing machine the middle of January is rather an unusual thing in this section of the country, in fact the sale of one was never before recorded at this season so far as can be learned.

N. P. Stone & Co. sold a machine Tuesday which is to be shipped at once to Grygla, a small place twenty-five miles northeast of Thief River Falls, where the farmers failed to complete their threshing operations last fall and propose to get busy in the thrashing line.

Only once before, old-timers state, and that it was in the fall of 1892, did the farmers get caught in this manner. That fall there was quite a large number who failed to get their shock thrashing done and the damaged wheat was thrashed the following spring.

Of course, near Grygla, the grain is all stacked and will be in just as good shape as though it had been thrashed last fall.

Get Prohibition Done.

Devils Lake, N. D., Jan. 20.—A. B. Larson and James McCormick, held on a charge of violating the prohibition law, petitioned Judge Cowan for a hearing and when arraigned both pleaded guilty. Judge Cowan sentenced each to ninety days in the county jail and a fine of $500, with one day additional in case fine is not paid.

HOUSEHOLD ECONOMY.

How to Save $2 On Cough Medicine by Making it at Home.

Cough medicines, as a rule, are mostly syrup. To make the best syrup, take a pint of Granulated Sugar, add ½ pint warm water, and stir about 2 minutes.

Get two and one-half ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth), put it in a clean pint bottle, and fill up with the Granulated Sugar Syrup. This makes a full pint of unequaled cough syrup, for about 54 cents. Keeps perfectly. You can't buy as much ready-made cough syrup for $2.50.

This home-made remedy is pleasant to take, and usually stops even the most obstinate cough in twenty-four hours. It is splendid, also, for colds, whooping cough, bronchial ailments, etc. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

The Sugar Syrup is an excellent sedative. The Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway White Pine Extract, rich in all the healing elements of Norwegian pine. Be sure to use the real Pinex itself. Your druggist has it or can easily get it for you.

Strained honey can be used instead of the syrup, and makes a very fine honey and pine tar cough syrup.

COMET VISIBLE TO NAKED EYE

Prof. Frost of Yerkes Observatory Saw It Before Sunset.

Geneva, Wis., Jan. 20.—Prof. Frost of the Yerkes observatory, reported he saw the new comet just after sunset last night with the naked eye. He said it is to the north of the sun and is yellowish. It is in the constellation Capricornus. It is expected that it will be more easily seen today about ten degrees above the sun, soon after sunset.

EASY FOR FLANNIGAN.

Both Parties Will Agree Upon Him for Vacant Judgeship.

Menominee, Mich., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the February term of the Menominee circuit court, which opens here Feb. 7, it is probable that Richard Flannigan will be the presiding judge, and it is fitting that he should begin his duties in this county, which has been a large factor in shaping his career. The nominations of the Republican and Democratic parties at Marquette next Saturday will result in the unanimous indorsement of Mr. Flannigan. Governor Warner will then appoint him to fill the unexpired term of Judge Stone, who has been elevated to the supreme bench of the state.

GIVES OPTION FOR $10,000 ON FARM.

Aitkin, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fred Haag, who lives on the north side of the new station at Ironhub, has given a second option on his farm for one year at $800 in cash, and if iron is found he is to receive $10,000 for his farm.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Calumet—The Copper Country Building & Loan association has received an additional franchise from the secretary of state, authorizing the company to increase its capitalization from $2,000,000 to $3,000,000. This company was organized in Calumet two years ago on Feb. 1, 1908, and has made remarkable progress since that time.

Hancock—The terms of the four old members of the city council expire this spring, and it is possible that two, at least, will not seek re-election. Those who will either retire or be up for re-election are G. E. Gallen, alderman from First ward; Fred Francis, Second ward; Alfred Congdon, Third ward, and Richard Hosking, Fourth ward.

Houghton—The fixtures for the new Gay & Sturgis office in the Douglass House block have arrived and are being installed. The tile floor has been laid and the work is progressing rapidly.

Calumet—Julius Carlson, aged 32 years, son of Gustaf Carlson, of Laurium, is dead. The decedent was ill only a short time. He was well known in Red Jacket where he resided practically all of his life. Mr. Carlson passed away in the Calumet public hospital.

Houghton—A choir club has been organized by the members of the choir of the Trinity Episcopal church. R. Skiff Sheridan has donated to the club all the paraphernalia for athletic purposes and otherwise.

Hancock—The funeral of Mrs. William Tappe, Sr., was held Tuesday afternoon, services being held at the residence by Rev. De Witz of the German Lutheran church of Laurium. The remains were taken to Maple Hill cemetery for interment.

Calumet—After an illness of several months, Paul Bast, a well-known Laurium young man, passed away at the home of his brother, Edward Bast, on First and Pewabic streets Tuesday. The decedent was 24 years of age, having been born and reared in this city.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Milwaukee.—Louis W. Falk, aged 57 years, retired, well known early day brewer in Milwaukee, died suddenly of apoplexy Tuesday afternoon while out cutter riding. Mr. Falk was the eldest son of the late Franz Falk. He was connected with the Falk, Jung & Borchert brewery conducted in the early years in Milwaukee, which later was merged with the Pabst Brewing company.

Madison—Fruit growers from all over the state met today in Madison for the annual meeting of the Wisconsin State Horticultural society. In the basement of Carnegie library, where the convention is being held, is on exhibition small fruit, especially apples, that comprise the result of intelligent and well directed effort in the matter of fruit growing.

This Week's Sunday School Lesson

WRITTEN FOR THE HERALD BY REV. J. S. KIRTLEY, D. D.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON: JAN. 23. Matt. v., 1-16: True Blessedness.

THE CONNECTION.

These verses are the first part of the Sermon on the Mount. An abridged form of the same teaching is found in Luke vi., 20-49. This sermon deals with the subjects of God's kingdom, their relationships and duties. All were talking about that kingdom and all were thinking and saying wrong things. He will remove their errors by giving them right views. He does this for the benefit of the twelve, who had just been chosen as apostles; for the multitudes now thronging Him, with very disastrous ideas of a splendid temporal kingdom; for the officials who were now dogging His footsteps and perverting the people. This lesson covers only His teaching about the happiness of His subjects and their responsibilities.

THE LESSON

I.

The Occasion, 1, 2.

"And, seeing the multitude, He went up into the mountain; and when He had sat down, His disciples came unto Him and He opened His mouth and taught them."

The place was probably the "Horns of Hattan." Matthew tells of His going into the mountain, omitting what we learn from Luke that He spent the night in prayer on the high point of the mountain, then in the early morning chose His apostles, then descended to a level place where He stood as the crowds gathered. Matthew takes it up at that point, after the general statement that He went into the mountain, and without telling us all that took place while there. Just then He assumed the habitual posture of the teacher, sitting with His followers circled around Him. Who heard Him? Disciples, including the twelve and others only partially attached to Him, together with the excited and expectant multitudes who no doubt stood in hearing distance.

II.

The Condition of Blessedness 3-12.

"Blessed are the poor in spirit: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven.

Blessed are they that mourn: for they shall be comforted.

Blessed are the meek: for they shall inherit the earth.

Blessed are they that hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled.

Blessed are the merciful: for they shall obtain mercy.

Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God.

Blessed are the peacemakers: for they shall be called sons of God.

Blessed are they that have been persecuted for righteousness' sake: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven. Blessed are ye when men shall reproach you, and persecute you, and say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake. Rejoice, and be exceeding glad: for great is your reward in heaven: for so persecuted they the prophets that were before you."

1. Where is the Kingdom of God?

The word "happy" expressed the idea better than "blessed." To be in the kingdom of heaven was to be happy—and they all believed that as well as Jesus. But what made them members of the kingdom and therefore happy?—there is where Jesus startled and stunned them. They located the kingdom without, Jesus within them: they thought happiness was in circumstance rather than character: in position rather than disposition. The kingdom of God is the rulership of God and that is found wherever a soul, like a loyal, loving subject, accepts and works out the will of God as King. The kingdom began to come when men first began to fear and worship and obey God; it came in power when Christ, the first human being in which God's will perfectly worked, came to earth; it has been coming more and more as men, in greater numbers and in a completer way, have been learning and accomplishing the will of God. Some day, God's kingdom shall come to its perfection, and the will of God will be done on earth as it is done in heaven. Here is the only happiness and here it is in perfection.

2. Sense of Need.

The Jews thought riches were a sign of God's favor; Jesus says sense of need is the tap root of all happiness. Sense of need of knowledge is the beginning of education. Sense of need of righteousness is sign of possession of righteousness and the King of righteousness is beginning to reign there. When we are aware of our real lowliness the hour of our happiness has come. The King is with us; we are under His reign. There are no hereditary rights to that kingdom, no "aristocracy of natural virtue."

3. Sorrow For It.

When one is made aware of his need he will have sorrow, and when it is a need of holiness and he is conscious of having wounded God by his sins and wronged his own soul as well, he can not but mourn. This sorrow works repentance and that brings the comfort of God. Mere sorrow as such has no value; even sorrow for sin may not always lead to an abandonment of sin, since sin may exert a new fascination over its victim and pull him back into a closer embrace; but the mourner who looks to the King, finds hope. God has comfort for him, sent by one person of the Godhead whose office is to comfort. The comfort in store is forgiveness and cleansing of sin. It is more happy to be sorrowfully aware of our condition than to be stupidly insensible of it.

4. The Might of Meekness.

But there are other persons constituting the kingdom with us and how are we to bear ourselves toward them? With meekness, which means without self-assertion, without constantly claiming rights and privileges and honors, but with unselfishness, in seeking first the good of others, with patience in enduring misunderstanding, or ill usage and with good will in seeing others get the higher places in the kingdom. Such a person is the happy one, though the Jews thought the one who looked out for himself and got hold of the best positions was the happiest. Though they do not assert their own claims, God will see that they inherit the land. There is something in the earth that only the meek can know or enjoy and they shall have those higher values.

5. Right Aspirations.

Hunger and thirst are figures for strong undivided desire, and he who has the first of these virtues will have imperious aspirations for moral good. There is something in him that prompts the hunger and that something insures its satisfaction. The kingdom of God is "righteousness and peace and joy in the Holy Ghost," and when one is in that kingdom, the kingdom is in him and those attributes of the kingdom are within him. To want to be perfectly righteous in conduct is a mark of holiness already in the heart; when the desire ceases, it means that holiness is dead within—therefore one is happy who has enough within to call for more and he is more happy with the restless desire than with contented satisfaction.

6. Mercy and Blessedness.

One who is in the kingdom is merciful, or he never would have gotten in, for the King is merciful, the extending of His reign in us through the Messiah is an act of mercy, the acceptance of His sway over us is the acceptance of mercy, the spirit in which we enter must be like that of the King—the spirit of mercy. God's mercy first shown to us made us merciful. It is happy in itself to have that spirit; it is happy to win more of the King's mercy.

7. Purity and Vision.

Oriental monarchs can seldom be seeen, but he who has a pure heart can see God even now. The pure have access to the all but inaccessable." Jesus says. It is a single undivided outlook that they have and in that vision God is not dimmed by the film with which sin covers the eye, nor confused with other objects which a double vision sees. To see Him is to be like Him. The Pharisees thought that ceremonies and ablutions that wrought purity of body were enough. The pure in spirit have pure hearts, see Him, know Him, reflect Him to others and grow like Him.

8. Peacemakers.

He who has all the preceding virtues will be at peace with God and with all that is true and good in men—he will keep out of trouble. But more, he will actively and aggressively promote the peace of others, bringing them first into peace with God, then with each other. This is what Christ, the King, did and He was happy in doing it. The disciple is like Christ in doing it, has joy in doing it. Increases the sum of happiness in the world and enjoys that, and like a true son is like his Father in heaven.

9. Persecution and Blessedness.

He who is at peace with God is at war with evil, and will feel its blow of hate. When we are actively promoting good, evil will persecute us. When such persecution is a tribute to our folly or meanness or conceit, it should put us to shame; when it is a tribute to our Christ-likeness, we can rejoice.

III.

Responsibilities, 13-16.

"Ye are the salt of the earth; but, if the salt have lost its savor, wherewith shall it be salted? It is thenceforth good for nothing but to be cast out and trodden under foot of men. Ye are the light of the world. A city set on a hill cannot be hid. Neither do men light a lamp and put it under the bushel, but on the stand, and it shineth unto all that are in the house. Even so let your light shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father who is in heaven."

As "light," the subjects of his kingdom are to reveal men's sins and their Savior to them, guide them in the path to Him and enspirit them in taking that path. As "salt," they are to avert the world's putrifaction and season it with the grace of righteousness.

WHAT THE MASTERS SAY.

Jesus saw the new era in an empire of God over the loving heart and the obedient will. They looked for it outside. He said: "It is within you." They looked for a period of external glory and happiness. He placed the glory and blessedness of the new time in character. So He began his sermon on the mount, that great manifesto of the new era, with a series of "blessseds." But the blessedness was entirely that of character. And it was a character totally different from that which was then looked up to as imparting glory and happiness to its possessor—that of the proud Pharisee, the wealthy Sadducee or the learned scribe.

The new kingdom was only the reflection of His own character, and, thus His commands were best carried out by imitating His life; for He Himself was the perfect illustration of complete fulfillment of its laws. No grudging or partial devotion would suffice. They must heartily conform their inmost being to His image, and shed round them, in their respective spheres the spiritual blessings which beamed brightest from Himself. Thus, calmly, and as His natural right and place, He constitutes Himself the grand ideal of humanity, and men feel that there is no rashness or incongruity in His assumption of the stupendous dignity.

PERTINENT QUESTIONS.

1. Is the pursuit of happiness right?
2. Why is happiness to be found within and not without?
3. Why cannot sin and misfortune destroy one's blessedness?
4. How is Jesus Himself the source of our happiness?
5. What are the passive virtues and what their value?
6. Why is a Christian like light?

DO NOT WANT THE FIGHT

Salt Lake City Residents Are Opposed to Jeffries-Johnson Battle.

Would Give Entire State a Black Eye, Says J. E. Dodder.

"Salt Lake City doesn't want to stage the world's heavyweight championship fight between James J. Jeffries and Jack Johnson," said J. E. Dodder, a mining man from the Mormon City, who is the guest of the Spalding hotel for the day. Mr. Dodder is emphatic in his assertion that the best citizens of the metropolis of Utah do not want to have the big fight held in their city.

"There is little chance that the fight will be held there, anyway," continued Mr. Dodder. "Governor Spry has stated upon more than one occasion that he will not permit the fight to be held in Utah. If the big battle was held out in our state, especially in Salt Lake City, you people up here, and especially further to the East, would hold an even worse opinion than you hold at the present time.

"Every place I have been since I left Salt Lake City, about ten days ago, I have seen cartoons in the papers, picturing the Mormons and their wives, gathered at the ringside. This sort of stuff, harmless in its intent, perhaps, just the same gives people in the East the same old belief that out there in Utah we are still practicing polygamy.

"In one way the fight might be a good thing, were it held in Utah; it would show people from every part of this country that the plural marriage custom has not been practiced in Utah for a very long time.

"But Salt Lake City is no different from any other big city in the East or South or West. We have the same aversion to being known as a community which will encourage the holding of a prize fight. We have heard much, out home, regarding what a certain Mr. Rickard is going to do. I know the sentiment of the best citizens of the city. They are opposed to the fight being held in the city or in the state. I do not think there is any chance that it can be pulled off in Utah.

"For many years there has been a false opinion of the people of Utah. The Mormons are the smallest part of the population of the city or state. The Mormons are, moreover, abiding by the same laws that people in other countries are. The holding of the fight in Utah would be the cause of more talk about this very opinion. But even apart from that, we are citizens who respect the law and we do not want the fight."

AIDING RURAL SCHOOLS.

North Dakota Legislature Will Be Asked for Large Appropriation.

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Backed by the indorsement of the North Dakota Educational association, Supt. W. L. Stockwell of public instruction has commenced a campaign in North Dakota for the purpose of creating sentiment favorable to the granting of a $50,000 appropriation at the next legislative assembly for the aid of the rural school. A bill calling for such an appropriation was introduced into the legislative assembly a year ago, but failed of passage.

IS GIVEN CEMETERY.

Cleveland-Cliffs Company Makes a Gift to City of Negaunee.

Negaunee, Mich., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company has acquired the McDonald farm on the highway between here and Eagle Mills, which the city desires for cemetery purposes. The price paid for the land has not been made known.

The Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company will turn over to the city, the deed of the land, together with the deed for some seventy additional acres adjoining on the east, the whole to be used as a cemetery.

Hurt In Mandan Shops.

Mandan, N. D., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Joseph Bauknecht was dragged for a distance of over fifty feet by a huge belt in the machine shops of the Northern Pacific railroad here before he was finally released. Unconscious from his injuries, which consisted of a mashed arm and bruised head, the young man was quickly removed from the shops to a hospital, where he will be laid up about a month.

Caught In Prohibition Raid.

Mandan, N. D., Jan. 19.—Joseph Winbauer, the only one out of six alleged violators of the state prohibition law to gain his freedom in the justice court hearing, is again under arrest, and will have a second hearing Jan. 20. He was caught with the others in recent raids in this city and it putting up a hard fight. Malt selling is charged against E. B. McGuinness, his arrest following the recent supreme court decision.

Bemidji Election Judges.

Bemidji, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The city council appointed judges as follows, for the city election which will be held on March 15: First ward—R. F. Murphy, Clyde Johnson, William Mageau; voting place, Mageau's store; Second ward—Frank Miller, Martin Flint, D. C. Smyth; voting place, fire hall; Third ward—A. A. Carter, P. Dicaire, C. M. Pierce; voting place, Pogue's warehouse; Fourth ward—E. H. Ives, C. S. Daily, E. H. Jerrard; voting place, Smart's office.

"WHY BE SO THIN?"

Thinness is Embarrassing, Unhealthy and Not Natural — Formula Now Used Which Adds From One to Three Pounds a Week.

Every one ought to have some extra flesh on the bony structure of the body, both for the sake of health and self-esteem.

Most thin people are sensitive to the harsh, unfeeling criticisms which are constantly being hurled at them by the more fortunate well-figured persons.

Every one pities a thin, bony horse, but horses don't know it—while thin people are both pitied and ridiculed. It ought not to be so, but it is.

A well rounded figure, be it man or woman, excites admiration; not only for the figure, but for the bright eyes, pink cheeks, red lips, and vigorous carriage which accompany a well-nourished body.

Strength, health, beauty and sound flesh abound if the blood and nerves get enough nourishment out of the food eaten.

This prescription aids nature; helps absorption, digestion and assimilation; helps distribute the blood and nerve elements which make sound flesh. Get the ingredients and make it at home, and see how very fast you gain in weight.

In a half pint bottle, obtain three ounces of essence of pepsin, three ounces syrup of rhubarb. Then add one ounce compound essence cardiol, shake and let stand two hours; then add one ounce tincture cadomene compound, (not cardamom). Shake well and take a teaspoonful before meals and one after meals. Also drink plenty of water between meals and when retiring. Weigh yourself before beginning.

Amberola

A new Edison Phonograph

—no less remarkable for its beauty of design and finish than for its perfect sound reproducing qualities.

An opera singer's voice may leave nothing to be desired, while the personality of the artist may lack much. For instance, it is more pleasing to listen to Blanche Arral than many of the other prima donnas, because she is a beautiful woman. So it is with the Amberola. The beauty of its exterior is in perfect keeping with its incomparable tonal qualities. The Amberola is a delight to the eye as well as to the ear. See and hear the Amberola at your dealer's today. Price, $200.00.

Slezak—And when you go to hear the Amberola, be sure to ask to hear the new Grand Opera records by Leo Slezak, the famous new lyric tenor of the Metropolitan Opera House, New York. Slezak has made ten new records for the Edison, from the most prominent operas in which he sings—Amberol Records. Remember that only Amberol Records render Grand Opera as it should be played.

HURDON OF DULUTH WINS THE GRAND AGGREGATE

Also Captures First Place in St. Paul and Minneapolis Events.

Tucker of Pardeeville Wins the Western and International.

Grand aggregate—H. T. Hurdon, Duluth.
St. Paul Jobbers'—H. T. Hurdon, Duluth.
Minneapolis event—H. T. Hurdon, Duluth.
Canadian Soo—Walter G. Hall, Duluth.
Ordway event—Dr. A. R. Lenont, Virginia.
International—L. J. Tucker, Pardeeville.
Western event—L. J. Tucker, Pardeeville.
Duluth event—G. H. Reedal, Phillips, Wis.

The seventeenth annual bonspiel of the Northwestern Curling association ended last night with the results as stated.

Out of seven events in which they were permitted to enter, Duluth rinks captured four. Duluth men got down to the finals in all the events. In the Duluth Curling club event, Zauft of West Duluth played Reedal of Phillips, in the finals. In the Western Curling club event, Dunlop of Duluth was pitted against Tucker of Pardeeville and the Wisconsin man won out. In the Interfraternal, Dunlop was beaten out by Tucker in the finals. In the Minneapolis, Hurdon got away with the Tucker contest and landed the prize. In the St. Paul Jobbers' event, Hurdon got away with Zauft of West Duluth, winning the prizes in this event. Tucker, Zauft and Hurdon figured in the finals of all the big events. Hurdon's rink which probably made the best showing of any in the bonspiel is composed of Walter Poehler, John Tresise, John Pugh and Harry Hurdon.

With the exception of one day during the bonspiel, the ice was in the best possible shape, and the visitors were greatly pleased with the sheets furnished by the Duluth club.

All in all the bonspiel was a success in every way. The attendance was a bit disappointing to the Duluth men, who had planned on at least fifty rinks, but what they lacked in numbers they made up in good fellowship, and the attendance was forgotten to a certain extent.

Visitors Leave.

The last of the outside rinks left yesterday for their homes. They all promised to be on hand for the eighteenth annual which will be held in Duluth in January of next year. Not only did they promise to come again themselves, but they will do their best to bring with them more representatives from their clubs. Duluth would like next year to have the biggest bonspiel ever held under the auspices of the association and already the members of the club are making their plans.

To H. Blackwood, the manager of the 'spiel must be given a great deal of credit for the manner in which he kept the games going and the promptness with which the draws were made. As soon as the curlers were off the ice in one event the draws were made and they knew just when their next contest came. Up until the last days of the bonspiel there were but few forfeits. Later as some of the men were forced to leave for their homes, they became more frequent.

To the bonspiel officers who handled all the business of the 'spiel, arranging the details and furnishing the entertainment for the visitors, is due much credit. Few people realize what a large undertaking a bonspiel is. Everything went off as scheduled and everybody seems to be well satisfied with the whole affair.

Quite a large number of Duluth rinks got down into the jewelry class, although they did not win the big prizes. This is a source of great satisfaction to them, and, as one of them put it, "makes us think we really can curl."

The Duluth curlers will now get busy with their local events and rush them off as fast as possible. There has been but little progress made up to this time. From now on the play-or-forfeit rule will of necessity have to be enforced, for the time is short in which to finish the events.

The east half of the rink will be put into shape for the skaters, and there will be music at regular intervals during the week.

TOURNAMENT OPENS.

The Middle West Bowling Association Begins Play at St. Louis.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 20.—The Middle West Bowling association tournament will open here tonight. The entries include 75 five-men teams, 111 doubles and 220 individuals.

Visiting teams from Nebraska, Iowa, and Kansas, will bowl Saturday night and Sunday. Fourteen St. Louis and two Belleville, Ill., teams will occupy the alleys tonight.

Cubs Sell Recruits.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—The Chicago Nationals sold two recruits to the Louisville American association team today. The men sold were Outfielder Kay, who was with the Albany, N. Y., league team last season, and Catcher Hart, who played with the Monmouth team in the Illinois-Missouri league.

JOHNSON WANTS TEDDY TO REFEREE FIGHT.

New York, Jan. 20.—Jack Johnson wants Col. Theodore Roosevelt as referee of the championship fight next July. In a statement published here today the colored champion said: "Ex-President Roosevelt ought to be a good authority. He has been boxing himself and should know the merits of both men. He has carefully studied both men and I think he should make a good referee, being our nation's chief leader, and a great leader was he.

"I am satisfied, if the club would choose him as referee, it would satisfy me to a queen's taste. He is cool and collected and no one can rattle him and get his goat like they would a lot of fellows who have their names down as referees."

HURDON, IN HIS OLD-TIME FORM, SHOWS HOW GRAND OLD GAME OF SCOTLAND IS REALLY PLAYED

Tucker and Reedal Also Among Winners--John L. Sullivan and His Memoirs.

(BY BRUCE)

Harry T. Hurdon and his crack Duluth rink, composed of Walter Poehler, John Tresise and John Pugh, carried off the premier honors in the seventeenth annual bonspiel of the Northwestern Curling association, which came to an end last evening. The grand aggregate prizes, the most coveted trophies offered at the bonspiel, went to the Duluth rink, which also won the St. Paul Jobbers' and the Minneapolis Curling club events.

Hurdon was hard pressed for first honors by L. J. Tucker and his rink from Pardeeville, Wis. Tucker has been a power in the annual bonspiel ever since he put Pardeeville on the map by his first entrance. This year, he was especially strong and he wound up the last day by taking the first set of jewelry in the International and the Western Curling club events. Out of nineteen matches played, the Tucker rink won sixteen, being more games than any other rink won. Hudron won twelve games in the three open competitions and was awarded the grand average, it being based on the records in the three open events.

G. B. Reedal of Phillips, Wis., broke into the winning ranks yesterday by taking the final game in the Duluth Curling club event from Zauft of West Duluth.

After playing in grand form all through the bonspiel, the Zauft rink of West Duluth hit the tobogan yesterday and sustained two heart-breaking defeats in finals. In both the St. Paul Jobbers' and Duluth Curling club events, Zauft was defeated in the final game, the playing of the rink being away off color. The strain of playing down close to the finals in almost every event was too much for the rink and the West Duluthians broke under it.

The great battle of the last day of the 'spiel went to Hurdon last night, when he defeated Tucker of Pardeeville, in the final game of the Minneapolis event. The count stood three up for Tucker in the tenth end, but Hurdon tied it up in the eleventh. In the twelfth end, while Hurdon was lying two, Dooley, third on the Pardeeville rink and usually one of the most accurate men on the ice, missed both of his shots. Hurdon laid another, but Tucker was unable to do anything with them and the Duluth man won, 15 to 12.

Dunlop of Duluth had his high hopes rudely shattered yesterday afternoon by the wily Tucker. In the finals of the Western Curling club and International events, Dunlop stacked up against the giants from Pardeeville and was defeated. In the International event, the Badgers had to bring all of their curling skill into play, winning by the score of 9 to 8. In the Western Curling club event, they had a romp. Dunlop getting the short end of a 12 to 5 score.

Though the attendance was not as large as was expected and few of the outside rinks figured in the events after the first two or three rounds, the bonspiel was proclaimed by the curlers one of the best in the history of the association. The weather man wasn't kind for two or three days, but the ice was never in such condition that play could not go on and the events were run off systematically and in good time. The manager of the bonspiel, J. H. Blackwood of Winnipeg, maintained his reputation as a wizard in maintaining order and running the events through.

Duluth rings figured more in the finals and semi-finals this year than ever before, three events and the grand aggregate remaining in Duluth. The Winnipeg and St. Paul curlers were disappointed, for they were defeated early in all events. The Wisconsin rinks held up their end and a little more and the Lonsdale rink of Virginia walked off with the Ordway trophy. Walter G. Hall of Duluth won the Canadian Soo event.

The defeats suffered by the Whyte, Zauft and Dunlop rinks were disappointing to their friends. Whyte and Zauft, after curling in sensational style during the early games, went all to pieces in the last two days and were put out of the running for firsts, although they carted off some of the silverware in the way of seconds and thirds. Dunlop also held up his own in two events to the finals until he went against Tucker of Pardeeville, and that spelled defeat.

The visiting curlers had nothing but words of praise for the manner in which the bonspiel was run off and for the treatment they received in Duluth. Duluth has again been chosen as the bonspiel city and next year, the curlers will gather again for the eighteenth annual 'spiel.

Old John L. Sullivan is having the time of his strenuous life in writing his ring memoirs.

John L. tells of how he was coaxed, when only a sober and industrious plumber, on to the stage of a Boston theater, to put on the gloves with a fighter, well versed in all of the little tricks of the game named after the gay and sportive Marquis of Queensbury.

Now when John Lawrence was just naturally eyeing the sea of faces that stared at him over the footlights, the bruiser took a healthy wallop at the back of the Sullivan head. Some of our most prominent astrologists have never seen the bright and twinkling stars that Mr. Sullivan avers he saw, shedding luminous rays through the brain mist that enveloped his mind like a damp Superior mist holds a soiree with a low meadow.

But revenge was his. The fighting instinct was strong in the young plumber. Edging toward the boisterously laughing pugilist, John Lawrence clenched his teeth and set is massive shoulders. Zing! The massive right fist swung out with straight aim.

The recipient of the Sullivan swing was knocked over the piano, head foremost into the orchestra pit, landing on two unsuspecting fiddlers and smashing to small bits the violins they were gently caressing. It was indeed a great night for the rising young amateur boxer.

This is only an incident in the strenuous life of the fighter. With all his faults and they were faults of the head rather than the heart, old John L. Sullivan was perhaps the greatest fighter of his age and generation. He was ever ready to do battle with a white man, he was always on the square, and he never insisted that all the money in the universe be put up for the match.

Word from England brings the information that George Gunther, the Australian near-heavyweight boxer, who has been seen a number of times in these parts, will meet a fighter by the name Charlie Knock on the twenty-fourth of the present month. It will probably be a case of knockout.

The men will fight at the weight of 156 pounds, the fight being for a purse of $500. Knock has a great record on the other side, which, however, doesn't mean that he is a great fighter. He knocked out Ion Hague, who was considered a great man on the other side until Sam Langford disposed of him in four rounds.

Gunther seems to be getting the money in England. They have no prejudice against the black fighter on the other side of the pond. They judge fighters over there strictly on their merits as a slinger of the padded mitts. In that case Gunther should get along very well on the other side, for at his weight, there are few boxers in this country who have anything on the black boy who made his headquarters here for a spell—until Sheriff Carlson took such a decided interest in the doings of the fighters.

It now looks as if both Ketchel and Papke will go to the other side of the pond. It has been reported, from time to time, that the "Assassin" would go to Australia and fight Tommy Burns. Then later it was stated that Ketchel would go to England for the purpose of getting on a match with Tom Thomas, reputed to be the best middle weight England has turned out since the days Charlie Mitchell fought at the middle weight limit.

Now comes also the story that Papke will seek a match with Thomas, after his fight in Paris with the winner of the Harry Lewis-Willie Lewis battle. It is also stated that Papke will go to Australia in the hope of forcing Ketchel to meet him in the land of the Kangaroo.

Hugh McIntosh would in all probability hang up a very good purse for a meeting between Ketchel and Papke. The Australians would very likely flock to the fight like flies to a sleeping baby's peaceful face.

If the best members of the fight calling continue to flock to the other side of the map there will be few of the upper crust of pugilistic society left on the American shore. Just at the present time the game is flourishing in the gay capital of France. Some American is also attempting to introduce the game in Berlin. If the Germans take to the merry game to boxing like the French, another country will be opened for the exploitation of the fight promoters.

At best there are only a few places in this country that give the boxing game any kind of a reception. Most of the states have placed the ban on the game. Many of the pugilists wished they had learned the plumbing business, a game where there is a very handsome profit. It is only natural that with the shutting out of the boxing game in many cities of the country, the boxers are ready to hit the big steamer for a long ocean ride in the hope of getting the fat purses that are being offered for good fights.

Many questions are being asked regarding the outlook for the 1910 crews of the Duluth Boat club. The men who have active charge of the rowing affairs of the club have come to no decision in the matter of a coach, or winter practice of candidates for the crew.

A boat club as large and as prosperous as the Duluth club should, it would seem, make a determined effort to place a winning crew on the water.

The winning of one of the big events at the Western regatta would be a big feather in the hat of Duluth. It would mean much to the city. St. Paul has received the very best of advertisement from the success of its crews. Duluth would derive like benefit from the winning of one of the eight-oared events of the regatta.

There is no boat club in the West that can compare with the Duluth Boat club. It is the largest and best appointed club of its kind in the country. It is odd that a club of its size and influence cannot place a winning crew on the water.

The present year should be a Duluth year, if the right methods are followed. It is time that some action was being taken. Several prospective oarsmen have spoken to the writer regarding the outlook. They have gone to the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium and found the rowing machines out of order. Naturally their first enthusiasm has been allowed to cool.

If Duluth is going to have a winning crew, it is time that some preliminary steps were being taken. Last year's junior crew will be almost intact. If the officials of the club show that they are going to put forward every effort to turn out a winning eight. This crew should do something at Kenora. It should. The great question remains: Will it?

KAUFMANN HAS BETTER OF BOUT

O'Brien Almost Out in Six-Round Fight at Philadelpnia.

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 20.—Jack O'Brien's ring generalship last night saved him from a terrible beating and a possible knockout at the hands of Al. Kauffmann of San Francisco in a 6-round bout before the National Athletic club.

At the close of the fight both men were bleeding from nose and mouth and O'Brien had a badly swollen eye. Kauffmann, however, was in far better condition than the Philadelphian.

O'Brien once had defeated Kauffmann in San Francisco and the Californian was a trifle too anxious or he might have duplicated O'Brien's feat.

When the bell rang for the opening round the men rushed into a clinch, and in the breakaway O'Brien sent two straight lefts to the nose. Kauffmann rushed his opponent around the ring, but O'Brien would stop suddenly and polt a hard right or left to the face.

There was little damage done in the first round, but in the second Kauffmann drove his right under O'Brien's heart and crossed a left to the jaw, causing Jack to clinch. The minute rest refr...ed O'Brien wonderfully and he had all the advantage of the third round. His exertions seemed to weaken him however, and had it not been for his clinching in the fourth round, O'Brien would probably have been knocked out. About the middle of this round Kauffmann drove a wicked right to the wind and hooked a vicious left to the chin. O'Brien dropped to his knees and when he arose he rushed to a clinch. His clever footwork saved him. In the fifth and sixth rounds, O'Brien would not allow the Californian to get set. The Philadelphian would jab the nose with a left and then rush to a clinch before Kauffmann could land with effect. In the middle of the sixth round, Kauffmann caught O'Brien coming in and almost lifted him off his feet with a right uppercut. O'Brien clinched and saved himself. It is doubtful whether O'Brien could have lasted another round even with all of his brilliant footwork. Kauffmann gave his weight at 195 while O'Brien said he weighed 165 pounds.

"CODDY" WINTERS MAKES A BIG NOISE IN CLEVELAND.

"Coddy" Winters, the Duluth boy, is setting Cleveland hockey enthusiasts wild by his wonderful playing on the fast Cleveland seven. The Plain Dealer, a very conservative newspaper, goes into raptures over the playing of the former Duluth boy in the game of Jan. 15, when after fifty minutes of strenuous play with the Pittsburg team, at the end of which period the score remained at 2 to 2, Winters nursed the puck the length of the rink and shot a brilliant net.

The paper says it was one of the most brilliant pieces of playing ever seen in Cleveland. The big crowd of 3,000 spectators rose to their feet and cheered the great piece of individual playing to the echo. The members of the Cleveland team carried "Coddy" to the dressing rooms on their shoulders.

Taking it all together, it was a big night for "Coddy."

BOWLING SCORES

Last night in the Commercial league games the Floan-Leveroos bowling team won two out of three games from the Wolvins. The games were played on the Central alleys. Wedge of the winning team captured both the high score, 276, and the high average, 222. Wedge's high score is the highest score made this season.

Detailed score:

DULUTH WANTS TO HOLD 1911 BOWLING MEET.

The Majestics, Centrals and Fitzwells will represent Duluth at the annual tournament of the International Bowling association, to be held Feb. 11 on the Selby alleys, St. Paul.

Every effort will be made to secure the 1911 tournament for Duluth. Representatives, aside from players, will go to St. Paul with the determination of doing everything in their power to secure the next tournament of the international association for this city.

There is a belief among the officers of the two Duluth bowling leagues that the tournament can be secured for this city. Superior will send some teams to the tournament, and the players and delegates will lend their influence toward bringing the next annual tournament of the International association to the Head of the Lakes.

When it is considered that about 4,000 bowlers are in attendance at the convention, it can be realized what big event it is for a city. The bringing of the tournament here would be a great advertisement for Duluth.

SAILOR JACK ISSUES DEFI

Navy Champion Agrees to Throw Harris Three Times in Hour.

Sailor Jack, who claims the welterweight championship of the United States navy, and who Tuesday evening in the preliminary to the Person-Gordon match showed that he is well versed in the science of the mat game, is negotiating for a handicap match with Maurice Harris, lightweight champion of the Northwest and one of the strongest men for his weight in the country.

If the men are matched, they will probably wrestle as the semi-windup to the big Zybszko-Person match, which will be staged at the Armory, Tuesday evening, Feb. 4.

Sailor Jack has offered to throw Harris three times within an hour. Backers of Sailor Jack in this city stated last night that they would back their faith in their man by a substantial side bet on the outcome of the match.

Harris has a large following both in Duluth and Superior, and there are few who have seen him work against men much heavier than himself, who will believe that Sailor Jack can turn the trick of pinning the Superior man's shoulders to the mat three times within the space of an hour.

The Sailor man has also received a challenge from Billy Beaulieu of Superior. The wrestler from the sleepy town is confident of his ability to toss the Sailor and will back his opinion with a side bet.

In a letter from Jack H. Herman, manager of Zybszko, he states that the Polish champion will be in Duluth Feb. 4, and that Zybszko has received a letter from a Polish gentleman of this city, who is desirous of arranging a reception for the representative of the Polish race. In both Cleveland and Buffalo the Polish champion was met at the train by a delegation of his countrymen. In Buffalo he was also tendered a public reception.

DARBY SIGNS MORE PLAYERS

An Outfielder and Two Infielders Added to 1910 Aggregation.

Three more recruits for the 1910 Duluth baseball aggregation have been signed, two by industrious Darby P. H. O'Brien, and the third by Al Kuehnow.

The three players will report at Cleveland with the rest of the large bunch signed by O'Brien and will be given an opportunity of becoming regular members of the 1910 White Sox.

Carl Fryn is an infielder and played on the same Indianapolis teams with Otto Mueller and Georgie Dauss. He has been highly recommended to Poet O'Brien by Count Mueller. He is a first baseman and is said to be fast, sure on high and low balls (high base balls), and to be a handy man with the wagon tongue.

G. E. Williams was signed by Mr. Kuehnow personally. He comes from Barbourville, Ky., in the Blue Grass country where the accent is soft and drawly. He played in the Cumberland Valley league until the league died a natural death. He is a shortstop and hit at the clip of .285 for forty-three games.

Fred Kushnick, an outfielder, is the third man. He played on Columbus, O., teams, and according to Darby hit at .412. He comes with a better recommendation than the graduate from a business college.

SENIORS BADLY BEATEN.

St. Clement's Basket Ball Team Defeats Class Team 49 to 7.

The senior class basket ball team of the Central high school was last evening given a taste of the strenuous life by the sodality quint of St. Clement's church, the Catholic boys defeating the about-to-graduate chaps by the rather woeful score of 49 to 7.

At no stage of the game did the seniors have any chance to even come near winning. The ball was always hovering in the vicinity of the high school basket, very seldom traveling in the direction of the sodality net.

Father Raymond and Larry Boyle acted as officials. The hardest work of the evening fell on the score keeper. The game was rough in spots, but a good feeling prevailed.

The lineup and score:

St. Clement's.		D. C. H. S.
Lavelle	forward	Thorburn
Gallagher	forward	Nastland
Owen	center	A. Helmer
Arimond	guard	Merritt
Miller	guard	Stevens

A. A. U. WON'T INTERVENE.

Amateur Athletic Union Refuses to Mix in Skating War.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—President E. C. Brown of the Amateur Athletic union last night refused flatly, he said, to interfere between the Eastern Amateur Skating association, recently ousted from the International Skating Union of America, and the International body. This action was taken on an appeal from the deposed Eastern skating officials for help from the A. A. U. to prevent the dissolution of the old association and the formation in the Eastern district of a new association.

McCarey May Stage Fight.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 20.—Thomas McCarey is preparing to stage the Nelson-Wolgast fight for the lightweight championship here on Feb. 22. Hester of San Francisco, not having received a permit, McCarey is in communication with Nelson.

Reds Sell Infielder.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 20.—Clark Griffith, manager of the Cincinnati baseball team, announced that Wheeler Johnson, a first baseman, has been sold to the Buffalo club of the Eastern league. The Cincinnati club reserves the right to repurchase the player.

Nolan Defeats Canfield.

Nolan easily defeated Mose Canfield last night at the Majestic billiard parlors, runing up 132 while Canfield was making 142. The final game of the match will be played this evening.

MEAT PRICES CUT BY CLEVELAND MEN

Pledge to Abstain From Eating It Gets Results---Union Opposes the Action.

Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 20.—With 11,000 workingmen, representing 50,000 consumers pledged to a vegetarian diet, butchers have began slashing meat prices, and it is believed further cuts will be announced.

Pork dropped 2 cents yesterday, from 17 cents, and there were wholesale cuts in other meats.

Berea, Akron and Martins Ferry have started similar meat boycotts and the agitation in the state legislature is expected to make the movement a statewide influence.

The United Trades and Labor council here last night denounced the strike of workingmen against the eating of meat, and called on union laboring men to refuse to sign the anti-meat pledge. The true remedy, according to resolutions adopted by the council, is a demand for higher wages by workmen in order that they may buy the meat, and the establishment of a municipal slaughter house for the benefit of small butchers.

Spreads to Missouri.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 20.—Following the lead of the Cleveland laboring men, every one of the 138 members of the Bricklayers' union No. 1, signed an agreement here last night to abstain from eating meat for thirty days. They believe that the price will decrease if the demand is lessened.

POLICEMAN HUNTS GAS LEAK WITH A MATCH.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—An explosion of gas, preceding the discovery of the lifeless body of an apparent suicide in a gas-filled apartment severely burned Policeman John Kennedy. The body was that of Albert H. Peer, who is believed to have committed suicide because of despondency following the disappearance of his wife. Neighbors reported the odor of gas, and while investigating, Kennedy lit a match and the explosion followed.

WASHINGTON BRIEFS

Busy About Alaska.

The Alaskan legislative council bill was taken up in earnest by the senate committee on territories. Some opposition to the measure has developed in the senate from those who favor the creation of a legislature to enact laws for the territory. The senate committee, however, appears to be unanimous for the proposition to create a legislative council, the members of which would be appointed by the president and subject to removal by him. Senator Beveridge asserted that corporate interests in Alaska are so powerful that they would be able to influence the election of a legislature favorable to them. He will take a firm stand in favor of the proposed council.

Mann Bill Considered.

The Mann "white slave" bill, with some amendments, as the result of the passage by the house of the Bennett bill for the suppression of the same traffic, was taken up by the house. The bill includes provisions designed to reach the white slave traffic through international agreement and the interstate commerce law.

Mr. Mann of Illinois proposed an amendment putting in an immunity clause for witness to meet any possible inhibition by any state imposing a penalty for giving information. The amendment was designed, he said, to put the bill beyond constitutional question.

Tawney on Job Again.

Representative James A. Tawney of Minnesota will be re-elected vice chairman of the Republican congressional committee at a meeting of the committee to be held on Friday night.

Eberhart Steps In.

Governor Eberhart of Minnesota was an unexpected speaker at the afternoon session of the Civic Federation.

"So long as food is necessary to human life," the governor said, "agriculture must remain as the most vital and important industry of man, and the farm will be the most general and indispensable theater of his activity. The conservation movement extends not only to the protection and development of forests, mines and water power, the control of rivers by reservoirs so as to prevent flooding, but also to the elimination of wasteful methods, such as continual single cropping, robbing the soil of nutriment, exhaustive methods of transportation, as well as such unsanitary conditions which result in loss of energy, health and life."

IS IRON RANGE ROAD TO EXTEND ITS LINE TO SECTION 30 MINE?

that the fee owners declare they will construct it themselves if the railroad company does not build it where they wish and under reasonable conditions.

It also is stated that the Iron Range road has been looking into the feasibility and advisability of a cutoff to the East Vermilion range from Mesaba Station. This would give an outlet for a big acreage of iron lands belonging to George A. St. Clair, the Lazarus Silverman estate and others. It is stated that such a route would be entirely feasible so far as topography is concerned.

Incidentally, before leaving the subject of Section 30, it can be said that George A. St. Clair has been offered $2 a ton for Section 30 ore provided he mines, hoists and loads it onto cars.

With two or three new mines on the Vermilion range, as now seems certain for the near future, there is likely to be a scramble for those high grade ores by conflicting interests. Already, the independent iron and furnace men have cast longing eyes towards the Vermilion range, but the United States Steel corporation rather keeps the inside track, and none of the new propositions have reached a stage of development where the independents feel warranted in "mixing things," with the exception, possibly, of Section 30.

It cannot be denied that the Canadian Northern railway has a burning desire to get into Duluth from the end of its line at Gunflint Lake, up in Cook county. Reports are creditable that this Canadian company proposes to fill in the gap between Gunflint and Ely. But that would not give an independent entry into Duluth from that direction. It also is believed that the Canadian Northern cannot get the Alger-Smith road on an acceptable basis.

By buying the Brooks-Scanlon road, back of Duluth, the Canadian Northern railway could build from Gunflint Lake to some point near the easterly end of the Vermilion, and then come on down to a connection with the now abandoned logging railroad and, after forming a junction with the Virginia extension, come into Duluth over the route now being sought through West Duluth. If that were done, then the Canadian Northern could have immense yards at the junction point back of Duluth and build up a place that would correspond to Proctor on the Missabe road.

It must be remembered that the Mackenzie-Mann interests, which control the Canadian Northern, practically own the blast furnace at Port Arthur. With that in operation, some high grade ores from the Vermilion would be just the thing to mix with the lower grade Canadian ores, especially those from the Atikokan range, so high in sulphur.

The Canadian Northern certainly will build its own line into Duluth from Virginia and will carry Mesaba range ores to Lake Superior. With the gap filled between Gunflint and Duluth nothing will be more natural than to make a route for ore and ore hauling from the Vermilion. If the Vermilion range comes into its own under the present activity, as many people believe will be the case, then a Canadian Northern line from the country north of Virginia to Tower and the Ely end of the Vermilion might be the result.

Furthermore, there is no reason why this aggressive Canadian corporation should fail to secure Section 30, and other Vermilion mines, if it is once decided to go after them. Even Alfred Merritt and George A. St. Clair have their price for Section 30.

Exploration activity not only keeps up well on the Vermilion but is increasing. Some very promising results have been reported recently and, with time, others just as favorable are probable. With Section 30 under serious development and the Chandler mines being reopened, things have a strong upward tendency around Ely.

John Helmer keeps picking up the good things on the Vermilion and exploring them as conditions require. He recently secured an option for a lease on the four central forties in section 1, 62-13, from Robert B. Whiteside and William J. Bates on a royalty of 50 cents a ton. This property is near lands in section 2, owned by B. G. Segog and John Jenswold of Duluth and M. R. Denning of Michigan. It also is near the Southall mine in the southeast quarter of section 4, owned by C. A. Congdon, Dr. N. B. Hulst, L. W. Powell and C. d'Autremont.

John C. Campbell and John Long, prominent lumbermen of Cloquet, who have the John Smith property in the northwest quarter of the northeast quarter and north one-half of the northwest quarter of section 9, 62-13, are writing history in big and brilliant letters. About two months ago they put on a diamond drill. They are working on the third hole and previous drilling not only nicely determined the formation, but the second hole, only 300 feet deep, cut nineteen feet of clean ore. This property is in the hands of a close corporation and there is no lack of money.

A few years ago Cole & McDonald drilled this property for the United States Steel corporation and while the work may have resulted satisfactorily to those who hired it done, the option was thrown up and the general public gained the idea that nothing worth while was found. To be known as lumbermen and to have their iron experience confined to limited operations on the Cuyuna range and then come onto the Vermilion range, with all its fetish about expensive and fruitless drilling, and quickly get results as stated, probably is very gratifying to Messrs. Campbell and Long. The John Smith property adjoins the Southall mine on the southwest.

One question puzzling iron land circles is whether or not E. C. Kennedy has gone over to the samp of the United States Steel corporation. When he started on the Vermilion range it was very certain that Mr. Kennedy and associates were strictly independent and relying entirely on their own resources. But the fact that Mr. Kennedy has pulled his drill off the Victor Johnson land and that the fee to the property has been acquired by the United States Steel corporation makes many believe that at least a limited alliance has been entered into between them. Mr. Kennedy's freedom and willingness in taking options has marked significance in the minds of many.

The land mentioned received its name from Victor Johnson, formerly a clerk for M. S. Burrows and of some local prominence in political circles. He now is in New York. The property embraces the southwest quarter of section 4, 62-13. Mr. Johnson owned a quarter interest and the remaining three-quarters belonged to Mr. Bergren of Superior. What the consideration was, no one seems to know. It must have been a handsome one for all concerned, as the drilling results were very encouraging, therefore the fee owners would not be apt to sell for a song. Mr. Kennedy did not wish to unload, therefore it is safe to assume that he and associates got a very stiff and satisfactory price.

Mr. Kennedy has had phenomenal success on the Vermilion range. It is admitted that he has a good ore body on the lands of the Robinson Lake Iron company, embracing the north half of section 18, 62-13.

A short time ago Mr. Kennedy and associates took an option on lands in the north half of section 18, 62-13, belonging to William Sarsury of Stillwater. A drill is working on this land and, very recently, Mr. Kennedy started a pit where there was an outcrop. Recent arrivals from the range report that the pit is down twelve feet and bottomed in clean, high grade ore.

Mr. Kennedy recently organized a $1,000,000 corporation to own and operate all his interests and it is stated that a group of Minneapolis capitalists is on the point of taking $100,000 worth of stock in one block.

John Helmer and associates are drilling on the H. V. Goetchius property, the southwest quarter of section 1, 62-13. The drill hole is down 300 feet and has just passed through quartzite into very good material but the general public is refused details.

Mr. Helmer still is drilling on the Sang and Levy lands in the northeast quarter of section 13, 62-14, but, as to results, he is saying nothing.

For many weeks, Rollin Stewart, of Minneapolis, has been haggling and jockeying with several different Duluth parties over an option on the lands of the Stewart Mineral company, known as the Macomber mine, in section 4, 62-14. Mr. Stewart came to Duluth traders cards and spades and then winhands down. He was inclined to do business for a straight royalty of 25 cents a ton. Then he asked 20 cents. Next he required that $100,000 be put in the bank and every dollar of it expended in drilling. Next he was inclined to waive that, but asked $10,000 cash. Still later, he asked $25,000 bonus and 30 cents a ton royalty. It is stated that he is closing up a deal whereby he receives 35 cents a ton royalty but no bonus. The exact identity of the successful man has not been made public.

The Macomber has a shaft sunk twenty years or so ago by C. E. Shannon, then of Duluth, Mr. Piper of Minneapolis and H. W. Coffin of Duluth. Some exceedingly high grade ore was found but the ore body was lost. Others have tried in weak and feeble ways to find the ore body but without success. In time, the stock was acquired by the Stewart Mineral company. Mr. Stewart holds control but William C. Sherwood has a substantial interest.

On the Alois Ebmer fee, in the northeast quarter of section 15, 62-14, now owned by the Central Vermilion Iron company, camps have been made and test-pitting is being prosecuted under the direction of William Besson. Drilling will start in due course.

The Marquette & Vermilion Iron company has started operations on the southwest quarter of section 19, 62-14. A contract for several thousand feet of drill work was let recently to Moe Brothers of Virginia. They will get a heavy drill onto the land as soon as a contract elsewhere is completed, not later than Feb. 1. They guarantee their holes to a depth of 1,500 feet. Camp buildings have been completed and a skilled crew of men is engaged in test-pitting.

This property never has been thoroughly prospected for surface details and those interested in the matter are discovering outcrops of magnitude and importance. Only recently, eight inches of clean ore were found on the surface, in a strong, favorable formation. Samples from this property are attracting much attention in Duluth, especially among those who are best posted on the Vermilion range. Some very strong interests are investigating the proposition and the outlook for a very heavy development fund is exceedingly bright. Edward Lynch of Duluth whose judgment is accepted without question by some very substantial capitalists, has owned an interest in this fee for nearly twenty years. All that time, he has refused to sell, and clung to his holdings through years both lean and fat.

The Vermilion Iron Development company is drilling steadily on the Murray property and sinking the shaft on Pine Island. Those back of this enterprise are working hard and feel very enthusiastic.

The shaft at the Roy is going down without a hitch and is being timbered heavily all the way.

Drilling is in progress through diorite and quartzite on the La Chance, by the White Iron Lake Iron company, and some good news may be heard from there before long.

Thomas J. Walsh is pushing construction at the North American and there is a rumor that some very sensational results are following exploration work. Mr. Walsh has been up on the range several days this week, therefore no information from him has been obtainable.

As soon as ice is a bit thicker on the small bays of Lake Vermilion, Mr. Walsh will forward the heavy machinery plant to the property of the Vermilion Steel & Iron company, in section 5, 62-14.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS.

To the Common Council:

Your Committee on Streets, Alleys and Sidewalks, to which was referred application of M. Fitzgerald for an extension of time for the completion of contract, having considered the same, recommend the adoption of the following resolution:

W. S. MOORE,
J. E. FOUBISTER,
JOHN HOGAN,
Committee.

Resolved, That M. Fitzgerald is hereby granted an extension of time to May 15, 1910, for the completion of his contract for reducing the grade of Piedmont avenue west, between Third and Tenth streets; provided the surety on his bond shall first give its written consent thereto in form approved by the city attorney.

Alderman Moore moved the adoption of the resolution.

The committee asked permission to change the date of extension from June 15 to May 15, and such permission was granted without objection.

The question being upon the adoption of the resolution, it was declared adopted by a unanimous yea vote of all present, on roll call.

Passed Jan. 17, 1910.

By Alderman Moore:

Resolved, That the Duluth-Edison Electric company is hereby given permission to erect the following lighting fixtures, provided that the erection and locaton of said lights shall not obligate the city of Duluth to pay for the same at the present contract rate, but that said lights be installed with the understanding that arrangement for compensation therefor may be made at some future date, when the condition of the light fund of the city is such as to make payment practicable, legal and just.

The roll being called on the adoption of the resolution as amended resulted as follows:

Yeas—Aldermen Bloedel, Foubister, Hector, Hogan, Moe, Moore, Olson, Storey, Trevillion, President Jordan—10.

Nays—Aldermen Getchell, Hoar, Merritt, Shartel—4.

The resolution was declared lost.

Alderman Moore questioned the ruling of the president. The president of the council withdrew his ruling and asked the city attorney for his opinion as to whether the resolution required a two-thirds vote of the council. The city attorney advised that as the city was not incurring any obligation under the resolution that a majority vote was sufficient to carry the resolution. The resolution was then declared adopted by the president.

Passed Jan. 17, 1910.
Approved Jan. 19, 1910.

The ordinance entitled "An ordinance granting to the Duluth, Winnipeg & Pacific Railroad company, its successors and assigns, a right-of-way over, under, across and along certain streets, avenues, alleys and public grounds in the city of Duluth, with the right, privilege and authority to construct, lay down, maintain and operate railway tracks and facilities over, under, across and along the same, and imposing certain obligations on said company," was read.

Alderman Shartel moved to amend the ordinance as follows:

1. By adding at the end of Section 1 thereof, the following: "Provided further, that the tracks and trestles first laid down, constructed or erected shall occupy as nearly as possible the central portion of the right-of-way owned or controlled by said railroad company, and said tracks shall thereafter be maintained as near as may be in the central part of said right-of-way."

2. By striking out the period at the end of Section 17 thereof, and adding the following: "And shall establish and maintain within the limits of the city of Duluth one or more roundhouses, one or more machine shops, one or more repair shops, and its Lake Superior terminals and yards."

The amendment was declared adopted by a unanimous yea vote of all present, an roll call.

Alderman Shartel moved that action on the ordinance be postponed for two weeks. The motion was declared adopted by a unanimous yea vote of all present, on roll call.

MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS.

JOHN HOGAN,
Committee.

Resolved, That the United States government is hereby granted permission to erect a kiosk at the southwest corner of the intersection of Third avenue west and First street, in the sidewalk space, providing the same shall be placed under a permit to be issued by the Board of Public Works.

Alderman Moore moved the adoption of the resolution, and it was declared adopted by a unanimous yea vote of all present, on roll call.

Passed Jan. 17, 1910.

To the Common Council:

Your Committee on Streets, Alleys and Sidewalks, to which was referred petition for the vacation of the alley lying between blocks 5 and 7 in East Lawn Division of Duluth, did, pursuant to notice published by the city clerk, meet in the office of the city clerk, in the city hall, in the city of Duluth, on Monday, Jan. 17, 1910, at 3:30 o'clock p. m., to hear and consider said petition. At said meeting no one appeared in opposition to the proposed vacation.

The petitioners are the owners of all the property in said block, and propose to dedicate a right-of-way for sewers through said block, but not along the line of the present alley. Owing to the irregular manner in which the property is platted in East Lawn division, a right-of-way reserved for electric lines would be useless. We therefore recommend the adoption of the following resolution:

W. S. MOORE,
J. E. FOUBISTER,
JOHN HOGAN,
Committee.

Resolved, That all that part of the alley lying between blocks 5 and 7, in East Lawn Division of Duluth, is hereby declared vacated.

Alderman Moore moved the adoption of the resolution, and it was declared adopted by a unanimous yea vote of all present, on roll call.

Passed Jan. 17, 1910.
Approved Jan. 19, 1910.

To the Common Council:

Your committee on Streets, Alleys and Sidewalks, to which was referred recommendations of the Board of Public Works, having considered the same, recommend the adoption of the following resolution:

W. S. MOORE,
J. E. FOUBISTER,
JOHN HOGAN,
Committee.

Resolved, That the board of Public Works is hereby advised that this council consents to the issuance of pole permits to the Great Northern Power Company, as recommended in communication from said board dated Jan

EX-CONVICT IS ARRESTED

Three Terms in Prison Have Not Reformed George Lux.

Is Charged With Passing Bad Checks and Wants Speedy Trial.

George Lux, who has served three terms in prison for forgery, two in the Minnesota prison at Stillwater and one in Cleveland, Ohio, was arrested again this morning charged with the same offense. Lux is 41 years of age, and has been working as a janitor in a local office building.

"I want my trial right away," he said to the police this morning. "I do not want to stay in this dirty bull pen. I want to get into a decent place." The police say that he appears anxious to get to Stillwater as soon as possible.

Lux was picked up this morning by Patrolman Gilbert, to whom he was pointed out by one of his alleged victims. The check he is said to have passed last evening was made payable to Frank A. Wagner and signed by the Wade Hardware company of West Duluth. It was passed upon Gust Melin. The amount called for was $37.45, drawn on the Western State bank.

Several other bad checks have been placed about the city lately, and the police believe that Lux is the man who has been doing the work, as he fits the description. Lux was released from Stillwater a little less than a year ago.

FORGES CHECKS TO FOLLOW GIRL

Iowa Youth, Enamored of Chorus Girl, Is Arrested in Duluth.

Dwight Meyers, 21 years of age, of Greefield, La., was arrested last evening at the Spalding hotel by Detective Terry on the charge of passing forged checks in Minneapolis. It is claimed that Meyers left home to follow a chorus girl who is with the "Merry Widow" company. His cash seems to have lasted until he reached the Flour City, where he is wanted for getting good money for poor paper. The young man is claimed to have attached his father's name to the checks.

In Minneapolis, he and his chorus affinity registered under the name of Summers, and the police have been looking for him under that name. But it appears that he came to Duluth Monday and signed the book at the Spalding under his own name. He fitted the description and when E. H. Lee, manager, told the detective that he had tried to pass a check on him, the doubt became a certainty. Just before Meyers was taken into custody at the desk, the chorus girl who led to his downfall, left word with the clerk that when he came in she would be in the cafe. But Meyers was not given time to bid her a fond farewell.

He is being held for the Minneapolis police.

Cured of a Severe Attack of Bronchitis By Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

"On Oct. 18 last my little 3-year-old daughter contracted a severe cold, which resulted in a bad case of bronchitis," says Mrs. W. G. Gibson, Lexington, Ky. "She lost the power of speech completely and was a very sick child. Fortunately we had a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house and gave it to her according to the printed directions. On the second day she was a great deal better, and on the fifth day, Oct. 27, she was entirely well of her cold and bronchitis, which I attribute to this splendid medicine. I recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy unreservedly, as I have found it the surest, safest and quickest cure for colds, both for children and adults, of any I have ever used." For sale by all druggists.

JAPAN AND RUSSIA HANG TOGETHER

Agree to Reject Knox's Manchuria Plan---Say China Is at Fault.

Pekin, Jan. 20.—Japan has notified China informally through the Japanese legation here that Japan and Russia with concerted action will decline the proposal of the United States for the neutralization of the Manchurian railways.

Japan charges China with having been responsible for the proposal, and thus of having committed an act unfriendly to the former.

TEDDY IN THE HOUSE AND IN CANNON'S PLACE.

Washington, Jan. 20.—Roosevelt for speaker of the house of representatives—this is the latest decision reached as to "what shall be done with our ex-presidents?" according to a report that has spread among members of congress. It is even said that Mr. Roosevelt has agreed to run for congress in the First district of New York state, in which Oyster Bay, his home, is located. The understanding that he will be elected to the speakership if he runs is, it is declared, insisted on by Mr. Roosevelt. Representative William C. Cocks of the First district, according to the report, is willing to step down and out in favor of Mr. Roosevelt.

STORK CHASES ICE FLOE.

Twin Girls Are Born While Home Floats Down River.

Gallipolis, Ohio, Jan. 20.—While being buffeted about on an ice-floe on the Ohio river Tuesday night, Mr. and Mrs. William Shields became the parents of two girls. The family lived on a houseboat moored at Millwood, W. Va. The boat was torn loose by the ice, and when it landed the mother was attended by physicians. The twins were named "Ohio" and "Virginia," as a memory of the trying ordeal under which they were born.

FANNING AN OFFICER OF CIVIL ENGINEERS.

New York, Jan. 20.—John A. Bensel, president of the board of water supply, was elected president of the American Society of Civil Engineers to succeed Onward Bates of Chicago, at a meeting of the society yesterday. Rear Admiral M. T. Endicott, U. S. N. (retired), was succeeded as first vice president by John T. Fanning of Minneapolis.

The other officers elected were Hunter McDonald, chief engineer of the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis railway, second vice president; Joseph M. Knapp, treasurer, and Charles W. Hunt, secretary, both of New York, re-elected.

A committee which has been investigating "The status of the metric system in the United States" reported slight gains, and strongly advised that the system be taught in the lowest grades of the public schools.

TAFT MAY ATTEND MEETING IN ST. PAUL.

Washington, Jan. 20.—President Taft has been invited to participate in the celebration to be held at Tampa, Fla., Feb. 12 to 16 next, to commemorate the progress of work upon the Isthmian canal, but the president said he probably would not be able to attend, but would do what he could in the way of sending warships and troops to aid in the festivities.

Another invitation came from the League of American Municipalites, which will meet in St. Paul in August. One thousand mayors are expected to be present. Mr. Taft said he would consider the invitation.

TRAVELING WITH SHOW

Mrs. John P. Cudahy Is Taking a Novel Pleasure Trip.

Wife of Packer Sees Every Performance of "Merry Widow."

Mrs. John P. Cudahy of Kansas City, wife of the wealthy packer, has not missed seeing a performance of the "Merry Widow" company that is appearing in Duluth in many days.

Mrs. Cudahy is a very close friend of Mr. and Mrs. George Damerel. Mr. Damerel plays the part of Prince Danilo in the Savage production. The Damerels were entertained at the Kansas City home of the Cudahys, according to the statement of Mrs. Cudahy this morning, and it was then that the wife of the Kansas City packer decided to join the company, simply as a spectator, and take a trip over the country with the production.

With Mrs. Cudahy is Mrs. R. M. Snyder of Kansas City and the little daughter of Mrs. Cudahy. Mrs. Cudahy has also a maid. During the performance of the "Merry Widow" production in this city Mrs. Cudahy has occupied a box at every performance, causing much speculation as to her identity.

Mrs. Cudahy was asked this morning if she intended going on the stage. "What's that?" came the sharp query. The question was repeated. "Where did you ever get that idea?" she asked in a voice that was sharp with earnest inquiry.

"There is nothing to that story," she went on. "I am a very good friend of the Damerels. They were entertained at our Kansas City home, and then I decided to take a short trip with the company. I do not expect that I will be with them very much longer. I will return to Kansas City shortly.

"Yes, I am a member of the Cudahy family—Mrs. Jack Cudahy. We are of the Kansas City family. The Omaha Cudahys are the family that had their boy stolen by Pat Crowe.

"The story that I am going on the stage is absurd. It goes to show how many rumors will get out regarding people. I am glad you asked me—there is nothing in it. It is simply a matter of being a very close friend. I have never thought of going on the stage; the idea never even appealed to me. It is the interest in my two very good friends that impelled me to take the present trip. As I said before, I do not expect to be with them very much longer."

Mrs. Cudahy is a striking looking woman, and her presence in the box at each performance of "The Merry Widow" has aroused a mild feeling of curiosity. At each performance of the opera there have been many whispered inquiries as to her identity, and between the acts her gowns have been the cynosure of feminine eyes.

Foley's Kidney Remedy will cure any case of kidney or bladder trouble that is not beyond the reach of medicine. It invigorates the entire system and strengthens the kidneys so they eliminate the impurities from the blood. Backache, rheumatism, kidney and bladder troubles are all cured by this great medicine. Sold by all druggists.

FINE VIEW FROM NEW SKY-SCRAPER

Observatory Will Be Arranged on Roof of Alworth Building.

From the top of the Alworth building, there is a view that is unsurpassed in Duluth. Standing on the roof of the sky-scraper, one may see thirty miles out into the lake, far over Superior, up the St. Louis river, out beyond the pumping station at Lakewood and over the entire district in the vicinity of Duluth.

M. Alworth, the owner of the building, has had a space, 50x16 feet, on the roof of the building railed off, and he will use it as an observatory. It will be reached by a stairway from the top floor, where the elevator shaft stands. Mr. Alworth will have offices on the top floor, as will A. B. Wolvin.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED.

Men Will Look Into Matter of Taxing State Lands.

After discussing the idea advanced by C. G. Schulz in the matter of taking state lands as well as privately owned property for school, good roads and drainage, the St. Louis county school officers who were in session yesterday at the Commercial club, authorized the appointment of a committee to look into the matter. The committee is composed of Charles Scheline of Alborn, A. Solen of Duluth, B. B. Boswick, G. O. Serabik and M. N. Triplett. This committee is authorized to take up the matter with the county board of equalization and has full power to prepare and present to the legislators of this district such laws as will advance the educational interests of the county.

ACCOUNTING ORDERED.

Executors of Estate Owning Wisconsin Property Hear From Court.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 20.—Judge John T. Ludwig in the circuit court has ordered the executors of the estate of the late Daniel Wells, Jr., to account to Daniel Wells Norris, a grandson, for earnings of the corporations owned by the Wells estate in which Norris has an interest.

Daniel Wells, Jr., was a multi-millionaire and his estate was left in trust. Besides large interests in Milwaukee there are several large corporations in the northern part of the state owned by the estate.

The undivided profits of the corporations amount to hundreds of thousands of dollars, according to the complaint. The trustees contend that the court had no jurisdiction over the corporations or the trustees in their capacity of directors of the corporations.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

PROGRAM IS VARIED AT TRI-STATE MEET

Horticulture, Society of Equity and Social Events in Evening.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—That the farmers of North Dakota, Northern South Dakota and Western Minnesota, are enjoying prosperity, is evidenced this week by the unexpecteidly large attendance here at the Tri-State convention and kindred association meetings and exhibitions in progress, indicating they have the money and are willing to spend it. The number of visitors has been large.

The Tri-State program today was a varied one. The forenoon session was devoted to horticulture, the afternoon to the American Society of Equity and the evening will be given over to a band concert and domestic science.

This morning the first speaker was O. C. Gregg of Minnesota, who discussed "Trees for Protection and Ornament Around Farms." A. Brackett, one of the Minnesota farm lecturers, spoke on "Northwestern Horticulture," and Prof. Waldron of the North Dakota agricultural college on "Economic Forestry."

The feature of this afternoon's equity program will be the address by United States Senator McCumber on "Justification of Organization by the Farmers." Several equity speakers will also take part.

This evening the Agricultural College Cadet band will give a concert, followed by the annual tri-state address by President Worst. Miss Jessie M. Hoover and other speakers will then discuss domestic science subjects. Miss Hoover is dean of that department in the North Dakota Agricultural college.

THIRTEEN GILCHRIST BOATS ARE SEIZED.

Milwaukee, Jan. 20.—Following the appointment of the receiver in Cleveland, Ohio, for the Gilchrist Transportation company, United States Marshal H. A. Weil yesterday seized thirteen boats belonging to the company which are in Milwaukee harbor. Twenty-five different writs of attachment were secured by creditors of the defunct company against the vessels here.

Marshal Weil has no official knowledge of the receivership proceedings in Cleveland, but says that the vessels will be held until bond is given for them by the receiver.

TWO CITIES WILL JOIN IN A POULTRY EXHIBIT.

Marinette, Wis., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—A unique poultry exhibit will be held here Saturday. The exhibit will be under the supervision of the Menominee and Marinette poultry fanciers, and while it will not be competitive it will possess features which will make it one of the most successful ever held here. The birds will be lectured on by Prof. J. J. Hallin, head of the poultry department at the University of Wisconsin.

EXHIBITS FEET BEFORE THE JURY

Samuel Hersh Trying to Prove That He Is Permanently Injured.

Samuel Hersh, who is suing the Northern Pacific Railroad company for $1,999 damages for injuries alleged to have been sustained while working on the company's docks during October of last year, this morning displayed his bare feet for the benefit of the jury.

Hersh claims that the work of unloading the Steamer Schuylkill was done under a Northern Pacific foreman and that as he was employed by the railroad company, it is responsible for his injury. He claims that the hold of the boat was not properly lighted and that the number of men employed in the task of unloading car wheels weighing up to 1,200 pounds each, was not sufficient.

One of the wheels tipped over and crushed his big toe so that it had to be amputated. The instep of his foot was also broken and crushed, he alleges. He claims that he is injured for life and that the foot gives him considerable pain and also makes him unfit for work.

The case is on before Judge Cant.

OFFICIALS RETURN FROM EASTERN TRIP.

W. J. Olcott, president of the Oliver Mining company, W. A. McGonagle president of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroad and F. E. House, president of the Duluth & Iron Range railroad, returned yesterday from New York, where they attended a meeting of the presidents of the subsidiary companies of the United States Steel corporation.

NINE TRAINS ARRIVE ALL IN A BUNCH.

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 20.—The snow blockade in the Cascade mountains that has tied up traffic on the Great Northern lines since Saturday was broken yesterday afternoon. Nine passenger trains that had been held up between Wellington and Leavenworth arrived late in the afternoon. The first train to get through consisted of mail cars bringing the first transcontinental mail received here since Saturday morning.

TWO NEGRO FIENDS HANGED IN ARKANSAS.

Osceola, Ark., Jan. 20.—Will and Charles Mullins negroes, were hanged here yesterday for the murder of A. Robinson and his daughter. They admitted that they shot the daughter and burned her body and stood the father in scalding water and then shot him. Their purpose was robbery.

MINNEAPOLIS GIRL HAS MEN ARRESTED.

New York, Jan. 20.—Minnie Frankenfield, a Minneapolis art student in New York, caused the arrest yesterday of three men who said they were James Thompson, R. H. Smith and William E. Moore, respectively president, vice president and secretary-treasurer of the "Acreage Subdivision company." She charges them with having acted in concert to obtain from her $9,250, "by trick and device" through an alleged fraudulent land scheme.

INDOOR CAMP MEETINGS.

Salvation Army Prepares for a Week of Revival Services.

A series of indoor camp meetings, extending from Sunday, Jan 23, to Monday, Jan. 31, will be held at the Salvation Army barracks, 22 East Second street. The meetings will be in charge of Adjutant Charles J. Staige, and during the series Col. Stephen Marshall of Minneapolis, Major Percy Morton of Milwaukee, Adjutant Peter James, Capt. Fred Spiller and others will be present to address the meetings.

The local staff of the Army is preparing for nine days of rousing meetings. There will be special features every day and notable among them will be a hallelujah wedding Tuesday, Jan. 25, a stereopticon lecture Thursday, Jan. 27, a farewell to Adjutant and Mrs. Staiger Sunday, Jan. 30, at 8:00 p. m., and a welcome meeting to Col. Marshall Monday, Jan. 31.

"NOODLES" WILL SELL HERALD SATURDAY NOON.

By request of of the Herald newsboys, "Noodles" Fagan, the world's champion newsboy, who is in Duluth this week, will sell the noon edition of the Herald Saturday at Third avenue West and Superior street instead of selling the evening edition, as he planned.

HANCOCK GIRL STRUCK BY CHUNK OF ICE.

Hancock, Mich., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Elsie Coughlin, who was struck upon the head by a large mass of ice which fell from the engineer's cabin on the county draw as she was crossing the bridge en route home from basket ball practice at the Amphidrome Monday evening, is reported to be showing a decided improvement. She is still unconscious at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Coughlin, whither she was removed immediately after the accident.

FORMER BRAINERD MAN PROMOTED IN MONTANA.

Brainerd, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—R. P. Blake has been appointed master mechanic of the Montana division of the Great Northern railroad with headquarters at Livingston. Mr. Blake was for some time in the employ of the company in this city and his many friends here will be pleased to learn of his promotion.

ROSEAU BANK HAS ELECTED NEW CASHIER.

Roseau, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Citizens' State Bank of Roseau the following officers were elected: President, Bendix Holdahl; vice president, Olaf Holdahl; cashier, T. B. Holdahl. The officers are also the directors. Olaf Holdahl, who has been the cashier since the bank was organized, retires in favor of his younger brother, also connected with the institution for some years.

MOUNTRAIL COUNTY STANDS.

Supreme Court of North Dakota Decides for New County.

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The decision of the supreme court of North Dakota yesterday, which affirmed the decision of Judge Templeton in the famous Mountrail county case, marks the close of the two years' bitter legal struggle which has been waged. By this decision Mountrail county is firmly established, the last opposing claim to its right to be considered as an independent county being knocked out. The fight has been the bitterest ever waged in North Dakota.

CHARITIES CONFERENCE AT MANKATO FEB. 11.

Mankato, Minn., Jan. 20.—The eighteenth state conference of Charities and Corrections is to be held in Mankato Feb. 11 to 14.

The most distinguished speaker at the conference will be Rev. Dr. C. R. Henderson, formerly president of the National Conference of Charities and Corrections, and now president of the International Prison association. Governor Eberhart is to speak on Sunday evening, Feb. 13. State Labor Commissioner McEwen will also speak.

PLANING MILL EMPLOYE LOSES PART OF HAND.

Cloquet, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Alfred Hall had his right arm crushed while at work at the Cloquet Lumber company's planing mill. He was reaching over the machine at which he worked and in some way his clothing got entangled and his arm was drawn between the rollers. His hand and arm were crushed and torn so badly that it was necessary to amputate his thumb after his removal to the Cloquet hospital. He might have been injured more seriously had it not been for one of the workmen standing near, who immediately shut off the machine when Hall became entangled.

English Rate Cut Again.

London, Jan. 20.—The directors of the Bank of England at the weekly meeting today reduced the minimum rate of discount from 4 to 3½ per cent. Cheap discount rates, accession in the demand for gold for the continent during the last week and the improved monetary situation generally caused the directors to make the change.

Rebellion in Uruguay.

Montevideo, Jan. 20.—A rebellion has broken out in the provinces. The government, however, expects to put it down promptly. It is impossible to determine the extent of the disaffection, which is led by a faction of the white party and believed to be secretly aided by Argentina.

Girl's Murder Is Unsolved.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 20.—The murder of Anna Lloyd, whose disfigured body was found here New Year's day, is left a mystery by the finding of Coroner Coe. An open verdict concludes with a criticism of the absence of street lighting at the scene of the murder.

Vardaman Loses Three.

Jackson, Miss., Jan. 20.—Three votes were lost by ex-Governor James K. Vardaman yesterday in the two senatorial caucus ballots as compared with the previous day's results. Signs of a break in the deadlock are as yet undiscernible.

WHEAT HAS A REACTION

May Option Closes Fractionally Higher Here After Heavy Opening.

Flax Jumps 12 Cents, Closing at the High Point.

Duluth Board of Trade, Jan. 20.—The wheat market acted as if it had been oversold today by the shorts. After a heavy opening, due to lower cables and increased receipts in the Northwest, the market advanced fractionally higher than the opening which was $1.10. After the opening May declined to $1.09½ and gained ¼ point and then advanced to $1.10, losing ⅛c, advancing to $1.10⅜, declining to $1.10¼-⅜ and closing at $1.10⅜ bid. Trade was active here, many longs becoming weary and turning loose their holdings while some of the short crowd bought. The bulge undoubtedly was due to overselling and buying by shorts who failed to cover on yesterday's decline.

The flax market furnished a few fireworks by advancing a total of 12 cents, hitting $2.14 after opening at $2.02. May declined to $2.01½ after the opening and advanced to $2.07½, lost 1c, then advancing to $2.09, selling off 1c and gaining 4c, declining to $2.11½ and hitting $2.14, losing ½c and then advancing to $2.14 at the close.

The advance in flax was due to covering by traders who had gone short this week on the decline and the upturn in the Argentine market, which scored an advance of 11 cents. The Argentine news on flax appeared to be somewhat superficial. The movement of flax seed is good and the unfavorable reports which started the advance were declared by Le Count, Barrell's correspondent, to be without foundation. The Argentine flax is susceptible to great fluctuations and today's bulge appears to have been chiefly of a speculative nature. In the local market it was difficult to learn whether crushers were buying but as these interests are said to consider present flax prices too high, it is not likely that they were in the market to a very great extent. In the morning about 50,000 bu of flax were traded in, a large volume compared with recent activity. The offerings and bids were widely scattered. Finley Barrell said country offerings are almost over.

The cash trade in wheat was improved and this had a tendency to lend some encouragement to the dealings in futures. Cash here was on a parity with May. At the leading cash markets, however, the situation was stronger than yesterday. Millers bought moderately. The flour trade, according to reports from Minneapolis, was fairly large yesterday, although the sales were confined to the big concerns. The little fellows look for a good business if the market continues strong. The millers claim that large Eastern customers are out of the market for the present, but that there is a good demand from the West. Flour prices have experienced a slight reduction this week, due to the drop in wheat.

Jobbers and retailers in the country loaded up with flour, according to reports, having expected high prices such as prevailed last year. In so doing they contributed to the bearish influences that have caused the decline in wheat.

The Liverpool market closed lower and the effect was noted on this side at the opening. Wheat was heavy and the shorts took advantage of the decline to buy. Many longs are becoming large losers on paper and some who became discouraged turned sellers. The long interest in wheat is greatly reduced and the short interest appears to be the largest in many months. The bulls have lost their aggressiveness and the bears having tasted of their first victory in some time, overreached themselves a little and oversold the market. This practically caused today's bulge.

Estimates of a decrease in the Argentine shipments this week was regarded as a bullish factor. Argentine news does not cause as much excitement as formerly, however, and the report was not given much attention.

Some houses sold wheat today, playing for a reaction which they believe will come.

Receipts in the Northwest continued large today, and the attitude of the farmers is one of the chief factors in the situation. All of the railroads except the St. Paul are practically cleaned up, and some traders think receipts will begin to show a decrease. Others hold a contrary view. The tentative overtures for a settlement of the switchmen's strike did not have any effect on the market, as receipts have been liberal, even during the strike. Traders think conditions are almost normal in the transportation world, and the return of the strikers to work will be a negligible factor, the amount of wheat at shipping points and the attitude of the man on the farm being more important from a market standpoint.

Broomhall's foreign cable summary said: "United Kingdom—There have been heavy rains during the last week which has prevented the sowing of the new crop. France—The outlook on the whole is generally favorable for the growing crop, although there are still complaints of vermin and rank growth. Supplies are larger. The weather during the last week has been rainy. Germany—The weather is mild with the outlook favorable. Supplies are smaller with the demand good. Hungary—There has been snow during the week and the crop outlook continues satisfactory. Roumania, Servia and Turkey—The outlook continues favorable with the weather seasonable. Russia—The growing crops are now under a good snow covering. Supplies from the interior are liberal. Italy—The crop outlook is favorable, with an increased acreage reported. Spain—The growing crop is in need of general rains, otherwise the crop conditions are favorable. Australia—The new wheat is being freely shipped, although farmers in the interior are holding firmly. New Zealand and Chile—Present indications point to a fair yield. India—In the most important wheat districts further beneficial rains have fallen, which has materially benefited the crop. The promise is for a good yield."

Increases in wheat stocks outside of the regular visible supply: St. John, 600,000 bu; Manitoba, 411,000 bu; Portland, Me., 421,000 bu; Dallas, 54,000 bu. Decreases: Port Huron, 950,000 bu; Chicago private elevators, 120,000 bu; Depot Harbor, 113,000 bu; Midland, 102,000 bu; Kingston, 92,000 bu; Nashville, 70,000 bu; Sarnia and Port Edward, 57,000 bu.

Durum closed ⅜c up. Rye at the close was ⅜c up, barley 1c higher at 59-65c and cash wheat equalled May.

Car receipts at Duluth were 73 against 15 last year; at Minneapolis 365 against 187 last year; at Winnipeg 156 against 96 last year, a total of 594 for the Northwest compared with 298 against last year. Chicago received 13 cars against 1 last year. Kansas City received 101,000 bu compared with 65,000 bu last year. St. Louis received 80,000 bu against 34,000 bu last year.

Primary receipts of wheat were 742,000 bu; last year 348,000 bu; shipments 284,000 bu; last year 249,000 bu; clearance of wheat, 28,000 bu; oats, 2,000 bu; flour, 51,000 bbls; wheat and flour, 258,000 bu.

Primary receipts of corn were 707,000 bu; last year, 573,000 bu; shipments, 501,000 bu; last year, 649,000 bu; clearances, 160,000 bu.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool—"Our Argentine agent estimates the wheat shipments this week, 68,000 bu; last week, 296,000 bu; last year, 2,472,000 bu. Corn, this week, 403,000 bu; last week, 512,000 bu; last year, 73,000 bu. The damage to the corn crop by locusts is insignificant. The wheat market at opening was steady with values ⅛@⅜d higher, being influenced by the unexpected firmness in American markets yesterday and the free cast of light Argentine shipments. Following the opening severe selling pressure developed and prices declined ⅜d to 1d with the principal weakness in July. The pressure was attributed to the lower offers of La Plata parcels and selling by tired holders. Just before mid-day there was a rally from the extreme decline on the further decline in the bank rate to 3 per cent and this prompted shorts to cover. At mid-day the market was irregular at ⅛d advance to ½d decline. Corn was quiet and unchanged. Wheat cargoes arrived off coast all and awaiting orders nil. Wheat cargoes in distant positions firm with more demand for near positions. Corn slow, no bidding."

Bartlett-Patten wired from Chicago: "Liverpool ¾d higher to 3 per cent on wheat and unchanged on corn. Weather throughout west continues favorable for the movement of traffic. Cash demand for grain shows no improvement. Indications are for larger receipts, while the covering movement which closed the market higher, may result in further advance. We believe that wheat, corn and oats should be sold on any bulge."

Price Current said: 'Snow covering has disappeared to an extent. Winter wheat regarded as in good condition. Some apprehension of damage to corn in the field, by wet incident to thawing weather."

Finley, Barrell & Co. wired from Chicago: "Sentiment in wheat last night was not quite so bearish, and the majority of conservative bears accepted profits on the theory that a natural reaction was in order. However, as we believe that short lines will be replaced on any further improvement, we would not hesitate to put out short lines on all bulges from present level, as, unless receipts show a material decrease or something develops to bring about a radical change in sentiment, rallies will prove of sodas water character."

The Chicago Inter-Ocean said: "Traders said that the weak longs let go that the market became too heavily oversold for values to continue their downward trend. It was also said that the reaction was natural and came largely from coverings by shorts. There was also a tip out that wheat would do to buy on breaks, and some operators played it. After the close it was said that there might be some further advance because country offerings have dried up on decline.

"Corn sentiment after the close was evenly divided. The bears are predicting an overwhelming movement as soon as the condition of the railroads will allow them to handle the corn."

Liverpool close: Wheat, ½d to ⅝d lower; corn, unchanged.

Paris wheat closed unchanged; flour ¼c lower.

Berlin wheat closed ¼c lower.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Bearish Sentiment Rules in Early Trading in Wheat.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—Bearish sentiment ruled in the wheat pit in the early trading here today and prices fell off a shade to ⅜c at the opening. Liberal crop movements inspired commission house selling. Foreign cables telling of slight advances in Liverpool prices helped with improved buying to check the initial decline. The market in the first hour kept practically within the opening figures which for May were $1.08¾@1.09.

Later an increased cash demand caused a stampede of shorts and resulted in a sharp rally, May advancing from $1.08¾@1.08⅜ to $1.09¾. The close was firm at nearly the high point of the day, with May at $1.09⅜@1.09½, a gain of ½c compared with yesterday's closing figures.

In corn, a slight decline at the outset, ranging from a shade to ⅜c lower, was quickly converted into an advance of ¼c over yesterday's close. The moving factor in the advance was apprehension that the crop still in the fields would suffer damage from thawing. May opened a shade to ⅛@⅜c lower at 67⅞@67¼c and in the first hour ran up to 67¾c, steadying at about that point.

Eastern demand gave support to the market. Accordingly prices advanced, May touching 68⅜c. The close was firm, with May at 68¼c, an advance of ⅛@⅝c over last prices of yesterday.

Other futures exhibited a similar course.

Scattered selling in oats based on increased crop movement caused prices to ease off a shade at the opening.

The range in the first hour was within ⅜c. May opened firm a shade lower to a shade higher at 47¾@47⅝.

The general tendency in provisions was downward selling of quantities of ribs ruling the market. At the opening pork fell off 10c and ribs 2½c. Lard was 2½c higher. The decline in the first hour was 10@15 cents below the opening figures, which for the May product was pork, 21.80; lard, 12.12½; ribs, 11.60.

ADVANCES IN STOCKS

Market Closed Strong and Active at the Highest Prices.

Renewed Slump in Hocking Coal Shortly After the Opening.

New York, Jan. 20.—The stock market had a feverish opening with strong advances in the majority of the list caused by a rush to buy on the part of uncovered shorts. There was a renewed slump in Hocking Coal. The first sale was of 500 shares at 25, the low point of yesterday and compared with 33 yesterday's last price. The stock subsequently sold at 22 and then recovered to 25. There was a heavy unloading of Rock Island at a drop of 2¼. Chesapeake & Ohio also declined 2. Sales of 6,000 shares of United States Steel were made at 82½ and 82⅞ compared with 81¾ last night. Utah Copper jumped 2¾. Pullman, 2. St. Louis Southwestern preferred and Amalgamated Copper 1⅜, Louisville & Nashville 1⅝, Wabash preferred and Northern Pacific, Mercantile Marine preferred and Denver & Rio Grande a point and many other active stocks large fractions. Prices yielded from the best after the opening.

The feverish tone of the first hour ended when supporting measures checked the reaction. Severe pressure on Chesapeake & Ohio carried it 2¼ under last night. The general level of prices fell back to below last night. Consolidated Gas and Allis-Chalmers preferred dropped 2½, Pittsburg Coal preferred 2, American Smelting, Western Union and Erie second preferred 1½ and some others a point. Except in the coppers, prices had rebounded to the best by 11 o'clock.

Announcement of the failure of the specialists in Hocking Coal caused only a slight tremor in the market. Prices advanced again afterwards. Hocking Coal vibrated erratically between 22 and 27. Rock Island, Great Nortern preferred and North American rose 2½ over last night, New York Central and Wabash preferred 1¾, Reading 1⅝, Texas & Pacific and Kansas City Southern preferred 1¾, New York, Chicago & St. Louis 5, National Railways of Mexico 2¼, Pullman 5, and Union Pacific, St. Paul, Atchison, Missouri Pacific, Pennsylvania, American Smelting and National Lead 1. Rock Island preferred declined 2. The tone was strong at noon. Bonds were irregular.

The market closed strong and active at the top prices. A sharp reaction after 2 o'clock, running from 1 to 2 points in several prominent stocks, had the appearance of a bear drive. Prices rallied subsequently to the highest of the day. Gains in New York, Chicago & St. Louis reached 7, Great Northern ore certificates and Bethlehem Steel 2½, United States Steel 2⅝, Delaware & Hudson and Southern Railway preferred 2, National Railways of Mexico second preferred 1¾, United States Realty, Virginia-Carolina Chemical and Philadelphia company 1½, Pittsburg Coal 1½ and Atlantic Coast Line, Wabash, Illinois Central, Westinghouse Electric and American Locomotive 1. The demand fell off at the higher prices and there were some recessions followed by rallies. Colorado Fuel preferred sold at a decline of 7½ and Vulcan Detinning preferred 9.

ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION —OF— MINNESOTA CANDY KITCHEN COMPANY.

BE IT KNOWN, That we, whose names are hereto subscribed, do hereby associate ourselves together and adopt and sign these articles for the purpose of forming a corporation in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 58 of the Revised Laws of Minnesota, 1905, and all Acts amendatory thereof and supplementary thereto.

ARTICLE I.

The name of this corporation shall be MINNESOTA CANDY KITCHEN COMPANY. The general nature of the business of this corporation shall be the manufacture of all kinds of confectionery, and the buying, selling, handling, storing and disposing of all kinds of fruit and confectionery; also the buying, selling, storing, handling and disposing at wholesale or retail, or on commission or consignment, of all kinds of goods, wares and merchandise usually bought, sold, stored, handled, consigned and disposed of by wholesale or retail fruit and confectionery merchants. This corporation shall also have power to buy, sell, receive on consignment or commission, and dispose of, by sale or otherwise, of all kinds of merchandise in any way pertaining to the wholesale or retail fruit and confectionery business, to act as sales agent for the sale and disposal of the same, and to do and transact all kinds of business incident thereto, and said corporation may buy, own and lease real estate for the purpose of carrying on its business, and may acquire and hold, use and dispose of all such property, including real, personal and mixed; and also do and transact all kinds of business incident and necessary and convenient to be done in the manufacture of confectionery, including the receiving, storing, handling and selling of all of the ingredients entering into the manufacture of confectionery, and generally to acquire, hold, use and dispose of such property, and to do any and all things and acts usually incident, necessary, convenient, expedient or conducive to the attainment of any of the purposes aforesaid, or to the conduct or management of the business of said corporation.

The principal place of business of said corporation shall be Virginia, Minnesota, but it may have branch houses at other places in Minnesota and elsewhere.

ARTICLE II.

The time of the commencement of this corporation shall be January 20, A. D. 1910, and the period of its continuance shall be thirty (30) years.

ARTICLE III.

The names and places of residence of the persons forming this association for the purpose of incorporation are Alexander George, Mike Zootis and Fred Reynolds, all residing in the City of Duluth, Minnesota.

ARTICLE IV.

The management of this corporation and the conduct of its affairs shall be vested in a Board of Three (3) Directors, all of whom shall be stockholders, and who shall be elected at the annual meeting of this corporation to be held on the third Monday in January of each year, and in a President, Vice President, Treasurer and Secretary, who shall be elected by the Board of Directors at a time and place and in a manner prescribed by the by-laws of this corporation. The names and addresses of the persons composing the first Board of Directors are Alexander George, Mike Zootis and Fred Reynolds, all of Duluth, Minnesota. The offices of President and Treasurer may be held by the same person. Until their successors are elected and qualified, the officers of this corporation shall be Alexander George, President and Treasurer; Fred Reynolds, Vice President; Mike Zootis, Secretary.

ARTICLE V.

The amount of the capital stock of this corporation shall be Twenty-five Thousand Dollars ($25,000.00), to be paid in in cash or property, or both, at such times and in such manner and amounts as may be determined by the Board of Directors of this corporation.

ARTICLE VI.

The capital stock of this corporation shall be divided into Two Hundred Fifty (250) shares of the par value of One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) each.

ARTICLE VII.

The highest amount of indebtedness or liability to which this corporation shall at any time be subject is Ten Thousand Dollars ($10,000.00).

FORCED OUT IN THE COLD

Mrs. Dora Asher Claims Husband Ejected Her From Home.

Stood for Two Hours Clad Only in Night Clothing.

That she was forced out of her home on a cold winter night, clad only in her night clothes, and beaten at various times into insensibility by her husband, Dell Asher, are some of the instances of ill treatment named in the complaint filed this morning with the clerk of the district court, in which Mrs. Dora Asher asks for divorce.

Mrs. Asher is 29 years of age and her husband is 38. They were married at Grand Rapids, Mich., ten years ago and have for a number of years resided in Duluth. There are two children, a boy 7 and a younger lad of 6.

In her complaint Mrs. Asher claims that two weeks after the wedding Asher kicked and choked her. He also struck her in the face, leaving marks, she alleges.

During the month of June, 1903, he knocked her insensible, and when the baby, Kenneth, was less than a year old Asher pounded the child in the face with his fist because it cried, she states.

On the average Asher choked his wife once a week to show her who was master, she alleges. In 1907 he drove her from the house and kept her out two hours in her night dress. She finally called a policeman and Asher was forced to admit her. Later in the same evening, she says, he again drove her from the house and she was forced to take refuge at the home of her sister.

She claims that her health is greatly impaired as the result of abuse at his hands, and states that it is dangerous for her to try to live with him. She claims, also, that she was not properly supported during the latter part of the time she was living with him, and that during the three years since she left his house he has contributed nothing to the support of herself or children.

Mrs. Asher asks that a divorce be granted her, also the custody of the children, and whatever other relief the court may deem just.

It is a dangerous thing to take a cough medicine containing opiates that merely stifle your cough instead of curing it. Foley's Honey and Tar loosens and cures the cough and expels the poisonous germs, thus preventing pneumonia and consumption. Refuse substitutes and take only the genuine Foley's Honey and Tar in the yellow package. Sold by all druggists.

SAYS HOOKWORM IS A KIND OF HUMBUG

New Orleans Doctor Brands Talk About Disease As Poppycock.

New Orleans, La., Jan. 20.—Dr. Joseph A. Danna of the Charity Hospital at New Orleans thinks there is a good deal of humbug about the hookworm.

"The fact that Rockefeller gave $1,000,000 to help stamp out the hookworm has added much to the talk of the disease. Candidly I think much of this talk is poppycock."

Such was the opinion rendered by Dr. Danna here today.

"An Italian physician," continued Dr. Danna, "recently told me that reports of the prevalence of this disease had the effect of scaring Europeans away from the South."

SAY WASHINGTON IS UNREASONABLE

Germans See No Logical Basis for America's Tariff Demands.

Berlin, Jan. 20.—The imperial ministry from time to time has communicated to the governments of the Federated German states the progress of the tariff negotiations with the United States. All of the governments have indicated their approval of the imperial position that no concession can be made concerning the importation of American meats, and are in full accord with the terms and spirit of Germany's recent and definite reply to the American request.

In view of the fact that American exports of meats are declining because of the high prices prevailing in the United States, it is regarded here as unreasonable that Washington should insist upon concessions which must be extended to Germany's neighbors.

PROGRAM FOR FREE CONCERT

The program for the Masonic free concert to be given at the auditorium of the Masonic temple Sunday, Jan. 23, at 3:30 follows:

Organ—Old English melodies..... Arr. by Godfrey

Violin solo—
(a) Adagio, from the Octet..Shubert
(b) "Perpetuum Mobile".....Reis
Oliver Colbentson.

Tenor solo—"Jerusalem"..... Parker
A. R. Bjorkquist.

Organ—"Grand Offertoire de Ste. Cecile"..... Batiste
(a) No. 1, in C, minor.
(b) No. 2, in C.
(c) No. 3, in F, minor.

Tenor solo—"Good Night"..... Balfe
A. R. Bjorkquist.

Organ—Selection from the opera of "Maritana"..... Wallace

A change from the usual order of the Sunday program is made possible through the kindness of Oliver Colbentson, who contributes a double number, assisted by Horace Reyner at the organ.

Mr. Bjorkquist's selections are well chosen.

The first organ number is a collection of the good old English tunes.

The second number comprises the three parts of Batiste's celebrated offertoire, which is good organ music, tuneful and dignified as well. The program concludes with the choicest pieces of that most pleasing and popular opera by Wallace, "Maritana."

TRAIN HITS STREET CAR.

Accident at East St. Cloud That Might Have Resulted Fatally.

St. Cloud, Minn., Jan. 20.—Late Monday night a Great Northern freight train ran into the Sauk Rapids street car at the East St. Cloud crossing and completely demolished one side of the car. No one was injured. The car was returning from the Rapids after taking the people home from the theater. The conductor and motorman, Buckman and Liljedahl, say that the train was upon them before they realized what was happening. Liljedahl was running the car and Buckman was on the front step. The windows were frosted so that Liljedahl could not see up the track. The engine struck the car square in the middle and knocked it over to the side of the track. The entire side was demolished and the stove tipped over and started a blaze. The trainmen threw snow on the fire, however, and soon extinguished the flames. The train was moving very slowly when the accident happened or the men would certainly have been killed.

SAYS HOTEL MEN ARE GOING TO CONSIDER MEAT BOYCOTT PLAN

Samuel Dutton of Denver Talks of Coming Convention.

Labor Organizations in Missouri Take Up the Movement.

St. Louis Women Will Discuss Fight Against High Cost of Living.

Denver, Col., Jan. 21.—Something of a national character is to be given the recently inaugurated meat boycott, according to Samuel Dutton, president of the Western Hotel Men's Protective association. The proposition of cutting down the consumption of meat will be brought before that body at a meeting to be held in Chicago Jan. 31, when the association will be made national.

"Unless something is done to curtail the price of meat," said Mr. Dutton today, "the time is coming when the

THINKS PRICES ARE REASONABLE

Governor Eberhart Fails to Find Food Trusts in Minnesota.

Washington, Jan. 21.—The Post yesterday printed an interview with Governor Eberhart, as follows:

"While I have not made a careful study of the matter, I believe the law of supply and demand controls the price of living less in the East than the West. There are few articles in my state on which food trusts can effect a corner, and our prices are regarded as reasonable.

"Last year we produced $427,000,000 worth of food stuffs, and the farmers of Minnesota got the money. The prices charged for meat, vegetables, bread-making grains and other provisions are consequently governed by the size of last year's crop."

MORE COAL FOR GUGGENHEIMS

New Options May Give Them Control of Most of the Bituminous Mines.

Charleston, W. Va., Jan. 21.—Representatives of the Guggenheims have obtained options on 80 per cent of the New River coal fields, which comprises 200,000 acres. The plan is to combine the entire bituminous coal interests of Southern West Virginia, the Fairmount field, and the holdings of the Pittsburg Coal company. This would give the Guggenheims control of 75 per cent of the soft coal of the country.

INSURGENT CONFERENCE

North Dakota Committee Takes Steps to Clarify the Situation.

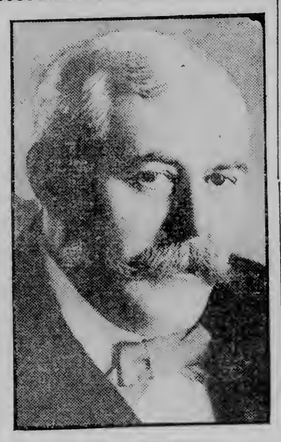

Effort to Reduce the Number of Congressional Candidates.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first meeting of the "conciliation" committee of the insurgent faction of the Republican party was held in Fargo yesterday, when it was decided to bring about a settlement of the difficulties into which that wing of the party has recently found itself by reason of having a superfluous number of candidates for the congressional positions.

This committee, the membership of which has just been made public, was appointed at the recent insurgent conference in Valley City. Thomas Hall of Bismarck, secretary of the state railroad commission, is the member at large, and the members from the several judicial districts follow: First district, A. O. Anderson, Grand Forks, and J. C. McMasters, Lakota; Second, Asa J. Styles, Esmond, and Homer Resler, Starkweather; Third, Walter Reed, Amenia, and Theodore Kaider, Hillsboro; Fourth, R. W. Shouweller, Fairmount, and R. S. Adams, Lisbon; Fifth, H. N. Tucker, Courtney, and A. B.

RECENTLY RESIGNED FROM THE B. & O. ROAD

OSCAR G. MURRAY.

Born in Connecticut, Oscar G. Murray was a natural railroader and he dropped into railroad management as though he had been made for that vocation. He worked his way up on Western roads and eventually came into control of the great Baltimore & Ohio property. He was recently superseded at the head of that road by Daniel Willard. It is reported that he will make his home in New York instead of Baltimore in the near future.

STRIKE NOT ANTICIPATED

Trainmen's President Expects Arbitration to Settle the Dispute.

Conferences on Demands in the East Will Begin on Monday.

Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 21.—Plans for negotiating with the railroad systems of the Eastern part of United States and Canada for a wage increase and uniform working conditions were formulated here today at the headquarters of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen.

President W. G. Lee of the Trainmen said that substantially all of the railroads had been heard from, either formally or informally, with respect to the proposition submitted by the Trainmen and the Order of Railway Conductors. Answers received today, however, did not change the complexion of the general situation. None granted any of the terms proposed by the employes, but each has expressed a willingness to negotiate a settlement.

Strike Is Not Likely.

Prospects of a strike are considered meager. It is expected by Mr. Lee that the negotiations, which will begin at once, will last several weeks. Points seriously disputed will be taken up by all of the committees in a general meeting.

If the important points are refused by the railroad companies, then there will be talk of a strike. Each road will then be dealt with individually by a committee of the employes of that road.

President Lee will leave tonight for Chicago to take part in the arbitration of the grievances of the yardsmen in the Chicago switching district. The arbitration will begin next Monday. In the meantime Mr. Lee will confer with President A. B. Garretson of the Conductors, who are jointly interested with the Trainmen in the present wage movement.

DELAYS STRIKE IN QUAKER CITY

Union Leader Holds Off in Hope of Arbitration of Street Car Dispute.

Philadelphia, Jan. 21.—Although more than 5,000 motormen and conductors of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit company voted last Tuesday in favor of a strike, the men are still at their posts today and all the lines of the company are running on their usual schedules. C. O. Pratt, who has been authorized by the executive committees of both the local and national bodies to give the word which will put the proposed strike into effect, is still holding back, hoping that the threatened trouble may yet be averted. Pratt said today:

"The men's grievances will be settled by arbitration. If the officials of the company and the members of the union fail to agree upon any individual who can arbitrate the differences, the people will have to be the umpire."

The last communication received by the union men from the company holds little hope for a peaceful ending of the trouble.

BOTH TURN DOWN PLAN

Japan and Russia Alike Reject Scheme for Manchurian Railroads.

Formal But Decisive Replies Are Given to O'Brien and Rockhill.

Tokio, Jan. 21.—The reply of the Japanese government to the United States' proposal for the neutralization of the Manchurian railways was handed to Ambassador O'Brien yesterday afternoon. It is a polite declination.

No intimation of the contents of the memorandum of reply is given, but the best information obtainable indicates that the communication is brief and that the declination to accept the neutralization proposition is based on several grounds, the chief of which are:

The American plan would be of no advantage whatever to Japan.

It would afford no advantage to China.

It would not change the commercial situation in Manchuria, where Japan

JUST A "SCHOOL FOR GOVERNORS"

Conference at Washington Takes No Stand on Public Questions.

Washington, Jan. 21.—The majority of the state heads consider the governors' conference as a school for governors, rather than as a body to recommend legislation or to take definite action on any of the subjects discussed. This fact was made plain at the concluding session of the conference late yesterday, when it was decided that all resolutions calling for a formal expression of opinion by the governors should be left in abeyance. Several governors thought the body should take a definite stand on great public questions.

Further, the governors showed that it was their purpose to deal with state problems and to leave to the federal government questions which concerned the nation as a whole.

Eberhart's Resolution Dropped.

This decision was evidenced when a committee, appointed to consider a resolution introduced by Governor Eberhart of Minnesota, relative to recommendations to congress concerning jurisdiction of federal and state courts, reported that such jurisdiction belonged to the president of the United States and did not come within the scope of the conference.

After perfecting concrete plans for future conclaves, the conference adjourned to meet at one of the state capitals on a date between Thanksgiving and Christmas of the current year, the exact time and place to be determined by a committee.

A sub-committee of the league of self-supporting women of New York submitted a statement, recommending that the political status of women in the separate states be made one of the topics for a full discussion at the next meeting of governors.

HOLDS DOGS MUST DODGE

State Supreme Court Says the Motormen Need Not Stop the Cars.

Suit Over Canine Killed in St. Paul Is Lost By Its Owner.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Minnesota supreme court today, in an opinion by Justice Jaggard, decided in effect that a dog running in the streets of St. Paul has no rights that a street car motorman is obliged to respect.

The decision was given in the case of William J. Henry vs. The St. Paul City Railway Company. Mr. Henry owned a valuable dog which one day became engaged in a heated argument with another dog in the middle of a street car track. The dogs were so interested in their quarrel that they failed to note the approach of a street car. The motorman sounded his gong and thought the dogs would heed the warning clangor, but they went on fighting until the car struck the Henry dog and killed it.

Verdict in Lower Court.

Mr. Henry brought suit and recovered a verdict for damages in the lower court.

The supreme court reversed the lower court, Justice Jaggard holding that it was "presumed a dog will get out of the way of a street car, and a motorman is not obliged to stop his car if a dog does not."

MORSE STILL IS IDLE IN PRISON

Ex-Banker Has Not Been Assigned Work in the Penitentiary.

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 21.—Charles W. Morse, one-time ice king and New York banker, now "Convict No. 6814," in the federal prison here, has not yet been assigned to any work. Warden Moyer is out of the city and until he returns Morse will not be given anything to do.

Mrs. Morse has returned to Atlanta after a visit to New York in her husband's behalf and has had several conferences with the prisoner. She announced today that Martin W. Littleton, Morse's lawyer, would be in Atlanta some time next week, when the next legal steps to be taken in an effort to secure Mors.'s free a will be considered.

FIXES SALARIES OF CENSUS AGENTS.

Washington, Jan. 21.—A favorable report has been ordered by the house committee on a joint resolution fixing the maximum pay of special agents of the census at $6 a day, and traveling expenses, and allowance of $3 a day in lieu of subsistence. The resolution has already passed the senate.

ABOLITION OF INSANITY PLEA IN CRIMINAL CASES SOUGHT BY LAWYERS IN NEW YORK STATE

THAW CASE AN EXAMPLE

Amendment of Habeas Corpus Law Also Recommended in Report.

"Zealous Counsel" and "Unscrupulous Experts" Are Given Rebuke.

Famous Trial Is Branded "Disgraceful Farce"---Delays Are Scored.

Rochester, N. Y., Jan. 21.—In a report which scathingly rebuked the efforts to liberate Harry K. Thaw from the Matteawan asylum, the special committee on the commitment and discharge of the criminal insane today recommended to the thirty-third annual meeting of the New York State Bar association that the "insanity plea" be abolished as a defense against a charge of crime, and also recommended the amendment of the habeas corpus law.

It is suggested that the law be amended so that a person confined in a private asylum may ask for a writ of habeas corpus at any time and without supporting affidavits, but that a person confined in any state hospital for the insane, or a state hospital for insane criminals, or a state hospital for insane convicts, may make an application for a writ of habeas corpus only on a written verified petition accompanied by a certificate made under

DURHAM MEMBER OF PARLIAMENT

PETE CURRAN, M. P.

Pete Curran is one of the representatives of labor in the British house of commons. He has represented Durham since 1907. He is chairman of the General Federation of Trade unions and is on the parliamentary committee of the Trade Union congress. He has acted as labor delegate to America, Germany, France, Holland, etc.

ST. LOUIS "BOBBY" IS FOUND GUILTY

Convicted of Manslaughter for Killing Man He Was Arresting.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 21.—Patrolman James O'Hearn was found guilty of manslaughter in the fourth degree by a jury today and fined $500, the minimum punishment. O'Hearn in making an arrest hit Ralph Collins on the head. Collins died within twenty-four hours.

UNIONISTS GAIN NINE

Government Now Has 239 Members in Parliament Against 181.

Americans Are Voting at Some of the English Polling Places.

London, Jan. 21.—Returns from the thirty-five constituencies which were polled for members of parliament yesterday, but the results from which were not known until today, are now complete and the seats are proportioned as follows:

Unionists, 18; Liberals, 13; Laborites, 2; Nationalists, 2.

This is a Unionist gain of nine seats without a single loss.

At the dissolution of the last parliament the same constituencies were represented by 21 Liberals, 9 Unionists, 3 Laborites and 2 Nationalists.

The known standing of the parties this afternoon is:

Government coalition—Liberals, 150; Irish Nationalists, 58; Laborites, 31.

Opposition—Unionists, 181.

Thus the Unionists already have secured thirteen more seats than they held at the time the last parliament was dissolved, and more than one-third of the members of the new parliament are still to be elected.

People Fear Change.

It was the old-fashioned English country people, with their rock-ribbed conservatism, their reverence for the nobility and their prejudices against the new-fashioned socialism, who were heard from yesterday and who gave the decided boom to the Conservative stock. As a result Unionists everywhere have taken cheer.

The Liberal government will return

SAY AMERICA ASKS TOO MUCH

Germans Oppose Keeping the United States on Favored Tariff List.

Posen, Prussia, Jan. 21.—The chamber of agriculture has adopted resolutions appealing to Chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg not to grant to the United States the most favored nation treatment in view of the increased duties on German importations, under the Payne law. Such action by Germany would be regarded as thoroughly justifiable, the chamber says, and the resolutions urge the chancellor particularly against granting concessions upon importations of American meats, to the end that the raising of livestock in Germany may be encouraged.

MAKES ATTACK UPON HIS WIFE

Blaming Her for His Conviction Ex-Convict Attempts to Kill Her.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Because he believed his wife was responsible for his arrest five years ago when he was convicted of an incest charge, Arne Arneson made a vicious attack upon her at their home in Sargent county, and he is now held in the county jail at Coggswell, charged with attempting to murder her.

The woman was severely cut about the head and shoulders before she managed to gain her freedom and with blood flowing freely from her wounds she ran to a neighbor's home. The officials were immediately notified and Arneson was arrested. Arneson is a farmer residing in Marboe township, Sargent county, and he has been in states prison until a few weeks ago, on the charge of which he was convicted five years ago.

MINERS LAY BIG PLANS

Scheme for Joining of Unions Will Be Presented at Indianapolis.

Sensation Is Caused By Charge That Outsider Has Been Present.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 21.—Thomas L. Lewis of Ohio was re-elected president of the United Mine Workers of America over William Green of Ohio by 23,597 majority. Frank J. Hayes of Illinois was elected vice president by a majority of 33,237 over E. S. McCullough of Michigan. Edwin Perry was chosen secretary-treasurer, without opposition.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 21.—A definite plan for the projected merger of the metal miners' and coal miners' organizations in the United States and Canada will be laid before the convention of the United Mine Workers of North America, now in session in this city. The plan will be perfected by a committee representing the coal miners here assembled and by a visiting committee sent by the metal miners of the Western Federation of Miners.

Store News

A remark made by one of our employes—a young man who joined our forces some two months ago—may be the key to the "sales" situation in Duluth. The sentiment he expressed may be shared by thousands and may account for the unprecedented desire to possess our clothes as evidenced by the rush of the last few days. He said: "I always thought a store fixed it's prices when getting ready for a sale, so it would come out even. I never thought these sales were on the square until now."

MEETINGS IN FARGO CLOSE

Grain and Stock Men Hear Addresses By Prominent Authorities.

Kennel, Corn and Poultry Exhibitions Are Brought to an End.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—With an attendance almost as large as on the former days of the week, the Tri-State Grain and Stock Growers' convention ended this afternoon. The attendance has been from 25 to 50 per cent larger than ever before and the interest in the proceedings has been much greater and a number of remarkable demonstrations of enthusiasm have occurred during the week.

The program makers had scheduled J. J. Hill of the Great Northern railway for the final speech this afternoon, but he was forced to cancel the date and in his place Prof. Thomas Shaw of St. Paul was heard. During the forenoon session Supt. Porter of the demonstration farm work in North Dakota, described what was being done and told of some of the results obtained. M. F. Greely of South Dakota spoke on the "Stability of Northwestern Agriculture." "The Progress of North Dakota" was recounted by Commissioner of Agriculture Gilbreath. "Freeing the Country of Weeds" was presented by Prof. Bolley of the North Dakota agricultural college.

Hear of Government Tests.

In addition to the shaw address this afternoon Prof. Fitz of the government standardization department, spoke on baking and milling tests and their value to the farmers and the millers. The rest of the afternoon was devoted to reports of committees and transaction of business.

Following the closing of the North Dakota Kennel association show last night, the North Dakota Corn show and the North Dakota Poultry show went out of business this afternoon. All three exhibitions were great successes and the displays in each attracted much attention.

LINDBERGH HITS PATRONAGE EVIL

Discusses Abuse He Charges to the Influence of Cannon.

Sauk Center, Minn., Jan. 21.—Congressman C. A. Lindbergh, of the Sixth district, in his latest letter to the eighty newspapers in his district, attacks Cannonism in no uncertain tones of rebuke. He says in part:

"Under the Constitution, we are divided into congressional representative districts, with equal representative authority. But the Washington government has disregarded the idea of equal representative authority, by refusing to recognize representatives from districts not sending men suited to its purposes. Of course, they cannot send them back home again, but they are not consulted about the patronage, nor other wishes, of their districts.

"The direct and indirect harm from such disregard is easily exemplified in the latest attempt of the Cannon machine to induce the departments to turn down representatives who do not submit to Cannonism. It is not the patronage that is so material, but the effect of its control on measures to be acted upon.

"Consider our nearest home point to which the influence of patronage is applied; the Second district in our state. Its present representative has twice been selected to represent them; but in spite of this fact, the audacious Washington government says to the people there, that it will not accept the man whom they have selected, and as a punishment to them for not sending the kind of man wanted by Washington, their district patronage is taken from them.

"The present attempt of Cannonism to press members into its service by an attempted use of the Washington government in its distribution of patronage, should be a signal to the people to possess themselves of the Washington government and make it a part of the United States. No one can deny that the use of patronage for the purpose of influencing the people's representatives is a mockery on representative government."

FLIES TO TORTURE BABY.

Father Alleged to Have Made Wife Pour Molasses on Infant.

Montezuma, Iowa, Jan. 21.—Charged with most peculiar abuses he heaped upon members of his family, Michael Wells of Montezuma was yesterday indicted by the grand jury for assault with intent to commit great bodily injury.

The indictment embraces two charges. The first of these is that he horsewhipped his wife, and the second is that he tied the hands and feet of his infant child, and while she was nude, forced his wife to pour molasses upon the infant's back so that the flies would gather and torment it.

It is alleged that Mrs. Wells was compelled to be a party to this cruelty by the husband, who stood over her with a horsewhip.

COMMERCIAL CLUB ACTIVITIES

REPORT DUE ON TERMINALS

Plans of the Committee May Be Put Into Effect.

The report of the terminals committee of the Commercial club, which is at work drawing up a plan for an ideal terminal system of Duluth, is due in a few weeks. The committee has employed Capt. H. A. Parker to draw up the plan, and has had several consultations with Mr. Parker. The committee at first decided to draw up two plans, an ideal one which might be worked out at some time in the future, and another more practicable. But the plan that is being evolved by Capt. Parker is said not only to be ideal but also feasible. As far as the passenger service is concerned, no trouble is anticipated, and it is believed that the railroads will readily agree to the proposed changes. The freight situation may require more study, and be more difficult to work out. It will put some of the roads to quite a little expense, but it is believed that this initial expense will result in a saving in the long runs, and that the roads can be made to see it in this light. The plans will not be given out until they are presented to a meeting of public affairs committee.

Lecture By John Lind.

The next lecture in the series of agricultural talks being given under the auspices of the Commercial club and the Y. M. C. A. will be delivered by Former Governor John Lind at the Y. M. C. A. assembly hall on Jan. 28.

Mr. Lind's subject will be "Agricultural Education." He was scheduled to speak here on Jan. 14, but changed dates with Prof. F. L. Washburn.

REPORT ON GARDEN COMPANY

Accurate Statistics Will Be Presented to Commercial Club Tuesday.

At the next meeting of the Public Affairs Committee of the Commercial club, which will probably be held next Tuesday, the report of the committee on the Duluth Garden company will be presented.

When the plans for the garden company and the suburban electric line were presented to the committee, the members expressed their approval of them, but wanted more acurate statistics on the cost of constructing the line and the agreement that could be made with the Duluth Street railway. A committee was appointed to secure these statistics, and they will be presented at the next meeting of the general committee. If they are satisfactory, a new committee or several committees will be appointed to assist in securing subscriptions to the stock of the new company.

Routine Work.

The traffic committee of the Commercial club is holding regular meetings several times a week, but the work of the committee is now largely routine and has to do with special instances of rate discrimination. Each case is taken up separately with the railroads and good results are being obtained.

COST OF LIVING IN DULUTH

Commercial Club Report on Live Topic Nearly Complete.

At the present time when there is such a widespread agitation for lower meat prices, and the citizens of Cleveland, Ohio, have formed an organization, the members of which have bound themselves not to eat meat for one month, the statistics of the cost of living in Duluth are of special interest.

There is now a committee of the public affairs committee of the Commercial club, headed by W. A. McGonagle, at work on a comparison of the cost of living in Duluth and in other citits of the country. A detailed report is being prepared at the present time, and figures have been secured from accurate sources in almost every large city in the country. These figures will be compiled into comparative tables, and these tables will be incorporated in a report to be presented to the public affairs committee. This report is not expected to be ready in time for the meeting next Tuesday night, but it prebably will be completed by the next regular meeting of the committee.

From the figures compiled, it is stated that Duluth is paying higher prices for meats than some of the coast cities, notably Portland, but that on the average the meat prices are not much above those in other cities of the same size.

THE BY-LAWS ARE PRINTED

Farmers' Clubs Will Study Details of Proposed Market Association.

Printed copies of the bylaws of the Producers' Co-operative Market association are today being mailed out to all the farmers' clubs and Commercial clubs of the county.

These by-laws will be gone over in the meetings of these clubs, and on Feb. 10, the clubs will send delegates to Duluth to take final action on the permanent organization of the association. Any changes that are suggested by the farmers' clubs will be taken up at that time.

The attendance of farmers at the recent meeting of the County club was most encouraging. The Commercial clubs in the towns were the ones that fell down, only two or three of the range towns being represented. The farmers' clubs are most enthusiastic over the plans of the open market, and there is little doubt but that there will be a good attendance at the meeting on Feb. 10.

CITY DISTRICTED.

Every Effort Made to Get Complete Census of Duluth.

The work of districting the city for the approaching federal census has been completed by B. L. Hollister, the census supervisor for this district, with the assistance of the secretary of the Commercial club and a number of local politicians who are familiar with the city and have had experience in compiling voters' lists.

The Commercial club is anxious that a complete census of the city be secured, and to this end has engaged Joseph W. Allen to act as assistant here to Mr. Hollister. He will have desk room in the Commercial club from now until the time the census has been completed, and will see that a competent corps of enumerators is secured, and that they thoroughly understand their duties. His work will have to do particularly with the city, although he will receive applications for outside enumerators also. There is a committee of the County club, appointed at the last meeting here, to see that the census of the county is as nearly complete as possible.

Sale News For Saturday

The Greatest Coat Sale—

This city has seen for many moons welcomes you tomorrow to our second floor. A maker, who specializes only higher grade coats, made us an offer to make up his stock on hand—to cover cost of material and keep his machinery from getting rusty 'tween seasons. Because the department head knows the quality goods handled by this manufacturer, he wired acceptance right off. The final shipment is here.

About 75 Coats in Two Lots

Lot 1 — $7.75 Values to $25

Lot 2 — $14.75 Values to $45

Though the first two days of this phenomenal coat sale made many women happy, really by far the prettiest and best values are included in the express packages that came in today. We wouldn't be a bit surprised if every coat at $7.75 and $14.75 had found a new owner before the wane of tomorrow afternoon. An important adjunct we nearly forgot—many are full Peau de Cygne and satin lined!

The White Sale Undermuslins

Offer some stirring values Saturday, while other White Sales around about us are swallowed up in the dim forgetfulness of past store history. This January White Sale offers bigger and better values Saturday than ever.

Two reasons for this encouraging news: Fresh shipments are the primary and most important one and includes among many others these all-important popular items.

White and fresh packages galore of snowy Corset Covers and Drawers of fine nainsook, trimmed with lace and embroidery; others have plain tucks and ruffles and still others with embroidery ruffles at the modest price of 50c

Fresh New Gowns, trimmed with lace and embroidery in the new empire effects at $2.00. Prices advance by easy stages as high as you care to go.

Barred Muslin Combinations; also nainsook combinations, trimmed with dainty lace and embroidery. During the opening days of the White Sale they sold so fast that this is the third and last shipment we can get at the old prices—$3.50 values for $2.00

Here is the second reason:

In looking over our shelves we found some garments that were soiled and a trifle musst. You know you can't handle these things all the time showing them to customers without getting them a little tumbled up.

Not believing in keeping anything but fresh, crisp stuff, we took out the mussy things, lookt them over carefully, put them out on tables and put a Half Price card on each table.

Absolutely nothing wrong that a washing machine, aided by a little elbow grease, won't remedy. They are regular stock and fine values at original prices. Be early—the earlier the better for yourself.

Another table full of combination Dress and Corset Covers of fine nainsook—trimmed with embroidery and lace—full line of sizes, of course. Special Saturday ... $1.35

More American Lady and Redfern Corsets

That were from $2.50 to $8.50, will go the way their kindred did last Saturday, only they'll depart quicker at $1.98

THE POLICE COURT GRIST

One-Armed Man Played Detective, But Only Succeeded in Getting Arrested Himself.

Edward Walsh, a one-armed man who has been arrested half a dozen times in about as many weeks lately, thought he would do a little arresting himself yesterday afternoon. In the union depot he walked up to Roy Mosher, who was about to take a train for other parts, with the demand that he accompany him to the police station.

"Who are you, and what do you want?" demanded the surprised would-be passenger.

"I'm a detective," Walsh is reported to have replied. "Never mind what we want you for. Just come along and you'll find out soon enough."

Mosher went with Walsh to police headquarters, where Walsh delivered the "prisoner" to Sergeant Kenna, who was in charge. He went through the formalities, but when he ended and Mosher had been given an opportunity to say a few words, Walsh was arrested. He was charged with impersonating an officer. This morning in police court he pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for this afternoon.

Mattio Chieti, an Italian, was arrested yesterday charged with stealing a $5 bill from Valenin Krazvarich, an Austrian. The latter made such a fuss about it that he was also arrested, charged with disorderly conduct. The alleged robbery had no eye witnesses and both were discharged after a trial in police court this forenoon.

• • •

George Laux, who has been in the penitentiary three times for long terms for forgery and who was arrested again yesterday on the same grounds, waived examination yesterday afternoon and was bound over to the grand jury. Laux passed poor paper calling for $37.45 on Gust Melin, Wednesday afternoon, it is claimed.

• • •

Frank Raff was fined $3 in police court yesterday afternoon for violating the hitching ordinance. Patrolman Andree told him that he ought to have a weight for his horse, and he is said to have replied that he didn't have to, whereupon the policeman brought him to headquarters. It appeared in police court that Raff meant that he "didn't have to" because the horse was such a "plug" that it wouldn't run away, while the copper thought he meant to be "sassy."

• • •

Because Peter Carren swore loudly at the big buildings on Superior street without any reason, he was fined $10 or five days, in police court yesterday afternoon. He didn't have the cash and went to Sheriff Bates' boarding house.

• • •

Four vags got heavy sentences, three of them being given a chance to get out of town, and the other, Michael Sullivan, who had been in before, being sent over for thirty days.

NEW MISSILES FOR WEDDINGS

Gentlewoman: It is quite singular how of late years a decided object to the ancient custom of rice and slipper throwing after the bride and bridegroom has sprung up, so much so that several comparativcly new ideas have of late come almost universally into vogue.

Instead of hard rice pellets, which occasionally are thrown with too much vehemence to be pleasant, some brides go in for substituting the tiniest ladies' slippers as well as horseshoes made entirely of soft silver paper. These resemble a sparkling shower of silver. Other brides lean to providing their friends with dried rose or other sweet smelling leaves to be thrown after them.

VETERAN MAY NOT BE TRIED

Wheaton, or Quigley, Wants to Be Finally Purged of Charges.

Government Is Not Ready for Trial and Indictments May Be Quashed.

Andrew R. Wheaton, or Jack Quigley, the civil war veteran, who is charged with attempting to defraud the government, will go free a week from next Wednesday, unless the government is ready for the trial of his case, which is entirely unlikely. He appeared before Judge Morris in United States court yesterday afternoon to demand a trial at this term of court, and was arraigned on another indictment returned at this term of court, almost identical in form with the indictment under which he is awaiting trial.

Judge Morris agreed with Wheaton, or Quigley, that he should be tried at this term of court, and the district attorney said that the indictments might as well be quashed, for the government will not be ready for trial.

The district attorney sought to have the first two indictments dismissed and the trial on the new one continued until July. The court denied the motion on the objection of the attorney for the defendant. Mr. Wormwood, the attorney, argued that the return of the indictment at this term, was an attempt to evade the order of the court denying a continuance to the government, but Judge Morris exonerated the district attorney's office from any such attempt.

Mr. Wormwood objected to the nolle prossing of the indictment, claiming that Wheaton, or Quigley, might be arrested and held for another indictment. Assistant District Attorney Joel M. Dick said that another indictment could not be returned at the July term of court, but Mr. Wormwood persisted and a hearing was set for Wednesday, Feb. 2, when the matter will be disposed of.

Wheaton is accused of attempting to secure a pension under the name of Wheaton, when his real name was Quigley. He claims that he is Andrew Wheaton, who served in a Maine regiment during the Civil war, and that he took the name of Jack Quigley when he came to Minnesota, some years ago. He has assigned no reason for the change. Quigley has been identified as Wheaton by relatives and friends, who knew him in Maine before he came West. A woman in Michigan is said to have been drawing a pension as the widow of Wheaton, although the man under indictment says he was divorced from his wife years ago.

A motion of the district attorney for a continuance of the case was denied on the first day of the present term, Judge Morris holding that all of the parties are getting old and the case should be finally disposed of.

HIGH HONORS FOR TWO LOCAL MASONS

W. B. Patton Elected Grand Master and R. E. Denfeld Senior Grand Deacon.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 21.—The two days' session of the Masonic grand lodge of Minnesota closed last night W. B. Patton and Supt. R. E. Denfeld of the Duluth schools were highly honored by the grand lodge, Mr. Patton being elevated to the position of worshipful grand master, while Denfeld was made worshipful senior grand deacon.

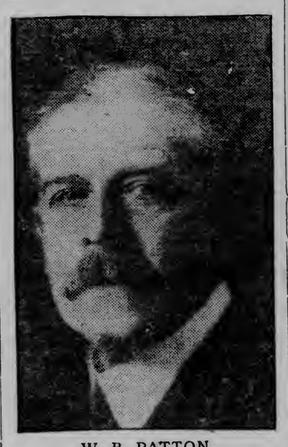

Other officers elected were F. A. Kling, Little Falls, deputy grand master; John Fishel, St. Paul, grand secretary; D. W. Knowlton, Minneapolis, grand treasurer; ex-State Secretary Albert Berg, Spooner, grand marshal; Hayden French, Ortonville, grand sword bearer; Fred Neff, Lake Crystal, newspaper man, grand standard bearer; J. B. McIntyre, Anoka, grand pursuivant; John Ludwig, St. Paul, grand tyler; Henry Nobbs, grand chaplain; C. E. Elmquist of the state railroad and warehouse commission, grand orator (Mr. Elmquist succeeds Supt. Denfeld of Duluth in this office); Owen Morris, St. Paul, senior grand warden; W. Hays Laird, Winona, junior grand warden; Henry Burnham, Jackson, junior grand deacon.

A feature was the election of but one Minneapolis Mason to office, Hennepin county seeming to be disunited fraternally, as it is politically. There was no row, however, over the paucity of successful Minneapolitans. One item of the lodge convention was the abolition of the district deputy system and another was the unanimous adoption of a code which embodies a total revision of existing Masonic code, as applied to the lodge in the state. The revised code was reported on by Former Representative W. P. Roberts of Minneapolis, who has been at work on it for months.

Alderman Alex McKnight of Duluth was an interested non-participant in the election. The following were representatives from the Duluth lodges: W. D. Underhill, R. E. Denfeld, W. R. Patton, H. R. Burgo, G. A. Taylor, John Cox, R. T. Hugo and T. D. Hugo.

HAZEN GIVEN LIMIT OF LAW

Man Convicted Under New Act Must Serve Three Years.

After having been proven guilty of taking the earnings of an immoral woman, Fred Hazen was last evening sentenced to three years in the state prison by Judge Martin Hughes of the district court.

Judge Hughes said in pronouncing sentence that the crime was one of the most deplorable known to modern society. "My only regret," added the judge, "is that others connected with your case, who are probably as guilty as you are, are not here to receive sentence also."

Frank Bryan, who was convicted some time ago of picking pockets, was given three years at the state institution.

Albin Johnson, who stole money from a drunken man in a room at the Nicollet hotel, was sent to prison for one year.

R. S. Schuppert got a sentence of one year at Stillwater, but it was suspended during good behavior. He seemed to be more or less the victim of circumstances and has a wife and three children who would suffer, were he sent to prison.

Julius Gronholm, who with Jacob Hanson Wolff, broke into a tailor shop on Lake avenue and stole a quantity of clothing, also got a suspension, Wolff drew an eighteen months' sentence.

MUST REGISTER OR LOSE VOTE

Saturday Last Day for Getting Names on Poll Books.

Tomorrow is the last chance to register. If your name is not already on the poll books and is not put there tomorrow, you cannot vote at the city election, Feb. 1, when a mayor and an alderman from each ward will be chosen by Duluth's electors.

The primaries and the registration Tuesday brought out 6,242 voters. The normal registration of the city should be between 10,000 and 11,000, based upon the vote of two years ago. Tomorrow the candidates are hoping to see the number already registered, brought up to 8,500 or 9,000 or more.

The Democrats met last evening at their campaign headquarters, 214 Manhattan building, to form an organization. Charles E. Dice was selected as campaign manager, Walter F. Dacey, secretary and Bert Fesler, treasurer. The chairman of the wards are: Frank Crassweller in the First, Frank Heideman in the Second, Charles F. Hector in the Third, H. P. Curran in the Fourth, John Hogan in the Fifth, Louis Levine in the Sixth, James Hart in the Seventh, and Charles Silger in the Eighth. They will work with the different candidates.

STATE AUTOMOBILISTS

Hold Meeting in St. Paul and Elect Officers.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The state automobile association, in session here, elected officers as follows: President, Reuben Warner, Jr., St. Paul; vice presidents, J. A. Gates, Kenyon, and J. H. Riheldaffer, Minneapolis; secretary-treasurer, L. A. Wood, St. Paul.

Representatives of twenty-two out of thirty-two clubs were at the meeting. The membership of the association is 1,800. The Red Lake Falls club was admitted to membership.

The members favored the extension of the new state sane speed law to cover village and city incorporations, as some of them have passed drastic laws which conflict with the operation of the state law, considered one of the best in the union.

L. T. Young, former attorney general, said that since the state has control of all highways and roads in its borders, it is probable that the supreme court would construe the ordinances as unconstitutional since it is in conflict with the state law and requiring a second penalty for the same offense. The association adopted a resolution indorsing the proposed federal automobile law covering interstate travel.

RABIES PREVAIL IN WINTER.

Stillwater Council Decides to Continue Muzzling Dogs.

Stillwater, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The city council has declared in favor of extending the dog muzzling regulations for sixty days more, after the present one expires, Jan. 29. A communication was received from Dr. C. A. Mack of the city board of health, stating that rabies are prevalent, and that there is danger of new cases. A written motion by Alderman C. E. Glaser, making the extension, was carried.

BETRAYED BY DRINK.

Suspect, in His Cups, Admitted He Was Naval Deserter.

Owatonna, Minn., Jan. 21.—Chief of Police Mallinger took into custody one Al. G. Smith, a young man, who has been working around the city for the past month, but who, it became known, was a deserter from the United States navy. Smith gave himself away while under the influence of liquor.

Smith stated that he deserted from the U. S. S. Cheyenne at San Diego, Jan. 25, 1909. He was originally from Scranton, Iowa, and communication with that place corroborated his story. He enlisted in the navy Aug. 9, 1908, so that his desertion took place only five months after his enlistment.

Chief Mallinger notified the bureau of navigation of the navy department at Washington, which telegraphed instructions to have Smith taken to Philadelphia and delivered to the commandant of the League Island navy yard.

THIEF RIVER FALLS IS TO HAVE NEW HOTEL.

Thief River Falls, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Preparations for the construction of the $45,000 hotel for Thief River Falls are under way. It will be erected on the corner of Horace avenue and Third street, and will be known as the Hotel Evelyn.

MAY MOVE WAHKON.

Petition to Change Name and Move Postoffice to Soo Town.

Wahkon, Minn., Jan. 21.—A movement is on foot to change the name of the local postoffice from "Lawrence" to "Wahkon," and have it moved up to the new town on the Soo line. Two petitions are being circulated, one by E. C. Kielgas and the other by C. M. Halgren, who are candidates for appointment as postmaster. The present incumbent, T. E. Potts, will endeavor to hold the position, he being willing to concede the removal, and change of name.

The change of name is desirable from the fact that the business interests of the place are practically all located on the new townsite, which is on the railroad.

WAS NEARLY NINETY.

Mrs. Kerr, Aged Brainerd Woman, Goes to Her Reward.

Brainerd, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Anna Marie Kerr, widow of Christian Kerr, died at the home of her son, F. C. Kerr, Wednesday morning, Jan. 19, of cancer. The deceased was born in Denmark, May 1, 1821. She came to America in 1875 and lived in Illinois, Wisconsin and Iowa, prior to coming to Brainerd, three years ago to make her home with her son, F. C. Kerr. The five children living are: Hans P. Hanson, Oregon, Wis.; P. C. Kerr, Brainerd; Mrs. Martha Paulson, Mendota, Minn.; Mrs. Ida Paulson, Brooklyn, Wis., and Nels P. Kerr, Lime Springs, Iowa. The funeral will be held on Saturday next, with interment in Evergreen cemetery.

WOMAN BLIND PIGGER SENT TO LITTLE FALLS JAIL

Little Falls, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Victoria Broskowski of North Prairie, who was arrested on the charge of running a blind pig in the southern part of the county, appeared before Justice Gerritz today and pleaded guilty to the charge. The woman was fined $50 and costs, which amounted to $81.75. The defendant seemed willing to pay the fine but refused to stand the costs of the action so was sentenced to spend sixty days in the county jail.

Bemidji Declamatory Contest.

Bemidji, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—A declamatory contest will be held at the high school this evening, to select representatives for the annual contest with the high schools of neighboring towns.

Those rendering humorous selections will be Emil Engels, James Knox, Walter Jones and Marjorie Knox. Those rendering serious selections will be Elmer Hilliard, Grant Gill, Bertha Malakowski, Anna Spain, Alfred Neuman and Hiram Simons.

OZO MULSION

The Distinguishing Feature of Ozomulsion is its CURATIVE QUALITY, Which All Other emulsions Lack.

HOME TREATMENT FOR TUBERCULOSIS.

It is not necessary to go away from home and incur the great expense of the "Outdoor Sanitariums" to cure Consumption. Many thousands—victims of tuberculosis—cannot afford it.

Fortunately there is a method of treating this dreadful disease whereby the poor have equal chance with the rich.

It is not a question of any particular climate or outdoor living in luxurious "Homes for Consumptives."

PLENTY OF FRESH AIR, SUNSHINE and Wholesome Food at Home, together with OZOMULSION—which is within the reach of all—will, if taken in time, afford all the relief that the most expensive sanitariums offer.

Ozomulsion is known, recommended and sold by worthy druggists everywhere in 16 oz. and 8 oz. bottles.

Always ask for Ozomulsion by name.

SAYS LAKESIDE FIRE HALL IS DISGRACE TO THE CITY

Chief Randall Says a New Building Is Needed Immediately.

Wants New Hall at West Duluth and One on Sixth Street.

Joseph Randall, chief of the fire department, urgently advises Duluth to take heed from the terrible lessons that have been learned in other cities because of inadequate facilities for fighting the blazing demon.

He states in his annual report that some day an emergency will arise in this city when the inadequacy of the fire apparatus, compared to the demands made upon it, will be shown. He does not enter the dramatic field but leaves the awful possibilities to events of the past, written in lost lives and immense property losses.

The chief recommends three new fire halls, two to replace two already in use and one new one at Sixth street and Fourth avenue east. The condition of the hall at Lakeside is commented upon especially. He states that boards have to be placed crossways under the wagons to prevent the wheels from going through the rotten floor.

The chief criticises the city, stating that many buildings privately owned which are in better shape than the Lakeside hall have been condemned. But this is allowed to stand, although men are compelled to stay in it twenty-four hours every day. He states that there is a cesspool underneath the floor which gives forth odors which are a menace to the health of the men and the citizens living nearby. The joists are described as decayed and sagging, allowing the building to settle. The walls are cracked, making it impossible to keep plaster on them. The glass in the windows is cracked. When the wind blows from certain directions it is almost impossible to open the doors. He wants a new hall there at once.

Chief Randall recommends that a hall be erected at West Duluth. He believes that it would be cheaper to buy a new site and put up another building than to repair the present hall.

The repairs at No. 2 hall in the West end have been nearly completed, separating the sleeping quarters of the men from that of the horses. The parts of the building which were falling to pieces have been replaced. Paint and repairs are recommended for headquarters at Sixth avenue west and First street.

Ten additional men are asked in order that the firemen may have one day off in every seven, which would make it easier to get men for the department. The city council has made provision for an additional levy for this purpose, but it does not take effect until July 1.

RAILROADS

MONSTER LOCOMOTIVE.

Giant Weighing 468,000 Pounds Built By Great Northern.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Low, and of extraordinary length proportionate to heighth, and with a tractive power capable of moving a train of enormous weight, Great Northern locomotive "2,000" attracted much attention today in the union station yards. Motive power experts from the various railroad shops of the Twin Cities visited it. The engine is one of the largest in the world, and the largest ever turned out in the Northwest by far. It came out of the Great Northern shops, where switch enghines have been constructed, but where no attempt was ever before made to turn out as great a machine as "2,000."

The locomotive will go west over the Great Northern road to Montana, where it will have a thorough try-out on the mountain grades. G. H. Emerson, superintendent of motive power for the road, expects it will prove capable of moving from 100 to 120 50-ton cars on a level track.

The total weight of the engine and tender is 468,000 pounds. The rough general idea of a tandem bicycle entered into the construction of "2,000." An additional unit was added, with the result that the engine has a total length from pilot to rear end of tender of 92 feet. There are two sets of cylinders. The back or high-pressure cylinders receive the direct steam and the front or low-pressure cylinders then use it again.

ACCUSE CATTLE MAN.

Alleged to Have Left Cow Out in Bitter Cold.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Humane Officer Fifer has been called from Duluth to look into a case here. It is claimed that H. Siegel, a local cattle dealer, left one of his cows tied to a pole outdoors during the bitter cold for fifteen hours. Until Mr. Fifer arrives from Duluth to investigate the case, steps have been taken by the police to secure comfortable shelter and feed for the animal. As yet no quarters have been found for the cow, but it is expected Siegel will be forced to provide shelter for the animal at once. It is stated by the police officers that they have heard of Siegel mistreating his cattle in many instances, but were unable to catch him in the act until yesterday, when the suffering animal was found in a deserted alley.

NEGAUNEE SUICIDE HAS BROTHER IN DULUTH.

Negaunee, Mich., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Swan Carlson, single, aged 30, said to have a brother living in Duluth, killed himself by shooting yesterday afternoon. He was despondent.

Editor of the Century.

New York, Jan. 21.—Robert Underwood Johnson has been appointed editor of the Century magazine in the place of the late Richard Watson Gilder. Mr. Johnson has been associate editor of the magazine since 1881.

Erie Freight Office Burns.

New York, Jan. 21.—Fire in Jersey City today destroyed the Erie railroad freight office, an icehouse and an oil tank containing 20,000 gallons of oil. For awhile the Erie passenger station and freight sheds were threatened. The loss is $20,000.

May File Memorandum.

Washington, Jan. 21.—Judge R. S. Lovett, president of the Union Pacific railroad, has been given leave to file with the attorney-general a written memorandum on the request made of the government to discuss the suit to dissolve the merger of the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific railroads.

A PHILOSOPHER'S RESIDENCE.

Pall Mall Gazette: A student in philosophy, named Brinkitch, refused to indicate his place of abode when summoned as witness in a case before the Belgrade courts the other day, writes our correspondent. "Not possessing a tub, like Diogenes," he explained, "I can only refer you to my waterproof, which is at present my ordinary place of dwelling."

KING'S $1,000,000 RESTAURANT.

Gentlewoman: The latest work of the king of the Belgians is the building of a restaurant in pure Chinese style. All the carvings and decorations, which are wonderfully beautiful, have been done by Chinese workmen. It is to be at the international exhibition, but the difficulty is to find any one rich enough to pay the rent demanded. The place has cost King Leopold no less than £225,000, a million and a quarter of dollars.

Doctor's Prescription Cured Gastritis

MRS. F. DOUGHARTY, 75 Years Old.

Dr. E. S. Navaun, of Detroit, Mich., Tells What His Prescription Did for His Patient Mrs. F. Dougharty, Who Suffered From Gastritis and Gastric Fermentation. The Accompanying Photograph of Mrs. Dougharty Shows Her to be Enjoying Perfect Health.

"I write you in behalf of Mrs. F. Dougharty, 502 Champlain St., this city. She is 75 years of age and has been a widow for several years.

"I have been her medical advisor for 15 years, she being a chronic sufferer from Gastritis and Gastric Fermentation. Last fall she was in my office for something to relieve the pain in her stomach, and on the spur of the moment I gave her a dose of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey with sugar and water. The next day she returned and wanted a bottle of the medicine. She said it made her stomach feel fine. I told her it was not medicine, but it was Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, and I advised her to go to the drug store and buy a bottle and take a little with water and sugar as needed, for the pain. Since that time she has used three bottles of it, and she is in good health. She says she eats well, sleeps well, and has no stomach trouble, and she wants every one to know that Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey has cured her. She sends her photo, taken last week, for you to use."

Dr. E. S. Navaun. 327 Jos. Campau Ave., Detroit, Mich.

Ministers of the gospel, doctors of medicine, nurses and people everywhere unite in commending Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey—the only perfect tonic stimulant, the one true medicinal whiskey.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

as a tonic and stimulant is one of the greatest strength-givers known to science. It aids in destroying disease and by its building and healing properties assists in restoring tissues in a gradual, healthy, natural manner. It is a wonderful remedy in the treatment and cure of consumption, pneumonia, grip, bronchitis, coughs, colds, malaria, low-fever, stomach troubles and all wasting, weakened conditions, if taken in time as directed.

If in need of advice, write Medical Department, Duffy Malt Whiskey Company, Rochester, New York, stating your case fully. Our doctor will send you advice free, together with a valuable illustrated medical booklet, containing rare common sense rules for health which you cannot afford to be without and some o fthe many thousands of gratifying letters like the above received from men and women in all walks of life both old and young, who have been cured and benefited by the use of this great medicine. It is sold by druggists, grocers and dealers or direct $1.00 per large bottle.

New Organization Perfected in Behalf of Alien Population.

Work for Christians at Home in the Latest Movement.

New York, Jan. 21.—Church work is at high tension just now and new methods and enterprises are being brought forth. The latest scheme of magnitude, having authoriative backing and likelihood of widespread adoption, is a sort of home missionary student volunteer movement—except that it is not limited to students. The aim is to secure a general enrollment of Christians, chiefly young people, who will pledge themselves to do definite weekly service for the education and Christianization of the alien population of America. The plan evolved from the fertile brain of the Rev. Charles Stelzle, superintendent of the departments of immigration and church and labor of the Presbyterian church.

The movement has just been launched as January is the month devoted by many Protestant churches to a discussion of the immigration question. There are other reasons for putting it forth just now. The student volunteer movement for foreign missions closed its quadrennial convention in Rochester two weeks ago, with 3,000 delegates present from 472 institutions of learning having sent out in the seventy-five years of its existence 4,346 foreign missionaries. This movement also enrolled last year 25,208 students in mission study classes in the colleges and other institutions of higher learning. Naturally, the potency of this agency for foreign missions causes people to ask, "Why cannot something equally great be done for the needy in our homeland?"

White Slaves and the Churches.

The present agitation of the white slave traffic also helps to create the psychological moment. These victims are mostly from the alien population; revelations in congress and in the press have shown the need of preventive educational work by the churches.

Still another contributing cause to this movement is the present socializing trend in religions. From every side come clamorous calls to the churches to arouse themselves in behalf of the people oppressed by malign and untoward social and economic conditions. If this enterprise develops as is expected, it will set the young people of the church to forming educational classes and holding meetings among the nearest community of immigrants. This will give the Christian Endeavor societies, Epworth leagues, and other young people's religious organizations an opportunity to do the kind of practical neighborly work which they have lacked. The endeavorers have a Patriot's league, which may take these pledges.

"None But Americans on Guard."

The pledge which these new volunteers are to sign is simple in itself. It consists of a single sentence: "It is my desire and purpose to volunteer as a worker among the foreign-speaking people in my own city, or in such other field as may open itself to me." On the reverse side of the card are these four specifications: First: What kind of social, educational or religious work do you prefer to do. Second: What language or languages do you speak. Third: For how long a period of time can you volunteer (weeks or months.) Fourth: How much time (how many hours per day or days per week) can you give to this specific work."

The patriotic aspect of the movement is stressed, because the immigration question has come to be the supreme American issue. The problem of complete amalgamation depends almost wholly upon the educational and religious forces of America. Only as they adopt adequate measures to cope with their gigantic task can it be accomplished. It has been found by the religious bodies, Protestant and Catholic, which have experimented in this field, that native leadership is essential. "Put none but Americans on guard." might be the watchword. Several denominations, including the Catholic, have tried to import preachers and priests and colporteurs and other religious workers. It has been found that these men lack familiarity with American institutions and ideals; they do not Americanize their compatriots. The latter fail to give them the following and allegiance which they accord to an American.

Making Americans by the Million.

There has lately been quiety under way in all the leading denominations a realignment of methods of home mission work. The frontier has disappeared. The Far West has lost its pioneer character in large measure. So it is seen that the new and more difficult home-mission field is that of the millions of incoming aliens, who must be made over into American citizens.

Books and periodicals in the multitudinous foreign languages are now being issued by the church-publishing houses in rapidly increasing numbers. Some tracts are highly ingenious, as they set forth just what an inquiring foreigner wants to know. Colporteurs are being sent out in increasing numbers, able to speak the tongues of the people among whom they labor. The Y. M. C. A. of Pennsylvania recently sent a deputation of young men, destined to work among the miners, coke burners and steel laborers, to spend a year of study in the countries from which these aliens came. Books upon immigration questions, especially those of E. A. Stelner, are having a wide vogue among church people. All along the line there has been a preparation for some mighty advance on the part of organized Christianity for the education, Americanization and evangelization of the foreigners at our own doors. The very popularity of the laymen's missionary movement has set many men to thinking of the claims of the homeland.

The one particular lack has been for volunteer workers. The American church's tendency of late years has been to pay for having good work done, instead of going out and doing it. Now Mr. Stelzle's scheme, which is already being pushed among the thousands of churches of his own denomination, bids fair to call out the pledged activity of the young people. Some of these will study foreign languages, or at least enough to enable them to teach the Italians, Hungarians, Roumanians, Bohemians, etc., who live near them. The Y. M. C. A. issues a new system of language instruction for use in this work. "A college education is not necessary; whoever is equipped with a measure of devotion, tact and diligence is competent to undertake the work of Americanizing a group of aliens.

Confined at present to the churches, this new volunteer movement will quickly invade the colleges. It will pour a new infusion of vitality into the various settlements in the big cities. What it will mean to the immigrants themselves—struggling against the barriers of an unknown tongue, in unfamiliar surroundings—in the way of enlarged opportunities, increased education, medical assistance, legal advice and new patriotism for their adopted country, must all be left to the imagination.

Pass Along The Good Word

That Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is to-day and has, for over 40 years, been the standard Blood-purifyer, Stomach Strengthener and Liver Invigorator sold by druggists. It's not a secret nostrum but a medicine of known composition — a medicine so good that the best physicans prescribe it knowing that its ingredients, which are printed on its outside wrappers and attested under oath, are the best known to medical science for the diseases for which it is advised.

The great success of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in curing weak stomachs, wasted bodies, weak lungs, and obstinate and lingering coughs, is based on the recognition of the fundamental truth that "Golden Medical Discovery" supplies Nature with body-building, tissue-repairing, muscle-making materials, in condensed and concentrated form. With this help Nature supplies the necessary strength to the stomach to digest food, build up the body and thereby throw off lingering obstinate coughs. The "Discovery" re-establishes the digestive and nutritive organs in sound health, purifies and enriches the blood, and nourishes the nerves—in short establishes sound vigorous health.

If your dealer offers something "just as good," it is probably better FOR HIM—it pays better. But you are thinking of the cure not his greater profit, so there's nothing "just as good" for you. Say so.

Falling Hair

You Run No Risk When You Use This Remedy.

While many people in their prime doubt the assertion that "the hairs of our head are numbered," yet there is today many a man and woman fast reaching the point where this statement is literally brought home to them. If you suffer from irritation of the scalp, and from dandruff, or if your hair is falling out, do not wait until you reach the point where you can actually count how many hairs are left on your head.

Most cases of baldness are caused because the roots lack proper nutrition. In such cases there is a microbe which bores through the scalp along the line of the hair into the root and when it lodges there is begins to destroy the fatty matter around the hair roots. When the scalp and hair roots are strong and healthy, it is impossible for these microbes to get in their deadly work.

We can promise you that, if your hair is falling out, and you have not let it go too far, you can repair the damage already done by using "Rexall 93" Hair Tonic. It is a scientific, cleansing, antiseptic, germicidal preparation, that destroys microbes, stimulates good circulation around the hair roots, promotes hair nourishment, removes dandruff and restores hair health. It is as pleasant to use as pure water, and it is delicately perfumed. It is a real toilet necessity.

We want you to try Rexall "93" Hair Tonic with our promise that it will cost you nothing unless you are perfectly satisfied with its use. It comes in two sizes, prices 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain it only at our store—The Rexall store. E. M. Tredway, 108 West Superior street.

PARIS SHOCKED BY SUICIDE IN JAIL

Murderer Ends Life By Swallowing Poison in Officers' Presence.

Paris, Jan. 21.—The dramatic suicide of Andrew Guilevitch, a Russian engineer, arrested on a charge of murder, in the central police station here in the presence of two inspectors, has been the sensational climax to a crime unexampled in horror. The murder was at first regarded as a crime of political vengeance, but investigation proved that it was committed for lust of gold, Guilevitch was charged with the murder of his secretary. The alleged murderer was insured for $50,000, and by passing the dead man off as himself hoped to collect the insurance on his own life.

With much difficulty the murderer was traced to Paris, where he was arrested at the counter of the Bank of St. Petersburg, in the Rue Laffitte while in the act of presenting a check. The man committed suicide by surreptitiously placing a crystal of virulent poison in his mouth.

On being taken to the criminal detective department, the young Russian admitted his identity, but denied the murder with which he was charged. At 8 o'clock he asked to be allowed to wash his hands. This request was granted, and he was given his bag, from which he took a towel and a box with soap. Accompanied by two detectives, he went to the lavatory, and proceeded leisurely with his toilet. Just as he had finished he made a gesture as if to rinse his mouth, and one of the police thought that he had slipped something between his lips. "What is that?" he asked, but Guilevitch smilingly replied, "nothing." But as he evidently was chewing, the agent seized him by the throat, and forcing open his teeth he extracted from his mouth a small crystal which looked like cyanide of potassium.

"It is nothing," persisted the Russian. "It is very good for the teeth." He then dried his hands and returned to the bench on which he had been sitting, but a moment later he was seized with convulsions, and in spite of all that could be done he expired in five minutes. It is presumed that he had a considerable knowledge of chemistry, and that he had himself prepared the poison for the eventuality of his arrest.

RECLAIMING A DROWNED MINE

Valuable Bit of Bituminous Coal Property Becomes Available.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 21.—Because the Lehigh Valley Coal company, with its long and leading experience in the anthracite field, was able to grapple with and overcome a proposition that had floored its original promoters, the big anthracite company has just come into possession of a fine bituminous coal tract, thus adding to its soft-coal interests, as represented in a quite large mine near Snow Shoe.

Several years ago, what was known as the Mohawk Coal company, after prospecting and discovering valuable veins on the old William Jones tract near this town, drove a drift and made all preparations to mine the coal on an extensive scale. The vein tapped was the B vein, the most valuable vein in the bituminous region, because of the superior quality of coal, and because, in many places, it runs as much as four feet in thickness without any fault streak.

But when several thousand dollars had been expended on the drift, and as much more on the colliery workings on the outside, the drift ran into a peculiar dip in the vein, and the water currents turned against the operation, so that the men had to abandon it. It would have taken more money to rig pumps and employ pumpmen than it would to mine the coal, and the Mohawk company threw up the proposition.

Everybody looked upon the old mine as a Jonah. Not long ago a force of Lehigh Valley engineers began measuring around the foot of the mountain in the valley opposite to that in which the old Mohawk workings are located. A few days later it was reported here that the mine and the 250 acres of coal-land on which it was located had been bought by the Lehigh Valley Coal company, and that the coal was to be worked. "How will it be done?" was the question asked. The Mohawk miners were driven out by the water, which came in faster than the pumps could take it out, and why not the Lehigh men?

But the miners here didn't know the Lehigh scheme. Instead of going to work in the old drift, the Lehigh is preparing to drive a tunnel through the mountain and thus make an avenue for the water to run off of its own accord—not a single pump necessary, nor not a single day to be lost because of high water. It will run off as fast as it comes in.

Once the water tunnel is completed the old drift will be extended and the coal mining begun. In the meantime, the Lehigh company has made arrangements with the Pennsylvania company to lay tracks into the new mine. The Leigh's own cars will be used to carry the coal, and it is expected that much of it will be shipped to Towanda, the nearest connecting point with the Lehigh's own road.

It is estimated that there is coal enough on the tract to keep the mines in operation at least twenty-five years, and its value is represented by figures that run into the millions.

TO HAVE EXPERT EXAMINATION

Grazing of Reindeer By Swedish Laplanders International Matter.

Christiania, Jan. 21.—A preliminary decision was given a few days ago by the arbitration court which has been investigating the dispute between Sweden and Norway concerning the right of pasture of Swedish Laplanders' reindeer in Norwegian territory.

The matter is an important one for the Laplanders and for the nomad population of the northern part of both countries. The question is regulated by the Frontier Treaty of 1751, which authorized the Swedish nomad Laplanders to take their reindeer to Norway for pasture during the summer, while the Noorwegian nomads obtained the same right in Sweden and Finland during the winter. Through the intervention of Russia, the Norwegian nomads lost their right of admission to Finland, their principal pasturage, without any compensation.

In 1883 Sweden and Norway promulgated a common law concerning the question, without, however, succeeding in effecting a final settlement. Thus the old question was still unsolved when the Karlstad convention of 1905 made a new effort to bring the dispute to an end. Soon after the Karlstad convention Sweden claimed some modifications in this treaty, alleging that its regulations were injuring the interests of the Swedish nomads. In 1907 Sweden invited Norway to examine the question jointly with her through the medium of a mixed commissioners discontinued the joint investigations.

The two governments then opened negotiations to secure the submission of the dispute to an arbitration court, consisting of one representative of each country, both being authorized to nominate a third as president. A Norwegian, M. Gram, and a Swede, M. Afzelius, both ex-lawyers of the highest standing, were chosen by their respective countries, and they nominated as president of the commission M. Matzen, who is a professor of the University of Copenhagen and a recognized authority on international law. Both governments provided their representative with a staff of competent experts as adjuncts. It is the court thus formed whose intermediate decision to submit the dispute to expert examination in the country involved has just been made known.

"BEAUTIFUL FACE AND NO MORE WRINKLES"

FREE BEAUTY COUPON

FOR DULUTH EVENING HERALD READERS.

Arrangements have been made with Harriett Meta, World's Famous Beauty Specialist of Paris, London and Syracuse, N. Y., to furnish free particulars to all readers of the Duluth Herald in regard to what is believed to be the most remarkable method of removing wrinkles which has ever been discovered.

Mlle. Meta has been awarded nine Gold Medals by Paris, London, Brussels, Rome and other International Expositions on her great Beauty discoveries. The French government has honored her with a Patent on her wonderful new process for removing wrinkles, and patents are also now pending before the United States Government at Washington.

Mlle. Meta is, herself, a living example of the great power of her remarkable beauty-making discoveries. By many she is considered the most beautiful woman in all Paris.

She took her own wrinkles out in three nights by her new discovery over three years ago, after face massage, masks, straps, and steaming pots had all failed to remove them, and her skin today is still soft and smooth, her face beautiful and she has no more wrinkles. But best of all, her discovery not only succeeded in her own case, but it seems to have worked even more astonishing results in the cases of others.

Mrs. Mary J. Davis of East St. Louis, Ill., says: "My wrinkles were very deep and of long standing, so you can imagine my surprise when, after only two applications, they entirely disappeared." Mrs. L. E. Haskell, of 2502 Clay street, San Francisco, Cal., writes: "I am 50 years old, consequently my wrinkles were of long standing, and I had not thought it possible to erase them, but now, when I view my changed reflection in the mirror, I can scarcely realize the transformation that has been wrought." Mrs. W. J. Egbert of Lac du Flambeau, Wis., says: "My wrinkles disappeared after using your treatment only two nights. I believe you have the only perfect wrinkle remover." Mrs. M. A. Edwards, of 201 N. Elm St., Greensboro, N. C., says: "I look younger than I did 25 years ago." Mrs. M. L. Lee, 714 E. Franklin St., Richmond, Va., writes: "I used the treatment one night and it succeeded in entirely removing my wrinkles, leaving my face as soft and free from lines as a child's."

No other Beauty Specialist, living or dead, has ever been honored by gold medals from International Expositions, and patronized by Countesses and ladies of high title and rank to the same extent that Harriett Meta has been.

You will never again have the opportunity of consulting a Beauty Specialist of such world-wide reputation as Harriett Meta. Therefore be sure to cut out and use the below Free Coupon today. You need send no money, not even a postage stamp, but merely enclose the following coupon in a letter addressed to Harriett Meta, Suite 813-K, Syracuse, N. VERDICT FOR THE DEFENDANT

Samuel Hersh Will Recover Nothing for Having His Feet Crushed.

Judge Cant in the district court this morning directed a verdict for the defendant in the case brought against the Northern Pacific Railroad company by Samuel Hersh, who demanded $1,999 for injuries to his foot alleged to have been sustained while unloading car wheels from the steamer Schuylkill last September.

Hersh claimed that the hull of the boat was poorly lighted and that a sufficient number of men were not employed to properly do the work without endangering themselves. He also claimed that the injuries to his feet made him unfit for work.

The case has been dragging along for two days past.

MUST FILE SATURDAY

Many Candidates Have Failed to Comply With Legal Requirements.

Names Left Off Ballots Unless Certificates Are Filed at Once.

The names of Mayor Haven and Dr. Cullum, as well as those of most of the candidates for aldermen, will not appear on the official ballot, unless they bring their certificates of filing to City Clerk H. W. Cheadle before 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

The fact that the majority of the candidates will not be able to run for office unless they comply with these provisions, was discovered this morning by the city clerk. If this is not done there is no way in which he can put their names upon the ballots.

Mr. Cheadle called up some of the candidates as soon as the fact came to his notice. Most of them were startled to learn how close they had come to losing out. They were either ignorant of the law or had forgotten all about it.

Those who have filed and put their certificates in the hands of the clerk are: James A. Wharton, Republican, First ward; Frank Makowski, Democrat, Second ward; Frank Jordan, Democrat, Third ward; John Hogan, Democrat, Fifth ward; S. Van Wagner, Republican, Sixth ward; John D. Bergman, Independent, Sixth ward; William L. Bernard, Democrat, Seventh ward. Not a candidate in either the Fourth or Eighth wards has yet complied with the requirements of the law which will enable them to have their names placed on the official ballot, which is prepared by the city clerk.

Interest in the campaign is picking up. The candidates and their workers are showing a bit of life, hustling from one precinct of the city to another. Both the Republicans and the Democrats are coming out from under cover, demonstrating that they have not lost their voices.

The Republican campaign committee and their campaign manager met last evening in the mayor's office. Plans for getting out the registration tomorrow were outlined and public speeches in the several wards of the city agreed upon. The dates and places will be announced later. Mayor Haven says that the situation is most pleasing to him. He says that it exceeds his best expectations, as shown by the reports brought in by the chairman of the eight wards last evening. The question of a treasurer was taken up, but no one was agreed upon, it being decided to take the matter up at another meeting. The Republicans in the Sixth ward had a snappy meeting last evening in which much enthusiasm was displayed. Two other meetings are scheduled for the same ward after the registration.

The Democrats are feeling cheerful. They state that they are well satisfied with the way things are shaping themselves. They are putting out large quantities of campaign matter, and putthig large photographs of their standard bearer, Dr. Cullum, in the conspicuous places of the downtown and business districts. They will also have some public gatherings after tomorrow, the last registration day.

The ward fights are a factor in bringing out voters for registration. The contests in all but one or two of the wards are waxing warmer than expected with the aspirants for honors in the city legislative body hurrying every minute. The fights promise be too close in most of them to make any sure estimates. Some surprises are looked for, men who were considered rather weak several days ago, coming strongly to the front.

BUTTER AND EGGS LOWER

Arrivals of Fresh Eggs Increase and Prices Go Down.

Damage to Green Goods in Transit Causes High Prices.

Conditions on Michigan street are about unchanged from last week, except that eggs and butter are cheaper.

Storage eggs are selling at 27 cents a dozen, wholesale, and fresh eggs at 32 cents. The good grades of butter are quoted at 34 cents. The storage supply of eggs some time ago was considered fairly well cleaned up and prices became steeper, but it developed that accumulations had been larger than had been supposed and fresh eggs became more plentiful, causing a downward tendency in prices. Storage egg supplies are getting low, but arrivals of fresh eggs are increasing and the supply is fairly plentiful with the demand moderately good. Individuals are retailing fresh eggs at from 42 to 45 cents a dozen and some retail stores which were buying fresh eggs recently from farmers' associations at 35 cents a dozen were selling them at 45 cents. The farmers, it is said, found some difficulty in moving their supplies at this price, although retail men hold a contrary opinion.

Butter and eggs usually fluctuate in the same trend, and one moves not only in sympathy with the other, but the same conditions that are favorable to an increase or decrease in the supplies of one commodity have the same relationship toward the marketable quantities of the other.

Potatoes and rutabagas are being received in large quantities. The weather has not been a serious detriment to shipments as it has not been cold enough to prevent farmers from marketing their supplies. The roads are good compared with most winters and farmers find it easy to get to the nearest shipping place.

* * *

Green goods from the South arrive in better condition than when it was colder but commission men are still having considerable trouble over damaged shipments. Most of the green stuff for the Duluth market comes by way of Chicago and the shippers have been frequently careless in packing goods and arranging them in refrigerator cars to prevent freezing. The commission man had to stand a large loss, selling his damaged goods for any price he could obtain and trusting to luck and negotiations with the railroads to get back some of his money. This has helped to make green goods higher although in the last week there has been practically no change in the general level of prices. The supply is fair and the demand moderately good. In some specialties the arrivals are scarce and these command top prices.

* * *

The market at this time of the year is without feature, the staples being unchanged in quality and no new kind of commodities enter the market or are taken from it by reason of crop rotation. Green goods are usually hot house products.

* * *

Fruit prices continue at a low level although there is a tightening in the supply. Shipments continue good, however, and the demand is moderate.

NEWSBOYS OF THE CITY ARE GUESTS OF HERALD AND "NOODLES" AT BIJOU

Theater Is Crowded With the "Newsies" and Their Friends.

The Novel Contests Kept the Audience in Roars of Laughter.

Last night was "Noodles" night at the Bijou theater. Through the courtesy of The Herald, the newsboys of the city held high carnival and were entertained by "Noodles," and Manager Joseph Maitland. The celebration at the Bijou was preceded by a grand parade.

Long before 8 o'clock the office of The Herald was crowded with hundreds of boys, who eagerly awaited the arrival of "Noodles." When "Noodles" was seen coming there was a mighty shout and the "king of newsboys," was the center of a swirling mass of young Americans who wanted to get from their idol. The line of march was started with "Noodles" at the head of the procession. Pedestrians might have thought that a band had been let loose, for the boys gave full vent to their enthusiasm. They cheered for "Noodles" and for The Herald. Arriving at the theater, the boys crowded up the the corridors and were soon seated in the best seats in the balcony.

One of the big hits of the evening was "Noodles'" singing of "Good Bye Girlie, Remember Me," by Ted Snyder.

After the regular performance the carnival was announced and the boys were escorted to the stage.

The scene on the stage was one which was missed by those in front until the curtain rose. The crowd of boys, restless in the extreme and full of life, was kept well in hand by "Noodles," whose word was law. The little fellows anxiously waited the arrival of the newsboy king and every eye was on the stairs leading to the dressing rooms. The crowd could hardly be restrained from breaking into pandemonium as "Noodles" appeared at the top of the landing.

"Oh, you, 'Noodles,'" was the cry. "Say, you, 'Noodles,' we're waitin' for you." "When do we get in the big show?" There were many other yells as the king of newsboys reached the stage.

When the curtain arose "Noodles" was seen in the center of the boys ready to begin the contests. He announced that the affair was given the newsies of the city by the courtesy of The Herald and Manager Joseph Maitland, and then proceeded with the contests.

Cracker Eating Contest.

The cracker eating contest provoked great laughter. Each boy was given four crackers, except a tiny lad who carries The Herald. The smallest one was given a handicap of one cracker. The boy who first devoured his crackers and was able to whistle was to be the winner. The lads struggled to eat the crackers and when they had them down the majority found that they were unable to whistle. One finally puckered his lips enough to let out a faint whistle and was awarded the prize.

"Noodles" next announced a paper-yelling contest, the winner to be decided by the audience. The boys were lined up and then proceeded one at a time to the front of the stage, where each boy was to yell "The Evening Herald. All about the big fire." There were all kinds of voices from the tiny treble to some which were loud enough to be heard out on Third street. The audience was then asked to show by its applause which was the winner.

The flour dive produced unlimited merriment. Arranged on two large trays was a quantity of flour. In the flour on one tray done up in a paper ball was a slip bearing the word "Herald." The boys were required to nose around in the flour and grab the paper balls in their teeth. There was many a smeared face and the clothes of the newsies were well sprinkled with flour.

The pie eating contest was funny. The faces of the contestants were smeared with berry pie as they tried to gulp down the pastry. One anxious lad grabbed the hair of his partner and forced the pie into his mouth, after the fashion of a sausage stuffer. The contest was laughable in the extreme and closed an evening of great enjoyment not only for the boys but for the large audience of adults.

Everything is ready for the entertainment to be held at the Bijou theater tomorrow under the auspices of The Herald, where "Noodles" Fagan will deliver his famous talk on "Travels of the World," which will be illustrated by slides from all over the world. Manager Joseph Maitland will run a series of moving pictures, Earl L. Morse will sing a solo and a special musical program has been arranged. It will be free, through the courtesy of The Herald. If there is any one who hasn't a coupon, The Herald will have special tickets to be given out free at the Bijou theater Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. The Herald invites all the children and their parents to attend.

Tomorrow noon "Noodles" will give an exhibition of his voice on the street, where he will sell The Herald for the benefit of the newsboys. "Noodles" buys from the boys, sells them and returns the proceeds to the boy from whom he made the purchase. The reputation of "Noodles" as a paper shouter is well known the world over. He has sold papers in every large city in the United States and has three times circled the globe, selling papers. He has been a newsboy on the streets of New York since he was able to walk, and now controls two stands, one in the theatrical district and another at the Brooklyn bridge. "Noodles" has the record of selling over 50,000 papers in a day and during times of excitement in New York has frequently exceeded that figure. He has a voice which is called a sky-scraper.

SUSPENDED SENTENCE

Is Granted Morrison County Man Convicted of Perjury.

Little Falls, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special The Herald.)—Frank Rassler, who was convicted of perjury in connection with the hearings in the Klntop murder case, was sentenced by Judge Taylor Wednesday to one and one-half years in the state penitentiary.

On representations made by his counsel that Rassler's wife is in poor physical and financial condition, the court suspended the sentence until the March term. Banker Wilke of Gray Eagle was asked to keep supervision over the man and report to the court as to his conduct. On the first day of the March term Rassler is to appear and at that time, should his conduct in the intervening lapse of time be irreproachable, a further stay may be granted him.

S.S.S. PURELY VEGETABLE

The safest medicines are those which leave the system in the best condition after their use. This is one of the principal virtues we claim for S. S. S. Being made entirely of roots, herbs and barks, it is not in even the smallest degree harmful to any system, but on the other hand its vegetable ingredients make it one of the finest of tonics to build up the health in every way. A great many blood medicines contain strong mineral ingredients which unfavorably affect the bowels, stomach or digestive system, and any blood-purifying effect they might have is therefore offset by their injurious action on the general health. S. S. S. is the one safe and sure blood purifier. It goes into the circulation and rids the blood of every impurity or pollution. It strengthens the circulation and adds nourishing properties to the blood and greatly assists in the cure of any blood disease. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism, Catarrh, Sores and Ulcers, Scrofula, Contagious Blood Poison and all like diseases, because it purifies the circulation. S. S. S. may be taken by young or old with absolute safety, and with the assurance that it will cure all diseases and disorders due to an impure or poisoned blood supply, even reaching down and removing hereditary taints. Book on the blood and any medical advice free to all who write.

HARP AND SHAMROCKS

Lady Granard Flies the Flag When in Residence in Ireland.

There Are Great Festivities This Year at Castle Forbes.

London, Jan. 21.—Lady Granard delighted all her Irish friends by placing an immense green flag with a huge gold harp and shamrock on it to sway in the breeze over Castle Forbes throughout the holidays.

"It was so thoughtful, so diplomatic, so charming of her," they all said. "Hitherto it has always been a Union Jack which announced that the Granard family was in residence."

The poor of the neighborhood and the school children have had the time of their lives this year; so many festivities did the countess arrange for them and so many hampers of good cheer did she have forwarded to them. Lord and Lady Granard are expected back at Charles street directly and will be there for the next couple of months or perhaps longer. Mrs. Ogden Mills will be visiting her daughter there for some time.

Like the typical American woman, Lady Granard is very keen on pushing her husband to the fore. The story goes that a certain high official has promised her ladyship that if the Liberals return to power Lord Granard will have the refusal of the lord lieutenancy of Ireland. Lady Granard likes the Irish and they like her and by all accounts it is as the mistress of the vice-regal lodge in Dublin she would like to shine in the near future. In any case she has no end of schemes for the betterment of Ireland in her mind. It is expected that through her influence there will be a great revival of trade in Irish lace and other handiwork in direct touch with the buyers and thus do away with the middleman who at present gets more of the profits. Later when Lady Granard returns again to Ireland she will offer prizes for the best flowers and vegetables and the prettiest gardens in the neighborhood.

Speculating in the Widow.

Society here is greatly interested in the future of Mrs. James Henry Smith, widow of the American millionaire who died on his honeymoon. Since the death of her husband, Mrs. Smith has had quite as many offers of marriage as Mrs. Potter Palmer, who was supposed to hold the record in that respect. Up to the time of the marriage of her daughter she was as hard as adamant to the overtures of her suitors, amongst whom were included a well known Liberal peer, a very wealthy widower. Now, however, that Anita has become a princess, Mrs. Smith admits that she is very lonely, and this is regarded as the first sign that she is about to relent and accept the hand of the cavalier whose persistence has outdistanced all the others. The fact that Mrs. Smith is about to acquire a house near her sister, Mrs. Anthony Drexel, in Grosvenor square, has given color, also, to the rumor. This new mansion Mrs. Smith intends to buy outright. Since the marriage of her daughter she has become exceedingly exclusive, though, be it said to her credit, she never passes over an old friend. It is now regarded as a special mark of social distinction to be included in the visiting list of Mrs. James Henry Smith, after the same manner as in years gone by it gave any one the entree to be on the visiting terms with Louise, duchess of Devonshire, or the duchess of Buccleuch. For an American woman to have arrived at this position in British society means that she is about the cleverest woman on this side of the Atlantic. It shows that she has far more than dollars to back her. And she has. Added to a charming presence, she possesses unbounded savoir faire and a culture which are not often combined even in those who claim Norman blood.

Tinplate Queen Wants a House.

Mrs. William B. Leeds, widow of the famous tinplate king, is now in communication with several house agents anent a desirable mansion for next season. This seems like taking time by the forelock, though it really is not so, since the season opens with the meeting of parliament. Mrs. Leeds is an enormously wealthy woman, has special people to design her gowns, and her jewels are splendid. Hitherto her visits here have been mostly brief, but she has numbers of friends in the best set and is on speaking terms with all the royalties, who like her very much. A friend of hers told me the other day that when Mrs. William Leeds did take the floor as a hostess she would cut out many who have already arrived in that capacity.

"She has all the characteristics you English expect in the American woman," said her friend, "and without which, however, rich a woman may be, she never makes a hit. Mrs. Leeds is exceedingly pretty in an uncommon way. Above all things, she is original. She will always have some surprise up her sleeve for you when she entertains, and she won't be afraid to ask whomsoever she chooses. She is about as independent as they make 'em."

This sounds all right. In the first place it proves Mrs. Leeds is essentially unlike the usual English hostess, and that is precisely what all newcomers should aim at, if they want to take London by storm.

"I shall rivet attention at any price," once said a newcomer who is now in the front rank of American hostesses. She had a premiere danseuse to perform a pas seul on the dinner table when it was cleared for the dessert—by which I mean our fruit course. The dance was a surprise, lasted but six minutes, and cost $1,500, but as an advertisement, was cheap at the price. Next day the king was told about it, and when he met the woman who had thought of it he asked to be introduced to her, hinting in the course of conversation he would like to be invited to dine. Her name and fame were then made, and she has never had any further necessity to live up to her reputation as an original hostess. People now intrigue for her invitations.

She Hates London.

Of the whole troop of American society girls in England the only one who cordially dislikes England, and London more especially, is Miss Adela Colgate, the daughter of Cora Lady Strafford by her first marriage. Her mother, one of the foremost hostesses and a first favorite from royalty downward, has done everything to induce her daughter to take to the land of her own adoption, but it's no use.

"She has tried hard to do so," her mother admits, "but without the least little particle of success." She comes and stays with Lady Strafford now and then, but she pines for the United States all the time, and takes flight again as soon as possible. Just now she is at Houghton with her mother, where things are very gay during the holidays. Miss Colgate is one of those who are keenly interested in the political campaign, and she means to do a bit of electioneering before she returns to America early in February. It is her first visit to Houghton since it came into the possession of her mother, who had hoped that its charms—it is one of the finest places in the kingdom—would have induced Adela to give a little more of her presence to this side of the water.

This year the children's house party has been a feature of the holidays in some of the great establishments in the kingdom. The invitations for these festivities are issued in the names of the little hosts and hostesses. Such gatherings are exceedingly merry, but of very brief duration. As Lady Ilchester remarked: "Delightful though they be, a little of them goes a long way." The guests with their parents and governesses and nurses arrive one afternoon and leave the next. Among others who have had children's house parties this year are the duchess of Devonshire, the countess of Ilchester and Mrs. David Beatty. One of the special features of these gatherings have been the equisite presents prepared for the acceptance of the little people. Apart from the great Christmas tree laden with all sorts of toys, special gifts, bought in Paris, Vienna or London, have been laid at the feet of the fastidious young folk whose critical faculty is so acute that the toymaker is at his wits' end trying to think out something worthy of their consideration.

CONSPIRACY WIDESPREAD.

Enough Arms Found in Deccan to Exterminate British Population.

Bombay, Jan. 21.—The police have gathered up the threads of the murder conspiracy against the British in the Deccan. They searched the house of three brothers, named Saidya, one of whom is secretary and manager of a Swadeshi store, and found a Browning automatic pistol under a mattress. The three brothers are in custody charged with abetment of murder. Later the police raided several houses, making five arrests. The prisoners included Savarkare's brother, Kharve, a bachelor of arts, who is studying law in Bombay, and a man named Joshi. In Joshi's house, a revolver and ninety-six Browning cartridges were discovered. It is alleged that documents were unearthed connecting the accused with the assassination of Mr. Jackson.

The police raids revealed two Browning pistols—one of which was loaded—in possession of a student of the high school. A sowkar (banker) of Yeola is also in custody, charged with financing the conspirators. Fifteen persons have been arrested and a mass of incriminating documents has been seized. A larger seizure is expected. Enough pistols and ammunition have been discovered to exterminate the English population of the district.

It is impossible to exaggerate the sensation caused by the crime. Thoughtful people of all shades of opinion realize that the whole character of the British rule is at stake.

Co-operation with the police is alien to the Hindu mind, but passionate appeals have been addressed to the leaders of Indian society to awaken the community from its criminal apathy. It is evident from the discovery of an arsenal at Nasik, that the arms act has broken down. The leading citizens of Nasik have taken active steps to denounce the murder and have decided to raise a monument to Mr. Jackson.

Making Life Safer.

Everywhere life is being made more safe through the work of Dr. Kline's New Life Pills in Constipation, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Liver Troubles, Kidney Diseases and Bowel Disorders. They're easy, but sure, and perfectly build up the health. 25c at all druggists.

GIN FOR THE KIDNEYS

Doctors agree that good, pure gin, when properly prescribed, is wonderful medicine for kidneys, liver and bladder. The one best prescription in which gin is used is given: "Six ounces good, pure gin, one-half ounce Murax compound, one-half ounce fluid extract Buchu." (Be sure to get the genuine Murax compound in original sealed package.) Any good druggist has it or can quickly get it. Shake bottle well each time and take one to two teaspoonfuls after each meal.

This should be taken at first sign of kidney trouble, pain in the back, frequent or highly colored urination, scalding urine, rheumatic pains in the joints, puffiness under the eyes, dimmed vision. The serious forms of kidney trouble are thus prevented.

TO HAVE CHARGE OF CENSUS WORK

Joseph W. Allen Will Help Count the People of Duluth.

Joseph W. Allen has been appointed to work in connection with the Commercial club in the taking of the coming census.

Saturday morning Mr. Allen will open an office at the Duluth Commercial club where all the applicants who desire to help in the city work will be received. From this time on Mr. Allen will work with the Commercial club in the effort to make the present census the most accurate ever taken in the city.

B. L. Hollister, who has charge of the work for the government, yesterday afternoon finished the work of dividing the city into districts. There are fifty-five of these districts and sixty others in various parts of St. Louis county.

Those who desire to be employed by the government during the two weeks the work is going on must file their applications before Jan. 31. The examination takes place Feb. 5.

MORE TROUBLE.

Spain Is Threatened With Another General Strike.

Madrid, Jan. 21.—The organizers of the amnesty movement in Barcelona, the object of which is to secure the liberation of political prisoners, are planning to extend the campaign throughout Catalonia, and a general strike may be declared. It is stated that the movement is led by the Socialists; but it is also reported leaders of the Socialists and the Radicals have fallen out through jealousy and differences as to the policy to be pursued.

STATE BOARD WILL LOOK INTO CHARGES

Management of State School For Blind to Be Examined.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 21.—Dr. S. G. Smith of the state board of visitors, has gone to Faribault to inquire into further complaints concerning the comfort of the pupils in the state school for the blind at that place.

One of the women teachers of the school is involved this time and charges extend to undue severity and a lack of discipline. The complaint was made to the state executive department, which at once turned the letter over to the board of visitors.

The recent investigation of the complaints regarding alleged ill-treatment of pupils and the serving of improper food has kicked up a lively row at the school. Some officials it appears, think their dignity suffered as a result, and have expressed the opinion that the investigation was not properly handled. The state board of visitors it is said, believes that it was ignored in the steps taken to date.

Wednesday, three of the pupils involved in the complaints made were removed from the school for insubordination. This has further intensified the situation. The school is under the supervision of a local board. The state board of control handles only the finances of the institution and supplies the food and other necessaries.

Japs Start Ocean Postoffice.

Victoria, B. C., Jan. 21.—On the steamer Awa Maru, which left Yokohama Wednesday for Seattle, the Japanese postal authorities have equipped the first ocean postoffice to be established on any Pacific liner. Liners running to San Francisco are being similarly equipped.

Mrs. Talbott on Trial.

Reno, Nev., Jan. 21.—Mrs. Mae E. Talbott, the former concert and opera singer, who was arrested on Oct. 28, on a charge of murdering her husband, Albert E. Talbott, was placed on trial yesterday. Self-defense and temporary insanity will be the defense.

THE CONFLICT OF LOVE AND FAT

The average man will "jolly" with the stout girl; but he steals glances over her shoulder at that Miss Slender. He would sooner hold the hands of the latter in a fatuous silence than really enjoy himself with the other. Such is the power of line. Just a line—from chin to toe, or nape to heel—that's all. But it rings the merry marriage bell.

Fat women should not repine—but refine—their own lines by means of that phenomenal—the Marmola Tablet. No exercising or dieting is necessary. Simply take one tablet after each meal and at bedtime, and in a little while the overplus of fat—the courseness of aspect—will disappear. The figure will become slight enough to permit of a maidenly contour, a pure outline, being fashioned with corset and gown. Then victory—if not revenge.

Although Marmola Tablets often take off uniformly a pound of flabby fat a day, they are quite harmless (being made of the famous fashionable prescription; ½ oz. Marmola, ½ oz. Fl.Ex. Cascara Aromatic, 3½ oz. Peppermint Water). Consequently, even timid ones are safe in using them, for no ill—not even a wrinkle or stomach ache—will follow their use; seventy-five cents secures a large case at any druggist's or by mail from the Marmola Co., 491 Farmer Bldg., Detroit, Mich.

MEYERS IS REPENTANT

Lure of "White Way" Responsible for Young Man's Downfall.

Trail of Youth Said to Be Strewn With Bad Checks.

Dwight Meyers, arrested in the Spalding for forgery, has been doing a wholesale business in bad paper, according to information which has reached Chief Troyer.

He has left big batches of forged checks in nearly every city which the "Merry Widow" company has visited. Among them are Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, Omaha, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth. The last one he passed was on the St. Louis hotel for $10.

He spent the money on high living, buying wine suppers and hitting the high spots with a member of the "Merry Widow" chorus.

Too much of the "Great White Way" is given by Dwight Meyers, the young man arrested at the Spalding hotel Wednesday night for passing forged checks, as the cause of his downfall.

Myers is said to have left a fine home in Greenfield, Iowa, to follow a chorus girl traveling with the "Merry Widow" company. But the gait proved too fast for his financial resources, and he took to obtaining cash by attaching his father's name to checks in Minneapolis. Yesterday another check for $40 turned up, which he had passed in the St. Louis hotel.

"I've been buying too good a time," he said yesterday. "I know I've done wrong and I'm sorry for it. But it's with me like many others, we feel sorry when it is too late."

Meyers is a well-appearing, well-dressed young man. He is greatly cast down by the trouble in which he finds himself, and is reluctant when asked to speak of the matter. He states that although he is sorry for himself, he is much sorrier for his folks. He says that they are highly respected in their home town and that his misstep will be a great shock to them.

He has wired his father, said to be a wealthy lumberman, and he expects to meet him either here or in Minneapolis. He told the police that his father will make good the money he has obtained through the checks. The Minneapolis authorities are in the city and will take him back to the Flour City today to answer to the charge of forgery.

INSURGENT CONFERENCE

Cox, Valley City; Sixth, R. D. Ward, Garrison, and I. C. Finniger, Bismarck; Seventh, A. E. Lindstrom, Langdon, and H. H. Johnson, Lankin; Eighth, H. H. Steele, Mohall, and J. M. Devine, Minot; Ninth, E. L. Gordon, Souris, and W. J. Anderson, Rugby; Tenth, Walter S. Parkin, Maudan, and Pat Norton, Hettinger.

Too Many for Congress.

With seven candidates for two congressional positions, the situation is exceedingly uncertain, and to settle it the committee will have to do some hard work in order to reduce the danger of having the insurgent congressional slate defeated at the hands of an organized opposition, the work of which will doubtless be centralized on two candidates, presumably L. B. Hanna, the present congressman from Fargo, and Alfred Bialsdell of Minto, present secretary of state.

Practically all of the candidates on the insurgent slate have been announced, there only being a few openings on the ticket. No one has yet been found for the lieutenant governorship, while the secretary of state's office is also still open. An announcement of supreme court candidates has been made and it is possible that the faction will steer clear of that branch of state government.

The Insurgent Slate.

The slate of the insurgents, so far as completed, follows:

Members of senate—A. J. Gronna, Lakota and T. Marshall, Oakes.

Governor—James Buchanan, Buchanan, N. D.

Commissioner of insurance—Walt Taylor, La Moure.

State treasurer—G. L. Bickford, Bowdells.

State auditor—D. K. Brightbill, Cando.

State commissioner of agriculture and labor—Alexander Macdonald, Linton.

Superintendent of schools—A. L. Woods, Grand Forks.

Members of state railroad commission—W. H. Mann, W. H. Stutsman and O. P. N. Anderson.

St. Paul Man Hangs Self.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Failing to find Gus Lahn, night watchman for the MacPherson & Langford Sklrt company, Fourth and Sibley streets, at his usual station, Charles Osterberg and Carl Tetsch, employes of the place, made a search for him yesterday, and found him hanging by a small rope in the elevator shaft. He had been dead at least four hours. It is believed he committed suicide while drunk.

BOTH TURN DOWN PLAN

is adhering strictly to its pledges of an open door and equal opportunity.

It is understood that the reply is couched in terms of friendly appreciation of the American purpose, but is not of an argumentative character and the conclusions are not qualified.

The Russian communication rejects the proposal for the neutralization of existing railroads. The communication states also that the Russian government considers the alternative proposition for participation in an international syndicate for the construction of the Chinchow-Aigun line acceptable in principle, but because of the political and strategical importance of the enterprise and the bearing on the East Chinese railroad, Russia will defer a final answer on this subject pending the receipt of information as to the principles of the American project.

Russia reserves the right to pass upon all such projects as effect its political, strategic and economic interests.

The note of reply throughout is in a friendly tone, and the American proposition is criticised strongly on intrinsic merits.

Russia Replies, Too.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 21.—Russia's reply to Secretary Knox's note proposing the neutralization of the Manchurian railways was delivered to Ambassador Rockhill today.

It had been understood that Japan and Russia would take identical action on the American proposal.

MINERS LAY BIG PLANS

Workers today named a conference committee as follows:

T. L. Lewis, president; John H. Walker, district 12; J. R. Lawson, district 15; E. S. McCullough, district 24; C. P. Gilday, district 7; Jacob Ritter, district 13; Patrick Gilday, district 2.

Will Represent Federation.

The conference committee of the Western Federation of Miners is as follows:

Charles H. Moyer, president; C. E. Mahoney, vice president; William Davidson, executive board member; James Devlin, Daniel Holland, M. J. O'Connor, and J. D. Cannon.

The two committees will immediately take up the work of framing a coalition contract that will bring about either an amalgamation, with one set of international officers and one treasury, or a mutual offensive and defensive working agreement that will permit the independent existence of the metal miners' organization and that of the miners of coal.

Sensation is Sprung.

"A man named Rivers," of Alabama, stirred the convention of the united mine workers' to a high pitch of excitement today, though he was not present. If he had not left the city, President Lewis said, he "probably would now," for he was "a secret agent of the operators of Alabama."

"Kill him!" shouted a delegate.

There was a laugh at this, but no laugh when there were general cries of "Throw his out!"

"He has vamoosed," said President Lewis.

W. R. Fairley, executive board member of Alabama, said that "the man Rivers" attended last year's convention as a delegate, and had with him a deputy sheriff from Alabama, "an officer that has no business in a miners' meeting."

Ex-Member of Union.

Rivers was a member of the local union at Carbondale, Ala., before the great strike in that state, Fairley said, and since then has been at intervals in the employ of the operators of the state as a confidential agent.

SAYS HOTELMEN ARE GOING TO CONSIDER MEAT BOYCOTT PLAN

poor of this country will be no better than the peasants of Europe."

Calls on Union Men.

St. Joseph, Mo., Jan. 21.—A call has been issued by central labor councils for meetings of all local labor unions, for the purpose of uniting with labor unions in other cities in boycotting meats for a period. The union members are urged to eat no meat for at least thirty days unless prices are materially reduced.

St. Louis Women Meet.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 21.—The high cost of living will be discussed at a meeting of the Woman's Trades Union league, and it is expected a resolution will be adopted asking members to abstain from eating meat while the prices remain up. The Central Trades and Labor union will act on such a resolution Sunday.

Members of individual labor unions have signed agreements not to eat meat for at least thirty days. Petitions advocating the banishment of meat from tables are in circulation in numerous manufacturing plants. Many signatures have been obtained.

Ask for More Pay.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 21.—The request of 1,600 woodworkers in the Louisville & Nashville general shops here for an increase of 10 per cent in wages, on account of the increased cost of living, was today refused by the company.

ABOLITION OF INSANITY PLEA IN CRIMINAL CASES

oath by two qualified medical examiners in lunacy. These examiners must make affidavit that the person is sane, and give their reasons, and then the application for a writ may be made to any court having jurisdiction. After that the case takes its usual course.

The report continues:

Refers to Specific Case.

"To emphasize the need for this remedy, reference should be made to a well-known case which has been in the public eye for long, where a murderer, having escaped the consequences of his crime by the plea of insanity, is trying to escape the consequences of his plea by means of a continuous performance in habeas corpus. No stronger illustration of the abuses of our system of criminal jurisprudence can be had than by recalling the circumstances of this case. Sympathy for an unfortunate and misguided family ought not to deter us from the recital.

"A youthful debauchee, of great wealth, trained to believe that his money gave him a right of freedom from all restraints, whether imposed by law or the rules of decency, inheriting an abnormality of mind likely to develop into homicidal acts, leading a debased and ignoble life, without a thought of the responsibilities which wealth imposes upon its owner, commits a foul and cowardly murder in a public resort.

"A Disgraceful Farce."

"If he were not insane, there could be no escape from the penalty of death. His only defense is insanity. After a long and seemingly needless delay—and delays in hailing murderers to the bar for trial bring the administration of a criminal law into disrepute—he is brought to a trial which, by reason of the manner in which it was conducted, degenerates into a disgraceful farce, and a confused jury finds itself unable to agree.

"A second trial, conducted properly and with dignity, results in a verdict of acquittal on the ground of insanity, and thereupon the prisoner is sent by the court, as required by the statute, to a state asylum for the criminally insane.

"From this he plans to get free upon successive writs of habeas corpus, which he purposes to apply for so long as his purse will enable him to pay zealous counsel and unscrupulous experts. It is a mere question of time and money when this particular murderer will be set free to direct his homicidal inclinations against some other citizen who already comes under his displeasure."

Abolish Insanity Plea.

The committee raises the question of amending the penal code by inserting the following words:

"Insanity or other mental deficiency shall no longer be a defense against a charge of crime; nor shall it prevent a trial of the accused unless his mental condition is such as to satisfy the court upon its inquiry that he is unable by reason of the malady to make the proper preparation for his defense."

Isanti Census Districts.

Cambridge, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Isanti county has been divided into nine districts for the purpose of taking the census this year. The districts are as follows: Athens and Oxford, Bradford and Spring Vale, Cambridge town and village; Dalbo and Maple Ridge; Isanti town and village; North Branch; Spencer Brook and Stanford; Stanchfield town and Brahan village; Wyanett. The work of enumeration is to be completed in thirty days.

ON THE IRON RANGES

ROSS FUNERAL TO BE ON SATURDAY

At Presbyterian Church in Eveleth Then Body Will Be Taken to Canada.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Funeral services for the late Daniel E. Ross, assistant superintendent of the Republic Iron & Steel company's Mesaba mines, who died Wednesday, will be held tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock at the First Presbyterian church, where the body is at present. A quartet of local body of Knights of Pythias, of which Mr. Ross was a prominent member will attend the funeral services, as will also the members of the Eveleth Curling club, of which the deceased was also a member.

Donald Ross of Duluth, his cousin, arrived yesterday to assist in the funeral arrangements. William Ross, a brother of the deceased, who was expected last evening from Boston, was unable to arrive because of the snow storms on the way, but will be here this evening.

After the funeral services the body will be escorted to the Mesaba depot from which place it will be shipped to Somerside, accompanied by the deceased's brother, and a few others. The body will be interred in the grave at Somerside opposite that of his mother's, who died about eight years ago.

Postponed Because of Death.

The annual monthly dance given by the Eveleth Dancing club, which was to have been held this evening has been indefinitely postponed because of Mr. Ross's death.

The curling games which were to have been played between the Eveleth Curling club rinks and the Virginia rinks at Virginia this evening were postponed.

HIBBING MAY HAVE POLICE CALL BOXES

Village Board Has Started a Movement Towards That End.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the last meeting of the council a proposal was made to install five police telephone boxes in different parts of town. The matter was referred to the police committee and a report on the matter is expected to be brought up at the next meeting.

Ground has been broken by the Graham & Young company for the new fire hall which will be located in the south end of the town, in the most thickly populated residence district. The excavation work will be pushed forward at once, so that the brick work can be begun as soon as possible.

Mrs. George Hally of Fourth avenue entertained a number of friends this afternoon at her home. The time was most pleasantly spent playing five hundred, after which a sumptuous lunch was served.

Attorney S. C. Scott left Thursday for Duluth on a short business trip.

Miss Kate left for home in Paisley, Can., after visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. Drydon, for the past two months.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Laubor returned home Wednesday evening from Elmo, Wis., after a several weeks' visit with Mrs. Laubor's parents in that city.

Judge Lefko has gone to Ely to attend the Odd Fellow contest to be held there this evening.

Rev. and Mrs. Frank Durant returned Thursday noon from Duluth, where they visited with friends several days.

SALOON MEN ARE GIVEN WARNING

Two Aurora Booze Parlors to Be Closed If They Violate Law.

Aurora, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the regular session of the council Wednesday night, complaints were registered against two local saloon men, one for serving drinks to women and the other for keeping open after hours. The president was authorized to warn the saloon men in question to obey the law or lose their licenses.

Village Engineer Walgren was authorized to secure prices from the several electrical houses as to the installing of a plant here. It is the intention of the council to have all the preliminary work done by spring so that the municipal lighting plant can be installed as soon as the frost leaves the ground.

VIRGINIA BRIEFS.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Conners has returned from a several weeks' visit at his old home in Michigan.

William McCoy, who has been in Wisconsin for the past several months engaged in the hotel business in La Crosse, has returned. Mrs. McCoy returned with him.

P. E. Dowling of Eveleth was a business visitor here yesterday. Mr. Dowling has leased his building at the corner of Chestnut street and Cleveland avenue.

D. E. McClean of the Virginia Protective association was a business visitor in Hibbing yesterday.

COLERAINE SEES HALLEY'S COMET

Miss Cole, Principal of High School, First to See the Heavenly Visitor.

Coleraine, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the high school last evening, students and teachers were on the lookout for Halley's comet at sunset.

They were rewarded for their search for soon after the sun dropped below the horizon Miss Cole, the principal of the high schools and the instructress of science, discovered the heavenly wanderer just above the horizon and to the north of the sun. It was easily distinguished by the naked eye. It's head was quite bright and its tail of feathery light extended above at great length. A number of the townspeople's attention was called to the unusual sight and quite a stir was created along the streets.

The wind blew at a terrific pace here yesterday. No damage was reported beyond blowing out the plate glass window in the new Murnik block, which was wrecked in the hurricane which swept over this place last fall.

MORE RICHMONDS ENTER THE FIELD

Special Municipal Judge Fleming After Judge Carey's Job.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The number of candidates who are to strive for political honors at the polls on Feb. 8 are springing up daily, the list being added to yesterday by the following filings: James H. Fleming, as a candidate for judge of the municipal court in opposition to Judge James P. Carey. Mr. Fleming at present holds the position of special municipal judge, city assessor and clerk of the school board.

A. C. Osborn is a candidate for alderman at large. Mr. Osborn holds the position of president of the council and has made a splendid record as one of the city officials.

H. O. Johnson, the well-known contractor and diamond drill operator, is a candidate for alderman at large, and Emil Johnson, a well-known resident of the Sixth ward, will make an effort to be elected alderman from his ward.

Tomorrow is the last day for filing nomination papers and it is expected that before the closing time there will be a number of other candidates in the field for the various offices.

CANNOT REACH LARGE MARKETS

People in Bear River Country Have Trouble Marketing Products.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Samuelson, a prominent citizen of the town of Bear River in the north part of Itasca county, while a visitor here the first of the week, spoke interestingly of his section of the county. He states that while that section is one of the richest agricultural regions in the world, it will be many years before there is any real farming owing to the lack of rail and wagon roads, and the great distance to markets. Any amount of truck can be raised, but it is almost impossible to get markets for it.

Mr. Samuelson states that there is prospect of a logging railroad being put in by the Weyerhauser people from Hibbing to Sturgeon lake where that concern is doing some extensive logging operations, which in a measure help the settlers of that section, but owing to the proximity of other railroads controlled by interests friendly to the Weyerhauser people.

Numerous loggers are operating in that neighborhood, the concern having the largest operations being Sutton & Mackey, who have several camps, and who are now operating six steam haulers.

The people of the Bear River country, however, have hopes that there will be something doing tending to the development of the country long before the agricultural attractions are looked to. It is reported that W. T. Bailey of Virginia, is having several diamond drills moved in there and will thoroughly explore that region for iron ore.

EMPLOYS 200 MEN.

N. B. Shanks Lumber Camps Near Aurora Busy Busy Places.

Aurora, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—South of Aurora, about seven miles, N. B. Shank is conducting extensive logging operations. At present he has three sets of camps in operation, and employs about 20 men. He has his own railroad for hauling purposes, which starts at Summit, on the Iron Range road, and runs south for four miles. He expects to put in about 4,000,000 feet of timber this winter.

VIRGINIA'S HIGHS ORGANIZE HOCKEY TEAMS

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.) — The Virginia High School Athletic association has organized two hockey teams and they are to be classified as permanent parts of the school sports. Nathan Keller has been chosen manager of both teams.

A number of new studies will be introduced into the Roosevelt high school next week.

This week closes the first half of the school semester and according to reports from the school faculty it has been a very successful one, both as to work accomplished by the students and attendance in all departments.

The night school is one of Supt. Bliss' special features of school work. The school is in operation five nights in each week and has an average attendance of about 300. The common branches of studies are taught together with bookkeeping and typewriting. Besides Supt. Bliss, eight other teachers are engaged in the work of instruction at the night school. This school is considered the largest now in force on the range and the pupils include men, women and children of every nationality and who are engaged in almost every vocation in the walks of life.

The Japan world's fair exhibit by the Virginia schools is being formed and when completed will be even better than the exhibit which won the silver cup at the state fair last September.

GRAND RAPIDS PAVING.

Much of That Improvement Promised During Next Summer.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The coming summer will see a considerable amount of paving done in Grand Rapids. The contract for paving Kindred avenue from Second street to Fourth street has already been let. Petitions for paving Second street from its intersection with Kindred avenue, east one block, then north to Third street on Leland avenue, and from the Great Northern tracks north on Leland avenue to Seventh street, have been circulated, and have been liberally signed by the property owners along the streets.

It is the object of the promoters to get the work started early so that it can be completed early the coming summer. The work done last year was commenced so late that there were doubt as to whether or not the work could be completed before the fall frost.

It is expected that the paving which will be done on Second street and as far north on Leland avenue as Fifth street, will be of the granitoid, such as was used on Third street. From Fifth street north to Seventh, the paving will be of some inferior material."

AFTER FIRST BORN.

Alice to Be Name of Three Additions to Hibbing.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—It was decided at a meeting held by the residents of the Roosevelt, Western and Hibbing Heights additions to incorporate a town of their own and name it Alice, in honor of the first white child born in the territory to be incorporated. The following officers were unanimously elected temporarily: Chairman, P. J. Somers; secretary, Oscar Wildstrand; treasurer, A. L. Beaudette, S. C. Scott, the attorney, explained the necessary manner in which the men interested must proceed to incorporate.

GRAND RAPIDS BOY IS HIT BY SNOW AND ICE.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—What might have been a fatal accident occurred yesterday afternoon in the school yards of the Central school. A number of children in the smaller classes were at recess, when a bunch of snow from the roof of the building slid off and struck Francis Connell, aged 8, the next youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. James Connell, in the head, knocking him senseless and inflicting a bad cut in his head, with probably serious internal injuries.

The mass of snow which hit the Connell boy weighed several hundred pounds and if the whole of the mass had struck him it would have killed him. He was unconscious for nearly half an hour. Dr. Carpenter, to whom the boy was brought, states that no serious results will follow.

NASHWAUK BRIEFS.

Nashwauk, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Olson family, residing on Third street, are quarantined on account of diptheria. Mrs. Olson having the disease.

J. C. Ohles is erecting a six-roomed dwelling on Fourth street, which will be ready for occupancy by the first of the month.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Becker, Tuesday, a son.

Rev. Mr. Copper, district superintendent of the M. E. churches held services at the Methodist church Sunday evening.

The Epworth League gave a social entertainment at the church Wednesday evening for the benefit of the league society.

Wilbur Ohles, who has been confined to his home the past two months with rheumatism, is improving.

The younger people of the town have become very enthusiastic over the new ice rink which was built by the school board of District No. 9. The rink has become a great place for amusing the old as well as the young, and affords good pastime for many village people who are acquainted with the sport.

Dr. and Mrs. H. S. Adams of Hibbing, were village callers Tuesday.

BEMIDJI HIGH WILL PLAY GRAND RAPIDS.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—On Saturday evening the Grand Rapids high school basket ball team will meet the high school team of Bemidji at the high school auditorium in this city. The management of the local team gives it out that the lineup of the Rapids team will be considerably strengthened by the shifting of positions and the addition of new blood.

ALLARD'S INJURIES ARE NOT SO VERY SERIOUS.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first reports of the injuries sustained by Frank Allard, nephew of General Superintendent E. M. Godfrey, who was injured recently at the Leonard pit by being caught between the bumpers of two cars of a stripping train, were exaggerated.

He will completely recover. Mr. Allard is an engineer on one of the stripping trains, and was merely engaged for an hour or so at the breaks on the train, when from some misunderstanding, the cars were jolted together, catching him just above the hips, before he was able to get away. Mr. Allard is a young married man, and has been in the employ of the Oliver Iron Mining company for some time.

PARISH CHANGES.

McKinley and Elba Parishes Added to Gilbert Parish.

Gilbert, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Several changes in Catholic parishes in this section have been made.

McKinley and Elba have been taken from the Biwabik parish and added to Gilbert, while Pineville is added to the Biwabik parish. Mountain Iron continues to belong to the Biwabik parish, with one visit a month from Father Salonen, the Biwabik priest.

The McKinley-Elba school, which is much nearer Gilbert than Biwabik, is being used for school purposes. Another effort will be made this year to build a church at McKinley. The difficulty heretofore has been in securing a location for the edifice.

LAKE COUNTY SOCIALISTS

Have Called County Convention at Two Harbors Feb. 14.

Two Harbors, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Socialists have called their county convention for Feb. 14 at 8 p. m., at the city hall. Two delegates to the state convention will be selected. Their primaries are to be held at the regular polling places in the county Feb. 7, from 8 to 9 p. m.

DIRECTORY OF AMUSEMENTS

WHERE TO GO TONIGHT.

LYCEUM—"The Soul Kiss."

"The Soul Kiss."

"The Soul Kiss," a musical comedy which enjoyed a long run in New York city, will open at the Lyceum this evening.

The production contains many song hits, the best known of which are: "When the Swallows Return in the Spring," "That Wasn't All," "Affinity," "Let's Pretend," "The Human Nightkey," "Very Well Then," "Any Old Place in the World With You" and "Diabolo Beau."

The engagement is for two nights only, with a matinee tomorrow after noon.

Mlle. Genee was featured in "The Soul Kiss" in the original New York production.

Fritzi Scheff.

Fritzi Scheff's new comic opera, "The Prima Donna," in which she comes to the Lyceum next Monday and Tuesday, requires a cast of very accomplished actors as well as singers, and several of the actors are not called upon to sing a note, this being left to those especially trained for it. When one sees in a light opera cast such names as John E. Hazzard, Vernon Davidson, William K. Harcourt, Donald Hall, Martin Haydon, Anna Phelham, Tillie Salinger, Grace Delmar, Maxine Verando, La Naveta, Marie Barry, Katherine Stewart and Virginia Reid, it is assured that the play must have worth as well as musical value. And this is the case with "The Prima Donna," for, strange to say, it has an interest in it that at times is really gripping and the music is sometimes almost forgotten in the skilful development of the story. Henry Blossom's witty yet dramatic book has, however, only spurred Victor Herbert on to more ambitious effort with his music, and the great composer is said to have written at his very best for Fritzi Scheff. She has a waltz song that is marvelously tuneful and dainty, and an aria that enables her to show that she is one of the greatest sopranos ever heard in light opera in this country.

McGUIRE VICE PRESIDENT.

Grand Rapids Man Officer of State Dairymen's Association.

Hutchinson, Minn., Jan. 21.—The thirty-second annual convention of the Minnesota State Dairymen's association was brought to a close here yesterday afternoon. All the old officers were re-elected except F. M. Wolfe of Montevideo, the second vice president, who is succeeded by Emil Eck of Cokato. The other officers are W. F. Schilling of Northfield, president; A. J. McGuire of Grand Rapids, first vice president; F. D. Currier of Nicollet, secretary, and J. M. Jack of Stanton, treasurer.

The corn-scoring contest occupied the greater part of the time yesterday. Interest in all the sessions was maintained to the last. Citizens co-operated in every manner possible and the association's officers and its guests are highly pleased with the manner in which the convention was handled.

Prof. Wilson of St. Anthony Park, was not able to be here, but in his stead came M. D. Munn of St. Paul, who told how he had found time to operate a successful dairy farm in addition to carrying on his extensive law practice. Mr. Munn said his farm showed a profit of $2,460 the past season.

Convict Inhuman Father.

Marinette, Wis., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The jury entered a verdict of guilty in the case of Albert Cavanaugh, charged by his little daughter with criminal assault. The prisoner is declared to be insane by his attorneys, who have petitioned to have him examined before the judge of probate.

UNIONISTS GAIN NINE

to power, but if the present tendency prevails among the remainder of voters for the next few days, its allies, the Laborites and Nationalists will practically hold the balance of power and the Irish particularly will be in a position to dictate legislation.

The proposal to reform the house of lords counted strongly among the country people, perhaps more strongly than did tariff reform. Respect for the old institutions is more deeply rooted there than in the cities. Scotland and Wales, where non-conformists abound, stand by the Liberal party, but the counties have given general and even Unionist gains.

Heaton Barely Wins.

J. Henniker Heaton, the "father of penny postage," retained his Canterbury seat by only 21 votes, having an independent Unionist platform.

Capt. H. Spencer Clay, Unionist, whose wife is a daughter of William Waldorf Astor, defeated A. P. Hodges, Liberal. The Right Hon. Herbert Lewis Samuel, undersecretary for the home office, was returned in Yorkshire, North Riding, Cleveland division.

Hon. A. G. Fry, attorney general, who has been the most severely attacked candidate in the campaign since Mr. Balfour denounced him as a liar for questioning whether the Conservatives would maintain the old age pensions, was indorsed by his Linlithgowshire constituents by a strong vote. Leif Jones, Liberal, leader of the extreme temperance party and largely responsible for the recent license bill, was defeated in the Appleby division of Westmoreland.

"I am quite confident of the result, throughout the country," said Chancellor Lloyd-George. "After all, the standard of 1906 was quite abnormal and we cannot expect to maintain it. It will be found that the Liberals have a good working majority.

Some Exciting Scenes.

Exciting scenes followed the declaration of the poll at Buckingham, where the Liberal candidate, F. W. Verney, son of Lord Verney, won by a narrow margin. The enraged Unionists chased several prominent Liberals, who took refuge in the nearby houses.

There was rioting at Belfast, where fifty-four persons were arrested on the charge of impersonating. According to the English law, all persons whose names appear on the registers may vote. One woman and two 14-year-old boys, who were thus registered, voted. Numbers of American citizens residing in London were notified that their names were on the registers and they voted unchallenged.

An enormous placard was displayed at Hampton with the inscription:

"If the Radical-Socialistic government is retained, in fifteen years England will be under the power of Germany.

"You may be forced into the German army."

BOOTS OR BEER, WHICH?

Many a Man Drinks Alcohol While His Children Want.

When a man selfishly persists in spending money for beer and whiskey that ought to go for the comforts, and, perhaps the very necessaries of life for his wife and children, such a man needs treatment. Some would say that he should be put under restraint and forcibly kept from wasting that which belongs to his family even more than himself. If, however, this man can be made to give up drink by a treatment administered secretly, it would certainly seem to be a wise thing to do, but in searching for such a treatment the wives and mothers of drinking men should be careful that they deal with honest people and get an honest treatment.

The White Ribbon Remedy is honestly made by honest people with the sincere desire to help the homes that are being injured and, perhaps, even desolated by alcohol. It is odorless, tasteless, contains absolutely no habit-forming drugs, and may be administered secretly if desired. Has proven its efficacy so many times that those who earnestly desire to win the drinker from the alcohol habit may begin treatment with the utmost confidence of the beneficial results.

White Ribbon Remedy may be obtained of E. M. Tredway, Duluth, Minn. $1.00 per box, or six boxes for $5.00.

ON THE IRON RANGES

ROSS FUNERAL TO BE ON SATURDAY

At Presbyterian Church in Eveleth Then Body Will Be Taken to Canada.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Funeral services for the late Daniel E. Ross, assistant superintendent of the Republic Iron & Steel company's Mesaba mines, who died Wednesday, will be held tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock at the First Presbyterian church, where the body is at present. A quartet of local lodge of Knights of Pythias of which Mr. Ross was a prominent member will attend the funeral services, as will also the members of the Eveleth Curling club, of which the deceased was also a member.

Donald Ross of Duluth, his cousin, arrived yesterday to assist in the funeral arrangements. William Ross, a brother of the deceased, who was expected last evening from Boston, was unable to arrive because of the snow storms on the way, but will be here this evening.

After the funeral services the body will be accepted by the Mesaba depot from which place it will be shipped to Somerset, accompanied by the deceased's brother, and a few others. The body will be interred in the grave at Somerset opposite that of his brothers, who died about eight years ago.

Postponed Because of Death.

The annual monthly dance given by the Eveleth Dancing club, which was to have been held this evening, has been indefinitely postponed because of Mr. Ross's death.

The curling games which were to have been played between the Eveleth Curling club links and the Virginia links at Virginia this evening were postponed.

HIBBING MAY HAVE POLICE CALL BOXES

Village Board Has Started a Movement Towards That End.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the last meeting of the council a proposal was made to install five police telephone boxes in different parts of town. The matter was referred to the police committee and a report on the matter is expected to be heard up at the next meeting.

Ground has been broken by the Graham & Young company for the new fire hall which will be located in the south end of the town, in the most thickly populated residence district. The excavation work will be pushed forward at once, so that the brick work can be begun as soon as possible.

Mrs. George Hally of Fourth avenue entertained a number of friends this afternoon at her home. The time was most pleasantly spent playing five hundred, after which a sumptuous lunch was served.

Attorney S. C. Scott left Thursday for Duluth on a short business trip.

Miss Kate left for home in Paisley, Can., after visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. Dryden, for the past two months.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lauber returned home Wednesday evening from Elmo, Wis., after a several weeks' visit with Mrs. Lauber's parents in that city.

Judge LaVe has gone to Ely to attend the Odd Fellow contest to be held there this evening.

Rev. and Mrs. Frank Durant returned Thursday noon from Duluth, where they visited with friends several days.

SALOON MEN ARE GIVEN WARNING

Two Aurora Booze Parlors to Be Closed If They Violate Law.

Aurora, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the regular session of the council Wednesday night, complaints were registered against two local saloon men, one for serving drinks to women and the other for keeping open after hours. The president was authorized to warn the saloon men in question to obey the law or lose their licenses.

Village Engineer Walgren was authorized to secure prices from the several electrical houses as to the installing of a plant here. It is the intention of the council to have all the preliminary work done by spring so that the municipal lighting plant can be installed as soon as the frost leaves the ground.

VIRGINIA BRIEFS.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.) John Connors has returned from a several weeks' visit at his old home in Michigan.

William McCoy, who has been in Wisconsin for the past several months engaged in the hotel business in La Crosse, has returned. Mrs. McCoy returned with him.

P. E. Dowling of Eveleth was a business visitor here yesterday. Mr. Dowling has leased his building at the corner of Chestnut street and Cleveland avenue.

Edward Finch returned yesterday from a business trip to St. Paul and Minneapolis.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. McLean were among those from here who attended the play at the Othello in Eveleth last night.

A daughter was born unto Mr. and Mrs. George A. Capstick Jan. 18.

W. R. Shaver, D. E. Foley, R. R. Bailey, Timothy Dunn and Sandy McDonald were Gilbert visitors yesterday.

D. E. McClean of the Virginia Protective association was a business visitor in Hibbing yesterday.

COLERAINE SEES HALLEY'S COMET

Miss Cole, Principal of High School, First to See the Heavenly Visitor.

Coleraine, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the high school last evening, students and teachers were on the lookout for Halley's comet at sunset.

They were rewarded for their search for soon after the sun dropped below the horizon Miss Cole, the principal of the high schools and the instructress of science, discovered the heavenly wanderer just above the horizon and to the north of the sun. It was easily distinguished by the naked eye. Its head was quite bright and its tail of fleecy light extended above at great length. A number of the townspeople and Miss Cole was called to the unusual sight and quite a stir was created over the city.

The wind blew at a terrific pace here yesterday. No damage was reported beyond blowing out the plate glass window in the new Murnik block, which was weak in the hurricane which swept over this place last fall.

MORE RICHMONDS ENTER THE FIELD

Special Municipal Judge Fleming After Judge Carey's Job.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The number of candidates who are to strive for political honors at the polls on Feb. 8 are springing up daily, the last being announced yesterday by the following citizens: James H. Fleming, as a candidate for judge of the municipal court in opposition to Judge James P. Carey. Mr. Fleming at present holds the position of special municipal judge, city assessor and clerk of the school board.

A. C. Osborn is a candidate for alderman at large. Mr. Osborn holds the position of president of the council and has made a splendid record as one of the city officials.

H. O. Johnson, the well-known contractor and diamond drill operator, is a candidate for alderman at large, and Emil Johnson, a well-known resident of the Sixth ward, will make an effort to be elected alderman from his ward.

Tomorrow is the last day for filing nomination papers and it is expected that before the closing time there will be a number of other candidates in the field for the various offices.

CANNOT REACH LARGE MARKETS

People in Bear River Country Have Trouble Marketing Products.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Samuelson, a prominent citizen of the town of Bear River in the north part of Itasca county, while a visitor here the first of the week, spoke interestingly of his section of the country. He states that while that section is one of the richest agricultural regions in the world, it will be many years before there is any real farming owing to the lack of rail and wagon roads, and the great distance to markets. Any amount of truck can be raised, but it is almost impossible to get markets for it.

Mr. Samuelson states that there is prospect of a logging railroad being put in by the Weyerhauser people from Hibbing to Sturgeon lake where that concern is doing some extensive logging operations, which in a measure help the settlers of that section, but owing to the proximity of other railroads controlled by interests friendly to the Weyerhauser people.

Numerous loggers are operating in that neighborhood, the concern having the largest operations being Sutton & Mackey, who have several camps, and who are now operating six steam haulers.

The people of the Bear River country, however, have hopes that there will be something doing tending to the development of the country long before the agricultural attractions are looked to. It is reported that W. T. Bailey of Virginia, is having several diamond drills moved in there and will thoroughly explore that region for iron ore.

EMPLOYS 200 MEN.

N. B. Shanks Lumber Camps Near Aurora Busy Busy Places.

Aurora, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—South of Aurora, about seven miles, N. B. Shank is conducting extensive logging operations. At present he has three sets of camps in operation, and employs about 20 men. He has his own railroad for hauling purposes, which starts at Summit, on the Iron Range road, and runs south for four miles. He expects to put in about 4,000,000 feet of timber this winter.

VIRGINIA'S HIGHS ORGANIZE HOCKEY TEAMS

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Virginia High School Athletic association has organized two hockey teams and they are to be classified as permanent parts of the school sports. Nathan Keller has been chosen manager of both teams.

A number of new studies will be introduced into the Roosevelt high school next week.

This week closes the first half of the school semester and according to reports from the school faculty it has been a very successful one, both as to work accomplished by the students and attendance in all departments.

The night school is one of Supt. Bliss' special features of school work. The school is in operation five nights in each week and has an average attendance of about 300. The common branches of studies are taught together with bookkeeping and typewriting. Besides Supt. Bliss, eight other teachers are engaged in the work of instruction at the night school. This school is considered the largest now in force on the range and the pupils include men, women and children of every nationality and who are engaged in almost every vocation in the walks of life.

The Japan worlds' fair exhibit by the Virginia schools is being formed and when completed will be even better than the exhibit which won the silver cup at the state fair last September.

GRAND RAPIDS PAVING.

Much of That Improvement Promised During Next Summer.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The coming summer will see a considerable amount of paving done in Grand Rapids. The contract for paving Kindred avenue from Second street to Fourth street has already been let. Petitions for paving Second street from its intersection with Kindred avenue, east one block, then north to Third street on Leland avenue, and from the Great Northern tracks north on Leland avenue to Seventh street, have been circulated, and have been liberally signed by the property owners along the streets.

It is the object of the promoters to get the work started early so that it can be completed early the coming summer. The work done last year was commenced so late that there were doubt as to whether or not the work could be completed before the fall frost.

It is expected that the paving which will be done on Second street and at 1st North on Leland avenue as Fifth street, will be of the granitoid, such as was used on Third street. From Fifth street north to Seventh, the paving will be of some inferior material.

AFTER FIRST BORN.

Alice to Be Name of Three Additions to Hibbing.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—It was decided at a meeting held by the residents of the Roosevelt, Western and Hibbing Heights additions to incorporate a town of their own and name it Alice, in honor of the first white child born in the territory to be incorporated. The following officers were unanimously elected temporarily: Chairman, P. J. Somers; secretary, Oscar Wilstrand, treasurer, A. L. Beaudette, S. C. Scott, the attorney, explained the necessary manner in which the men interested must proceed to incorporate.

GRAND RAPIDS BOY IS HIT BY SNOW AND ICE.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—What might have been a fatal accident occurred yesterday afternoon in the school yards of the Central school. A number of children in the smaller classes were at recess, when a bunch of snow from the roof of the building slid off and struck Francis Connel, aged 8, the next youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. James Connell, in the head, knocking him senseless and inflicting a bad cut in his head, with probably serious internal injuries.

The mass of snow which hit the Connell boy weighed several hundred pounds and if the whole of the mass had struck him it would have killed him. He was unconscious for nearly half an hour. Dr. Carpenter, to whom the boy was brought, states that no serious results will follow.

NASHWAUK BRIEFS.

Nashwauk, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Olson family, residing on Third street, are quarantined on account of diptheria. Mrs. Olson having the disease.

A. J. Millet is erecting a six-roomed dwelling on Fourth street, which will be ready for occupancy by the first of the month.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Becker, Tuesday, a son.

Rev. Mr. Copper, district superintendent of the M. E. churches held services at the Methodist church Sunday evening.

The Epworth League gave a social entertainment at the church Wednesday evening for the benefit of the league society.

Wilber Obles, who has been confined to his home the past two months with rheumatism, is improving.

The younger people of the town have become very enthusiastic over the new ice rink which was built by the school board of District No. 9. The rink has become a great place for amusing the old as well as the young, and affords good pastime for many village people who are acquainted with the sport.

Dr. and Mrs. E. S. Adams of Hibbing, were village callers Tuesday.

BEMIDJI HIGH WILL PLAY GRAND RAPIDS.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—On Saturday evening the Grand Rapids high school basket ball team will meet the high school team of Bemidji at the high school auditorium in this city. The management of the local team gives it out that the lineup of the Rapids team will be considerably strengthened by the shifting of positions and the addition of new blood.

ALLARD'S INJURIES ARE NOT SO VERY SERIOUS.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first reports of the injuries sustained by Frank Allard, nephew of General Superintendent E. M. Godfrey, who was injured recently at the Leonard pit by being caught between the bumpers of two cars of a stripping train, were exaggerated.

He will completely recover. Mr. Allard is an engineer on one of the stripping trains, and was merely engaged for an hour or so at the breaks on the train, when from some misunderstanding, the cars were jolted together, catching him just above the hips, before he was able to get away. Mr. Allard is a young married man, and has been in the employ of the Oliver Iron Mining company for some time.

LYCEUM—"The Soul Kiss."

"The Soul Kiss."

"The Soul Kiss," a musical comedy which enjoyed a long run in New York city, will open at the Lyceum this evening.

The production contains many song hits, the best known of which are: "When the Swallows Return in the Spring," "That Wasn't All," "Affinity," "Cleo's Pretend," "The Human Nightmare," "Very Well Then," "Any Old Place in the World With You" and "Dialolo Bean."

The engagement is for two nights only, with a matinee tomorrow after noon.

Mlle. Genee was featured in "The Soul Kiss" in the original New York production.

Fritzi Scheff.

Fritzi Scheff's new comic opera, "The Prima Donna," in which she comes to the Lyceum next Monday and Tuesday, requires a cast of very accomplished actors as well as singers, and several of the actors are not called upon to sing a note, this being left to those especially trained for it. When one sees in a light opera cast such names as John E. Hazzard, Vernon Davidson, William K. Harcourt, Donald Hall, Martin Hayden, Anna Phelham, Tillie Salinger, Grace Delmar, Maxine Verando, La Naveta, Marie Barry, Katherine Stewart and Virginia Reid, it is assured that the play must have worth assured that the play must have worth as well as musical value. And this is the case with "The Prima Donna," for, strange to say, it has an interest in it that at times is really gripping and the music is sometimes almost forgotten in the skilful development of the story. Henry Blossom's witty yet dramatic book has, however, only spurred Victor Herbert on to more ambitious effort with his music, and the great composer is said to have written at his very best for Fritzi Scheff. She has a waltz song that is marvelously tuneful and dainty, and an aria that enables her to show that she is one of the greatest sopranos ever heard in light opera in this country.

McGUIRE VICE PRESIDENT.

Grand Rapids Man Officer of State Dairymen's Association.

Hutchinson, Minn., Jan. 21.—The thirty-second annual convention of the Minnesota State Dairymen's association was brought to a close here yesterday afternoon. All the old officers were re-elected except F. M. Wolfe of Montevideo, the second vice president, who is succeeded by Emil Eck of Cokato. The other officers are W. F. Schilling of Northfield, president; A. J. McGuire of Grand Rapids, first vice president; F. D. Currier of Medford, secretary, and J. M. Jack of Stanton, treasurer.

The corn-scoring contest occupied the greater part of the time yesterday. Interest in all the sessions was maintained to the last. Citizens co-operated in every manner possible and the association's officers and its guests are highly pleased with the manner in which the convention was handled.

Prof. Wilson of St. Anthony Park, was not able to be here, but in his stead came M. D. Munn of St. Paul, who told how he had found time to operate a successful dairy farm in addition to carrying on his extensive law practice. Mr. Munn said his farm showed a profit of $2,460 the past season.

to power, but if the present tendency prevails among the remainder of voters for the next few days, its allies, the Laborites and Nationalists will practically hold the balance of power and the Irish particularly will be in a position to dictate legislation.

The proposal to reform the house of lords counted strongly among the country people, perhaps more strongly than did tariff reform. Respect for the old institutions is more deeply rooted there than in the cities. Scotland and Wales, where non-conformists abound, stand by the Liberal party, but the counties have given general and even Unionist gains.

Heaton Barely Wins.

J. Henniker Heaton, the "father of penny postage," retained his Canterbury seat by only 21 votes, having an independent Unionist platform.

Capt. H. Spencer Clay, Unionist, whose wife is a daughter of William Waldorf Astor, defeated A. P. Hodges, Liberal. The Right Hon. Herbert Lewis Samuel, undersecretary for the home office, was returned in Yorkshire, North Riding, Cleveland division.

Hon. A. G. Cre, attorney general, who has been the most severely attacked candidate in the campaign since Mr. Balfour denounced him as a liar for questioning whether the Conservatives would maintain the old age pensions, was indorsed by his Lincolnshire constituents by a strong vote. Leif Jones, Liberal leader of the extreme temperance party and largely responsible for the recent license bill, was defeated in the Appleby division of Westmoreland.

"I am quite confident of the result, throughout the country," said Chancellor Lloyd-George. "After all, the standard of 1906 was quite abnormal and we cannot expect to maintain it. It will be found that the Liberals have a good working majority.

Some Exciting Scenes.

Exciting scenes followed the declaration of the poll at Buckingham, where the Liberal candidate, F. W. Verney, son of Lord Verney, won by a narrow margin. The enraged Unionists chased several prominent Liberals, who took refuge in the nearby houses. There was rioting at Belfast, where fifty-four persons were arrested on the charge of impersonating. According to the English law, all persons whose names appear on the registers may vote. One woman and two 11-year-old boys, who were thus registered, voted. Numbers of American citizens residing in London were identified that their names were on the registers and they voted unchallenged.

An enormous placard was displayed at Hampton with the inscription:

"If the Radical-Socialistic government is retained, in fifteen years England will be under the power of Germany.

"You may be forced into the German army."

BOOTS OR BEER, WHICH?

Many a Man Drinks Alcohol While His Children Want.

When a man selfishly persists in spending money for beer and whiskey that ought to go for the comforts, and, perhaps the very necessaries of life for his wife and children, such a man needs treatment. Some would say that he should be put under restraint and forcibly kept from wasting that which belongs to his family even more than himself. If, however, this man can be made to give up drink by a treatment administered secretly, it would certainly seem to be a wise thing to do, but in searching for such a treatment the wives and mothers of drinking men should be careful that they deal with honest people and get an honest treatment.

The White Ribbon Remedy is honestly made by honest people with the sincere desire to help the homes that are being injured and, perhaps, even desolated by alcohol. It is odorless, tasteless contains absolutely no habit-forming drugs, and may be administered secretly if desired. Has proved its efficacy so many times that those who earnestly desire to win the drinker from the alcohol habit may begin treatment with the utmost confidence of the beneficial results.

White Ribbon Remedy may be obtained of E. M. Tredway, Duluth, Minn. $1.00 per box, or six boxes for $5.00.

The American Excess Of Good Living

The Principal Cause of the Great Prevalence of Indigestion and Dyspepsia.

A Trial Package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Sent Free.

Man inhabits every part of the globe where external influences can be successfully resisted. Food is an important element in effecting this, and nature has provided for it accordingly. The colder the climate the more animal food and oily substances are required; the warmer a preponderance of vegetables and fruits is necessary in one's diet.

The whale-blubber of the fur-clad Eskimo, and the rice of the nude African, are as much necessities of locality, as matters of choice. The same indications exist in civilization. Thus, the diet in America and England is essentially different from that in Italy, Spain ond Egypt.

The effects of universal communication are nowhere more obvious than on the luxurious table. To furnish the refined cuisine, all climates, both sea and land, are laid under contribution, and the stomach is expected to digest, without assistance everything that is put into it. Combining together such varied products, and the neglect of the relation between climate and foods, are very active causes of dyspepsia.

The heavy substantial dishes of this climate accord badly with the thermometer at ninety degrees; and an inflexibility in regulating the kind and quantity of food is the cause of a large proportion of the ill health and stomach troubles among the English and Americans.

Thousands of people who have suffered from stomach troubles and a general ill-health resulting therefrom, because of a badly regulated diet, and the ingesting of on excessive amount of food at the table, have obtained speedy and permanent relief by means of a simple expedient—that of using one or two of STUART'S DYSPEPSIA TABLETS after each meal, or whenever any of the well-known symptoms of indigestion are present.

These powerful digestive tablets contain every element that exists in the stomach to digest the food, and in the exact proportion as found therein. They take the place of the natural digestive juices when the latter are deficient in quality or quantity, and do their work for them, removing the indigestion by digesting the food, and resting, strengthening and purifying the digestive tract.

There is no other digestive remedy on the market which has been found equal to Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets; none which is so rapidly and powerfully efficient, or which removes discomfort, banishes stomach-pain, and relieves and cures all of the symptoms of dyspepsia, and indigestion in so thorough and pleasant a manner as these marvelous little tablets, a single grain of which is capable of digesting 3,000 grains of any and every kind of food.

All persons who are annoyed with stomach troubles of any kind should use Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which will remove such troubles in a very short time. Purchase a box from your druggist, and send us name and address for free sample. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Building, Marshall, Mich.

TO BE LARGER THAN EVER

Poultry Show Will Be Held at Old Y. M. C. A. Building.

Cash Prizes Are This Year the Largest Ever Offered.

The fourteenth annual exhibition of the Duluth Poultry association will be held, beginning Feb. 4, and ending on Feb. 10.

For some time the committee in charge of the exhibition have been hard at work on the arrangements, and the new members now promise the best show of the kind that has ever been held in the Zenith City.

The poultry association has an option on the old Y. M. C. A. building, and it is probable that the show will be held at that place. These quarters are larger than any ever occupied by an exhibition of a like nature in Duluth, and it is believed that if it is known that there is this year room in plenty for all exhibits, many will come in who would not otherwise put their birds up for the approval of the judge.

James A. Tucker of Concord, Mich., will this year score the birds.

This year it is possible for out of town people to place their birds on exhibition without coming near the city. The officials of the show will care for them; they will be scored and sent back to their owner after the show has closed, as promptly as though the owner himself were attending to them.

The cash prizes are the largest ever offered.

The officers of the Duluth Poultry association are: W. L. Windom, president; Benjamin Wood, vice president; H. A. Nelson, secretary; F. P. Hallock, assistant secretary; J. W. Nelson, treasurer. The executive committee is composed of Porter B. Markell, C. H. Dunstling, J. B. Greenfield, W. P. Weir, P. T. Gorden, Theodore Hollister.

Rules and Regulations.

Rules will be rigidly enforced, and ignorance of them may prove fatal to successful competition. They follow:

"1. Entries for competition will close Feb. 2, 1910, and all stock must be in the show room by 12 m. Feb. 3.

"2. Entries must be made on entry blanks furnished by the secretary on application. Entry fees must accompany the blanks in every case and transportation must be fully prepaid. All entries should be properly ringed before they are shipped. All birds must have leg bands and the number of each stated on the entry blank. Bands can be procured of the superintendent at 2 cents each.

"3. All birds competing must be strictly the property of the exhibitor. Fraud in this rule will exclude the specimen. Should any doubt exist as to the ownership or age of the birds sought to be entered, the exhibitor shall be required to make a statement under oath, concerning such ownership or age.

"4. The Revised and Illustrated American Standard of Perfection will govern the judge in all varieties recognized therein.

"5. Exhibitors will not be allowed to change birds from one coop to another, without permission of the superintendent. All eggs laid during the exhibition will be collected, and their vitality destroyed by the superintendent. This rule will be strictly enforced.

"6. Food, water, watchman, and everything necessary for the protection and comfort of the birds will be furnished by the association, but in no case will the association be held responsible for loss or accident to the birds from any cause whatever, but proper protection will be taken to guard against same.

"7. Coops will be furnished free by the association.

"8. Report of the judge, as approved by the executive committee, will be final, and in no case will an appeal be entertained, except by a petition, signed by a majority of the exhibitors of that variety.

"9. During the continuance of the exhibition all specimens will be under the control of the superintendent, and cannot be removed without his written consent, which consent shall be given only when required for sanitary reasons.

"10. Exhibitors from abroad can send birds directly to Secretary, Duluth Poultry association, Duluth, Minn., who will take charge of them, providing the transportation has been prepaid, and they will be promptly returned at the close of the show at the expense of the exhibitor. Each exhibitor must place his name and place of shipment and the name of the express company by which he ships, plainly on each coop, to avoid mistakes.

"11. Immediately after the awards have been made, a ribbon stating the premium will be placed on each coop. Exhibitors will then be allowed to advertise as conspicuously as desired, provided the space over the owner's coop only is used.

"Any case not provided for in the rules and regulations will be referred to the executive committee for decision.

"All birds must be entered cock, hen, cockerel, or pullet. Exhibitors will not be required to designate birds to compose breeding pens."

Orrine Does Cure DRUNKENNESS

This is a positive fact known to tens of thousands of wives and mothers of this land. They know Orrine is a reliable remedy for the cure of drunkenness, because it has restored their loved ones to lives of sobriety and usefulness. Everyone of these women bought Orrine with full confidence that it would effect a cure or their money would be refunded to them if it failed. This guarantee is in each box. No other remedy for the cure of drunkenness is sold with this liberal guarantee, but Orrine has been so uniformly successful that the makers want the buyers to know that they have full protection if it should fail in any instance. We never publish letters of patients but recently this letter came to us from Dr. Nolte, Eighth and Race streets, Philadelphia, Pa. Read it and you will readily appreciate why Orrine is so well thought of:

"I have had a remarkable case of inebriacy under my personal observation. The patient drank heavily for fifteen years and reached a degraded condition, which caused the breaking up of his family and separation from his wife. Every hope was given up of ever saving the man from his strong desire for drink, and only a mother's interest finally persuaded him to voluntarily take treatment for his diseased condition. It was my pleasure to recommend Orrine, your liquor habit cure, and the treatment was taken faithfully. This was two years ago and the patient is now in a healthy condition and still abstains from the use of stimulants. I have sold Orrine for a number of years and have always found it to be satisfactory. I believe you have an exceptionally good treatment for this disease."

Orrine is prepared in two forms. No. 1, a powder, absolutely tasteless and odorless, given secretly in food or drink. Orrine No. 2, in pill form, is for those who wish to cure themselves. Orrine costs only $1 a box. The guarantee is in each box. Write for Free Orrine Booklet (mailed in plain sealed envelope) to Orrine company, 457 Orrine building, Washington, D. C. Orrine is for sale in this city by W. A. Abbett, 129 West Superior street, 930 East Second street and 101 West Fourth street.

They know Orrine is a reliable and efficacious remedy for drunkenness and they will not offer you a substitute.

MORE GOLD AND SILVER.

South Dakota Output, However, Shows Decrease.

Washington, Jan. 21.—The production of both gold and silver by the mines of the United States increased during the calendar year 1909, according the preliminary estimates made by the director of the mint.

These show the gold production to have been $99,232,200, as against $94,560,000 for 1908; silver, 53,849,000 fine ounces. At the average price of silver, $.52016 per fine ounce for the year, the commercial value of the silver product for 1909 would amount to $28,010,100.

Nevada shows an apparent increase in her gold product of $3,219,000; California, $1,941,600, and Alaska, $1,088,800. Colorado shows a decrease of $916,3000, and South Dakota, $892,300. The decrease in the latter state is attributable to the closing down of the works of the Homestake mine on account of labor troubles. Montana shows an increase in her silver product of 1,643,800 fine ounces; Utah, 1,082,100 fine ounces, and Arizona 722,200 fine ounces.

The greatest decreases in the silver product were: Colorado, 1,056,600 fine ounces; Nevada, 555,500 fine ounces and Idaho 503,800 fine ounces.

SASKATCHEWAN YOUTH FOR RHODES SCHOLARSHIP.

Regina, Sask., Jan. 21.—The Rhodes scholarship committee for Saskatchewan, consisting of Lieutenant Governor Forget, President Murray and Chief Justice Wetmore, met here and, from seven applications, selected Douglas Fraser of Qu'Appelle, a third-year under-graduate in the department of history at Toronto university. This selection was made in accordance with the understanding arrived at to select scholars alternately from the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan.

TAFT TELLS THEM "NO."

Assures Risk Chiefs Federal Insurance Law Is Impossible.

Washington, Jan. 21.—President Taft, addressing the annual meeting of the Association of Life Insurance Presidents, held out no hope yesterday for the enactment of a federal law to govern the companies, and advised the executive officers to bend their efforts to secure uniform legislation in the states.

"The only function that the United States can perform," said the president, "is to pass a model law in the District of Columbia, and there show the world what congress, aided probably by a scientific commission, shall believe to be the best kind of an insurance law."

In the president's audience there were a dozen or more governors of states and nearly 200 leaders of the life insurance business in the United States.

WATERWAYS COMMISSION TO MEET AT TORONTO.

Buffalo, N. Y., Jan. 21.—The international waterways commission will hold a public hearing at the Queen's hotel, Toronto, Ont., Tuesday, Feb. 8, 1910, at 2 p. m. The subject under consideration will be the application of the St. Lawrence Power company, limited, and the Long Sault Development company to construct works in the St. Lawrence river, near Barnhardt Island, for water power and other purposes.

BRADLEY GETS THE PROMOTION.

Patrolman James L. Bradley will be promoted to a sergeant of the police force to succeed P. J. Walsh. Bradley will probably be sent to West Duluth to take charge of the suburb at night. He and P. J. Dickman were tied in the recent examination, but Bradley was certified to the top of the list because he has had six years of service, as compared to Dickman's four years.

"COWBOY" PLAY FATAL.

Boy Killed By Companions in "Wild West" Game.

New York, Jan. 21.—Fourteen-year-old Morris Eisenbery was shot and killed on Tuesday, a victim of "cowboy" play. A playmate is believed to have accidentally fired the fatal shot.

Young Eisenberg was found dead in the hallway of his home on Allen street, a bullet through his heart.

It looked at first to the police as if they had a puzzling murder mystery to solve, but inquiry developed that the boy, with several companions, togged out with the paraphernalia of the legendary "Wild West," had been playing in the house in the absence of Eisenberg's sister, with whom he lived.

A revolver, with which evidently the shooting had been done, was found in one of the rooms, together with improvised swords of lath, bandanna handkerchiefs, gauntlets and cowboy clothing.

DRESSMAKERS FINED.

Eight of Them Must Pay $10,000 for Smuggling.

New York, Jan. 21.—Eight of the dressmakers indicted for complicity in the "sleeper" trunk smuggling of millinery, through their counsel yesterday entered pleas of guilty before Judge Hough in the United States circuit court. The judge imposed fines aggregating $10,000.

The eight dressmakers who pleaded guilty have conducted shops, mostly in Fifth avenue, under fanciful French names. Their real names and the amounts of their fines are: E. McNamara, $2,500; Annie E. Conlin, $750; Teresa F. Hannon, $1,500; Annie L. McBirnie, $2,000; Augusta Wickstrum, $2,000; Mary Kenny, $500; Alice McEvoy, $1,000; Katherine O'Connell, $500.

Convicted of Woman's Murder.

Colville, Wash., Jan. 21.—James F. Logan, alias Frederick Jahns, was convicted last night of the murder of Mrs. Agnes Janson, his housekeeper, whose body he is alleged to have taken into the woods and cremated. Logan is said to have confessed to other two murders.

Fishing Act Constitutionality.

Menominee, Mich., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—A case in which the constitutionality of the Michigan law imposing a license on gasoline fishing boats of $10 and $1 on fishing sailing smacks, is pending here. The case is brought in the name of Louise Setunsky, who appeals against the ruling of the circuit court.

ANTI-MEAT RANKS GROW

Cleveland Now Has 30,000 Men Pledged to Limit Their Diet.

Omaha, Kansas City and St. Louis Also Have Movements.

Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 21.—Thirty thousand workingmen and business men have now signed the anti-meat agreement, according to F. W. Sebelin, the shop foreman who is heading the strike against the eating of meat.

To this movement has been added a strike against eggs, a set of petitions started in jest in a real estate office quickly getting 2,000 signatures. More petitions will be printed and the meat strikers will circulate the anti-egg petitions in the shops.

Started In Omaha.

Omaha, Neb., Jan. 21.—The ranks of the army of abstainers from meat-eating were recruited by the action of 50 Omaha workmen, who today pledged themselves to a vegetable diet. The matter was laid before the Central Labor Union last night and it is expected that several thousand workmen will join the army of non-meat eaters.

More in Kansas City.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 21.—Seven hundred recruits were added last night to the ranks of the small army that has waged war for lower-priced meat here, by agreeing to eschew it for a month. Every member of the Carpenters' union signed the pledge. The labor council will take up the question Sunday.

St. Louis in Line.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 21.—Three hundred and sixty-five stationary engineers signed a pledge last night to abstain from meat for thirty days. A resolution calling upon every union man in the city to do likewise will be presented at a meeting of Central trades and labor unions Sunday. If adopted 75,000 men will be affected.

CHEER MENTION OF ROOSEVELT

Nebraska Insurgents Nevertheless Express Confidence in Taft.

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 21.—Several hundred "insurgent" Republicans from nearly all sections of the state, representing as they said, the militant section of the party in Nebraska, held their initial rally in Lincoln last night.

Inspired originally by a movement in opposition to United States Senator Elmer J. Burkett, the meeting took no formal action antagonistic to the senator and the speeches contained only mild criticisms of him.

President Taft was declared to be the victim of conditions surrounding him in congress, but the speakers declared their faith in the president, saying that in the more than three years he has yet to serve there was reason to believe he would prove himself true to the cause of the people.

Cheers for Roosevelt.

Cheers followed a reference to Former President Roosevelt by City Attorney Fansburg of Lincoln, who said: "It would be worth while just now to have the African lion hunter in the place and furnished with the opportunity of President Taft. Can anyone doubt what would be the outcome of Cannonism if President Roosevelt were in Washington with the Big Stick? It would be a fight to the finish; Cannonism would be beaten to a pulp and the champion of the people would come out triumphant and ready for further controversy."

SOME SENATE SEANCES

Washington, Jan. 21.—Steps were taken by the senate committee on military affairs to have Noah Webster's famous dictionary adjudged obsolete. The definition given to "hazing" by that authority is not satisfactory to the committee and congress is asked to make a new one. Senator Du Pont was authorized to introduce a bill prescribing regulations governing the dismissal of cadets from the West Point military academy on charges of hazing, and to define what constitutes hazing. It is provided that a cadet dismissed shall not be reinstated and shall not be eligible to appointment as an officer of the army for two years after the class of which he was a member shall have been graduated.

More West Pointers.

Provision for an increase in the appointment of cadets to the West Point military academy is made by a bill reported favorably to the senate by Mr. Warren, chairman of the committee on military affairs. At present one cadet may be appointed from each congressional district every fourth year. The Warren bill provides that when any cadets shall have completed three years of their four-year course, a succeeding appointment may be made from their congressional district-at-large.

Defends Blue Grass State.

In the senate, Senator Bradley of Kentucky in a speech defended Kentucky and charged that the "tobacco trust" was responsible for the acts of violence which had been perpetrated by the so-called night riders in that state.

ADMITS MURDER OF WOMAN IN ILLINOIS.

Rockford, Ill., Jan. 21.—Clinton St. Clair this morning confessed to the murder of Mrs. Mary McIntosh, who was found with throat cut and body disemboweled at her home here Thursday. St. Clair's arrest followed an investigation of a clue furnished by a letter he threw away with papers taken from the victim's home.

Murderer Swallows Acid.

New York, Jan. 21.—Frederick Boettcher, a Brooklyn jeweler, was sandbagged and fatally shot, while in his store late yesterday afternoon by an unidentified man who ended his life by taking a capsule of carbolic acid before he could be locked up. Boettcher identified his assailant as a man who came to his store not long ago and looked at some diamond rings.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY.

A liar should have a good memory.
—Quintilian (42-119 B. C.)

REGISTER TOMORROW.

If you did not register on primary election day or last Tuesday, tomorrow is your last chance. Unless you register then you can't vote at the city election Feb. 1, and if you consider yourself a good citizen, it is your duty to vote.

It will be hard to find an excuse for not registering. The polling places will be open for your convenience from 6 o'clock in the morning to 9 o'clock in the evening. That's a 15-hour day, and if you can't find time to register between those hours you are a very busy man indeed—or a very negligent one.

Such elections as that of Feb. 1 are very good tests of the qualities of citizenship. It isn't very interesting, and that's just why it is a good test. It's no great credit to a voter to get out and vote when contests are pending that get everybody excited. Pretty nearly everybody does that much. The really good citizen is the man who gets out and votes at all elections, and especially at elections like that now approaching, where there are no interesting contests for office, but where matters of vast importance to the community are to be decided by the voters.

Besides the contests for office, there are nine charter amendments and a bond issue to be passed upon. It is very important that six of those amendments should be adopted—the first six. It is still more important that three of those amendments—the last three—should be defeated. It is also exceedingly important that the bond issue should be approved, so that the city can extend its water and light service to keep pace with the city's growth. An intelligent, vigilant public spirit is needed to dispose of these issues rightly. It needs the kind of citizens who will register and vote even if there are no striking contests for office to galvanize them out of their indolent indifference.

If you don't register tomorrow you can't vote Feb. 1. Make your plans tonight to register tomorrow, and do it early so you won't forget it.

THE INERTIA OF TRADITION.

Speaking of a time early in the beginning of modern England, and discussing the attitude of the middle and lower classes toward government, John Richard Green, author of the greatest history of England, says: "They had no mind to claim any direct part in the actual work of government. It was a work which, in default of the crown, fell naturally, according to the ideas of the time, to the baronage." Britain has advanced much since that day. It has a house of commons which actually is more powerful than the house of lords, the chamber of the baronage. Yet now that the issue between commons and lords is acute, England trembles and is timid. Reports of yesterday's voting in the country districts say: "The proposal to reform the house of lords counted strongly among the country people, perhaps more strongly than did tariff reform. Respect for the old traditions is more deeply rooted there than in the cities." Which would indicate that the advance is not so great as many had imagined from the time when the British people placed all power in crown and baronage, asking no right for themselves except that of doing homage.

THE FRANKING PRIVILEGE.

While the deficit in the postoffice department is being discussed, here are one or two things that ought by no means to be overlooked:

The other day Senator Hale presented in the senate a copy of Speaker Cannon's speech at Kansas City attacking the insurgents, and had it printed as a senate document.

On another day the speech made by President Taft at Winona, in which he said that the new tariff bill provides a "substantial revision downward" and is the best bill ever, and in which he reproached the Republican senators and representatives who dared to think for themselves and their constituents instead of taking orders from the "organization," was also printed as a senate document.

The insurgents got into the game, too, and Senator Borah had Senator Cummins's speech at Chicago, replying to the president and Cannon, printed as a senate document.

Often, too, newspaper and magazine articles that seem available for political purposes are made a part of the Congressional Record. This happened to the article by Congressman McCall of Massachusetts, printed in the Atlantic Monthly, in which he extravagantly praised the new tariff law.

When these speeches and magazine articles are printed in the Congressional Record or as senate or house documents, they become privileged matter, and can be sent free through the mails. At every "long session" of congress, which is the session just before election, the files of house and senate documents and the Congressional Record are lumbered with such extraneous matter. The idea is to prepare for the campaign committees plenty of matter likely to be useful in the approaching campaign, and to fix it so that it can be mailed without cost. The Republicans, though in power, do not monopolize this privilege. The Democrats and insurgents use it too, as they naturally would so long as the privilege was open.

When it was suggested that campaign expenses be paid out of the public treasury, pretty nearly everybody laughed. Yet in the abuses of the franking privilege described above—and these are but a few specimens out of many—together with the cost of printing as public documents magazine articles and speeches not delivered on the floor of congress, we see that it is an established practice of long standing to make the public treasury stand a part of the expense of conducting presidential and congressional campaigns.

All of which has something to do with the postal deficit, even if it hasn't so much to do with it as have the rates paid for carrying the mails over the railroads, and the maintenance of the rural free delivery system.

THE TARIFF AND THE COST OF LIVING.

The federal and several state governments are making a great to-do about investigating the reason for the high cost of living in this country.

There isn't much to be gained by these investigations. Everybody who really applies his mind to the subject knows right now why living is high. It is high because of oppressively exorbitant tariff taxes, and because of the exactions of the few who control the finances and industry of the country, and who use their power to squeeze vast profits out of the necessities of the people. The remedies are tariff revision and regulation of industry in the interests of the people.

Cardinal Gibbons showed, in a talk at Baltimore the other evening, that he doesn't need any elaborate and expensive public investigation to teach him why the cost of living is high and why the poor are troubled to make their slender incomes cover it. He said:

"I am persuaded and inclined to believe that our high tariff has a great deal to do with the exorbitant cost of things necessary for life. Take as illustrations:

"First, the cost of sugar. That article is the product of Louisiana, Porto Rico and the Philippine Islands. England does not produce sugar, and yet the price of sugar is as low as, if not lower than, in the United States.

"Second, the case of tin, a necessary covering for canned fruits and vegetables. The high tariff on tin excludes the foreign article from the states and consumers are obliged to use the domestic, which inures to the exclusive benefit of the domestic manufacturers. The government receives no benefit from this protection nor do the packers themselves. The advantage is conferred solely upon the domestic manufacturers of tin."

"The cardinal added," says the Associated Press report, "that something must be done at once to improve economic conditions in this country."

He mentions two instances, but they are typical of the two ways in which the tariff cuts. Sugar is lower in England than it is in the United States; the European price is about two-thirds the price in this country. A tariff in the interests of an American refining trust, a trust which has been more merciless in its crushing of competition and more shameless in its robberies from the government and people than any other, makes this difference.

In the case of tin there is a prohibitive tariff. The government gets no revenue from this duty, because it shuts out imports altogether. Yet the tariff tax is paid, just the same, because behind the tariff wall a trust fixes prices, and the consumer pays them. They pay the tariff tax, but the government gets none of it.

Something must indeed be done to improve economic conditions in this country, as Cardinal Gibbons says—and he speaks as the chief figure of a church organization which includes more poor people in this country than any other organization in existence.

The most necessary thing to do, and the first thing that should be done, is to revise the tariff so as to squeeze out of it the robbery and oppression and hardship and misery it causes.

THE PARCELS POST.

If you have an eleven-pound package to mail to Hong Kong or Berlin, you can mail it at the Duluth postoffice for 12 cents a pound.

If you have an eleven-pound package you wish to send to Aitkin, you can't mail it at all. You must take it to an express company and let it charge you what it pleases.

If your package for Aitkin weighs only four pounds, however, you can mail it, but the postoffice will charge you 16 cents a pound, or 4 cents a pound more than it charges for packages consigned to almost any point outside the United States.

It is easy enough to see why the express companies should oppose the parcels post. It is not so easy to see why the government of the United States should remain almost the only civilized government in the world that has no parcels post system for its own people. It has one for foreigners, but none for natives.

Says Edwin C. Madden, for eight years third assistant postmaster general, in the Woman's Magazine; "In our domestic service the postage rates and conditions are fixed by congress. But the rates and conditions for foreign-going mail are fixed by the postmaster general. To about thirty countries he has already established—and he is continually adding to the list—what is known as the 'parcels post'; which means that a package of merchandise as large as three feet and six inches in length and six feet in length and girth combined, may be sent in our mails to those countries at 12 cents a pound. From one place in the United States to another, 16 cents is charged, and a package in excess of four pounds is prohibited altogether! So it is that a citizen may go to his postoffice with a package weighing four pounds and one ounce, which he wants to send to another postoffice, perhaps not five miles distant, and it will be refused as too heavy. If the citizen should change the address on that package to some postoffice in one of those foreign countries, it will be accepted. So it is again that a citizen may go to his postoffice with a package of merchandise weighing, say, a pound, which he wants to send to another postoffice five miles away. This package is not prohibited because of weight, but the rate charged is 16 cents a pound. If he should change the address on that package to a postoffice in one of those foreign countries, the rate charged would be only 12 cents, one-fourth less than he must pay to send it five miles away in his own country!"

This is a government of the people, for the people and by the people. Yet it gives its own citizens the worst of it in the mail service in this egregious manner. Doesn't the situation seem to raise a question whether, as a matter of fact, this is a government "of the people, for the people and by the people?"

The forces of hereditary privilege have abandoned all hope of controlling the British government, and the Liberals are certain to be returned to power. Wish the Liberals in this country were anywhere near so certain of getting the reins.

THE OPEN COURT.

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about live topics of general interest. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

SCHOOLS FOR GAMBLERS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I thought the police had driven from the confectionery stores of the city all games of chance, but I see they have not, for the games are still coaxing the nickels and dimes of the children from them and developing the gambling instinct in the little ones.

Those games should go. The only excuse they have for existence is that they are supposed to stimulate trade. They do stimulate trade, for they bring money into the coffers of those who conduct them, but so did the slot machine, the roulette wheel, the faro box, the chuck-a-luck cage and other games of chance stimulate trade in just that way.

We do not want our children to become gamblers. If we saw our own children playing games for money, we would stop them, for we know what playing for small stakes lead to. The community should protect its children in the same way. While the games exist, the children will play them. Drive out the games and the children will stop their petty gambling for lack of opportunity to continue it.

The dealers will probably plead that those cards, with numbers under little tags, are not gambling games, for every number has some sort of a prize. Perhaps they are not gambling games, but I have noticed that those who play them pull four or five tags off in the hope that they will have a better chance. When they lose on one card, they plunge more heavily on the next, like a man following the ponies and doubling his bets in the hope of making a killing.

Chief Troyer should stand by his orders already issued. He should drive every card and every game of chance off of the counters of the confectionery stores. They breed gamblers and we do not want gamblers developed in our community. The dealers who conduct the games are maintaining gambling devices and they should be dealt with accordingly. G. H. R.

Duluth, Jan. 20.

THE MEAT CRUSADE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Why doesn't Duluth fall into line in this boycott on meat?

They seem to be getting results in other cities, and the example set by Cleveland is being followed in other cities. The movement probably started as a joke, or was inaugurated by some newspaper as an advertising experiment, but it is a good one nevertheless, and if adopted by all the cities in the country, might have very beneficial effects. It would show the packers that the consumers are not disposed to bear everything in silence. When the movement is merely local or confined to one city, it hurts nobody but the retailers of that city, but if it should spread to every city in the country, the packers would find their business cut down very materially and might be willing to make some material reductions in the prices of meat.

It would have a good effect in more ways than one. It might show many people how well they can get along without meat, and convert many to the doctrine of the vegetarians. The reduction in the business of the packers would then be permanent instead of temporary.

Prices of meat are as high in Duluth as in any city in the country, and Duluth should join the anti-meat crusade.

A HOUSEKEEPER.

Duluth, Jan. 20.

The Reverend Father O'Keefe.

At the place where that exquisite view is,
As up from the ocean we came,
We stopped at the Mission San Luis,
By the river that bears the same name:
'Tis there that a man that I knew is—
And this is my purpose in brief:
To tell now we talked,
As we quietly walked,
With the Reverend Father O'Keefe.

Near the door was a brother confessing
A man with a very dark look;
He must have been years in transgressing,
The long time absolving him took.
They were dipping and kneeling and blessing,
And some showed the traces of grief;
And the man of mild mien
Who's the soul of this scene
Is the Reverend Father O'Keefe.

Where the soft-filtered sunlight was playing,
Some standing, some kneeling, some prone,
Near the altar the brothers were praying—
Diego, Juan, Pedro, Anton—
In attitudes painful, dismaying—
The cross and its stations in chief;
"With practice they're not Such a difficult lot,"
Said the Reverend Father O'Keefe.

In grim, uncontestable token,
The graves of two centuries lay,
The most of them ancient and broken,
Some wet with the tears of today,
Where women walked softly, low-spoken—
The reaper had garnered his sheaf,
"The dead who rest there
Have no need of our care,"
Said the Reverend Father O'Keefe.

He showed us the tiles he was baking,
He showed us the wells he had bored,
The arches and walls he was making,
The cloisters already restored,
The echoes of decades rewaking;
"For Time, that old arrogant thief,
Had stolen as much
As he ever dared touch,"
Said the Reverend Father O'Keefe.

I showed him a five-dollar billet;
He knew it; he took it; he said:
"I thank you and bless you, God will it,"
With a bend of his body and head—
"The earth is the Lord's we but till it;
This bill, like the fruit and the leaf,
The ruins and the dews,
It is ours but to use,"
Said the Reverend Father O'Keefe.

The bell told the time for our going.
The altar grew distant and dim;
With a look that was kindly and knowing,
He hitched up his robe around him,
His hooded brown habit full-flowing.
And tucked the bill into a reef:
"The money is thine,
But the use, it is mine,"
Said the Reverend Father O'Keefe.

'Tis a truth and I cannot refuse it,
I learned from that five-dollar bill,
In giving it I did not lose it,
But banked it down on that hill:
It is mine, but the man who doth use it
In spreading belief and relief
Slid the men of his day
On the San Luis Rey,
Is the Reverend Father O'Keefe.
—"J. H." in California Weekly.

Let's Pretend.

Let's pretend that you and I
Love each other—"true as true"—
It's a joyous game to try,—
Let's pretend!

I'll be lover-like, and you—
You'll return me sigh for sigh,
Kiss for kiss,—as sweethearts do,—
Let's pretend!

If we find, as time slips by,
That our play's in earnest, too,
All the better. Meanwhile, why
Let's pretend!
—Berton Braley in Puck.

Your Work.

Go to your work and be strong, halting not in your ways,
Balking the end half won for an instant dole of praise.
Stand to your work and be wise—certain of sword and pen,
Who are neither children nor gods, but men in a world of men.
—Kipling.

THE WEATHER.

The wind hit it up at a lively clip last night and walking wasn't comfortable unless headgear was well set and windproof. The gusts that swept around the corners at about the time the theaters were turning their crowds loose traveled at about fifty-two miles an hour.

Today is just a bright, snappy winter day—the kind the dweller in a northern clime likes. Tonight will be cold, but the weather man promises higher temperatures tomorrow with southerly winds. The sky will continue to be clear and Duluth enjoys sunshine in winter, for it doesn't get much of it.

A year ago today was a spring-like day with rain threatened.

The sun rose this morning at 7:45 and it will set at 4:54, giving nine hours and nine minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Much colder weather attended a decided increase in barometric pressure over the western lake region, the Red river, Lower Missouri and Mississippi valleys, the center of the high pressure having moved from Idaho to Northern Texas. Zero temperatures prevail in Manitoba and North Dakota. The Eastern Minnesota storm has moved its center to Lake Huron. During the past twenty-four hours this depression caused rain or snow and on high winds in the lake region, Ohio and Mississippi valleys, Atlantic and Gulf states, and much higher temperature along the Atlantic seaboard. Another disturbance developing over Alberta is causing milder weather in the extreme Northwest.

"The easterly movement of the Alberta low pressure area will be attended by rising temperature at the head of the Lakes during Saturday."

Following are the maximum temperatures for the past twenty-four hours and the minimum for the past twelve ending at 7 a. m.:

Aristogogy.

Boston Globe: Although the word "demagogy" has been greatly overworked, and too often recklessly and inappropriately applied, it has done good service in years to come. It is still far from the obsolete line.

We should be chagrined to see the word disappear from the English language. Paraphrasing the panegyric of Prince Hal on Falstaff, we could well spare a better word. Rather than curtail the stock of speech now on hand, we would enlarge it. We would add to the dictionary rather than subtract from it.

Therefore we recommend the employment of another word, which is the antithesis of "demagogy," and which expresses a pernicious habit some persons have of trying to make the contented rich believe there is an element in the community which seriously contemplates confiscating their wealth, just as demagogues persist in the attempt to make the plain people believe that the rich are forever heartlessly exploiting them.

The word is "aristogogy." It is just as Greek as its antonym, and so is its kin word, "aristogogue."

There has long been a lack of the appropriate word for the habit we have called attention to, and the need became urgent after we read the report of the special tax commission, which tells us that there are persons in this community who are looking for an opportunity to "penalize wealth."

The demagogue is by almost universal consent condemned as a disturber of social peace. Is the "aristogogue" any better?

If My Wife Taught School.

If I had a wife that taught school, I would go
To far-away countries; I'd fish in the Po
From a gondola gay, and the splash of my oar
Would be heard by the natives around Singapore,
If my wife taught school
I would. Wouldn't you?
Or wouldn't you?
Anyway, what would you do?

If I had a wife that taught school I would fly
Like a condor. I'd roost pretty middlin' high.
I'd wear a silk tile and drive horses—I vow
I'd do lots of things that I ain't doing now.
If my wife taught school
I would. Wouldn't you?
Or wouldn't you?
Anyway, what would you do?

If my wife taught school, the way some women do,
And I couldn't earn quite enough for us two,
I'd go out in the barnyard, without any fuss,
And blow out my brains with a big blunderbuss.
If my wife taught school
I would. Wouldn't you?
Or wouldn't you?
Anyway, what would you do?

A New Kind of Widow.

Law Notes: In the case of In re Walker, 21 American Bankrupt Reporter 133, Judge Ross refers to "the amended original petition filed by Alexander J. Woodside, E. A. Groezinger and E. O. Schraubstadter, copartners, doing business under the firm name and style of A. Finke's Widow."

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Taken From the Columns of The Herald of This Date, 1890.

•••The merchants of West Duluth report a steady increase in business. This is due to the fact that the various industries of the place are rapidly increasing their rolls. About 500 men are at present employed in the shops and at the new docks, distributed as follows: Car works, 325; Iron Bay works, 60; West Duluth Manufacturing company, 55; West Duluth Land company's docks, 60.

•••At a meeting of the Father Mathew society, Messrs. Hynes, Laux and Judd were appointed delegates to a conference of the Catholic societies to be held Jan. 30. It was decided to organize the Father Mathew cadets, consisting of boys under 15 years of age.

•••Hayes & Sons of Cleveland, who were the successful bidders for the last issue of $100,000 4½ per cent city bonds, have notified City Clerk Budden that they will take the bonds at once. They offered a premium which makes the interest practically 4 1-16 per cent.

•••The name of H. W. Pearson is now being discussed in connection with the Republican nomination for mayor.

•••A number of Duluth young men are proposing to give a minstrel show, which will be under the management of W. H. Wilson.

•••S. L. Merchant has returned to Duluth and expects to see remarkable activity in real estate here for the next year.

•••James Seville is being urged by a number of his Democratic friends to become a candidate for alderman in the Second ward, and in all probability he will run.

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

Ridiculous to Ask It.

Ortonville Herald Star: Some inquisitive people persist in asking Governor Eberhart what he knows about county option. Thank heaven a man in high office in Minnesota is not obliged to answer every fool question he is asked, —unless he wants to lose his job.

Suspicious.

Fergus Falls Free Press: Very likely, the candidacy of R. J. Wells, for state auditor, is a move on the part of the interests to defeat Dr. Cole for lieutenant governor, as both cannot well be nominated, being residents of the same section of the state. Bob wells has for years been one of the mainstays of the interests in the state legislature.

The Difference.

Waverly Star and Tribune: Japan has few millionaires and practically .o multi-millionaires.—Pioneer Press.

America has few billionaires and practically no multi-millionaires—with the possible exception of J. Pierpont Morgan.

Issues the Main Things.

Milaca Times: The next national campaign promises to be one of the issues, rather than of parties. It will not matter so much on what party platform the candidate may seek preferment as it will that he declare himself in no uncertain terms of his individual attitude on problems that are interesting people and will continue to interest them until they are settled and settled right.

What Is a Republican?

Rush City Post: The "insurgents" in Washington are good Republicans in Minnesota and all over the Middle West. They still cling to the original principles of the grand old party which made it great. The New England branch have become mere doers of the will of their masters, the "interests." The two classes, the "interests" Republicans and the insurgent Republicans clash.

"Old Man Again, Maybe—"

Breckenridge Gazette: J. F. Jacobson, "of Lac Qui Parle" has come out flat-footed for county option. Jake may be honest in this declaration, and then again he may be looking for a little bit of revenge.

The Battle Is on.

Cass Lake Times: The great battle which has been impending for many months between the standpatters and insurgents in congress will soon be fought and the country will eventually know whether or not the Republican party, as a political force for good, will survive or be cast roughly into the waste heap. The Middle West is not alone in its opposition to Cannonism and high and destructive tariff; the whole country has its fighting clothes on and lines are already drawn. When congress shall have threshed over the old straw again and again, getting no returns, the common people, the voter will have his say, and it won't be for Cannon or Aldrich, or their policies.

Improvements Called for.

Bovey Iron News: The water wagon should be made easier to ride. Better cushions and more hand-holds should be provided. Side-boards and a tight roof ought to be added so that to unload from it would be a more difficult task than falling off the thing. Those New Year's resolutions may have contained too much territory.

Morse.

It does not seem that thus far the many trials of Charles W. Morse have been blessed to his spirit. So far as one may judge from the fragments of his talk which get into the papers, he has learned very little. Nothing suggests that there is in his mind any idea that he has done wrong. All that he seems to observe is that he has been harshly dealt with by the law, when other persons who had done about what he had, have got off free. That his performance with the banks was wrong he seems to have no inkling. All that he seems to have got through his head is that, on the whole, he was unsuccessful. He would like to get out of prison, apparently, not to work out a different conception of life from that which he had three years ago, but to work out the same conception, and do it better. He talks of making money in prison. His whole idea seems still to be the idea of making money. Both he and his wife look upon his sentence as absurdly unjust and intolerable.

They may as well make up their minds that Morse is in prison to stay some years. His fifteen-year sentence seemed to us a good deal longer than was necessary, but a fair measure of imprisonment he seems to need for the improvement of his mind. He has not yet caught the idea which his sentence was meant to convey to him.

The trouble with Morse is, and always has been, a fundamental, wholesale ignorance of what are reasonable objects in life and what are tolerable methods of pursuing them. The man is attractive because he is so courageous, and because he seems to want to live up to such standards as he can understands. But he is pathetic in his absolute ignorance of all the finer differences between right and wrong. If he can only learn ethics in prison it will pay him to go there.

The Test.

Christopher Tomkins in People's Magazine: Cyrus P. Saunders, Jr., knew he had not been fouled—he had just slipped on the moist grass. There was no excuse for him to hide behind. No one was to blame for his blunder, save himself. The lunk-heels! Princeton had won squarely; she deserved the fruits of that splendid dash of the mighty Bingham. But the umpire was going to tie the game up. He had not seen properly the play that had put Saunders out of the reckoning. It was the manly thing to speak up; the low thing to keep quiet.

But here was a tie game for Yale in exchange for silence—his dishonor. The bet which he had so rashly made—which he could not pay out of his own resources—would be off. His father need never know how he had failed his word. It all came to him in a sneaking whisper.

But it was not above board; it was something that he would remember uneasily as long as he lived. It was not fair to Princeton, to himself, to his father. No—Yale did not want to stave off defeat in that way!

He glanced down wretchedly, thinking it all out for himself, deciding. Oddly enough, he must decide on the 20-yard line—life's 20-yard line, too.

An anxious face intruded itself before his troubled vision—the face of the man who had piloted Bingham to glory. "Here's the man himself," a voice said, far away. "We'll leave it to him. Did I trip you?"

Cyrus Saunders, Jr., lifted his gaze quietly.

"No," he said.

A MOMENT WITH THE WITS.

Puck: The Vicar—Now, children, what is a false doctrine?

Inspired Maiden—Please, sir, bad medicine.

Pittsburg Post: "Young gentlemen," announced the professor in English literature, "tomorrow I wish you to come prepared to discuss this sentence from the works of Henry James."

"The entire sentence, professor?" groaned the class.

"Well, take it as far as the first semicolon."

M. A. P.: Vicar (severely)—I was surprised and sorry, Mrs. Smith, to observe that your husband walked out of church in the middle of my sermon last Sunday.

Mrs. Smith—Oh, you really must excuse 'im, sir; 'e's a somnambulist, and walks in 'is sleep, you see.

New York Press: Eddie—Do you have morning prayers at your house?

Freddie—We have some kind of a service when father gets in.

Detroit Free Press: "I am so sorry for Mabel, poor girl.

"What's the matter?"

"I heard her telling George that her face is her fortune."

Pages Follies: She—Why do you look so worried? You need not doubt me. My love is as strong as a rock.

He—Yes; but how about this chair?

Puck: "What do you figure is the result of a college education?"

"The young man who learns to yell for the money, and the old man to whistle for it."

Chicago Record-Herald: "What is your idea of true gallantry?"

"Well, is seems to me that a man who will let his whiskers grow so that he will look older than his wife has it."

Life: The Hunter—Oh, I beg your pardon! I mistook you for a deer.

The Native—No harm done, mister. I reckon I'd a bin safe enough if ye'd mistook me for a barn door.

Cleveland Leader: "I hate the fellow," says the Philosopher of Folly, "who begins a conversation with 'If it's a fair question,' or 'If you'll excuse me for asking.' If it was a fair question he wouldn't ask it and would need no excuse."

Cleveland Leader: "She talks twice as much as the other girls I know."

"Yes—she has a double chin."

Louisville Courier-Journal: "Why don't you give your wife an allowance?"

"I tried that once, and she spent it before I could borrow it back."

Boston Transcript: Wife—You were late last night.

Hub—Beg your pardon, my dear. As I came in the front door the clock struck 11.

Wife—But what time did you arrive at the head of the stairs?

Pittsburg Post: "I'd like to get on some big New York newspaper."

"What could you do on a New York newspaper?"

"Well, I belive I could write the unconfirmed rumors."

J. Adam Bede, Past M. C.

Minneapolis Journal: If Congressman Miller had not landed those postoffices, we can see where J. Adam Bede might have gotten into the game again, but with the coveted postoffices filled by Miller nominees, there is not a ghost of a chance for him.

Miller, with his limitations, seems more like a congressman from a harbor district than J. Adam. A sense of humor is somehow inconsistent with a raid on the treasury. It takes a man who can hide his feelings of mirth, even from himself, to give votes for high power dams at Obsolete creek in exchange for votes for dredging at Duluth. We don't know how many trades the late congressman from this district made for the two dams which will produce neither water power nor a water-way, but they must have been several, and your Uncle Loren must have learned in that way the most noble gift of keeping your face straight under all circumstances.

Miller is a rather lugubrious person who takes himself seriously, and is disposed to expand or contract marvelously according as he is praised or dumped. He is of the type of which congressmen are made.

J. Adam was never meant for such a dull, spiritless life. He was meant to shake people out of their self-satisfaction, to jab them with wit and tickle them with humor. He is doing it now all the way from Bemidji to Scranton, Pa. We saw the other day where he had enthused a St. Paul crowd on the subject of Y. M. C. A. work. Such triumphs are beyond the power of mere congressmen. J. Adam is for nobler things.

Tommy's Inspiration.

Ladies' Home Journal: They were at dinner and the dainties were on the table.

"Will you take tart or pudding?" asked papa of Tommy.

"Tart," said Tommy promptly.

His father sighed as he recalled the many lessons on manners he had given the boy.

"Tart, what?" he queried kindly.

But Tommy's eyes were glued on the pastry.

"Tart, what?" asked the father again, sharply this time.

"Tart first," answered Tommy triumphantly.

OFFICIAL RAT CATCHER NAMED

Captures Rodents By Process a Secret in His Family.

London, Jan. 21.—John Jarvis of Camberwell has been appointed official rat catcher to the London county council at a salary of $243.12 per annum. He is a rat catcher not by profession, but by instinct. Since 1803 each male member of his family has devoted his life to catching rats, and so it was with the greatest confidence that Jarvis the other day issued a challenge to all the rat catchers of the kingdom to catch more of the vermin in a given time than any man living, provided that neither dogs nor ferrets were employed in the hunt. Furthermore, he said that with the assistance of his uncle, J. Dalton, he would undertake to catch 1,000 rats in three nights.

As Jarvis made these challenges he fondled half a dozen tame white rats, while his 7-year-old daughter at his side played with a couple of ferrets. "I have no son to carry on the business," he said, "but Kit there and her younger sister both know pretty well all there is to know about catching rats. Kit often accompanies me on my hunting expeditions, and she very rarely makes a mistake. You see, anyone can kill rats, but very few understand how to catch them alive. Dead rats have no market, but for live ones I can get from 75 cents to $1 a dozen.

"The means I use for catching them alive is a family secret, known only to my people for the last four generations. I won't tell you exactly what that secret is, but I don't mind letting you know that it acts very much in the same way as chloroform does on a human being. Chloroform itself would not do, because rats don't like it.

"The bait I use is even attractive enough to waken a sleeping rat. A few moments after I have laid the stuff down the floor swarms with the vermin. One nibble is enough to 'dope' any of them, and all I have to do to revive them is to dip their noses in water. Sometimes I have trouble to use the bait. Over my back I fling a huge sack connected with a trapdoor arrangement at my side. I wear noiseless boots and black clothes.

"As I walk down the passages with a bull's eye lantern attached to my side the rats, scared by the light, scamper past me. As they run I can pick them up left or right hand and drop them into the trapdoor. Gradually they work their way around to the sack on my back. Myl How they fight! sometimes when I fancy I have a hundred I find half of them are killed by the time I arrive home.

"Not only do they fight each other, but in the basement of one of the big hotels a swarm of them actually attacked and killed one of the best dogs I ever owned.

"Once as I groped through the old Gaiety theater a huge rat leaped out at me, and, fixing its teeth in my arm, worried me for five minutes. When I had settled him I had him weighed. He turned the scale at one pound, nine ounces. That was the biggest one I ever found, but in Wigmore street lately I have come across several weighing over a pound. I have found some big ones in Park lane, too. I have had as many as 3,000 rats in my back yard." Jarvis is employed in various large buildings at fixed salaries.

Saved at Death's Door.

The door of death seemed ready to open for Murray W. Ayers of Transit Bridge, N. Y., when his life was wonderfully saved. "I was in a dreadful condition," he writes. "My skin was almost yellow; eyes sunken; tongue coated; emaciated from losing forty pounds; growing weaker daily. Virulent liver trouble pulling me down to death, in spite of doctors. Then that matchless medicine, Electric Bitters, cured me. I regained the forty pounds lost and now am well and strong." For all stomach, liver and kidney troubles they're supreme. 50c at all druggists.

BANKERS LASHED BY PROF. WILSON

Told They Are Sitting Still While Country Is Advancing.

New York, Jan. 21.—The bankers of New York held their annual banquet at the Waldorf-Astoria, and after Franklin MacVeagh, secretary of the treasury, had made the sort of an address which might have been expected from a member of the cabinet, Woodrow Wilson, delivered himself of a rousing speech.

Prof. Wilson told the bankers of New York that they did not understand the country in which they lived. He warned them of the dangers of a specialized point of view, from which affliction he believed the bankers of the country are suffering. He told them they had been sitting still, while the rest of the country had been on the move, and declared that they had no interest in the development of the country, their only interest being in the ventures which were profitable to them.

He finished with an appeal for a broader view to the betterment of the nation, and the diners came to their feet and cheered him for fully a minute.

RAILROAD GAP BEING CLOSED

Canadian Northern Survey Progressing Between Port Arthur and Sudbury.

Port Arthur, Ont., Jan. 21.—The work of surveying the route for the steel span, which will fill the eastern gap of the Canadian Northern railway, from Port Arthur to Sudbury, is progressing rapidly under the management of C. H. Wickstead, a well-known civil engineer, who first came to the Head of the Lakes in the early days when the Canadian Pacific railway was building. During an interview in Port Arthur yesterday, Mr. Wickstead expressed himself well pleased with the work of the survey for the eastern extension. Two hundred miles of line are already worked out west of Sudbury and the surveyors are working both east and west of Lake Nepigon with the result that there are now some 100 miles of railway line laid out at that point. The length of the line between Port Arthur and Sudbury will be much the same distance as the Canadian Pacific railway, some 560 miles.

Mr. Wickstead said that the nature of the country through which the new line will run is partly through the Laurentian formation and it will touch the edge of the clay belt. The finest of land will be opened up by the entrance of this line.

ICY STORMS KILL BIRDS

Starvation Threatens Millions of Game and Insect Eaters.

Crumbs and Fat Scraps May Save Feathered Crop Guards.

New York, Jan. 21.—That many millions of snowbound birds are now facing death for lack of food, in the path of the sleet storms that have recently swept the continent and crusted the earth and trees with ice, has been reported to the headquarters of the National Association of Audubon Societies in this city. Sportsmen and Audubon workers throughout the Northwest, West, Central and Upper Seaboard states are observing large numbers of game and song birds apparently perishing where icy drifts are completely locking away from them the nourishment of the earth. From Kansas word has just come that Governor Stubbs has issued a proclamation calling upon the people to feed the quail and other wild birds whose extinction is threatened. Unless emergency measures are taken at once to give general succor to all the winged victims of the winter's fury, serious loss to the bird crop guards of the country must result, ornithological experts here agree.

Rallying the children of the land to save the storm-beleaguered birds, the Audubon organization has set on foot a sweeping relief campaign, in which the boys and girls of every community are being invited to join. Special pamphlets giving minute instructions for the feeding of all species of American birds under every condition of winter weather have been prepared and are being sent to volunteer bird-saving brigades of youngsters in every section of the country. Through its member organizations in a score of stormbound states the National Association of Audubon Societies is urging immediate local campaigns to preserve the dying bird life of each neighborhood.

Providing the Food.

Headed by sportsmen who know the haunts and habits of the native birds, bands of boys are already setting out through the woods and fields of their home regions, equipped with shovels, picks, cord, wire and big bags of grain, suet and fat meat. At natural feeding grounds the snow is cleared from the ground and grain or bird seed scattered in sufficient quantity to tide over the storm spell all the birds that are starving in the vicinity. For the insectivorous species, nourishing fat meat is carefully tied at conspicuous ponts in the trees along the route. That the hungry hordes of birds make quick use of these free lunch counters is proved by the shrunken size of the grain piles and fat lumps when the return trip is made.

Bird bread lines in each school yard and food scattered where the birds flock about every house, are also recommended as a part of the Audubon emergency campaign. Table scraps with bits of grain and fat may save hosts of the feathered insect-eaters that must be depended upon to save next summer's crops from pest destruction, it is declared. So starved have the birds become, it is reported, that the large ones will voraciously attack whole ears of corn to pluck out and swallow their kernels.

"We shall exert ourselves, as we have during recent hard winters, to save the storm-stricken birds of this country with every means at our disposal," said William Dutcher, president of the National Association of Audubon Societies, at its headquarters, 141 Broadway, today. "If each American will help us in this emergency rescue campaign, I feel sure great good can be accomplished in prolonging the life of the birds that will in the new year form our only fighting force against crop plague and agricultural disaster. We are raising funds and furnishing instructions with which we hope soon to materially aid the perishing birds all over the continent."

ROOF STANDS ILLEGAL, SAYS CHICAGO COURT.

Chicago, Jan. 21.—Grandstands on roofs of buildings overlooking the grounds of the National league baseball park have been declared "clearly a nuisance and a danger" by the appellate court.

This suit was begun in the fall of 1907 and is one of many brought to save to the property owners, their roof grandstands, where baseball fans could view the game at a small cost and with profit to the stand owner.

The grandstand in question was erected in March, 1907, and in September of that year the police refused to allow anyone to enter it. It has a seating capacity of 100.

This decision of the reviewing court will be controlling in all other suits of a similar nature, and under the provisions of the decree, the city officials can tear down the stands.

PITTSBURG NOW KNOWS BETTER

Has Learned That Smoke and Prosperity Are Not One.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 21.—This city is likely soon to become a smokeless city. A quiet campaign is being carried on by Smoke Inspector Joseph M. Searle at the direction of Director E. R. Walters of the department of health and charities, and great good has been done already. The work of enforcing the city ordinance which provides that black smoke shall not be permitted to issue from any stack for a greater period of eight minutes each hour, will be kept up until the evil which gave Pittsburg the nickname of the Smoky City will be entirely eradicated. So far most of the business-houses of the downtown section have adopted devices to do away with the smoke, and the people are no longer forced to breathe smoke-laden air. The work will be kept up, and with the co-operation of the manufacturing interests, the city authorities expect to give to the people of Pittsburg an atmosphere that shall be practically free of smoke.

Investigation has disclosed the fact that not only does the black smoke injure the health of the people who are forced to inhale it, but it is also a loss to the manufacturer which increases the cost of production in his mill or factory. The city officials approach the question from the point that the health of the citizens must be protected and the law obeyed. The manufacturer in carrying out the order soon discovers that the installation of a device to prevent the black smoke proves a benefit. In this matter both the general public and the manufacturer reach advantages through a co-operation imposed by the law.

You can eat anything your stomach craves without fear of indigestion or dyspepsia, or that your food will ferment or sour on your stomach if you will take a little Diapepsin occasionally.

Your meals will taste good, and anything you eat will be digested; nothing can ferment or turn into acid or poison or stomach gas, which causes Belching, Dizziness, a feeling of fullness after eating, Nausea, Indigestion (like a lump of lead in stomach), Biliousness Heartburn, Water Brash, Pain in Stomach and Intestines or other symptoms.

Headaches from the stomach are absolutely unknown where this effective remedy is used. Diapepsin really does all the work of a healthy stomach. It digests your meals when your stomach can't. A single dose will digest all the food you eat and leave nothing to ferment or sour and upset the stomach.

Get a large 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from your druggist and start taking now, and in a little while you will actually brag about your healthy, strong Stomach, for you then can eat anything and everything you want without the slightest discomfort or misery, and every particle of impurity and Gas that is in your stomach and intestines is going to be carried away without the use of laxatives or any other assistance.

Should you at this moment be suffering from Indigestion or any stomach disorder, you can get relief within five minutes.

IF IT DISAPPEARS, IT'S ECZEMA

How to Tell Whether a Skin Affection Is An Inherited Blood Disease or Not.

Sometimes it is hard to determine whether a skin affection is a sign of a blood disorder or simply a form of eczema. Even physicians are often puzzled in their diagnosis. The best way for any one afflicted is to go to the Lyceum Pharmacy and W. A. Abbett's in Duluth, the A. E. Holmberg Drug Co., in Superior, or any good druggist who handles pure drugs and obtain 50 cents' worth of poslam. Apply this, and if the itching stops at once and the trouble is cured in a few days it may be set down as having been eczema, as this is the way poslam acts in the worst cases of eczema, and in curing acne, herpes, blotches, tetter, salt rheum, piles, rash, barber's itch and other forms of itch, scaly scalp, and all surface skin affections.

Any one who will write to the Emergency Laboratories, No. 32 West Twenty-fifth street, New York, can secure, by mail free of charge, a supply sufficient to cure a small eczema surface or clear a complexion overnight and remove pimples in twenty-four hours.

TROUBLES OF BEAUTY JUDGE

Attacked and Shot By Pine City Partisan of Losing Girl.

Taken to Minneapolis, Recovers, Then Indicted for Stealing Overcoat.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The strife between two pretty girls of Pine City for the prize offered by a medicine show has been followed by various calamities for Frank McCarthy, now a prisoner in the county jail. McCarthy was the judge in the beauty contest, and everybody who knows of the incident is convinced his judgment was bad—for him, at least.

The show management, in order to draw the crowd the closing night, offered a necklace to the most beautiful girl in Pine City. The town was fairly split in two over which of two girls deserved the gift on a popularity basis. These two were far ahead of all the rest.

McCarthy was detailed by his manager to be the Solomon of the occasion. He walked through the audience and counted everyone out but the two girls. Then, after due contemplation, he made his choice and gave one of them the necklace.

That was the last happy moment McCarthy ever had.

Chased from Show Hall.

The men who favored the other candidate arose in their wrath and chased McCarthy from the show hall. They followed him through the streets and alleys. Every now and then they got close enough to land a blow. Thinking he had at last eluded them, McCarthy went to his room over a store, but as he entered a shot was fired from the darkness. The bullet struck him in the forehead and he fell unconscious.

That shot brought a temporary armistice, while McCarthy was carried to a surgeon's office, put on a train and brought to the Swedish hospital, Minneapolis, where he was in a serious condition for several weeks.

The shot, it is said, wrecked McCarthy's mind. Shortly after he was released from the hospital, he stole a razor in a hotel and was sent to the workhouse for ninety days. At the expiration of the sentence he was accused of stealing an overcoat. This time he was indicted.

The case was to come to trial this week, but his attorney, Frank Morrison, filed charges of insanity against him and he was examined by the probate court.

Mind Not Affected.

McCarthy is said to have had an unimpeachable record before he starred as a wise judge. This is what Thomas P. Gleason says, who was on the road with him for many years.

The shot was said to have affected his mind and after a consultation with physicians, Frank Morrison, attorney, filed insanity charges against McCarthy. At the hearing before Court Commissioner W. E. Bates, McCarthy was declared to be sane though the physicians said his condition indicates that he might have mental lapses at times. The case will now stand for trial on the regular court calendar.

BRIDEGROOM IS SHOT BY BROTHER

Accidental Discharge of the Weapon During Celebration of Brother's Wedding.

Grafton, N. D., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Less than a half hour after he was married, Anton Stanislawski, a Bohemian, suffered an accident which may cost his life, the accidental discharge of a revolver, used by his brother, who was a member of the wedding party that was making merry en route home from the church.

The young man had shot the revolver off several times into the air. The last bullet failed to explode, and he laid the revolver across his knee, beginning to pry the cartridge out. The shell exploded and the bullet entered the bridegroom's back, lodging under his ribs. He is now in the hospital here and an effort will be made to remove the bullet. Julia Mateiski is the bride who may be made a widow by the accident.

BETTER RURAL SERVICE FROM EAST GRAND FORKS.

East Grand Forks, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Orders have just been received from the postal department announcing the betterment of the rural mail service out of East Grand Forks. Routes Nos. 3 and 4, which have heretofore been maintained as tri-weekly services, will have a daily service after Feb. 1. This will necessitate the appointment of one new carrier, the two routes formerly being cared for by the same man.

CLOQUET YEOMEN INSTALL.

Two State Officers Assist in the Interesting Exercises.

Cloquet, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—G. H. Murphy, state manager of the Brotherhood of American Yoeman, and Miss A. L. Hanson, district deputy, assisted at the installation of the following officers of the local lodge Wednesday evening: Foreman, Lewis Patterson; master of ceremonies, John Bourque; correspondent, Angelina Chatelle; master of accounts, Joseph Bourque; chaplain, Susan Fax; overseer, Henry Sarkala; lady Rowena, Mae Munkle; lady Rebecca, Lydia Bourque; watchman, Bernard McGinnis; guard, Herman Johnson; sentinel, Henry Munkle; physician, J. E. Nyquist.

After the ceremonies addresses were made by Lewis Patterson, G. H. Murphy, Rev. C. H. Blake, Miss A. L. Hanson and J. E. Nyquist. Recitations were given by the following little folks: Antoinette Huot, Louis Poirier, Susan Fax, and songs were rendered by the following children: Blanche Poirier and Vera Fax.

Lunch was served and the remainder of the evening was spent in dancing.

McVey, University; "The Contractor —His Trouble," J. H. Bowers, Fargo; "The Sub-Contractor," George H. Phelps, Fargo; "Advantages of the Exchange to the Traveling Man," W. P. McCormick, Fargo; "The Use of Home Products," Prof. M. A. Brannon, Grand Forks.

COUNTY SEAT FIGHT.

Battle of Ten Years Ago Liable to Be Fought Over.

Pembina, N. D., Jan. 21.—A bitter county seat fight between Pembina and Cavalier is brewing in Pembina county, the people of Cavalier having decided to take steps to have an election on the question of removing the seat of government from the city of Pembina to their city. This will be the second county seat fight in Pembina's history, the first occurring ten years ago when Cavalier only lost by a shortage of 200 votes.

Pembina, the present county seat, is located at the eastern border, on the Red river. Its connections with the other sections of the county are not of the very best because of the railway service. Cavalier contends that the county seat should be moved to that place as it is more centrally located, and it is also argued that the county must soon construct new county buildings and that this is the time to make the change, if any is to be made. Pembina contends that the present buildings are good for a great many years to come, and that there is no occasion for the removal of the seat of government.

HAS GOOD DAIRY HERD.

Red Lake County Farmer Made Nice Profit in December.

Thief River Falls, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Peter Englestad stands in the front rank as a successful and scientific farmer and dairyman.

His dairy herd during the month of December contained twenty-four milch cows. The farm records maintained by Mr. Englestad show that these cows gave 15,146 pounds of milk during the month; that the average test was 4.11 and that the total production of butter fat was 628 pounds. The test ran from 3.2 for the poorest milker to 5.5 for the one giving the richest milk. To produce this amount of butter fat the records disclosed the fact that the ensilage fed the cows was worth $29.29; hay, $22.32, and the grain, $6, making a total of $111.61. The actual returns from the sale of milk and cream from the farm for the month amounted to $277.1. According to the creamery values on butter fat these twenty-four cows gave an average return to $2.13 for each dollar's worth of feed given them.

AFTER "GOOD" TIME.

Youth Comes to Town, Gets Drunk and Shoots Self.

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 21.—James Sheldon, son of a prominent farmer of Sibley Butte, this county, committed suicide by shooting himself in the temple with a 22-caliber revolver. Sheldon had engaged the services of a hack to carry him to a place on the south side of the city, and while near the railroad crossing the driver heard the report of the revolver and opening the door of the carriage he found young Sheldon on the floor with a bullet hole in his right temple.

Sheldon came to town last Friday and sold a horse and made the statement that he was going to have a good time. He has been under the influence of liquor most of the time since then and it is supposed the shooting was done in a fit of remorse. Sheldon was 22 years of age.

FOR DOUBLE MURDER.

North Dakotan Held for Killing His Wife and Baby.

Grafton, N. D., Jan. 21.—Frank Mikl of Perth township, a Bohemian, accused of murdering his wife and child on Christmas, was bound over following his preliminary hearing here Wednesday. Only state's evidence was introduced, and the defendant waived examination. Attorney Samson for Mikl says that the doctor's testimony leaves no room for doubt as to the cause and method of death. Mikl strangled his wife and baby, it is alleged.

SHOOTS A WOMAN.

Then Demented Miner Jumps Down Shaft, But Is Unhurt.

Hancock, Mich., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—After shooting Mrs. Frances Barsocckl of West Hancock Tuesday night, Peter De Filipl, a Quincy miner, while insane or drunk, fled to the Quincy mine and jumped down a shaft, a distance of 150 feet. He was picked up and taken to St. Joseph's hospital early Wednesday morning and was found to be almost uninjured except for a few bruises. He was able to walk and was the same morning arrested by Chief of Police Tibor of Hancock and removed to the jail in Houghton.

De Filipi is a young man residing at the Franklin location and is about 22 years of age. He is unmarried. The Barsocckl if fatally were only slightly acquainted with him. His motive in making the attack is unknown, and it is presumed that he must have been either insane or intoxicated. Mrs. Barsocckl's injured arm was attended to by Dr. Powers of Hancock, who declared that they were not dangerous.

As De Filippi has been in this county only three years he is subject to deportation.

WANT ROAD BUILT.

Northern Wisconsin Interested in Proposed Northern Pacific Line.

Washburn, Wis., Jan. 21.—The Commercial club and business organizations in all the towns of Northern Wisconsin and Northern Minnesota have been asked to join in a movement to persuade the Northern Pacific Railway company to build the branch line from Grantsburg in Burnett county to a point in Bayfield county, connecting the line and thereby giving a direct route from the Twin Cities to Lake Superior. The movement to build this stretch of line was started several years ago but was dropped because the company upon the recommendation of its engineers and traffic managers, did not deem it necessary at that time. Now there seems to be some prospect of success in making the line a very paying proposition and land owners and others interested in the development of this territory are to bring influence to bear upon the company in the hope that the line will be built. This proposed line traverses a cut over timber land country that will be valuable farm land. On account of the lack of railroad facilities the country has not settled very fast. It is also thought that this new short line would bring other business to this section that is now being taken over other routes.

EAU CLAIRE MAN HURT IN MINNEAPOLIS DEPOT.

Eau Claire, Wis., Jan. 21.—C. J. Crosby, a local granite man, was injured at Minneapolis while endeavoring to catch a train for Eau Claire. He was going through one of the large swinging doors in the depot, when a man following pulled the door open and let it come back with great force, the sharp edge striking Mr. Crosby in the side and tearing some of the sinews about the fourth and fifth ribs. He got the train all right, but was obliged to get off at Hudson and seek medical attention.

CHILD FALLS INTO HOT WATER AND LOSES LIFE.

Cedar River, Mich., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The 6-year-old son of William Richardt, while playing with other children at his home, fell into a tub of boiling water on the floor. He tumbled into it head first and was so badly injured that he died suffering awful agony.

STILLWATER SHOES SENT LONG DISTANCE BY MAIL.

Stillwater, Minn., Jan. 21.—The Connolly Shoe company of Stillwater is securing a world-wide reputation. Recently this company received an order for sixty pairs of shoes for use in South America, the weight being a little over four pounds to the pair. These shoes are put up in paper shoe boxes and sent by registered mail.

Settle With Railroad.

Marinette, Wis., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Michael and Mary Knjawn have settled their damage suit against the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad for $7,000. They were awarded $9,000 by one jury, but the railroad appealed from the decision.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Mitchell, S. D.—The business men living west of the Missouri river, interested the Federation of Commercial Clubs at the recent convention in trying to secure better rates over the Northwestern and Milwaukee lines, and the federation will immediatey take up the matter of securing more harmonious rates between the east and west sides of the river through the state railroad commission.

Minot, N. D.—At the term of the district court, which opens in Minot on Jan. 24, the case of E. C. Tolley, charged with criminal libel, will come up for trial. Tolley is a prominent resident of Kenmare, and the charge against him was preferred by Ambrose Olson.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Work on the now famous De Mers avenue sewer is to be begun again by Contractor Paddy McDonnell. Preparation is being made for the laying of the sewer under the Great Northern tracks to Garfield street, a distance of between 200 and 300 feet, and the work will be under way in a few days.

Bismarck, N. D.—Arthur Miller of the Russel-Miller Milling company, was in the city on Tuesday, in consultation with Manager Wyncoop of the Bismarck mill. He made a thorough inspection of the mill and will at once begin an entire overhauling to put it in good shape for work. Just as soon as the repairs can be made, the grinding of wheat will begin.

Minot, N. D.—Peter Holbach, who lives two miles down the river, lost five head of young horses recently, they having been killed by the Soo dinkey about midnight. The horses wandering onto the track, there being no cattle guards, and the train struck them, killing them instantly.

Dickinson, N. D.—Joe Wagner moved his homestead on May 2, 1909, broke twenty-five acres of land, raised 136 bushels of wheat, 166 bushels of flax and 512 bushels of oats. He did not finish seeding until June 26, but is well satisfied with his first season's work. Next year he intends to have about seventy acres in crop.

Valley City, N. D.—The annual state convention of the North Dakota Congregational brotherhood will meet in Valley City on Tuesday, Feb. 15. There will be a large gathering of the members of that organization from various parts of the state.

Fargo, N. D.—A passenger train on the Milwaukee railway jumped the track near Wild Rice, Wednesday, ten miles south of this city. Several persons were slightly injured, but none seriously. Two hundred passengers were crowded into three boxcars and brought to Fargo.

Grafton, N. D.—F. R. Fulton of Chicago, who has been president of the Grafton National bank for thirty years, has resigned. D. C. Moore, one of the organizers of the bank and also cashier, was elected president. N. Upham was chosen vice president, D. M. Upham, cashier, and F. A. Moore, assistant cashier.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Perham—Adolph Weickert, son of Mrs. Weickert of this place, was married in Fargo Wednesday, to Miss Mamie Knapp of that city. They will remain in Fargo, where Adolph has a position in a meat market.

New York Mills—The Finnish Mutual Insurance company elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President, Jacob Ojala; vice president, Henry Anderson; secretary, Andrew Lind; assistant secretary, I. K. Makl; treasurer, E. A. Rousu; assistant treasurer, J. W. Jacobson.

Brainerd—The passenger train on the main line lost a driving wheel near Clear Lake and it was necessary to send back to the Twin Cities and get another engine to bring the train to Staples. This of course delayed the train from Morris and that to Kelliher left here nearly 5 o'clock Tuesday night.

Staples—Conductor Denny, one of the popular conductors on the Northern Pacific run from Duluth to Staples, has been granted a vacation and accompanied by his wife and daughter left for Los Angeles, Cal., to spend the winter.

St. Cloud—Mrs. Agnes Whitford, a former resident of the village of Cold Spring, died Tuesday at Devils Lake, where she has been making her home for the past thirteen years. She was 73 years of age and old age is reported as the cause of death. The remains will be shipped to this city and the funeral will be held at 9:30 Friday morning. Interment will be made in North Star cemetery.

Ada—A deal was closed Wednesday, whereby Oscar Lovsnes and O. O. Sjordal, who have conducted a hardware store and farm implement business in Ada for the past four years, have dissolved partnership. Mr. Sjordal takes the stock and will continue the business and Mr. Lovsnes takes over the real estate.

North Branch—Lillian Jacobson, the 6-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Jacobson, passed away about 10 o'clock Monday morning at their home in this village. The little girl had been ill for about a week, suffering from tonsilitis. She was born in the town of North Branch, Isanti county, but had lived here with her parents during the past year.

Crookston—Tuesday evening at the Commercial club rooms, the Crookston automobile owners, a large number of whom were present, organized by the election of the following officers: President, Charles Loring; vice president, Dr. G. A. Morley; secretary, E. W. Robbins; treasurer, Edward Peterson.

Owatonna—H. W. Mullenmaster, an old and highly respected resident of this county, died at his home on Oak street in this city Monday evening, after a short but severe illness.

St. Paul—Mrs. Elizabeth von Wedelstaedt, wife of the late Dr. H. A. L. von Wedelstaedt died Wednesday at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Olga von Wedelstaedt Haskell, 1710 Third avenue south. She was 81 years of age. The funeral will take place Saturday at 2:30 p. m., and will be private without flowers.

Fergus Falls—The Peerless hotel at Battle Lake was almost destroyed by fire at 5 o'clock, Tuesday afternoon. It is supposed that the fire was caused by an explosion in a coal stove. The fire company responded promptly to the call and succeeded in checking the flame after a while, but the building is very badly damaged.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Calumet — Contractor Will Milford has made good progress upon the remodeling of the Hutchins block on Sixth street, which was recently gutted by fire. The building has been so far repaired that most of it is again in use, and it is expected that in a very short time the entire structure will be complete.

Hancock—Miss Elsie Coughlin, who was injured by being struck on the head by a piece of falling ice while crossing the county bridge Monday evening, continues to improve slowly at the home of her parents.

Houghton—Census Supervisor J. T. Bennett, of the Twelfth district, whose office is at De Tour, has received from the census bureau a supply of blank applications for persons applying for positions as census enumerators. These will be forwarded to his list of applicants as soon as possible.

Hancock—The Portage Lake Baptist church has elected the following officers: Clerk, W. J. Moir; treasurer, A. B. Thoener; trustees, J. H. Edwards, B. McLennon, H. E. Jordan and F. W. Blair; deacons, J. H. Edwards and H. E. Jordan; chorister, Mrs. H. C. Rowell; organist, Miss J. McLennon; Sunday school superintendent, W. J. Moir; assistant superintendent, E. Reynolds.

Calumet — The membership contest, inaugurated by members of St. Anthony court, No. 7, Catholic Order of Foresters, is progressing nicely. Two teams have been organized, to be known as the Reds and Blues, captained by Elmer Beauchaine and Patrick Lang, respectively. The members are taking a deep interest in the effort to increase the membership of the lodge.

South Range—A project is being agitated having in view the purchase of the unfinished business block adjoining the South Range depot property by the several societies of South Range. These societies are financially able to make favorable negotiations and then when purchased, add a third story to the building for a dance and lodge hall purposes.

Menominee—Harold Briggs, aged 13, while crawling under a freight train at Wells station was caught under the wheels and horribly crushed. Physicians found it necessary to amputate the boy's leg and he is in a critical condition.

Ishpeming—The 7-year-old son of Harcher Williams died Wednesday morning of bronchial pneumonia. The funeral was held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Services were conducted at the house by Captain H. D. Gough of the Salvation Army.

Calumet—Col. S. Marshall of Minneapolis, one of the best-known Salvation Army leaders in the Northwestern states, will be here Sunday and will conduct special services. This will be the first visit to this district of the colonel. He will be accompanied by Maj. Morton of Milwaukee, head of the Salvation Army work in the Lake Superior region.

Amasa—A piece of ore twice the size of a pin-head has been removed from the eye of George Gorman, a miner of Amasa. It had been in the eye ever since the man was injured in an explosion sixteen months ago.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Madison—Thirty-two patients have been treated in the Wisconsin Pasteur Institute at the University of Wisconsin since its establishment during November of last year. Only one resulted fatally, of an Oneida Indian girl, aged 2. She had been terribly bitten.

Odanah — Bunnard Jackson of Odanah, aged 24, died at an Ashland hospital Tuesday night of typhoid fever. He had been in this country three years, and leaves a mother and father and two sisters and two brothers in Norway, besides one brother, Kund Jackson of Odanah. The funeral will take place from Sollies' undertaking parlors, Ashland, Friday afternoon.

Ashland—At the meeting of the Ashland County Medical society the following officers were elected: President, Dr. M. S. Hosmer; vice president, Dr. Law of Glidden; secretary and treasurer, Dr. C. O. Hertzman; member board of trustees, Dr. J. W. Wenzel.

Eau Claire—The Milwaukee road has issued an order that stools be used to assist passengers on and off its coaches on the Wisconsin divisions. Time was when the train employes used the stools, but like in other practices the stool was a nuisance to carry, and was gradually abolished. In slippery weather they are a necessity.

Kenosha—Letters received in Kenosha announce the death of Thomas A. Healey, former sheriff of Kenosha county and formerly widely known in Southern Wisconsin, which occurred at Lincoln, Neb.

Medford—John Rye, while working in the woods near Goodrich, was instantly killed by a falling tree. His home was at Athens and he was 50 years old.

Neenah—Harvey Hansen, proprietor of the opera houses at Antigo and Rhinelander, eloped to this city with Miss Thekla Rex of Antigi, an illustrated song singer. They were married here.

Washburn—The annual banquet and supper by the Men's club of the Congregational church was held at the Masonic hall and it proved to be one of the largest that has been held by the club. The banquet took place at shortly after 6 o'clock, covers being laid for over 150.

Man's Misery Promptly Banished

(From "Man's Maladies.")

A certain sort of misery which causes a man to become abject in manner, timid, suspicious and jealous without real warrant, can be readily banished by a systematic nerve treatment which can be followed out in the privacy of home and restoration of a normal or natural condition speedily ensues.

A man feels and knows when he is not getting out of life all that it holds, and this knowledge makes the misery which occurs with such symptoms as unsteady gait, weak voice, downcast eyes, cold extremities, loss of flesh, loss of self control, lack of self esteem, pains in the back and back part of head, shooting pains, heart palpitation, nervousness, sleeplessness, hollow eyes, sunken cheeks, colorless lips, dizziness and trembling.

The requirement to overcome these dreadful symptoms is a restoration of power and strength to the nervous system, which has been poorly nourished or abused by thoughtless eating, drinking or social duties, perhaps superinduced by overwork. Keen, strong, sensitive nerves which carry every sensation or emotion to the brain centers of consciousness can and should be the possession of every living individual. Let this prescription be used and the results will surely reward the efforts: Obtain of any good druggist three ounces of syrup sarsaparilla compound, in a six-ounce bottle. Add one ounce of compound fluid balmwort, shake and let stand for two hours, then add one ounce of tincture cadomene compound (not cardamom) and one ounce of compound essence cardiol. Mix. Shake well and take a teaspoonful after each meal and one when retiring. The three last named ingredients are specially prepared and powerful concentrations, much used in various prescriptions, but contain no opiates to harm the system.

SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

BLUE-EYED SONS OF SWEDEN ARE FOUND IN FRONT RANK OF SPORTSMEN OF THE WORLD

John Svanberg, Runner, One of Them--First Baseball Trade of the Winter.

(BY BRUCE)

Hats off to our good friends, the Swedes.

When it comes to athletic events and the strenuous life, the boys of the North country are all to the lovely billiards. There was John S. Johnson, one of the most prominent of the Swedes of this country. When it came to riding a bicycle, leave it to John. He rode so fast in his palmy days that the other riders could always read the number on his back.

There is Battling Nelson. He is a Dane, to be sure, Archie, but the Danes and the Swedes come from the same great family. He has the blood of the Vikings in his veins, and his fighting ability must have come down from some of those fierce old warriors.

Hjalmar Lundin started out to be the champion wrestler of the world. He was and is a good Swede. He was going fine until he encountered Frank Gotch. But then Hjalmar didn't make any worse mistake than the rest of them. He too, is a credit to the blue-eyed race.

But when you are recounting the feats the members of the Swedish race have accomplished, you mustn't leave out of consideration a man who has done much to uphold the athletic reputation of the country. This man is John Svanberg, the Marathon runner.

He is one of the greatest in the world. He is due in this country the coming season, for at the present time the Marathon bug is stinging again.

Out on the coast Johnny Hayes and Henri St. Yves are training at the present time for a race over the Marathon distance. The thirst for the game has struck the California country and it is very probable that some of the very best men in the country will be seen on the shores of the peaceful Pacific.

Svanberg last year showed himself one of the best runners in the world. In the races with the wonderful St. Yves and Dorando he finished first upon several occasions. He came to the United States unknown, but soon showed he was one of the best in the entire country. Svanberg showed himself fully as good as the wonderful Indian, Longboat, one of the greatest natural runners on the American continent.

He is perhaps the man to dispute the championship of the world with St. Yves. Svanberg has the endurance of his race; the longer the race gets the better he seems to get. He has a swinging stride that carries him over the miles like a hungry wolf. Those who have followed the Marathon game are of the opinion that Svanberg and St. Yves are the men to settle the long-distance championship of the world.

The great Swede is expected in this country in the near future, and his coming is expected to awaken even greater interest in the long-run contest.

Yesterday the first big baseball deal of the season was recorded, when Philadelphia and Cincinnati traded two of their veteran twirlers. There have been rumors of many baseball deals, and it would not be surprising if some big trades were pulled off before the major league teams pulled their tents for the spring training trip.

There is little more than a month before the big league teams will be on their way to their Southern training quarters. The minute the teams get started at the early practice, the interest in the game will increase. If many of the rumored big trades are going to be pulled off, they will have to be made within a very short time. It is generally thought that McGraw has some big trade framed, and it is also believed that Charlie Murphy and Frank Chance are planning some deal that will strengthen the Cubs.

"Coddy" Winters is sure playing the brilliant game of hockey for the Cleveland team. It is perhaps just as well that the Duluth boy sought the larger field for his ability. If he had stayed here it is very probable that his efforts would not have been appreciated. The hockey games played here this winter have brought not half the attendance the games merited, and it is no wonder that players of the ability of Winters could not be kept in this town.

Again comes the old rumor of the covered rink. At the present time it is a real estate man who is figuring on the proposition. There are a lot of us who will believe that Duluth will have a covered rink when we see the building completed and the surface covered with ice. There is about as much enthusiasm as there is for other athletic games.

As a writer and general student of the literary muse, Freddie Welsh has Battling Nelson and John L. Sullivan backed off the mahogany desk. The little English lightweight has written a letter to one of the New York papers in which he laments the fact that he is unable to get an engagement with Nelson.

Some of the words used by the English fighters would make the average fighter yell for assistance. And along with the very classy production of the Welsh pen, are some very true statements about the attitude of the Dane in regard to fighting.

Welsh has tried for a very long time to get on a match with the Nelson party and every time he has fulfilled the conditions asked by he Dane Nelson has found some new excuse for sidestepping the match. Welsh tells of some of the impossible demands of the greedy Dane. He says he will fight Nelson any place, any time and for any distance. That is sure enough a fair and above board attitude.

The statements of Welsh only go further to emphasize the condition of the ring today. It is nothing if not absolutely commercial. The man who really wants to fight, has little business in the game. It is the man who can make the most noise and get the most space in the newspapers that is the best type of the modern pugilist.

The defeat of Nelson will be a good thing for the game. He is exceedingly unfair in his demands, and it is time he gave way to a champion who would fight more and talk less. Nelson has shown us some of the greatest fighting in the world, but of late he is becoming a nuisance. He should retire while the retiring is good.

John Gordon, the Minneapolis wrestler, had the opportunity of sizing up Jeffries when the big fellow showed in Minneapolis, and the wrestler is of the opinion that Jeff can come back. Gordon says Jeff is remarkably fast for a big man and gets around on his feet like a man weighing fifty pounds less than he does.

There are many opinions of the condition of the big man—what's the use—we will all know on the Fourth of July.

CO. I WINS CLOSE BASEBALL GAME

Superior Militiamen Defeat Company E By Score of 5 to 4.

Company I indoor baseball team of Superior defeated Company E team of Duluth by the score of 5 to 4 in a close and exciting game last evening. The deciding score was registered in the ninth frame, when Catcher Wagner permitted a pitched ball to get away from him, which enabled Murphy of the visiting team to slide over with the run that registered the fatal count.

The contest was close and exciting from the first inning. In the second inning the visitors piled up a lead by getting one run across the pan. Superior scored in the third and two more in the fourth innings. Company E began to get busy in the third inning, scoring one run. Company E scored one run in the fifth, sixth and seventh innings.

The score was even at the opening of the ninth. Then occurred the muff of Wagner and Superior put what proved to be the deciding run across. The local players could do nothing with the delivery of "Kid" Harris in the last half of the ninth.

The lineup and score:

Company I.—Kentfield, right short; Buchanan, second base; Harris, pitcher; McGraw, third base; Fleugel, right field; Peterson, catcher; S. Clemens, left field; McDonald, third base; Murphy, left short.

Company E.—Foster, pitcher; Lester, left short; Norski, right field; Wagner, first base and catcher; Beatty, third base; Southwick, second and first base, Bordeleau, left field; Balduc, right short.

Score by innings: R E H
Company I..0 1 1 2 0 0 0 1—5 5 3
Company E..0 0 1 0 1 1 1 0 0—4 9 6

Summary—Two base hits, Norski, Baumgartner; struck out by Foster 14; by Harris, 16; bases on balls, off Foster, 3; off Harris, 0; double play, Southwick to Wagner; wild pitches, Foster, 2; Harris, 1; umpires, Lowe and Schnefter.

BRYANT DEFEATS COHEN.

Head of Lakes Champion Wins Skating Race at Lincoln Park.

"Hi" Cohen, the St. Paul roller skater, was defeated last evening in his mile race with Frank Bryant of this city. The race was pulled off at the Lincoln Park pavilion, the men starting from opposite sides of the rink. Bryant passed his opponent on the tenth lap, winning the race by a lap and a half.

Bryant has won every race he has started in since coming to the Head of the Lakes. He is ready to meet any of the skaters of the Northwest and will be willing to skate a match race with Champion Joe Munch, should the former Duluth man come to Duluth for a race.

JOHNSON CAN'T KEEP OUT OF THE COOP.

New York, Jan. 21.—Jack Johnson, the champion negro pugilist, was arrested in New York last night charged with felonious assault. He was released on $1,000 bail.

Nathan Pinder, a black friend of the fighter, is the accuser. He and Johnson got into a fight early yesterday.

At headquarters the fighter admitted that he had struck his old friend, and said that his only regret was that he hadn't hit him harder. Pinder was swathed in bandages.

ADAMS VS. FAIRMONTS.

Old Rivals Will Meet in City League Hockey Game.

The Adams and Fairmonts will meet tonight in the regular scheduled league game of the City Amateur Hockey league. The Fairmonts have yet to win a game in the league. The members of the team are determined to win the contest tonight, as there is a spirit of rivalry between the Fairmonts and the Adams.

The Fairmonts have been practicing steadily since their last league game and expect to make a splendid showing in the game this evening. The Adams, too, have made some changes in their lineup and are believed to be stronger than at any time this season.

The teams will lineup as follows:

Adams	Position	Fairmonts.
Nelson	F.	Robinson
Erickson	P.	Opsdahl
E. Nelson	c.p.	Gallipias
H. Grenner	r.	Johnson
E. Olson	c.	Seymour
E. Grenner	l.w.	Budreau
A. Olson	r.w.	Berg

SEATTLE TO SEND CREW.

Race Arranged With Wisconsin University on Lake Mendota.

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 21.—The board of control of the associate students of the University of Washington last night voted favorably on the plan to send the Star City crew to Madison, Wis., to race the University of Wisconsin crew on Lake Mendota next spring.

The students will be asked to contribute toward the rowing fund.

FIGHTERS WORRIED OVER RICKARD-GLEASON SQUABBLE.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 21.—Unless the controversy between Tex Rickard and Jack Gleason over the place for the Jeffries-Johnson fight is settled by Feb. 10, when Jeffries will arrive in San Francisco, it is probable that a conference will be held in the East by those directly interested. A place for the fight will be definitely fixed then.

Bowlers Hold Meeting.

At a meeting held last evening at the Majestic bowling alleys, committees were appointed to arrange for the distribution of prizes for the winning teams at the end of the bowling schedule of the Commercial league, and also to complete arrangements for a bowlers' dance. Following are the committees: Prize committee, George Massey, chairman; W. Staudt, Mark Nobls, Andrew Otterson and Paul Sturn. Dance arrangement committee, W. Staudt, chairman; Richard Jacobs, Kay Foote, Joseph Miller, Andrew Otterson, George Sassy, C. Berini and Carl Boerner.

NELSON TO MEET LANG IN MEMPHIS.

Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 21.—Battling Nelson and Eddie Lang are scheduled to fight eight rounds before the Memphis A. C. tonight. Tommy Ryan, retired middleweight champion, is matchmaker of the club.

Nelson will leave for Kansas City Saturday on route to San Francisco to begin training for his fight with Ad Wolgast.

Hester Posts Forfeit.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 21.—Sid Hester, San Francisco fight promoter, posted a $2,500 forfeit last night as a guarantee that he will pull off the 45-round battle between Battling Nelson and Ad Wolgast on Feb. 22.

Breaks Swimming Record.

Chicago, Jan. 21.—M. Dermott, high school swimmer, established a new American record for the 10-yard breast stroke in a match here last night. His time was 1 minute and 17 seconds, clipping two seconds off the previous record.

Tournament Opened.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 21.—The Middle West bowling tournament opened here last night with 76 five-men teams, 117 doubles and 221 individuals entered. Visiting teams from Nebraska, Iowa and Kansas will bowl Saturday and Sunday.

Umpire Cusack Signs.

Chicago, Jan. 21.—President Thomas Chivington of the American association signed yesterday Umpire Steve Cusack, who was with the National league at the beginning of last season and finished the season in the New York State league. This is the third umpire signed by Chivington. The others are Owens and Ferguson, the latter a new man in the league.

ALL TO ELMA DARE.

New Will of George Rhodius Is Filed in Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 21.—Instead of cutting off Elma Dare, the woman who is now seeking to establish the legality of her alleged marriage to the late George Rhodius, the Indianapolis millionaire left the woman his entire estate, valued at $1,000,000, according to a will filed for probate here.

By the codicil of a will filed previously Rhodius left $500,000 to the city of Indianapolis, to be used in the building of parks. The remainder of the Rhodius fortune was distributed among friends and relatives, the Dare woman being cut off without a cent.

The will just filed was executed in a hotel at the edge of Pitsburg, Feb. 4, 1907, just a month after the making of the codicil bequeathing $1,000,000 to the city of Indianapolis.

BIG MEET OF FLYERS OVER

Curtiss and Paulhan Give Last Sensational Exhibition in the Air.

Frenchmen Takes Over $15,000 in Prizes---American Ranks Second.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 21.—As dusk gathered last night, four flying machines that had been circling in the air sailed to earth, the great crowd left the field, and the first international aviation meet held in America was over.

Few knew that one man had been near death in those last few minutes. While Charles K. Hamilton was returning from a 15-mile flight, the crank-shaft of his machine snapped. Hamilton shut off his engine, and so leveled and swayed his planes that he was wafted gently down.

Curtiss and Paulhan furnished the excitement of the closing day. Paulhan went up for an endurance flight and, after he had gone two or three laps of the course, Curtiss started up. Instantly it was seen that a great race was on.

Curtiss and Paulhan Race.

The two aeroplanes came over the grandstand with the speed of express trains. Curtiss crept swiftly on Paulhan's heels and on the third lap after starting he reached Paulhan, flying above. The Frenchman for a few seconds held his own, but Curtiss forged ahead and it was no race after that. Paulhan went on until he had traveled 64.7 miles and had been in the air nearly an hour and a half. Curtiss came down after a 30-mile trip.

This race gives the whole story of the meet. The Curtiss machines have won all the prizes for speed, quick starts, perfect landings and those events where a swift machine showed best.

Paulhan has won all the cross-country, passenger-carrying and endurance events, having a heavier, slower machine and an engine which he trusts absolutely.

Paulhan Takes $15,000.

Paulhan has taken more than $15,000 in prizes and has broken the world's records for altitude and cross-country flights alone and with a passenger. Curtiss has broken no world's records and evidently will take less than $5,000 in prizes.

Hamilton and Willard have taken second and third prizes in most events. The meet ended with a unique parade showing the evolution of traveling, as a feature. It was headed by old Ezra Meeker of Oregon trail fame, seated in the prairie schooner drawn by oxen, that took him over the plains. After him came cowboys, automobiles, balloons, dirigibles, and finally the various airships ending with a multi-plane that looked like a harvester. Curtiss and Paulhan walked behind the van like bashful boys.

A medal presentation took place and then Paulhan went on his endurance flight.

Aviators Will Scatter.

Charles K. Hamilton will go from here to San Diego and attempt to get the world's record for altitude now held by Paulhan. Glenn H. Curtiss will go to Hammondsport, N. Y. Willard will go to Portland, Or., and Paulhan, with Maisson and Miscarol, to San Francisco. It is probable that Paulhan will fly in Salt Lake City and Denver and reach New Orleans for the Mardi Gras celebration.

NEW COMET SEEN IN DULUTH.

The new comet which was seen first in Africa, is now plainly visible in the Zenith City. Just after the sun had set last night it was seen at a point slightly above the horizon and just North of the spot where the sun went down. Astronomers say that it will be still brighter this evening. The same comet will not be visible again in an average life time.

SAYS WOMAN WHO WAS IN LOVE WITH HER IS CAUSE OF HER ARREST

Girl dressed as man declares jealousy of unsuspecting admirer led to her apprehension by the police.

New York, Jan. 21.—"Sir," said a gentlemanly detective, "you're a woman."

"Sir," said the well dressed stranger in trousers arrested on the street last night, "I am. What of it?"

The prisoner was a quiet-mannered girl of about 19 years, wearing a frock suit of good material, a man's gray felt hat, glasses, spats and a man's street gloves.

"My name is Marion Hamilton Gray," said the girl, composedly, "and I have been wearing boys' and men's clothes for the last ten years. Since I began to pose for a man I have learned to smoke—both a pipe and cigarettes."

Several days ago the secretary of the St. George's society informed the police that he believed a young man of rather effeminate appearance who had represented himself to be a son of Lord Hamilton Gray was an imposter. Such a man, he said, had secured aid from the society. The arrest resulted.

Miss Hamilton volunteered that her arrest is due to the jealousy of a wealthy woman of Newark Valley, N. Y., who had wanted to marry her, she said, in the belief that she was a man. She was released on her promise to dress more conventionally in the future.

FIRE LOSS WAS HALF A MILLION

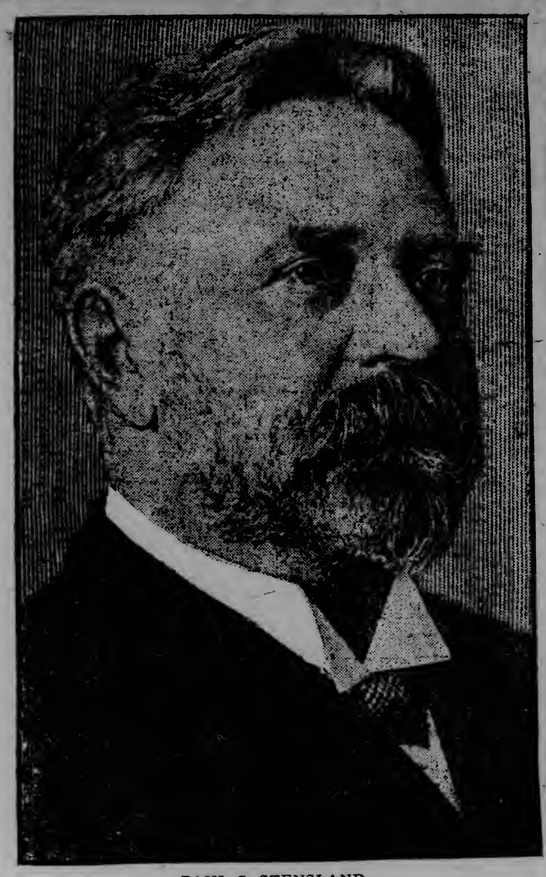

Chief Urges Construction of New Hall and Purchase of Tug.

Duluth's total fire loss during the year of 1909 was $550,065.57, according to the annual report of Chief Randall. The damage to buildings was $107,239.33 and to contents, $142,687.24, while the balance was made up of losses of other kinds. The total insurance was $1,212,900. During the year 343 alarms were received, twenty-two of them false.

The chief urges that the hall which has been proposed for Sixth avenue east and Fourth street be built. He also recommends a fire tug for the harbor and an addition of ten men to the force. He states that it would be better to raze the engine house at West Duluth, believing that this would be more economical than trying to repair it.

F. E. Hough, city electrician, recommends that a new police alarm system be installed to replace the one now in use, which is about worn out and is causing considerable trouble. He asks that the pay of the linemen employed by the city be raised. During the year 1,312 permits were issued for wiring and 3,307 inspections made.

FORMER BANKER HAS BEEN PAROLED

PAUL O. STENSLAND.

Chicago, Jan. 21.—Paul O. Stensland, former president of the Milwaukee Avenue State Bank of Chicago, and Henry W. Hering, formerly its cashier, who were convicted in connection with the wrecking of the bank and the disappearance of $1,300,000 of its funds, were paroled yesterday.

How long it will be before Stensland and Hering are liberated from prison will depend on Governor Deneen, who must approve of the board's action before it becomes final. It is expected the matter will be disposed of by the governor within a few days.

Stensland, who was captured after a sensational chase extending across the Atlantic ocean, has served three years three months and twenty-four days. The pardon board has concluded he has been punished enough. Allowing for good behavior this time represents a sentence of four years six months and eight days. He was sent to the penitentiary on an indeterminate sentence of from one to ten years. Hering was given a similar sentence. Arguments before the pardon board on behalf of the prisoners were that their guilt consisted chiefly in trying to cover up shortages while struggling to get the bank out of difficulty. Stensland is almost 63 years old. On Aug. 27, 1907, Stensland was refused a pardon on the plea of failing health.

YERKES ESTATE SETTLED.

Widow Will Get 20 Per Cent From Sale of Realty.

New York, Jan. 21.—A settlement finally has been reached in the distribution of the estate of the late Charles T. Yerkes, which has been involved in a suit brought by the Underground Electric Railways company, limited, of London. Answers have been filed in the suit by which Mary Adelaide Yerkes, his widow, Charles E. Yerkes and others agree to the sale of the property to pay Yerkes' debts and to ascertain the dower of the widow. By this settlement Mrs. Yerkes will get 20.18 per cent of the net amount from the sale of the real estate.

GREAT GROWTH IS PREDICTED

International Falls Will Boom This Year, Says T. B. Wentby.

T. B. Wentby of International Falls, a guest of the St. Louis today, predicts that the coming year will see the boundary town more than triple its population, with the addition of many industries and the increasing in the activities of the industries that are now at International Falls.

"One reason why the town will grow so rapidly, is the fact that many people are building permanent homes on the river," said Mr. Wentby. "International Falls is getting the reputation of being one of the greatest summer resort towns in the Northwest. In time its reputation will even exceed the coolness of the Northwest. But many of the homes that are being built at the present time are permanent, and some of the people who are building up there, will spend the greater part of each year with us.

"The Brooks people are doing an increasing business right along. Other manufacturers are being attracted to the falls. We are right on the route of traffic from Western Canada to the Head of the Lakes. We have great water power and we have other things to attract the manufacturer and also the home seeker. International Falls will, in my opinion, show a wonderful growth the present year."

LUMBER BUSINESS GOOD, SAYS SHEVLIN.

Thomas Shevlin, Jr., former Yale captain and member of the All-American football team for the four years he was in college, is in the city today. Mr. Shevlin is in the lumber business, being associated with his father in their large timber holdings and operations in this state and the West.

Mr. Shevlin informed The Herald representative that the lumber business is going along smoothly but quietly at the present time, with nothing to indicate that there would be any immediate change in the market conditions. However, he stated that the prospects for a very good year are bright, with no apparent reason why the lumber trade should not enjoy a very good market.

WEST END

GIRL INJURED WHILE COASTING

Bobsled Is Overturned and One Member of Party Sustains Injuries.

One of the first accidents of the year in connection with "bob sliding" down the hills in the West end occurred last evening when Miss Marie Phillips, 18 years old, of 17 North Twenty-fourth avenue west, was thrown off a sled, sustaining painful though not serious injuries.

A party of young people was coasting last evening on one of the hills in the vicinity of Lincoln park. On one of the rides down the steep hill the sled struck an obstacle in the road and swerved off its course with sufficient suddenness to throw all of its occupants off onto the road.

All of the riders picked themselves up, with the exception of Miss Phillips, who was stunned by the fall. She was taken to her home at once and a physician was called. At first it was thought that the girl had broken her lower limbs in the fall, but her injuries were not serious.

WILL MEET TWO HARBORS TEAM.

The basket ball team of the Young Men's Sodality of the St. Clement's school at the West end is making preparations to journey to Two Harbors tomorrow, where the local aggregation will clash with the high school team of Two Harbors.

The West End team has been making good at the basket ball game since the first of the season, having won a number of hard games without a defeat registered against it.

Last evening the members of the team gave a card social at the school hall on Twenty-first avenue west, near Third street. It was largely attended. A part of the entertainment consisted of a practice game between the first and second sodality teams. The first team won, taking the big end of a 30 to 20 score.

Midwinter Festival.

A midwinter festival is planned by the congregation of the Swedish M. E. church, Twentieth avenue west and Third street. The date for the affair has been set for Feb. 3. The proceeds will go to the church fund.

Refreshments will be served to those attending, after the program, by the ladies of the church.

Socialists Will Meet.

A mass meeting of the Scandinavian Socialist club of the West end will be held Monday evening at Sloan's hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street, at which time the political situation in the coming campaign will be talked over.

Among the speakers will be Morris Kaplan, president of the National Cooperative Mercantile company, and Lawyer J. A. Keyes, candidate for alderman in the First ward. There will be special music by local soloists. There will be no admission charged, and ladies are invited to attend.

SURPRISED BY FRIENDS.

Arthur Eklund Guest of Honor at Farewell Reception.

Arthur Eklund of 1923 West Superior street, who will leave tomorrow for Minneapolis, where he will attend the Drew College of Pharmacy, was pleasantly surprised last evening by a number of his friends at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Eklund. Among the guests were Mrs. C. F. Beckman, Ethel Young, Selma Lundberg, Alice Lundberg, Florence Lundberg, Gladys Lundberg, Esther Ekholm, Anna Helgamoe, Hulda Helgamoe, Hulda Helgamoe, Hulda Olson, Ida Edberg and Hilda Tykesen; Messrs. Albert Olson, Anton Anderson, Walter Lundberg, Larry Dryer, Fred Baker, Adolph Lundberg, John Winnard, Arnold Eklund, Roy Ekholm and Albert Skoog.

Officers Are Installed.

The boys of the Twentieth Century club at the Neighborhood house at the West end installed officers last evening. After the installation a musical program was given. The new officers were elected last week as follows: Kenneth McRae, president; Carl Nash, vice president; Albert Tengblad, secretary; Alvin Johnson, treasurer.

Aid Society Election.

The Ladies Aid Society of the St. Peters Swedish Episcopal church elected officers yesterday at the annual meeting held at the home of Mrs. L. G. Hultquist of 2826 West Huron street. Mrs. Fred Olsen was named as president, Mrs. John Wallin, secretary, and Mrs. R. A. Ehrenstrom, treasurer.

Republicans Meet.

Sixth ward Republican held a meeting last evening at Sloan's hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street. Speeches were given by a number of the candidates and great enthusiasm over the fight in the coming campaign prevailed.

West End Shortrails.

The choir of the St. Luke's Episcopal church is planning a sleighride party for this evening. If the affair is postponed, a rehearsal will be held at the church, Nineteenth avenue west and First street.

The Tabitha Society of the Swedish Bethany Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street met yesterday evening at the home of Rev. and Mrs. C. G. Olson of 2305 West Third street and elected officers for the ensuing year. Rev. C. G. Olson was made president. The other officers were Miss Delia Hanson, secretary, and Miss Anna Nordstrom, treasurer.

Miss Stella Newman of Twenty-seventh avenue west has left for Spokane, Wash., where she will visit relatives during the winter months.

Mr. and Mrs. K. H. Norman of Fergus Falls, Minn., are the guests of friends and relatives in the West end for a few days.

A meeting of the Sunday school workers of the Swedish Mission church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street, will be held this evening. Short addresses will be given and the plans for the coming year's work talked over. Rev. J. J. Daniels will preside over the meeting.

Harry D. Lamont of Rock Island, Ill., is the guest of West end relatives for a few days.

The Orpheus Singing society of the West end gave an int resting musical entertainment last evening at Columbia hall.

$5.00 off on all suits and overcoats. We are now giving the customary $5.00 off in January, on all suits and overcoats. This month only. Karl J. Hagberg, high-class tailoring, No. 9 Twentieth avenue west.

URGE "GOOD CITIZENS" TO SUPPORT MAYOR HAVEN

Open Letter to Voters Issued By Prominent Business Men.

Give Resume of Reforms Inaugurated By Chief Executive.

A circular urging the re-election of Mayor R. D. Haven is being mailed today to all First ward voters. It is signed by A. H. Crassweller, J. J. Eklund, A. H. Comstock, C. S. Wilson, Charles A. Duncan, Julius H. Barnes, A. M. Marshall, W. A. McGonagle, W. J. McCabe and Watson S. Moore.

The circular contains a resume of the progressive steps taken by the city during Mayor Haven's administration and the signers make the following statement: "If he fails to be elected, it will be because those whose pocketbooks have been affected by making Duluth a better place to live in are more active in municipal affairs than the so-called 'good citizens.'"

The circular says Mayor Haven has devoted all of his time to the office and will do so during the next two years if he is re-elected. The voters are urged to vote for Haven because Duluth "needs a most efficient administration and a clean, orderly city."

The signers set forth that during the Haven administration, the city has created a contagious disease hospital; the wire and pole nuisance has been partially abated, the London road viaduct was constructed; the extension of Railroad street has been made possible; new parks and playgrounds have been provided; the paving of Garfield avenue has been decided upon; garbage collection has been inaugurated; the telephone toll between Duluth and Superior was prevented; and the attempt of one company to monopolize the Interstate bridge was blocked.

The entrance of those who signed the petition in the campaign in support of Mayor Haven, gives new interest to the campaign and indicates that the election may not be as featureless as the quiet in the campaign up to the present would indicate.

STOCKS IN A REACTION

Upturn Comes at the End of a Long Slump in Coppers.

Little Trading in Duluth, But Market Outlook Is Better.

The copper market was much stronger today, nearly all stocks scoring upturns. There was some liquidation which was easily absorbed and on the bulges there was occasional profit taking, but the declines were short lived. Traders appeared to believe that the bottom of the reaction had been reached and they began to accumulate for an upturn. The buying movement caused a covering by shorts which added strength to the market.

The feature of the local market was the action of Calumet & Sonora, which advanced from $17.75 to $18.87½ and in the East from $18.75 bid, to $18.87½, sale. As told in this column yesterday, Calumet & Sonora has disposed of its output and the mine is being rapidly opened up, a large tonnage being blocked out. General Manager James W. Sexton is at the property and is looking after the development work. Calumet & Sonora at its present stage is capable of a heavy production. The shaft will be continued to the 500-level, where addition ore reserves will be blocked out.

The Duluth market, with less than 3,000 shares sold, was in a better position, technically, than yesterday when about 50,000 shares were traded in. Yesterday's activity was in cheap issues and was entirely professional. Today's action was based almost entirely on public interest. The public came into the general market today heavier than for some time apparently believing that many bargains could be picked up.

Cheaper money was partially responsible for today's activity. The Bank of England several days ago reduced its discount rate and the Imperial Bank of Germany did so today. Money is more plentiful on account of the returns of sums from the interior, which were sent out from the East in the holidays. Easy money is conducive to speculative and investment activity.

The reason commonly assigned for the recent decline is the disappointment of speculators over the failure of the expected January advance to materialize. Recent speculative activities in specialties also hurt the standard issues, detracting attention from them. A broader view of the situation leads one to the opinion that a readjustment in values is taking place, a sniffing of prices to fundamental conditions which for several months have been overhanging the market.

Business is good and the country's crops are excellent, but commercial and market conditions are not always dependent upon the same factors. While business has expanded the stock market has made no headway since last August. Stocks generally are lower than they were three months ago. Yet, superficially, there has been a 'bull' market during that entire period. In reality there has been a declining market and the reason lies deeper than the temporary ebb and flow of speculative sentiment.

The public has not been buying stocks. Large operators have conducted pools and are now engaged in such operations, and it is apparent that whatever buying movement has made itself manifest in recent weeks has been due to these influences. Prices became so high that stocks yielded a very low income and the public saw in other directions opportunities for obtaining greater returns. The cost of living has so increased that the ordinary rate of gilt-edged securities is not sufficient. The public demands a higher yield; it wants more for its money. This, concretely, may be one of the chief reasons why the public is holding aloof from the market. Higher money, also, is not conducive to investment or speculation.

No Evidence Secured.
Jake Spraggin, colored, was arrested last evening, charged with relieving a resident of Park Point of $67 by enticing him into a room on St. Croix avenue. He is supposed to have been assisted by Lucy Simons, a colored woman, who was recently convicted of a similar crime. But the police were unable to secure enough evidence to hold Spraggin, who was released. No effort will be made to apprehend the woman.

WANT IMPORTED SEED INSPECTED

Tri-State Convention Also Indorses McCumber's National Inspection Bill.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The resolutions adopted by the Tri-State Grain and Stock Growers' convention here this afternoon among other things call attention to the fact that this country is flooded with clover and alfalfa seed rejected by European countries, and urge congress to grant the secretary of agriculture authority to inspect all imported seeds. In the interests of big dairying industries of the country, congress is asked to impose revenue tax on all oleomargerine colored to resemble butter.

Northwestern legislatures are asked to enact laws to reimburse the owners of tuberculine cattle for animals ordered killed by the state.

Cattle-breeding circuits for dairying breeds are urged.

Senator McCumber's national grain inspection bill was strongly indorsed and all the Northwestern representatives in congress asked to work for its enactment.

In realization of the advantages of a farmers' organization, small local societies are urged in every locality, and each member of the tri-state convention is pledged to take up the work in his locality.

The agricultural colleges and farmers' institute work is given enthusiastic indorsement.

FLOODS DAMAGE PARIS SUBWAY

Severe Losses Are Being Suffered in East and Central France.

Paris, Jan. 21.—Immense damage is being done by the floods in East and Central France. In this city a newly constructed subway has been flooded and in several places the foundation has been washed out.

It is feared that the Boulevard St. Germain, beneath which the flooded subway extends, will give way. In some sections of the Latin Quarter, street railway traffic was suspended today.

Reports from points along their banks tell of much destruction wrought by the rivers Rhine, Seine, Ardeche and Gard. At many points the people have sought refuge in the hills.

BOYCOTT IS SPREADING

Baltimore Men Don Buttons Reading, "I Don't Buy Meat---Do You?"

Kansas May Have 80,000 in Line---Memphis and Pittsburg Join In.

New York, Jan. 21.—New York today joined forces with her sister cities in making a fight on the high prices of meats. Scores of laboring men and others are making pledges to abstain from using meat for thirty days, while many others are only eating meat once a day.

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 21.—Buttons bearing the inscription, "I don't buy meat—do you?" appeared on the streets here in large numbers today following the action of the local Federation of labor, which adopted a resolution calling upon all labor unionists and their sympathizers to abstain from eating meat for a period of one month as a protest against the high prices of that article of food. Thousands of these buttons have been ordered by the leaders in the movement, and the demand for them, it was declared, was not confined to laboring men, more than half the requests coming from business men and clerks.

Expect 80,000 in Kansas.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 21.—That 80,000 people in Kansas will join the anti-meat-eating crusade during the next ten days is confidently predicted by labor leaders here today.

The building trades council, with a membership of 5,000, representing eighteen crafts and thirty local lodges, will meet tonight, when it is practically assured a resolution will be passed pledging the members to refrain from eating meat for thirty days.

The industrial trades council, which has 23,000 members and represents ninety-nine crafts, will meet Sunday to take similar action.

The carmen's unions also are enthusiastic supporters of the crusade. Local No. 2, representing 300 members, having voted today to refrain from eating meat.

Milwaukee Men to Gather.

The allied printing trades council, which has 1,500 members, has called a meeting to take action in the matter.

Enlist in Memphis.

Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 21.—Following up the action of other cities, the workmen's civic league of this city will on Sunday, take action in regard to pledging its members from eating meat, in an effort to force down the price of meat. Today over 200 Memphis union men and citizens voluntarily signed the pledge.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 21.—A mass meeting has been called by the federated trades council, representing nearly all the crafts in the city, for Feb. 15 at the Hippodrome, to consider the meat question.

Pittsburg Is In Line.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 21.—A meat strike, along lines similar to that in Cleveland, Ohio, where the movement originated, has been organized in Greater Pittsburg. Today street car employes by the hundreds are signing pledges to abstain from meat for thirty days, beginning next Tuesday, while thousands of affiliated members of the Iron City trades council are awaiting word from their leaders before putting into effect a meat boycott resolution adopted by the council last night.

Omaha Men to Vote.

Omaha, Neb., Jan. 21.—The question of joining the anti-meat eating crusade will come before tonight's meeting of the Central Labor Union, composed of representatives of most of the labor unions of the city. Already several pledges have been circulated, and it is estimated that fully 500 workingmen have signed.

LADY ST. HELIER.

Writing reminiscences has become a fad among the titled women of Great Britain. The memoirs of Lady Randolph Churchill (now Mrs. George Cornwallis West) were followed by those of Lady Cardigan and now Lady Sarah Wilson and Lady St. Helier are at work on volumes which should be of great historic interest. Lady St. Helier has always been interested in social life and for many years she gathered about her all that was brightest and best in the society of the British capital.

SUPERIOR DEMONSTRATION TOO REALISTIC

Frank Zillar Showed How Cash Registers Are Tapped.

Frank Zillar, arrested in Duluth late Wednesday night charged with attempting to steal from the cash register of a restaurant at 1325 North Third street, Superior, last Wednesday afternoon, was bound over to the present term of the superior court on $500 bail, when arraigned yesterday afternoon in municipal court at Superior.

John Becker, the proprietor of the place and his chef, Oscar Anderson, took the witness stand yesterday and told how Zillar tried to show how the holdup men turned the trick, out in the Wild West. To carry out his point, Zillar showed the men how a cash till was rifled.

Before they realized that he was becoming too realistic in his demonstration, Zillar had a handful of cash in his possession. The cook "started something" by throwing a chair at the man with the desperado tales.s Zillar made for the door and caught a Duluth car before he could be captured.

He was arrested shortly after he arrived in Duluth.

JOHNSON IS INDORSED.

Board of Trade Approves His Appointment to Grain Board.

H. A. Johnson was today indorsed by the Superior board of trade as a member of the Wisconsin grain and warehouse commission, with headquarters in Superior. It is very likely that he will be appointed to this position by the governor.

Mr. Johnson has served several years in this capacity and the indorsement for his reappointment was expected. The term is for three years.

TO FACE TRIAL MONDAY.

Lizzie Brooks Is Accused of Sticking Officer With Hatpin.

Lizzie Brooks, known as the "Odanah Queen" will face a jury Monday in the superior court according to the list of cases announced yesterday. Lizzie is charged with intent to do great bodily harm, it being claimed that she jabbed an officer with a hatpin.

The woman has been up in municipal court several times for minor offenses, but this will be her first appearance in a higher court. District Attorney Y. R. Foley will prosecute the case. G. E. Dietrich will defend the woman.

To Attend Tourney.

A delegation of about twenty bowlers from Superior will attend the international bowling tournament at St. Paul playing from Feb. 17 to 20. The following teams have been chosen:

Superior Jacksons—Wedge, Hutchison, Blaxall, F. Smith, H. Swanson.

Predicts Great Future.

John B. Eustis, ex-mayor of Minneapolis, was in Superior yesterday on a short business trip. Mr. Eustis has much to say of the local business situation and predicts a great future for Superior and the Head of the Lakes. He said that he did not look for a mushroom growth like that of two decades ago, but a swift, legitimate and steady growth.

Owners Will Gather.

Property owners on Belknap street between Oakes and Weeks avenues and on Hughitt avenue between Belknap and Twenty-first street, will meet next Thursday night with the council committee on streets to talk over the paving material to be used on the two thoroughfares.

WANT BIGGER LOCK AT SOO

Lake Carriers Will Ask Canadian Government to Build New One.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 21.—Election of a new board of directors and the submission and adoption of the annual report constituted the business transacted at yesterday's session of the annual convention of the Lake Carriers' association, which is being held in this city. With one exception all of the 1909 directors of the association were re-elected, Edward Smith of Buffalo retiring from the board. Five more directors were appointed. They are: W. M. Mills, North Tonawanda; W. C. Richardson, Cleveland; W. E. Lloyd, Buffalo; J. J. H. Brown, Buffalo, and S. P. Shane, Cleveland.

One of the features of the annual report dealt with the desirability of a new lock being constructed at the Canadian Soo by the Canadian government. The members of the association declare the present locks are not sufficient to handle the tonnage passing through the Soo each year. The carriers have been advised that the Canadian government will take the need under consideration.

Of a new lock to Increase Plan.

Fear Lights Reduced.

The bill recently introduced in the house of representatives providing for a bureau of lighthouses in the department of commerce and labor was also discussed. Fearing that the intent of the bill, should it become a law, is to transfer the whole lighthouse department service into civilian hands, the association asks for it grave consideration. It expresses serious doubts whether giving the department into the hands of civilians would not impair the efficiency of the department.

In the president's annual address William Livingstone of Detroit declared that friction between the vessel owners and their employes had been greatly reduced since the adoption of the carriers' open shop policy.

"Nearly 9,800 employes had taken advantage of the association's welfare plan," said President Livingstone.

Referring to the new Livingstone channel at the mouth of the Detroit river, Mr. Livingstone said he had reason to believe that the vessel owners' desire to have the width of 300 feet increased to 600 feet would be compromised at 350 feet. Last season's business on the lakes was characterized as unsatisfactory, but Mr. Livingstone predicted a banner season for 1910.

THE WITTY DUKE.

A Chicago heiress was relating some of her experiences during the London season that has just ended.

"And at a dinner in Belgrave square," she said, "I sat next to the duke of Devonshire. He is, of course, a very great swell. He has the manner of the swells of Du Maurier, a very bored manner, and in a sleepy drawl he says witty things.

"'I can scarcely believe,' I said to the duke, 'that in your maiden speech in the house of commons, you paused three times and yawned heavily.'

"'Oh, but you'd believe it,' said he, 'if you'd heard the speech.'"

EBERHART CALLS ON MINNESOTANS

Governor Says He Will Return Directly to St. Paul Saturday.

Washington, Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Governor Eberhart today made a call upon each of the members of the Minnesota delegation in their individual offices in the house office building, to thank each personally for courtesies extended to him during his visit to Washington.

The governor also called upon Senators Nelson and Clapp. He said, after this tour, that he had not had the slightest conception of the immensity of the house and senate office buildings.

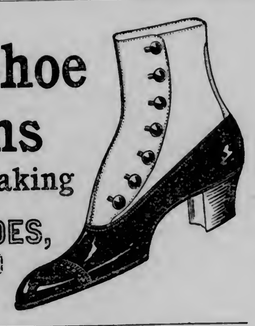

"They size up very large and imposing of course from the exterior, but the magnificent distances to be traversed in the interior by the visitor is something one has to experience to appreciate," said the governor. "I expect to leave tomorrow, going directly to St. Paul," was the governor's final statement.

NO LAXNESS TOLERATED

Health Department Put Three Dairies Out of Business Last Year.

Twelve Cows Killed on Order of the Health Department.

The fight which is being made against the most destructive of human diseases, the great white plague, and infant mortality, by the city health department, is shown in the annual report of R. W. Luxon, milk inspector.

Last year 2,213 cows were inspected for tuberculosis, of which number twelve were ordered condemned and killed. The detection of a cow infected with tuberculosis is considered so important that the authorities of the department state that their efforts would have been repaid had but a single cow been killed.

Physicians all over the country recognize the great danger from impure milk, particularly to babies and young children, for whom it is the principal article of diet. Statistics have demonstrated that an infinite number of deaths and a vast amount of sickness are due to impure milk alone.

The persistent campaign which is being waged for more sanitary methods is bearing fruit. Duluth now has eighteen dairies and barns in which white suits are used during milking hours. The other requirements of cleanliness are equally well observed. In this connection the report states that ninety barns in the city and seventy-seven barns outside the city have been whitewashed, while fifteen new milk and straining houses have been built.

The department is tolerating no laxness, as is shown by the fact that last year three dairymen in Duluth and one outside, who was shipping milk into the city, were put out of business because they were too dirty to be allowed to sell their product to the local public. Twelve arrests were made for violations of the ordinance and eleven convictions secured.

The local herds contain 170 cows and the outside herds 820 cows. The daily consumption is 4,176 gallons, 1,080 being shipped in and 3,096 being secured from the local herds. Sixty-four stores which sell milk were inspected; 592 dairy inspections in the city were made; 206 dairy inspections outside the city were made, and 309 samples of milk tested, of which 16 were below the requirements of the law.

TRUANT RATE VERY HIGH

Majority of Children Lured From Schools By Cheap Theaters.

Labor Deputy Says Compulsory Education Works Little Hardship.

That the majority of the children are out of school not because their parents need the small amount of money they can bring in, but because the electric lights on the corners, moving picture shows, "crap games," penny ante" and other games and amusements are far more attractive to the youth of the land than are their school studies, is the statement of H. V. Koch, deputy from the state labor bureau, who is visiting the department's office in Duluth.

It is a part of Mr. Koch's business to enforce the compulsory education law. Many and varied are the means taken by both parents and children to escape it.

In fact, there are so many working against the law that it is hard to get information and send the boy back to school, according to Mr. Koch. The parents tell lie after lie that their children may be issued a permit, and the children are, in a great number of cases willing and eager to go to work.

The cheap nickel theaters are one of the greatest evils of the twentieth century, according to Mr. Koch. Both boys and girls will do anything to get the small amount of money necessary to gain admittance. Some have been found who habitually steal the money. Others stand on the street corners and cry, trying to arouse the sympathy of passersby. In St. Paul one band of boys had a very small boy whom they used as a tool. He was set to crying on the corner and watched by the larger ones. The smaller boy told how he had just lost his paper earnings and when the kind gentleman came along as he usually did, the older boys would take the money and the whole "gang" would visit the show.

Truant Rate High.

The truant rate is very high in Minnesota. Mr. Koch travels all over the state enforcing the law, and in one town of 2,000 inhabitants, he returned eight-seven boys to school.

Mr. Koch tells of one family whose income was over $150 a month, who had just set the youngest boy, a lad of 13, to work for $5 a week. They pleaded poverty and said that it was necessary that the boy be allowed to work. When later the woman was brought into police court for telling falsehoods as to the boy's age, she paid a $15 fine out of a well-filled pocketbook.

"No, the compulsory education law works but little hardship," says Mr. Koch. "There are people who really need the money. Of course, they really do suffer. In these cases, however, the parents are usually sensible enough to wish the boy to have as much knowledge as possible. That is a reason we all favor a scholarship law so much. It would give those poor boys a chance, so that in after life they would be able to earn a better living than did their fathers.

"There is work in plenty for us all. We are never at a loss for something to do. There seems to be work without end and we cannot attend to it all as we should. Conditions differ so greatly in the different places that we are constantly up against it. There is much good being done, but the size of the proposition staggers us at times."

"When I go back to St. Paul I have to send a boy to Red Wing. This is not such an unusual occurrence but let me tell you the conditions."

Wants to Go to Red Wing.

That boy is not tough. He only thinks he is. It is his ambition to be tough because other boys of his age are considered so, and he must be up to the times. Three of his companions have served time in Red Wing, and he is jealous. They constantly hold it over him that he is an infant, hasn't even been to Red Wing, and he feels mighty bad over it. We have tried to do everything possible for him, but he does things so that he will be sent away. I guess in a short time his companions will have nothing 'on him,' for he surely is going. The height of his ambition will be reached when he is told that it is Red Wing for his. Now, what do you think of that? How is that for the condition of a young boy's mind? How is that for neglect on the part of parents? I could recite queer cases like that all day. We get them right along. Think of boys being kept out of school so that they may be used by their parents to carry beer to them from the corner saloon. Still, this is the case.

"We must break up the bands of boys who hang about the lights, and we must get as many laws passed as possible restricting the moving-picture shows. We must keep the boys off the streets at night. We must keep them in school. Oh, there are so many things we must do that it seems an endless task. We are doing well, however, and the time is coming when conditions will be much improved over the present."

NO CRUSADE IN DULUTH YET

"I-Don't-Buy-Meat Bug" Has Not Bitten Local Citizens.

The anti-meat crusade has not hit Duluth yet.

It is sweeping over the country like wildfire, according to Associated Press dispatches received today, but Duluth has not yet been bitten by the new "bug."

In some cities they are wearing buttons with the words "I Don't Buy Meat. Do You?" and the movement, which started in Cleveland, to force the packers to reduce meat prices by the boycott method, promises to become nation-wide.

It is not unlikely that petitions of this nature will be circulated in Duluta within the next few days. The Commercial club may consider the plan at the meeting of the public affairs committee next week, but nothing has been done as yet.

QUIZZED ABOUT RAILROAD DEALS

Witnesses Are Examined By Chicago & Western Indiana Attorney.

Chicago, Jan. 21.—Inquiry into the real estate transactions in which it is alleged that the Chicago & Western Indiana railroad was mulcted out of large sums was resumed here today in the office of the state's attorney.

Examination of thirty witnesses, most of them property owners who had sold real estate to John Pelzer, against whom the principal allegations of the bill for accounting filed Wednesday run, was conducted by Attorney W. L. Fisher and a detective who obtained much of the evidence on which the court action is based.

The state's attorney will examine the transcript of the testimony later to determine whether there is sufficient basis for a criminal prosecution.

The bill charges that close to $1,000,000 was improperly obtained from the railroad.

HOCKING COAL DEAL UNDER FIRE

Stock Exchange Governors Are Investigating Workings of Pool.

New York, Jan. 21.—Further investigation into the workings of the Columbus & Hocking Coal & Iron pool, which caused the failure of three brokerage firms, is being made today by the stock exchange authorities. While ostensibly in the hands of the committee on insolvency, the governing committee as a whole is dealing with the matter and a searching inquiry is promised.

CONCERNING WOMAN.

Women are delightful.

At times there is a belief amounting almost to a conviction that of all the designing cats lacking in brains and originality and initiative and interest, and shiftless drones, and artificial beauties, women are it and then suddenly in the most ingenuous way, they do singly or en masse some little delicious thing that proves that centuries of training and aeons of brains won't help a bit—that to be absolutely delightful—you must be a woman.

Women are delightful. That's all.

Now for instance. A few days ago a big strong policeman arrested a young woman on the charge of inciting strikers to riot. He took her off to jail and at the preliminary hearing he told his troubles. She, it seems, had been told by the chief of police or some one like that the the crowd could stay if they kept moving. So this delightful person conceived the idea of moving around in a circle in front of just the one place where they wanted to stay. The chief of police had said had he not, that it would be all right if they kept moving, so 200 or more of them kept moving. Of course no one could get by in the streets and traffic was stopped more or less and of course the young woman and her 200 kept moving. And then an officious person came up—he told this all himself—at the preliminary hearing—and told the young woman to move. And she did—in a circle.

The man in blue placed himself in her path again and told her that this monkey business had to stop.

And then this young woman—the man said so himself—surveyed him from top to toe. She looked coolly, calmly, dispassionately, but unapprovingly, at his tow-colored hair, then her eyes passed slowly to his eyes and she looked into them without seeing them, only her disapproval of their nondescript color was apparent; she looked at his collar, and he did wish that he had put on a clean one that morning; she shuddered slightly at the purple necktie that was at war with his Hibernian complexion; and she glanced at the dust remaining on the shoulders of his coat, and looked long at the place where his coat gaped because a button had just come off, due to his impotent rage. She finished her survey with the calm hauteur of a lady in the front row of a chorus, which is, of course, so much more aristocratic than aristocracy itself can achieve.

And then she said in cool, liquid, sweet and maddening tones:

"And who, pray, may you be?"

Wasn't that delightful? Wouldn't it be worth while to be arrested just for that? And when the policeman was telling the judge about it, he saved as his grand climax the fact that she said, "And who, pray, may you be?"

Honestly, the whole department was so upset over it, that it was all her millionaire father could do to get bail.

• • •

The next story is about a millionaire lady, too. Maybe it's easier to be delightful with a million. Anyhow this is what she did. She decided that she would be of some use in the world and so she decided to join President Taft and a few other kindred souls not to mention the great common people, into an inquiry about the high cost of living.

It was mentioned, was it not, that she was a millionaire?

And here's how she feels about it.

"We are all living too fast and too carelessly. Women don't think enough. I, for instance, buy what I want, enjoy it and, when the bills come, just have a fit. We are all striving to get a little higher up on the ladder whether we can afford it or not. We are all living without regard for tomorrow."

Isn't that lovely?———

She just gets what she wants and enjoys it and then when the bills come in she has a fit. May be Providence deals out the millions the very best way after all. At times it has been hard to discover the plan of distribution. All sorts of schemes to pay bills have been thought of before. People have been even known to pay their bills when they came in, or weakly put them off a month or two and skip town and there have been known people who didn't run any, but think of the deliciousness of "just having a fit" when they were sent in.

Did you ever see, or do you ever hope to see anything so busy as a cat in a fit? There's not much time for contemplation or reflection during the event, nor would there be a great opportunity for the acrimony of irate husbands while you are busily having a fit. A real good fitter can cover more space in a given time than any flea that ever took joy in torturing a Western tourist. A husband could be brought into a state of abject and perspiring meekness by a wife who knew when to have fits. At just that time when he opens the bills for the month and clearing his throat and smoothing out the paper and looking over his glasses says: "Are you opening up a millinery shop? Thirty-five dollars for hats?" Then's the time to go to it.

By the time the doctor had been called and the smelling salts had been applied and the excitement attending the performance had abated, any ordinary man would have signed a half dozen checks. Then, too, that ought to be awfully good to reduce a figure that was maybe getting just a bit plump.

COUNTESS WILL BE HEARD AS PROFESSIONAL SINGER

COUNTESS CASSINI.

Countess Cassini, so popular in Washington society when her uncle, Count Cassini, was Russian ambassador there, has announced that she will go on the professional stage. The countess was famous for her voice even in Washington. She sang at many private concerts and led in fashionable gayeties and amateur theatricals. During the Russian-Japanese war she organized a benefit for the Russian Red Cross, which realized $20,000. She will abandon the name of Countess Cassini and assume that of Marguerite Coranl, her grandmother's maiden name.

WELLESLEY ASSISTS.

The College Students Raise Funds for Strikers.

The striking shirtwaist makers are receiving a great amount of interested attention from all sorts of fashionable and progressive women, from Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont to the president's daughter, Miss Helen Taft, and Prof. Frances Squire Potter. Among the newest to rally to their support are a large number of Wellesley students and plans are on foot there to raise $1,000 to help them out. Miss Catherine Hunter of this city who is attending Wellesley college is among the young college women interested in the strike.

Noted Bachelors.

Among the illustrious men who passed through life in single blessedness may be mentioned Sir Isaac Newton, Thomas Hobbes, author of "The Leviathan;" Adam Smith, the father of political economy; Chamfort, the greatest of French talkers; Gassendi, Galileo, Descartes, Spinoza, Locke, Kant, Bishop Butler, the author of the "Analogy;" Bayle, Leibnitz, Hume, Gibbon, Macauley, Buckle, Pitt, Charles James Fox, Leonardo Da Vinci, Raphael, Michael Angelo, Sir Joshua Reynolds, the artist, Turner, Handel, Beethoven, Schopenhauer, Rossini, Mendelssohn, and Meyerbeer.

To Help the Baby.

A vigorous baby may indulge in a certain amount of very gently and carefully administered exercise when he is about a year old. After he has his bath let him lie on his back and put him through certain movements which entertain him and develop him physically at the same time. Give each little hand a thumb to grasp, hold his arms out at the sides, then cross them on his breast. This may be repeated safely from six to ten times. In the same way move the little arms upward and outward, always bringing them back to the sides and repeating several times. Then straighten out his legs and bend them up toward his face so that his body is alternately stretched and doubled up.

Teach the boy to take good care of his hands. No matter whether he has pointed finger nails, wide ones, or perfect ones a child's hands and nails should be clean, and if taught to care for them while he is young he will continue to do so.

Shaping of the eyebrows cannot be begun too early in life. A small, rather soft tooth brush is good to use for this purpose. The hair must be trained to lie smooth and form the desirable bow and only watchfulness from childhood will train refractory brows.

A very attractive baby's bonnet is made of fine white linen, with a piece folded back and daintily embroidered. These bonnets may be worn over quilted silk linings in pink or blue and decorated with colored ribbon, the shade of the lining.

IS MEMBER OF INDIAN TRIBE

MRS. HELEN F. TROY.

This is "Gar-wen-no-shoe" or "Spirit Dipping Into the Silent Waters." In ordinary social life she is known to her friends as Mrs. Helen Troy. Her more picturesque name was conferred on her by Frank Logan, the chief of the Onondaga Indians when Mrs. Troy was initiated a member of the Six Nations. There are many women in the Six Nations, which is a federation of the Onondaga Indians, but there is only one white woman—Mrs. Troy. She got into touch with the Indians through her researches into their traditions and recently with solemn ceremonial she was initiated into their tribe.

It Cleans Carpets, Rugs, Portieres, Walls, Floors, Stairs, Upholstered Furniture, Draperies, etc.

You can see the track it leaves as clearly as the path of the sun on old Lake Superior—and it looks as bright to the careful housewife, too. Takes up all the dust from hardwood floors, takes the dust out of all your rugs. You can clean under beds or dressers; you can clean stair corners or any upholstered furniture—it's fun to use one. Think of the hours you spend every day fighting dust and dirt. This means money, besides worry and work. With a Peerless it's so easy it never seems like work at all.

Let Us Demonstrate How Simple It Is to Operate and How Effectively It Works

We will be glad to show you if you are interested. The PEERLESS is attached to any electric socket, you turn a button and it begins operations at once. With a suction cleaner the dirt is all drawn inside the receptacle—it takes it out of the house—NO DUST to settle on picture frames, electric fixtures, draperies or ornaments. THE EVENING STORY

THE SECRETARY'S COMPROMISE

By Harry Clark Hubler.

(Copyrighted. All rights reserved.)

A sharp controversy had arisen between the Y. M. C. A. secretary and the leading lady of a stock company that was playing at one of the local theaters. He had had the temerity to publicly criticise one of the plays—especially the part acted by Miss De Lain. Through the columns of a local newspaper that young lady had struck back at him, shrewdly and sharply.

It was all very interesting to the public, but neither of the principals greatly enjoyed publicity in this particular line, and the interchange of logic and thinly veiled sarcasm speedily changed into a private correspondence. This was carried on for a time, but also proved so unsatisfactory that the secretary felt forced to make a personal call in order to firmly establish his side of the argument. For this purpose, he found one call was not sufficient, and soon it was noticed that he was calling on the actress quite regularly. He was warmly commended for his missionary zeal.

Perhaps the secretary had no better or bolder partisan than Miss Annabel Firmley. As his fiancee, she had of course excellent reasons for supporting the secretary with so much energy. It was her firm belief that not only the play in question was very wrong and hurtful, but that all theaters were wrong in both principle and practice.

"Why can't people spend their evenings at home or at prayer-meetings, instead of going to those wicked places?" she demanded.

"Just so, Annabel," replied the secretary, pleased to hear the uncompromising ring in her voice.

"I'm thankful that I've never been within the doors of one," she continued. "I couldn't wish to be seen with those that gather there. They're wicked, every one of them."

"Well, I rather think you are in the right, as to a great many who attend," said he, doubtfully, "but they're not all bad. No, I wouldn't say they're all bad," he added, slowly.

"You don't see any of my friends there," she challenged.

"Oh, no," he answered, "but I am certain every night there are many good people in the audience."

"But think of the plays," said Annabel.

"True, some plays are bad, but many are good. One must learn to discriminate."

The young lady looked at him with some alarm. Was he changing his opinions? Certainly he was vastly more tolerant than he was three months ago when his controversy with the actress had begun.

"Whether the plays are bad or good," she asserted confidently, "no reasonable person will deny that those who follow a stage career are bad morally. I don't believe there's a good woman among them."

"I do," was the brief reply. Whereupon the secretary picked up his hat to leave.

"Why, Tom, it's early," she exclaimed in surprise. "Don't go."

"Yes—some papers to write and other business," said he, walking toward the door.

"Please come back," urged Annabel, taking him by the arm.

He did what any reasonable man would do under the circumstances—he came back.

Feeling that he was displeased for some reason, the woman used her best powers during the remainder of his call to make up the ground she apparently had lost. When he finally left, she was somewhat uncertain whether she had succeeded.

Womanlike, she brooded over their misunderstanding, but found herself unable to discover the cause. She spent many weary hours in conjecture, and finally concluded that the most plausible reason for the secretary's strange impatience was that she had not been severe enough in denouncing the theater. She felt she must do something to redeem herself. After a further expenditure of mental energy, she devised a plan that in her opinion could not fail to bring good results. "He was not afraid to tell the actress face to face what he thought," she said to herself. "Why shouldn't I prove my courage by doing likewise?"

The next afternoon the secretary and Miss DeLain were busily engaged in discussing topics not theatrical, when there was a rap on the door. It was Miss Annabel Firmly. She bowed affectionately toward the secretary and stiffly toward Miss DeLain. The visitor's face flushed, and her eyes danced a little from excitement. But she had grit enough to carry out her plan in spite of the fact that she felt the situation a somewhat awkward one. She moved straight across the room until she stood beside the trembling secretary.

"Is this Miss DeLain?" she inquired.

"I bear that name," replied the actress.

"Please pardon me, but I felt it my duty to assist my future husband in this matter," she stated.

"What matter?" asked Miss DeLain.

"I desire to add emphasis to what he has already said," declared Annabel.

The actress looked at the woman in amazement, not unmingled with alarm.

"What in the world is she trying to say, Mr. Archer?"

"I think there is a mistake somewhere," enlightened the secretary. He was quite pale and very much embarrassed.

"Of course there is," asserted Annabel. "I trust, madam, that you soon will realize it."

"I suppose she has escaped," muttered the actress, backing toward the door.

"I have escaped that and many other iniquities," declared Annabel.

"I don't think you understand, Miss DeLain," said the secretary, coming to the rescue.

"Oh, yes I do, Mr. Archer," replied the actress, in a low voice. "Just watch her while I ring for assistance."

She was moving furtively toward the bell, and the secretary sprang before her.

"Don't ring," he cried, excitedly "Let me explain."

"The theater is iniquitous," put in Annabel.

The actress cast a doubtful, pitying look at Annabel's flushed face, then turned to the secretary.

"Do you think she is harmless?" she inquired.

The perspiration rolled off that gentleman's face in great drops.

"I think there's a misunderstanding," he asserted, weakly.

"Doesn't she understand you yet, after all these weeks?" asked Annabel. Turning to the actress: "Have the exhortations of my affianced husband done you no good?"

"Great Scott! What a mixup!" muttered the secretary.

"I believe stage people to be bad, each and every one of them," was the next statement of Annabel.

"Shall I call the police?" asked Miss DeLain, with her finger on the button.

"Great Caesar:—No!" came from the secretary's pallid lips. "Let me explain."

"Well, I think it's time for the explanation to be forthcoming," was Miss DeLain's reply, as she moved a step nearer the door.

"Wait, stop," shouted the man.

"If you're afraid, I'll call for help," said the actress.

"Come here, Miss DeLain—Annabel, be seated. I'll explain," he said. "The theater has redeeming qualities, and I'm convinced that there are many good people on the stage. The—"

"What?" cried Annabel. "Do you say that?"

"I say what I believe is the truth," was his reply.

"You've changed, sir," she accused, with anger blazing in her eyes. "What caused you to revise your views?"

"My association with one who knows," he answered.

"You don't mean to say that this woman has brought this about?"

"I mean just that," he said.

Annabel was speechless with rage and chagrin.

"Our engagement is at an end," she declared. Picking up her skirts, and without as much as a look at Miss De Lain, she swished out of the room.

After she was gone there was an embarrassing silence for a little while.

"I did not know you were engaged," said Miss De Lain, presently.

"I know it—only too well," he answered, bitterly. "I never truly loved the woman—though I thought I did until about three months ago."

"Did you change your opinion suddenly?"

"Well, no," he replied slowly. "It grew with me as our acquaintance grew."

He looked at her, but not a feature in her face changed. He felt disappointed.

"How long had you been acquainted with her?"

"I didn't mean my acquaintance with her," said he.

"No?" And she raised her brows inquiringly.

"I discovered it was you I loved," explained the secretary, with considerable bluntness.

"But I am married," said she sweetly. "My husband comes tomorrow."

And the secretary soon was married, too—to Annabel.

BURIED BY HIS OLD COMRADES

War Veterans Funeral Conducted By Members of Gorman Post.

Under the auspices of the Willis A. Gorman post, Grand Army of the Republic, funeral services were held this afternoon for Sylvester M. Sherman, 63 years old, of 6512 Polk street, who died Wednesday evening.

The services were held from the West Duluth Baptist church, Fifty-ninth avenue west and Grand avenue, with Rev. Arthur J. Hoag officiating. The funeral was largely attended by the friends and war comrades of the deceased.

Mr. Sherman had an enviable record in the Civil war, having served in Company H, Fifty-fifth Illinois cavalry, as a musician. He took part in many of the most notable battles of the strife between the North and the South.

His body was sent this afternoon to Stacey, Minn., where the interment will take place. He lived at Stacey for a number of years prior to his coming to West Duluth. He is survived by a wife, two sons and a daughter.

For a number of years Mr. Sherman was employed as a flagman at the Central avenue crossing.

WILL REMAIN IN THE CHURCH

Rev. D. G. Cole Accepts Call of the Plymouth Congregation.

Rev. Daniel G. Cole, who has for the past three months been the acting pastor of the Plymouth Congregational church, Fifty-fourth avenue west and Bristol street, has accepted a call to become the regular pastor of the church. He announced his intention in the matter last evening, when the annual church meeting was held.

In accepting the call to the West Duluth church, Mr. Cole stated that his plans for the Plymouth church extended over a period of at least five years. The call was made for an indefinite period. It is likely that the new pastor will be installed after the convention of the Duuth conference.

Rev. Mr. Cole was offered a position with a life insurance company as director of agencies, but he stated that he felt that the needs and the promising future of the Plymouth church had the first claim, and he turned down a flattering offer.

In connection with the annual meeting last evening, supper was served to forty persons. A social session followed. E. A. Jeanson of New York city rendered several selections on the violin, accompanied by B. L. Leick of Crookston, Minn., who also sang. Songs were also given by Mrs. H. C. Merriman and H. C. Brown. Miss Eva Ketchum and Miss Minerva Gauson gave readings.

At the business session, the following officers were elected: Board of trustees, H. C. Brown, J. H. Bowne, re-elected, and N. C. Batley, re-elected; clerk, R. M. Weaver; treasurer, H. C. Brown and Bible school superintendent, Lyman Fargo.

CENTRAL TEAM WON DEBATE

West Duluth Team Defeated By Representatives of Duluth School.

A debating team from the Central high school won from the Duluth Industrial high school this morning in a debate on the question 'Resolved that Minnesota should adopt the initiative and referendum."

The Central team comprised Rupert D. O'Brien, Harry L. Zlatkovsky and Charles G. Evans, and upheld the affirmative while the West Duluthians represented by Barbara F. Peeor, George Deatherage and Lester Whalen took the negative.

The judges were L. A. Barnes, W. B. Getchell and S. J. Nygren. The uptown team won by a vote of 2 to 1. This afternoon a banquet was given in honor of the debators by the junior and senior classes of the Duluth Industrial school.

The members of the faculty of the West Duluth school and Prof. R. Brackett, instructor of public speaking in the Central high school were also guests of honor. L. Sidney Jenkins, manual training instructor, was the toastmaster. The program was informal.

IMPORTANT SUBJECTS.

Public Market and Charter Amendments Will Be Discussed.

When the West Duluth Commercial club meets this evening, it will hear a report from the committee which has been looking up the question of a public market for West Duluth. The members will also discuss the merits of the proposed charter amendments.

It is expected that the meeting will be largely attended not only by the members of the club, but by citizens in general.

ARE PLAYING FOR THE LOCAL TROPHIES.

Since the close of the bonspiel, the West Duluth curlers have turned their attention to the local curling trophies and tonight will begin play in the unfinished events.

McAuley's rink, comprising Angus McAuley, Frank Ashley, Arthur Hoag and G. W. Smith, which won a prize in the Canadian Soo event, will wear their new prize sweaters for the first time at the rink this evening.

The games for the Manley-McLennan event will commence at the Duluth rink Monday evening and will be finished at West Duluth on the following night. West Duluth will be represented by Miller, Zauft, McAuley and Hewitt.

The playing in the West Duluth Commercial club event will also be resumed

Party for Miss Carter.

A surprise party was given in honor of Miss Elizabeth Carter at the home of Miss Ruth Hicks of 4513 Oneta street, Wednesday evening. Games were played and prizes were awarded to Elizabeth Carter, Earl Edwards and Felix St. Mary. The guests were: Messrs. Earl Edwards, Felix St. Mary, Johnny Fernie, Earl Hendricks, Lamoine Hicks, Edward Hicks and Charley Beaulieu. Misses Sadie Haley, Ruth Hicks, Sara Hagen, Roselle Faucault, Molley Hendricks, Elizabeth Carter and Nora Woods.

STREET WORK FOR COMING SPRING TO BREAK RECORDS

Board Urges Necessity of Increasing the Revolving Fund.

Annual Report Shows Many Improvements Made in 1909.

The annual report of the board of public works, submitted this morning by R. Murchison, clerk of the board, is the most important ever issued by that body.

The rapid growth of the city can be shown in no better manner than by a scrutiny of the recommendations that it contains and the figures which it gives on improvements that have been made and which are already assured for the coming season. The report deals with statistics that are inseparately connected with the city, showing exactly where it stands in the ladder of advancement.

Standing out strikingly is the assertion that the estimated cost of work already petitioned for to be done in 1910 exceeds the total amount expended in 1909. The board recommends that the revolving fund be increased at least $50,000 by the sale of the $50,000 worth of bonds authorized in 1903. The revolving fund is now too small to meet the demands which will be made upon it for new improvements the coming year.

An important paragraph deals with the storm of last summer. The statement of expenditures shows less than $26,000 as having been applied to the repair of damages, but a careful estimate of the cost to the department shows that fully two-thirds of the appropriation, of $60,000, is chargeable more or less directly to this account. Fully one-third of the year's allowance had been expended for spring cleaning and repairs, and the greater part of this work had to be done over again. Several streets had to be entirely rebuilt, and the wreckage was not confined to any particular portion of the city. Most of the work on the more important streets was done, but a great deal still remains to be done in different section of the city.

Need of Storm Sewers.

The damage resulting from violent rainstorms is attributed to the fact that there is little provision for storm drainage above Fourth street, the flowage from the steep hillside being thrown against the improvements lower down.

The report states that complaint has been made by men engaged in team traffic that the extension of hard pavements on the avenues is increasing the difficulty of reaching the upper section. The ordinary macadam is said to be ideal for this purpose, the principal objection being the dust. It is stated that this objection is being overcome by the use of oil.

Difficulty was found in the storage of material, which illustrates that the city is building up rapidly. Only a few years ago numerous vacant lots were available for this purpose, but they have been taken up one after another in quick succession, finally forcing the board to use the basement of the Armory for this purpose. A central supply yard is wanted.

Owing to the vast amount of building and excavation for buildings, it was found difficult to keep the streets cleaned properly. Provisions will soon have to be made, says the report, for a permanent dumping place. The spaces under the Sixth avenue west viaduct have about been used up, and the rapidly diminishing number of vacant spaces along the bay front will necessitate a longer haul and a corresponding increase in the cost. It is suggested that the proposed extension of Sutphin street to the lake shore would afford access to the most convenient and permanent dumping ground in the city.

During the year the cost of grading and paving was $147,105.13; the cost of building sewers, $79,478.79, and the cost of sidewalks, sprinkling and other miscellaneous work was $70,445.10, making a total of work costing $297,029.02 done on contracts.

Assessments for grading and paving amounted to $154,438.16; those for sewers were $72,347.10 and the miscellaneous assessments were $73,217.76, making a total of $306,003.24 levied against property owners for improvements.

A large number of assessments remained to be made at the end of the year owing to the fact that final statements of cost had not been received from the city engineer.

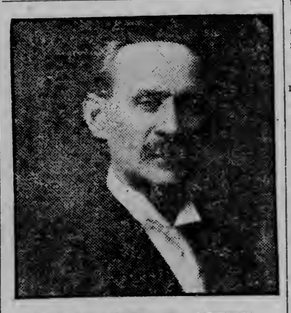

Another paragraph of the report deals with the wires that have been put underground. This is another feature that demonstrates that Duluth is taking its place in the first rank of the cities of the country. It is probable that more wires were put underground last year than in any other year of the city's history, and the work is going ahead steadily.

The record of the aerial bridge, which is under the supervision of the board, was the best since it was built. From April to December every trip was made in accordance with the schedule, except one on July 21, when the storm interfered.

During the year this board spent $120,889.02, coming out with a deficit of over $16,000, as shown by a recent detailed report in The Herald.

In 1909, $183,885.09 was paid into the permanent improvement revolving fund. Since 1901 to 1909, inclusive, $1,471,694.36 has been paid into the fund. The amount unpaid last year was $51,414.79, making a total unpaid since 1901 of $58,815.19.

BENJAMIN F. NEEF

Candidate for Alderman of the Fifth Ward.

Benjamin F. Neff, the Fourth street grocer, who has been chosen by the Republicans of the Fifth ward as their candidate for alderman, is not a professional politician, but a successful business man. If elected, he will discharge the duties of the office on strict business principles. He believes that an official should act from principle, rather than from partisan bias.

He has no political debts to pay. The voters will find him a representative citizen who will faithfully study their interests.

It was only at the earnest solicitation of leading citizens of the ward that Mr. Neff consented to make the run. If elected, he will discharge the duties of the office without fear or favor.

All voters of the Fifth ward who are willing to work for the best interests of the ward and the welfare of the city are urgently requested to register and cast their votes for Mr. Neff.

Saturday is the last registration day.

SAYS HE KNOWS NIGHT RIDERS

Kentuckian Has Given Names of Gang to Governor Willson.

Carlisle, Ky., Jan. 21.—H. B. Talley, who recently moved here from Sharpsburg, said today that he has sent to Governor Willson the names of the night riders implicated in the murder of Hiram Hedges, a Nicholas county farmer. Hedges was called to the door of his home and killed by a party of 200 night riders. He pleaded with them for his life, saying he would destroy his tobacco plant beds, but they refused to listen and shot him down.

FROZEN EARTH FALLS INJURING WORKMAN.

Deerwood, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—George Rulle, employed by Dale & Baumgartern, contractors on the Cuyuna Range railroad, was struck by a piece of falling earth yesterday afternoon and so badly injured that he may die. The end of a rail was thrust against him tearing an opening in his body, his right arm was fractured and he was badly bruised in other places. The chunk of frozen earth was so heavy that it required twenty men to lift it off Rulle. The injured man was brought here to Mrs. Barten's hospital and Dr. Sewall hopes to save his life.

Decisive Final Reductions

On All Suits, Coats, Gowns, Dresses

When you come here tomorrow, you will find new reductions at every hand, and what is more, they have been made with the determination of making an absolute clearance.

Matchless chances to economize. Don't let anything keep you away tomorrow. We have added many new people to our workrooms this week (all Duluth people though, who were let out at the other stores on account of quietness) and can quickly attend to any needed alterations.

Friedman garments though, need but little, as they are correctly made at first.

HALF PRICE is the answer here—and half price means something here.

WHEAT HAS FIRM TONE

Market Strengthens on Higher Cables and Covering By Shorts.

Flax Is Strong---May Option Advancing 4 Cents.

Duluth Board of Trade, Jan. 21.—Higher cables and professional buying after the ten days' decline, caused a strengthening in wheat prices today and May was higher than yesterday, opening at $1.10⅝, and advancing to $1.11½@1.11⅝, and then to $1.11¾, closing at that price bid.

Flax was strong, shorts covering and offerings being more restricted. Country sellers were scarce. The Argentine situation was bullish, flax there advancing 8c. May opened at $2.14, and sold up to $2.19, declining to $2.18 and regained the loss, closing at $2.18½ asked.

The wheat supplies at primary markets continue to increase. At the Head of the Lakes the increase this week is estimated at 500,000 bu, the largest increase in one week since last October. The stocks here are 2,931,000 bu. Flax supplies will be about unchanged for the week. The increase for the last five days is 11,000 bu. Wheat receipts in the Northwest continue heavy but the milling demand improved today and the cash markets were steadier. There was a better export demand, especially for Manitobas. The improved foreign situation was due to light offerings particularly in La Platas, restricted Argentine shipments and professional buying on the stronger American cables yesterday.

Minneapolis cash wheat sold around 1½@2c over May, and in Duluth cash was on a parity with May.

Rains in Argentina, which were beneficial to corn, were not favorable to wheat.

Durum closed ⅜c up, oats ¾c up, rye 1c up at 75-78½c, and barley 1c up.

Wheat stocks increased 359,000 bu at the Head of the Lakes in the last five days. Local flax stocks increased 11,000 bu. Wheat supplies at Minneapolis increased 300,000 bu in the last week.

Car receipts at Duluth were 62 agains tagainst 31 last year; at Minneapolis 320 against 164 last year, at Winnipeg 145 against 89 last year, a total of 527 for the Northwest compared with 284 last year. Chicago received 22 cars against 2 last year, Kansas City received 104 cars compared with 85 last year, and shipped 43 against 50. St. Louis received 68,000 bu against 47,000 bu last year and shipped 75,000 bu compared with 64,000 bu last year.

Primary receipts of wheat were 652,000 bu, last year 384,000 bu; shipments 277,000 bu, last year 197,000 bu; clearances of wheat, 269,000 bu; oats, none; flour, 209,000 bbl; wheat and flour, 277,000 bu.

Primary receipts of corn were 486,000 bu, last year 688,000 bu; shipments 742,000 bu, last year 564,000 bu; clearances 188,000 bu.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "The wheat market at the start was firm with values ⅝d to ¾d higher and following the opening prices further advanced ¼ to ⅝d with offerings light and shorts extremely nervous. Buying was prompted by the firm American cables yesterday, light Argentina shipments this week and the decrease in the visible supply there. Further support was due to the fact that the La Plata offerings were scarce and dearer and La Plata cargoes are held at full parce advance. The Argentina future market has displayed pronounced firmness all during the week with another sharp advance yesterday with the undertone strong. Private reports state that wheat is being damaged by the rain. At midday there was some reaction from the extreme advance due to dullness and values were ¾d to a penny higher than yesterday.

Corn was steady at the start and ¼d higher and during the morning further advanced ⅜d. Support was attributed to the firmness in American cables, cold weather here which will increase the consumption and the improved demand for spot. Our Argentina agent cables that rain is general. This is unfavorable for wheat and favorable for corn."

The Modern Miller said—"A larger area is bare of snow and ice in the winter wheat territory than since snow first fell in December. Where the crop is not covered the condition is generally reported as satisfactory but complaints of an unfavorable appearance of the plant are increasing. This principally in the late-sown wheat."

Champaign, Ill., wired—"Bidding 60 cents to farmers, but they are not selling anything, holding for higher prices." Tuscola, Ill.,—"Bidding farmers white corn 61, yellow and mixed 60. A great many farmers want to sell and haul in but roads are too bad. Souta bidding strong and all our corn going that way."

La Fayette, Ind., wired—"Farmers not selling a bushel, holding for higher prices, roads getting bad, breaking up. Will be impossible to move anything of consequence."

Charles Kinyon wired from Bowling Green, Mo.—"Wheat nearly all marketed; mills here have full stock. Corn all in use for home consumption here. Winter wheat looking good; greatly increased acreage in this vicinity."

Winnipeg wired—"Foreign advices to exporters here say: Wheat firmer, better tone. No bids here yet. Cash demand good, offerings light."

Fort Dodge, Iowa, wired—"Bidding by farmers, 58 to 59c for corn. No sales and very few deliveries on old contracts. We had a blizzard yesterday that will check everything for some time; roads very bad; sentiment is bullish among farmers."

Broomhall estimates world's shipments outside of America at 6,800,000 bu. Total shipments last week, 8,928,000 bu, and a year ago, 9,408,000 bu.

Bradstreet's clearances wheat, were: 2,035,000 bu; corn, 684,000 bu.

Argentine shipments—Wheat, this week, 427,000 bu; last week, 296,000 bu; a year ago, 2,472,000 bu. Corn, this week, 276,000 ,bu; last week, 512,000 bu; a year ago, 73,000 bu. Australia and India shipments: Australia, this week, 2,264,000 bu; last week, 2,792,000 bu; a year ago, 2,968,000 bu. India, this week, 160,000 bu; last week, 296,000; last year, none.

Liverpool wheat closed 1½d righer; corn, ½d higher. Budapest close, wheat unchanged; Paris wheat closed ⅛@1¼c higher; flour unchanged to ¼c higher; Berlin wheat 1¾c higher.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Good Demand Sends Wheat Prices Up at the Start.

Chicago, Jan. 21.—A good demand in the wheat pit today gave prices an upward slant at the outset, the advance ranging from ¼@¾c in the initial trades. Advances in Liverpool induced by lighter offerings and a higher premium asked on La Plata cargoes strengthened the bullish sentiment here. Profitaking sales in the first hour checked the rising tendency. May fell off from $1.09⅞@1.10 to $1.09⅝, and steadied at about the opening figures which were $1.09⅝@1.09¾.

The market advanced again later in the session under buying by influential concerns. May touched $1.10⅜ after selling at $1.09⅝. The close was strong with May at $1.10⅜, a price 1¼@1⅝c higher than yesterday's final figures. The close was the high point of the day.

Light receipts and unimproved transportation conditions gave a bullish tendency to corn. Initial prices were ⅛@⅜c higher. In the first hour, the futures kept practically within the opening range. May opened ⅛@⅜c higher at 68⅝@68½c.

Improved demand for cash corn advanced the market later. The close was strong at practically the high point of the day, with May at 68¾@64⅞c, a gain of ⅝@⅞c over last figures of yesterday.

Oats opened firmer with an advance of ⅛@⅜c based on small arrivals and transportation difficulties. Prices in the first hour varied only slightly from the opening range. May advancing to 48¼c after opening ⅛@¼c to ⅛@⅜c higher at 48@48⅛c.

Notwithstanding the firmness of grain and continued light receipts of five hogs, provisions were easier, selling orders predominating. Futures opened unchanged to 10c lower, and kept inside a narrow range in the first hour. Opening figures on the May products were: Pork, $21.62@21.57; lard, $11.95 and ribs $11.50.

THE MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Wheat Turns Firmer on News and Visible Supply.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 21.—The wheat market was firmer again today. Small Argentine shipments and a big decrease in the visible supply of that country made European cables firmer, which was reflected in the American markets. May opened ½c higher than yesterday's close and gradually advanced ⅜c above the opening and closed 1c above. Local elevator stocks increased 300,000 bu for week, making the total about 3,000,000 bu. Minneapolis today received 320 cars of wheat as compared with 164 cars a year ago, Duluth 62 cars against 31 cars and Winnipeg 145 cars against 89 cars. May opened $1.10⅞, high $1.11⅜, low $1.10⅞, closed $1.10⅝. July opened $1.01⅝, high $1.02⅛, low $1.01⅛, close $1.01⅝. Cash wheat was in strong demand today, and premiums were advanced. Millers were good buyers and all offerings were sold early. No. 1 northern sold for 1⅜@2½c above the May option, and No. 2 northern for ½c under to ½c over. Extra choice wheat arriving in cars that can be reloaded with flour for Eastern shipment sold ½c higher than the above quotations. Closing prices on track: No. 1 northern, $1.13@1.13⅜; to arrive, $1.13@1.13⅜; No. 2 northern, $1.11@1.11⅜, to arrive, $1.11@1.11⅜; No. 3 wheat, $1.09@1.11. Corn—No. 3 yellow, 66⅜@67⅜c. Oats—No. 3 white, 46⅜@46⅜c. Rye—No. 2, 75⅜@77⅜c.

Millstuffs—Shipments, 1,297 tons. Demand was strong and active. Shipments continued heavy and prices held firm. Bran in 100-lb sacks, $23.00@23.50.

The flour market was about steady. Some millers reported an improved demand. Shipments about twice as large as a year ago, and prices held firm. Shipments, 70,705 barrels. First patents, in wood f. o. b. Minneapolis, $5.40@5.60; second patents, $5.20@5.40; first clears, $4.35@4.45; second clears, $3.10@3.40.

Flax—Receipts, 19 cars; year ago, 28; shipments, 4. Closing prices today were 4½c above yesterday, on account of the advance in the futures market. Demand was strong for both spot and to arrive at 1c above the May option. Closing price, $2.19½.

Barley—Receipts, 46; year ago, 54; shipments, 45 cars. Demand was strong and offerings were light. Inquiry was active for both feeding and malting barley. Prices were 1c higher than yesterday. Closing range, 60@68c.

New York Grain.

ADVANCES IN STOCKS

Opened Higher and Declined Under a Drive Against Amalgamated.

Steady Absorption Carried Prices Upwards Again to Higher Levels.

New York, Jan. 21.—Prices of stocks at the opening today were higher than last night on active dealings. The gains were restricted to small fractions in almost all cases. Utah Copper rose 1⅜, and Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie 1¼. National railways of Mexico second preferred declined 1.

After a shading of prices, the market showed signs of support, but prices were not held with much stability. Later a drive against Amalgamated Copper which sent the stock down 2 points weakened the whole list. United States steel and Union Pacific offered very freely, but showed good resistance after they had dipped about ½ under yesterday's final prices.

A moderate but steady absorption of stocks carried prices upwards again to higher levels than before. Pullman rose 5¾, Chicago, St. Paul Minneapolis & Omaha 5, Missouri Pacific 2¼ and Westinghouse Electric and Colorado Southern 2. Bonds were firm.

The market closed very strong and active. Some disposition was shown to take profits on the day's advances, but the advance in United States Steel held the whole market.

SON'S EDUCATION A GOOD INVESTMENT

—Copyrighted by George Grantham Bain.
MISCHA ELMAN.

Mischa Elman has assigned himself a great undertaking for one who does not celebrate his nineteenth birthday until the Jan. 21, 1910. He was born of humble Jewish parents, who made great sacrifices so that Mischa might have every opportunity to advance in his musical studies. When Mischa was first accepted by the famous Leopold Auer and taken to St. Petersburg his father gave up his position as school teacher and moved to the Russian capital and embarked in a new business so that Mischa could continue his studies. Young Elman vowed as a boy that all his earnings up to the day of his twenty-first birthday should be the source of income for the family, to be used in behalf of his three sisters so that they might be fitted to occupy a position in the world and that when the day of their marriage should approach each would have a dowry. It is estimated that Elman since his fifteenth birthday has earned nearly $500,000. The first London season netted him $100,000. Last winter, his first in America, resulted in a net profit of over $50,000 after a three months' tour.

CAUGHT SALMON WITH SHOVEL.

Portland Oregonian: Catching a three foot silver salmon with shovel in an irrigation ditch was the unique experience of Aaron Jacques, ditch walker on the Selah Canal today. Jacques was attracted to the place by a great splashing in the canal. Upon investigation he discovered that it was a salmon, which threw out on the bank with his shovel.

The fish was a fine silver salmon three feet in length. It had travelled over thirty-five miles through the ditch from the river to the point where it was caught.

AN EXODUS TO WESTERN CANADA

Iowa Farmer Says Emigration Will Be Heavy This Spring.

E. C. Leeds, a prominent land owner of Iowa, who is at the Lennox today, is on his way to Canada to make arrangements for the purchase of a tract of land in Western Canada.

According to Mr. Leeds, the emigration from Iowa, Illinois, Nebraska and Kansas promises to be very heavy the present year, many of the well-to-do farmers of these states selling their farms and seeking new homes in Canada. Mr. Leeds stated that he had recently disposed of some very valuable farm land in Iowa, and that he was going to Canada to secure some land as a speculative proposition.

One of the reasons Mr. Leeds gave for the emigration of Americans across the line is that farmers in Illinois and Iowa can sell ther land at a very high price, purchase new land in Canada and put money in the bank. He also declared that the better class of farmers who had crossed the Canadian line had done very well.

"There is but very little difference in the two countries, when you come right down to the final analysis of conditions," said Mr. Leeds. "There are almost as many Americans in Western Canada as Canadians. The number of Americns is constantly increasing. I Know communities in Iowa where as many as ten families have moved to Canada, settling in the same district. One farmer sets the pace and the others profit by his example."

STAG HUNTING IN ENGLAND.

Much of Old-Time Courtesy and Hospitality Missing.

As each August comes around and the grouse shooter speeds Northward Ho! the stag hunter sets his face Westward Ho! to join the cosmopolitan crowd attending the opening meet at Cloutsham of the Devon and Somerset staghounds. In the stag hunting world, says the London Standard, Cloutsham occupies the same classic place as Kirby Gate, the venue of the first meet of the Quorn in November, does in the world of foxhunting.

Save on rare occasions, in fact twice only since 1855 once on the death of Mr. Bisset in 1884 when Holmbush Porlock, and again in 1898, on the death of Sir Thomas Acland, Haddon, were the fixtures, Cloutsham always "opens the ball."

Standing on the vantage ground at Cloutsham Ball, both foot and carriage folk can see much of the preliminary operations of the "tufting," the rousing of the "harbored" stag, and with luck and patience may even be in at the death as the chase sweeps round and the antlered monarch of the moor plunges down through the steep woodlands to stand to his last bay at Horner mill or the Pixies' pool.

August stags, those "hearts o' grease" Shakespeare so often alludes to, are usually overburdened with fat, thanks to the luxurious living early summer provides, and have neither the strength nor the inclination to face the open moor, preferring to match their wiles and wits against hounds' noses and huntsmen's eyes, among those great woodlands that clothe the sides of Horner valley and East Water Combs. Yet, in years gone by, many good runs have taken place from Cloutsham, perhaps the most noteworthy being that run in 1786, when a stag, reputed to be 20 years old, ran from Dunkery to North Molton, via Simonsbath.

Cloutsham as a rule means a gigantic picnic, with a peep at the hounds and a little hunting thrown in, where the world and his wife foregather to exchange greetings, gossip and reminiscences. In the brave days of old Cloutsham homestead was a place of some importance, and its owners men of substance and position, one Richard of Cloutsham being called as a juror to Westminster in 1250, and one of his villains was "attached" for killing a hind at Whitsuntide, which shows that even in those days venison was tempting fare for predatory poachers. Only with the accession of the present Sir Thomas has the old custom of hospitality at Cloutsham fallen into disuse, by which the Aclands provided all comers on hunting days with bread and cheese and beer, and the quaint old thatched farmhouse with its rough hewn beams and lintels and nail-studded doors no longer echoes to the merry jests of the rosy cheeked farmers of the West country.

Alas! for those good old times of the Acland dynasty, when every one out hunting knew and had a greeting for his neighbor and did not gaze at him with supercilious stare; when the master of the staghounds would entertain his field after the day's sport was over at the nearest hostelry, selecting as his bedfellow one who did not snore, as Sir Thomas, "his honor," used to select Henry Karslake for that reason; when the clerical division appeared at the meet clad in sober black with a white flannel jacket strapped on to their saddles, which they exchanged for the black when the pack was laid on, and changed their coats once more when the chase was over, that they might give offense to no man; when the halls of Castle Hill rang merrily with the wassail of the hunters; when James Tout, the huntsman, would enter the master's dining room after dinner in full costume with horn in hand and sound the mort blast; when the company all drank from a cup placed in the dead stag's mouth the toast "Success to Stag Hunting" in generous old port, not in washy whisky and soda, after which Tout "retired to his own place" with one or two of his favorite hounds for company; when

The staghounds, weary with the chase,
Lay stretched upon the rushy floor,
And urged in dreams the forest race
From Castle Hill to wild Exmoor.

Today stag hunting continues to flourish and the deer to increase in numbers, but much of the Old World courtesy and hospitality is sadly lacking, though Devonshire doors are usually open doors to all who profess and call themselves sportsmen. At the expense of tongue we have improved the pace of hounds, and "Tucker and two couple" have become proverbially a match for nine stags out of ten. From one pack hunting two days a week during a few months of the year we now have two packs hunting six days a week from July to May, while in 1904-05 there were no fewer than five packs in the field, who accounted between them for the enormous number of 370 deer; nor was the season 1902-03 far behind this total, for 350 deer were then brought to hand. Compared with the two stags and two hinds killed by Mr. Bisset in 1855, these figures are indeed marvelous.

THE PERILS OF DUELING.

Henri Bernstein, the dramatist, enraged by a hostile criticism in a Paris paper, challenged the critic, M. Chevassu, to mortal combat, says a writer in Success Magazine. The challenge was promptly accepted and the duel was arranged in the time-honored French fashion. Unfortunately, it rained hard on the fatal day. The pistols had to be loaded under umbrellas, and the eminent surgeons present had all they could do to protect their principals from the elements. At the word, Chevassu, whose pen is more formidable than his pistol fired far over the dramatist's head, while Bernstein, who suddenly thought of a new plot for a play, completely forgot to shoot. However, since the critic's high hat and frock coat were totally ruined by the rain and Bernstein caught a bad cold in his head, honor was satisfied. But is it not time that the civilized nations of the world united to put a stop to the unsanitary practice of dueling.
